Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

WINTER IS SURELY HERE.

THIS MORNING WAS THE COLDEST OF THE SEASON.

Jack Frost Made His Visit Felt With the Theremometer Only 14 Degrees Above Zero—Snow Storm Was Local.

Jack Frost's welcome to December was a chilly one and Winter appears to be here to stay. This morning was the coldest of the season, the mercury falling to 14 degrees Fahr. at 7 o'clock. The snow is still here although the warm noon day sun is playing sad havoc with it.

Although no snow fell after early yesterday morning, the clouds did not break away until after the sun had set. Then the stars appeared from behind the grey banks of clouds and the mercury began to fall.

It went down to 20 degrees at midnight and seven hours later had fallen 6 points lower. There was no wind and the ponds in the vicinity of Plainfield are now covered with a film of ice that promises to increase in tickness and delight the hearts of the young people with skating.

The recent snow storm was only on the coast, for at Easton no snow fell whatever, but at Bayonne and Jersey City the snow fall amounted to nine inches. Most of the trees are now bare of their glistening covering, and the white robe of the streets has worn away on the traveled thoroughfares where mud and slush now predominate. The cyclists are few and far between, for there are not many who care to ride through the sloppy mixture of mud and slush. Some of the streets have dried off, and as evening approaches the water in the roadway becomes ice, and the cyclist has to keep a sharp watch for frozen ruts instead of ploughing through the mud. The cold wave promises to continue tonight.

Motorman's Vigilance Averted an Accident

Mortorman Higgins of car No. 15 of the street railway service was gliding along West Front street, near the "eight row" at 5:30 o'clock last evening, when he discovered an obstruction on the track ahead of him. The car was running at a good speed, and it could not be stopped in time. When the car was finally stopped it required the combined efforts of the motorman and conductor to extricate a chunk of wood, fully a foot long and some eight inches in diameter from under the rear part of the car. Only a few minutes delay was caused by the occurrence but had the motorman's watchful eyes not fallen upon the obstruction the car might have been wrecked and some of the passengers injured.

Walked Deliberately to Death.

When the train No. 67 in charge of Engineer Eaton and Conductor Case reached this city from New York at 4:37 o'clock yesterday afternoon there were evidences on the engine's running gears that some human being had been run over, and upon inquiring it was ascertained that at Centreville some unknown man deliberately walked out in front of the engine and attempted to cross the tracks. He was struck by the pilot and thrown under the wheel horribly mangling the body. The remains were taken to the morgue.

Plainfield Mechanics Take the Lead.

Some how or another the Plainfield mechanics have a knack of "getting there" on good work, and their reputation for substantial and artistic work is probably unsurpassed hereabouts. Only a short time ago Messrs. Pierson & Gale completed a fine house at Yonkers, N. Y., and now John Stewart and other masons of this city are erecting a handsome house for a Mr. Brown at Bayonne. Thus far the work has been pronounced entirely satisfactory, showing that Plainfield's skilled labor is appreciated in other cities, as well as here.

Surprised by Her School Friends.

The many school friends of Miss Carrie Pangborn, daughter of ex-Chief Marshal William Pangborn, of Linden avenue, tendered her a surprise party last evening. Those present were the Misses Clyde Slater, Ada Van Horn, Clara King, Nellie Vermeule, Jessie Stites, Jennie De Camp, Mary Heagland, Edith Finney, Mabel Wraight, Kizzie DeMott, Belle DeMott, Jennie Everitt, Agnes Morse. To the latter's efforts are due the success of the party. During the evening games were played and dainty refreshments were served.

Visited the City Farm.

By invitation of Mr. Frost, Drs. Marsh and Herold and Wm. T. Hunt, comprising the Passaic Valley sewerage commissioners, appointed to devise means to abate the pollution of the Passaic River, visited the Plainfield city farm and disposal beds yesterday, and made a careful study of the construction and working of the system here to aid them in the solution of the difficult problem they have undertaken.

NEW HOSPITAL RULES.

NOW THE HOMŒPATHICS WILL BE PERMITTED TO PRACTICE.

Patients Under Their Treatment Shall be Known as "Specials."—Written Order of Admission Necessary First.

An important meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital was held at the Public Library last evening. The principal subject for discussion was the rules governing the admission of homœopath physicians to practice at the hospital. The following rules were presented and adopted by the board:

"In order to secure admission to the hospital for a patient to be treated there privately by a physician not a member of the medical staff, application must be made to the director of the staff, and a written order of admission obtained from him for presentation to the superintendent at the hospital. Persons so admitted shall be known as special patients.

"A complete record shall be kept by the attending physician in a book provided for the purpose, of each special patient received into the hospital, with the date of admission, the previous history, the symptoms at the time of admission, the diagonsis, treatment, course and termination of each case, the date of discharge or death, and if an autopsy is made, the result thereof, and the book containing such record shall be in charge of the superintendent.

"Surgical operations may be performed on special patients in the operating room of the hospital by the attending physician, or by any physician designated by him, and the attendance of nurses and the use of instrument, anaesthetic and dressings will be supplied by the hospital. The superintendent must be notified by the attending physician of the intention to perform an operation twenty-four hours in advance, except in emergency cases. In all operations the rules of the medical staff for the management of the operating room must be observed.

"The general management of the wards and private rooms will remain under the care of the director and superintendent. Nurses in care of special patients will act under the direction of the attending physician, provided the treatment of other patients and the general management and control of the hospital be not interfered with."

The monthly statement made by the physician in charge shows that nineteen patients were admitted, eight were discharged cured, six were discharged improved, three died, ten still remain and twenty-seven patients in all were treated.

Another Attempt at Robbery.

The Emorydale station of the Street Railway was again attacked for the purpose of robbery Saturday night, but the robbers were evidently frightened away before gaining an entrance. Next morning Mr. Emory noticed that the front windows in the place had been tampered with, and there were also many marks where chisels and blunt instruments had been inserted in the window casing. Mr. Emery carries all his money home at night, so all that could be taken was his stock.

Along Legal Lines.

The following summons have been issued by Justice Newcorn: Sternberg et als against Connolly; Sternberg against Cawthorn; Sternberg against Raphael; Linke against Neighbor; Wolf against McNamee; returnable December 7th; Boone against Deady; Boone against Shaddle, returnable December 8th.

Dined After a Hunt.

Wm. L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, entertained a few friends at dinner last evening, after their hunting trip over the mountains. Those who partook of the host's hospitality were: Wm. Cadmus and Arthur Loring, of Brooklyn; Judge DeMeza, Robert Crosson, Harry McDonald and Jedediah M. Smalley, of Plainfield.

Faster Time to be Made.

The march of improvement is noted at fire headquarters. The latest device is a button placed near each bed in the sleeping apartments, so that in case of fire at night each driver can have his horses under the harness by the time they reach the first floor. This arrangement saves valuable time when it is needed.

Fell On the Icy Platform.

R. M. Fountain, of Jackson avenue, had a serious fall this morning at the North Avenue station. He had just reached the platform of the car when he remembered that he had not secured his commutation ticket for December. The train had started and as he jumped off of it, he slipped and fell, badly cutting his hand on the icy platform.

SOCIAL SIDE OF A CHURCH

HOPE CHAPEL MEMBERS PASS A PLEASANT EVENING

Temperance Was the Subject Discussed and Many a Good Word of Advice Was Given in This, the Right Direction.

An excellent temperance meeting was held in Hope Chapel, last evening, under the auspices of the Men's Mutual Improvement Society, the programme being arranged and carried out by the temperance committee.

Addresses were delivered by Rev. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue Church, and Rev. G. K. Newell, pastor of the chapel. These addresses were listened to with marked attention and to all appearances made a deep impression upon all present. Appropriate songs and recitations were rendered by Geo. Belcher, Geo. Leighs, Edward Young and others.

W. G. Gray, president of the association made a short address urging all, especially the mothers and wives, to make the homes pleasant and happy, so as to counteract the influence of the saloon, at the same time urging upon the young men to take advantage of all the opportunities offered by the chapel and its auxiliaries for their own protection and culture.

At the close of the meeting a general introduction took place when all present were made acquainted with one another. An invitation was given to inspect the rooms sets apart and now organized for the use of the social committee. These rooms are to be exclusively used each week day evening for the purpose of study and simple parlor games. Already the reading room has been supplied with a number of valuable books and magazines well worthy the perusal of all.

We are glad to note that both old and young are taking advantage and using their spare time to good purpose.

HEARD SWEET STRING MUSIC.

Among the Players Was the Erstwhile Little Lord Fauntleroy.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Crescent Avenue church enjoyed a rare treat last evening when the social committee presented a programme of excellence. Tommy Russell, of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" fame, was one of the attractions, he appeared with three other members of the musical clubs of New York University. He played the banjo. Harry N. Peiffer leader of the mandolins, was most cordially received. His playing was undoubtedly the finest ever heard in this city. Edmund W. Greacen, leader of the banjoes, was also a favorite for his excellent playing. Moody B. Gates was a most efficient accompanist. The members of the quartette rendered solos, duetts and trios and they were loudly applauded throughout.

After the entertainment the ladies of the society served ice cream and cake in abundance.

Dr. B. VanD Hedges was master of ceremonies and in his usual happy manner made an impromtu speech which put every body in good humor.

Greater Conveniences at the Library.

An important change in the hours at the Public Library will be made, beginning today. On and after this date the reading room will be open continuously from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. and from 7 until 10 p. m., daily, excepting Sundays. The delivery hours also are to be lengthened, so that hereafter books may be drawn from 10 a. m. until 5:30 p. m., daily, excepting Sundays and holidays, and on Saturdays an evening circulation from 7 until 9. It will be noted from the above, that neither the reading room nor the delivery department will be closed during the noon hour. Borrowers are requested to notice also that books will not be delivered until 10 a. m., and that books will not be exchanged on the same day that they are taken out.

Primary Teachers' Union.

A change has been made in the time of meeting of the Primary Teachers' Union from 4 o'clock to 3.45 o'clock. Yesterday afternoon the teachers met at that time to study the lesson, which was taught by Miss Rocap. An informal discussion followed, on "Our Duty," led by Mrs. J. A. Powlison.

Not Quite in Her Teens.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mountford, of Somerset street, gave a birthday party yesterday to their daughter Francis, in honor of her eleventh birthday. About twenty of her young friends were present. Miss Frances was the recipient of many handsome presents, among them a fine piano, which was a gift from her father.

—Gavett has just got in another lot of Miller heaters. If you have a cold room try one. You are sure to like it.

BALLS WENT SHY OF PINS

PARK CLUB AND ROSELLE CASINO BOWL A VERY POOR GAME.

The Plainfielders Lost the Lead at the Start and Were Never Able to Regain It.—The Score by Frames.

Perhaps it was the cold snap and recent snow storm that caused the bowling team of the Roselle Casino to snow the Parks, of this city, so completely under. At any rate the Park Club received a signal defeat, two of them in fact, from the hands of the Reselle's, last evening, on the Park's own alleys. Both teams bowled poorly, but the Park boys were the worst.

In the first game the Park's took the lead for the first frame, but lost it in the second never to regain it. They followed the Roselle's closely to the seventh frame and then the visitors braced up and increased their lead, winning by 41 pins. Sandford experienced some hard luck and then went all to pieces. He barely kept even with his frame. Neither side did anything remarkable, the Roselle's winning by a score of 773 to 732.

The second game promised to be a good one at the start, but splits were unusually frequent on both sides while even the crack captain of the Roselle's forgot how to roll a ball. Matthews started in for a big score, but a split broke up his chances and then he fell somewhat behind. Taylor seemed to have borrowed Sandford's hoodoo of the last game and was unable to hit the head pin until the last three frames. Greves' combination of hard luck and poor bowling was even worse, however. The Roselle's took the lead in this game at the start and kept it to the finish, although the Park's were close behind for the first four frames. In the sixth they waked up, but the effort was too much. On the last frame, Van Buren made thirty on the wind-up and badly frightened the visitors who expected to see the game slip out of their grasp at the last moment. The other Plainfield bowlers did not follow VanBuren's lead and the Roselle's won by 36 pins, the score being 816 to 780.

It is hard to account for the poor bowling of the Parks after their fine exhibition against the Elizabeth Athletic Club, when they rolled such phenomenal scores. It was evidently an off day with them for, had they put up their usual game, they would have had no trouble in defeating the Roselle's.

The scores were as follows:

PARK CLUB.

	1st game.	2d game.
VanBuren	152	146
Taylor	152	115
Matthews	170	165
Ball	155	187
Sandford	103	167
	732	780

ROSELLE CASINOS.

	1st game.	2d game.
Greves	166	110
Smith	157	168
Patterson	175	179
Harris	129	160
Warner	1 6	199
	773	816

BY FRAMES:

First Game.

Parks.....76 144 216 281 346 424 501 589 664 732
Roselles.....68 151 238 290 348 431 524 617 697 773

Second Game.

Parks.....78 165 260 336 407 487 556 722 700 780
Ros lles.....85 183 266 353 436 526 582 657 732 816

Umpires: A. F. Campson, of Roselle, and Meredith Dryden, of Plainfield.

Some Surprises in "Caste."

Several persons witnessed a rehearsal of "Caste" at the Casino, last night, and were loud in their praises of the play and the performers. Mr. Cock, as "Eccles," and Mr. Walz, as "Sam Gerridge," kept the audience in roars of laughter. Irving West, as "Captain Hawtree," is a surprise, as his talent in this line was not heretofore known. A full dress rehearsal will be given tomorrow night, the night before the performance.

Lederer's Loss Settled.

The insurance companies have settled with Isaac Lederer for the loss on his stock by the recent fire, which was about $9,000 and was satisfactorily settled to all concerned. The loss on the building will be adjusted in a few days.

Pre-Election Day Mail.

The mail carried yesterday by Letter Carrier Shea was so large that he did not get through until 1:15 in the afternoon. Letter Carrier Hann had nearly the same experience, caused by the sending out of election tickets.

Slept in the Bastile.

A man giving the name of Edward Hugo, and his residence as Newark, was given a night's lodging in the borough lockup last night. This morning he started for his home.

Sewer Commissioners Last Meeting.

The Sewer Commissioners will hold their last meeting this evening. Their report will be read at the next council meeting December 7th.

Miss Bertha Hoffman, of Grove street, has accepted a position at Rands store on West Front street, during the holidays.

DR. R. HUNTER'S SIDE

SAYS THERE IS NO BASIS FOR THE CLAIMS OF HIS BROTHER.

No Person, He Says, Has Had Authority at Any Time to Do Otherwise Than to Act Under His Personal Direction.

To the Editor of The Daily Press—Your paper on November 25th contained an article regarding my sanitarium, at Netherwood, which is entirely uncalled for and untrue. For the benefit of my friends in Plainfield and New York, I wish to state that my sanitarium is now being and will continue to be conducted, as heretofore, under my own personal medical direction and supervision. No other person has at any time had any authority to do otherwise than follow out my directions. I engage and discharge all my medical assistants, as I think it best for my patients, in respect to which the general public can have not the slightest interest. No other person has at any time had any interest or direction in the institution either as to its management or the method of treatment. My patients, of course, are interested in being properly attended to and when I, for any reason, have cause to think their welfare will be better promoted by my discharging any person in my employ, whether he be steward or assistant physician, I shall, as I have in the past, immediately discharge him.

My sanitarium at Netherwood should be of the greatest blessing to its patrons and of pecuniary benefit to Plainfield, but I want it distinctly understood that as I am the owner there is not and cannot be the slightest reason for the foolish and baseless claims set forth in your article which I regard as misleading to my patients and detrimental to the institution.

Yours etc.,
Robert Hunter, M. D.

MARRIED FOR A DECADE.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong Mulford Celebrate a Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong Mulford, of East Fifth street, celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage last evening by giving a dinner to their relatives. The event was a delightful one and all present wished the host and hostess many happy returns of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mulford, Miss Laura Mulford, Mrs. Johnstone, Miss Carrie Mulford, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Cutter, John Lewis, Miss Mildred Moores, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong Mulford and family, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. John Donnelly, Mrs. H. L. Hall and son, Miss Annie E. Moores, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Murgatroyd, Mrs. Wm. Waters and daughter, Benjamin Waters and Wm. Waters, of Brooklyn.

SHIFT OF THE COPS.

Policemen Will Patrol New Beats For a Month.

The monthly shift of the city police will take effect this evening as follows: James Totten, Park and North avenues; Jeremiah Cash, Crescent and Watchung avenues; Patrick Flanagan, East Fifth street and Franklin place; James A. Saunders, East Front street; Nicholas Myers, Netherwood; Martin Vanderweg, West Front street; John Flynn, West Seventh street; W. Lunger, Boulevard; Charles E. Post, West Seventh street, between Plainfield and Grant avenues; William Fraleigh, Second, Third and Fourth streets, west of Plainfield avenue; Chris. Frederickson, roundsman. Thomas McCue will do day duty in this city; John R. Hartpense will be in the West End and William Mattox will be the day roundsman.

WANT A MODERN ROAD.

Carteret and Elizabethport Desire a Connecting Driveway.

The construction of a macadamized road from Elizabethport to Carteret, in Middlesex county, a distance of about four miles, is being agitated. The proposed road, it is claimed, would benefit both places. The route is along the shore of the Kills, passing a number of manufacturing industries. At present those employed in them have no good facilities to get from one place to another.

It is believed that when the road is completed a large proportion of the trade of Carteret and Tremley will come to Elizabeth, and, if the trolley line should be extended from the latter place to Carteret, a brisk traffic will spring up.

Court Interpreter Named.

Former Alderman Jacob Schultheis, of the old Third Ward of Elizabeth, has been appointed Union County Court interpreter, to succeed the late Edward L. Newburger.

—Justice Mosher has given judgment for the plaintiff in the case of Mattox vs. the Climax Bottle Stopper Company, for $22.50.

AT THE ELECTION POLLS

NOT AS HEAVY A VOTE BEING CAST AS AT LAST ELECTION.

Big Demand For Martine Pasters—Republicans Working Hard—A Man Arrested in Fourth Ward For Disturbance.

One of the essential things for bringing out a heavy vote on election day is good weather. And Plainfield is blessed with this to-day. Another thing is interest in the success of the candidates by the masses of the voters. And this is very much in evidence also.

The organization of the Republicans which is still active after the victory of the Presidential election is straining every nerve to-day to put Charles J. Fisk in the Mayorality chair over James E. Martine whose candidacy has been a very healthy one.

While the Democrats are without effective organization the Republicans have every point covered in the endeavor that there shall be no wrestling of the prize from them at the eleventh hour, so as to speak. Those in the various districts who are working around the polls or are interested observers say that Mr. Martine is polling many Republican votes. The demand for his pasters has been very great all the morning.

Beyond the head of the ticket, there but little hope among the Democrats of electing any candidate, though it is thought that Gallup may push Randolph closely for Councilman in the Fourth ward.

All was quiet at the polling place in the First ward, First district. At noon the vote was 253, considerably less than at the same time at the national election.

In the First Ward, Second district, the vote was almost the same as at the election last November. At noon it numbered 62. The polls were exceedingly quiet.

The vote in the Second ward, First district, was comparatively small. At noon it was 284 against about 400 at the national election.

The Second ward, Second district, did not have many voters out this morning. At noon the vote was 38, against about sixty at the last election. Everything was very quiet.

In the Third ward the vote was 297, which is about the same as that polled at the last city election up till noon. The registration is 697.

The vote in the Fourth ward polled up till noon was comparatively small. In the first district the number was 238, and in the second district 201.

A man named McCarty engaged in a wordy dispute with the Judge of election at the second district Fourth Ward polling place this morning and special officer Hansen arrested the man. He was reeased later as the Judge of election did not care to press the charge.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue, is still confined to his home with illness.

Miss Mabel E. Williams, of New York, visited friends in this city yesterday.

Mrs. W. Allen Schutt, of Bayonne, has returned home after visiting borough relatives.

William Cadmus, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street.

Mrs. J. H. Herbert, of New York, is the guest of Mrs. Abner Bartlett, of Westervelt avenue.

The friends of Miss Waring who have been her guests for several days returned home yesterday.

Miss Carrie Potter, of Rahway, who has been visiting Miss Nellie Rockfellow, of Park avenue, has returned home.

Mrs. Fackler, of Trenton, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. I. L. McVoy, of East Front street, returned home yesterday.

Miss Brotherhood, of Brooklyn, has returned home after spending several days with her brother, Percy Brotherhood, of East Second street.

Respite for Wife Murderer.

David Williamson, the wife murderer of Morristown, was to have been hanged in the county jail at that place on December 16th, but this morning his counsel, E. A. Quayle and C. A. Reed, obtained from the Court of Errors and Appeals a writ of error, which stays the execution until the writ has been argued.

—Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. of O. F., met last evening and transacted routine business.

Thieves helped themselves to about ten bushels of corn out of the corncrib of John Crane, in Clark Township, Wednesday night. Tracks showed that the plunder was carried off in a wagon.

FREE
BRIAR PIPE
FOR 25

Gail & Ax's
NAVY
LONG CUT
COUPONS
OR GUMMED STICKERS

TOWED INTO PORT

The Big Steamer Cotehele Disabled in Mid-Ocean.

WAS HELPLESS FOR FIVE DAYS

Lost Her Propeller During a Storm and Was in Great Danger Until the Steamship Holbein Hove in Sight and Took Her in Tow.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 1.—The British steamer Cotehele, from New York Nov. 6 for Hull, was towed into this port last night by the British steamer Holbein, from New Orleans for Liverpool. The Cotehele lost her propeller. She became disabled on the 10th ult., in mid-ocean, her tail end shaft breaking and her propellor going to the bottom. Very heavy weather had been experienced and the steamer was making slow headway when the accident happened. She drifted for five days before the Holbein hove in sight and was signalled for assistance. Captain Sherlock offered to tow the disabled vessel to this port and the two captains agreed to leave the amount of salvage to arbitration. Much difficulty was experienced by the Holbein in getting her prize to port. She took her in tow on the morning of the 21st and it was 10:30 last night before the two ships dropped anchor in Halifax harbor. The tow line snapped three times, but each time Captain Sherlock succeeded in getting hold of it again. Several days of severe weather were encountered and the work of towing was accompanied by great difficulty and danger. The Cotehele has a general cargo and the Holbein is loaded with grain and general merchandise.

THE LATE EX-SENATOR SCOTT.

A Corporation Lawyer of Ability and Successful as a Politican.

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—John Scott, ex-United States senator from Pennsylvania, whose death occurred last Sunday night, was a corporation lawyer of ability and a successful politican. He was born in Alexandria, Huntingdon county, Pa., in 1824, of Scotch-Irish ancestry. He received a common school education and studied law, being admitted to the bar in 1846. He served his state in the state legislature and the United States senate. His speeches on the tariff question made him very prominent. He was identified with the Centennial exhibition at Philadelphia. He was appointed counsel of the Pennsylvania railroad in 1858. Later he was made special counsel for the Pennsylvahia Canal company. He was elected counsel of the western section the Pennsylvania Railroad company in 1875. He succeed W. J. Howard as general solicitor of the corporation. Mr. Scott lived in West Philadelphia since 1878. Since his connection with the railroad he kept out of politics. He was a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania and held other important offices.

Reading Road in New Hands.

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—The receivers of the old Philadelphia & Reading company formally turned over all the property and franchises of the company in the reorganized corporation at midnight last night. The event although marking an important epoch in the history of the road passed without ceremony. Instructions were sent out stating that all employes holding positions prior to Nov. 30 will be retained in their respective positions.

Sons of Veterans Officers Installed.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 1.—At last night's session of the annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans, national department, the following officers were installed: Commander-in-chief, Elmore W. Sanderson, Newark; senior vice-commander, David Horne, Long Island City; junior vice-commander, Frederick G. Ward, Montclair; chaplain-in-chief, William Seeger, Carlstadt, N. J.; surgeon-general, Charles Eisle, Long Island City.

Jameson's Release Ordered.

London, Dec. 1.—Sir Matthew White Ridley, the home secretary, acting on the advice of Sir Willtam Broadbent, who on Saturday visited and examined Dr. Jameson in Holloway jail, has ordered the release of the prisoner. Dr. Jameson's friends wanted to remove him this morning, but he was too weak to be taken from prison.

The Rumor of Fresh Massacres Denied.

Constantinople, Dec. 1.—The porte has issued a denial of the statements that fresh massacres occurred a few days ago at Diarbekir and Kharput.

WM. STEINWAY'S DEATH.

Brief Sketch of the Career of the Late Famous Piano Manufacturer.

New York, Dec. 1.—William Steinway, the rapid transit commissioner and the head of the famous piano house of Steinway & Sons, who died of typhoid fever at his resinence at Gramercy park yesterday, was born in Seesen, Duchy of Brunswick, on March 5, 1836. His education was begun in the schools of his birthplace, but afterward continued in the Jacobsohn High school. He was an especially apt student, mastering German, English and French thoroughly. But while he was quick to learn anything to which he devoted his attention, it was in music that he made his best progress. He came to the United States with his family in 1850, and was apprenticed to a piano manufacturing firm. He remained with that firm for three years. Then he left it to start in the piano manufacturing business with his father and his two brothers. The death of his father in 1871 and the loss of other partners not long after, left him at the head of the business with his brother, C. F. Theodore Steinway. He was a member of the national democratic committee an a delegate to the St. Louis convention in 1888. The subtreasuryship was offered him by President Cleveland, and he was at various times spoken of as a candidate for governor of the state and mayor of this city. He founded the town of Steinway, Long Island, for the workmen and their families employed by the firm. Model houses were built. A public school accommodating 500 children was erected in 1877. Mr. Steinway was twice married. He was president of the Liederkranz a number of times, belonged to many societies and was a liberal patron of art and science and a generous aider of charitable work.

REFUSED TO RESIGN.

General Manager Tucker of the Maine Central Removed.

Portland, Me., Dec. 1.—At an adjourned meeting of the directors of the Maine Central railroad yesterday afternoon the executive committee invited Payson Tucker to tender his resignation. Mr. Tucker declined to resign and it was then voted to remove Mr. Tucker from the office of vice-president and general manager. Mr. Tucker, upon being notified of his removal, sent to Presiden Tuttle and the executive committee this letter: "Gentlemen: I have been officially informed that my services as vice-president and general manager of the Maine Central railroad will be no longer required. I am deeply touched. This act of kindness, so nobly conceived and delicately consumated, teaches me that all is not base and sordid in this world and that the human heart, when connected with the Boston & Maine railroad, is capable of high and lofty impulses. Wishing you a pleasant journey to Boston, I am as ever,

"PAYSON TUCKER."

George F. Evans, assistant general manager of the Boston & Maine railroad was elected general manager of the Maine Central. There is a strong suspicion that the removal of Mr. Tucker is the beginning of a movement to more closely unite the management of the Boston & Maine and Maine Central railroads. President Wilson of the Maine Central said that there were differences of opinion existing between the directors of the Maine Central railroad and Mr. Tucker, who has for several years occupied the position of general manager, and the board elected Mr. Evans general manager, but Mr. Tucker, he said, remains a director of the road and vice-president.

The Slack Children Controversy.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The United States supreme court, by Chief Justice Fuller, announced yesterday afternoon that it had no jurisdiction to review the decision of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia in the matter of the controversy between Louis Perrine and wife and Mrs. Mary Kemble Slack, over the custody of Mrs. Slack's two children, which by the will of their father had been committed to Mrs. Perrine, the father's sister. At present Mrs. Slack has possession of the children.

Against Football and Cigarettes.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 1.—A bill has been introduced in the Georgia legislature prohibiting the playing of football in the state; also prohibiting the sale of cigarettes or cigarette paper.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot is weaker and quiet. Dec., 90⅛c.; May, 90⅛c.

Corn—Spot is easier and inactive. Dec., 29⅛c.; May, 32⅝c.

Oats—Prices weak; trade inactive. Dec., 23⅛c.; May, 26⅛c.

Eggs—The market remains firm. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@18c.; western, fresh, 23@25c.; limed, 15⅛@16; southern, 21@23.

Pork—Prices firm; moderate trade. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.50@9.00; family, $10.00@10.75.

Lard—Market firmer, but inactive. Prime western $4.35@4.40.

Butter—Small receipts; choice firm. Creamery western extras, 23c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 20⅛@21c.; creamery, western seconds, 14c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10⅛@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10⅛c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10⅛c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3⅛@6⅝c.

Potatoes—Slow and barely steady. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

A POLITICIAN TESTED.

A Congressman Who Could Not Play Checkers to Suit Constituents.

"One of the ablest men in congress will lose a number of votes in his district in Georgia," said a department clerk to a Washington Star reporter. A friend of mine wrote me some time ago that the judge was safe so far as his reelection was concerned, but my friend visited one of the back counties a few days ago and found that a decided change in sentiment had come about. He asked one of the political leaders:

"'What is the matter with the judge?'

"'He ain't no good.'

"'Why, what did he ever vote for that you are not in favor of?'

"'I dunno.'

"'Did he vote against anything you wanted passed?'

"'Not as I know on.'

"'The newspapers all speak well of him.'

"'Newspapers is allus lyin'.'

"'What is the matter?'

"'Waal, he comed out here, an' Tom Wilkins beat 'im playin' checkers. Tom kain't play a little bit, an' what kin' o' a figger kin a man cut in congress who kain't play checkers better'n thet?'"

Strategy Well Employed.

The wise men of the east understand the value of strategy and know when to use it. A rich merchant died. He had one son, who when quite a lad had been sent to an uncle in India. When on his way home the young fellow was shipwrecked. It was believed that he escaped drowning, though no tidings of him could be obtained. His father died, leaving his fortune to the care of an old friend, not to be handed over to any claimant until certain injunctions had been fulfilled. At the end of a year a young man appeared, who declared himself the heir; then a second and a third arrived on the scene. The guardian gave to each a bow and arrow and desired them to use the dead man's picture as a target to aim at the heart. The first nearly hit the mark, the second drove his arrow home, but the third burst into tears and refused to dishonor his father's memory by desecrating the portrait of one whom he had loved and revered. Then the guardian knew which of the three was entitled to the fortune.

Choice Hibernicisms.

At the convention of the Irish race last month in Dublin two speakers, who had come from the United States, concluded the following sentences in the course of their speeches. One of them, in making some details of personal history, informed his hearers that "he had left Ireland 53 years before, a naked little boy, without a dollar in his pocket." Said the other: "Until last week I had never set foot in the land of my birth."

Death of Augustus Stone.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 1.—Augustus Stone, the messenger of the Massachusetts senate, is dead, aged 51 years. He was a one-armed soldier, and for more than twenty years he was a letter-carrier in this city.

No Gripe

When you take Hood's Pills. The big, old-fashioned, sugar-coated pills, which tear you all to pieces, are not in it with Hood's. Easy to take and easy to operate, is true of Hood's Pills, which are up to date in every respect. Safe, certain and sure. All druggists. 25c. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

shortness of breath—a sensation of dryness and heat in the throat. Neglect is dangerous.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar acts like a charm on the throat and bronchial tubes. Use it before it's too late. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Elizabeth Stephanson, deceased will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the third day of February next.

Dated, November 25th, 1896.

12-1-10-w. WILLIAM G. DeMEZA.

Potter & Kellogg,
DEALERS IN
Lehigh Valley Coal.
Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad 10 20 1-y

Fine Chrysanthemums, Trees and Shrubs. Also, Palms, Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns and Casino Clematis. Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.
DENTON'S.
131 Hillside avenue.

P. H. ZIMMER,
Practical Machinist and Engineer,
Steam, Gas and Electric Contract'ng. Complete Power and Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.
12 1 1y

The Cough Which Lingers

because of a run-down condition of the system, and is not affected by ordinary cough medicines, will yield readily to because it gives strength to the weakened body and enables it to throw off disease.

Scott's Emulsion

50 cents and $1.00
At all druggists
Scott & Bowne, Chemists, New York.

ROYAL TOOTH POWDER and

Sold Everywhere, 10c.
Allen Pharmacy Manufacturing Co.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW
Meat Market.
George Egel, Manager.
Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.
To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—6 days.
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days,
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days
Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

$5,000 FOR $1.25
MANY a HOUSE has been destroyed by a spark thrown out from an open fire.
You can have perfect protection by using a Spark Guard and can buy he best for $1.25
CURTIS M. THORPE,
310-312 Park avenue, Plainfield.
EVERYTHING FOR THE FIREPLACE!

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,
Park Avenue Florist,
Floral Design Work a specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. :: 6 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,
Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in
Cigars, Tobacco, etc.
"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

WINTER STYLES
Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.
Just Received from manufacturers
FORCE, 129 Park Avenue.
29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.
V. L. FRAZEE
151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S
VARIETY MARKET.
Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.
120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS
If you want a deep, clear rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S. Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables
will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,
144 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett
has removed to
148 EAST FIFTH STREET.
Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,
FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.
Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly.
Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.
R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
Residence, 33 Linden Ave.
Personal attention. Prompt service.
1 14 tf
Telephone 29b. Established 1870.

ADDIS & SON,
Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.
ACCIDENT TICKETS.
THE INTER-STATE
Casualty Company of New York
gives SIX MONTHS' insurance
$1.000 for $1.00,
to men or women
between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.
For sale at office of
Honeyman's Private Tours,
181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,
PAINTERS
AND PAPER HANGERS,
Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.
Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE
PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.
Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.
The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity, Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisine unsurpassed.
GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,
120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail
Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE
Sewer Connections.
DAVID BOWDEN,
General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.
28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
OAK.
147 WEST FRONT ST.
Branch office with
G. A. HALLOCK,
109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS
of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.
M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,
121 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,
187 North Avenue.
Practical Plumber.
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.
Telephone Call 128a

L. L. Manning & Son,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,
Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.
STAGES
For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing,
Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for sewer connections.
210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,
EXCAVATORS.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.
Edw. P. Thorn,
RETAIL DEALER IN
Fish, Oysters, and Clams.
Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,
Dealer in
Coal & Wood.
Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.
Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S
Furniture and Freight
EXPRESS.
Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract !

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—50 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 41

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

103 Park avenue. Established 1869

For Thanksgiving

HOME-MADE

Mince and Pumpkin

PIES !

Fancy Cakes and Confections. All Wheat Bread a specialty.

W. W. Warnock,

138 North avenue. 11 19 1w

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale

IN BOTTLES, and

FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranteed.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 rear

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

Dr. J. H. Lawler,

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate of New York College. Ring bones, spavins, all lameness cured. Internal diseases. Obstetrics. All operations performed. Cattle and Dogs treated. Office 171 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. RHEAUME, and N. H. SAXTON.

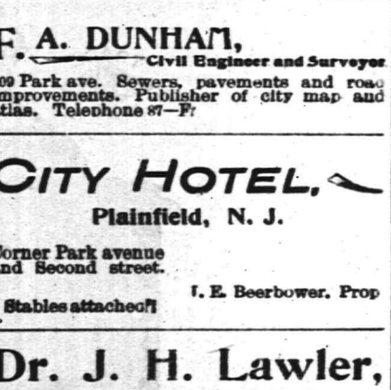
Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.



YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wood and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 391 and 393 Watchung Ave

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Is As Clean As Yours

Time to Think OF THE Christmas Coming !

Less than a month We are prepared for it. Are you ? During the last few months we have been filling our cases with new Jewelry, Silverware, Cut Glass, Cutlery, Bric-a-Brac.

Selections made now delivered when wanted or held until called for.

As Purveyors of First-Class

JEWELRY

We are a success. Our prices are surprisingly low for such goods. Scarf pins 25c. to $150, pearl and opal pins $1.25 up, chains, charms, brooches, RINGS—Under this head comes every kind of ring from plain gold wedding ring to the costly diamond solitaire.

Cluster rings are most popular this season.

Opals surrounded with diamonds or pearl, $20 to $150.

WATCHES—We are among the first to introduce the new THIN MODEL—Men's Watch. It has caught the popular fancy and will soon supplant the heavy case watch.

$17 25 UP.—In filled cases, warranted for 20 years.

14 Kt. Solid Gold, $34 up.

The Waltham and Elgin make.

Silver Watches, $10 up.

Boys' Watches, $2.50 up.

Cut This Out

As a memorandum of Christmas gifts

Carving Sets, $1.25 up.

OPERA GLASSES—New importations. We will fit them to suit owner's eyes. $3.

VASES—Lovely collection of Limogesware, Dresden Bleek. Beautiful sets for library and boudoir.

SILVERWARE—Almost everything that comes under this head can be found in our cases From a trifle booby prize to silver service.

CUT GLASS is at all times an appropriate gift. Refined people like nothing better than a piece of rich Cut Glass.

LOOK TO YOUR EYES.

A pair of glasses for $1. Good Glasses make useful holiday gifts. Examinations in our optical office daily and Saturday nights. Glasses nicely adjusted. Satisfaction guaranteed. L. B. Hilborn (R. O.,) in charge.

J. WISS & SONS,

755 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.

Bargains in Real Estate

For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

RIGHT IN IT

Every one that's wearing our $3.00 Bull Dog Shoes.

DON'T FORGET

We are the only ones in town that sells the FAMOU HANAN SHOE.

A. WILLETT AND SON,

NO. 107 PARKAVE.

CUT THIS OUT.

Save this and wait until to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock a. m. Bring this with you to 214 West Front Street, Plainfield. N. J.

Received the entire remaining fall and winter stock of a leading New York wholesale clothing house consigned to us to be sold at once without regard to cost which means an opportunity of buying Suits, Trousers, boys suits and men's suits and men's overcoats and ulsters at about one-third of the actual value in order to prove what tremendous sacrifices will be made. We mention a few of the extraordinary bargains, and we advise you to cut this out and bring it with you, so that there will be no mistake that you get exactly the goods mentioned here: 100 fine men's overcoats, that sold for $11.00, now $3.78; 100 extra fine men's overcoats in latest style silk or satin lined at $5.95; men's fine all wool cassmere suits, $10.00, at $4.90; men's fancy worsted suits, worth $15.00, at $6.90; men's all wool English clay diagonal frock suits, worth $18, at $7.50; men's fine ulsters, worth $10.00, at $3.50; 450 men's pants, worth $3.00, at $1.25; 225 pair striped cassmere pants, worth $4.00, at $1.50. Hundred of other styles of goods, space will not allow to mention. All we say is come and judge for yourself. Boys suits, $1.65, worth $4.50; boy's winter overcoats, at $1.65, worth $3.50. Now don't delay, for these bargains are not like the sun to last for evermore, but come at once to the

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

BAYARD EULOGIZED.

Sir Joseph Lister's Reply to a Toast Proposed by the Ambassador.

London, Dec. 1.—The anniversary dinner of the Royal society was given last night. Among the guests was Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, the American ambassador, who proposed a toast to Sir Joseph Lister, the president of the society. In speaking to his toast Mr. Bayard paid a handsome tribute to the work that had bee achieved by the society. Sir Joseph, replying to the toast, eulogized Mr. Bayard, who, he said, had endeared himself to everybody by his genuine love for the old country. Mr. Bayard, he added, must have a feeling of the greatest satisfaction, as he (Mr. Bayard) had privately remarked to him during the evening that the hope of his life had been almost fulfilled and when he left he would be able to feel that the clouds that had once seriously threatened the amicable relations of the United States and Great Britain had entirely cleared away during his term of office. This Sir Joseph ascribed as largely due to Mr. Bayard's beneficent efforts.

SUMMONED TO ROME.

Bishop Keane To Become a Member of the Propaganda.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Bishop Keane, late rector of the Catholic university in this city, will sail for Rome on Saturday in response to the commands of the pope to come to that city and perform such duties as may be there assigned him. The bishop will remain here two or three days prior to his departure for New York. Bishop Keane goes to Rome to become a member of the propaganda which deals with the propagation of the faith and has a vast influence upon the clergy of the church. It is said that as an American representative in this college he will be in a position to do great good and still be in touch with the people with whom he has so long been associated.

LEIUT. MEIGS' RESIGNATION.

He Leaves the Service in Order To Retain His Private Employment.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Secretary Herbert has accepted the resignation of Lieut. J. F. Meigs, retired, to take effect June 30 next. Lieut. Meigs was placed on the retired list in 1891, on account of disability. After retirement he secured employment with the Bethlehem Iron & Steel company as an ordnance expert. The last naval appropriation bill contained a clause prohibiting retired officers working for firms doing work for the government. In order to continue his work with the company Lieut. Meigs resigned. He was appointed from Pennsylvania in 1862.

HARTLEIN'S HALLUCINATION.

The Murderer Believes He Will Be Taken to Heaven in a Chariot.

Hartford, Dec. 1.—Kaspar Hartlein, who will be executed at the state prison early Thursday morning, has developed hallucinations bordering on insanity. He believes that Jesus Christ enters his cage and holds daily conversation with him, and believes that after he is hung Christ will convey him to heaven in a chariot drawn by two white horses. Hartlein's appetite is not so goood as before he was confined in the cage, but he appears to be in good physical condition. Warden Woodbridge fears he will break down at the gallows.

Mayor Gleason Held for Trial.

Long Island City, L. I., Dec. 1.—Justice Gaynor has rendered a decision refusing to allow the demurrer to the indictment found against Mayor Gleason of Long Island City for alleged violation of the election law in making unfair appointments of election inspectors. Mayor Gleason was in court, and when called upon to plead Lawyer Stevens, his counsel, entered a plea of not guilty. District Attorney Noble moved that the date for trial be set. Justice Gaynor said he would fix a date for trial later.

Brodie Tired of Being Threatened.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Steve Brodie, who is in Chicago with his theatrical company this week, swore out a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Richard Harmaton, who has followed him all over the country threatening to kill him. Brodie says the man is a crank and he has grown tired of being followed by a homicidal maniac and is becoming afraid that the man will actually assassinate him.

Rosenthal Has Typhoid Fever.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Moritz Rosenthal, the great pianist, who was taken ill at the auditorium last week, is reported to be in a critical condition. Typhoid fever has set in and the attending physicians fear complications will arise which may result fatally. His physicians report this morning that there has been no improvement in his condition.

Capt. Glass To Be Relieved.

Washington, Dec. 1.—It is said at the navy department that Capt. Glass of the Texas will soon be relieved of command of that vessel and be given duty elsewhere. His transfer is said to have nothing to do with the recent series of mishaps to the Texas and will be made in the ordinary course of changes.

Silver Dollars and Fractional Coin.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The issue of standard silver dollars from the mints and the treasury offices for the week ending Nov. 28 was $759,474, and for the corresponding period last year was $592,948. The shipment of fractional silver coin from Nov. 2 to 28 aggregated $927,059.

New York State Canals Closed.

Albany, Dec. 1.—The state canals were all closed for the season at noon to-day except the eastern division of the Erie, which will be kept open until midnight to-night.

THE FIGHT FOR SILVER

Wm. J. Bryan's Views on the Recent Election.

"BIMETALLISM WILL BE RESTORED"

He Says the "Contest for Financial Independence Will Go On" and Looks for Complete Triumph Four Years Hence.

New York, Dec. 1.—In the December number of the North American Review, published to-day, Mr. Bryan presents an article in which he discusses the result of the election as affecting the status of the silver question. The issue on which the election turned he describes as "the greatest issue ever submitted to the American people in time of peace." The declaration of the Chicago convention in favor of the free coinage of silver forced upon the people of this country a study of the money question in general, and within the last four months more people have been simultaneously engaged in its consideration than ever before in the history of the world. The result of this study Mr. Bryan declares to be "temporary defeat, but permanent gain for the cause of bimetallism." Mr. Bryan regards it as a significant fact that the silver sentiment was strongest where the question had been longest considered, that is to say, in the west and south. The gold sentiment prevailed in the eastern stats, but even there, in Mr. Bryan's opinion, the cause of bimetallism made more rapid progress than any cause ever made in such a short time. The odds against bimetallism in the middle states were great. In Wisconsin and Minnesota the democratic party declared against silver in the conventions which sent delegates to Chicago. In Michigan, he says, the convention was nearly equally divided, and there was a bitter contest within the party. In Iowa, Indiana and Ohio, while in Illinois the hostile influence of the Chicago press was greatly felt. Mr. Bryan expresses his assurance that the election can be by no means regarded as a conclusive settlement of the questions at issue. The advocates of free coinage are convinced that they are laboring in behalf of a large majority of the people, not only here, but throughout the world, and they propose to continue their fight, confident that four more years of experience will convince many who have thus far resisted argument. This confidence is confirmed by the history of recent elections. Mr. Blaine was defeated in 1884, but Mr. Harrison was elected in 1888. The republican victory of 1888 was followed by the democratic victory of 1890, and the election of President Cleveland two years later. Mr. Bryan counsels the republican party to remember that thousands of republicans have been held to their party this year by the pledge that they will try to secure international bimetallism. In regard to the gold-standard democrats, Mr. Bryan is assured that they cannot do as much harm in 1900 as they have done this year. They have declared, he says, their affection for democratic principles, while they spared no effort to secure the success of the republican ticket. "They cannot," he says, "disguise themselves again. The contest for financial independence will go on. We undertook the contest with a disorganized army; we emerged from it a united and disciplined force, without the loss of a soldier. We are ready for another contest. We believe that we are right, and, believing that right will finally triumph, we face the future firm in the belief that bimetallism will be restored."

France, Russia and England.

Paris, Dec. 1.—The Figaro, in a leading article, declares that the most intimate relations between Great Britain and France are necessary and that M. Hanotaux, minister of foreign affairs, will be to blame if he fails to cement the nations as desired by the people and parliament of France. Le Nord affirms the statement made on Saturday that the Paris government has joined the governments in St. Petersburg and London in negotiations looking to the establishment of Turkish reforms, which accounts for the sudden change in the tone of the French press towards England.

Solicitor Reeve's Report.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The report of F. A. Reeve, solicitor of the treasury, shows that the total number of suits brought under his direction during the year was 5,646; 3,466 suits were decided in favor of the United States; 39 adversely decided; 655 were settled and dismissed; in five penalties were remitted, leaving 1,481 still pending. Amount of judgements obtained $1,909,885; amount collected, $262,097. Offers of compromise pending involve $385,850.

Raines Law Investigation.

New York, Dec. 1.—The committee, Senator Raines chairman, investigating the operations of the Raines liquor law, resumed its sittings this morning. It is expected that Commissioner Roosevelt will testify this afternoon. Yesterday afternoon's session was taken up with an examination of Assistant District Attorney Battle, whose testimony was uninteresting.

No Cut in Rochester Shoe Factory Wages.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The rumor which has been in circulation for some time that there had been a 10 per cent. cut in wages in the shoe factories of this city is entirely without foundation.

Victory for Newark Letter Carriers.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The United States court of claims has handed down 175 judgements in favor of Newark, N. J., letter carriers for over time.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

108 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 1, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair Tonight and Wednesday; Slightly Colder Tonight.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 37 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 1.--University Extension lecture in Crescent Avenue church chapel.
Dec. 2.--Opening of Poultry and Pigeon Show at Jersey Cycle Academy.
Dec. 3.--Supper of King's Daughters in old Postoffice building.
Dec. 3.--"Caste" at the Casino.
Dec. 3.--Sociable at Warren chapel.
Dec. 4.--Sociable at Trinity Reformed church.
Dec. 4.--Operetta at Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 p.m.

The first day of winter.

You can vote up to 7 o'clock.

The storm of ballots is raging; someone is bound to go under.

Weather Prophet DeVoe says we won't cut ice in New Jersey before February. But what he says don't always "cut ice."

Just one more month and then not another leap year till 1904. Hurry up, girls, a month of procrastination may make you an old maid for the rest of your life.

A Chicago man took a big dose of laudanum and then wrote how it felt to die. The most of us are too busy thinking about how to live than to indulge in such passing pleasantries.

The next Legislature will be composed of eighteen Republicans out of twenty-one Senators and fifty-six Republicans out of sixty Assemblyman. A too heavy majority oft times proves disastrous to the dominant party.

Dr. Charles Hunter, proprietor of the Hunter Sanitarium, at Netherwood, feels that an injustice has been done the enterprise by the publication of the charges of his brother, and today on another page of the Press the former gives his side of the trouble.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Eugene Jobs, of Brooklyn, has been visiting his aunt, Miss Jobs, of Third place.

George Wilson, of New York, was the guest of William L. McClure, of Crescent avenue, Saturday.

The Washington Avenue Card Club meets on Friday evening at the home of Miss Janie Churchill, of Dunellen.

Mrs. James Tilby, of Stone street, was been entertaining her brother from Bridgeport, Conn. He left for home Friday.

Miss Lizzie Long, of Somerville, returned home this morning after visiting her cousin, Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs E. T. George have returned to their home on Craig place after spending Thanksgiving week with relatives in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Dumont have returned to their home in Brooklyn, after a two weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rogers, of Myrtle avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGee and children have returned to their home on Rockview avenue, after spending a few day at the home of relatives in Philadelphia.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

The Author and Donor Unknown.

The circulars advocating the election of James E. Martine for Mayor that were delivered all over the city last night, were received by Mr. Martine last night at 6:30 o'clock by express from New York. Who the author of the circular is Mr. Martine is at a total loss to know. But since he was kind enough to furnish them, the Farmer Orator had them delivered without delay, the work not being finished till 2 o'clock this morning.

—Mecca Temple, M. S., met in New York last evening, and a number of members residing in this city attended.

—The meeting for normal Bible study in the Seventh Day Baptist church, this week, will be held in the church parlor on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Arthur E. Main pastor.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Freda Ericksen, of this city, is visiting friends in Orange.

Miss Josie Fritz, of Somerset street, is visiting friends in New York.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will meet for practice tonight.

Miss Lindsay, of Burtville, is the guest of Miss Cole, of Scotch Plains.

James Leonard, of Perth Amboy, spent Sunday with his family in town.

Miss Irwin, of Brooklyn, is visiting Miss Katherine Glen, of Craig place.

Rev. Milton Craft spent Sunday with his mother on Kensington avenue.

Mrs. G. P. Armstrong, of East Front street, is confined to her home with illness.

Walter G Runyon, and family, of East Third street, have moved to Elizabeth.

Miss Reba Tinsman, of Lumberville, is the guest of the Misses Livezay, of Park avenue.

Miss Dudley Furguson, of Kensington avenue, is entertaining her friend, Miss Hanley.

Andrew L. Saffron and family, of East Third street, have moved to 124 Duer street.

J. Hervey Doane, of La Grade avenue, has been confined to his home for several days with illness.

Mark Lees and family, have moved from Pearl street to the corner of Chatham and Warren streets.

Walter Smalley, of Linden avenue, has secured a position with E. F. Titus, the Somerset street baker.

Volney F. Green, of East Fifth street, returned Saturday evening from a two-months trip to Florida.

Mrs. Pierre Gumpier, of New York, has returned home after a visit with Mrs J. M. Martin, of Park avenue.

Benjamin Terry, of Bridgeport, Conn., has been visiting at the home of S. S. Wheeler, of Mountain avenue.

Francis J. Blatz, of Somerset street, returned to his studies yesterday at the Law Department of the New York University.

Miss "Ted" Scrymser, of Staten Island, has returned home after a visit with Miss Dryden, of West Seventh street.

Judge Taft, of the Supreme Court Bench, of Vermont, has returned home after sitting for his picture in Julian Scott's office.

Chauncey Burt, of West Seventh street, returned to Princeton yesterday after spending his Thanksgiving holidays at home

Charles Noble, of East Fifth street, has returned after spending the Thanksgiving vacation at Mendam, Morris county.

Ralph Campbell, of Netherwood avenue, went back to New York yesterday to his studies at the University after spending his vacation at home.

Nathan Lewis, of West Eighth street, returned yesterday from Ashaway, Rhode Island, where he has been spending the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Myrtle avenue, gave a dinner Saturday for her daughter and a few of the latter's young friends. Miss Masters from Detroit was the guest of honor.

Mrs. E. C. Morse, department president of the Woman's Relief Corps, leaves to-day for Asbury Park, where she will remain a few days, transacting business concerning the corps.

Amile Dryer, of East Front street, went to Trenton Sunday to stand as Godfather to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Kuestner, who was baptized in the Emanuel church, at that place.

James K. Arnold, Jr., C. Clarance Rogers, employees of Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham, have left town for Undercliffe, Bergen county, where they will spend the week in surveying the town.

Miss May Woodruff, of New York, has returned home after a visit with her friend, Miss Nora Williams, of Somerset street. Miss Williams accompanied her and will remain for a few days.

Miss Edith Wrentmore, of East Third street, who has been so seriously ill for several days past, it is now hoped has passed the critical point and is in a fair way of ultimate recovery.

Most of the Plainfield young ladies at Wellesley College did not return for the Thanksgiving holidays as the college only gives one day vacation. At Christmas time they are given three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stites, formerly of this city and now of Rahway, were in town over Sunday as the guests of Miss Stites' father, Ira Van Boskerck, of Somerset street. Mr. Stites returned to Rahway last evening to resume his duries as motorman on the Rahway Electric Light Company's route, but Miss Stites will visit among relatives and friends here this week.

To cure all old sores, to heal and indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

CHILDREN'S GOWNS.

Serviceable Garments in the New Materials and Fashions of the Season.

(By Special Arrangement with the N. Y. Sun.)

Children's gowns and cloaks are of especial interest now, and the more one thinks about children's clothes the more interesting they are, for there is some satisfaction in the purchase of their pretty, simple gowns, which can all be worn out before they go out of style.

There are some girls who look very quaint in the Puritan dress of soft, light grey cashmere and a chemisette of finely tucked lawn, with a broad, hemstitched collar and cuffs. The short waist is laced with a gray cord over the chemisette in front, and the effect is charming on a very prim little maiden. The gown illustrated is of dark red smooth cloth, with a belt of red velvet and revers of cream-white cloth striped with gold braid and trimmed with otter. Another dress of green has a chemisette yoke, revers and lower sleeves of green and white Liberty satin. The sleeve puff is of cloth, as is also the full bodice. Still another model for serge gowns in various colors is made with a circular skirt trimmed with broad black braid and a narrower width put on in loop pattern. The bodice buttons up the back, where it is gathered at the waist line only, and is blouse shape in front, plaited in at the neck. The collar of white cloth trimmed with braid is round in the back and pointed in front. Scotch plaids are perhaps the most economical school gowns, for they are made very simple, with plain hemmed skirts, full waists, shirred into the belt back and front, and a few rows of black velvet ribbon on the collar band, cuffs and belt.

The Washington Monument.

One of the most singular stories that may be told about the Washington monument is hardly credible, yet it can be vouched for as perfectly true. There are hundreds of ladies in Washington who wear upon their hats the plumage of the entire skin of a bird which has lost its life flying against the tall mass of marble in the dimness of twilight or daybreak. Every morning one of the watchmen who spends the night in the monument finds about its base quite a number of birds who have lost their lives in this way. This mortality is not limited to any one species, but includes nearly all the birds known in this region. Strange to say, few English sparrows lose their lives by flying against the monument, but the beautiful golden finches, cedar birds, starlings, tanagers, grosbeaks and many others of bright plumage and great rarity have been found. The watchman takes these birds uptown to a taxidermist, who stuffs and mounts the rarer specimens, which are sold for a good round price to collectors and the skins of those less rare are prepared for the milliner. Hardly a morning goes that there are less than a score of dead birds about the base of the shaft.

Another curious thing to know about the monument is that its height and width vary. It is taller in summer than in winter, and in the latter season its width on the south side is about an inch greater than on the north, east or west side. This is due to expansion under the heat of the sun's rays.—Washington Star.

"The Cuban insurgents stole another march on Weyler yesterday."

"What was that?"

"They spilled six barrels of ink out of his ammunition wagon."

CLEVELANDS BAKING POWDER PURE & SURE

Her Usefulness.

"That cow's got a lot of good points about her."

"Yes. She'd make a splendid hatstand."—Ally Sloper.

Sufficient.

Uncle Rube—Say, don't them electric cars kill people pretty often round here?

Slopsy—Naw; only oncet.—Up to Date.

All the World a Stage to Him.

The Actor—I say, forester, does the game enter right or left?—Fliegende Blatter.

A Suggestion.

She—Music hath charms, you know.

He—Yes. I'll bring up a brass band with me next time I call.

"Couldn't you make it a gold band with a solitaire in it?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Etc.

The Second Annual Exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association at CYCLE ACADEMY, on December 2d, 3d, 4th & 5th.

A large display of Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Rabbits, Guinea Pigs, etc. Pigeons that cost $100 each; cats valued at $5,000 each. Incubator hatching chicks daily. Come and bring the children.

Admission, 25c. Children, 15c.

11 30 6

MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 7th.

A Play That is Sure to Please.

JAMES A HERNE'S

Beautiful Comedy-Drama,

SHORE ACRES

Direction of H. C. Miner.

A Fine Company of Players

Entire New Scenery.

Unique Realistic Novelties.

PRICES NEVER VARY.

Reserved Seats, $1, 75c, 50c. and 25c. Seats on sale Friday at Box Office at 9 a. m.

A Plain Question!

Do you want Kid Gloves?
Do you want Laces?
Do you want Dress Trimmings?
Do you want Hosiery?

COME TO PECK'S!

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders, HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.

HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.

One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Creamery Butter 20 & 25c Per Pound at J. F. MACDONALD'S

Uptown Grocery.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!

GEORGE E. ROGERS.....Lessee. | GEORGE H. WILLEY.....Manager

Dainty Charming KITTIE RHOADES

and her company of clever artists will open a week's engagement commencing

MONDAY, NOV. 30th,

In Repertoire no higher. People's Popular Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents. Change of bill nightly. Grand Family Matinee Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Box office now open.

Tuesday Evening, East Lynne. Wednesday Evening, Polly. Thursday Evening, Hazel Kirk. Friday Evening, Factory Girl. Saturday Matinee, Unannounced. Saturday Evening, The Senator's Daughter.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW.

Ladies Cardigan Jackets, 75c and $1. Men's Cardigan Jackets, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.25. Specials in Table Linen from 25c. to $1 yd. Infants Sacques from 25c. up. Underwear for Ladies', Gent's and Children. Scotch Wool Gloves for Men and Boys—all prices. Warner Bros. Corsets. Thompson "Glove Fitting" Corsets.

210 WEST FRONT STREET.

A GOOD HEATER.

JOS. W. GAVETT, Madison Ave. and Front St.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield November 30th, 1896.

Adams Miss Minnie E
Brown Miss Fannie E
Case Miss H Caroline
Christensen C
Cox Mrs
Cornelin Patrick
Davisson C S
Floyce & Newins
Jones Kate
Kane Thos
Lanoton Mrs Edw E
McNeill, Miss B N
Pond Mrs Silas D
Phalen Miss Winnie E
Quinn Miss Roase
Sherman Miss Albertine
Smalley Mrs Geo
Smith Wm
Wakeman Miss Frances
Walls Saran

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. STICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield.....{7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains.{6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

Miss L. Cannon, of Junction, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Ayers, of Front street.

A union service will be held in the M. E. church tomorrow evening, when Presiding Elder Smith will preach.

Miss Annie Lloyd has returned home after a very pleasant week's vacation spent at Westchester, Pa.

The Misses Annie Miner, Nellie Kelly and Carrie Hyle were the guests over Sunday of Miss Annie Hock, at Somerville.

Miss Sallie Lake, of Somerville, and Miss Jerusha Fulper, of Sergeantsville, were guests yesterday of Mrs. A. N. Randolph.

The health of the borough is reported by Dr. Brakely as remarkably good for this time of the year. Aside from colds the residents seem to be enjoying good health.

Lincoln Egbert, of Prospect avenue, is suffering from an attack of the grip. Dr. Brakeley is the attending physician, and under his skillful treatment the patient is doing well.

Alex R. Webb, was announced to lecture in the Lincoln School Hall, Saturday evening, on the "Life of Mohammad," but on account of the storm the lecture was postponed to a future date.

Two horses owned by Clarence Slape broke out of the barn near the sewer beds Saturday and ran through town. The animals cut up many didoes near the depot park, but no great damage resulted from their antics.

The members of the Washington avenue card club will meet at the residence of Miss Churchill, on Washington avenue, Friday evening, and contest in a friendly game of euchre. The usual refreshments will follow.

Joseph Maier entertained a party of friends at a terrapin supper Saturday night. The soup was served up to the Queen's taste and the flow of art and good humor that accompanied its service was both pleasing and entertaining.

Rev. Mr. Peterson preached a forcible sermon in the Seventh Day Baptist church at New Market, Saturday morning, before a large and appreciative congregation. The usual church choir assisted materially at the service.

The street car traffic between Dunellen and Plainfield on Saturday was unusually small. During the day the Emeryside station was closed to all comers, and sooner than stand around in the cold rain, most of the Dunellen shoppers came and went by the steam cars.

The loss on the house of Sandford Staples, which was damaged by fire on Sunday, a week ago has been satisfactorily adjusted by the insurance companies and A. D. Pope is already at work papering the rooms and getting them ready for occupancy again.

There seems to be several aspirants for the postmastership here, and while it is not likely that any change will be made before spring, if even then, Thos. Todd is said to be circulating a petition for signers advancing his claim to the office. The petition, it is understood, is being largely signed.

Justice Huff and Chief of Police Warden were notified by telegram at 11 o'clock Sunday night to the effect that a horse and buggy had been stolen from Somerville. A description of the rig was also given. The chief patroled the streets until after midnight, but he found no trace of the missing rig.

Four boys, ranging in age from twelve to sixteen years, got hold of a bunch of excelsior at the Dunellen depot yesterday afternoon and in the men's toilet room one of them touched a match to the wad. In an instant there was a flash, a flame and a general scampering from the place. By the presence of mind on the part of one of the older ones the toilet house was saved from catching fire.

The New Market Baptist church was closed Sunday night and the congregation joined in the union services held in the Dunellen M. E. church, which were conducted by the Evangelist Rev. Mr. Glascock. Mr. Glascock has gone to Bridgeton to begin a series of revival meetings there, but the meetings in the M. E. church will be held as usual under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Custard, the pastor.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W Randolph, 143 East Front st.

Dunellen and New Market will send valuable exhibitions of fancy poultry to the chicken show in the Cycle Academy tomorrow. Among those who have already made entries are Gus. Warden, Lloyd Nelson, A. A. Parker, Amos Vail, F. O. Nelson. The latter will place on exhibition a valuable and peculiar looking fowl, resembling both a turkey and guinea hen. The specimen is the only one of the kind ever known to exist in this locality, and is highly prized by the owner.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

A party of hunters, headed by Judge Clark, have gone hunting to-day to Willow Grove. They are after rabbits and squirrels only.

The action on contract brought by Turton vs. Reed was settled in Judge Clark's court at Scotch Plains yesterday, by the defendant paying the costs for the suit.

Mrs. W. S. Emery attended a meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Lady Foresters held in the Jersey City Tabernacle, last night. Mrs. Emery is a deputy from the Bayone Lodge.

An out of-town detective has been employed, it is understood, to ferret out, if possible, the thieves who have been plying their vocation to numerous residences about here during the past ten days.

Frank Montgomery Hunter and his friend, M. Seymour Holbrook, of New York, with their mascot, Rastus, have been spending the past three days with their aunt, Mrs. John Marsh, Jr., of Rose Terrace, Scotch Plains.

The snow yesterday morning deteriorated the work at the stone crackers on the mountain near here. In several places the snow had drifted three feet deep, and at this particular point work was suspended for the day.

Jno. Marsh, whose safe was blown by dynamite thieves, early Sunday morning, as told in the Press, yesterday, says he has not the slightest intimation as to who did the act. He frankly admits that the safe was blown open neatly, and rejoices in the fact that none of his money was in it at the time. It is believed, however, that the safe breaking was either planned or accomplished or both, by some one in the immediate locality who was acquainted with Mr. Marsh's ways and customs. Saturday night, however, he tucked away a considerable amount of money at home, and this, of course, he had next day.

On Sunday afternoon a union service of all the Sunday Schools of the town was held in All Saints' Episcopal church. Despite the threatening weather the church was filled with the teachers and scholars of the Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal Sunday schools, and very interesting addresses were made by George E. Hall, Rev. Mr. Angleman and Harry Robinson, the several superintendents. Familiar hymns were sung, the rector of the church acting as organist, and a collection was taken for the county work. George H. Krause, of Roselle, corresponding secretary, made a model Sunday school address and his earnest word elicited the hearty approval of all his hearers. The children of the Baptist Sunday school, Rev. Mr. Braker, the pastor, leading them, gave some Biblical exercises that interested the assembled throng of Christian workers, and all departed feeling that another grand step towards Christian's unity had been taken and that the Sunday school work in the village had been given a new impetus. It is proposed to continue these services at proper intervals, during the coming year, and if the gathering at All Saints' can be taken as an index of the popular feeling on the subjects, the subsequent meetings will be successful and profitable to all who attend them.

—Blood is life and upon the purity and vitality of the blood depends the health of the whole system. Experience proves Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier.

Hood's Pills act easily anp promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

—The concert of the Westfield Football Association will be held this evening in the Westfield Club hall. The programme will include selections by a string quartette. George Jenkins, banjo soloist, Charles Forster, tenor soloist, Charles Harbison, Ethiopian melodies, Ganzel and Halloway, mandolin and guitar, and the Touchdown quartette.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

Highest of all in Leavening Power. — Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., will hold its regular meeting this evening.

—The directors of the Public Library will hold a meeting this evening at the library.

—The Ladies Aid Society of Warren Chapel will give a social on Thursday evening next.

—Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias hold a regular meeting tomorrow evening.

—P. M. French is making repairs on his buildings on Somerset street recently damaged by fire.

—Paugh Caugh Naugh Sinque Tribe of Red Men will meet tomorrow night for a regular session.

—The County Executive Committee of the W. C. T. U., will hold a meeting tomorrow morning in Elizabeth.

—Martha Washington Council, No. 25, D. of A., meets this evening, at which time business of importance will come up for consideration.

—Senate Lodge, No. 3542, Knights of Honor, will meet on Thursday evening. Progressive euchre and dominoes will follow the meeting.

—Edward White will put on sale today and tomorrow an immense lot of heavy winter underwear bought from a manufacturer at half the regular price.

—The Sunday school of the Congregational church has begun to practice the Christmas music under the direction of the precentor, Frank Bristol.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenburg Hospital are much in need of money for that institution, and they would like to receive more annual subscriptions.

—Through the kindness of Prof. Phelps, of the Plainfield Business College, the civil service examination of the post office will be held in his rooms on Saturday from 1:30 to 6 p. m.

—Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will meet tomorrow evening and work the first rank on one candidate. There will also be an election of Grand Lodge officers, and all past masters are requested to be present.

—A play, together with tableaux, will be presented by the Town Improvement Association sometime during this month. Miss Katherine Stewart has charge of the affair and a rehearsal was held last evening for the first.

—Aaron Brower claims to own a hound dog which has never yet let a rabbit get away after once started up. If Aaron can't shoot the cotton tail going through the underbrush and hedges, the dog follows the trail and invariably brings the game back.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Valuable Dog Gone.

A valuable little fox terrier, belonging to Henry A. McGee, of Orchard place, Washington Park, strayed away or was stolen yesterday. The last seen of the canine was when it was following a colored man down Willow avenue. Its mother was a prize-winner at the recent dog show in New York.

—Rev. Gabriel Maguire, a missionary from the Congo, will address the meeting of the Christian Alliance on Thursday evening at 7:45 at the rooms of the W. C. T. U., Watchung avenue. The business meeting announced will be postponed until January.

—The electric light poles on Codington avenue were wired yesterday for lighting. The residents on that street are very anxious to have the lights.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

THEATRICAL.

The Kittie Rhoades Company opened their engagement at Music Hall, last night, to a large audience. "May Blossom" was the bill and, judging from the frequent applause, the company made a "hit." Miss Rhoades, as "May," was all that could be desired. Tonight the company will produce the old time favorite, "East Lynne," Miss Rhoades appearing in the dual role of "Lady Isabelle" and "Madame Vine." Saturday afternoon a 10-cent matinee will be given and reserved seats can be secured by the payment of 10 cents extra at any time during the week. Tomorrow night's play is wholly comedy and specialties, and the company should be entirely at home, judging from the clever performance of last night.

Of James A. Herne's play of New England life character, "Shore Acres," an eminent Chicago clergyman said: "The moonlight streaming through the frosted windows of the old homestead redeemed in every sense God's benediction." In the same city "Shore Acres" was honored with a clergymen's theatre party, the first one ever formed in America. The following Sunday the play formed the subject of a number of sermons and it was highly praised for its strength and purity. Mr. Herne has gained a fortune with this beautiful comedy-drama, which is promised a fine production at Music Hall, Monday evening, Dec 7. The company engaged to appear in "Shore Acres" contains many players of ability, among them being Messrs. George W. Wilson and Atkins Lawrence. Entire new scenery and some mechanical efforts will be employed.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

CASINO!
Robertson's Celebrated Comedy of
Thursday Evening, Dec. 3d. | Caste.
BY PLAINFIELD AMATEURS.
ALL SEATS RESERVED.
Tickets will be on sale at Armstrong's (Reynold's) Drug store. Monday, Nov. 23d, 8 a m
11 19 11 24 6 28—12 1 2 3

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

COMPETENT general houseworkers wanted. Call in morning, Mrs. Day, 134 East Front street.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Apply 817 First place. 12 1 2

HORSES CHEAP—Ask to see Mr. Culyers' horses at the stable of Geo. W. Cole, Second street.

LOST—Young fox terrier, white, with long muzzle, evenly marked on head with lemon color; had on locked fancy red collar. Please return to 1 Orchard place, North Plainfield, suitable reward.

LOST—The gentleman in smoking car of midnight train, Friday, who by mistake took package off seat, will kindly leave same at the Daily Press office and receive reward. - 11 28 3

FOR SALE—Stove suitable for office or store. 127 Park avenue.

FOR EXCHANGE—Centrally located residence on large lot in Westfield, value $4500, no encumbrances; want small Plainfield house of about equal value. Address Mr. L. H., care Press. 11 24 5

FOR SALE—Small farm of 20 acres, about one mile from city limits, new, well built and attractive house, good fruit, etc Price low, terms easy. As part payment, might take small house in Plainfield. Address Alton, care Press. 11 24 5

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. F. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 916tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend, but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.
100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.
39c. each.

The Kosmo,
One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,
Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats
Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers
We sell for 93c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS
That are well worth your time to see:
Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear
An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

Men's	Value.	Our price.
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER
From 3c. To $2
SAMPLES FREE.
Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.
EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

WORK IS A PLEASURE

When a workman has the best of tools in reach. All our stock of builders' and general hardware is beyond criticism. Carpenters' and mechanics' tools of all kinds. Builders' supplies. Moulders' trowels on hand. Miscellaneous to order.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co.
105 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 49 I. 9 3 1y

I Did More Engraving
in October than ever before in one month—n t excepting the holiday month—which is usually the largest. When you remember that October was the last month in a bitter campaign, it means that quality counts.

Plate and fifty cards, - - - - $1.25
100 Cards from plate, - - - - 1.00

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front Street.

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!
C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield can old not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 11 17 1y

THE MISTRESS of the Mine.

or A Woman Intervenes.

By Robert Barr

Pictures by F.H.King.

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr.

"I mean that I shall not stand aside.'

"Then I shall ring the bell and have you thrust out of here for your impudence."

"You shall not ring the bell," said Edith calmly, putting her hand over the white china arrangement that held in its center the black electric button.

"Do you mean to tell me that you intend to keep me from leaving my own stateroom?"

"I mean to tell you exactly that."

"Do you know that you can be imprisoned for attempting such a thing?"

"I don't care."

"Stand aside, you vixen, or I will strike you."

"Do it."

For a moment the two girls stood there, the one flushed and excited, the other apparently calm, with her back against the door and her hand over the electric button. A glance through the window showed Miss Brewster that the mate had got into the boat, and that they were steadily lowering away.

"Let me pass, you—you wretch!"

"All in good time," replied Edith Longworth, whose gaze was also upon the boat swinging in midair. Jenny Brewster saw at once that if it came to a hand-to-hand encounter she would have no chance whatever against the English girl, who was in every way her physical superior. She had her envelope in one hand and the gold in the other. She thrust both of them into her pocket, which, after some fumbling, she found. Then she raised her voice in one of the most appalling screams Edith Longworth had ever heard. As if in answer to that ear-piercing scream, there arose from the steamer a loud and ringing cheer. Both glanced up to see where the boat was, but it was not in sight. Several ropes were dangling down past the portholes. Miss Brewster sprang up on the sofa, and with her small hands turned round the screw which held the deadlight closed.

Edith Longworth looked at her without making any attempt to prevent the unfastening of the window.

Jennie Brewster flung open the heavy brass circle which held the thick green glass, and again she screamed at the top of her voice, crying "Help!" and "Murder!"

The other did not move from her position. In the silence that followed the steady splash of oars could be heard, and again a rousing cheer rang out from those who were left upon the motionless steamer. Edith Longworth raised herself on tiptoe and looked out of the open window. On the crest of a wave, 500 yards away from the vessel, he saw the boat for a moment appear. exaggerated, Miss Brewster had no time to tone it down. Picturesque and dramatic description was what she aimed at. Her pen flew over the paper with great rapidity, and she looked up every now and then, through her stateroom window, to see dangling from the ropes the boat that was to make the attempt to reach the Irish coast. As she could thus see how the preparations for the departure were going forward, she lingered longer than she might otherwise have done, and added line after line to the dispatch which told of the disaster. At last she saw the men take their places in the long boat. She hurriedly counted the words in the new dispatch she had written, and quickly from her purse piled the gold that was necessary to pay for their transmission. Then she sealed the two dispatches in an envelope, put the two piles of gold into one, after rapidly counting them again, cast a quick look up at the still motionless boat, grasped the gold in one hand, the envelope in the other, and sprang to her feet, but as she did so she gave a shriek and took a step backward.

"Stand aside; I have no time to talk with you."

Standing with her back to the door was Edith Longworth. When she had entered the stateroom Miss Brewster did not know, but her heart beat wildly as she saw the girl standing silently there, as if she had risen up through the floor.

"What are you doing here?" she demanded.

"I am here," said Miss Longworth, "because I wish to talk with you."

"Stand aside; I have no time to talk with you just now. I told you I didn't want to see you again. Stand aside, I tell you."

"I shall not stand aside."

"What do you mean?"

showing the white glitter of her six dripping oars; then it vanished down the other side of the wave into the trough of the sea.

"Now, Miss Brewster, you are at liberty to go."

CHAPTER X.

After Edith Longworth left her Jennie Brewster indulged in a brief spasm of hysterics. Her good sense, however, speedily got her out of that, and as she became more or less calm she began to wonder why she had not assaulted the girl who had dared to imprison her. She dimly remembered that she thought of a fierce onslaught at the time, and she also remembered that the fear of the boat leaving during the row had stayed her hand. But now that the boat had left, she bitterly regretted her inaction, and grieved unavailingly over the fact that she had stopped to write the account of the disaster which befell the Caloric. Had she not done so, all might have been well, but her great ambition to be counted the best newspaper woman in New York, and to show the editor that she was equal to any emergency that might arise, had undone her. While it would have been possible for her to send away one telegram, her desire to write the second had resulted in her sending none at all. Although she impugned her own conduct in language that one would not have expected to have heard from the lips of a daughter of a millionaire, her anger against Edith Longworth became more intense, and a fierce desire to have revenge took possession of the fair correspondent. She resolved that she would go up on deck and shame this woman before everybody. She would attract public attention to the affair by tearing Edith Longworth from her deck chair, and in her present state of mind she had no doubt she had the strength to do it. With the yearning for revenge fierce and strong upon her, the newspaper woman put on her hat and departed for the deck. Like an enraged tigress she passed up one side and down the other, but her would-be victim was not visible. The rage of Miss Brewster increased when she found her prey was not where she expected. She had a fear that when she calmed down her own good sense would assert itself, and her revenge would be lost. In going to and fro along the deck she met Kenyon and Fleming walking together. Fleming had just that moment come up to Kenyon, who was moodily pacing the deck alone, and, slapping him on the shoulder, asked him to have a drink.

"It seems to me," he said, "that I never have had the pleasure of offering you a drink since we came on board the ship. I want to drink with everybody who is here, and especially now, when something has happened to make it worth while."

"I am very much obliged to you," said John Kenyon, coldly, "but I never drink with anybody."

"What, never touch it at all? Not even ale?"

"Not even ale."

"Well, I am astonished to hear that. I thought every Englishman drank ale."

"There is at least one Englishman who does not."

"All right, then, no harm done, and no offense given, I hope. I may say, however, that you miss a lot of fun in this world."

"I presume I miss a few headaches, also."

"Oh, not necessarily. I have one great recipe for not having a headache. You see, this is the philosophy of headaches," and then, much to John's chagrin, he linked arms with him and changed his step to suit Kenyon's, talking all the time as if they were the most intimate friends in the wrold.

"I have a sure plan for avoiding a headache. You see, when you look into the matter, it is this way. The headache only comes when you are sober. Very well, then. It is as simple as A B C. Never get sober; that's the way I do. I simply keep on and never get sober, so I have no headaches. If people who drink would avoid the disagreeable necessity of ever getting sober, they would be all right. Don't you see what I mean?"

"And now about their brains in the mean time?"

"Oh, their brains are all right. Good liquor sharpens a man's brains wonderfully. Now you try it some time. Let me have them mix a cocktail for you. I tell you, John, a cocktail is one of the finest drinks that ever was made, and this man at the bar, when I came on board, he thought he could make a cocktail, but he didn't know even the rudiments. I have taught him how to do it, and I tell you that secret will be worth a fortune to him, because if there is anything Americans like it is to have their cocktails mixed correctly. There's no one man in all England can do it, and very few men on the Atlantic service. But I'm gradually educating them. Been across six times. They pretend to give you American drinks over in England, but you must know how disappointing they are."

"I'm sure I don't see how I should know, for I never taste any of them."

"Ah, true; I had forgotten that. Well, I took this barkeeper here in hand, and he knows now how to make a reasonably good cocktail; and, as I say, that secret will be worth money to him from American passengers."

John Kenyon was revolving in his mind the problem of how to get rid of this loquacious and generous individual, when he saw, sailing down upon them, the irate figure of Miss Jennie Brewster, and he wondered what was the cause of the look of bitter indignation flashing from her eyes. He thought that she intended to address the American politician, but he was mistaken. She came directly at him, and, with her fist clenched, said in a loud voice:

"Well, John Kenyon, what do you think of your work?"

"What work?" asked the bewildered man.

"You know very well what work I mean. A fine specimen of a man you are! Without the courage yourself to prevent my sending that telegram, you induced your dupe to come down to my stateroom and brazenly keep me from sending it."

The look of utter astonishment that came upon the face of honest John Kenyon would have convinced any woman in her senses that he knew nothing at all of what she was speaking. A dim idea of this, indeed, flashed across the young woman's heated brain. But before she could speak Fleming said:

"Tut, tut, my dear girl, you are talking too loud altogether. Do you want to attract the attention of everybody on the deck? You mustn't make a scandal in this way on board ship."

"Scandal!" she cried. "We will soon see whether there will be a scandal or not. Attract the attention of those on deck! That is exactly what I am going to do, until I show up the villainy of this man you are talking to. He was the concoctor of it, and he knows it. She never had brains enough to think of it. He was too much of a coward to carry it out himself, and so he set her to do his dastardly piece of work."

"Well, well," said Fleming, "even if he has done all that, whatever it is, it will do no good to attract the attention to it here on deck. See how everybody is listening to what you are saying. My dear girl, you are too angry to talk just now; the best thing you can do is to go to your stateroom."

"You shut your silly mouth, will you?" she cried, turning furiously upon him. "I'll thank you to mind your own business, and let me attend to mine. I should have thought that you would have found out before this that I am capable of attending to my own affairs."

"Certainly, certainly, my dear girl," answered the politician, soothingly. "I'm sorry I can't tell you all to come and have a drink with me and talk the matter over quietly. That's the correct way to do things. Not to stand here screeching on the deck with everybody listening. Now, if you will quietly discuss the matter with John here, I'm sure everything will be all right."

"You don't know what you are talking about," replied the young lady. "Do you know that I had an important dispatch to send to the Argus, and that this man's friend, doubtless at his instigation, came into my room and practically held me prisoner there until the boat had left, so that I could not send the dispatch? Think of the cheek and villainy of that, and speak to me of talking wildly!"

A look of relief and astonishment came into Kenyon's face that quite convinced the newspaper woman, more than all his protestations would have done, that he knew nothing of the escapade whatever.

"And who kept you from coming out?" asked Fleming.

"It is none of your business," she replied, tartly.

"If you will believe me," said Kenyon, at last, "I knew nothing whatever of all this, so you see there is no use speaking to me about it. I won't pretend I am sorry, because I am not."

This added fuel to the flame, and she was about to blaze out again when Kenyon turned on his heel and left her and Fleming standing facing each other. Then the young woman herself turned and quickly departed, leaving the astonished politician entirely alone, so that there was nothing for him to do but to go into the smoking-room and ask somebody to have a drink with him, which he promptly did.

Miss Brewster made her way to the captain's room and rapped at the door. On being told to enter she found that officer seated at his table with some charts before him, and a haggard look upon his face, which might have warned her that this was not the proper time to air any personal grievances.

"Well?" he said briefly as she entered.

"I came to see you, captain," she began, "because an outrageous thing has been done on board this ship, and I desire reparation—what is more, I will have it!"

"What is the 'outrageous thing?'" asked the captain.

"I had some dispatches to send to New York to the New York Argus, on whose staff I am."

"Yes," said the captain, with interest; "dispatches relating to what has happened to the ship?"

"One of them did, the other did not."

"Well, I hope," said the captain, "you have not given an exaggerated account of the condition we are in."

"I have given no account at all, simply because I was prevented from sending the cablegrams."

"Ah, indeed," said the captain, a look of relief coming over his face in spite of his efforts to conceal it, "and pray, what prevented you from sending your cablegrams? The mate would have taken any messages that were given to him."

"I know that," cried the young woman; "and when I was in my room writing the last of the dispatches, a person who is on board as a passenger here—Miss Longworth—came into my room and held me prisoner there until the boat had left the ship."

The captain arched his eyebrows in astonishment.

"My dear madam," he said, "you

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

READY TO GO TO JAIL

Broker Chapman Will Surrender to the Court at Washington.

HIS COUNSEL WILL MAKE A FIGHT

Will Test the Law Under Which His Client Was Sentenced---Sugar Men and Newspaper Correspondents May Now Be Punished.

New York, Dec. 1.—Elverton R. Chapman, whose conviction for failure to testify before the senate sugar trust investigating committee in 1894, was yesterday afternoon affirmed by the United States supreme court, will leave to-day for Washington and surrender himself to the court. His counsel, ex-Judge Dittenhoefer, Senator Edmunds and Jeremiah Wilson, will at once apply for a writ of habeas corpus in order to test the constitutionality of the law under which Mr. Chapman was sentenced to fine and imprisonment. The effect of the decision of the court is that the broker must serve the term of imprisonment of thirty days adjudged against him upon conviction in the district court, and pay a fine of $100. A collateral effect is that Messrs. Havemeyer and Searles of the Sugar Trust, and Messrs. Edwards and Shriver, the newspaper correspondents, who also declined to answer the questions propounded by the senate committee, will have to submit themselves for trial in the district courts upon indictments similar to that in the Chapman case. The history of the case is familiar, having been frequently narrated in these dispatches. Chapman was convicted under section 102, R. S., which provides punishment for failure to answer questions asked by a committee of congress, the court overruling all suggestions that the section was unconstitutional. He sued out a writ of error to have the case reviewed by the supreme court of the United States, and the government moved to dismiss the writ on the ground that the supreme court had no jurisdiction to review the judgment of the district courts in criminal cases.

MORE GOLD NOT NEEDED.

The Treasury Now Somewhat Short of Currency.

Washington, Dec. 1.—There is no present likelihood that the treasury department will voluntarily resume the issue of gold certificates for bullion gold deposited. Within the past week sterling exchang has gradually grown stronger until now it has reached within a fraction of the gold exporting point. During December and January it is usual for imports to be heavy as a result of which gold has to be sent abroad in January and February to meet the payment of the goods thus imported. At present the gold reserve is $30,000,000 above the reserve limit and the treasury rather discourages than otherwise the receipt of gold as it reduces its supply of currency. In round figures it has on hand net $70,000,000 in currency available for its daily business.

To Be Tried by Court Martial.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 1.—Private letters received in this city state that young Oscar Cespedes, an American citizen and a correspondent for the Key West Herald, who has been confined in prison in Matanzas for the past several months, will be tried by court martial. His case is similar to that of Orna Melton, the Times-Union correspondent, who has languished in the Cabanas for the past nine months. It is reported that young Melton is back in the Cabanas just convalescing from a case of yellow fever and is in a very delicate state.

Suicide of R. E. Marshall.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Robert E. Marshall, superintendent of the Altoona division of the Pennsylvania railroad, who committed suicide at the residence of his brother Dr. Charles Marshall yesterday by shooting, had been for a long time in a condition of health bordering almost upon nervous prostration. Added to this fact the present is near the anniversary of the death of his wife, over which he was brooding sadly. Mr. Marshall's father was assistant postmaster general under President Grant.

Work of Life Saving Service.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The report of General Superintendent Kimball of the Life Saving service shows that the average annual loss of life from 1877 (when the service was generally extended to the sea and lake coasts) to June 30, 1896, has been one out of 113 person on board vessels in disaster, and the loss of property 21 per cent. of the value imperilled. The cost of the service for the past fiscal year was $1,401,805.

Hamburg Dock Troubles.

Hamburg, Dec. 1.—There is some reason to believe that the dock strike here will shortly be settled. The committee of four ship owners and four workmen appointed yesterday to decide upon terms for a settlement of the strike, express the belief that they will have no trouble in settling the difficulty, as both sides seem willing to recede in some degree from the extreme stands they have heretofore maintained Movement of Our Warships.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The navy department has been notified of the arrival of the Indiana at Tompkinsville, the sailing of the Philadelphia from San Francisco for Callao, and the departure of the Machias from Ningpoo for Menchow.

Entertaining Prince Louis at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 1.—Prince Louis of Savoy will be entertained at dinner to-day by Gen. Montgomery Moore, commander of the British forces here.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Ltd.

The Portland Range has ventilated oven door, duplex grate; it eats less coal than any other make.

Clearing Space for Holiday Goods

that are fast arriving. To do it quick, we've put diminutive prices on more bulky stocks—bedroom and parlor suits. In bedroom suits we've some 50 of same liberal, elegant style as cut herewith—NOT a cheap makeshift, but lasting. Extra large dresser and mirror, large washstand and heavy carving. Prices 50 to 75 per cent. lower than formerly. Begin at $24.75 Still another line as low as $11.75 the suit.

50 Suits on style of above cut—suit here shown is $24.75—large dresser fine plate mirror, etc. etc.

PARLOR SUITS same liberality in making, reductions is apparent in this line. All suits (in a score of patterns) put way below old prices. We've pretty designs as low as $17.50—You'll get splendid worth in every single style we're carrying.

CARPETS This Carpet Dept. is filled with bright new goods at what might be dubbed "dull season prices." Won't list 'em for lack of space—best call and judge for yourself. Will match—yes, go lower than any other price you've seen or know about.

Amos H. Van Horn, Ltd. 73 MARKET ST. W. of Broad St. Newark, N. J.

Smallest Prices, Easiest of Terms. Telephone 580

Note name "Amos" before entering store

Goods delivered Free to any part of State.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.

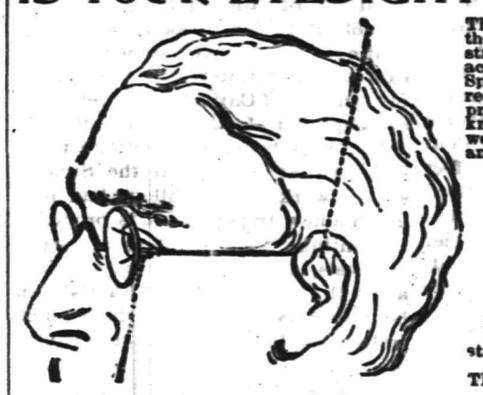
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS !

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?



There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street.
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 33, 9 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 28, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 38, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 20, 8 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 20, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 39, 6 59, 7 50, 8 00, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 38, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 09, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 08, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 9 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 25 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2 Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 48, 2 11, 2 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 38, 7 13, 7 34, 8 21, 10 28, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43, 5 14, 6 35, 10 35, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 10, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 35, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 35, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 9 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 48, 2 11, 4 36, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 38, a m; 2 03, 6 25 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04, 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 37, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 03, 5 16 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 48 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 03 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

6 25 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin, (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 39 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg.

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 38 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 25 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 9 32, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 61, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 2 32* 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2 32*, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m., 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (* change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:20, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 5:20 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 50 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m; closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y.
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office 763 South ave Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station

Finest Assortment

OF

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

IN THE CITY.

Agency for

Lincoln Fountain Pens $1 and $1.50.

FULLY WARRANTED.

HARPER'S,

411 PARK AVENUE.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. s 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

Vocal Sight Reading Classes.

MISS ANNA O. MARSH,

915 MADISON AVE.—$3 FOR 10 LESSONS.

Holt-Damrosch system. 9 26 2m

NEW DESIGNS LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THANSGIVING.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co. 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for Thanksgiving at

W. L. & J. M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 42b.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

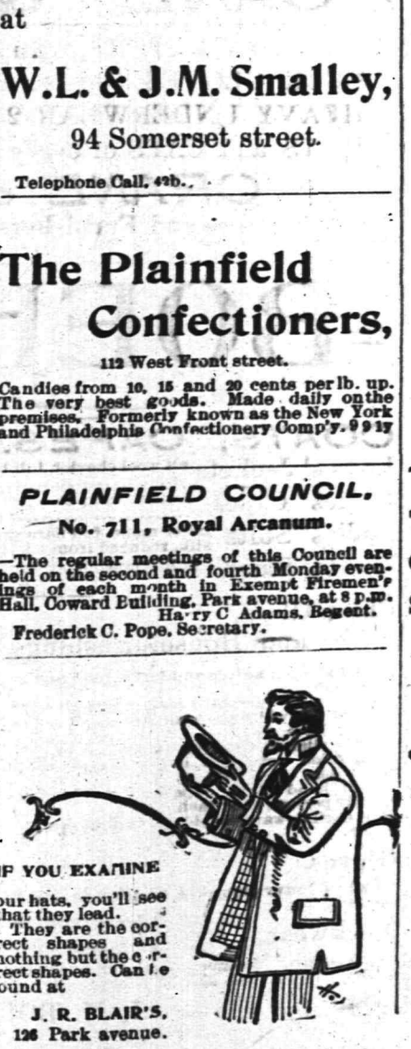
Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C Adams, Regent.
Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.



IF YOU EXAMINE our hats, you'll see that they lead. They are the correct shapes and nothing but the correct shapes. Can be found at

J. R. BLAIR'S,
126 Park avenue.

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash . . . $ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100 PIERCE SPECIAL Bicycles* 2,000.00
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month . . $3,400.00 12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Competitors to save as many SUNLIGHT SOAP Wrappers as they can collect. Cut off the top portion of each wrapper, that portion containing the heading "SUNLIGHT SOAP." These (called "Coupons") are to be send, postage fully paid, enclosed with a sheet of paper stating Competitor's full name and address and the number of Coupons sent in, to Lever Bros., Ltd., New York, marked on outside Wrapper (top left hand corner) with NUMBER of the DISTRICT Competitor lives in.

No. of District	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands, New Jersey.
2	New York State (outside of N. Y. City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands).
3	Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and District of Columbia.
4	The New England States.

*The Bicycles are the celebrated Pierce Special, 1897 Pattern, m'f'd by Geo. N. Pierce & Co., of Buffalo, Boston and New York. Fitted with Hartford Tires, Fine Class Nickle Lamp, New Departure Bell, Standard Cyclometer, and Hunt Lace Saddle.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897 in each of the 4 districts prizes will be awarded as follows:

The 1 Competitor who sends in the Largest Number of coupons from the district in which he or she resides will receive $100 Cash.

The 5 Competitors who send in the Next Largest Numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside will Each receive at winner's option a lady's or gentleman's Pierce Special bicycle, price $100.00.

The 10 Competitors who send in the Next Largest Numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside will Each receive at winner's option a lady's or gentleman's Gold Watch, price $25.

2. The Competitions will Close the Last Day of Each Month during 1897. Coupons received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Lever Brothers, Ltd., and their families, are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of Winners in Competitor's district will be forwarded to Competitors in about 21 days after each competition closes.

5. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201-203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Fussell's Celebrated Ice Cream

ALL FLAVORS.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

Special-- We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

The Great Gas Saver!
Three times the Light.
One-half the Gas.
See our Welsbach Stand Lamp.

Assortment
Of FURNITURE,
In all grades.
Largest and Best
We have ever exhibited.
Visitors always welcome
No trouble to show goods.

J. W. GAVETT. G. Q. PACKER.

Hat Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

SPREES AT A CHURCH FESTIVAL.

Contracted for by Subscription in the Rhineland Village of Oberringelheim.

It is a custom of the country in Germany to get drunk at the consecration of a new church. This custom has been regarded as unlovely and unChristian by many influential Germans of the new school, most notably by Emperor William II., but still it remains unreformed, and the comic weeklies do not tire of depicting the scenes, in and out of the police court, that follow the consecration sprees and fights. Some three weeks ago the festival of a new church was celebrated in Oberringelheim, in the Rhine country. In anticipation of the usual trade in exhilarating liquors a saloonkeeper who does business near the sacred edifice advertised thus in the Rhineland Observer:

"Jacob Muller herewith pledges himself for a subscription price of three marks (75 cents) to serve every one of his guests with as much wine as he can drink on the occasion of the church consecration.

"Inviting my friends and patrons to visit me in response to this request, I remain, respectfully yours,

"Jacob Muller."

Within an hour after the newspapert containing this advertisement appeared, 39 citizens of little Oberringelheim bought subscription tickets from Muller. At the current price of ordinary loose wine in the Rhine country, each of the 39 and their colleagues in this speculation had to drink 16 large glassfuls before he could begin to benefit by the subscription tariff. The final results of the speculation cannot be known until the police court reports of the Oberringelheim district arrive with the newspapers from the continent.

Made Doctor of Divinity.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Rev. J. C. Lewis of the Church of the Incarnation, New York city, received the degree of doctor of divinity at a special convocation of Trinity university held yesterday.

Hon. Ira Shafer Dead.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Hon. Ira Shafer, the noted lawyer, died at his home near Highland, on the west side of the river opposite this city last night,

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M. Stillman. Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

MRS. L. ADAMS, MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

179 North ave., Plainfield.

Telephone 30M

NO OFFER TO SPAIN

Cubans Made No Proposition for the Purchase of the Island.

DENIAL BY COUNT CASA-MIRANDA

The Story Recently Published by Senor Cardenas Now Declared To Be Untrue---The Progress of the War.

Madrid, Dec. 1.—In an interview, Count Casa Miranda denied that he ever had any conversation or negotiated with Senor Jose de Armas Cardenas, who claims that he was a diplomatic agent of the Cuban government and went to Spain to treat for the purchase of Cuba by the insurgents. Senor de Armas Cardenas recently issued a pamphlet giving what purports to be an account of his attempt to secure the consent of the Spanish government to the sale of Cuba to the insurgents for the sum of $100,000,000. In it he tells of his visiting Paris to see persons who had relations with the Spanish authorities. He saw Count Casa Miranda, who is the husband of Mme. Christine Nilsson, the well known singer, and the pamphlet gives the details of his visit to him. It says: "When I addressed myself to the Count Casa Miranda he, to my surprise, request me to await in Paris his return from Madrid, where he would go, he said, and lay the matter before Premier Canovas. He went, and within six days he returned and informed me that the premier was ready to confer with me, providing I would guarantee that a proposition such as I had outlined would, if made by Spain, be accepted by the Cubans in arms. I told the count that I would return to New York and obtain such a guarantee." This statement the count now denies.

THE CUBAN INSURRECTION.

No Definite News Concerning the Movements of Gen. Weyler.

Havana, Dec. 1.—There is as yet no definite news concerning the movements of Capt.-Gen. Weyler, nor is there anything to indicate the exact whereabouts of Gen. Maceo's command. The latter is reported to be retreating before the advance of the Spanish leader, but there are many here, who, although they declare in public that the Cuban patriot is concealing himself through fear, say that the willy patriot general may be endeavering to draw Gen. Weyler into a trap among the defiles of the hills, with which he is so well acquainted, and inflict upon the Spanish troops a severe, if not fatal, defeat. Many leading Spaniards here are beginning to believe that in the art of war Gen. Maceo is as far superior to Gen. Weyler as he is in knowledge of the country. According to meagre reports received all that the Spaniards have so far achieved has been the capture of a number of stray cattle and the destruction of some native plantations and huts. The war bulletins issued at the palace are unimportant. They only report skirmishes, in which the losses on either side are trifling. Rebels yesterday blew up the dynamite bridge near Seiba Mecha, province of Matanzas, while a train was passing over it. The armored car attached to the train was wrecked and one soldeir wounded. Thus far 278 members of the Nanigo society, which is made up of criminals and ruffians of every description, have been exiled to the African penal colonies. This society was very active towards the close of the ten years' war, and its members have taken advantage of the present condition of affairs to commit all manner of crimes. The authorities are making every effort to extirpate them. An order has been issued by the local treasury to prevent the exportation of tobacco grown in the provinces of Pinar del Rio and Havana from the ports of the other provinces.

CAPTURE OF GUAIMARO.

Cuban Patriots Secured a Rich Booty and Many Prisoners.

New York, Dec. 1.—The first definite news in the shape of details regarding the capture of the town of Guaimaro, in the district of Camaguey, Cuba, by the patriots arrived in this city in the form of a personal letter from Gen. Calixto Garcia to the Cuban junta. It was dictated to one of his adjutants who brought it to this city. The report of the seige and capture which was cabled here some time ago has been denied by the Spanish authorities, but the Cuban leaders in this city declare that Gen. Garcia's letter leaves no doubt now that the report was correct. It states that the siege of the garrisons of 295 men in the twelve small forts in the town lasted twelve days. When the officers surrendered the Cubans took as prisoners all the men in charge of the forts, which included one captain, two lieutenants, two sub-lieutenants, eighteen sergeants, one surgeon, and sixteen corporals. All the officers were paroled but the men were sent to the mountains to work on the Cuban plantations. The constitution of the Cuban government provides for the release of these prisoners, and it was at the request of the men that they were sent to the plantations, the letter states. The booty captured by Gen. Garcia's men was a great boon to the patriots. It included 500 centenes (a gold piece worth $5.30) and other monies aggregating $21,000, 200 Mauser rifles, 125 rounds of ammunition, six pack mules loaded with medicines and stores, and 500 machetes, besides a quantity of clothing. The letter concludes by stating that the captured soldiers preferred the protection of the Cubans to the liberty that was offered them. Guaimaro is in the district of Camaguey and in the province of Puerto Principe.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:05 a.m.
Sun sets: 4:34 p.m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:34 p. m.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

CENTRAL BOWLING LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.
Park Club	3	1
Elizabeth A. C.	3	3
Westfield	2	2
Roselle Casino	2	2
Cranford Country Club	2	2
New Jersey A. C.	1	1
Bayonne R. and A. A.	1	3

VARIOUS SPORTS.

William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, in company with his friends William Cadmus and Arthur Loring, of Brooklyn, spent yesterday hunting near Martinsville.

PUNTS AND PASSES.

Despite the rain Saturday afternoon a football game was played. The Hunters team and the Bound Brooks were scheduled to play. The latter had only seven men, but rather than break up the game they played against eleven Plainfield players. Only one half was play and then the game was stopped on account of the heavy rain. The score was 12 to 0.

WHIST.

The Park Club has selected the whist trophy which will be offered by the club to the New Jersey Whist Association and it will be placed on exhibition in the window of Armstrong's Pharmacy on Wednesday. The club of the association will draw for first possession of the trophy and then the other clubs will challenge for it as usual.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charles Quarson, of Greenbrook road, is confined to his home by illness.

Geo. Feiring, of the fire department, has returned to work after an illness of one week.

Harry Bush and family, of Church street, are spending today with relatives in Flemington.

Mrs. Williams, of West Front street, is very seriously ill at her home, and hopes of her recovery are slight.

Willial Ross, of East Second street, spent yesterday with friends in Brooklyn. He returned home this morning.

Lawrence Doyle, a student at Seton Hall College, South Orange, will spend the holidays at his home in this city.

Miss Reinhart, of Belvidere avenue, and Miss Waring, of Park avenue, left town this morning for Richmond, Va.

Mrs. David King and daughter, Ethel King, of Craig place, have returned from a visit with Brooklyn relatives.

Owing to illness Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, was unable to appear at the Hope Chapel entertainment last evening.

Mrs. Julius Williams and son, Arthur Williams, of Elmwood place, have returned from a few days visit with relatives at Martinville.

William Cummings, of Roselle, was in town, Sunday, and displayed a box of fine second crop strawberries, which he picked from his vines in the morning.

Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell and children, of Norristown, Pa., have returned home after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feiring, of West Third street.

William Beiter and family have taken possession of a suite of rooms in Caspar's Hotel, on East Front street, where they will make their home for the winter at least.

Ira G. Hurlburt, a former resident here, but now employed at Rahway, came to Plainfield, last evening, simply to vote this morning. He was one of the first to cast his vote.

Roy T. Phillips, of Madison avenue, is still confined to his room with injuries sustained while playing football. He is much better, however, and hopes to be out and around shortly.

The many friends of Mrs. Henry C. Squires, of Watchung avenue, will be pleased to learn that she is improving nicely from a recent delicate operation performed at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York.

J. Perry, a former resident on Madison avenue, but late of Asbury Park, died there on Sunday. He was at one time prominently identified with Mt. Olive Baptist Church in this city, and this morning Rev. J. W. Mitchell, his former pastor, went to the Park to conduct the funeral services there at 1:30 o'clock to-day.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

GET WELL AND STAY WELL.

Get Rid of What Makes You Sick and Stay Rid of It.

It is so simple to be well that we wonder why there are so many sick people.

Come to think about it, must be because they don't know what's made them sick.

If they knew that, they should prevent it, and when they were sick, in some cases cure themselves. But, so long as we don't take more care of our health, we shall always be more or less sick.

The simple rules of health are: Keep clean, take exercise, eat good food, scour out your stomach.

This last means: Don't tolerate indigestion. Cure it with Shaker Digestive Cordial. A stomach full of undigested, fermented, putrid food is the unhealthiest thing you can think of.

Half our diseases and troubles come from the poisons of undigested food. More than half of them could be cured with Shaker Digestive Cordial.

More than half, because often when we think we are sick we are only weak and a course of nourishing food digested without effort by the stomach (with the aid of Shaker Digestive Cordial) would reinvigorate the whole system and make us well.

A ten cent trial bottle will prove it. At druggists.

Write for interesting book to The Shakers, 30 Reade street, New York.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The committee of arrangements of the Germania Beneficial Society met last evening and completed final arrangements for a ball to be held at the Gesang and Turn Verein Hall, December 14th.

—While Letter carrier E. T. Dunn was delivering mail yesterday morning in the West End, his horse became frightened and ran away. The animal was caught on Plainfield avenue and there was no damage whatever.

—The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company is making preparations to build a new station between the present stations at Lyons Farms and Saybrook, and discontinue the old station. This plan meets with considerable opposition, especially from the Lyons Farms commuters, who will have to walk the increased distance.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are are best.

IN OUR NEW STORY,

The Mistress of the Mine,

LOVE TRIUMPHS

As you will probably observe in this beautiful picture.

But how it was done proves an interesting tale, as you will find out.

SO DO NOT FAIL TO READ IT.

THE MISTRESS of the Mine. or A Woman Intervenes. By Robert Barr.

[Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr.]

REDS AT FOOTBALL.

THE CARLISLE BOYS A REVELATION IN FOOTBALL.

Interesting Features of Their Splendid Struggle With Yale's Champions—New York's Unstinted Applause for the Plucky Young Redskins.

Considered entirely apart from the science of football, the game at Manhattan Field on Saturday between the Yale eleven and the young redskins from the Indian Industrial School at Carlisle, Pa., was perhaps the most interesting ever played in New York. From first to last, through thick and thin, the crowd was seemingly unanimous in their applause of the Indians. For the first time in Yale's experience there was not a cheer for the wearer of the light blue.

The Indians seemed to be surprised by the enthusiasm of their welcome by the spectators.

But for the Indians—well, you had to hear it to understand. For themselves the Indians never piped up once, and so the enthusiastic crowd had no cue as to what the Carlisle yell is, if, indeed, the Indians have progressed so far in civilization as to adopt one. But that didn't stop the crowd from shouting.

One brass-lunged man who sat in the open seats on the north side of the field devoted himself to one shout, which he steadily repeated all through the game, and with tremendous effect. Nearly every time the two teams lined up for a scrimmage this man's shout of encouragement boomed across the field. His voice was heavy and hoarse, but he kept it up to the last, and every time he shouted he said:

"Get at 'em, Lone Wolf! Get at 'em, Lone Wolf!"

Lone Wolf did get at 'em. He was a tower of strength to his team. He was the immovable object meeting the resistless force, and resisting it. And every time he stood like a stone wall against the shock of Yale's human battering rams over and through and under all the yells of praise and enthusiasm that swept from all sides of the field boomed the brass-lunged man's:

"Get at 'em, Lone Wolf! Get at 'em, Lone Wolf!"

But this note of applause had its contrapuntal. For at the very last, when the Indians had covered themselves with glory by tying the score, they were robbed of their hard-earned triumph. The Carlisle boys were entitled to believe that the man who had been teaching them the game at least would not rob them of what they earned at it; they had a right to trust him just as many a time the Indians at an agency have believed they could trust the Government agent in whose charge they lived. And just as many an agent has proved false to his trust so this referee was to his. No more significant demonstration of the sympathy of the thousands of spectators could have been made than was given when, after the referee's decision depriving Jameson of his touch-down, the whole crowd got together in their yelling for the first time in the game, and shouted in unison: "Touchdown! touchdown!" changing it after a while to "Robber! Robber!" Then the hisses and the groans which greeted the final reiteration of the mistaken decision added emphasis to the already clearly pronounced opinion of the spectators.

It remains to be seen whether Yale will play the Indians again. This much is sure: No matter what team lines up against the sturdy redskins in New York, a great crowd will go out to see the game and cheer the children of a new civilization on to victory.—New York Sun.

Seeing Was Believing.

Mayor's Clerk Palmer of Baltimore who is young and modest had an exceedingly embarrassing moment yesterday morning.

One of his multifarious duties is to attend to persons who apply at the Mayor's office for permits to secure the killing of dogs which have bitten or annoyed persons passing by or entering the premises of their owners.

Yesterday Mr. Palmer was seated at his desk when two attractive young girls entered the room. One of them told the Mayor's clerk that she had come to have an end put to a dog belonging to a neighbor. She said the dog had jumped at her as she was passing by and had bitten her on the right leg.

Under the inspiration of Mr. Palmer's questions she gave a graphic narrative of the whole scene, how the dog growled, how he jumped without warrant or reason, and how his teeth had planted themselves in her flesh.

"Did he really bite you?" asked Mr. Palmer.

His fair visitor was indignant at this skeptical remark.

"If you don't believe me," she said, "I'll show you the marks of his teeth."

The young girl drew nearer to Mr. Palmer, and a confused vision of black and white swam before his eyes. "Look at the marks," he heard a voice say from behind it all, scornful and imperious. In a moment it was over. Mr. Palmer had been convinced, and the permit was made out. The young girl departed with the paper, and the Mayor's clerk was left alone to slowly realize just what had occurred.—Baltimore Sun.

Ingenious.

Pat—Fer th' love av hivin, Moike, phat air ye borin' a hole in yer boat fer?

Mike—Be gob! there's wan hole in it now thot lets th' wather in, an' Oi'm going t' put another wan in t' let it out!—Judge.

Little Girl (to her mamma)—"What is a dead letter, please?" Mamma—"One that has been given to your father to post."

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats. Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.

Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired. PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas

HEARN

WEST FOURTEENTH ST. NEW YORK

New York's Most Popular Store For Everything in Dry Goods.

See New York Sunday and Evening papers for week's Specials.

FREE DELIVERIES DAILY

By Our Own Wagon in

Plainfield, Westfield
Elizabeth, Netherwood
Elizabethport, Fanwood
Roselle, Union
Lorraine, Elmora
Aldene, Linwood
Lyons Farm, Rahway
Cranford.

11 17 e o d to 12 29

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,
PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

Sustaining Her Charge.

"It must disgrace me before all the neighbors that you came home drunk."

"But, my dear, who saw me?"

"No one, but they all heard me scolding you."—Fliegende Blatter.

He Had Been There.

Dusty Boers—Say, Weary, d'yer believe in hydrophobia?

Weary Trampen—Course I do. I've been most t'rown inter convulsions meself at de sight of water.—New York Evening World.

In His Shoes.

"I wouldn't be in Jim Thompson's shoes just now."

"Why not?"

"He left 'em in the cellar last Monday night, and they dumped four tons of coal on 'em before Jim was up."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

50c on the $1.

That's Just What it is.

And you can depend on it too.

We have just purchased and put on sale a "Closing Out" lot of

Extra Fine Kid Gloves

from a factory in Gloversville at 50 cents on the dollar, and will sell them as long as they last in the same way, that is, at 49c the pair. You will be in luck if you get a pair of them. Don't wait too long. They will go quick.

WRAPPERS.

Ladies' Fancy Eiderdown Wrappers in pretty blues, pink, green and brown, made with watteau back and loose front, large bishop sleeves and sailor colar, trimmed with insertion and ribbon. Our New Method Price, $3.40. Ladies' Red Flannelette Wrappers, with loose front and watteau back and large full sleeves. Our New Method Price, 1.69. Ladies' Black and White Flannelette Wrappers, made with watteau back and loose front, large sleeves. Our New Method Price, $1.83. Ladies' Working Wrappers in dark percales and calicos, nicely made, 79. We have a nice assortment of Ladies' Coats, but want of space forbids mention here. Come in and see them. We sell them cheaper than any other house.

Boys' Watches Free.

Boys, we certainly have a great "Snap" for you in our enlarged Boys' Department, where you will find the newest, nobbiest and cheapest Suits, Reefers, Overcoats, Ulsters, etc., and a Genuine Fine Watch Free with a purchase of $5 or over in the department, including Clothing and Underwear and Furnishings. Our new "CORNING" Watch, a reliable timepiece, stem winder, patent lever movement, dust proof, nickel case, 18 line-watch. Beats anything ever placed on the market. Retail price is $1.75. Boys, you want to be wide-awake and get one of these fine watches. They are not a clock. We sell Knee Pants from 21c and up. Full Suits from 79c and up.

In the Housefurnishing, China and Crockery Department.

We can mention only a few items: 12 piece Embossed English Toilet set, with Jar, in pink, blue and brown, in poppy designs, $2.35 the set. 56 piece Tea set, known as our "Leighton Special," in gray only, open stock, $3.25 the set. Thin Blown Tumblers, blown from crystal glass, 2 1-2c each. Ash Sifters, 12x12, well made from stout wire, with 3-8 inch mesh at only 6c. Bedroom or Library Lamps, decorated in pink, green, yellow, 10 inch dome shade, brass base, only $1.59. Large size, first quality, 3-sewed Brooms, 20c. You pay for same elsewhere, 30c. Glass Hand Lamps, complete 9c. Oak Frame Mirrors, 8x10, beaded or plain frames. You can duplicate them elsewhere for 30c. Our price is only 18c. Jardinieres, 8 inches, in 6 varieties of colors, embossed in gold, a handsome article for 10c. Bissel Carpet Sweeper, 98c. Plain Tumblers, made from crystal glass, with pressed buttons, 2c each.

The Big Sale is Still On and the way we have sold Laces the last week, the people must think "they are all right." You are especially invited to come in and see our Elegant New Goods of all kinds. Don't fail to visit our Big Basement. It's just brimfull of new and pretty things; awfully cheap too You know we are selling Fine New attractive goods cheaper than any other house, and it will pay you well to trade at

=EDSALL'S!=

Ladies' Calf Skin Heavey Sole WALKING BOOTS, $3

Per Pair. Button and lace; Goodyear welts; dressy and serviceable. Just the shoe for Ladies' who dislike Rubbers.

DOANE & EDSALL.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.

CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

=BOEHM'S!=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3 75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

H. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

Election Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Election Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

MR. MARTINE TO HIS FRIENDS.

We have again fought the fight and are outvoted—though we have accomplished in this stronghold of opposition all we had reason to expect—we have reduced the majority of our opponents some 1400 This is a victory. Our platform deserved better success at the hands of our Citizens—though we have sown seed that will bear fruit later on. I esteemed it an honor to lead my party in this contest, and to the many friends in both parties, who so earnestly supported me against such fearful odds, I cannot fitly express my feelings of gratitude. A thousand thanks.

J. E. MARTINE.

JOHN HAND CAMP ELECT

H. C. MCVOY WILL BE THE PRESIDING OFFICER.

After the Election the Camp Was Inspected by Inspecting Officer Claddox and High Rating Will be Soon Given.

The meeting of John Hand Camp No. 28, Sons of Vetereans, held last evening was one of the best in the history of the Camp. The attendance was large and visitors were present from New Brunswick, Rahway and Somerville. The first business of importance was the annual election of officers which resulted as follows: Captain, H. C. McVoy; First Lieutenant, H. S. Thatcher; Second Lieutenant, Louis Eaton; Camp Council, W. C. Dobbins, W. V. Sutton, Charles Willis; Delegate at large to Division En-campment, Raymond McVoy: Alternate at large, Israel Stites; Delegate, Fred Sutton; Alternate, Louis Eaton; Delegates to Death Benefit Association, Geo. B. Whitely; Frank Clarkson; Alternate, H. J. Martin; H. S. Thatcher.

The election was followed by the muster of a recruit into the degrees of Charity and Loyalty, which was performed in a commendable manner. The camp was then inspected by Inspecting officer Claddox, of Rahway. Of course, the rating of the camp is not known as yet, but the members feel as though they will receive a high mark, for their work was the best ever performed by the camp. In the good of the order there were speeches by Inspecting Officer Claddox, of Rahway; Jesse Dungan, and Walter Vanderhoff, of Somerville, and the newly elected officers. After the meeting the members partook of some refreshments which were provided. The officers-elect will be installed early in January and it is quite likely that the custom of previous years will be followed, and the Sons will join with the G. A. R. and W. R. C., in their installation which will be public.

F. C. Lounsbury, School Trustee.

"IAN MACLAREN" IN AMERICA.

The Author's Lecture Tour Proves a Wonderful Success.

The short series of readings and lectures by the Rev. Dr. John Watson "Ian Maclaren," who appears in Music Hall, December 8, and which will end in a couple of weeks, have proved phenomenally successful. Of all the famous men of thought and action who have lectured under the management of Major J. B. Pond, none ever made as great a financial success, excepting Henry M. Stanley, who drew no larger houses, but who lectured at higher prices.

Major Pond offered Dr. Watson $50,000 to continue his tour for an additional twenty five weeks, but he declined the offer in order to return to his ministerial charge. For the purpose of his present tour he got a three month's vacation, which ends on December 17th.

Mr. Hart, of the firm of Hillier & Co., of Newark, was in Plainfield yesterday looking after the interest of the firm's business in this city.

William Loring and William Cadmus, of Brooklyn, who have been visiting friends in the borough, returned home yesterday.

C. J. Fisk, Mayor-elect.

EDITOR POTTER BEATEN.

Virdicts for Libel and Damages of Property Found Against Him.

Judge E. S. Atwater of Elizabeth Monday afternoon gave two decisions that had been withheld for sometime. They were concerning the suits brought by Hugo C. Fett of Cranford against John A. Potter, the publisher of the weekly paper in town.

The first was a suit for libel. Potter published an article in which he intimated that Fett was the meanest man in the world—so mean that none of the notorious mean men could compare with him. A verdict was asked, according to Fett's counsel, Judge Gilhooly, not so much for the money remuneration, but of sufficient severity to stop Potter from further attacks of similar nature. The case was tried on Nov. 19. Judge Atwater gave Fett a verdict for $50.

In the second case Fett claimed that while fitting his steam pipes and other working appurtenances of his plant in the building, Potter had damaged the structure. Fett sued as owner, and today was given a verdict for $25.

It is rumored that both cases will be appealed by Potter.

THE PLAINS NEEDS PROTECTION.

Seems to be an Unusual Amount of Depredations Going on There.

The blowing open and robbing of of the safe in John Marsh's meat market at Scotch Plains, during Saturday night, was undoubtedly the work of professional thieves for it was by no means a bungling job. While the robbers got not so much as a postal stamp for their trouble, it is evident that the robbery was carefully planned. And here again is an illustration of the necessity of a night watchman or two. The cost would be comparatively trifling and besides the residents could go to bed believing that they had at least some protection. Within a few weeks past the Fanwood Club house, a church, the school house and several dwelling houses been entered and robbed and some of the residents express a fear that some of the dwelling houses and the town pump may be removed some night, unless some action is soon taken to prevent it. The town is now ripe for the appointment of a night watchman or two.

Somerset's Valuation.

The State Board of Taxation reports the realty of Somerset county at $15,337,271; the personalty at $5,572,941. The total valuation is $17,758,654 The Somerset realty is assessed at nearly two hundred thousand dollars over 1895, and the personalty at over one hundred thousand dollars under 1895. In Essex, where the trick of hiding personal property is at its higest estate the decrease is nearly four hundred thousand dollars, while realty has increased five millions. The total valuation of taxable property, after deductions, is $797,404,502.—Somerset Democrat.

Clever Entertainment Arranged.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church will present a fine musical entertainment on Friday evening. Among those who will take part are Mrs. Asa Collier, the soprano soloist, and J. W. Van Eps, who will furnish music with his phonograph. There will be other attractions of equal merit. The price of admission will be 25 cents and the proceeds will go toward defraying the expenses of the church choir.

FISK ELECTED BY A REDUCED MAJORITY.

THE FARMER ORATOR MADE HIM HUSTLE TO GET THERE THOUGH.

Fisk Gets 370 Plurality, While Lounsbury on the Same Ticket Gets 873 Over the Other Candidates—Every Republican Elected.

Charles J. Fisk is elected Mayor by a plurality of 370, and a majority of 334.

He ran 453 votes behind the plurality of Elias H. Bird, for Collector, and 503 votes behind the plurality of Fred C. Lounsbury for School Trustee, the other Republican candidates who had straight opposition in the city at large.

Alexander Titsworth, the Republican candidate for Treasurer, has a majority of 1732. the Socialist-Labor candidate being the only opposition he received.

The Councilmanic candidates of the Republicans all go into office with majorities ranging from 95 to 227.

The rest of the Republican ticket was elected by the usual majorities.

Lounsbury receives the largest majority, 873. One year ago the largest majority of any Republican candidate was that of Judge DeMeza, who received 812. Bird's majority one year ago was 445.

THE VOTES.

	1st ward.		2d ward.		3d ward.	4th ward.		Total
MAYOR.	1st d	2d d	1st d	2d d		1st d	2d d
Charles J. Fisk, R.	251	62	322	39	334	249	213	1470
James E. Martine, D.	214	86	144	26	143	295	192	1100
Charles Burns, S. L.	1	1	2	0	11	4	17	36
COLLECTOR.
E. H. Bird, R.	314	93	360	43	365	307	258	1740
Wm. E. Gardner, D.	147	52	109	21	114	236	141	820
Arthur Scott, S. L.	2	4	3	0	12	4	22	47
TREASURER.
Alex. Titsworth, R.	326	88	369	42	373	318	264	1780
Charles Grieb, S. L.	2	4	4	0	12	4	22	48
SCHOOL COMMISSIONER.
F. C. Lounsbury, R.	306	90	364	41	361	319	260	1741
J. Corey, D	153	57	105	23	116	227	143	824
James Bell, S. L	2	3	3	0	12	4	22	46
COUNCILMEN.
Chas. J. Newman, R.	266	92						358
Wm. N. Runyon, R.			344	42				386
John T. Baker, R.					358			358
Isaac S. Randolph, R.						273	249	522
Edward P. Thorn, D.	197	55						252
John Ross, D			116	22				138
Richard Harding, D.					119			119
Arthur T. Galup, D.						271	156	427
Claus R. Wallander, S. L.					12			12
Geo. Gould, Jr., S. L.						4	20	24
COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL.
J. B. Coward, R.	296	88	354	41	360	297	253	1689
E. C. Mulford, R.	302	86	354	40	358	309	253	1702
Auguste Saltzman, D.	165	60	114	24	127	246	149	885
Jeremiah Manning, D.	153	57	110	23	118	239	148	848
Max Otto, S. L.	2	4	3	0	12	4	22	47
Wm. C. VanNorden, S. L.	2	4	3	0	12	4	22	47
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.
Uzal B. Crane, R	315	87						402
Thos. Callahan, D	148	58						206
Vincent W. Nash, R.			343	40				383
J. Oakley Nodyne, R.					373			373
Adam Young, R.						274	245	519
Elmore D. Moffett, D.						269	145	414
CONSTABLE.
F. C. Beekman, R.	313	87						400
W. L. Callahan, D.			108	22				130
Amos Moffett, R.					374			374
Ed. Birmingham, D.					114			114
Aaron Mattox, R.						306	240	546
Albert Jaeger, D.						232	166	398
Rejected ballots	6	2			1	1	2	12

MAJORITIES.

Fisk	334	Bird	823
Titsworth	1732	Lounsbury	873
Newman	104	Runyon	148
Baker	227	Randolph	95
Coward	804	Mulford	855
Crane	200	Young	105
Beekman	270	A. Moffett	260
A. Mattox	148

The campaign, it was planned by the Republicans, was to run its natural course without the injections of usual methods, but soon after Mr. Martine had been nominated, the political joke that they thought had been perpetrated was evolving into a sentiment that did not bide them well if they remained quiet, as was first intended. Then it was that they brought every influence to bear against the candidacy of Mr. Martine, and up to the time the polls closed last night the party-workers availed themselves of every point to bring bring votes to their leader.

Chas. H. Bird, Collector-elect.

When James E. Martine was nominated for Mayor by the Democratic city convention it was thought and conceded that he was but a party sacrifice up an altar of an overwhelming Republican majority, the latter made sure by the sixteen hundred and odd rolled up for McKinley a month ago and nurtured by a Republican organization that is manned by a corps of workers who are way up in the art of political warfare. True, the results show that he went down to defeat, but the majority was such a shrinking from that which was expected when Charles J. Fisk was made the standard bearer of the Republicans that the Farmer Orator's slide to the minority was one fraught with incidents and fears that he might turn from the trend of affairs and land in the Mayorality chair after all by a path of the secret ballot.

Alex. Gilbert, whom Fisk Succeeds.

The principal reason for the opposition to Mr. Fisk among his own party affiliations is the belief that he represented and was in favor of a system of municipal government that is too costly. Of course, it was not one idea alone that jeopardized his election, but all the various ones that a dominant party is bound to engender in a few years of government, and they all found a venting place in the candidacy of a man who was known to hold views different from those of Mr. Fisk.

Added to the grievances of the dissatisfied Republicans was the personal popularity of Mr. Martine, and the Democrats had a formidable candidate in the field. At no time did Mr. Martine really think he would be elected, but he felt a personal pride that the Republican majority should be reduced, and in this direction he was highly gratified.

There were no exciting incidents around the polls during the voting hours. Last night after the count had gone on for a few hours things looked very favorable for Mr. Martine, and it was thought that the contest would be very close either one way or the other. Especially about 11 o'clock the counting was favorable for the Democrats, but later on the tide turned and Mr. Fisk's election was assured. All the polling places were crowded during the count and more interest seemed dominant than over the Presidential election.

Mr. Martine spent most of the evening at John Kenney's shoe store with a party of friends where he received the results.

The Third ward polling place, at Pope's stable, was the rendezvous for Mr. Fisk and his friends. Here they received news from the other districts. At first, the news was rather unfavorable to the Republican candidate, and Mr. Fisk appeared like a Second Napolean surrounded by his staff, taking the news of his defeat in silence. But it wasn't a defeat after all, as the later reports showed, and the "Napolean" and his staff soon realized the fact. Roger Murray, the secretary of the Republican City Executive Committee, was hustling all the evening. With one eye on the tally sheets and the other on the telephone he kept pretty well posted as to how the count was going.

Notes of the Elections.

At the first ward, first district polling place on North avenue, yesterday, a placard in bold letters tacked to the end of an election booth, read: "Come and bring your children."

The usual number of Republican heelers floated about the polls in the various wards, yesterday, and outside of one polling place, one colored man was heard to remark that he made enough off the election to buy him a ton of coal and a turkey for his Christmas dinner.

The atmosphere was a trifle keen for electioneering, yesterday, but a good amount of it was done in hallways and other out of the way places.

They Settle to Avoid Publicity.

Two of of the hunters who invaded the property of Mrs. Bartell Wormsler near Union Village and assaulted her, then running away, as was told at the time in the Press, have settled in preference to having the matter brought up in court.

THE DEFEATED TO THE VICTOR!

HON. CHAS. J. FISK.

DEAR SIR :—

Kindly accept congratulations on your success. The city is assured of an honest administration under your guidance.

Very Respectfully

Dec. 2d, 1896. J. E. MARTINE.

J. E. Martine, Defeated.

STATE POLITICAL TALK

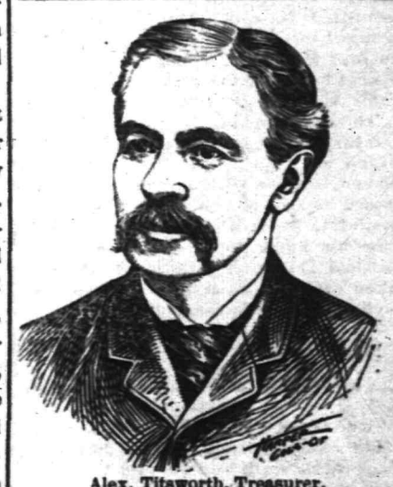
IMPORTANT APPOINTMENTS TO BE MADE BY GOVERNOR GRIGGS.

A Good Deal of Speculation as to What the Governor Will Do With the Offices Which Are Now Filled by Democrats.

Seven weeks before the meeting of the Legislature the organization is settled so far as the Presidency of the Senate and Speakership of the House are concerned. Senator Williams, of Passaic, who was elected President in the upper House on the last day of the last session to to fill the vacancy caused by President Thompson's resignation, has no opposition to a re-election. For the Speakership of the Assembly George W. MacPherson, of Mercer, will have a walkover. MacPherson's sccess was assured, but he has received pledges of support from his chief opponents, and the only competitors remaining are looking solely to good committee appointments.

The interest over the division of the subordinate places is overshadowed by that taken in the appointments Gov. Griggs will have to make during the session. The principal appointments will be a Secretary of State, an Attorney-General, a Justice of the Supreme Court, two Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, Supreme Court Clerk, a Supervisor of the State Prison, two members of the State Board of Assessors, and Law Judges in Essex, Camden and Passaic counties. Besides these the Legislature in joint session will elect a State Comptroller and a State Treasurer. It is conceeed that Comptroller Hancock and Treasurer Swain will be re-elected, but a good many people are speculating over what Gov. Griggs will do with the offices named, all but two of which are now filled by Democrats.

Since the election there has been some quiet talk about recognizing the sound-money Democrats for the part they took in rolling up the big majority for McKinley and Hobart in New Jersey. It is indulged in chiefly by the office-holders and their close friends. Secretary of State Kelsey is one of the former, and he has announced that he is a candidate for reappointment to the fat office he has held for more than twenty-six years. Mr. Kelsey says he was the first Democrat of prominence in New Jersey to declare his opposition to Bryan and the Chicago platform and his intention to vote for McKinley. He says that there were at least 50,000 such Democrats in New Jersey, and they should receive some recognition. Friends of Attorney-General Stockton think he should be reappointed for the same reason, and because he wrote a letter during the campaign that gave the Republicans in New Jersey many votes; besides, they say, he is old, and having devoted his life to the State's interest should not be displaced now in his old age.



Alex. Titsworth, Treasurer.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

NERVURA MAKES THE CURES.

Vice-President Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society Cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Vice-President S. Louise Barton Tells of Her Wonderful Cure by Dr. Greene's Nervura. The Most Perfect Medicine to Take.

VICE-PRESIDENT MRS. S. LOUISE BARTON.

If you need medicine, do not fail to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is indeed the great strengthener, the great invigorator, the great restorer of health, strength and vitality. It stands to-day pre-eminently above all other remedies as the one great curer of the people. No other remedy approaches it in marvelous power to make the sick well. No other medicine in the world ever had so many testimonials of cure from all classes of our people—Senators, Judges, Legislators, Mayors, State Officials, Doctors, while thousands upon thousands of cures are effected among the common people everywhere. It is the one medicine which always cures.

Vice-President of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society, Mrs. S. Louise Barton, of 4 Union Park St., Boston, Mass., is another added to the long list of prominent people cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura. She says:

"I am glad to give my testimony in regard to the great worth of Dr. Greene's Nervura. Two years ago my husband and myself, both slowly recovering from a severe illness, found ourselves unable to sleep, and becoming by reason of this so nervous and weak as greatly to retard our recovery.

"By the advice of a friend (after trying various other remedies) we began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura. It acted like a charm, giving us refreshing slumber and also returning strength. I had been troubled with dyspepsia and found to my surprise, that as my strength returned I was being cured of this disease also. I have relied on it ever since when wearied with my brain work, and found it the best thing I have ever tried."

Now is the time you need this grand remedy. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the true cure. It is just what your system requires. It will take away that weak, tired, languid and nervous feeling, drive away the blues and mental depression, cure the aching head, the weak back, the kidney and liver troubles. In fact it will put you in sound condition, give you strong muscles, pure blood, good digestion, natural sleep, renewed energies, high spirits and the light elastic step of vigorous and perfect health.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is a physician's prescription, the discovery of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, hence it must of necessity be perfectly adapted to cure just these conditions. The Doctor can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

COUNTING OF THE VOTES.

In Recent Elections There Has Been Little Fraud in New York.

The counting of votes has been in the past more fruitful of trickery and falsification than any other part of the election process. In 1893 the canvassers in certain districts reduced the matter to its lowest terms by simply reporting a unanimous vote on their side, and then going out to fling up their hats for the rest of the night. In the subsequent election competent and incorruptible men supervised the canvass so strictly that the percentage of fraud was so small, if any existed, as never to be heard of. This watching, says a writer in Century, at the count not only prevented intentional lying, but saved accidental mistakes. In one case the board of inspectors confessed they did not know how to count the votes, and submitted entirely to the guidance of a well-informed watcher.

The counting is done in public, and is often an interesting sight. Every organization and each candidate may send a representative to observe it, though nobody but the inspectors is permitted to touch the ballots. The straight tickets are first counted in tens by four men in succession, and a tally is kept by at least two assistants. Each name is credited with as many votes as there are tickets for his side. Then one inspector reads off of those tickets which are "split," or have pasters attached, or upon which names have been erased or new names written, and each candidate is credited with a vote every time his name appears. When this is finished the most prominent office is taken up, and the sum of the votes for each candidate is ascertained.

HE VOWED VENGEANCE.

And Got It with a Will—Lord Reginald's Path.

"He struc-c-c-k me!"

The villain strode up and down the stage cycle path and ground his teeth with rage, says the New York World.

"He struc-c-c-k Cecil Legree!"

In a very ecstasy of fury the villain stamped his feet and tore his hair.

"He struck Cecil Legree! No man ever did that and lived to tell the tale. And as for the girl—ah, me proud beauty, you shall yet feel the vengeance of a Legree!"

What venom, what hatred there was in the bitter words.

Even the pale moon wobbled in the canvas heavens.

"I have the papers; ha, ha, ha! I'll bide me time, and then, then I'll cross his path again!"

Raising his clenched hand the villain served notice upon high heaven and the property moon that some day he would puncture proud Lord Reginald's tire.

"I'll cross his path again! I'll cross his path again!" he repeated.

A whirr on the air of the stilly night, as ominous grinding upon the theatrical macadam, a pneumatic "biff" like the "biff" of a pile-driver, a bent, battered shape crashing into a pale-green tree trunk with a dull, sickening thud and then silence—silence!

It was even so.

He had crossed Lord Reginald's cycle path again!

Machine for Weighing Thought.

A thought-weighing machine has been invented by Prof. Mosso, an Italian physiologist, the rush of blood to the head turning the scale. The machine is so delicate that it can measure the difference in the exertion needed to read Greek from that required for Latin.

Isolated Weather Station.

Rockall, a desolate granite rock rising only 70 feet above the sea, between Iceland and the Hebrides, is to be made an English meteorological station. It lies 250 miles from land, the nearest point to it being the little island of St. Kilda, 150 miles away, and itself nearly 100 miles from the main group of the Hebrides. Rockall is in the path of the cyclonic disturbances on the Atlantic, and the station there would give timely warning of storms approaching the British coast.

LIFE IN THE GREAT CITIES.

Its Tendency Is Not to Enervate Nations.

And as to the tendency of the growth of great cities to enervate nations there is no proof of it at all unless we identify the life of great cities with the passion for idleness and pleasure and self-indulgence, which sometimes, but by no means universally, accompanies their growth, says the London Spectator. When you get a large proletariat living, as that of ancient Rome and possibly of Nineveh and Babylon did, on the alms of the rich and powerful, then no doubt you have the conditions of a thoroughly unnatural and unhealthy life, and no one can wonder at the rapid decay of such cities and of the nations which gloried in them. But where the honest working class far outnumbers the proletariat, where the middle classes of distributors and manufacturers and professional men are laborious and energetic, and even the class that lives on its accumulated wealth contains a considerable sprinkling of serious and disinterested workers, we do not believe that there is the smallest evidence of any greater danger in the life of the city than in the life of the agricultural village of the pastoral tribe. Indeed, we should regard Olive Schreiner's picture of the life of the modern Boers as indicating a condition of things more prolific of morbid elements, with its almost complete absence of any stirring or active intelligence, than any kind of modern life that is honestly laborious at all. The Boer life is too sleepy, too destitute of stirring thought or effort, to be altogether natural. It needs at least the old element of danger and necessary vigilance to render it even bracing.

MIXTURE OF STRANGE BLOOD.

Few Reigning Families of Same Nationality as the People Governed.

There is hardly a reigning monarch in Europe whose family is of the same nationality, absolutely, as the people governed. The house of Austria is really the house of Lorraine, and even in their origin the Hapsburgs were Swiss. And if Emperor Francis be not, strictly speaking, an Austrian, still less is he a Hungarian, although he is a king of Hungary, says London Tit-Bits.

The king of Belgium is a Saxe-Coburg, the king of Denmark a Holsteiner, the infant monarch of Spain is a Bourbon, the king of Italy a Savoyard, the king of Roumania and Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria are both foreigners, the founder of the Bernadotte dynasty in Sweden was born at Pau less than a century and a quarter ago, the czar is a Holstein Gottorp, and the king of the Hellenes is likewise a Holsteiner.

Even in England's royal family there is very little English blood left. The Hohenzollerns were originally Suabians, and, therefore, partly Bavarians and partly Swiss. Neither was the historic house of Orange, in which patriotism has nearly always been the first instinct, Dutch to begin with.

CANNOT ENDURE CONFINEMENT

Indians Soon Die If They Are Deprived of Their Liberty in Prisons.

At a recent meeting of the Sioux Valley Medical association Dr. S. Olney, of Sioux Falls, read a most interesting, not to say startling, paper on the effect of confinement on the Indian. The Argus-Leader had been told the same facts by Col. J. H. Burns, of Deadwood, but was inclined to take the colonel's statement with a grain or two of salt, as the colonel is an enthusiastic champion of the Indian. The figures of Dr. Olney, however, are even more startling than the statements made by Judge Burns.

There are confined in the penitentiary 123 white men, some of whom have been there for years. Of this number but two are sick. Of the 19 Indians who have been confined in the penitentiary in the last two years three are dead, one was pardoned in a dying condition and is now barely alive, five are in the hospital with the death mark upon them, and three are ill. Of the seven who are practically healthy, five have been confined but one month, one nine months and two for two years. All of these Indians appeared to be sound when they were admitted to the penitentiary.

The statement of Judge Burns to Judge Riner at the last term of the federal court in Sioux Falls, that a short sentence of imprisonment was to the Indian in effect a death sentence, seems to be literally true, and there is in this paper of Dr. Olney an appeal to federal judges which ought to have its weight.

CLIMATE AND CHARACTER.

National Traits Often Molded by the Nature of the Weather.

The civil war is said to have been caused by a difference in climate, and the question is now being discussed whether a hot or cold climate has the greatest effect on national character. It has been widely believed that a severe climate produces the greatest effect, because it compels effort and self-denial, and thus promotes energy and inventiveness, says the New York Journal.

It would also seem that the influence of climate upon the national character has been greatly exaggerated. Assyria, Babylonia, Egypt and Carthage, situated in hot latitudes, were among the most masterful nations of antiquity. Mohammed and his conquering legions issued from the burning wilderness of Arabia, and at a later period his successors were able to beat back the repeated attacks of the combined crusading nations from the north.

The greatness of a nation depends mainly upon intellectual and moral qualities, and these have often been conspicuously developed among the inhabitants of hot climates. It is important, too, to remember that the same nation, occupying the same region, may be great and powerful in one age and weak and contemptible in another. The difference between the ancient Greeks, Romans and Saracens, on the one hand, and their modern descendants on the other, cannot have been due to climate.

The Anemone.

The anemone is named from two Greek words signifying "the wind flowers"—an allusion to the habit of this plant of living in an exposed situation. According to one classical legend, the flower originally sprang from the blood of Adonis; according to another, it sprang from the tears of Venus at the death of one of her many lovers.

Women

Who are nervous, weak, worn out with local troubles find pure blood, nerve strength, and perfect health in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We do not say the above to raise false hope. It has been the experience of many, very many women in those intensely trying periods which demand and consume so much force—those special physical trials we delicately indicate by merely using the words—Maid, Mother, Matron.

Nervous

Like a confidential friend we suggest the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, a reliable blood purifier and tonic; it has helped many others and will help you.

"I was in poor health five years, broken down in strength, and appetite all gone. Local troubles and other weaknesses intensified my misery. Nervous sick

Headaches

dizziness, heartburn and pains in my back made me think I should never be well again. A friend prevailed upon me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I soon began to improve and in six months it restored me to better health than for years. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla a grand medicine for all troubles peculiar to

My Sex

I am now strong and healthy and can do a good day's work. I stand by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it cured me after other medicines failed." MRS. LUE DIER, Carlinville, Illinois.

This and many similar cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared. 25 cents.

The Cough Which Lingers

because of a run-down condition of the system, and is not affected by ordinary cough medicines, will yield readily to

Scott's Emulsion

because it gives strength to the weakened body and enables it to throw off disease.

50 cents and $1.00
At all druggists

Scott & Bowne, Chemists, New York.

ROYAL TOOTH POWDER and

Sold Everywhere, 10c.

Allen Pharmacy Manufacturing Co.

I. C. Pope & Co.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
10 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW
Meat Market.
George Egel, Manager.
Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 4 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.
To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days
Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

$5,000 FOR $1.25

MANY a HOUSE has been destroyed by a spark thrown out from an open fire.

You can have perfect protection by using a Spark Guard and can buy he best for $1.25

CURTIS M. THORPE,
310-312 Park avenue, Plainfield.
EVERYTHING FOR THE FIREPLACE!

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,
Park Avenue Florist,
Floral Design Work a specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 6 PARK AVE. 9 30 3m

HERMAN KELLER,
Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in
Cigars, Tobacco, etc.
"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

WINTER STYLES
Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.
Just Received from manufacturers
FORCE, 129 Park Avenue.
49 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.
V. L. FRAZEE
151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S
VARIETY MARKET.
Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.
30 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS
If you want a deep, clear rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables
will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,
144 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett
has removed to
148 EAST FIFTH STREET.
Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,
FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.
Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly.
Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.
R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
Residence, 33 Linden Ave
Personal attention. Prompt service.
Telephone 29b. Established 1878
1 14 tf

ADDIS & SON,
Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.
ACCIDENT TICKETS.
THE INTER-STATE
Casualty Company of New York
gives SIX MONTHS' insurance
$1.000 for $1.00,
to men or women
between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.
For sale at office of
Honeyman's Private Tours,
181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,
PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,
Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.
Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE
PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.
Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.
The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.
GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,
120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail
Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE
Sewer Connections.
DAVID BOWDEN,
General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.
28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.
Mason and Builder
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
OAL.
747 WEST FRONT ST.
Branch office with
G. A. HALLOCK,
109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS
of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.
M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,
131 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,
187 North Avenue.
Practical Plumber,
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.
Telephone Call 158

L. L. Manning & Son,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,
Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.
STAGES
For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing,
Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for sewer connections.
210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,
EXCAVATORS.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,
RETAIL DEALER IN
Fish, Oysters, and Clams.
Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,
Dealer in
Coal & Wood.
Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.
Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S
Furniture and Freight
EXPRESS.
Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract!

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it— 0 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y.M.C.A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE NO. 4.1

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

103 Park avenue. Established 1869

For Thanksgiving

HOME-MADE

Mince and Pumpkin

PIES!

Fancy Cakes and Confections. All Wheat Bread a specialty.

W. W. Warnock,

138 North avenue. 11 19 1w

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale

IN BOTTLES, and

FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

Rushmore & [illegible],

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street,

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxe be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulte s, with their respective axes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars, California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 99 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street

T. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

Dr. J. H. Lawler,

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate of New York College. Ring bones, spavins, all lameness cured. Internal diseases. Obstetrics. All operations performed. Cattle and Dogs treated. Office 171 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for put coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by another method of screening

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

4 best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wood and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—[illegible] Watchung ave.

Our Overcoats

this season are, as usual, peculiarly our own in perfectness of detail and fit. Prices have been put at smallest point.

Ulsters from $8.00

$10.00, 12.00 and above. Uncommonly dressy for Ulsters, too. Chinchillas, Irish Friezes, Mixed and Black Oxfords.

Overcoats, $8.00

to $25.00—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Vicunas. Some with plain and others with combination linings.

Suits from $5.00

to $15.00—used to get far more for same kind of garments. In swell cheviots.

Boys' Clothing

—we make a good deal of our boys' clothing success. Been clothing juveniles for many years and feel we have an A No. 1 dep't. See it.

Boys' Reefers

with large ulster or deep sailor collars Blue Chinchillas, Friezes and Oxford mixed. Fashionable. $3.00, 4.00, 6.00.

Boys' School Overcoats

made in same way as men's styles. Blue, black and Oxford Kerseys. Fine finish, $4.00, 5.00, 6.00 and 8.00.

Boys' Two Piece and Reefer Suits

Exceptional sale. Were $3.50, 4.00 and 4.50 before. Now all at $3.00 New in cloth and cut.

Boys' Shoes—excellent kinds, $1.50 up. Men's $2.00 up.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

MARSHALL & BALL

The People's Outfitters. | 807, 809, 811, 813 Broad St. NEWARK, N. J.

RIGHT IN IT

Every one that's wearing our $3.00 Bull Dog Shoes.

DON'T FORGET

We are the only ones in town that sells the FAMOU HANAN SHOE.

A. WILLETT AND SON,

NO. 107 PARKAVE

MULLINS & SONS

218-220 Market St., Newark.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS

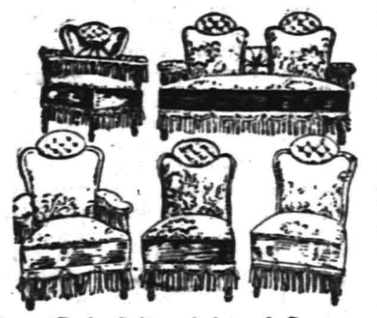
We Can Sell You Better Goods and at Lower Prices than Anywhere Else. Look What We Offer This Week.

This Cylinder Stove (like cut) $5.75.
All styles and sizes at the lowest prices.
Also full line of ranges.

Saddle Seat and Cobbler Rockers, in oak, birch or cherry, some with plush seats, exactly like cut, at $2.50

BANQUET LAMPS.

Banquet Lamps, Silk Shade, all colors, $2.50!



Elegant Parlor Suits, upholstered brocatelle, silk tapestry or plush $25.00
Handsome New Mahogany Frame Parlor Suits, upholstered in rocatelle, silk tapestry or plush special this week at..... $20.00

BRASS TABLES—100 more of BRASS and ONYX TABLES, all new designs the regular $6 tables, at..... $4.25

CHIFFONNIERES—NEW ANTIQUE OAK CHIFFONNIERES, 5 drawers, nicely finished. This week, to close them out at once, the entire lot at.. $4.50

CARPET BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK.

Best Quality Moquette ..... 95c. per yard
Tapestry Brussels ..... 50c. per yard
Ingrain ..... 35c per yard

Easy terms of credit to everybody. We will furnish your home for $1 per week.

MULLINS & SONS,

218-220 Market St., Newark.

Branch Stores 78-81 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 121-125 Newark Ave., Jersey City, N. J. 136-138 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

ELLEN OSBORN'S LETTER.

Gowns and Bonnets to Be Seen at the Autumnal Openings.

Color Harmony in the Shops—Quiet Effects for Wear and Gay Ones for Show; You Take Your Choice.

[COPYRIGHT, 1896.]

Impossible, pleasant as are the golden autumn glories among the stilled and sleeping trees; cool as are the nights, exhilarating as are the days, cunningly as the perfect roads tempt to wheeling or driving or the dry footpaths to wanderings afield—impossible for one who would catch the spirit of the modes to avoid being in New York the last week of September.

Of course, the "openings" are every year more and more delayed in deference to the lengthening of the summer out of town; of course, it is easy wherever one may be to arrange with the little birds that fly from Paris or London with messages of "they are wearing" upon their beaks; of course, there are splendid examples of "gowning" among the heavy swells in Newport and Lenox, but to clothe the skeleton of fact with the glowing flesh—ah, sight alone will serve

It is one thing to tell of the new sleeve, it's shape and form, but quite another to see how the transition is managed; by doubled shoulder capes of satin in self colors; by wreaths of tulle or veiling hanging about the arm; by little shoulder puffs which mark the vanishing mode as the projections above a horse's hoofs retain the memory of his prehistoric toes.

It is one thing to say that the mode demands quiet tones and arrangements, but when one sees the glittering array of pretties in the shops it is time to admit that the rigid resolution of many women to adhere to the letter of the law will be sorely tempted.

First of all; every woman at an "opening" will gravitate as rapidly as the crowd will let her toward the cases where the ducks of bonnets are displayed. Flowers have almost vanished from the trimmings of really smart bonnets or at most are seen only under the brim. Their place is taken by feathers almost always as high plumes in the place of honor and by braids, ribbons, velvet, lace, and cut steel as accessories The shapes will include low crowns for those who must have them, but the distinctly smart shapes have quite high ones. Bonnets are larger. Soft hats are of the Oxford shapes, with brims curling closely in at the ears or low and broad with mushroom crowns. Fancy braids will continue to be made of chenille ropes with strips of felt and of platted silk and velvet cut bias, of jute and tinsel.

Two "high novelties;" tiny "art squares" of embroidery, to be used in hat trimming; and velvet stamped with small eccentric rings, known as the "bicycle patterns." These will be much used.

Velvets perfectly plain and velvets in sombre striping with watered effects, the lines having jagged edges; in moire, satin ombre and taffeta ribbons, double faced ribbons, twisted to show both sides, and shot ribbons, are high in ascendency.

A whole brood of fancy ribbons appears—velvet brocaded ribbons of floriated designs, moire glace ribbons with velvet edges and narrow velvet stripes, bias plaided ribbons, glace ribbons brocaded with chenille, warp flowered satin ribbons in delft designs and heavy plain ribbons with rope edges. The plain ones are correct enough.

Poor birds! The hearts of members of the Audubon society will sink with dismay when they see the use made this fall of the filched plumes of the bird of Paradise, the rifle-bird, the heron and lyre bird, the bronze merle, the Impeyan pheasant, the South American blackbird and other gorgeous creatures. Plain or colored, the quills of the barnyard cock will be more plentiful than any other sort, but will excite less indignation. His voice, at least, is not likely to die out.

Flowers, as I have said, are hardly used except in the cachepeigne or little knot under the turned up brim at the back, and even here their place is often likely to be taken by flat bows of ribbon or by ribbon arranged in a series of loops.

Lace, plain or set with spangles, may appear in the brims and crowns of early autumn hats, but will be less frequent toward cold weather.

Cut steel leads jet in ornamentation. Mock jewels are used in cluster setting about ornaments of cut steel. As for colors—for I must cut short these words on milinery—green will be a favorite, generally used in two tones, light and dark; blue and green is a fancy of the moment in combination; tobacco browns, lilac, vieux rouge, nickel grays and silver tones and—but why continue? These are the leaders. The variety is infinite, the choice your own.

There are loves of gowns that circle about the ducks of bonnets; and other loves of gowns in the cases and on the forms. I think there will be a-many black costumes this fall. I have admired one dashing one with big hat all covered with plumes, and a showy bodice, black velvet with the new full basque tails.

Many of the season's gowns employ a double basque skirt, the upper flap falling over the lower, much as the two lapels of a gown are often superimposed. The bolero idea is charmingly applied this season to lace. A jacket-shaped cloud of the filmy stuff thrown about the armhole of a street dress well sets off and emphasizes a bodice front of black chiffon plaited over pink silk.

A somewhat similar idea can be carried out in canvas and velvet, strips of the latter adorned with embroidery running out upon the shoulders and down the bust, curving under the arms in genuine bolero style.

Have shot fabrics always impressed you as an especially summery style? They are holding their own wonderfully well in the autumn costuming, but must, I suppose, go the way of all things.

Tea jackets and theater waists are two little ideas worth looking up. Either one, with a plain skirt, can be made to serve the purpose of a special gown. One tea jacket can be made effective in white oriental satin with a very broad corselet band of black folded satin. The top of the jacket is of white satin, covered over with a frill of white chiffon. The elbow sleeves are edged with a turnback cuff of black velvet.

As for tea gowns proper, this is the time to order them, as the day of the afternoons cannot be much longer delayed. A pretty teagown exhibited at one of the openings commended itself to me by its clever adaptation of the newest form of the new sleeve to an overarching shoulder puff drawn up underneath, so that the whole arm shows in front and the whole puff from the side or rear. As for the material, silk and chiffon, I suppose; I really don't remember. But it had a fetching little yoke of embroidery, and the cuffs had great flares of fluted lace.

There are bodices which employ French cut steel, sewn all over in a species of cuirass.

There is a new idea in cutting a gown at the hips, but none save a dressmaker would understand it. I'm sure I don't.

There's a new fall cape, but I suppose that must wait until next time.

ELLEN OSBORN.

"THERE ARE LOVELY GOWNS ABOUT THE DUCKS OF BONNETS."

HOW TO TREAT FRUIT.

Clever Serving Makes the Difference Between the Artistic and Commonplace.

The selection of fruit is as important as the serving of it. Knowledge in this, as in all things, is of primary importance. Over-ripe fruits are as bad as under-ripe ones. How to distinguish between them comes only with experience and a desire to learn. Having secured those of good quality, it is in the secondary art of serving that you can prove yourself mistress of your menage. It is an inviolate rule that all fresh fruits are better for being cold. Watermelons, cantaloupes and grapes are not fit to eat unless thoroughly chilled, and all other sorts are improved quite 50 per cent. by standing in the refrigerator a few hours before serving time. A watermelon should be kept on ice at least 12 hours before it is eaten, and it may be made to look its very best by placing it on a bed of grape, fig or mulberry leaves. To transform it into a distinguished dessert, halve the melon, remove as many of the seeds as practicable, and pour a pint of champagne into the holes left vacant; then fill them with small bits of ice chopped to fit.

Pineapple should always be served in a glass dish either cut in thin, round slices, or into cubes sprinkled with sugar. One gill of white wine to a quart of the fruit will improve it immensely.

Currants make an extremely pretty effect if dipped in bunches in the beaten white of an egg and then in sugar. Let the coating get thoroughly dry before serving.

Cordial of some kind is an excellent accessory to cut-up peaches, when cream for one reason or another is objectionable. Remember always that if allowed to stand after being pared they will grow dark.

Any good, firm berry or fruit served with broken ice is most appetizing. To arrange this properly fill the center of a large glass dish with cracked ice; then lay fresh leaves around it, making a handsome bed on which to place the bunches or clusters.

A southern fashion of serving bananas may be new to many housewives. Slice a sufficient quantity of good, ripe ones; sugar them slightly, deluge them with whipped cream and sprinkle them with a grating of nutmeg to taste.—N. Y. Journal.

Searchlights as Riot Quellers.

The electric searchlight was used recently to put down a riot in Lancashire, England. A manufacturer, whose men had struck, was determined to keep his mill going and he promptly secured new hands and set them to work. At the same time he fixed a searchlight on the factory building to prevent the strikers from setting fire to the sheds erected for the new hands. During the continuance of the strike this light was used nightly in conjunction with the police established in the works, to scour the country and to illuminate the parts where pickets were placed. It was found so effective that a large number of temporary police were dispensed with.—Chicago News.

In 1853, by an act of parliament, betting houses and gaming houses in London were closed.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

05 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 2, 1896.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 2.--Opening of Poultry and Pigeon Show at Jersey Cycle Academy.
Dec. 3.--Supper of King's Daughters in old Postoffice building.
Dec. 3.--"Caste" at the Casino.
Dec. 3.--Sociable at Warren chapel.
Dec. 4.--Sociable at Trinity Reformed church.
Dec. 4.--Operetta at Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 p.m.

THE RESULT.

As was expected, the Republicans were victorious in the city election. But it was not such a victory as they expected when they put their ticket in the field. In Mr. Martine they found a strong opponent, and the Democrats retire in defeat much stronger than they were when they entered the contest. The fact of Mr. Fisk running behind his ticket was not a reflection on his own popularity and ability so much as a rebuke administered by those who feel that the administration with which he has been identified is not just what it ought to be to their minds. As The Press has already stated, Mr. Fisk is fully capable of performing the important and responsible duties of the city's chief executive, and his administration will be an honorable one.

Supréme Court Justice Bennet VanSyckle is a candidate for reappointment. His term expires in February. For some unexplained reason Justice VanSyckel has made himself unpopular with both Democrats and Republicans. The latter will oppose his reappointment because they think there should be a majority of Republicans in the Supreme Court, and VanSyckle's place will just make it, besides, should the constitutional amendment reorganizing the higher courts be approved by the voters next year. VanSyckle, if reappointed, would in a year or two be the highest judical officer in New Jersey, as, because of their years, it is improbable that either Chief Justice Beasley or Justice Depue will be reappointed.

J. Frank Fort has been appointed by Gov. Griggs Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Essex County, to succeed Andrew Kirkpatrick. Judge Fort practices law in Newark. He presided at the convention that nominated Gov. Griggs, and also at the Republican State Convention of 1888. He was a Judge of the First District Court at Newark from 1878 to 1881. As a delegate to the last Republican National Convention he was chairman of the committee on credentials and later made the speech nominating Hobart. He will begin his duties at once.

APPEALED TO THE STATE BOARD.

John F. McIntyre Seeks to Have the Valuation of a Farm Reduced.

The State Board of Taxation met at the Court House, Somerville yesterday for the purpose of treating with all persons who have been unable to secure satisfaction in their respective localities. One taxpayer, John F. McIntyre, of this city, who owns a large farm in Somerset county, was the only one who appeared before the board. The tax on his property had been doubled and he sought to have the matter adjusted. He found the members of the board to be exceedingly fair and considerate in every respect, and they promised to give him just treatment. The reason assigned for the increase in the tax was that Mr. McIntyre is a non-resident of Somerset county.

The State Board of Taxation, with headquarters at Trenton, consists of Major Carl Lentz, Charles A. Black, Henry J. West and Albert H. Slape. They each receive a salary of $2,000 a year and pay their own expenses. On the request, by petition, of two or more taxpayers the Board will go to any part of the State and adjust difficulties, when possible, without the slightest expense to the taxpayer. However, the Board does not interfere with the Court of Appeals and only transacts such business as the law prescribes.

Mr. McIntyre desires The Daily Press to state that he found the members of the Board to be courteous and painstaking in their work.

Robert Whittaker, of Watchung avenue, has returned from Bound Brook, where he has been in training for his circus next Summer.

—A new electric light pole has been erected on Park avenue, in front of Laing's furnishing goods store, where a much needed light will be placed.

—Owing to the present condition of the weather the work of macadamizing Mountain avenue progresses slowly.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Joseph Noel, of West Second street, is very ill at her home.

Morris Kellogg, of Elizabeth, has been visiting friends in Plainfield.

Miss Florence Waring, of Park avenue, has gone to Richmond to spend several weeks.

I. L. Vanderbilt Jr., of the firm of Whital, Tantum & Co., of New York, was in town yesterday.

L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, left last evening on a business trip to Boston.

W. J. Andrus, of Hackensack, is spending the week here to attend the poultry and pigeon show.

Gilbert Van Nest, of Edsall's Commercial Palac, is confined to his home on Jackson avenue with illness.

Herbert B. Brooks, of Rockview avenue, is on a business trip through the west. Mr. Brooks will be absent several weeks.

Charles Richie has returned to his home in Brooklyn after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith, of Willow avenue.

Miss Mary Graff, of Newark, Del., is being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chares W. McCutchen of Rockview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buckingham have returned to their home in New York, after a recent visit with Mrs. B. R. Western of Washington avenue.

Stephen H. Beeching, of Washingtonville, is gradually recovering from injuries received in his recent runaway. He is under the care of Doctor Adams.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front st.

X-RAY EXPERIMENTS

Interesting Discoveries and Suggestions by Nikola Tesla.

NO HOPE HELD OUT FOR THE BLIND

The Sunburn Effects Noted in Many Impressions Due to Ozone Generated by the Rays and Skin --- Fertilizers Manufactured by Electricity.

New York, Dec. 2.—The Electrical Review to-day publishes an exhaustive communication from Nikola Tesla on his latest experiments with the x-ray, which it characterizes as conveying a wealth of suggestion and most important and timely information. Tesla states that the sunburn effects noted by many experimenters are not due directly to the rays, or Roentgen streams, but to the ozone generated by the rays in contact with the skin. He says: "Nitrous acid may also be responsible, to a small extent. The ozone, when abundantly produced, attacks the skin and many organic substances most energetically, the action being no doubt heightened by the heat and moisture of the skin. Owing to this I have always taken the precaution, when getting impressions with the rays, to guard the person by a screen made of aluminum wires which is connected to the ground, preferably through a condenser. The radical means, however, of preventing such actions is to make impossible the access of the air to the skin while exposing, as, for instance, by immersing in oil." The inventor in referring to the recently widely heralded experiment for making the blind see by means of the Roentgen rays regretfully remarks:

No Good for the Blind.

"Is it not cruel to raise such hopes when there is so little ground for it? For, first of all, the rays are not demonstrated to be transverse vibrations. If they were they would have to find means for refracting them to make possible the projection of a sufficiently small image upon the retina. As it is, only a shadow of a very small object can be projected. What possible good can result from the application of these rays to such purposes? I cannot confirm some of the experiments reported. For instance—when a hand is put before the closed eyes it is easy to distinguish the shadow, much the same as before the light of a candle; but when the tube is inclosed, and all the light from the same excluded, I fail to get such an impression. The latter is, therefore, chiefly due to ordinary light."

Fertilizers by Electricity.

Tesla points out a possible and strikingly unique method of manufacturing fertilizers by electricity in the following interesting language: "With currents produced by perfected electrical oscillators, such as was described in one of your recent issues, the production of the ozone is so abundant that it is sufficient to merely turn on the current for a few seconds and ozonize strongly permeates the atmosphere of a large hall. These currents are also capable of bringing about chemical combinations, of which the chief is that of the nitrogen with the oxygen of the atmosphere, and an immense possibility, which I have been following up for a long time, is opened up; namely, the combination of the nitrogen of the atmosphere on an industrial scale by practically no other means than mechanical power. If merely fertilizers of the soil would be manufactured in this manner, the benefits to humanity derived therefrom would be incalculable."

Three Generations.

"I always use Cleveland's baking powder, as did my mother and my grandmother before me in their successful cake and pastry baking."

Mrs. E. F. M.,
Tuxedo.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURE

Books in the Public Library on the Subject "Is Mars Inhabited?

Ball, R. S. Mars in Fortnighly, v.58, Ball's story of the heavens, Burritt's Geography of the heavens, Clerke's Astronomy in 19th century, Ennis' origin of the stars, Flammarious circulation of water in the atmosphere of Mars, in Knowledge, v. 18, Flammariou's Mars and its inhabitants, in North American review, v. 162, Flammariou's wonders in Mars, in living age, v. 178, Giberne's sun moon and stars Herscrel's outlines of astronomy Holden's latest news of Mars, in North America review, v. 160, Holden's what we really know about Mars, in Forum, v. 14, Holt's Non glaciation of Mars, in popular astronomy, v. 2, Life in Mars, in eclectis, v. 103, Langley's new astronomy, Lowell's canals of Mars, in popular astronomy, v. 2, Lowell's flagstaff photographs of Mars, in New England magazine, v. 12, Lowell's Mars, in popular astronomy, v. 2, Lowell's Mars, in Atlantic, v. 75 and 76, Manson's climate of Mars, in popular astronomy, v. 2, Mars, in Harper, v. 93, Scientific American, v. 73, nature, vs. 51 and 52, Maunder's "eye" of Mars, in knowledge, v. 18, Meumer's changes in Mars, in popular science, v. 31, Mitchell's popular astronomy, Proctor's expanse of heaven, Proctor's universe of suns, Serviss' astronomy with an opera glass, Serviss' strange markings on Mars, in Popular Science, v. 35, Surface conditions of Mars, in Popular Science, v. 24.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

GOV. JOHNSON'S INAUGURATION

Address of the New Chief Executive of Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 2.—The greater part of the address of Hon. Joseph F. Johnton at his inauguration as governor of Alabama was devoted to matters of state interest, and he goes into considerable detail as to the material resources of Alabama and the possibilities of her agricultural, mining and manufacturing industries. In reference to national affairs the governor said: "The hot political contests of this eventful year, that aroused so much passion, are now behind us; the people have registered their will and all good citizens should yield cheerful obedience to their mandate; if they have not erred in their verdict on the great question that broke party lines, returning prosperity will soon confirm their judgment; if they have erred, no misrepresentation or coercion can deter them from setting aside the verdict and driving from place and power those who have misled or deceived them."

Shipwrecked Crew To Be Sent Home.

Portland, Me., Dec. 2.—The six members of the crew of the schooner Ashton at Bellevieux Cove, from that port for Rockland, which vessel went ashore Nov. 26 on Steel Harbor ledge, who arrived here yesterday will be sent home probably to-day. The vessel and cargo of miscellaneous freight are a total loss.

Appointed District Attorney.

Albany, Dec. 2.—Governor Morton has appointed Abram Van Nest Powelson of Middletown district attorney of Orange county, to succeed the Hon. Michael H. Hirschberg, recently elected a justice of the supreme court.

In Favor of a Nickel Coin Issue.

Paris, Dec. 2.—The monetary commission has pronounced in favor of a nickel coin issue. M. Foville, director of the mint, opposes this decision.

To cure all old sores, to heal and indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

PREHISTORIC AMERICA.

Ruins of a Magnificent City in Guatemala —A Palace 190 Feet Long.

At a recent American association meeting at Buffalo Mr. J. R. Chandler described a visit to a wonderful ruined city of Central America.

The road to the ruins of Tzac Pokama, in Guatemala, runs through an immense pine forest, and they include the foundations of what was once a populous city, with temples, palaces and other structures. These were described by Mr. Chandler. He said that every temple stood in a plaza, around which had been ranged the dwellings of the priests. Every strategic point on the mountain was once fortified by a castle, fort or pyramid. The central palace was 190 feet long, with walls eight feet thick. On the highest point stood a fortress 240 feet long, with a pyramid 40 feet high, the whole built on terraces whence the Tzac Pokama can be seen in its entirety, as well as the hills, volcanoes, valleys and rivers for hundreds of miles around.

This splendid city could have held three times as many persons as now inhabit Guatemala. Few utensils were found, and no statues, sculptures or hieroglyphics. There is also a conical hill called Mumuz, with a sacrificial pyramid, through which goes a winding passage, said by tradition to lead to a rich subterranean city.

A LACK OF LIONS.

It is Now Found Necessary to Preserve the King of Beasts in India.

British hunters of large game are bitterly lamenting the gradual extinction of lions in India.

They are no longer found there in any number outside of one region, the forest of Gir, in Kathiawar, says an English exchange. They have disappeared from the hills of Barda, the country of Pajkot, and other places which formerly enjoyed a high reputation on account of the abundance of lions in them.

In the forest of Gir it is feared that their extinction will not be long delayed. Formerly few European hunters dared to venture into this place, which was infested with fevers and bandits. Now the forest is being cleared and fevers and bandits are disappearing and with them the lions.

To prevent the total extinction of these animals the durbar of Kathiawar has prevented the hunting of them for six years.

Making War Balloons.

Women make the aercstats, or war balloons, used by the British government, and also do some part of the roping of the balloons. They work in sheds built specially for the purpose. There are about 35 women engaged, and all earn good wages. They are mostly the wives and daughters of soldiers, and have all been carefully trained by the superintendent of the balloon department. The making of the balloons requires a very delicate touch, one thin film of bullock's skin having to be laid over another with the greatest care. The ends of the ropes have also to be woven into each other with extraordinary deftness.

All She Does.

The new woman was knitting her brow.

It may be that the gentle reader will not consider this circumstance worth recording.

If such should be the gentle reader's idea, let him (or her) reflect that this is the only sort of knitting the new woman does now that she has acquired her newness.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Assortment

Of FURNITURE,

In all grades.

Largest and Best

We have ever exhibited.

Visitors always welcome.

No trouble to show goods.

G. Q. PACKER.

I Did More Engraving

in October than ever before in one month--n t excepting the holiday month-which is usually the largest. When you remember that October was the last month in a bitter campaign, it means that quality counts.

Plate and fifty cards, - - - $1.25
100 Cards from plate, - - - 1.00

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front Street.

RIGHT ON TOP!

That is where PECK is.

Do you want any of his good goods?

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders, HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.
HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.
One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Creamery Butter 20 & 25c Per Pound at J. F. MACDONALD'S Uptown Grocery.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!
GEORGE E. ROGERS.....Lessee. | GEORGE H. WILLEY.....Manager

Dainty Charming KITTIE RHOADES ALL THIS WEEk,

In the following repertoire.

Matinee Saturday Afternoon — Admission 10cts.

BEST RESERVED SEATS 20CTS.

Tuesday Evening, East Lynne. Wednesday Evening, Polly. Thursday Evening, Hazel Kirk. Friday Evening, Factory Girl. Saturday Matinee, Unannounced. Saturday Evening, The Senator's Daughter.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW.

Ladies Cardigan Jackets, 75c and $1: Men's Cardigan Jackets, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.25. Specials in Table Linen from 25c. to $1 yd. Infants Sacques from 25c. up. Underwear for Ladies', Gent's and Children. Scotch Wool Gloves for Men and Boys—all prices. Warner Bros. Corsets. Thompson "Glove Fitting" Corsets.
210 WEST FRONT STREET.

A GOOD HEATER.

JOS. W. GAVETT, Madison Ave. and Front St.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield November 30th, 1896.

Adams Miss Minnie E
Brown Miss Fannie E
Case Miss H Caroline
Christensen C
Cox Mrs
Cornelin Patrick
Davisson C S
Doyce & Newins
Jones Kate
Kane Thos
Lanoton Mrs Edw E
McNeill, Miss B N
Pond Mrs Silas D
Phalen Miss Winnie E
Quinn Miss Roase
Sherman Miss Albertine
Smalley Mrs Geo
Smith Wm
Wakeman Miss Frances
Walls Saran

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. STICKLE.
11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield.....{7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m.
" {4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains.{6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m.
{2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

N. B. Snell has the contract to paint Mr. Ludwig's new house on Jackson avenue.

Mrs. Harman and children are spending a few days with Mrs. Bolton, of Somerville.

Dunellen has some 32 electric street lamps in all. That is when you can find them.

A. S. Giles was busy yesterday drilling a well in the Hetfield building opposite the Town Hall.

Miss Julia Dodwell, has returned home from Brooklyn, after a very pleasant stay with her friend, Miss May Reamer.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church are holding a meeting this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. John Kenny, on High street.

Walter Lewis, a mute, who has been working for A. S. Giles, has relinguished his position at steam fitting and may enter a home for mutes this winter.

If Dunellen has a borough ordinance relating to the removal of snow and ice from the sidewalks and the sprinkling of saw dust, ashes, etc., thereon, it is sadly neglected.

Chief of Police Warden is still keeping his eyes open for a rig that was stolen from Somerville a few nights ago, and which, it is thought, may be secreted in a barn near here.

M. J. Watson, of Grant Avenue, was in town yesterday afternoon, and it is said he was looking for a place to open up here. But we are fully equipped with enough licensed places just at present, and Watson's chances for a license here would be slim.

John Huff, B. F. McGovern and Theodore Kuldoshe are planning another hunting trip after the next fall of snow. The late snow was a trifle too deep for the bonnies and hunters, so no records were kept of the game—that got away.

After going over the route proposed by the property owners, the surveyors of the highway have decided to allow the petition and recommend that the work of opening the new highway to be begun. The road, as laid out, will be a direct route to Bound Brook and will do away with the old one, which runs through a marshy and sandy section of country. The people along the new road have been trying for a long time to have the work done, and now that it has been decided upon there is general satisfaction. Owing to the fact that it is a nearer and better road to Bound Brook, it will be used by the trolley company in extending its line to that place.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

Miss Amy Cook has returned home from a three-weeks trip to Buffalo.

John Cook has been awarded the contract for furnishing the stone for the new Terrill road bridge.

George Marsh killed a stag pig, or rather hog, Monday, that tipped the scales at 500 pounds. The animal was so fat that it could scarcely stand up.

A quantity of good harness was stolen from a barn at Fanwood Sunday night, and of course nothing was left that would lead to or establish the identity of the criminals.

Saturday nights' snow storm stopped the carting of stone from the mountain crushers for a day or two, but yesterday work was resumed, and but little other inconvenience was experienced.

The people in the Plains were particularly interested in the municipal election in Plainfield, yesterday, and last night fully one third of the population went to town to wait for the returns.

There was plenty of work for the Street Commissioner and his men, Monday and Tuesday yet little or nothing was done in the way of clearing the snow and ice from the sidewalks and gutters. In many places, and especially right in the heart of town, some people did not even shovel off their walks and the gutters which are usually free for the passage of water, were clogged up, so that water flowed over the road bed.

Although a private detective is working on the John R. Marsh safe robbery no developements have yet been given out for publication. It is understood, however, that he is securing evidence which may eventually bring the guilty ones to justice. Mr. Marsh is not mourning so much over the loss of the safe, as he is to think that any one could be guilty of such a dastardly act. Mr. Marsh has been a resident here for many years and his dealings are above reproach.

Highest of all in Leavening Power. Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—An important meeting of Iona Council, No. 14, D. of P., will be held tonight.

—The consistory of the German Reformed church will meet on Friday evening.

—A. M. Griffin's men are putting in steam radiators in the new City National Bank building.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Saenger and Turn Verein will be held to-morrow night.

—The Ladies Aid Society of Warren chapel will give a sociable to morrow evening in the chapel.

—J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, has just received a fine lot of Christmas goods.

—Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias, will initiate one candidate in the first rank this evening.

—One of the oldest inhabitants says the first tracking snow last winter fell on December 14th, but it only lasted for a day.

—The Plainfield Water Supply Company is busy laying water mains on West Front street from Albert street to Dunellen avenue.

—Francis J. Blatz, William Kitchen, and William Morrison are planning to give another subscription sociable at the Olymyia in a short time.

—Rev. Robert Edwards, chaplain of the United States Naval Veterans, preached in the Union Village M. E. church last Sunday afternoon.

—The Kappa Delta Phi of the Plainfield High School did not meet last week as there was no school. The regular meeting will be held on Friday however.

—The first rehearsal of the Young Men's Symphony orchestra will be held at the residence of the leader, P. Ludwig Conde, of West Fifth street, this week.

—Justice Nash gave judgment yesterday in the case of French vs. Randolph for $31, for the plaintiff. The case of Osmond vs. Thorn on contract was settled.

—H. S. Thomas, of Duer street, conducted the Christian Endeavor service at Warren chapel last evening. The attendance was excellent and the service was a helpful one.

—An evening's entertainment for the benefit of Friendship Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah, I. O. O. F., will be held in Odd Fellow's Hall, in the Babcock building on Thursday evening, December 10th, at 8 o'clock.

—Blood is life and upon the purity and vitality of the blood depends the health of the whole system. Experience proves Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier.

Hood's Pills act easily anp promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The condition of J. Hervey Doane, of La Grande avenue, is very much improved.

Mrs. Susan Smalley, of Park avenue, has returned after a lengthy stay in Pennsylvania.

A. B. Beiser, of Brooklyn, is the guest of his friend, Alec Milne, of Sycamore avenue.

Miss Sarah Langsford has returned to her home in Brooklyn, after a short visit with friends on Willow avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Taxon and daughter, of Fitchburg, Mass., are visiting Mrs. A. D. Holmes, of No. 238 East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Moore have returned from their wedding trip spent at Lakewood and have now taken up their residence on Third place.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Demarest, of New York, were guests at the home of H. M. Demarest, of Park avenue, on returning from a trip through West Virginia.

Miss E Masters who has been a guest of Mayor and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, of Myrtle avenue, for a few days, returned yesterday to Dobbs ferry, where she attends college.

Mrs. W. Allen Schutt and son, Eddie, returned yesterday to their home at Bayonne, after a week's visit with Mrs. Schutt's parents, Mr. and E. C. Morse, of Chatham street.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

Weak Men and Women Will Be Glad to Learn This.

Tired bodies, pale and sunken cheeks, haggard eyes, sleepless nights and weak nerves, are ruining our lives and killing our people. No wonder these poor sufferers bless Dr Greene, for his great offer. He is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases and the discoverer of that wonderful medicine, Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. He has established a system of letter correspondence at his office, 35 West 14th St., New York City, by which all can write him about their complaints, and by mentioning the symptoms they suffer from and telling him how they feel, they will receive an answer from him, free of charge, giving a complete description of their case and telling just what ails him. He gives most careful attention to every letter, tells just what to do to be cured perfectly and permanently, and makes all understand exactly what their complaint is. And all this costs nothing. No journey to the city, no doctor's fee, the best medical advice and consultation in the world, and nothing to pay. The Doctor makes a specialty of treating patients through letter correspondence, and it is wonderfully successful. Write him at once, reader, and you will almost certainly be made strong and well.

THEATRICAL.

"That "Brian Boru," now being produced at the Broadway Theatre, New York, by the Whitney Opera Company, is the best comic opera of the generation, is the unanimous opinion of the New York press. "Brian Boru" is just far enough above the average comic opera, with its silly horse-play and inane buffoonery, and near enough to a stately grand opera, to appeal to the average man and the cultured taste. It is not necessary either to enjoy the opera thoroughly, that the auditor be an Irishman, even though the Irish flag is much in evidence. It is an attractive and sprighly production, elegantly mounted, with a cast of splendid capabilities. Mr. Whitney has again shown his ability to choose the right people for the proper and finished presentation of a light opera. His new production surpasses his other success, "Rob Roy." O'Connor's song, "The Irish Patriot," with the grand marches, ensembles and finales, make a combination that incites the most enthusiasm. Miss Amanda Fabris, stately and handsome, is the most important figure in light opera today. Max Eugene is a stately "Brian." Miss Amelia Summerville, Richard Carroll, John C. Slavin and Tom Ricketts are exceedingly amusing. Miss Grace Golden has improved in voice, and is an important member of an extraordinary cast. Here are some of the things that the New York press has said of "Brian Boru": Herald—"Had it been written in Italy, all New York would have been waiting for it at the Metropolitan. It may safely be classed among the greatest successes of the season." Sun—"A popular success." Evening World—"The production of 'Brian Boru' is the most important event of recent operatic history in New York."

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A Surprise Party.

A delightful surprise party was given to Garret Kiely, of Steiner place, on Monday night at his home in honor of his twenty first birthday. The affair was gotten up by Miss Goff, Samuel Goff, and Fred Huff and the guests, about twenty in number, met at Mr Kiely's home and surprised him on his arrival home from business college. The affair was a very enjoyable one. Most of the time was spent in dancing.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

—The Bricklayers' and Masons' Protective Union will meet this evening and transact routine business.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

WORK IS A PLEASURE

When a workman has the best of tools in reach. All our stock of builders' and general hardware is beyond criticism. Carpenters' and mechanics' tools of all kinds. Builders' supplies. Mourners' trowels on hand. Miscellaneous to order.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co.
105 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 49 I. 9 3 1y

CASINO!
Robertson's Celebrated Comedy of Caste.
Thursday Evening, Dec. 3d.
BY PLAINFIELD AMATEURS.
ALL SEATS RESERVED.
Tickets will be on sale at Armstrong's (Reynold's) Drug store, Monday, Nov. 23d, 8 a. m.
11 19 11 24 6 28—12 1 2 3

Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Etc.
The Second Annual Exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association at CYCLE ACADEMY, on December 2d, 3d, 4th & 5th.
A large display of Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Rabbits, Guinea Pigs, etc. Pigeons that cost $100 each; cats valued at $5,000 each. Incubator hatching chicks daily. Come and bring the children.
Admission, 25c. Children, 15c.
11 30 6

MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 7th.
A Play That is Sure to Please.
JAMES A
HERNE'S
Beautiful Comedy-Drama,
SHORE ACRES
Direction of B. C. Miner.
A Fine Company of Players
Entire New Scenery.
Unique Realistic Novelties.
PRICES NEVER VARY.
Reserved seats, $1, 75c, 50c. and 25c. Seats on sale Friday at Box Office at 9 a. m.

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 69 Saudford avenue. 12 2 2

GIRL Wanted for general housework, must have reference. 403 East Fifth street. 12 2 2

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Apply 817 First place. 12 1 2

HORSES CHEAP—Ask to see Mr. Culyers' horses at the stable of Geo. W. Cole, Second street.

LOST—The gentleman in smoking car of midnight train, Friday, who by mistake took package off seat, will kindly leave same at the Daily Press office and receive reward. 11 28 3

FOR SALE—Stove suitable for office or store. 127 Park avenue.

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 12 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

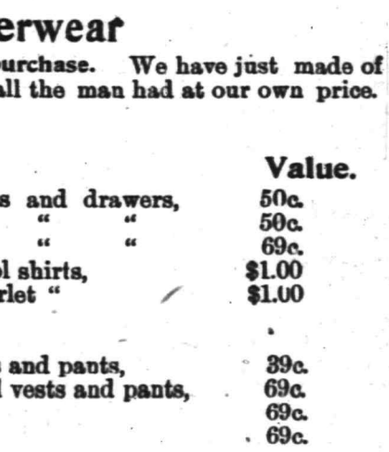
HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.
100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.
39c. each.



The Kosmo,
One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,
Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats
Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers
We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS
That are well worth your time to see:
Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear
An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

Men's	Value.	Our price.
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER
From 3c. To $2
SAMPLES FREE.
Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.
EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

CUT THIS OUT.

Save this and wait until to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock a. m. Bring this with you to 214 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Received the entire remaining fall and winter stock of a leading New York wholesale clothing house consigned to us to be sold at once without regard to cost which means an opportunity of buying Suits, Trousers, boys suits and men's suits and men's overcoats and ulsters at about one-third of the actual value in order to prove what tremendous sacrifices will be made. We mention a few of the extraordinary bargains, and we advise you to cut this out and bring it with you, so that there will be no mistake that you get exactly the goods mentioned here: 100 fine men's overcoats, that sold for $11.00, now $3.79; 100 extra fine men's overcoats in latest style silk or satin lined at $5.95; men's fine all wool cassmere suits, $10.00, at $4.0; men's fancy worsted suits, worth $ 5. 0, at $6.90; men's all wool English clay diagonial frock suits, worth $18, at $7.50; men's fine ulsters, worth $10.00, at $3.50; 450 men's pants, worth $3.00, at $1.25; 225 pair striped cassmere pants, worth $4.00, at $1.50. Hundred of other styles of goods, space will not allow to mention. All we say is come and judge for yourself. Boys suits, $1.65, worth $4.50; boy's winter overcoats, at $1.65, worth $3.50. Now don't delay, for these bargains are not like the sun to last for evermore, but come at once to the

New York Clothing Company,
214 WEST FRONT STREET,
M. WEINBERGER.
Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.
177 NORTH AVENUE.

THE MISTRESS of the Mine.

or A Woman Intervenes.

By Robert Barr

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Pictures by F.H. King.

Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr.

make a very serious charge. Miss Longworth has crossed several times with me, and I am bound to say that a more well-behaved young lady I never had on board my ship."

"Extremely well-behaved she is!" cried the correspondent angrily. "She stood against my door and prevented me from going out. I screamed for help, but my screams were drowned in the cheers of the passengers when the boat left."

"Why did you not ring your bell?"

"I couldn't ring my bell because she prevented me. Besides, if I had reached the bell, it is not likely anybody would have answered it; everybody seemed to be gawking after the boat that was leaving."

"You can hardly blame them for that. A great deal depends on the safety of that boat. In fact, if you come to think about it, you will see that whatever grievance you may have, it is, after all, a very trivial one compared to the burden that weighs on me just now, and I very much prefer not to have anything to do with disputes between the passengers until we are out of our present predicament."

"The predicament has nothing whatever to do with it. I tell you a fact. I tell you that one of your passengers came and imprisoned me in my state room. I come to you for redress. Now there must be some law on shipboard that takes the place of ordinary law on land. I make this demand officially to you. If you refuse to hear me, and refuse to redress my wrong, then I have a large republic to which I can appeal through my paper, and perhaps there will also be a chance of obtaining justice through the law of the land to which I am going."

"My dear madam," said the captain, calmly, "you must not use threats to me. I am not accustomed to be talked to in the way you have taken upon yourself to speak. Now tell me what it is you wish me to do."

"It is for you to say what you will do. I am a passenger on board this ship, and am supposed to be under the protection of its captain. I therefore tell you I have been forcibly detained in my stateroom, and I demand that the person who did this shall be punished."

"You say that Miss Longworth was the person who did this?"

"Yes, I do."

"Now do you know you make a very serious charge against that young lady? A charge that I find it very difficult to believe. May I ask you what reason she had for doing what you say she has done?"

"That is a long story. I am quite prepared to show that she tried to bribe me not to send a dispatch, and, finding herself unsuccessful, she forcibly detained me in my room until too late to send the telegram."

The captain pondered over what had been said to him.

"Have you any proof of this charge?"

"Proof! What do you mean? Do you doubt my word?"

"I mean exactly what I say. Have you anything to prove the very serious charge you bring?"

"Certainly not. I have no proof. If there had been a witness there the thing would not have happened. If I could have called for help it would not have happened. How could I have any proof of such an outrage?"

"Well, do you not see that it is impossible for me to take action on your unsupported word? Do you not see that if you take further steps in this extraordinary affair, Miss Longworth will ask you for proof of what you state? If she denies acting as you say she did, and you fail to prove your allegation, it seems to me that you will be in rather a bad predicament. You would be liable to a suit for slander. Just think the matter over calmly for the rest of the day before you take any further action upon it, and I would strongly advise you to mention this to nobody on board. Then, if to-morrow you are still in the same frame of mind, come to me."

Thus dismissed, the young woman left the captain's room, and met Mr. Fleming just outside, who said:

"Look here, Miss Brewster, I want to have a word with you. You were very curt with me just now."

"Mr. Fleming, I do not wish to speak to you."

"Oh, that's all right, that's all right; but let me tell you this: You're a pretty smart young woman, and you have done me one or two very evil turns in your life. I have found out all about this affair, and it's one of the funniest things I ever heard of."

"Very funny, isn't it?" snapped the young woman.

"Of course it's very funny; but when it appears in full in the opposition papers to the Argus, perhaps you won't see the humor of it, though everybody else in New York will, that's one consolation."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean to say, Jennie Brewster, that unless you are a fool you will drop this thing. Don't for heaven's sake let anybody know you were treated by an English girl in the way you were. Take my advice, say no more about it."

"And what business is it of yours?"

"It isn't mine at all; that is why I am meddling with it. Aren't you well enough acquainted with me to know that nothing in the world pleases me so much as to interfere with other people's business? I have found out all about the girl who kept you in, and a mighty plucky action it was, too. I have seen that girl on the deck, and I like the cut of her jib. I like the way she walks. Her independence suits me. She is a girl who wouldn't give a man any trouble, now I tell you, if he were lucky enough to win her. And I am not going to see that girl put to any trouble by you, understand that?"

"Mr. Fleming, I do not wish to speak to you."

"And how are you going to prevent it, may I ask?"

"May you ask! Why, of course you may. I will tell you how I am going to prevent it. Simply by restraining you from doing another thing in the matter."

"If you think you can do that you are very much mistaken. I am going to have that girl put in prison, if there is a law in the land."

"Well, in the first place, we are not on land, and, in the second place, you are going to do nothing of the kind; because, if you do, I shall go to the London correspondents of the other New York papers and give the whole blessed snap away. I'll tell them how the smart and cute Miss Dolly Dimple, who has bamboozled so many persons in her life, was once caught in her own trap; and I shall inform them how it took place. And they'll be glad to get it, you bet! It will make quite interesting reading in the New York opposition papers some fine Sunday morning—about a column and a half, say. Won't there be some swearing in the Argus when that appears? It won't be your losing the dispatch you were going to send, but it will be your utter idiocy in making the thing public, and letting the other papers onto it. Why, the best thing in the world for you to do, and the only thing, is to keep as quiet about it as possible. I am astonished at a girl of your sense, Dolly, making a public fuss like this, when you should be the very one trying to keep it quiet."

The newspaper correspondent pondered on these words.

"And if I keep quiet about it, will you do the same?"

"Certainly; but you must remember that if ever you attempt any of your tricks of interviewing on me again, out comes this whole thing, don't forget that."

"I won't," said Miss Jennie Brewster. And next morning, when the captain was anxiously awaiting her arrival in his room, she did not appear.

CHAPTER XI.

After all, it must be admitted that George Wentworth was a man of somewhat changeable character. For the last two or three days he had been moping around like one who meditated suicide; now he suddenly became the brightest individual aboard, when every one else was wondering what was going to happen to the ship. For a man to be moody and distraught while danger was impending was not at all surprising; but that a man, right in the midst of gloom, should suddenly blossom out into a smiling countenance and a general hilarity of manner, was something extraordinary. People thought it must be a case of brain trouble. They watched the young man with interest as he walked with a springy step up and down deck. Every now and then a bright smile illuminated his face, and then he seemed to be ashamed that people should notice he was feeling hilaricus. When he was alone with himself he had a habit of smiting his thigh and bursting out into a laugh that was long and low, rather than loud and boisterous. No one was more astonished at this change than Fleming, the politician. George met him on deck, and, to the great surprise of that worthy gentleman, smote him on the back and said:

"My dear sir, I am afraid the other day, when you spoke to me, I answered a little gruffly. I beg to apologize. Come and have a drink with me."

"Oh, don't mention it," said Fleming, joyously; "we all of us have our little down turns now and then. Why, I have myself, when liquor is bad or scarce. You mightn't believe it, but some days I feel away down in the mouth. It is true, I have a receipt for getting up again, which I always use—and that reminds me. Do you remember what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina?"

"I'm sure I don't," said Wentworth; "you see I'm not very well versed in United States politics."

"Well, there wasn't much politics about his remark. He merely said: 'It's a long time between drinks; come in and have something with me.' It seems to me you haven't tasted anything in my company since the voyage began."

"I believe," said Wentworth, "that is a true statement. Let us amend it as soon as possible, only in this case let me pay for the drinks. I invited you to drink with me."

"Not at all, not at all," cried Fleming; "not while I'm here. This is my treat, and it is funny to think that a man should spend a week with another man without knowing him. Really, you see, I haven't known you till now."

And so the two worthy gentlemen disappeared into the smoking-room and rang the electric bell.

But it was in his own stateroom that George Wentworth's jocularity came out at its best. He would grasp John Kenyon by the shoulder and shake that solemn man, over whose face a grim smile would appear when he noticed the exuberant jollity of his comrade.

"John," Wentworth cried, "why don't you laugh?"

"Well, it seems to me," replied his comrade, "that you are doing laughing enough for us both. It is necessary to have one member of the firm solid and substantial. I'm trying to keep the average about right. When you were in the dumps I had to be cheerful for two. Now that you feel so funny, I take a kind of melancholy vacation, to rest me after my hard efforts at cheerfulness."

"Well, John, it seems to me too good to be true. What a plucky girl she was to do such a thing! How did she know but that the little vixen had a revolver with her, and might have shot her?"

"I suppose she didn't think about the matter at all."

"Have you seen her since that dramatic incident?"

"Seen whom? Miss Brewster?"

"No, no; I mean Miss Longworth."

"No; she hasn't appeared yet. I suppose she fears there will be a scene, and she is anxious to avoid it."

"Very likely that is the case," said Wentworth. "Well, if you get to see her, you can tell her there is no danger. Our genial friend Fleming has had a talk with that newspaper woman, so he tells me, and the way he describes it is exceedingly picturesque. He has threatened her with giving away the 'snap,' as he calls it, to the other New York papers, and it seems that the only thing on earth that Miss Brewster is afraid of is the opposition press. So she has promised to say nothing more whatever about the incident."

"Then you have been talking with Fleming?"

"Certainly I have; a jovial good fellow he is, too. I have been doing something more than talking with him; I have been drinking with him."

"And yet a day or two ago, I understand, you threatened to strike him."

"A day or two ago, John! It was ages and ages ago. A day or two isn't in it. That was years and centuries since, but not by time. I was an old man then; now I have become young again, and all on account of the plucky action of that angel of a girl of yours."

"Not of mine," said Kenyon, seriously; "I wish she were."

"Well, cheer up. Everything will come out right; you see, it always does. Nothing looked blacker than this matter about the telegram a few days ago, and see how beautifully it has turned out."

Kenyon said nothing. He did not desire to discuss the matter, even with his best friend. The two went up on deck together and took a few turns along the promenade, during which promenade the eyes of Kenyon were directed to the occupants of the deck chairs, but he did not see the person whom he sought. Telling Wentworth that he was going below for a moment he left him to continue his walk alone, and on reaching the saloon Kenyon spoke to the stewardess.

"Do you know if Miss Longworth is in her stateroom?"

"Yes; I think she is," was the answer.

"Will you take this note to her?"

"Certainly."

John sat down to wait for an answer. The answer did not come by the hand of the stewardess. Edith herself timorously glanced into the saloon, and, seeing Kenyon alone, ventured in. He sprang to meet her.

"I was afraid," he said, "that you had been ill."

"No; not exactly, but almost," she answered. "Oh, Mr. Kenyon, I have done the most terrible thing! You could not imagine that I was so bold and wicked," and tears gathered into the eyes of the girl.

Kenyon stretched out his hand to her, and she took it. "I am afraid to stay here with you," she said, "for fear—"

"Oh, I know all about it," said Kenyon.

"You cannot know about it; you surely do not know what I have done?"

"Yes, I know exactly what you've done, and we all very much admire your pluck."

"It hasn't, surely, been the talk of the ship?"

"No, it has not; but Miss Brewster charged me with being an accomplice."

"And you told her you were not, of course?"

"I couldn't tell her anything for the simple reason I hadn't the faintest idea what she was talking about; but that's how I came to know what had happened, and I came down to thank you, Miss Longworth, for what you have done. I really believe you have saved the sanity of my friend Wentworth. He is a different man since the incident we are speaking of occurred."

"And have you seen Miss Brewster since?"

"Oh, yes, as I was telling you, she met

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

NOTICE.

Estate of Joseph Tucker Durham deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, made on the application of the undersigned executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from the seventh day of October 1896, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

MARY THANKFUL DUNHAM,
MAXSON MARVIN DUNHAM,
Executors.

10 15 10-oaw

NOTICE.

Estate of Robert Anderson deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, made on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from the 6th day of November 1896, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

ANSON W. ANDERSON, Administrator.

11 18 10-oaw-w

P. H. ZIMMER,
Practical Machinist and Engineer,
Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power and Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.
12 1 1y

Potter & Kellogg,
DEALERS IN
Lehigh Valley Coal.
Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad
10 20 1-y

Fine Chrysanthemums, Trees and Shrubs. Also, Palms, Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns and Casino Clematis, Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.
DENTON'S.
131 Hillside avenue.

Safe Deposit Vaults
THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Of Plainfield, New Jersey.
Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.
J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't
DIRECTORS:
Charles Potter, Wm. McD. Corlell,
P. M. French, H. Mulford Estil,
Wm. M. Stillman, Isaac W. Rushmore,
J. W. Johnson, Wm. B. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.
Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.
VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

MRS L. ADAMS,
MILLINERY.
Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.
114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's cutting a specialty.

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!
C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge.
1 17 1y

Delicate Dress Goods.

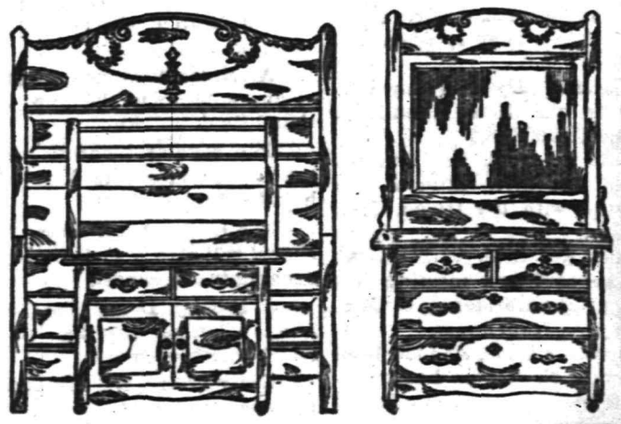
Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry office will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,
North ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 30M

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Ltd.
The Portland Range has ventilated oven door, duplex grate; it eats less coal than any other make.

Clearing Space for Holiday Goods

that are fast arriving. To do it quick, we've put diminutive prices on more bulky stocks—bedroom and parlor suits. In bedroom suits we've some 50 of same liberal, elegant style as cut herewith—NOT a cheap makeshift, but lasting. Extra large dresser and mirror, large washstand and heavy carving. Prices 50 to 75 per cent. lower than formerly. Begin at $24.75 Still another line as low as $11.75 the suit.



50 Suits on style of above cut—suit here shown is $24.75—large dresser fine plate mirror, etc. etc.

PARLOR SUITS same liberality in making, reductions is apparent in this line. All suits (in a score of patterns) put way below old prices. We've pretty designs as low as $17.50—You'll get splendid worth in every single style we're carrying.

CARPETS This Carpet Dept. is filled with bright new goods at what might be dubbed "dull season prices." Won't list 'em for lack of space—best call and judge for yourself. Will match—yes, go lower than any other price you've seen or know about.

Amos H. Van Horn, Ltd. 73 MARKET ST. W. of Broad St. Newark, N. J.
Smallest Prices, Easiest of Terms. Telephone 580
Note name "Amos" before entering store
Goods delivered Free to any part of State.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

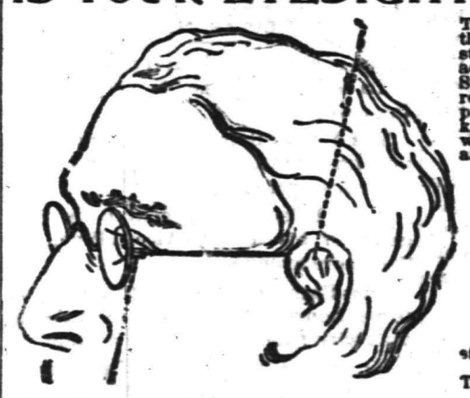
Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash, " " " " $6 & $7.
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNER'S!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?



There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult the Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,
EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.
PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.
-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE
AT REDUCED PRICES.
We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.
POWLISON & JONES.
149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Stree
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 25, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 20, 8 32, 8 46, 9 32, 10 04, 10 30, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 [illegible] 4 43, 5 22, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28 p. m. Sunday, 3 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 53, 10 08, 11 10, 11 14 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 38, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 20, 8 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 40, 3 20, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 00, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 80, 8 00, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 1a, 7 18, 7 55, 8 32, 9 03, 10 10, 11 25, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 05, 4 05, 4 40, 5 01, 5 25, 5 42, 6 30, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 9 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 20, 9 05, 9 20, 11 25 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2 Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 40, 2 11, 2 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 0a, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 00, 8 10, 6 30, 7 12, 7 34, 8 52, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43, 5 14, 6 25, 10 15, 7 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19, 9 08, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p m Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 51, 8 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 40, 2 11, 4 05, 5 51, 5 54, p. m Sunday at 5 45, 8 20, a. m; 2 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32 4 04 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 30 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 03, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L & W. R. R Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre an Scranton.

5 03 p m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch

4 56 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 2a a m Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, p. m Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 9 32, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 51, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 2 32* 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2 32*, 5 34*, 6 26*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m. 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14* p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 26 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (* change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:20, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 5:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 15 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Watrenville mail arr. 12 m: closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES!

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y.
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office, 768 South ave Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station

Finest Assortment

OF

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

IN THE CITY.

Agency for

Lincoln Fountain Pens $1 and $1.50.

FULLY WARRANTED.

HARPER'S,

411 PARK AVENUE.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. s29 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

Vocal Sight Reading Classes.

MISS ANNA O. MARSH,

915 MADISON AVE.—$3 FOR 10 LESSONS.

Holt-Damrosch system. 9 26 2m

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THANSGIVING.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co. 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm

Oysters!

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for Thanksgiving at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 43b.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

IF YOU EXAMINE

our hats, you'll see that they lead.

They are the correct shapes and nothing but the correct shapes. Can be found at

J. R. BLAIR'S,
126 Park avenue.

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C Adams, Regent.
Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

OUR CLOTHING

— HAS —

GOOD CLOTH
GOOD MAKE GOOD STYLE
GOOD WEAR

Good for you; good for us we sell it with the confidence born of knowledge that it will wear well and bring you here again when you need those

Men's Suits—

We have a dandy line of suits in Fancy Cheviots, single and double breasted, $9 00 to $14.00.

Dress Coats and Vests—

In Clay Diagonal, $10, $13 and $15.

Pants—

Suitable for every time and season. A large and varied stock, $2.50 to $6.

OVERCOATS

For Men and Boys Men's Overcoats in Black Melton or Beaver, a matchless coat, at $8. Better Overcoats in Oakes Kerseys, finely made and trimmed, with silk sleeve linings, guaranteed for two seasons, $12 and $16.

McGREGOR & COMPANY,

850-852 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

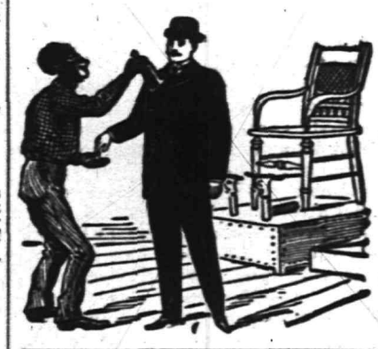
TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Fussell's Celebrated Ice Cream

ALL FLAVORS.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.



Special—We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

Bargains in Real Estate

For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 189 North avenue
Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

Telephone, Brooklyn, 366.

COMINS & EVANS

Acorn Brand Asphalt Roofing.

Gravel and Metal Roofing, Tile and Brick Roofing, Water-Tight Cellars.

45 WAVERLY AVE. BROOKLYN, N. Y

New York office, 102 Fulton st., room 413.

CONVENTION OF SOCIALISTS

Action to Be Taken by the Socialistic Congress in Germany.

Strikes to Be More Powerful—The Questions to Be Considered Will Have an Important Effect on All Labor Councils.

[COPYRIGHT, 1896.]

The outcome of the forthcoming convention to be held at Sieblichen, near Gotha, Germany, is eagerly awaited by socialists in all parts of the world.

The growing power of the socialists in Europe has been more marked in Germany than elsewhere, there being at present 47 socialistic members in the reichstag. The repressive measures adopted by Herr Von Koellner,

AUGUST BEBEL.

Prussian minister of the interior, against the party some months ago, have had an entirely opposite effect to what was expected.

The congress, which meets on October 11, has an aggressive programme already mapped out, and will make a formal demand in the shape of a resolution for proportional representation which will give them 42 additional seats in the reichstag.

Since the persecution commenced by Herr Von Koellner was started, the parliamentary party has had charge of the socialist organization, but a new executive committee will be appointed by the congress, to which will be delegated the task of reorganizing the socialist forces.

There were many jealousies engendered and questions left unsettled by the late international congress held in London, which will be taken up and disposed of at Sieblichen. Among these will probably be the drawing of finer lines around the socialist platform and the exclusion of anarchists or others who do not strictly adhere to the doctrines of the socialist labor party.

It is not believed that the demand for proportionate representation will yet be conceded, but it will be vigorously pushed, notwithstanding.

Herr Bebel, who was the delegate to the London congress, will present his report on the proceedings of that body, and is expected to take fully as vigorous a stand against the exclusion of anarchists as did the American socialists delegates to that congress, who voted solidly against the admission of members connected with the red flag. The growth of socialism in all parts of the world will be demonstrated by Herr Bebel's report, which will include statistics showing that the progress made in the United States compares favorably with that of other countries.

WILHELM LIEBKNECHT.

The populistic wave which threatened to swamp the socialistic labor party in this country appears to have been only temporary, according to the report of Lucien Sanial, one of the American delegates to the international congress. Since the holding of the St. Louis convention the accessions to the ranks of the socialists are said to have been more numerous than at any other period.

The socialists claim this to be due to the feeling that by indorsing Bryan for president the people's party has virtually consented to its absorption by the democratic party.

At the last presidential election in the United States the socialist vote was about 30,000, but it is expected that it will be more than trebled this year. There are now electoral tickets in the field in at least 13 states, and it is expected that the number will be considerably increased. The socialists have no sympathy with the populists, as they see no relief for the toiling masses in the free coinage of silver at any ratio, and aim at the entire overthrow of the present industrial system.

BRUNO SCHOENLANK.

The propaganda of the socialists is carried on to a very small extent outside of the trades unions at present, although their ranks are swelled by the members of the lower middle class, whose fortunes have been dissipated by the growth of the monopolies in the shape of trusts, which have forced them out of remunerative employment. The report of the London international and also of the Paris congresses will be submitted to the German convention for adoption, as the movement is international in its character.

The former calls for the abolition of all tariffs and the enactment of international factory and labor protection laws; establishment of the legal eight-hour labor day; the abolition of the sweating system and the perfecting of legislation for the protection of those who do not work in factories or workshops. Lastly, it demands the recognition of the unassailable right of combination and coalition of both sexes.

The importance of the two last clauses will be directly seen, as they embrace the interests of millions who have hitherto been considered outside the breastworks of the trades unions. These are clerks and servants of all descriptions, comprising the class upon which the socialists next intend to concentrate their energies for the purpose of proselytizing.

The Paris congress adopted a resolution providing for the eight-hour day, adding to it the proposition that six hours night work be equivalent to eight hours during the day. Night work is prohibited in all trades where continuous running is unnecessary, and for both sexes under the age of 18. Thirty-six hours of complete leisure must also be granted to the working people each week. Industries injurious to the health of the workers are prohibited, and the abolition of the truck system demanded. Inspection of all factories and workshops, including the homes in which work is carried on is demanded with the provision that half of the inspectors be chosen by the workers themselves.

MAX SCHIPPEL.

The adoption of these reports by the convention of socialists at Sieblichen will be followed by the reading of papers by delegates, among which will be an important paper by Clara Kettin on the subject of women wage-earners. The reports on the question of proportional representation in Germany will be made by Dr. Lutgenan, and Herr Auer will outline his plans for the reorganization of the German social democrats. This party in 1893 polled a vote of 1,800,000, that being about 25 per cent. of the entire vote of the empire.

The fact that no one under 25 years of age is allowed to vote and that socialistic doctrines are rapidly being embraced by the younger working element in Germany is looked upon as one of the most hopeful signs that the empire will be the first country in the world to realize practical socialism by its adoption as a mode of government.

Hence it is quite natural that the action taken by the present convention, and the subsequent course which will be pursued by the German government toward the socialists, are regarded with very considerable interest by socialists and others all over the world.

Herr Liebknecht, who is the editor of Vorwarts, the great German socialistic newspaper, was imprisoned at the instance of Herr Von Koellner, when the measures against socialists were taken. He will be a prominent figure at the congress. Max Schippel, Paul Singer and Bruno Schoenlank are also expected to be conspicuous in the proceedings, with August Babel as perhaps the most prominent leader.

PAUL SINGER.

Seen in the Shops.

Both useful and ornamental are the bread forks with pierced tines and heavily-chased handles.

Furless sealskin is a novelty introduced in the making of card cases jewel boxes and other leather goods.

New cane cabinets and tables are reproductions of empire styles in rosewood, enriched with applied decorations in gilt.

A useful addition to the toilet articles is a pumice stone set in silver, after the style of a nail polisher. It is designed to remove ink spots, fruit and other stains from the hands.

A holder for handkerchiefs has appeared. It is in the form of a clasp, with a safety-pin attachment for fastening to the belt. Made of gold or silver, this clasp is variously decorated, enamel being effectively employed.

Jewelers continue to cater to the athletic of both sexes. Shirt waist sets, sleeve links, studs and scarf pins simulate golf sticks and ball, tennis racquet and ball or bicycle wheels, as the case may be.—Chicago Record.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:06 a. m.
Sun sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

CENTRAL BOWLING LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.
Park Club	3	1
Elizabeth A. C.	3	3
Westfield	2	2
Roselle Casino	2	2
Cranford Country Club	2	2
New Jersey A. C.	1	1
Bayonne R. and A. A.	1	3

WHIST.

The Board of Directors of the State Whist Association passed the following resolutions: "The Park Club of North Plainfield having won ten games in actual contest for the State Challenge Trophy, we hereby congratulate the members of the team which represented the said Park Club in these contests, and transfer with much pleasure to the Park Club, all title to ownership of the trophy now in their possession, and which has been in play in this State since March 1895, and known as the 'Challenge Trophy' of the New Jersey Whist Association. Whereas, the governors of the Park Club, of North Plainfield, in a communication dated November 14, 1896, through the chairman of its Whist Committee, George T. Rogers, generously offer to the New Jersey Whist Association a new trophy to be played for by the clubs composing this association, therefore be it resolved, that the directors of the New Jersey Whist Association accept this gift with a full appreciation of the generosity of this action of the governors of the Park Club, and desire to express the thanks of the New Jersey Whist Association to the donors of the trophy for the liberality expressed by the gift and the value conferred to the whist interest of the State. We consider that this gift from the governors of the Park Club of North Plainfield also expresses their appreciation of the estimable work of the members of the whist team of their club in the games for the State challenge trophy lately, won by them and which we consider fully deserved. The secretary of this association is authorized to send to the governors of the Park Club of North Plainfield notice of the acceptance by this body of the offer to present to the New Jersey Whist Association a new challenge trophy to be open for competition in play by the clubs of the association."

It was decided that this new trophy should be known as the "Park Club Challenge Trophy." The laws governing play for this will be published shortly.

The Cleveland Cyclers were organized last Saturday evening with twenty-five members. The following officers were elected:—President, George Babcock; vice-president, William Schaeffer; corresponding secretary, William J. Kiely; financial secretary, Gilbert Sutphen; treasurer, George B. MacIntyre. The club rooms will be located over Woolston & Buckle's store, on North avenue, and will be fitted up at once. The club will meet again on Thursday evening when a number of applications for membership will be acted upon.

Independent Mayor at Malden Elected.

Malden, Mass., Dec. 2.—John E. Farnham, who has run for mayor on the independent ticket four times in the six years that organization has been in existence, yesterday defeated Mayor Walker's re-election by a vote of 2,681 to 1,588. The city government is non-partisan. License vote—Yes, 1,450; no, 2,644.

Citizen Mayor Elected at Fitchburg.

Fitchburg, Mass, Dec. 2.—Mayor Henry F. Rockwell, citizen's, was re-elected, defeating ex-mayor Edgar S. Moulton, A. P. A.; by 2,817 to 1,567. The citizens' independent ticket for members of the city government carried the day. Vote on license: Yes, 2,113; no, 2,202.

Election Result at Marlboro.

Marlboro, Mass., Dec. 2.—In the city election here Charles L. Bartlett, non-partisan, was re-elected mayor by a majority reduced from last year. Next year's board of aldermen will comprise four democrats, three republicans; the common council, eight democrats, six republicans.

At New Bedford.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 2.—For mayor: Charles S. Ashley, ind. citizen, was elected, receiving 3,791 votes to 3,485 for David L. Parker, citizen. The citizens' ticket for members of the city government was elected. License vote: Yes, 4,406; no, 2,407.

The Vote at Quincy.

Quincy, Mass., Dec. 2.—Charles Francis Adams, dem., was re-elected mayor over Charles L. Hammond, rep., by 245 majority. The republicans, however, elected 17 out of the 23 members of the city council. License: Yes, 1,364; no, 2,074.

Northampton Elects a Democratic Mayor.

Northampton, Mass., Dec. 2.—John L. Mather, democrat, was elected mayor here by a vote of 1,346 to 1,154. The result was a surprise, as Mr. Mather's majority was larger than expected.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

UNCLE SAM'S DEBTS

An Increase of $8,200,000 During the Month of November.

NON-INTEREST DECREASED $15,000

Total Debt Now Stands at $1,221,126,257 Gold in the Treasury Swelled to $169,527,101, and the Increase of Silver Was $621,708.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The debt statement just issued shows a net increase in the public debt less cash in the treasury during November of $8,200,333.16. The interest bearing debt increased $60. The non-interest bearing debt decreased $15,300. The cash in the treasury decreased $8,215,663.16. The balances of the several classes of debt at the close of business November 30 were: Interest bearing debt, $847,364,520. Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,591,620.26. Debt bearing no interest, $372,170,117.14. Total, $1,221,126,257.40 The certificates and treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury, outstanding at the end of the month were: $567,523,923, an increase of $3,183,000. The total cash in the treasury was $635,961,579.81. The gold reserve was $100,000,000. Net cash balance, $125,357,098.47. In the month there was an increase in gold coin and bars of $14,203,268.71, the total at the close being $169,527,101.34. Of silver there was an increase of $621,708.65. Of the surplus there was in national bank depositories, $15,832,894.57, against $16,119,096.51 at the end of the previous month

Roentgen Rays and Heart Disease.

London, Dec 2.—Among the recent discoveries made by means of the Roentgen rays reported from Berlin are several relating to diseases of the heart. It has also been observed in cases of asthma that the right half of the diaphragm stops work during the attack, and the left half is compelled to bear all the exertion.

Wire Nail Association.

New York, Dec. 2.—After discussing the situation for two days the members of the Wire Nail association have virtually concluded to continue their organization, although its operation will be on somewhat different lines.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot dull; values doubtful. Dec., 89½c.; May, 88¾c.

Corn—Spot quiet; prices uncertain. Dec., 29⅛c.; May, 32⅛c.

Oats—Trade inactive; prices weak. Dec., 23¼c.; May, 26¼c.

Eggs—Steady; moderately active. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@21c.; western, fresh, 22@24c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 21@23.

Pork—Prices firm; moderate trade. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.50@9.00; family, $10.00@10.75.

Lard—Market weak and inactive. Prime western, $4.25.

Butter—Small receipts; choice firm. Creamery western extras, 23c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 20½@21c.; creamery, western seconds, 14c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10¼c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Slow and barely steady. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

Twenty Years in Connecticut Militia.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 2.—John B Doherty, former colonel of the second regiment C. N. G., has received from Adjutant General Graham the state medal in recognition of twenty years service in the national guard.

Chief Engineer Smith Retired.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Chief Engineer Smith has been detached from the bureau of steam engineering and placed on the retired list.

Take No Substitute.

Gail Borden Eagle Brand

CONDENSED MILK

Has always stood FIRST in the estimation of the American People. No other is "just as good." Best Infant Food.

WHY HE RESIGNED

Former Consul Williams Says He Was Not Welcome at Havana.

FOUGHT FOR AMERICANS' RIGHTS

Too Persistent To Suit the Spanish Officials There and Defeated Them in His Appeals to the Madrid Government.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Gen. Ramon O. Williams, ex-consul-general of the United States at Havana, who arrived from a trip through England, France and Spain yesterday is now at his home in this city. Regarding the circumstances surrounding his resignation as consul-general at Havana last year, and about which so much was said at the time, Mr. Williams in an interview said: "On the first day of the present rebellion in Cuba, Feb. 24, 1895, three naturalized American citizens were arrested by order of the captain-general of Cuba, who announced that he would court-martial them. They were Messrs. Sanguily, Aguirre and Garrillo, who were taken as insurgents. Article seven of the treaty of 1795 provided that unless arrested with arms in hand, threatening the sovereignty of Spain in her dominion, American citizens, no matter what the charge against them, must be accorded a civil trial. These men, arrested at noon one day, were court-martialed and sentenced to imprisonment for life. I protested that this was a violation of the protocol. Both the captain-general and the insular secretary of state were entirely ignorant of the existence of article seven, and the captain-general became offended because I demanded the transfer of the prisoners, and the case was reported in such a manner to the Madrid government as to almost provoke the revocation of my exequator. They did not succeed, however, because the minister of state at Madrid was acquainted with the existence of the treaty, and within eighteen days after the captain-general had taken offense at my stand he, by instruction of the Madrid government, granted everything I had asked for and a new trial was ordered. Thus it was shown again that I was right in demanding the transfer of these gentlemen, and that the captain-general was wrong. The recollection of other cases of mistreatment of Americans in Cuba animated me to make quick and earnest defense of these men and it was this action on my part that gave offense to the Spanish authorities at Cuba. I was then in Washington. Acting on the rule that no man of self respect will want to return to or enter any place where he believes that he is persona non grata, and therefore not welcome, I resolved not to continue longer in the position of consul general to the island and signified my desire to resign. The circumstances, however, were of such a character that I went back to Havana, resumed charge of the office and continued the defense of Sanguily until the case was transferred to the civil courts. A few weeks before this the case of the American citizen Jose Cepro, who had been arrested and subjected to court martial, and several other American citizens, had been treated the same way, and in consequence I was not able to present my resignation in due form until February, 1896. My successor was appointed in April and in June I personally transferred the office to Gen. Lee, present incumbent." Gen. Williams also said that his return to Havana was only at the instance of the [illegible] solicitation of President Cleveland.

Well-Known Railroad Man Dead.

Albany, Dec. 2.—Charles S. Peace, general baggagemaster of the Delaware & Hudson Canal company's railroads, and publisher of "People's Railroad Guide," is dead. Mr. Pease was born in Thompsonville, Conn., Dec. 10, 1855. He removed with his parents to Cohoes in 1866. Mr. Pease had a national reputation as a railroad man. He was a member of the Citizens' corps of Troy, and in 1877 did active service in the riots at West Albany.

For Practicing Medicine Illegally.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 2.—In the Waterbury district court the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Dr. Ralph F. Guidone, a prominent Italian physician, charged with practicing medicine illegally and without license. Upon the request of counsel, Judge Bradstreet granted an arrest of judgment until this afternoon. The case will now be carried to the supreme court on law points.

Mrs. Johnson Killed Herself.

Washington, Dec. 2.—There is no doubt now that Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, wife of Jacob Johnson of Kernan's Lyceum theatre, who was found dead in bed yesterday at her home suffocated by illuminating gas, committed suicide. Mrs. Johnson was a handsome brunette of 29 years of age.

Imprisonment for Levy's Murderers.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—Grosse and Werner, the two men who in last October murdered Herr Major Levy, president of the Berlin bar, by stabbing him to death in his bedroom, have been sentenced each to fifteen years' imprisonment.

Killed by a Fire Engine.

Boston, Dec. 2.—Alexander McIntosh, 68 years old, was run down by a steam fire engine at Charles and Poplar streets last evening, while the engine was responding to an alarm, and instantly killed.

Gov. Cook Denies a Report.

Winsted, Conn., Dec. 2.—Gov. Lorrin A. Cook says there is no truth in the report that he had tendered the position of surgeon general on his staff to Dr. J. Francis Caleb of Middletown.

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.

Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired.

PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.

147-149 NORTH AVENUE.

H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,
PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

SALT IN CORPSES

The New York Morgue-Keeper Arrested.

SAID TO HAVE SOLD MANY BODIES

The Illegal Traffic Believed To Have Assumed Enormous Proportions. Thousands of Dollars Received Annually.

New York, Dec. 2.—The commissioners of charities decided after a consultation at Bellevue hospital to turn over the case of Morgue-Keeper White, who is accused of wrongfully disposing of three bodies entrusted to his care, to the district attorney and the corporation counsel. The commissioners after the conference laid the case before the district attorney. In accordance with the action of the commissioners Keeper White was arrested on charges made by the charities board and locked up at police headquarters. Silas C. Croft, president of the board of commissioners of charities, when seen said that in the early part of this year a suspicion arose than an extensive traffic in the bodies received at the morgue existed and had been carried on for years. Positive proof was very hard to get as there was collusion among various officials connected with Bellevue hospital and the morgue, but Morgue-Keeper White was the suspected party and he would have been suspended at once, but, being a veteran, it was necessary to secure positive evidence against him before taking action. An investigation was begun and Supt. Murphy was placed in charge of the hospital and proved an efficient aid. The investigation bore little fruit until recently when three bodies were directly traced as having been taken from the morgue without authority. The traffic in bodies having thus been proven, Morgue Keeper White was suspended and a thorough investigation was ordered with a view of summoning as witnesses certain hospital authorities and embalmers who were believed to have purchased bodies from White. On Monday night the commissioner of charities got possession of the checks alleged to have been paid to White for bodies for purposes of dissection and evidence was obtained to show that the illegal sale of bodies from the morgue had assumed enormous proportions and that many thousand dollars had been annually paid for them. Commissioner Croft added that the investigation to come would probably inculpate others beside White.

New Haven Election.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 2.—The result of the election in this city was a victory for the republican tickets by a varying majority. The smallest margin of any candidate on the ticket is that of Fred B. Farnsworth, republican candidate for mayor, whose plurality is 132. The gold democratic vote amounted to about 3,700. That party carried one ward, the first, where Yale university is located, nearly all the Yale professors voting their ticket. Two members of the Yale faculty are elected to the common council.

Indianapolis Monetary Convention.

Indianapolis, Dec. 2.—A national convention of the commercial bodies will be held in this city early next year, probably January 12, for the purpose of suggesting such legislation as may be necessary to place the currency system of the country on a sound and permanent basis. This action was the practical outcome of the convention called by the Indianapolis board of trade. The formal call for the general convention will be issued in a few days by a sub-committee of Indianapolis delegates.

"CRISP NOTES!"

—About bright and cheerful things tending to make a Merry, Merry Christmas to everybody.

—So many nice and encouraging words have been said about Edsall's fine new stock and the marvelously low prices.

—That we feel like making the finest Christmas display that the Commercial Palace has ever attempted.

—It's not only nice words that has given us the inspiration but the very liberal purchases the people are making.

—It's just lovely to see the new, pretty things coming in and going out with such a "snap."

—And an air of satisfaction on the faces of the buyers

—Many remark that there is no use of going to New York so long as Edsall keeps up this "wide a make" selling, and Edsall says it's a continued story and the end cometh not yet.

—We advertise to sell fine goods cheaper than any other house, and we do it, too.

—By Saturday next our store will be in full holiday trim, and if you want to see something bright and attractive just come in and walk through.

—Many of the display stands are up now and filled with new and elegant novilties.

—Our own importation of fine bisque figures and bric a brac and elegent French china in all the new and desirable prices, will "cut a figure" this season, they are positively lower than New York prices.

—And in Christmas cards and Christmas tree ornaments, and the like, we just expect to astonish everybody.

—One of the largest publishers of books has given us unusual advantages in buying this season, so when you come to get our prices we know you will buy.

—It is just wonderful what awfully low prices, and fine tasty goods we can offer you in our Art Department; pocket books made up to our own order especially for holiday trade, at "cut" prices, too.

—And you can just revel in laces and ribbons and veilings cheaper than you have ever dared to think of before. Our last great purchase of these goods were enough to supply the whole town for three months yet.

In boy's clothing, caps and furnishings, we will give you prices, styles and qualities that you wouldn't think possible, at least that is the remark of many when we quote the price, and —Boy's what do you think?—we give a real fine watch free with a purchase of five dollars. See the watches in our big show windows.

—We just about ple ase everybody in our Millinery Department this season, so if you are in need of a new hat or bonnet for Christmas, you can be sure to get suited in our department and we know our low prices will suit you too.

—But we've got to stop this story somewhere, as it would take a whole newspaper to continue it to the end, and besides, space cost money too.

—The thing to do is for you to come in and see for yourself

—We are never afraid to have our advertisements investigated either as to prices, qualities and even quantities, in which the latter is so often so terribly exaggerated by some dealers.

EDSALL'S

Ladies' Calf Skin Heavey Sole WALKING BOOTS, $3

Per Pair. Button and lace; Goodyear welts; dressy and serviceable. Just the shoe for Ladies' who dislike Rubbers.

DOANE & EDSALL.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.

CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

-BOEHM'S!-

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

COCK-A-DOODLE-DO SHOW

MANY SIGHTS TO BE SEEN AT THE POULTRY AND PET STOCK SHOW.

A Perfect Bedlam of Mews, Crowing, Clucking, Grunts and the Like From the Blue Blooded Specimens of Life in Rink.

"Meow!" sadly remarked the long-haired Tabby as she rubbed against the bars of her cage, "I want to go home." The big white goose over in the corner honked forth some mocking reply, while the brown Leghorn rooster woke up to the occasion and proclaimed his opinion in no uncertain tones. So ended the first day of the second annual exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association.

The second day of the show has begun and all is in working order. The birds have all arrived and are correctly numbered and ready to be looked at. All yesterday the judges worked hard and awarded the blue ribbon and the second and third premiums. In some of the classes, where the large number of entries warranted it, fourth and fifth awards were made, while in the classes where the birds were not of sufficient excellence to come up to the standard no awards were made. The victorious exhibits were marked with the blue and red ribbon to designate first and second, respectively, while colored cards were used for the others.

So far the show has been a great success, as far as the exhibits were concerned. The Academy is just the place for such an affair and it resembles a miniature Madison Square Garden. The only thing lacking was a large crowd, which it is hoped will appear tonight. Quite a number attended last evening among whom were several of Plainfield's leading citizens, but the crowd was not what an exhibition like that deserves, for it is well worthy of a visit from all the Plainfield people, whether chicken and pigeon fanciers or not. While it was biting cold out of doors, last evening, the temperature of the hall was very comfortable.

There was not that bedlam of sound to be heard last evening that was so evident in the morning, although the hall was by no means silent. The grave old cocks settled down to the routine of the show and saved their clatter for this morning when they welcomed the dawn with prolonged and noisy greeting. Last night many of them tried to go to rest only to have some smiling spectator come by and recall them from the peaceful land of dreams, that is, if chickens ever have them. The old Enden goose woke up to the fact that he had a tongue and bill and could use them both, which he proceeded to do at once. The big turkey gobbler in the next cage gobbled out his dislike of all that noise, and tried to see what was the matter.

Both the expert and the initiated beholder were there last evening, and they walk down the long aisles between the rows of cages and looked with equal interest. Of course, the cats were a great attraction, and many of the visitors spent most of their time around the platform at the end of the room where the pussies were to be found. The $5 000 long-haired tabby, belonging to Mrs. Charles Weed, of Woodhaven, N. Y., was a special attraction. Early in the evening "Napoleon," for such is the feline's name, took a little stroll around the hall accompanied by his mistress. Then his feline Highness retired to his couch and lazily watched the curious faces as they peered in at him through the wire screen and gazed with wondering eyes at his huge proportions half hidden under a silk cover. "Napoleon" has already fought many battles in cat shows, and he takes the blue ribbon every time. Plainfield was not his Waterloo, for a first premium badge soon adorned his cage. He had some distinguished neighbors, however, who received lots of attention. There was a pair of grey long-haired tabbies, the property of Mrs. E. N. Barker, of Newburg, which attracted much notice. They came to receive their visitors and begged to be petted. An immense black pussy, also belonging to Mrs Charles Week, was quite a favorite, appearing very well on a red silk cushion and surrounded by curtains of the same color. This cat received second. Mrs. Barker's pair took first and second in their class.

The short haired cats were not forgotten and seemed much more sociable than their long haired brothers and sisters. Miss Mary C. Ryan, of Elizabeth, had five cats in line and took one first award and three seconds. One of hers, a very affectionate white cat, looked very artistic on a blue cushion and surrounded by blue hangings. The students at Princeton University would have gone wild over a large black pussy with a bright

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

BOY TOOK A COLD DIP.

A VENTURESOME YOUNGSTER GOES THROUGH THE ICE ON A POND.

He Escaped, However, Without Serious Injury—The Continued Cold Weather is Making Ice Very Fast in This Vicinity.

The first cold wave of the season has moderated but slightly since its arrival here last Monday and the raw biting wind that swept down from the north yesterday made it seem even colder. All signs pointed to the approach of another snow storm for last night. There was that penetrating chill in the air that precedes the usual snow storm while the sun and blue sky were obscured by the dull grey clouds. The storm failed to materialize, however, and soon after sunset the wind died down, making the cold seem less. Towards midnight, the wind began to moan again and partially blew away the clouds.

This morning the thermometer registered 18 degrees above zero and patches of blue sky were to be seen at every hand. The barometer was falling, however, and Farmer Dunn prophesies another snow storm for this afternoon or evening.

The continued cold increased the thickness of the ice on the outlying ponds and some of the more daring spirits went out to enjoy their first skating of the season. Several went to McNabb's pond among whom was Henry W. Brower, of East Fifth street. He soon became the first victim of thin ice for the winter. While skating along, the ice cracked under him and he paid the inside of the pond a short visit, coming out in dripping clothes which soon froze in the chilly air.

Percy Ohl reports that his pond is frozen over and held him as he walked over its frozen surface yesterday afternoon. While the larger ponds are not ready for their winter visitors, the smaller ponds will easily support the lighter of the skaters.

The Feltville Lake which a few years ago threatened to break out during a freshet and sweep the "Colorado of the East" from the face of the earth, is frozen over with two inches of ice. The average Feltville lad knows more about husking corn and planting cheese pumpkins than he does about skating, but two of them, however, thought they must try their luck on the big pond, yesterday afternoon, and besides they could tell their friends that they were the first to skate on the ice there this winter. So they buckled on their ancient half-rockers and struck out from land hand-in-hand. Presumably they were rehearsing that time honored phrase: "United we stand, divided we fall," but they nevertheless fell together in about four feet of ice water, and scrambling to the bank started for home on a run, vowing they would not go skating again until the ice was eighteen inches thick.

BOROUGH ELECTION COMING.

Mayor Hegeman Says He Will Not Serve Another Term.

The time is not far distant when the borough will have an election and already there is some little gossip in that direction. The term of Mayor Hegeman will expire in March, when the election is held, and it is said that he will not consent to run for another term. If this is true, the borough will lose one of the most conscientious and careful officials she has ever had.

The borough has been blessed with good Mayors and men to represent them in the Council, and it is to be sincerely hoped that the borough will still continue to be governed by those who have her interests at stake.

Fell and Broke His Arm.

James Hinkle, an eleven year old youth, who lives with his grandfather, James Emory on the Stelle farm on Park avenue, was seriously injured yesterday. He was returning to the farm with a load of beer grains from South Plainfield when he accidentially fell from the wagon, dislocating his right arm. The injured lad was assisted home and Dr. Hedges attended to the injuries.

Examined in Tactics.

The officers of the Plainfield High School Cadets, both commissioned and non-commissioned, met at the home Captain George Edwards on Duer street, last evening, and took an examination in military tactics. All succeeded in passing the examination with credit and showed themselves well up in their necessary duties.

A Class Pin.

The class of of '97 at Leal's School held a class meeting yesterday afternoon to select a class pin. A design was at last chosen. It is the conventional shield shaped pin with "Leal's" and "97" on it in gold letters. There will be a bang of Maroon enamel over the centre and the rest of the pin will be chased gold.

PARK CLUB WHIST CUP

SILVER LOVING THOPHY SOON TO BE CONTESTED FOR BY JERSEYMEN.

Now on Exhibition at Armstrong's Pharmacy—First Game in the Challenge Series Will Take Place Next Monday.

The members of the New Jersey Whist Association will again have a chance to display their skill against each other in a contest for a challenge whist trophy. When the Park Club won their tenth victory for the challenge trophy offered by the State Association and it became their own property, they stated, as was told in The Daily Press at the time, that they would soon offer a trophy, to be called the "Park Club Challenge Trophy," to be contested for by the members of the State Association.

For some time the whist committee of the Park Club has been considering various designs for the trophy and at last, one has been selected and suitably engraved and is now on exhibition in the window of Armstrong's pharmacy.

It is a large handsome solid silver cup, the style known as the "Huntsman's loving cup," with three horn handles. On it is engraved "The Park Club Challenge Trophy. The New Jersey Whist Association." Between the two inscriptions a single space is engraved.

As there is no State whist congress at present, the clubs drew lots to see who were to play for it. It was decided that the Jersey City Club and the Orange Whist Club should first play for it at Newark on Monday evening. The winner of the match will play off the challenges of the other clubs until they lose, when the cup will go to the victors, who will answer all challenges.

The Park Club drew second but as they offered the cup, they put themselves at the bottom of the list. The order of playing the holder of the trophy is now as follows: Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club, Ridgewood Club, North End Whist Club, of Newark, Passaic Club, Roseville, and the Park Club.

VOTE OF 1878 COMPARED WITH 1896.

Mr. Fisk Did Not Get Largest Majority Ever Given a Mayor.

There has been considerable discussion as to whether Mr. Fisk received the largest plurality in Tuesday's city election ever given to a Plainfield Mayor when there was another candidate in the field. It was supposed that Mr. Fisk's plurality was the largest until the files of a newspaper were searched and then a larger plurality was discovered for the year 1878. In the charter election of that year there were three candidates for Mayor in the race, and the vote for them was as follows: Nathan Harper, Democrat, 760; Edward L. Morris, Republican, 347; Dr. George P. Carman, Independent, 51. Harper's plurality was 413, against Fisk's 370, and Harper's majority 362 against Fisk's 334. That, however, seems to be the only case where Mr. Fisk's plurality was exceeded by any previous candidate.

BOTH FEET WERE CRUSHED.

Thompson Had Just Finished His Term in Jail When the Accident Occurred.

His exchequer being rather low, David Thompson, a colored man of this city, went to the Elizabeth jail for 20 days instead of paying $8 fine. City Judge DeMeza sentenced him for being drunk and disorderly. That happened twenty days ago.

This morning, Warden Blore discharged him and Thompson, finding his exchequer in the same unpleasant state, decided to ride home on a coal train. He walked to the outskirts of the county seat and there tried to board a passing coaler. The 20 days of idleness made his eye unsteady and he missed his footing and fell under the wheel. Both of his feet were terribly crushed by the car wheels, and he was taken to the Elizabeth City Hospital.

An Erroneous Report.

An article appeared in this morning's New York Journal about a 100 mile bicycle road race being run over the Garfield-Ridgefield course course, near Plainfield, yesterday and how Milton Brown, of Plainfield, was thrown and badly injured. There is no course anywhere near Plainfield known as the Garfield-Ridgefield course and Milton Brown is an unknown name here even for a bicycle rider Pleasant Time Assured.

If you wish to have a pleasant time attend the social and musical entertainment to be held tomorrow evening at the Trinity Reformed church under the auspices of the Ladies Christian Work Society. The admission, including refreshments, will be 25 cents. An especially attractive programme has been arranged and a treat is in store for those who attend.

WED IN A HOME CIRCLE.

HAPPY LOVERS JOINED BY REV. J. O. M'KELVEY LAST EVENING.

The Ceremony Performed at the Home of George Mehl, Whose Daughter it Was Became the Wife of George Schlereth.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season was solemenized last night at 7 o'clock when Miss Elizabeth Mehl, daughter of George Mehl, of West Second street, and George Schlereth, of Chatham street, were united in marriage by the Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren Chapel. The decorations in the parlor consisted chiefly of roses and binks, in a beautiful variety.

The bride was handsomely gowned in boucle cloth of a plum color, which was trimmed with chiffon, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Carrie Mehl, sister of the bride, was bridemaid, and was gowned in blue ladies' cloth, trimmed with white lace and gilt braid.

Robert W. Schlereth, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

A shower of congratulations followed the ceremony, after which a wedding supper was served.

A costly and useful collection of presents was received by the happy couple from their many friends. During the reception which followed the ceremony several pleasing selections were rendered by the Eclipse Quartette of the members of which are intimate friends of the bride and groom.

Those present at the wedding were: Otto Schlereth and family, of Jersey City; Mr. and Mrs. Primer, of Hoboken; J. W. Mehl, of Hoboken; Mrs. Schlereth, George Mehl, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Dieble, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Glaentzer, Mrs. Andrew Zeisz, Mrs. Elizabeth Zeisz and daughters, Miss Lillie Coussen, Miss Lillie Laing, George Zeisz and Harry Kesselring.

A PRIVILEGED CONGREGATION.

Grace M. E. Church Members Hearing Sermons of Great Spirituality.

The congregation of Grace M. E church, through the forethought of their official board, are enjoying a series of sermons that for thought and spirituality are not often excelled. The sermon last night delivered by Dr. James M. King, was no exception, which was a soul-stirring discourse on the "Person and Work of the Holy Spirit," taking his text from John's Gospel, 14:16, and he held the attention of all, while with clear and forcible thought and with beautiful and telling illustrations he delivered his message. He emphasized: First, The personality of the Holy Spirit. Second, His perpetuating influence. Third, His work in interpreting Scripture. Fourth, His guiding and comforting power. The choir, which of late has been exceptionally helpful, rendered a fine selection during the service.

SQUABBLE OVER A TRUNK.

One Sister Owned It and Another Sister Held It for Board.

The case in tort of Kittie August against Maggie Killoran came up in Justice Newcorn's court yesterday afternoon. Both the plaintiff and defendant are sisters and their troubles are varied. The plaintiff owned a trunk and the defendant made use of it, hence the suit.

At the trial Maggie Killoran, who held the trunk, claimed that she had done a great deal for her sister and was entitled to the trunk, while Kittie August said that her sister owed her money for board and was not entitled to anything.

After hearing both sides, Justice Newcorn advised the two to settle their differences out of court, which they decided to do.

Vanilla Sweet Chocolate.

This with other Cocoa and Chocolate preparations in a dainty souvenir box will be presented each lady attending the lecture in Y. M. C. A. hall, Tuesday afternoon. All will be under the personal direction of Elisha B. Worrell, of Boston, the best known and highest salaried exponent of food subjects now before the public. There is to be quite a botanical display from the museum at Harvard University, Cambridge. Because of the reliability and great expense of this work, and to insure an appreciative audience, admission will be by ticket only.

Musical and Funny.

If you want an evening of fun be be sure to go to the entertainment to be given in the Y. M. C. A. hall tomorrow evening by the King's Daughters of the Crescent Avenue church. An operetta, composed and arranged by Charles E. Lewis, the basso of Cr s Avenue church choir, will be given, and it is very musical and funny.

Robert Woodruff Dead.

Robert Woodruff, one of the oldest farmers of Union county and for many years Treasurer of the Union County Farmers' Club, died Sunday night at his home in Westfield.

RAN AMUCK WITH AN AXE

A FARM HAND'S EXCITING SPREE AFTER APPLEJACK DRINKING.

Attacked Patrolman Post With the Dangerous Weapon, but the Officer Was Shifty and Escaped Serious Injury.

Ring rule didn't suit Jas. O'Rourke; he wanted to be monarch of all he surveyed, and the West End happened to be the place of his choice. His first subject fled in terror while the self appointed monarch triumphantly waved his sign of power. But the second one wore a policeman's badge and despite O'Rourke's assertion that he didn't care for all the policemen in the city, this last subject finally rebelled successfully and landed the astonished would be ruler on his back, from which the steps to his present state, languishing in a cell in Elizabeth, were direct.

The cause of all this trouble was, as in many other cases, that old enemy, "apple jack." Now O'Rourke is ordinarily a farm hand at Mt. Pleasant, when he is in his right mind. He was sent to Plainfield yesterday afternoon by his employer to purchase an axe. There was nothing particularly royal in the act, but O'Rourke has a special fancy for the aforesaid "apple jack." It was a cold day and he wanted something to warm him up. As the temperature was rather low, he thought that he needed plenty, and so he took it.

The fumes rose to his head and he had wonderful visions of being lord high chief "boss" of the West End, but his dreams were not to be. He wandered about with his new axe until he found himself on West Third street in the vicinity of Liberty street. That was the place for him and with his hat on one side he set sail down the sidewalk. A negro came within his vision and his dizzy brain saw a chance to begin his duties as prince of that realm. He waved the axe at the colored man and informed the trembling negro that he had come with the express purpose of removing his subject's head without further notice. The sharp edge of the axe glittered and after actually turning pale with fright, the negro set out for some distant clime at a pace that left the staggering monarch far behind.

Patrolman Post, dressed in citizen's clothes, was in the vicinity at the time, it was then about 6 o'clock, and advised Mr. O'Rourke to go home. Such impudence was too much for the peace of mind of the farm-hand and he asked Post what he had to do with the case. The latter displayed his badge and then O'Rourke's wrath bubbled over and with the exclamation, "I'll show you what an Irishman can do!" he went to work with his axe. It was necessary for Post to move rather quickly when the sharp blade came in the direction of his head and he ducked. Another swing of the axe and he ducked again, the blade coming dangerously near the officer's scalp.

Then Post took a hand and finally managed to upset the would-be monarch and secure the axe. O'Rourke had lots of fight left in him and he finally had to be taken to the lockup in a wagon.

This morning the farm-hand had forgotten that he ever wanted to be a monarch. All he knew was that he wanted to go home He was inclined to doubt the story of alleged proceedings, but finally decided to plead guilty.

City Judge DeMeza rated him for trying to resist arrest and said that to protect them it was necessary to severely punish such offenders, and concluded by sentencing O'Rourke to pay a fine of $100 and go to jail for 60 days. O'Rourke became quite eloquent in his prayers for mercy, but it didn't go.

FOUND DEAD IN A SPRING.

Baker Evidently Stumbled and Fell Head First Into the Water.

James Baker, aged forty five years who worked for Lewis Acken, about one mile from Liberty Corner, was found dead in a spring half a mile from Liberty Corner, Monday. The body was discovered by Lewis Fennimore, who was getting milk from a milkhouse near the spring.

It is supposed that Baker was intoxicated and stumbled and fell head first into the spring. He was a member of Bernards Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

A Difficult Operation.

Dr. Hartley, assisted by Drs. Peck and Lyle, of New York, and Dr. Probasco, of this city, performed, Tuesday morning, a very delicate and dangerous operation on the neck of Councilman Barrows' youngest son. The boy under care of two surgical nurses from New York, is recovering nicely, and believed to be out of danger.

Miss Etta Raybert of North avenue, is visiting friends in Newark.

NEW CLEVER RIDING ACT.

BOB WHITTAKER AND HIS HORSE TO APPEAR IN MUSIC HALLS.

The New Act is an English Riding One and is Marked by Two Startling Features in Horse Training and Intelligence.

Robert Whittaker, the famous bareback rider who is known to all the circusgoers in the country, and who resides in this city in a quiet and unostentacious manner when not receiving plaudits for his graceful and daring performance with his famous horse, Dohlman, in the tented arena, has just returned from the training quarters of Aberlodi Lowandi, at Bound Brook, after having originated a new act in which he and his intelligent animal are to appear in the music halls of this and other countries. Mr. Whittaker has originated many of the famous circus acts which delight and astonish amusement lovers, and in his new innovation, which he terms an English riding act, he accomplishes many feats and tricks which shows that he has lost none of his old ability and success in this line.

In this new act Mr. Whittaker rides Dohlman in several different positions at the opening, and finally works up to two principal features that are sensational and startling in their climax. The first is when Dohlman kneels in the centre of the ring on his two fore knees, remaining in that position for a few moments while Mr. Whittaker assumes a graceful pose on one leg. Then Dohlman turns to his side and his trainer produces a pistol emblazioned with American flags and discharges it over the horse's head, the animal laying quietly as though he was peacefully munching oats instead of having a weapon discharged so near at hand. Then Mr. Whittaker lays along side of Dohlman and the intelligent horse turns his head and kisses him as lovingly as a babe would kiss its mother.

After this a few more manœuvres are gone through with on horseback and then Dahlman ascends an inclined platform twenty inches high, and on the end of which is a pedestial and staff. The horse puts one foot on the pedestial and the other forepaw he raises to the top of the staff, and in this position while Mr. Whittaker is making a graceful pose on his back the curtain goes down and ends the act. This last position is a wonderful one for a horse to assume and shows the intelligence of the animal and the careful training which his owner has given.

As the curtain drops his fore legs are several feet above the level of the stage, and the sight is an imperial one.

MT. ZION'S BAZAAR.

A Colored Church Event in The West End.

The bazaar and fair in aid of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church opened in the church parlors on West Fourth street, last evening and will continue for the balance of the week. The main room was tastefully decorated and to gain admission to this a nominal admission fee was charged. Distributed about the room were tables for the dispensation of eatables such as ice-cream, cake and fruit, and there were several other tables and booths for the sale of fancy articles. Those in charge of the several departments were: First the general committee of arrangements—Mrs. Abbie Peters, Mrs. Sadie Randolph, Mrs. Lucy Henry and Miss Bertha Groves. Cake table—Mrs. Mary Lain, Mrs. Martha Hooper and Mrs. Rebecca Voorhees. Lunch table—Mrs. Maggie Cannon, Mrs. Libbie Dunham and Mrs. Annie White. China table—Miss Annie Holland.

Confectionery stands—Mrs. Anna Brown, Mrs. Mary Groves, Mrs. Katie Mayhew.

Dry goods and fancy table—Mrs. Lucy Henry, Mrs. E. B. Maynard, Mrs. Henrietta Grobes.

Miss Marion Walley conducted the postoffice department, and she had letters and "messages from dear friends" for everybody at a nickel each. There was no free delivery system in connection with this branch of the bazaar. Miss Hattie Langford assisted her during the rush.

Then, too, "Rebecca" was at the well, was impersonated by Miss Estella Houston and Miss Ellen Oliver.

"The Tree of Life" occupied a prominent spot in the room, and from which Miss Sarah King plucked healing balm; price ten cents.

On the whole, the entertainment has been most admirably arranged, and it is to be hoped that Pastor Groves and his church will realize a good sum as the result of their efforts.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

NO SUNDAY LIQUOR

New Yorkers May Be Brought Under Such a Law.

HOTELS AND CLUBS NOT EXEMPTED

Senator Raines Says the Present Excise Measure is Defective and That Severe Restrictions May Yet Be Adopted.

New York, Dec. 3.—Senator Raines, father of the present excise law in New York state, said, in an interview, that the legislative investigation of the operations of the new measure had already demonstrated to his mind that there are three vital weaknesses in the present liquor tax law. "These were; First, what constitutes a meal, under the law; second, what is the meaning of the word 'guest,' and, third, what constitutes a social club. We have appreciated for some time the fact that all evasions hinged on these three points and that these would have to be strengthened or changed entirely. The investigation has only emphasized my previous belief." "Does the inquiry so far show who has been to blame?" "Not entirely. I don't know that any official is to blame especially. The fault seems to lie with the law itself. The committing magistrates probably have excuses for failing to convict, because different views may be taken of what a meal means." Senator Raines then intimated strongly that the result of his present investigation might be an entirely new law, which would absolutely forbid the sale of liquor anywhere in the state on Sunday. Under this law not even bona fide clubs and hotels could sell drinks with meals. "It may be that we shall have to frame a new law altogether, shutting down on everybody," said Senator Raines. "I don't say that there will be such a law proposed, but it would seem that to prevent a greater evil a lesser evil must be enacted into a law. Perhaps the only way to block evasions by saloons and clubs is to tighten the grip on the real article. That would be a hardship to the honest keepers, and there would be a howl, but that may be the only way to put a stop to Sunday liquor selling." Then he said that nobody could guess what the report of the committee would be or what action the legistature would take if a new measure was introduced.

New Commercial Enterprise.

New York, Dec. 3.—The Pacific company, with a capital of $20,000,000, owned by some of the most substantial business men and financiers of this city, has been formed for the purpose of bringing the Latin-American countries of South America into closer business relations with the United States. The undertaking is a purely commercial enterprise, the new company planning to do a shipping and general mercantile business on the Pacific coast and develop mines and other properties in the southern hemisphere. None of the stock is for sale.

Connecticut Presidential Electors.

Hartford, Dec. 3.—Tne republican electors of president and vice-president met at the state secretary's office yesterday in compliance with the state law. J. Deming Perkins of Litchfield was elected chairman of the delegation, and Robinson B. Hinman, chief clerk in the secretary's office, was appointed clerk. The electors then adjourned to meet Monday, January 11, when they will meet as required by the United States law, and cast their ballots for McKinley and Hobart.

Per Capita Money Circulation $22.86.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The circulation statement issued from the treasury department shows that all kinds of money in the United States outside the treasury on December 1 aggregated $1,646,444,746, an increase during November of $19,389,142. The per capita circulation, based on an estimated population of 72,030,000, is $22.86.

Captain Delisle Must Stand Trial.

Montreal, Dec. 3.—Captain Delisle, of the steamer Tiber which ran down the schooner Maggie at the entrance to St. Johns harbor early last month, causing the death of thirteen persons, will be taken back to Newfoundland to stand trial. Judge Desnoyers has rendered a decision handing him over to the authorities of that colony.

Paroled by Ohio Penitentiary Managers.

Columbus, O., Dec. 3.—The managers of the state prison have paroled Patrick S. Elliott. He is serving a 20-year sentence for complicity with his brother, W. J. Elliott, editor of the Sunday Capital, in the murder of Albert C. Osborn and W. L. Hughes on Feb. 23, 1891. W. J. Elliott is serving a life sentence.

Gunboats To Be Launched Saturday.

Bath, Me., Dec. 3.—The new gunboats Vicksburg and Newport are to be launched here Saturday afternoon, and a party of visitors from each of the two cities after which the vessels are named are expected to be present.

The Texas' Machinery.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Chief Engineer Melville has returned from New York, where he inspected the machinery of the Texas. He found it in a satisfactory condition.

A Fire at Blenheim Palace.

Woodstock, Eng., Dec. 3.—A fire broke out at the palace of Blenheim, the home of the Duke of Marlborough, yesterday. The outbreak was confined to the roof.

Sugar Refineries Resume.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 3.—The refineries of the American Sugar Refining company in the eastern district are now running with a force of 5,000 men.

FEAR A RACE WAR.

Slight Provocation May Cause a Renewal of the Riot at Trenton.

Trenton, Dec. 3.—Although there has been no renewal of the riot of the unemployed at the site of the new reservoir since the sheriff read the riot act yesterday afternoon after two men had been shot, it is believed that the slightest provocation may precipitate a race war between the Italians, who are working for very low wages, and the Americans, Irish and negroes, who demand a higher rate. Among the rioters arrested is Bline Salvator, who did the shooting. Wm. Lenox, shot in the arm, is only slightly injured. The man who was shot in the side was carried off by his companions before his name or the extent of his injuries could be ascertained. The other injuries inflicted amount to only slight cuts and bruises. To-day no one, unless employed on the work or who has business at the reservoir, is allowed on the grounds.

NORTH ATLANTIC SQUADRON.

Uncle Sam's Floating Terrors To Leave for Winter Rendezvous Dec. 15.

New York, Dec. 3.—The date upon which the ships of the north Atlantic squadron will leave the anchorage at Tompkinsville, S. I., and sail for the winter rendezvous at Hampton Roads has been definitely decided upon as Dec. 15. Further orders have been received at the navy yard calling for great haste in the work of completing the repairs on the ships of the fleet and those which are not ready at the date named will be left behind. The repairs on the warships at this station are now so far advanced that, with the exception of the battleship Texas, it is confidently predicted that all the ships in the fleet will answer Admiral Bunce's signals to sail on the date named. The pride of the fleet, the first-class battleship Indiana, has passed out of the hands of the workmen and is now ready for sea orders at Tompkinsville.

THE DEMAND FOR PENNIES.

Resources of the Treasury Department Severely Taxed To Meet It.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The holiday trade is making heavy demands on the treasury and taxing to the utmost its capacity to furnish small silver change and nickels and pennies. This demand is coming from the large cities—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis. The demand for pennies is greater than ever known before, and for the first time in the history of the treasury, a demand comes from San Francisco for pennies. Heretofore the smallest change in use on the Pacific coast has been the nickel. This demand for pennies is accounted for by the great number of stores which use odd figures in selling goods.

Mrs. Irwin's Trial Removed to Baltimore.

Baltimore, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Emma Irwin, indicted as an accessory to the murder of her husband, James J. Irwin, of which crime George Matthews was found guilty at La Plata, Md., last week, will be tried in Baltimore. Eleven jurors had been accepted in the trial of the woman at La Plata when her attorney created a sensation by filing a petition for removal. The court granted the request. Matthews was removed to the Baltimore jail last night as it was feared an attempt would be made to lynch him at La Plata.

Mrs. Beecher Recovering.

Stamford, Conn., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, who sustained serious injuries at the residence of her son-in-law, the Rev. Samuel Scoville, where she was spending the Thanksgiving season, was much improved this morning and was able to sit up. Some time early on Sunday morning, Mrs. Beecher, who is 84 years old, had a fall. Her head struck on some sharp point and a long gash was made. She was found later by members of the family lying in a pool of blood.

New York School Expenditures.

Albany, Dec. 3.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Skinner's annual report which will be submitted to the state legislature shows that the state expended during the school year terminating July 31 last, both as a state government and through its political diversions, $23,173,830 for educational purposes, as against $20,950,614 during the preceding year, an increase in the expenditure over that period of $2,223,216.

Secretary Carlisle's Report.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Secretary Carlisle's annual report probably will not be presented to congress until the second week of the session. The report is not yet written and it will take some time to put it in type. The principal points on finance and the recommendations, it is expected, will be presented to congress in the president's message, leaving Secretary Carlisle to elaborate the details.

Fourth-class Postmasters.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The following fourth-class postmasters have just been appointed: Connecticut—G. L. Edwards, Millington. Delaware—D. C. Leckitt, Ellendale. Maine—O. P. Russell, Hanover; A. A. Martin, Rumford. New Jersey—G. Coe, Millstone. New York—J. F. Denton, South Somerset. Pennsylvania—G. J. Korr, Girdland; R. L. Hoge, Oak Forest.

Thurber Denies a Rumor.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Secretary Thurber denies the rumor that President Cleveland has purchased a house in New York city. The rumor was to the effect that the president had bought a house in Ninety-sixth street at a cost of $250,000.

Appointed Special Excise Agent.

Albany, Dec. 3.—State Excise Commissioner Lyman has appointed Edward P. Le Fever of Fallsburgh, Sullivan county, as a special excise agent.

INCREASED COTTON PRODUCT.

Improvement in Agricultural Methods in Twenty Years.

Some recently published figures and other data with regard to the growth of cotton production are interesting, says the Savannah (Ga.) News. In 1875 the average yield per acre was 260 pounds. During the 20 years the acreage devoted to cotton cultivation increased 128 per cent., while the production increased 183 per cent. That is to say, the farms of the present day are much more productive than were those of 20 years ago. The reason is, as every practical farmer knows, that agricultural methods have been greatly improved during the time. Investors and chemists have labored with the farmer to the end of bringing the lands up to a higher state of productiveness. The former have produced new implements for the cultivation of the soil in an improved and at the same time labor-saving manner. The latter have instructed the farmer as to the chemical elements needed for the enrichment of his soil, and the fertilizer manufacturer has provided those elements in convenient form for utilization. Rule-o'-thumb farming has to a great degree given way to scientific farming. Those farmers who have not their own test tubes and text books are readers of good agricultural periodicals, which supply useful and accurate information with regard to soils, fertilizers, etc., to take the place of guesswork. The farms, like everything else, is progressing.

ATE A BARREL OF EGGS A DAY.

Shipwrecked Men Subsisted on Them Solely for Twelve Days.

"Do you like eggs?" was the question that stirred up a "'49-er" to make some talk in a Bangor store the other day. He was an old man, says the Lewiston Journal, and he straightened up to something like the height of his prime as he answered: "I had a surfeit of them once. 'Twas toward 50 years when I was on the way home from California. We left the isthmus on a good brig bound for New York, but ran into a coral reef in the Caribbean sea and were wrecked. It was a patch of sand just out of the water, but you ought to see the flocks of sea fowl that nestled on it! They had to move out of the way to give us room to stay there, and that was about all they would do. Their nests were everywhere, and there were eggs in abundance. We ate about a barrel of them every day during the 12 days we were there. Some of us got off in a boat and went to San Juan, in Nicaragua, where we got a vessel to go after those we left on the reef. That vessel was commanded by William Lawrence, of Bath, who was killed by a man named Wilkinson while he was a policeman there. We tried to get to the reef, but bad weather stove us up so we had to set in for New Orleans, where we found the rest of the men rescued by another vessel. But eggs"—the old man's face took on a peculiar expression.

UNABLE TO MAKE THE CHANGE.

Predicament of the Cashier of a Downtown Resort with His Cash Register.

There were three in one party and two in the other. They were standing before the white-aproned dispenser of refreshments, says a Chicago exchange, and one of the three invited the entire party to have something. The dispenser dealt out the order of the three, took the dollar offered in payment and handed back 35 cents in change. The other two, standing a short distance away, were not served, as there was a mistake on the part of the cashier. The bill amounted to less than a quarter according to the refreshments served the three. The host examined his coin and then looked surprised and grieved.

"I gave you a dollar, he said.

"Was it a dollar? How much change did I give you?"

"Thirty-five cents."

"Well, I will have to wait until somebody buys. I don't dare open the register, as there is a false balance on it. Every time I open it it means a purchase charged to me. Sorry, but we will have to wait."

The man to whom the change was coming stood by and waited until the cash purchase was made before he could get his money. He was the only one in the party who did not enjoy the situation. He remarked, gloomily, that he never had much use for cash registers anyway.

Much in Little

Is especially true of Hood's Pills, for no medicine ever contained so great curative power in so small space. They are a whole medicine chest, always ready, always efficient, always satisfactory; prevent a cold or fever, cure all liver ills, sick headache, jaundice, constipation, etc. 25c. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

a speedy cure for the most obstinate cough. It cannot fail

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar acts like magic for a cough or any throat or bronchial trouble. Ask your druggist.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

out in the rain

A good drenching in a cold rain is often the beginning of consumption. Yet no one claims that the germs of this disease exist in the rainwater. Then how was this brought about? The exposure was followed by a cold; the vitality was lowered; the cough continued for some weeks; the throat and lungs became congested; and thus all the conditions were favorable for the consumption germs.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, does not directly attack these germs and kill them. But it does tone up the whole system and restores the body to health before serious harm is done. The germs of consumption thrive best when the system is weakened and the throat and lungs congested. Do not delay until it is too late, but treat your cough early. Cod-liver oil and the hypophosphites, in the form of Scott's Emulsion, are the very best remedies.

"JUST AS GOOD" IS NOT SCOTT'S EMULSION.

50c. and $1.00 at all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

ROYAL TOOTH POWDER and

Sold Everywhere, 10c.

Allen Pharmacy Manufacturing Co.

I. C. Pope & Co.,

INSURANCE AGENTS,

10 East Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW

Meat Market.

George Egel, Manager.

Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street 6 19 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.

To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days

To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.

To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days

Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

$5,000 FOR $1.25

MANY a HOUSE has been destroyed by a spark thrown out from an open fire.

You can have perfect protection by using a Spark Guard and can buy he best for $1.25

CURTIS M. THORPE,

310-312 Park avenue, Plainfield.

EVERYTHING FOR THE FIREPLACE!

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,

Park Avenue Florist,

Floral Design Work a specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,

Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in

Cigars, Tobacco, etc.

"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

WINTER STYLES

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.

Just Received from manufacturers

FORCE, 129 Park Avenue. 29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.

Best Dairy Butter 18c.

V. L. FRAZEE

151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S

VARIETY MARKET.

Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS

If you want a deep, clear rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables

will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,

144 PARK AVENUE.

A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett

has removed to

148 EAST FIFTH STREET.

Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,

FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.

Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.

R. H. McCullough, Prop.

Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

Residence, 33 Linden Ave

Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf

Telephone 29b. Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.

Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.

ACCIDENT TICKETS.

THE INTER-STATE

Casualty Company of New York

gives SIX MONTHS' insurance

$1.000 for $1.00,

to men or women

between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.

For sale at office of

Honeyman's Private Tours,

181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.

6 26-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,

PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,

Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.

Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 9 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE

PARK AVENUE. 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD. New Jersey.

Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.

The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.

GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,

120 NORTH AVENUE.

Wholesale and Retail

Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE

Sewer Connections.

DAVID BOWDEN,

General Contractor. 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.

28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.

Mason and Builder

Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 18 Elm place. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly 10

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.

All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.

OAL.

747 WEST FRONT ST.

Branch office with

G. A. HALLOCK,

109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS

of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.

M. C. DOBBINS, 206 Park Avenue, Plainfield.

8 15 tf

H. Eggerding,

121 Park ave., Manufacturer of the Celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR.

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,

187 North Avenue.

Practical Plumber.

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.

Telephone Call 158a

L. L. Manning & Son,

STEAM GRANITE WORKS,

Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.

STAGES

For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,

Sanitary Plumbing,

Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Contractor for sewer connections.

210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,

EXCAVATORS.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,

RETAIL DEALER IN

Fish, Oysters, and Clams.

Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,

Dealer in

Coal & Wood.

Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.

Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S

Furniture and Freight EXPRESS.

Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract!

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—50 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.8

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue,

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

103 Park avenue. Established 1869

For Thanksgiving

HOME-MADE

Mince and Pumpkin

PIES!

Fancy Cakes and Confections. All Wheat Bread a specialty.

W. W. Warnock,

138 North avenue. 11 19 1w

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES, and

FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranteed.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators.

201 Park avenue and Second street.

☞ Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

Stables attached. T. E. Beerbower, Prop

Dr. J. H. Lawler,

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate of New York College.

Ring bones, spavins, all lameness cured. Internal diseases. Obstetrics. All operations performed. Cattle and Dogs treated. Office 171 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. RHEAUME, and N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe [illegible]

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

In best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—9 Watchung ave

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Is As Clean As Yours

A GOOD HEATER.

JOS. W GAVETT, Madison Ave. and Front St.

STOCKING-FILLERS?

Thoughtful buyers do not wait until Christmas Eve to think about their purchases. In our stock you will surely find something to interest, always at prices a little lower than elsewhere. Go look where you will, you cannot find anything in all Newark to approach our assortment of Jewelry, Silverware, Cutlery, Watches, Cut Glass, Novelties.

RINGS—are always popular for Christmas gifts. 5-stone Diamond Hoop Ring, $3 up. 5-stone Opal and Pearls, $18 up 5-stone Diamond and Opal, $16 up. 5-stone Opals, $6 up. Children's Rings, 60 cents up. Diamond Cluster, $20 up. Opal and Diamond Cluster, $15 up. Gentleman's Solitaire, from $15 to $150.

Brooches, Sleve Links, Chains, Charms, etc.

RICH CUT GLASS—Low enough in price to make many an acceptable Christmas gift.

OPERA GLASSES—Our own importations, plain leather, best quality lenses, $3. Mother of Pearl, gilt trimmings, $6.

MEN'S WATCHES—Not a watch in our store which we do not guarantee. In nickeled cases, at $2.50. In silver cases, Swiss movement, $5. In silver cases, Waltham or Elgin movement, $10.50.

POCKET KNIVES—For Men and Boys—Discounts to Schools. We are sure of meeting every requirement from our immense assortment. You can buy one for 5 cents or you can spend $18. Boys' 2, 3 and 4-bladed knives, 5c. and 50c. Girls' 2-bladed, pearl handle, 25c. From 50c. to $2 we show a large line of our own, Rodgers' and Wostenholm Knives in every variety of handles, with 2, 3 and 4 blades. Razor and Shaving Outfits, Scissors singly and in sets, with plain or silver handles.

WISS'S CUTLERY—Is known for its excellence wherever cutlery is used. Been making them for half a century. Table Knives and Forks, rubber handles, $3.25 set. Table Knives and Forks, celluloid, $4 set. Table Knives, plain handles, 75c half dozen. Carvers, staghorn handles, $1.25 per pair. Carvers, celluloid handles, $2 per pair.

LADIES' WATCHES—We have them in silver, solid gold, gold-filled case and enameled cases. Solid 14 kt. gold American Watch, Roman design, $17. Studded with diamonds, $30. Gold filled cases, warranted 20 years, from $12 up. Ladies' solid silver watches, from $3.50 up.

GOLD SPECTACLES (0 styles), at $5 00 upward, make solid sensible presents. Fitted to the eyes after careful examination. L.B. Hilborn (R. O.), is our optical examiner. The cheaper kind in steel frames $1 00, also those without rims, just lenses and clips—same price—better ones $1.50.

J. WISS & SONS,

755 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.

INAUGURATION PLANS

Mr. Hanna and Henry C. Payne Going to Washington.

WILL CONSULT MAJOR M'KINLEY FIRST

The National Chairman Determined To Make the Inaugural Ceremonies the Grandest Ever Witnessed in This Country.

Cleveland, Dec. 3.—Henry C. Payne and other prominent republican leaders are expected to arrive here this afternoon and evening to confer with Mark Hanna and attend to republican national committee business. It is probable that they will go to Canton to discuss with Major McKinley plans for the latter's inauguration next March, the entire details of which are in the hands of Mr. Hanna. Messrs. Hanna and Payne will go to Washington to-morrow or Saturday to make arrangements for hotel accommodations for the Ohio delegation and attend to matters pertaining to the reception of the president-elect. President Cleveland may also be consulted as to the exact method he intends to pursue in his last official act before his retirement and the details of the inauguration procession will also likely be looked over. Mr. Hanna intends to make the inauguration of President McKinley one of the grandest demonstrations ever witnessed in this city, as regards numbers, decorations and impressiveness of ceremony. Chairman Hanna expects officials from every state to be present, as well as countless thousands of private citizens of every walk in life. While the main points of every presidential inauguration are exactly similar every four years, there are numberless minor details which may be elaborated at will, and the republican national chairman intends to make the most of the opportunities presented to him to cause the event to be written down in history as the greatest one of the kind ever seen in this or any other country.

THE SPANISH CABINET.

Rumor of a Pending Crisis Given No Credence in Washington.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Respecting the rumors of a cabinet crisis at Madrid, it is regarded in official circles here as not unlikely that one or two members of the cabinet might retire, but this act would be in no sense significant. If Senor Canovas, the Spanish premier, or the Duke Tetuan, the minister of war, should resign, that would be regarded as significant, and grave consequences might follow. It is authoritatively stated, however, that each of these gentlemen is not only well satisfied to remain in the cabinet and continue the present vigorous policy of the government, but they are equally acceptable to the Spanish people with whom they are not only popular but highly esteemed as well.

New Jersey Divorce Law Unconstitutional

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 3.—Justice Barkalow has filed an opinion in the court of errors and appeals, declaring the divorce law of 1891 unconstitutional. The opinion states that a law permitting a limited divorce attended by special consequences with regard to property rights, and the application of a person holding scruples against absolute divorce, and not otherwise, is contrary to the spirit of the constitution of the state and the United States.

Italian Government Sustained.

Rome, Dec. 3.—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 124 to 26, adopted the vote of confidence in the government which premier Marquis di Rudini asked for at the close of the debate on the governments colonial policy, the radical-socialist proposal being that Italy should abandon her African possessions.

New York Civil Service Commission.

Albany, Dec. 3.—The state civil service commission has adjourned without taking any action on the proposed reclassification of the positions in the state service. The commission will meet in a couple of weeks again and hold a further conference with Gov. Morton to consider the question.

Hamburg Bosses Reject Arbitration.

Hamburg, Dec. 3.—The proposal to settle the dispute between the striking dock laborers and their employers by arbitration has been again rejected by the latter.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot is weaker; trade dull. Dec., 89¾c.; May, 87⅝c.

Corn—Spot is quiet; prices weaker. Dec., 29c.; May, 32⅛c.

Oats—Trade inactive; prices dull. Dec., 22⅝c.; May, 25⅝c.

Eggs—Market steady; choice firm. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@21c.; western, fresh, 22@24c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 21@23.

Pork—Prices quiet; moderate trade. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.50@9.00; family, $10.00@10.75.

Lard—Market weak and inactive Prime western, $4.20.

Butter—Slow receipts; choice firm. Creamery western extras, 23½c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19½@22c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Slow and barely steady. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

FREE BRIAR PIPE FOR 25 Gail & Ax's NAVY LONG CUT COUPONS OR GUMMED STICKERS

MAY BE SWEPT AWAY

Chippewa Falls, Wis., in Great Danger from Floods.

RESIDENTS ALMOST PANIC-STRICKEN

A Portion of the Town Now Inundated: The Ice Gorge Forty Feet High and the Waters Rising a Foot an Hour.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 3.—The situation grows worse here hourly. It is of record that fifty years ago an ice-george formed near here and that when it went out in the spring it swept the valley clean to the Mississippi. There were no houses then, but great trees were cut off, banks swept and devastation followed. If the weather is not just right from now until spring history may repeat itself—not in the uninhabited, wooded country, but in a valley lined with farming homes and rich, prosperous cities. Eau Claire might be swept out of existence by such a flood and the loss would be incalculable and terrible. All this is a possibility, perhaps probability. If the weather should moderate now, or should the force of the back water become so great as to loosen or break the jam of ice and logs packed almost inextricably between this city and Eau Claire, the calamity would come now. With the mercury at zero the suffering from the flood would be beyond the power of imagination. The people are almost terror-stricken. The river presents a terrible appearance. The ice-gorge is forty feet high and backing the water on the city at the rate of a foot per hour. The destruction of property is reaching enormous proportions. The loss is already nearly a million dollars and the indications are that it will be much greater before the waters subside. Fifty business structures in this city have been abandoned and the thorougly alarmed people are making every effort to leave as little for the incoming flood to destroy as they possibly can. Two hundred teams and drays rushed hither and thither all last night and the streets are littered with various kinds of merchandise which spilled over the sides and ends of the overloaded wagons as they were hurried to places of safety. The Spring street merchants who had stored goods in second floors were compelled to again move, and to-day there is not a dollar's worth of material remaining. Business is abandoned and the city is in a state of tumult. Dynamite is being used to break the jam. The Wisconsin Central railroad depot has been carried away.

GOD AND THE KAISER.

A Surprising Incident in the Reichstag Regarding the Iltis Disaster.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—An incident took place in the reichstag during a debate with reference to a criticism by one of the members to the effect that the sailors of the gunboat Iltis ought to have prayed to God instead of cheering the kaiser as the vessel went down. In reply to this Vice-Admiral Hollman, secretary of the navy, said that when the sailors had the emperor before their eyes they had their God before their eyes, and they thought of the authority which God set over them. These remarks met with cynical cheering from the radicals and socialists.

Gov.-Elect Cook's Staff.

Hartford, Dec. 3.—Gov.-elect Cooke has announced his staff as follows: Adjutant general, Gen. George Haven of New London; quartermaster general, Louis K. Van Keuren of Bridgeport; commissary general, Albert P. Day of Hartford; paymaster general, George E. Keeney of Somers; judge advocate general, John F. Carpenter of Putnam; aides, James B. Houston of Enfield; Clayton H. Case of Hartford; Charles W. Pickett of New Haven, and Charles E. Turner of Waterbury.

Insurance Against Idleness.

Insurance against nonemployment is an accomplished fact in Cologne. Workingmen who have resided two years in that city and are over 18 years of age can join the society. The dues are six cents per week. If no employment can be procured for a member during the dull season, 50 cents per day is paid to him if married, 38 cents if single. The city has started a guaranty fund for the society with $6,000 to which $14,500 has been added by subscriptions aong employers. The society hopes to enroll enough members to meet all liabilities likely to occur.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

108 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 3, 1896

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.

Fair Tonight and Friday; Not So Cold Friday.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 37 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 3.--Supper of King's Daughters in old Postoffice building.
Dec. 3.--"Caste" at the Casino.
Dec. 3.--Sociable at Warren chapel.
Dec. 4.--Sociable at Trinity Reformed church.
Dec. 4.--Operetta at Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 p.m.

After January 1st, Councilman Westphal will be the oldest member in point of service in the Councilmanic body.

The next important event in public life will be the President's annual message to Congress, which will be Mr. Cleveland's last one.

Chicken thieving has received a staggering blow in Camden, where a man has been sentenced to three years in State prison for the act.

Now that it is known that Mr. Fisk is to be Mayor, a good deal of speculation is going on as to what course he will pursue in making appointments.

The question of who will be the next president of the Common Council to succeed Stephen A. Ginna, who will retire to private life after January 1st, is interesting the political wiseacres. Since Councilman Westphal will have been longest in the Council at that time, it has been suggested that he may seek the honor.

The New Jersey Court of Errors has rendered an opinion setting aside as unconstitutional a law forbidding limited divorces to those who have religious scruples against the divorce. The court holds that this is an improper classification upon which to base a law. The law was passed principally for the benefit of Catholics, who are opposed to divorces, but who wanted a statute whereby their property rights might be maintained in case of separation.

Councilman Serrell's Position.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I have just learned that it is currently reported from several sources that in the city election on Tuesday, I cast my vote for James E. Martine for Mayor. This report comes from several quarters and it involves and compromises my father and brothers as well as myself, and in view of my official position it should be publicly denied. I therefore desire most positively to brand any such statement as a falsehood (a lie out of whole cloth), evidently conceived in the brain of some evil minded person with malice aforethought. It affords me gratification to state that our votes were cast for our competent liberal minded and generous citizen, Mr. Chas. J. Fisk.

To have done otherwise would in our estimation have shown a deplorable lack of appreciation of what is for the best good of our beautiful and growing city. Yours truly,

Harold Serrell.

$100- Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

Whist Winners.

The Thursday Night Whist Club was charmingly entertained last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Horsley Barker, at their home on Grove street. The time of meeting was changed so that all the members could be present. The playing was very enthusiastic and the recent resolution passed by the members of the club did not mar the pleasure of the evening in the least. Mr. and Mrs. Barker won the first prizes for the lady and gentlemen, while Mrs. B. R. Western and J. E. McClintock had to be satisfied with the consolation prizes. At the conclusion of play dainty refreshments were served to all present.

Plainfielders to Participate.

The cantata "Queen Esther" will be given in the Congregational church, Westfield, Tuesday evening, December 22d. Miss Mattie MacMurray, sister of City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, will take the part of the Queen, while Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, of this city, will take prominent parts.

COCK-A-DOODLE-DO SHOW

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

orange bow tied around its neck and in a cage all decorated in the same color. The latter belonged to Mrs. Walter Cooper, of Brooklyn. The only cat entered from Plainfield is owned by Mrs. W. R. Ross, and it took a second prize. A cat with six little kittens occupied one of the cages and the mother purred while her youngsters scrapped. They were all colored cats, some of which were playful and others of which were cross and resented all caresses.

Near the entrance is the exhibit of hares, rabbits and Guinea pigs. A. R and C. W. Fisk, of this city, received the first award for the best pair of Belgian hares. Herbert Rockfellow, of Plainfield, has two pairs of common rabbits on exhibition and received one blue ribbon. A. Reinhardt, of Orange, won the other prizes for the best rabbits.

The were nine pairs of guinea pigs exhibited by A. Reinhardt, of Orange, and one pair by W. V. Johnson, of Cranford.

Now something about the birds of the exhibition.

The silver Spangled Hamburg fowls are certainly very handsome and they are particularly well represented by an excellent lot of birds. The Dorkings are not as pretty but they are also good. This collection came from the yards of Henry Hales, of Ridgewood, who is the only exhibitor in this variety. J. B. Thomas, of New York, had it all his own way in the Houdans of which he has four nice specimens. Firman Long, of this city, had three fowls of this kind but they arrived too late to be added to the entry list.

Everybody wanted to take a look at the game cocks and there are quite a number. A red game cockerel, belonging to William Guthrie, of New York, was considerably noticed. The handsome Indian game fowls with their dark glossy plumage look ready for the fray. Among them are three which are the property of F. L. Schoonmaker, of this city, with which he secured a third and a fourth award. The other fancy stock were four Guinea hens exhibited by D. A. Mount, of Jamesburg, and all were given prizes

It would be hard, in fact, almost impossible to give any detailed description of the different exhibits in the poultry classes as the entries are exceedingly numerous. There was 18 exhibits in the Brahma classes in which were a number of fine birds. The display of Cochins of various varieties is a good one and includes quite a number of entries. There were many monster specimens of this variety, one grand old cock standing nearly three feet in height. The buff Cochins are very handsome as are the black ones. But the glossy feathers of the black Langshans seem almost metallic in color and very pretty, indeed. C. F. Gullberg, of Richmond street, is represented in this class and secured a second prize.

The Plymouth Rocks are the best represented of all as far as numbers, and equal to any in quality. There is a number of fine specimens of the familiar barred Plymouth Rock, C. S. Thomas, of Rahway, having a particularly fine lot.

There are few handsomer fowls than the silver and golden Wyandottes, in which class A. F. Randolph, of South Bound Brook, has a large number of entries. The exhibit of Wyandottes is large in the white, buff, and black varieties as well as those already mentioned. The black Java cocks and hens attract much favorable comment as they are very good specimens. The Spanish fowls are noticeable.

The Leghorn exhibit is a good one, the various varieties being all well represented by excellent specimens. Among the best are a number belonging to J. C. Haynes, of Annandale, a son of Station Agent J. A. Haynes, of this city. Carl Heimerle, of this city, is well represented in this class, as is also F. O. Nelson, of New Market. To the ordinary observer there is very little difference between the Leghorn and the Minorca, but the expert finds them vastly different. The latter species has a good representation in the show. Only one of the birds is a local one, however, and that is the property of the Lyndon Poultry Yards. A black Minorca cock, owned by J. M. Wilcox, of Wilkesbarre, is valued at $25.

Of all the fancy poultry, the Polish cocks and hens were probably the most striking in appearance. Their big crests give them an unusual appearance and they make a good show. They are varied in color from black to golden while the crests are also different, some being merely a tuft of feathers and others looking like some mighty chieftain decked out in his gorgeous head dress.

Although the pigeon show is not large, the collection is an excellent one and includes exhibits from many of the leading lofts of the country. There are 117 entries and they include almost every class. A lot of carriers from the loft of the Havemeyer Brothers, at Mahwah, N. J., form an important part of the collection. They are under the charge of John Glascow, who has had much experience in the business. Some of the barbs shown by W. W. White, of Baltimore, include several of the finest birds of that class in the country. There are a few nice tumblers, which include a pair belonging to H. Reeve Stockton, of this city, one of which secured a blue ribbon. Two more tumblers, bald heads, were exhibited by T. Earl Stockton, of Plainfield, one of which took a first award. The Jacobins, with their wonderful developement in hood and manes, are well represented and in varied colors. M. B. Blauch, of Lebanon, Wellington Kennedy, of Red Bank, and A. W. Hall, of Garnerville, N. Y., were among the principal exhibitors.

The owl pigeons, queer little birds, most of them English, make a very good display. George Feather, of Dorchester, Mass., is the owner of most of them. To the uninitiated observer the fantails are the most striking of all the varieties of pigeons exhibited. There strange fan shaped tails and their proud way of puffing themselves up as they strut about, makes them noticeable at once. Some were pure white in color while others were black or blue. The Havemeyer Brathers are largely represented here. Several other varieties were included in the collection.

Among the Plainfielders whose entries won prizes was C. F. Gullberg, who captured three premiums. He took first prize on Langshan cockerils and second prize on Langshan pullets. He also obtained the silver trophy cup offered for the best breeding pen.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. H. F. Bowers, of East Front street, is very ill at her home.

W. W. Pearson, of 610 Liberty street, is detained at home by illness.

J. E. McClintock, of West Front street, was in Philadelphia yesterday on business.

Henry B. Drake, of Duer street, has been spending a few days with relatives in Brooklyn.

Julius Williams, of Elmwood place, will return this week from an extended business trip.

Mrs. Wood, of Crescent avenue, is recovering from a slight illness which has detained her at home.

Miss Jennie VanZandt, of Somerville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Adam Seals, of Watchung avenue.

Miss Anna Hummer, of New York State, is the guest of Miss Minnie Force, of LaGrande avenue.

Mrs. M. J. Cramer, of Lebanon, Hunterdon county, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. F. Bowers, of East Front street.

Mrs. A. B. Brown and children, of Newark, have returned home after a short visit with Mrs. Russ, of East Fourth street.

Miss Mary Buckle, of Westervelt avenue, is able to be out after being confined to the house for a month with a sprained ankle.

George Graves, formerly with Berkaw, the shoe dealer, has secured a position with Hillier & Co., at their branch store in this city.

D. J. Kelley and wife, of New York, have taken up their residence at 334 Franklin place. Mr. Kelley is the manager of the Dry Goods Economist, one of the leading trade journals of New York.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Parse and Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, of this city, attended the Union County W. C. T. U. Executive Committee meeting held in Elizabeth yesterday. Routine business was transacted.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

New Assistant at the Library.

Miss Florena Bowman has been employed as assistant librarian at the Public Library in place of Miss M. G. Morse, resigned.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

Make Two Cakes

One with Cleveland's baking powder, the second with any other.

Note the difference. The Cleveland cake is fine grained, keeps its natural moisture and flavor. "the other" is coarse grained, as if the sugar were too coarse, soon dries out and becomes husky.

Cleveland's leavens best because its strength is produced by cream of tartar and soda only, not by ammonia or alum.

A VERY OLD TUB.

Roman Bucket That Dates Back Sixteen Hundred Years.

My thoughts, when I was at the ruins of Silchester recently, were that hundreds of antiquarians all over the country would have given gold to anyone who should have told them of the great "find" that was there and then to be safely brought to hand, says a letter in London Truth. A friend and myself strolled over from Aldermaston to view the ruins and as many of the "finds" as were still to be seen. Mr. Davis, F. S. A., at present superintending the operations, explained to us how, when digging out an old well, he made the lucky discovery of a tunnel which conducted him to an ancient gate, the existence of which had not been before suspected. A windlass had been fitted up over a well 18 feet deep, and men were digging out pailfuls of earth which were being diligently hauled up. For two weeks the work at this point had been going on, and within the last week it had been discovered that this was an old Roman tub-well. The wood seemed somewhat rotten, as might be expected after 1,600 years, so that the raising of the tub caused the greatest anxiety. The tub had been ingeniously fitted by Mr. Davis with two wooden shelves running all round it—one at the top and the other at the bottom, both of which served to protect it from any strain during the preparation for hoisting it, and also relieved the tub of its own weight during the process of hoisting. After one unsuccessful attempt to bring it up, during which a small portion of it was knocked off, it was triumphantly raised to light in a comparatively perfect state of preservation. We expect that the tub will shortly be on view at the Reading museum, where there is already a beautiful collection of Silchester relics.

RED TURTLES.

They Live and Breed in a Spring Whose Temperature Is 226 Degrees.

That portion of southern or lower California called Hell's Half-Acre appears to be situated directly over a substratum of fire, which causes the mud and water to boil as if in a caldron, says the St. Louis Republic. At one place on the Half-Acre there are over 100 boiling springs and hot mud geysers on a plat of ground that is not of greater extent than a common city square. The chief spring in this queer aggregation of boiling and spouting jets of mud and water is called the fountain of the Boiled Turtles on account of its curious habit of occasionally ejecting numbers of small red turtles. The temperature of this spring is 226 degrees, 14 degrees higher than the temperature required to boil water under ordinary atmospheric pressure. Notwithstanding the fact that the temperature is sufficient to boil meat perfectly within a few minutes, the small red turtles spoken of live and breed there just as the ordinary variety does in waters of common lakes, rivers and other streams. The spring is called the fountain of Boiled Turtles because the queer, hard-shelled creatures of being cooked perfectly done.

SURE CURE FOR SHIPWRECK.

What a Sunday School Pupil Would Do to Calm the Ocean.

A certain young woman on the North side teaches a class in a mission Sunday school. She had a difficult task, says the Chicago Times-Herald, imparting scraps of religious instruction to her young charges, and often amusing answers are unconsciously returned to questions which she asks. On one occasion she asked her pupils:

"What do the high priests do?"

And received the reply:

"They burned insects before the people," by which the youngster, of course, meant incense.

But one of the funniest experiences, which well shows the queer ideas which the children receive in their lessons, was given when, after a discussion of shipwreck which followed a lesson three or four weeks previously on the well-known story of Jonah and the whale, she happened to ask:

"Suppose a big storm arose at sea and it looked as though you were going to be drowned, what would you do?"

"I would throw a man overboard for a whale to swallow," was the reply.

Revolving Sky-Scraper.

Plans for a revolving sky scraper 400 feet high and built of steel have been submitted to the Paris exhibition commission. The 24 stories are to be let for restaurants, concert halls, theaters, and so forth. The building will turn slowly on its axis like a merry-go-round, and enable visitors to survey the whole country around Paris while they eat their dinners.

RIGHT ON TOP!

That is where PECK is.

Do you want any of his good goods?

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders, HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.

HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.

One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of
DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY,
NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR,
CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS,
BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, will be placed on sale

SATURDAY MORNING

AT 8:30 O'CLOCK.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

SOME DOLL FACTS.

This is the best Doll Store in Plainfield. No question about that. The variety is greater and the qualities are finer than you can find anywhere else in this town.

Still more: New York, with all its great stores where Dolls are sold, contains no stock finer than mine.

The Dolls I sell are imported to my order. I buy them at as small prices as I can, and sell them as near to cost as I can afford.

Here are big Dolls and little ones. Some dressed ready for your little girl to take out for an airing. Others undressed, so the child can be a real "play" mother, and make clothes for her "baby."

Some Dolls cry. Some go to sleep. Some even "talk," but Dolls can't be expected to talk very good.

Will you look at these beautiful things? Bring the little ones along with you. Seeing is free.

Toys Are Treacherous

Most toys are made to sell. They look all right, but they don't last. The children are happy with them today, but tomorrow they are unhappy because the toys are broken. Some Toys are pretty strong. For instance, Iron Toys, Wooden Boats, Blocks, Games, Ten Pins, Pocket Knives. Plenty of 'em here. I want to sell 'em to you to gladden some little body's heart at Christmas time.

More Things

Lots of other nice things for gifts here. Prices not high either. Come in and look around. It will keep your eyes busy for a good many minutes to see everything.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front Street.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m. / Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m. / Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2 00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

PARTICULAR MENTION.

DUNELLEN.

Mrs. A. N. Randolph is visiting her sister in Jersey City.

Mrs. Charles Carpenter has been spending a day or two with friends in New York.

Conductor VanArsdale, of Somerville, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Duer Randolph, of Elizabeth, have been visiting relatives in town.

Abert Viall, of this place, is spending a few days with his parents at Providence, R. I.

Peter C. Osborn, received a valuable new horse from New York yesterday. The animal is a trotter.

Mr. Dorsit has returned to his home in Philadelphia after a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Shepherd, of Front street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church are arranging for a dime sociable to be held in the church parlors within a week or so.

The New Market lake is frozen over with ice about two inches thick, and if the present cold snap continues skating will be safe and good by the latter part of the week.

The ice on Angleman's pond is about two inches thick, and yesterday a batch of urchins went there, and finding it unsafe for skating broke up what they could of it with shinny sticks and stones.

W. A. Mulford, of the Jersey Central Railroad, and a representative from the Bridgeton Iron Company, were in town yesterday and made a thorough inspection of the round house, with a view of making some extensive alterations and improvements.

The boys who congregate about the postoffice every afternoon, not only make themselves obnoxious to the lady in charge, but they are pronounced a nuisance. Yesterday afternoon for a time one or two half-grown boys amused themselves by running into the postoffice and pulling down the shades. Their names have been furnished to Chief Warden, and warrants will be issued for their arrest.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

The town thermometer here at six o'clock yesterday morning, registered six degrees above zero, the coldest morning yet this winter.

Since the Press told of the robbery in John R. Marsh's meat market, and called attention to the necessity of having a night watchman on duty, it has stirred some of the people to a sense of understanding. It is understood that at the next regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners a petition signed by most if not all of the business men and property owners, asking that a night watchman be employed. If the prayers of the petitioners are not answered by the Board, then the taxpayers may take the matter in their own hands and employ some competent person to patrol the streets at night.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Important Business for Sportsmen.

President John Goff, of the Plainfield Game and Fish Propagating Association has called a meeting of the members for Tuesday evening next in the old Democratic Association rooms on West Front street. Business of importance is to come up for consideration and reports of the associations labors during the last few weeks will be submitted.

"Caste" Tonight.

A dress rehearsal of 'Caste" took place at the Casino last night before a few invited guests. The doors will be opened at 7:30 tonight. General admission tickets at $1 each will be sold at the door. The curtain will be raised at 8:15.

—Blood is life and upon the purity and vitality of the blood depends the health of the whole system. Experience proves Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier.

Hood's Pills act easily anp promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Sons of Veterans Encampment.

The Sons of Veterans of New Jersey will hold their annual encampment at Trenton next February. There are seven representatives from this city. The Death Benefit Association will hold their annual meeting the same month at Camden.

Highest of all in Leavening Power. — Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—One medical case was admitted to the hospital yesterday for treatment.

—A regular meeting of the borough council will be held tomorrow evening.

—Work has been stopped temporarily on Sycamore avenue, during this cold snap.

—The last regular City Council meeting for this year will be held Monday evening.

—C. M. Wilson, the contractor and builder, is erecting a new dwelling house on Hillside avenue.

—The residents of Codington avenue will be pleased to learn that they will have their electric lights this week.

—The Socialist Labor party will hold an important meeting in Red Men's Hall this evening. Dr. C. L. Furman, of Brooklyn, will be present.

—A meeting of special interest will be held at the East Third Street Mission this evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

—A souvenir, handsome and useful, will be given free to all purchasers at the opening of the Grand Union Tea Company, to-morrow and Saturday. 138 Front street.

—The officers of the North Plainfield High School Cadet Corps met at the home of Captain Edwards on Duer street last evening and were examined in tactics.

—A meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held yesterday afternoon at the close of school. Walter Serrell was elected captain of the hockey team.

—The members of Senate Lodge, Knights of Honor, are arranging for a "blowout" after the meeting in Exempt Firemen's Hall this evening There will be a whist party and the usual refreshments will follow.

—The Skandidavian Society Thule will meet tomorrow evening in Skandia Hall, East Front street. There will be election of officers for the ensuing year and other important business, and all members are requested to attend.

—If you are not just satisfied with your baker and confectioner give Rudolph Kersting, the West Front street baker, a trial. He gives his personal supervision to his business, and his goods are always fresh and second to none in quality.

—The Grand Union Tea Company, 138 West Front street, announce an opening on Friday and Saturday of this week for the display of their holiday goods. This opening will be a practical illustration of the fact that it pays to be a Grand Union customer and to hold their tickets for holiday goods. A souvenir will be given free to all purchasers, both Friday and Saturday.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Nellie Love, of Brooklyn, who has been the guest of friends in this city, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Lewis and daughter, Miss Lewis, of Grove street, are the guests of out of-town friends for a few days.

Miss May Howlett, of Elmwood place, went to Mt. Vernon, N. Y., yesterday to attend the funeral of a relative.

Miss Grace Oakley, of Somerville, has returned after a visit with Miss Mabel Schenck, of East Second street.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

THEATRICAL.

Last night Kittie Rhoades came to the fore in a laughable comedy called "Polly," and revealed an entirely new phase of character compared with those she has previously assumed. She has a beautiful stage presence, a clear sweet voice and a delicate perception of all the subtleness of a quickly-acted comedy, these, allied to her clever acting, made the biggest hit she has yet made. The whole play was uproariously funny and laughable without being vulgar, and the company did excellent supporting work. Orlin Kyle, Pete Raymond, Camille Gordon and Willard Gorton acted very cleverly. The play is the funniest one yet played by this company and should have been done before. However, a new play, which has never been seen in Plainfield, is to be produced Saturday evening, under the title of "The Senator's Daughters." At the matinee performance and tonight, "Hazel Kirke, the play that Effie Ellsler and the veteran Charles W. Couldock have made famous, will be the bill.

It happens all too rarely that the theatre-goer is afforded an opportunity of witnessing so good a play as "Shore Acres." This charming play of New England life is the outcome of years of thought and labor, and not until its author, James A. Herne, had spent nearly a year of his life in daily intercourse with the characters he had drawn, did he think the drama suitable for production. Much that is in the play is founded upon fact and the dramatis personæ have their living prototypes. Mr. Herne has devoted over thirty years of his life to the study of character and his sketches always bear the impress of truth. It is an unusual thing for an actor to write so good a play as "Shore Acres," and Mr. Herne cannot be too warmly commended for giving to the English-speaking stage a work of such intrinsic merit. Arrangements have been made for a fine scenic production of this play at Music Hall, next Monday evening.

HUCKLEBERRY CAKE.

Something That Makes a Good Breakfast Dish.

In reply to several requests for huckleberry cake, which fail to state whether a sweet tea cake or a breakfast cake is desired, we give both.

To make the sweet cake: Cream one scant cup of butter with two cups of granulated suger, add the yolks of five eggs and very gradually stir in a cup of sweet milk, in which a very scant teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Add now three cups of flour, in which two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar have been sifted. Add now the whites of four eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Fold in carefully one quart of ripe, sound huckleberries. If you wish to use spice add a teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon and half a nutmeg. Bake the cake rather slowly for about one hour and a half. Ice it with the white of egg remaining.

An excellent breakfast cake with huckleberries is baked in a spider like an oldtime bannock. To make this cake sift two cups of flour with a quarter of a cup of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and a half teaspoonful of soda. Beat two eggs thoroughly and stir them into a cup of milk. Add this to the sifted flour and other ingredients, and finally add a large cup of rich sour cream. Add a pint of huckleberries. Beat the cake well and pour it into a hot spider, in which a tablespoonful of butter has been dissolved. Put the spider in the oven and let the cake bake for half an hour. Still another breakfast cake is made of a raised biscuit dough. Make a sponge of a quart of flour, half a cup of butter, half a cup of sugar, a pint of scalded milk, cooled, two eggs and half a yeast cake. Beat the batter thoroughly. Let it rise in the morning until it is very light, then stir in carefully a pint of huckleberries. Make the cake in a sheet about two inches thick, laying it in a large buttered dripping pan. Let it rise one hour and bake it in a hot oven for half an hour, covering it, if it browns too fast. Just two or three moments before taking it out of the oven wash it over with milk and dredge it with sugar. Set it back, and when the cake is dried take it out. It is excellent for tea or luncheon.

A pint of huckleberries may be added to any nice whatpan cake batter just before baking them.—N. Y. Ledger.

An Indian's Ticket-of-Leave.

When Young Chief, a prominent member of the Utamatilla tribe, in Oregon, goes away for his annual vacation, he is granted the freedom of the state by the following notice to whom it may concern: "Young Chief has permission to visit Wallows and surrounding country, with various other Indians, to be away 60 days. He is a good, law-abiding man, and very friendly toward whites. If any of his crowd are boisterous or violate any law, if reported to me, I will have the matter rectified. Any favor shown him will be appreciated. He respects the whites and asks that they respect him."

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

—A rehearsal of the play to be given this month by the Town Improvement Association will be held next Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Alexander Gilbert, West Eight street.

CASINO!

Robertson's Celebrated Comedy of

Thursday Evening, Dec. 3d. Caste.

BY PLAINFIELD AMATEURS.

ALL SEATS RESERVED.

Tickets will be on sale at Armstrong's (Reynold's) Drug store. Monday, Nov. 23d, 8 a m

11 19 11 24 6 28—12 1 2 3

Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Etc.

The Second Annual Exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association at CYCLE ACADEMY, on December 2d, 3d, 4th & 5th.

A large display of Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Rabbits, Guinea Pigs, etc. Pigeons that cost $100 each; cats valued at $5,000 each. Incubator hatching chicks daily. Come and bring the children.

Admission, 25c. Children, 15c.

11 30 6

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!

C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor

No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a mall charge. 11 17 1y

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. STICKLE.

11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

DO NOT FAIL to hear

MINNIE MARSHALL SMITH,

Y. M. C. A. HALL,

Friday, December 4th, at 8:15 P. M.

Tickets, 50c. Children, 25c. 12 2 2

H. DeMott,

Undertaker and Embalmer,

59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.

Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

DIED.

WALDRON—In this city, Wednesday, December 2d, 1896, Mary Fisher How, widow of Henry Waldron, in her 81st year. Funeral services at the residence of her son-in-law, W. D W. Miller, 309 La Grande avenue, Friday, December 4, at 11 a. m.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

WANTED—A girl for general housework, 9 Grove street.

WANTED—A good cook. Apply to superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital.

GOOD DRESSMAKER would take more engagements by the day. C., care Press. 12 3 2

YOUNG lady wishes position as lady's maid and seamstress, waitress or chambermaid; references. C., care Press.

DRESSMAKER wants work by the day. Best references, terms $1.50. Address N., care Press.

FOR SALE—A large upright grand new piano, must be sold. Call and make offer for same; cash or time. Best make. Call 218 W. Front street.

WANTED—A thoroughly competems girl for housework, must be good cook; good wages paid. 63 Grove street.

LOST—The gentleman in smoking car of midnight train, Friday, who by mistake took package off seat, will kindly leave same at the Daily Press office and receive reward. 11 28 3

FOR SALE—Stove suitable for office or store. 127 Park avenue.

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.

100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.

39c. each.

The Kosmo,

One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,

Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats

Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers

We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS

That are well worth your time to see:

Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear

An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

Men's	Value.	Our price.
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c. To $2

SAMPLES FREE.

Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per oil.

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

DO YOU KNOW

that Christmas will soon be here?

PUTNAM & DEGRAW

have an elegant line of

HOLIDAY GOODS.

COME AND SEE!

RIGHT IN IT

Every one that's wearing our $3.00 Bull Dog Shoes.

DON'T FORGET

We are the only ones in town that sells the FAMOU HANAN SHOE.

A. WILLETT AND SON,
NO. 107 PARK AVE.

THE MISTRESS of the Mine.

or A Woman Intervenes.

By Robert Barr

Pictures by F.H.King.

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr.

me on the deck. Dear me, how thoughtless of me, I had forgotten you were standing. Won't you sit down?"

"No, no, I have been in my room so long that I am glad to stand anywhere."

"Then won't you come on deck with me?"

"Oh, I'm afraid," she said. "I am afraid of a public scene, and I am sure, by the last look I caught of that girl's eyes, she will stop at no scandal to have her revenge. I am sorry to say that I am too much of a coward to meet her. Of course, from her point of view, I have done her eternal wrong. Perhaps it was wrong from anybody's point of view."

"Miss Longworth," said John Kenyon, cordially, "you need have no fear whatever of meeting her. She will say nothing."

"How do you know that?"

"Oh, it is a long story. She went to the captain with her complaint, and received very little comfort there. I will tell you all about it on deck. Get a wrap and come with me."

As Kenyon gave this peremptory order he realized that he was taking a liberty he had no right to take, and his face flushed as he wondered if Edith would resent the familiarity of his tones: but she merely looked up at him with a bright smile and said:

"I shall do, sir, as you command."

"No, no," said Kenyon, "it was not a command, although it sounded like one. It was a very humble request; at least, I intended it to be such."

"Well, I will get my wrap."

As she left for her stateroom a rousing cheer was heard from up on deck. She stopped and looked at Kenyon.

"What does that mean?" she said.

"I don't know," was the answer. "Please get your things on and we will go up and see."

When they reached the deck they saw everybody at the forward part of the ship. Just becoming visible in the eastern horizon were three trails of black smoke, apparently coming toward them.

The word was whispered from one to the other: "It is the tugboat. It is relief."

Few people on board the steamer knew that their very existence depended entirely on the good weather. The incessant pumping showed everybody who gave a thought to the matter that the leak had been serious, but as the subsidence of the vessel was imperceptible to all save experts, no one but the officers really knew the danger they were in. Glad as the passengers were to see these three boats approach, the one who most rejoiced was the one who knew most about the disaster and its effects—the captain.

Edith Longworth and John Kenyon paced the deck together, and did not form two of the crowd who could not tear themselves away from the front of the ship watching the gradually approaching tugboats. Purposely John Kenyon brought the girl who was with him past Miss Jennie Brewster, and although that person glared with a good deal of anger at Edith, who blushed to her temples with fear and confusion, yet nothing was said; and Kenyon knew that afterward his companion would feel easier in her mind about meeting the woman with whom she had had such a stormy five minutes. The tugboats speedily took the big steamer in tow, and slowly the four of them made progress toward Queenstown, it having been resolved to land all the passengers there and to allow the disabled vessel to be towed to Liverpool, if an examination of the hull showed such a course to be a safe one. The passengers bade each other good-by after they left the tender, and many that were on board that ship never saw each other again. One, at least, had few regrets and no good-bys to make.

CHAPTER XII.

Although Miss Jennie Brewster arrived in London angry with the world in general, and with several of its inhabitants in particular, she soon began to revel in the delights of the great city. It was so old that it was new to her, and she visited Westminster Abbey and other of its ancient landmarks in rapid succession. The cheapness of the hansoms delighted her, and she spent most of her time dashing around in a cab. She put up at one of the big hotels, and ordered many new dresses at a place in Regent street. She bought most of the newspapers morning and evening, and declared she could not find an interesting article in the whole assortment. From her point of view they were stupid and unenterprising, and she resolved to run down the editor of one of the big dailies when she got time, interview him, and discover how he reconciled it with his conscience to get out so dull a sheet every day.

She wrote to her editor in New York that London, though a slow town, was full of good material, and that nobody had touched it in the writing line since Dickens' time; therefore she proposed to write a series of articles on the metropolis that would wake them up a bit. The editor cabled her to go ahead, and she went. Her adventures will form the subject of some future chapters.

Kenyon and Wentworth, having settled to the satisfaction of all concerned the business that had taken them to Canada, now turned their attention to the mine on which they had a three months' option of purchase. Kenyon estimated that the property worked as a mica mine alone would pay a handsome dividend on £50,000, while if a good market was to be had for the spar in which the mica was found, the mine would be cheap at £200,000. He said to Wentworth, however, that as they were to pay only £20,000 for the property, it seemed hardly fair to inflate the price to ten times that amount.

"Not a bit of it, John," said Wentworth, who was a practical man. "If the mine will pay a good dividend on that amount, then that is the right price for it. Now, we haven't any time to lose, so we must get to work. The first thing to do is to take these specimens of spar to some man who knows all about china manufacture, and find what demand there is for it in this country, and at what price. That I will attend to. The next thing is to get some good man who understands all about the formation of companies to join us. You spoke about the mine to young Longworth on board ship, and his name would be a great help to us in the city. You go and see him, and interest him in the project if you can. When these two tasks are accomplished, we shall have made an excellent beginning."

Wentworth was an energetic man, who did not allow the grass to grow under his feet. He speedily discovered that a Mr. Melville was manager and part owner of one of the largest china establishments in the country, with offices in London, and this man he sought an interview with, taking with him some of the specimens of spar.

"I want to know," he said to Melville, "if you use this material in the making of china. Is there much of a market for it, and at what price?"

Melville turned the specimen over and over in his hand, examining it critically. His great knowledge of his own business enabled him to instantly recognize the value of the material, but his face showed no eagerness or enthusiasm. When he spoke it was not to answer the questions, but to ask some on his own account.

"Where does this come from?"

"From a mine in America."

"Is there much of it there?"

"I control a mountain of it."

"Really. You are canvassing for orders, perhaps."

"No. I intend to form a company for the working of that mine."

"What price are you asking for the property? Is the mine in operation, or is it merely projected?"

"It is in operation; that is, it is being operated as a mica mine, but my partner, Kenyon, who is a mining engineer, says this is more valuable than the mica. We are asking £200,000 for the mine."

"That is a very large sum," said Melville, placing the specimen on the desk before him. "I doubt if you will get it."

"Well, we expect to get it. Kenyon is at this moment with Mr. Longworth, who spoke of joining us. Longworth's objection was that the sum asked was too small."

"Old John Longworth is a good man to be associated with in a scheme of this kind."

"I am speaking of his nephew, William Longworth."

"Ah! that is not quite the same thing. I know both uncle and nephew. Did you wish me to take stock in the company?"

"I should be delighted to have you do so, but what I called for was to find out what you thought of this specimen, and to get an idea of the demand there was for it."

"Well, candidly, I don't think much of it. You see this kind of spar is one of the most common things in nature."

"But not in that state of purity, surely?"

"Perhaps not, but still pure enough for our purposes. If you will leave this specimen with me I will consult the manager of our works. I am merely giving you my own impression; he will be able to offer you a more definite opinion. If you will leave your address with me I will ask him to write to you. That will be more satisfactory."

This was somewhat disappointing, but Wentworth had to make the best of it, and the letter from the manager, when it ultimately came, was even more discomforting. The manager of the works asserted that the specimen submitted to him was of no commercial value, so far as he was able to judge.

Meanwhile Kenyon had fared no better with young Longworth. Longworth had some difficulty in recollecting that he had ever met Kenyon on shipboard or anywhere else, and he had no remembrance of the mine at all. He questioned John until he learned all the engineer knew about the matter, and then told his visitor abruptly that the scheme did not commend itself to him.

John Kenyon walked along Cheapside feeling very much downhearted over his rebuff with Longworth. The pretended forgetfulness of the young man, of course, he took at its proper value. He, nevertheless, felt very sorry the interview had been so futile, and instead of going back to Wentworth and telling him his experience he thought it best to walk off a little of his disappointment first. He was somewhat startled when a man accosted him and, glancing up, he saw standing there a tall footman, arrayed in a gray coat that came down to his heels.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said the footman, "but Miss Longworth would like to speak to you."

"Miss Longworth!" said Kenyon, in surprise. "Where is she?"

"She is here in her carriage, sir."

The carriage had drawn up beside the pavement, and John Kenyon looked round in confusion to see that Miss Longworth was regarding him and the footman with an amused air. An elderly woman sat in the carriage opposite her, while a grave and dignified coachman, attired somewhat similarly to the footman, kept his place like a seated statue in front. John Kenyon took off his hat as he approached the young woman, whom he had not seen since the last day on the steamer.

"How are you, Mr. Kenyon?" said Edith Longworth, brightly, holding out her hand to the young man by her carriage. "Will you not step in? I want to talk to you, and I am afraid the police will not allow us to block such a crowded thoroughfare as Cheapside."

As she said this the nimble footman threw open the door of the carriage, while John, not knowing what to say, stepped inside and took his seat.

"Hilborn," said the young woman to the coachman; then, turning to Kenyon, she continued: "Will you not tell me where you are going, so that I may know where to set you down?"

"To tell you the truth," said John, "I do not think I was going anywhere. I am afraid I have not yet got over the delight of being back in London again, so I sometimes walk along the streets in rather a purposeless manner."

"Well, you did not look very delighted when I first caught sight of you. I though you were most dejected, and that gave me courage enough to ask you to come and talk to me. I said to myself there is something wrong with the mica mine, and, with a woman's curiosity, I wanted to know all about it. Now tell me."

"There is really very little to tell. We have hardly begun yet. Wentworth is to-day looking over the figures I gave him, and I have been making a beginning by seeing some people who, I thought, might be interested in the mine."

"And were they?"

"No; they were not."

"Then that was the reason you were looking so distressed."

"I suppose it was."

"Well, now, Mr Kenyon, if you get discouraged after an interview with the

"How are you, Mr. Kenyon?" said Edith Longworth.

first person you think will be interested in the mine, what will you do when a dozen or more people refuse to have anything to do with it?"

"I'm sure I don't know. I am afraid I am not the right person to float a mine on the London market. I am really a student, you see, and flatter myself I am a man of science. I know what I am about when I am in a mine, miles away from civilization; but when I get among men I feel somehow at a loss. I do not understand them. When a man tells me one thing to-day, and to-morrow calmly forgets all about it, I confess it—well—confuses me."

"Then the man you have seen to-day has forgotten what he told you yesterday. Is that the case?"

"Yes; that is partly the case."

"But, Mr. Kenyon, the success of your project is not going to depend upon what one man says, or two, or three, is it?"

"No; I don't suppose it is."

"Then, if I were you, I would not feel discouraged because one man has forgotten. I wish I were acquainted with our one man, and I would make him ashamed of himself, I think."

Kenyon flushed as she said this, but made no reply.

The coachman looked round as he came to Holborn, and Miss Longworth nodded to him, so he went on, without stopping, up into Oxford street.

"Now, I take a great interest in your mine, Mr. Kenyon, and hope to see you succeed with it. I wish I could help you, or, rather, I wish you would be frank with me, and let me know how I can help you. I know a good deal about city men and their ways, and I think I may be able to give you some good advice, at least, if you will have the condescension to consult me."

Again Kenyon flushed. "You are making game of me now, Miss Longworth. Of course, as you said on shipboard, it is but a very small matter."

"I never said any such thing. When did I say that?"

"You said that £50,000 was a small matter."

"Did I? Well, I am like your man who has forgotten; I have forgotten that. I remember saying something about it's being too small an amount for my father to deal with. Was not that what I said?"

"Yes, I think that was it. It conveyed the idea to my mind that you thought £50,000 a very trifling sum indeed."

Edith Longworth laughed. "What

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, administratrix of Charles E. Catlin, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the thirtieth day of December next. GERTRUDE W. CATLIN
Dated October 28th, 1896. 10 29 10w

NOTICE.
Estate of Joseph Tucker Dunham deceased.
Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, made on the application of the undersigned executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from the seventh day of October 1896, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.
MARY THANKFUL DUNHAM,
MAXSON MARVIN DUNHAM,
Executors.
10 15 10-oaw

P. H. ZIMMER,
Practical Machinist and Engineer,
Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.
12 1 1y

Potter & Kellogg,
DEALERS IN
Lehigh Valley Coal.
Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Fine Chrysanthemums, Trees and Shrubs. Also, Palms, Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns and Cane Clematis, Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.
DENTON'S.
131 Hillside avenue.

Safe Deposit Vaults.
THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Of Plainfield, New Jersey
Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.
J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier.
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "
DIRECTORS:
Charles Potter. Wm McD Corlell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M Stillman. Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.
Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.
VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

MRS. L. ADAMS,
MILLINERY.
Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.
114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield November 30th, 1896.

Adams Miss Minnie E	Lanoton Mrs Edw E
Brown Miss Fannie E	McNeill, Miss B N
Case Miss H Caroline	Pond Mrs Silas D
Christensen C	Phalen Miss Winnie E
Cox Mrs	Quinn Miss Rosse
Cornelin Patrick	Sherman Miss Albertine
Davisson C S	Smalley Mrs Geo
Floyce & Newins	Smith Wm
Jones Kate	Wakeman Miss Frances
Kane Thos	Walls Saran

Delicate Dress Goods.

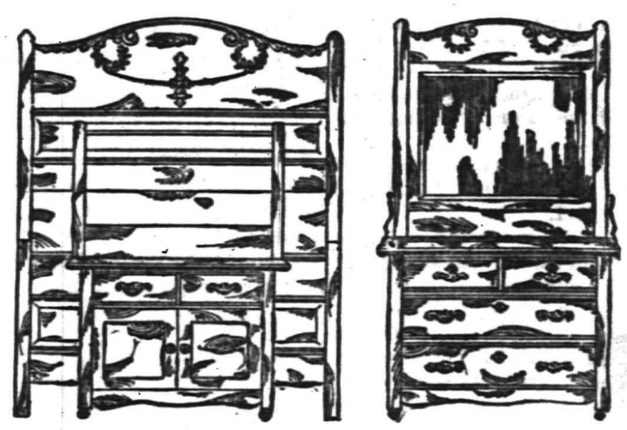
Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry free. will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,
North ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 30M

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Ltd.
The Portland Range has ventilated oven door, duplex grate; it eats less coal than any other make.

Clearing Space for Holiday Goods

that are fast arriving. To do it quick, we've put diminutive prices on more bulky stocks—bedroom and parlor suits. In bedroom suits we've some 50 of same liberal, elegant style as cut herewith—NOT a cheap makeshift, but lasting. Extra large dresser and mirror, large washstand and heavy carving. Prices 50 to 75 per cent. lower than formerly. Begin at $24.75 Still another line as low as $11.75 the suit.



50 Suits on style of above cut—suit here shown is $24.75—large dresser fine plate mirror, etc. etc.

PARLOR SUITS same liberality in making, reductions is apparent in this line. All suits (in a score of patterns) put way below old prices. We've pretty designs as low as $17.50—You'll get splendid worth in every single style we're carrying.

CARPETS This Carpet Dept. is filled with bright new goods at what might be dubbed "dull season prices." Won't list 'em for lack of space—best call and judge for yourself. Will match—yes, go lower than any other price you've seen or know about.

Amos H. Van Horn, Ltd. 73 MARKET ST. W. of Broad St. Newark, N. J.
Smallest Prices, Easiest of Terms. Telephone 580
Note name "Amos" before entering store
Goods delivered Free to any part of State.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,
EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.
PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.
-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE
AT REDUCED PRICES.
We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.
POWLISON & JONES.
149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59 7 29, 7 59, 7 56, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04 10 29, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 03, 4 25, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10 11 38 a m; 12 33, 1 40, 3 17, 3 30 5 38, 7 01, 8 12 8 33, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 20, 6 00, 7 15, 8 05, 9 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 00, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 31, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 00, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30 4 00, 5 00, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8 00, 8 08, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15 2 00, 2 30, 3 45, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 15 a m 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 38, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 25, 9 03, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 33, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30 10 35 a m; 1 10, 1 35, 3 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2 Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 09, 2 11, 3 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 26, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 28, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 22, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43 5 14, 6 35, 10 13, 11 40 m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35 7 45, 8 19, 9 08, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05 2 15, 4 25, 5 23, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 00, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 51, 8 00, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 55, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 22, 9 55 a m; 3 05, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04 7 05, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 53 a m; 6 30 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 03, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

9 15 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D., L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Flemington, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 03 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

5 15 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

8 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

8 28 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg.

9 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

9 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

10 30 a m. Sundays—For Easton.

4 05 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 34 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 28 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 12, 10 27 a. m, 1 15, 3 51, 6 42, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 12, 9 22, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 08, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 12, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 2 32* 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 56, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2 32*, 5 34*, 6 28*, 8 21, 9 37* p. m. 1 17 night, Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 56, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 28 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 8:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 50 and 7:00 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m: closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !
AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office 763 South ave Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station

Finest Assortment

OF

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

IN THE CITY.

Agency for

Lincoln Fountain Pens $1 and $1.50.

FULLY WARRANTED.

HARPER'S,

411 PARK AVENUE.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey 6 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

Vocal Sight Reading Classes.

MISS ANNA O. MARSH,

915 MADISON AVE.—$3 FOR 10 LESSONS.

Holt-Damrosch system. 9 26 2m

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THANSGIVING.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Oni, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for Thanksgiving at

W. L. & J. M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 43b.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

IF YOU EXAMINE

our hats, you'll see that they lead.

They are the correct shapes and nothing but the correct shapes. Can be found at

J. R. BLAIR'S,
126 Park avenue.

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C Adams, Regent.
Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclairs, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

Special--

We place on sale today a

Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

Bargains in Real Estate
For sale or to let.
MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue
Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.
BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

-BOEHM'S !-

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..... $18 00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

CUT THIS OUT.

Save this and wait until to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock a. m. Bring this with you to 214 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Received the entire remaining fall and winter stock of a leading New York wholesale clothing house consigned to us to be sold at once without regard to cost which means an opportunity of buying Suits, Trousers, boys suits and men's suits and men's overcoats and ulsters at about one-third of the actual value in order to prove what tremendous sacrifices will be made. We mention a few of the extraordinary bargains, and we advise you to cut this out and bring it with you, so that there will be no mistake that you get exactly the goods mentioned here: 100 fine men's overcoats that sold for $11.00, now $3.78; 100 extra fine men's overcoats in latest style silk or satin lined at $5 95; men's fine all wool cassmere suits, $10.00, at $4 0; men's fancy worsted suits, worth $ 5. 0, at $6.90; men's all wool English clay diagonial frock suits, worth $18, at $7 50; men's fine ulsters, worth $10.00, at $4.50; 450 men's pants, worth $3 00, at $1.25; 225 pair striped cassmere pants, worth $4 00, at $1.50. Hundred of other styles of goods, space will not allow to mention. All we say is come and judge for yourself. Boys suits, $1.85, worth $4.50; boy's winter overcoats at $1.65, worth $4.50. Now don't delay, for these bargains are not like the sun to last for evermore, but come at once to the

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET,

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N.

BEQUESTS TO CHARITY.

Provisions Made for the Poor in the Will of Elizabeth R. Swift.

Dedham, Mass., Dec. 3.—The will of Elizabeth R. Swift, late of Milton, has been filed for probate. The testatrix leaves to the American Unitarian association $8,000; $15,000 on the death of certain legatees for the benefit of the Swift home in Milton for the needy and deserving women and children in that town of American parentage; $8,000 as a trust fund, the income to be used for the aid and support of needy and deserving women and children of American parentage in Milton, either as inmates of the Swift home or in their own homes; $8,000 as a trust fund, the income to be paid semi-annually to the Milton convalescent home; $3.000 on death of certain legatees to Harvard college, to establish the Swift scholarship and to be used for the support and education of pupils from Milton. In the event of any residuary sum being left of the estate it is to be divided in equal parts between the Sailors' Sung harbor in Quincy and the Swift home in Milton.

DEFRAUDED MANY MERCHANTS.

An Important Arrest Made at Pottsville by a United States Marshal.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 3.—Charles Rubinsky of the firm of Rubinsky & Freedman of Shenandoah, Pa., was arrested last evening by Deputy United States Marshal Meyers, attached to the Philadelphia division, charged with making illegal use of the mails. He, with Harry, Charles and Abe Yarrowsky, have, it is said, for five or six years defrauded merchants in Philadelphia, Chicago, New York and Boston out of many thousands of dollars worth of goods. Their method, it is alleged, was to order goods through the mails which upon arrival were stored in some out of the way place and were disposed of at leisure, the shipper never being able to discover its whereabouts. They operated under various names. The first charge against the firm was made in May last and ever since the postoffice officials have been working on the case.

OFF FOR WASHINGTON.

Senator Voorhees in Better Health Than at Any Time in a Year Past.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 3.—Senator Voorhees left for Washington last night. He was in better health and spirits than at any time in a year past and expects to be present at the opening session of congress next Monday. The senator has received an offer from the Southern Lyceum bureau for a series of lectures and he probably will accept it.

Warden Stout's Successor.

Albany, Dec. 3.—A successor to Warden Stout of Auburn prison, whose resignation is now in the hands of Gen. Lathrop, prison superintendent, will be appointed to take office Feb. 1. He will be ex-Sheriff Mead of Cayuga, if the present plans are carried out. Warden Stout is a democrat and Mr. Mead is a republican. The warden of Auburn prison receives a salary of $3,500.

Grosvenor Not To Oppose Reed.

Canton, O., Dec. 3.—The rumors from Washington and elsewhere that Gen. C. H. Grosvenor of Ohio has been asked by Major McKinley's friends in congress to become a candidate for the speakership against Mr. Reed are unfounded. Gen. Grosvenor will not be a candidate for speaker, and the friends of Major McKinley do not want him or anyone else to oppose Mr. Reed.

Italian Naval Officers Murdered by Somalis.

Zanzibar, Dec. 3.—Signor Cecchi, the Italian consul, and the captains of the warships Volturno and Staffetta, with about six other officers from those vessels, have been murdered by the Somalis at Magadoxo. A hundred other Italians were wounded. No details of the killing and wounding of the Italians have been received here.

Connecticut Silver Mine.

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 3.—The old silver mine near the town almshouse may be reopened soon. A shaft was sunk 300 feet and then it was abandoned. Parties from New York have this week examined the veins and they think it can be profitably worked. They are negotiating for the purchase.

Ayres Freshman Prize.

Middleton, Conn., Dec. 3.—The Ayres prize, awarded to that member of the freshman class at Wesleyan who passes the best entrance examination, was awarded to B. R. Buckingham, class of 1900. Buckingham prepared himself and did not attend any preparatory school.

Monetary Convention January 12.

Indianapolis, Dec. 3.—The local executive committee in charge of arrangements for the monetary reform convention has fixed Tuesday, January 12, as the date for the convention. Subcommittees upon finance, transportation and hall will be appointed.

To Repair Railroad Bridges.

Winsted, Conn., Dec. 3.—The Philadelphia, Reading & New England Railroad company will increase its force of bridge builders Monday to repair and otherwise strengthen the bridges and trestles before winter sets in.

Work for State Prisoners.

Albany, Dec. 3.—The authority to designate the industries to be carried on in the state prisons after January 1 next has been given to Gen. Austin Lathrop, the state superintendent of prisons, by the state prison commission.

Crusade Against Profanity.

Lambertville, N. J., Dec. 3.—The police are conducting a wholesale campaign against swearing on the streets. Ten young men were arrested and fined, and warrants are out against as many more.

TURMOIL IN HAVANA

Situation in the Cuban Capital the Day Weyler Departed.

BUSINESS PRACTICALLY SUSPENDED

Desperate Efforts of the Officials To Prevent Information Reaching the Rebels---Numerous Spies of the Latter at Every Turn.

New York, Dec. 3.—The Ward line steamship Yumuri, from Havana, brought news of the revolution which has greatly encouraged the Cubans in this city. The Yumuri was in the harbor of Havana on the day of the second departure of Capt.-Gen. Weyler in quest of Maceo. Among her first cabin passengers was a Cuban who had escaped to Mexico, and who had come on a secret mission to the junta. He said that when the Yumuri left Havana everything was in confusion in the city. Soldiers were tramping through the streets and officers were dashing about with orders. The most rigid watch was kept on persons leaving the city for fear that news of the movements of the Spanish army would reach the insurgents. All the effort of the Spaniards to prevent this information from reaching the Cubans, however, were futile, he said. The Cubans knew Weyler's every move. They had spies distributed all through the city and the Spaniards had no means of detecting them. These spies were in constant communication with the armies of Gomez and Maceo. Business in Havana was at a standstill when the Yumuri sailed. Half the stores were shut up and scarcely anybody except Spanish soldiers were to be seen in the streets. Persons suspected of insurrectionary leanings were watched by spies and were in constant danger of being thrown into prison. Several weeks before the Cuban mentioned above left Havana several young men were arrested and locked up. The government affected to search for them when appealed to by friends of the prisoners, and finally made public the news that they had escaped past the sentinels and had gone to join the insurgents.

Aid from Havana Bankers.

In a letter to a Cuban in New York which escaped the Spanish censors, is the statement that a number of Havana bankers, who have hitherto held aloof from the revolution, have sent word to Gomez and Maceo that they would let them have money to buy arms with, if they would hurry the war to a conclusion. These bankers, it is said, are very much annoyed at Weyler's mismanagement of affairs and in consequence their business has been very much impaired. The letter goes on to say that it is believed in Havana that certain Spanish bankers have been secretly aiding the revolutionists for some time. It is said that from this source Maceo and Gomez got the money with which they have been buying arms and ammunition.

Electrician Linn's Good Work.

Austin Aguero, who left this city on one of the recent expeditions, has written an account of Weyler's recent defeat near Pinar del Rio to friends here. Aguero is in Maceo's cavalry and took part in the battle in the Rubi hills. He pays a high tribute to the skill of the young American electrician, Linn. The dynamite scheme which proved so destructive to the Spanish soldiery was his idea. He manipulated it in the battle. Aguero says that there are a number of Texas cowboys, who have seen service in the Rio Grande, with Maceo's cavalry. They proved themselves to be daring soldiers. The Cubans are always on the alert, and when they catch detached bodies they invariably destroy them. A great many of the Spaniards captured have joined the revolution. They say that Spain's commissariat has been so frightfully mismanaged that half the time they did not get enough to eat. This was due to the peculations of the Spanish officers. The Cubans, on the other hand, are living well. The people of Pinar del Rio are thoroughly patriotic and contribute to the support of the Cuban soldiers. A Cuban patriot who was captured in the hills of Matanzas by the Spaniards and taken to Havana escaped from prison and made his way to Gen. Maceo's forces. He said that it was a favorite amusement of his Spanish guards to come into the prison and spit in the faces of the Cuban prisoners.

Again Watching the Dauntless.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The treasury department has the steam tug Dauntless at Jacksonville, Fla., again under surveillance. It is alleged she has been engaged in several filibustering expeditions to Cuba, and Minister de Lome fears she is again preparing to lend aid to the Cuban insurgents. The revenue cutters Morrill, Winona and Poutwell, which are in Florida waters, have been ordered to keep a lookout for the Dauntless and watch her movements.

Heavy Snow Storm in Virginia.

Suffolk, Va., Dec. 3.—The heaviest snow storm for years raged here all last night. The snow is ten inches deep on an average and drifts are several feet high. Trains on all roads are delayed.

Dr. Jameson Improving.

London, Dec. 3.—The condition of Dr. Jameson, the Transvaal raider, whose release from Holloway jail has been decided upon by the authorities on account of the state of his health, is improving.

Blizzard in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 3.—A snowstorm, which began here yesterday afternoon, became a blizzard during the night. Street cars are unable to run. The storm is the worst in several years.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Reform Club will hold a meeting tonight in their hall for the election of officers.

—If you want to help a good cause attend the turkey supper at the old postoffice building this evening to be given under the auspices of the Advance Circle, King's Daughters, of the First Presbyterian church.

—The cold snap makes people think of gloves and underwear. Crane & Clark, hatters & furnishers, 120 West Front street, say that their adv. in the Press yesterday brought them the largest business they ever did on Wednesday; the reason is because the people find the goods as advertised.

—Souvenir day, to-morrow and Saturday, at the Grand Union Tea Company, 138 West Front street. Our holiday goods are in stock and will be ready for inspection at our opening tomorrow and Saturday. Come and see what we give with tickets. Come to-morrow or Saturday. A handsome and useful souvenir will be given free to customers.

—The business that White of Plainfield is doing these cold days is something phenominal. All day yesterday, and in fact every day since the cold snap the store has been thronged with customers taking advantage of the great values that they are offering. In winter goods of all kinds the stocks are as complete as can be and you are always sure of finding just what you ask for. In the coat and underwear department they are offering special inducements.

TROLLEY TO GO UP THE MOUNTAIN.

The Stockholders, it is Said, Are Willing to Build the Road.

At a recent meeting of the Mountain Park Land Improvement Company, the members of the company discussed the plan of extending the street railway tracks to Mounntain Park Inn.

Chandler W. Riker, for the Street Railway Company, was present and agreed to have the road extended and in operation by spring. Several routes have been proposed and discussed, but as yet one has not been selected.

The residents of Washingtonville have agreed to contribute a certain amount of money if the road passes through their place, but as it would require an additional ten minutes to reach the Inn, it is not likely that that route will be selected.

Books Added to Public Library.

The following books were added to the Public Library during November:

Ayrton, Child Life in Japan.
Barkley, Ride Through Asia Minor and Armenia.
Barnard, Papers on Froebel's Kindergarten
Barr, Knight of the Nets.
Bolton, Famous Leaders Among Women.
Bunner, Poems.
Chautauquan, 7 vols.
Crawford, Taquisara—2 vols.
Crockett, Gray Man.
Earle, Colonial Days in Old New York.
Gras, Reds of the Midi.
Hall, Contents of Children's Minds.
Harper's Magazine, v. 92
Hirsch, Genius and Degeneration.
Howson, Patents.
Hubbard, Little Journeys to the Homes of Good Men and Great.
Jewett, Country of the Pointed Firs.
Laughlin, History of Bimetallism.
Lazarus, Spirit of Judaism.
Literary News, 2 vols.
McCarthy, Pope Leo XIII.
Maurice, Story of Bohemia.
Munsey's Magazine, 2 vols.
Pater, Miscellaneous Studies.
Platt, Ballads of New Jersey in the Revolution.
Publications of the Army Economic Association.
Saint Nicholas, 20 vols.
Sargent, Supplement to Reading for the Young.
Scully, Kaffir Stories.
Streatfield, The Opera.
Strong, New Era.
Symonds, Walt Whitman.
U. S. Dept. of Labor, Housing of the Working People.
U. S. Geological Survey, 15th and 16th Annual Reports.
Vedder, American Writers of Today.
Viaud, Child's Romance.
Waliszewski, Story of a Throne, 2 vols.
Ward, Chapters From a Life.
White, Little Girl of Long Ago.

Granted Their Pastor a Vacation.

The consistory of Trinity Reformed church met last evening and were unanimous in the opinion that the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., should be granted the month of December to recuperate and get the strength necessary for him to resume his labors. The supply committee reported that Rev. A. I. Martine, of Dunellen, would occupy the pulpit next Sunday, and that correspondence was being had with Dr. James F. Riggs, with a view of securing him to preach the three remaining Sundays in December, or until such time as Dr. Schenck may be able to resume his pastoral dudies.

Hurt Getting Off the Cars.

John Downey, a stranger, while riding through Dunellen this morning on a coal train fell off the car on which he was riding and sustained an injury to his arm. He was taken to the hospital where he will be confined for a few days.

George W. McCowan, president of the New Jersey Editorial Association and editor of Bridgeton Daily Pioneer, made the Press a pleasant call yesterday.

'Miller' Lamps are
Beautiful, Delightful to use, Safe.
The best lamp made. See them. Buy them for house, store, club, church, &c., and for GIFTS—WEDDING AND HOLIDAY.
If not for sale by dealers, but at our store or by mail. Miller Bicycle Lanterns are the Best. Our fine Brass and Onyx Tables are beautiful.
Edward Miller & Co., Manufacturers. Established 1844.
28 and 30 W. Broadway, N. Y.
For cool weather buy a Miller Oil Heater.
10 15-Mon-Thur

Sponagle Gets Off.

In the Union County Court of Special Sessions yesterday, C. S Sponagle, a Plainfield book agent, who was committed to the county jail a week ago for forging the name of a resident of this city to an order for books, was arraigned and pleaded guilty. As the prisoner's friends had made good the amount of the forgery, Judge McCormick was lenient and suspended sentence. Sponagle previously bore a good reputation.

Died at an Old Age.

The death of Mrs. Mary Fisher How Waldron, widow of Henry Waldron, occurred yesterday in her 81st year at the home of her son-in-law, W. D W. Miller, 309 LaGrande avenue. Mrs. Waldron had not been well for sometime and her death was not entirely unexpected. The funeral services will be held from the house tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

WIVES SWAP EXPERIENCES.

How One Always Gets Money and Another Mended Trousers.

"Oh, I've found out the cleverest thing you ever heard of," said the wife in the pink frock. "I shall never dread to do Henry's mending any more!"

"You might let me into the secret," said the young wife in the blue suit. "I've just made a valuable discovery myself, and I'm perfectly willing to trade even."

"Well, you see it was this way: Henry had a fall from his bicycle yesterday—I don't know how it happened, either, unless I ran into him, just the least bit, you know. Well, he fell and tore a great jagged rent in his nice new knickerbockers; it was awfully careless of him, but I never said a reproachful word. Well, he said how lucky it was that he had a dear little wife to mend them, instead of being obliged to take them to the tailor, as he'd always done hitherto."

"My gracious, had you ever done such a thing before?"

"Of course not, but you know I was always a person of resources. Well, I hurried downtown early this morning and got a yard of material like the trousers; then I came home, denied myself to callers and went to work."

"But I don't see how you ever knew how to begin."

"Pshaw, that was easy enough. I just cut the edges even all around, laid a piece of the cloth under it and then—but you'll never guess what I did next."

"No, indeed; do tell."

"I just stitched it all around on the sewing machine! Think how nice and secure it will be. Oh, I can scarcely wait until Henry comes home to show it to him!"

"No wonder so many young men get married," said the young wife in the blue suit, thoughtfully. "They must be awfully uncomfortable with nobody to take care of their things. Now, just suppose he had taken those trousers to a tailor to be mended; the piece he'd have put in would never have shown at all, while now, everyone who looks at him while he is wearing them will know what a careful little wife he has."

"Why, that's just what I thought! But do tell me about your discovery. I am never above an anxiety to learn."

"Well, I—you may think it odd, but I don't always like to ask Eustace for money when I want it."

"Why, how queer, that's just the way with me, I—"

"No; he hardly ever cares to sing duets with me after I've done it. Now, of course, his money is as much mine as his own, so—"

"Certainly it is. Why, the marriage service says—"

"Yes, I know it does. Now, I—you are sure that nobody is listening—"

"Perfectly sure; cook is out and the houses on either side of us are vacant. Do go on; I'm all anxiety to—"

"Well, I wouldn't want a soul but you to know my plan and nobody else would ever guess it. When I want money now, I just slip out of bed at night and get it out of my husband's vest pocket, where he keeps it."

"Oh, you clever thing!" cried the young wife in the pink frock, "who but you would ever have thought of such a splendid plan!" — Chicago Times-Herald.

Cabinet Gossip.

Canton, O., Dec. 3.—A cabinet boom from the Pacific slope has reached here. The new possibility, who is being energetically discussed, is judge J. A. Waymire of San Francisco. His friends are pushing him for the post of secretary of agriculture. The belief that Mr. Hanna has agreed to accept the position of secretary of the navy is strengthened by developments today, and there is more talk than ever about Nelson A. Dingley of Maine for secretary of the treasury.

Cape Broyle Gold Claims.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 3.—The latest analysis of the product of the Cape Broyle gold claims shows them to be less valuable than was supposed, and an English syndicate has withdrawn from the working of its claim.

Arrested for Fortune Telling.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 3.—Prof. J. Leonard, a clairvoyant, was arrested here yesterday for fortune-telling. He settled the case with the prosecuting attorney by paying a fine and promising to leave town.

Rusie Not Signed Yet.

New York, Dec. 3.—Secretary H. Bonnell, of the New York Baseball club, denies the Muncie, Ind., rumor that all trouble with the big pitcher, Rusie, is at an end.

McKinley's Plurality in Illinois 140,427.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3.—The official count of the ballots cast at the presidential election last month has just been completed. McKinley's plurality is 140,427.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

J. A. Robinson, of East Fifth street, is able to be out again after several days illness.

Dr. Cooley, of the borough, exrect to go to Richmond, Va., next week, on a hunting trip.

Counselor-at-law W. W. Pierson, of Liberty street, is able to be out again after an illness of nearly two weeks.

E. F. K. Fish, of Martine avenue, left this morning for Washington, where he will remain for several days.

Mrs. Henry VanName and Mrs Weeks, of this city, and their guests, Mr and Miss Keefe, have returned from a few days visit in New York.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, is out again today after being confined to his house on LaGrande avenue for several days with illness.

Lawyer Clarence L. Murphy has been absent from town for several days on legal business. He returns today from Belvidere, the county seat of Warren county.

George P. Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, has rented the residence. 224 LaGrande avenue, from A. C. Vail and will take possession April 1st. A number of changes have been made in the house.

Refused $4,000 for a Cat.

Mrs. Charles Weed, of Woodhaven, N. Y., who has a fine exhibition of large Angora cats, was offered $4,000 for her prize cat, and which was refused, the price being $5 000. The party offering the above price was a prominent New York man, who wished his name withheld from the public.

New Business Block.

S. N. Tobin has decided to erect a three story brick building on his property on East Front street, next to the Hotel Tuilleries. The frame house now located there will be moved back to the brook. The new building will be used for stores.

Heavy Suit on a Contract.

Suit has been brought in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth by Arthur M. Griffin against Hans Stiglitz, on contract, for $1,000. City Judge DeMeza represents Griffin in the case.

—Two medical cases were admitted to the hospital this morning.

—Noah Dove Encampment I. O. O. F., will hold their monthly meeting this evening.

—A summons has been issued in the case of DeKline against Anderson, returnable Dec. 8th.

—Fire will be started in the stoves of the street railway cars tomorrow. The new stoves for the Front street line arrived yesterday.

—A pair of gold eye glasses were advertised as found in The Daily Press yesterday. Today they were returned to their owner, Jacob Wagoner, assistant baggagemaster at the North Avenue station. A young lad by the name of Coriell, of Bound Brook, found them and used The Press to find the owner.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front st.

HEARN
WEST FOURTEENTH ST. NEW YORK
New York's Most Popular Store For Everything in Dry Goods.
See New York Sunday and Evening papers for week's Specials.
FREE DELIVERIES DAILY
By Our Own Wagon in

Plainfield,	Westfield
Elizabeth,	Netherwood
Elizabethport,	Fanwood
Roselle,	Union
Lorraine,	Elmora
Aldene,	Linwood
Lyons Farm,	Rahway
Cranford.

11 17 e od to 12 29

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.
Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired. 147-149
PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C C LITTER, Secretary and Treas.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.
It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.
Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.
Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.
L. W. Randolph,
PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

Assortment
Of FURNITURE.
In all grades
Largest and Best
We have ever exhibited.
Visitors always welcome
No trouble to show goods.
G. Q. PACKER.

MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 7th.
A Play That is Sure to Please.
JAMES A. HERNE'S
Beautiful Comedy-Drama,
SHORE ACRES
Direction of H. C. Miner.
A Fine Company of Players
Entire New Scenery.
Unique Realistic Novelties.
PRICES NEVER VARY.
Reserved Seats, $1, 75c., 50c. and 25c. Seats on sale Friday at Box Office at 9 a. m.

WORK IS A PLEASURE

When a workman has the best of tools in reach. All our stock of builders' and general hardware is beyond criticism. Carpenters' and mechanics' tools of all kinds. Builders' supplies. Moulders' trowels on hand. Miscellaneous to order.
The J. P. Laire Hardware Co.
105 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 49 I. 9 8 1y

AT Jas. R. Blair's,
126 Park Ave.
You can get Winter Caps from 25c. to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.
Watch his window for Holiday goods.

"CRISP NOTES!"
—About bright and cheerful things tending to make a Merry, Merry Christmas to everybody.
—So many nice and encouraging words have been said about Edsall's fine new stock and the marvelously low prices.
—That we feel like making the finest Christmas display that the Commercial Palace has ever attemped.
—It's not only nice words that has given us the inspiration but the very liberal purchases the people are making.
—It's just lovely to see the new, pretty things coming in and going out with such a "snap."
—And an air of satisfaction on the faces of the buyers
—Many remark that there is no use of going to New York so long as Edsall keeps up this "wide a make" selling, and Edsall says it's a continued story and the end cometh not yet.
—We advertise to sell fine goods cheaper than any other house, and we do it, too.
—By Saturday next our store will be in full holiday trim, and if you want to see something bright and attractive just come in and walk through.
—Many of the display stands are up now and filled with new and elegant novilties.
—Our own importation of fine bisque figures and brica brac and elegent French china in all the new and desirable prices, will "cut a figure" this season, they are positively lower than New York prices.
—And in Christmas cards and Christmas tree ornaments, and the like, we just expect to astonish everybody.
—One of the largest publishers of books has given us unusual advantages in buying this season, so when you come to get our prices we know you will buy.
—It is just wonderful what awfully low prices, and fine tasty goods we can offer you in our Art Department; pocket books made up to our own order especially for holiday trade, at "cut" prices, too.
—And you can just revel in laces and ribbons and veilings cheaper than you have ever dared to think of before. Our last great purchase of these goods were enough to supply the whole town for three months yet.
In boy's clothing, caps and furnishings, we will give you prices, styles and qualities that you wouldn't think possible, at least that is the remark of many when we quote the price, and —Boy's what do you think?—we give a real fine watch free with a purchase of five dollars. See the watches in our big show windows.
—We just about please everybody in our Millinery Department this season, so if you are in need of a new hat or bonnet for Christmas, you can be sure to get suited in our department and we know our low prices will suit you too.
—But we've got to stop this story somewhere, as it would take a whole newspaper to continue it to the end, and besides, space cost money too.
—The thing to do is for you to come in and see for yourself.
—We are never afraid to have our advertisements investigated either as to prices, qualities and even quantities, in which the latter is so often so terribly exaggerated by some dealers.
EDSALL'S

Ladies' Calf Skin Heavey Sole WALKING BOOTS, $3
Per Pair. Button and lace; Goodyear welts; dressy and serviceable. Just the shoe for Ladies' who dislike Rubbers.
DOANE & EDSALL.

Creamery Butter
20 & 25c Per Pound at
J. F. MACDONALD'S
Uptown Grocery.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.
CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!
GEORGE E. ROGERS..... Lessee. | GEORGE H. WILLEY..... Manager
Dainty Charming KITTIE RHOADES
ALL THIS WEEk,
In the following repertoire.
Matinee Saturday Afternoon — Admission 10cts.
BEST RESERVED SEATS 20CTS.
Tuesday Evening, East Lynne. Wednesday Evening, Polly. Thursday Evening, Hazel Kirk. Friday Evening, Factory Girl. Saturday Matinee, Unannounced. Saturday Evening, The Senator's Daughter.

Last Edition. THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

A SPOT TO SEE SIGHTS

THE POULTRY AND PET STOCK SHOW NOW IN FULL BLAST.

Not as Well Attended as it Should Be, But Still Better Than at the Opening—Many Special Prizes Awarded.

The people of Plainfield don't know a good thing when they have it, or else the Poultry, Pigeon and Cat Show at the Jersey Cycle Academy would be crowded. To tell the truth, the citizens of this city have no real idea of what is going on in the Academy at present. They know that there is some sort of a show in progress, but what it is they have no idea. It is no "fake" gathering, but includes entries from most of the leading fanciers in this part of the country. The entries number nearly 800 and include some of the finest stock in the country. The attendance last evening was much larger than on the first night, but it did not reach the figures that such an attraction should secure. The show is open all day.

There is one man who deserves lots of credit in particular, for it was through his efforts that the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association was induced to give their annual exhibition in this city this year. That man is Joseph Wiseman and he is devoting all his time to the show in his efforts to make it successful. Secretary Johnson of the Association has been an indefatigable worker as has also been Superintendent Andrus. In fact, all the members of the Association have been hard at work long before the show began.

The second day of the show came to an end last night. The exhibits are in good condition and no trouble has been experienced. The cocks still continue to crow and the geese to honk in the most approved manner possible to the astonishment of the new visitors, but the rest hardly hear them now. A few more awards were made to entries that arrived too late to be mentioned in the catalogue. Among them was Firman A. Long, of this city, who received two seconds and a third for his exhibit of Houdans. Harvey Fisk won the fourth and fifth premiums not mentioned yesterday in one of the white Leghorn classes.

The pussies still attract much attention, especially the $5,000 "Napoleon" tabby, who was the centre of an interested crowd all the evening. It was warmer in the hall than on the preceding night, and his feline highness did not need the silk cover. He sprawled out on the handsome cushions, however, and laid there most of the evening winking and blinking his eyes. The other cats were not neglected and the cat department has proved a great attraction to the visitors.

There was much interest displayed in the collection of bantams which is large and well chosen. The game bantams of various kinds head the list and a choice lot of birds they are, too. A. A. Parker, of Dunellen, is largely represented here and came out usually well in the matter of prizes. There were 82 of the game bantams entered and the competition was high. Mr. Parker secured eight blue ribbons, three of the second awards and two of the third. The golden and silver Seabright bantams are a particularly handsome lot of fowls, with their spangled backs.

The buff Pekin bantams looked like small balls of downy feathers as they huddled down in one corner of the cage. The white and the black Pekin bantams were also on exhibition and had the same appearance. The markings of the Japanese bantams were their pure white feathers all over the body and with black tail. The Polish bantams greatly resembled larger relations and had the same remarkable head dress.

Awards were also made for the best breeding pens and a number were exhibited. Among them was a set of buff Cochin bantams, shown by Albert Finch, of Belvidere avenue, which took first premium in its class.

The incubators of the Pineland Incubator and Brooder company were in working order and the spectators were privileged to see the little chicks crawl out of their shell and begin at once to struggle with the mysteries of existence. A crowd hung around them most of the time, for everyone, especially the ladies, were never tired of watching the hatching of the tiny little balls of down. Eggs will continue to be hatched throughout the exhibition. This will be a great attraction. Brooders were also displayed by the same company in which the little chicks were kept.

The show is open all day and a visit in the morning is welcomed by the birds in a way rather surprising to those not used to the combined crowing, clucking and squeaking of the combined forces of the exhibits. It is

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.

SOME MISSIONARY HINTS

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH WOMEN HEAR WORKING IDEAS.

Mrs. Wells Tells How to Arouse Interest in the Societies Organized in Churches to Encourage This Excellent Work.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church held its regular fortnightly meeting yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. The opening devotional service was conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles Lyman Goodrich, and included sentence prayers, a short reading from "Moral Evolution," and a vocal solo, 'Consecration." with autoharp accompaniment, by one of the young women of the society. The especial feature of the meeting was the reading of a paper on "Programmes, and the Art of Making Them," by Mrs. Wells, president of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church in Westfield. This paper was the same which was read by Mrs. Wells a short time ago at a large union meeting of Woman's Missionary societies in Philadelphia, and was a very practical and suggestive one. It advocated definiteness and variety in preparing programmes for missionary meetings, Mrs. Wells saying that it was not well to undertake the study of too large a field, thereby getting no clear idea of anything, or to attempt to study everything in the same way. She gave a number of excellent hints for varying missionary meetings, which deserve to be brought before any missionary society which desires to increase the interest of its meetings.

One plan was to hold a faggot party, in some pleasant private house, where each guest should lay a stick on the fire, and tell a missionary story. Another was the writing of a missionary serial story, one member to write one chapter and then hand it to another, one after another taking up the story until the last brought it to a conclusion. "We spend a great deal of time and trouble," Mrs. Wells said, "in preparing new and striking features for our literary societies; why do we not try as hard to make our missionary meetings novel and interesting?"

After another solo, "Let a little sunshine in," and an informal discussion of the subject, the meeting was adjourned, and tea was served, while a social hour was enjoyed by all present. Miss Ellis, of Netherwood, presided over the little tea table, dainty with its embroidered linen, pretty silver and china, and lighted candles, and the cups were handed about by Mrs. Goodrich, Miss Morse and Miss Jenkins.

A Marked Improvement.

One of the latest improvements to Front street property will soon be started by Mrs. Tobin, of Newark, who owns the property next to Swain's art store. The present old frame structure will be torn down and in its place will be erected a handsome, modern three story brick building which will be a credit to the city. On the first floor there will be stores and the second floor will be used as flats, while provisions will be made for a lodge room on the top floor. The contract for the work will be given out in a few days and the work of moving the present building and starting the new one will commence at once.

Mr. Worrell's Reason for Using Tickets.

The combined attractions of Mr. Worrell's work—lecture, distribution of valuable chocolate souvenirs, and Botanical Stage Exhibit—are such, were there no restrictions, Y. M C. A. Hall on Tuesday afternoon might be overcrowded, and by a too miscellaneous gathering. In this case those for whom the work is specially intended would be kept away. For this reason no person will be admitted without a ticket, and none but housekeepers can obtain them, free, at the box office.

A New Lodge.

A new lodge of Daughters of Pocohontas has been formed in this city and at a preliminary meeting held last week it was decided to call it after one of the lodges of Red Men, the Paugh Caugh Naugh Sinque lodge. Another meeting will be held on Monday night at which some new members will be elected.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Mayor Gilbert to Travel.

Mayor Alex. Gilbert, of West Eighth street, leaves Plainfield about the middle of January for a trip through the Orient and the Mediterranean countries.

THE CHECK WAS NO GOOD

BUT MRS. E. L. BIRD CASHED IT AND GAVE $11 IN CHANGE.

A Clever Swindler Pretends to Lay for Board in Advance in Presenting a Worthless Check—No Trace of Him.

He was a real nice, confiding young man, and he wanted to engage board for himself and brother with Mrs. E. L. Bird and mother, Mrs. George Leland, of 401 West Front street, who conduct a boarding house. He talked so intimately of John Vetterlein, an old friend of the family, and also spoke of Mrs. Vetterlein and the children, that Mrs. Bird was convinced that he was all right.

He gave his name as Fred Mayer, and said he was an insurance agent, and had just established himself in the First National Bank building, while his brother, who was also an insurance agent, was located in the Babcock building. He appeared to be a real good young man, and wanted to pay the board bill in advance. He didn't happen to have the money, but would Mrs. Bird mind cashing a check? He gave the impression that the check was signed by Mr. Vetterlein, but when Mrs. Bird handed over $11 in change and received a check for $20, it was Fred Mayer's name which was signed to it. He smilingly departed with the $11 in his pocket. They haven't seen him since, and regret the fact exceedingly.

This happened yesterday afternoon and they took the check down to the First National Bank to have it cashed at once. The check was drawn on that bank and Mr. Leland was politely informed that it was not worth a cent.

The alleged officers of the Mayer brothers could not be found and Roundsman Mattox was notified, but failed to find the clever swindler as he had plenty of time to make his escape.

Mrs. Bird is completely disgusted at the way in which she was duped but the young man's evident acquaintance with the Vetterlein family disarmed suspicion.

He was a good looking young German and spoke in broken English. He had red cheeks, light hair and a slight mustache. The one noticeable feature of his appearance was the absence of one of his front teeth.

NEW DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Y. M. C. A. Board Strengthened By Two Prominent Citizens.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. The following officers and directors were present: W. D. Murray, Nelson Runyon, H. M. Maxson, Stephen Cahoone, John Valiant, H. O. Newman, E. L. Bonny, G. A. Strong, G. H. Batcheler, A. C. LaBoyteaux, G. R. Cornwell and R. H. Radford.

George A. Chapman and James W. Jackson were elected to fill vacancies in the Board. Written reports were received from the following committees: Religious work, educational work, rooms, entertainment, and membership committees, and verbal reports from the committee on physical work. Written reports were also received from the general secretary, assistant secretary, physical director and treasurer.

It was moved and carried that Dr. Stearns be given the use of the large hall after Jan. 1st at the present rate. The question of using the association building as a distributing station of the Free Public Library was decided in the affirmative.

On motion, the committee on physical work was authorized to have the bowling alleys repaired.

PLEASURE AT WARREN CHAPEL.

Pleasant Time Afforded Those Who Attended the Event.

The social held last night at Warren Chapel, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society, was a pleasant affair. There was a goodly number of people present. As an introductory a short programme was rendered. It consisted of recitations by Miss Hull; piano solos by Miss Carrie Dewey, while for the little folks Jessie Stites and Francis Whitely, Jr., recited and May Seader, Gussie Seader and Ethel Reynolds gave vocal solos.

The rest of the evening was spent in social intercourse after which coffee and cake was served. J. W. Gavett and William Wilson very ably assisted the members of the Aid Society in serving the refreshments.

Attachment Issued to Secure Salary.

A writ of attachment was issued this morning by Justice Mosher in the case of Dr. James Hunter against Dr. Robert Hunter. The attachment was made on the goods at the Netherwood Sanitarium to satisfy a salary debt of $190. The writ was served by Constable W. R. Mattox and further developments are awaited.

WILD RUN ABOUT TOWN.

A DELIVERY HORSE MADE THINGS LIVELY THIS NOON.

Started From Smith's Grocery Store and After a Circuit of the City and Borough, and Many Narrow Escapes, Came Back.

A runaway horse with a delivery wagon dragging at his heels effectally aroused Plainfield from its usual midday quiet, this noon, for a few moments. Nothing was injured, save a stray hitching post or two, and a few scratches on the wagon. The frightened horse, which started from the rear of J. A. Smith & Brother's grocery, ended his long run in front of the same store after a tour of both city and borough.

With a dash, he was off down the alley to Second street, and run upon the sidewalk opposite between two trees, the space being so narrow that both hubs rubbed. Then he ran down the sidewalk and out between two more trees, missing both by only a hair's breadth.

Right down East Second street to Richmond street and Norwood avenue and then over the brook to Brook avenue and back to the city by the way of Chatham and Somerset streets and was finally caught by a lad named VanNest on West Front street almost in front of the store towards which he started to go.

The runaway was a remarkable one on account of the wonderful escapes from a smashup the dashing horse had while running through the busy streets. The wagon was one of J. A. Smith & Bro.'s delivery wagons. The horse and wagon was standing in the alleyway in the rear of the store while the driver, Henry Weiss, prepared to unhitch the horse. He had to move another horse, and the latter suddenly backed into the waiting equine.

The damage was very slight but the narrow escapes from collision were numerous. The horse lost a shoe in the run and the missing shoe was found in the wagon where the horse is supposed to have thrown it.

FIRE AT DUNELLEN.

A Barn and Livestock Consumed in the Afternoon.

Dunellen had a disastrous conflagration yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At that time flames and smoke were seen issuing from the barn on what is known as the Hardingham place, corner of Madison avenue and Fifth street, in a somewhat isolated part of the borough toward Greenbrook. A general alarm was sent out and the Dunellen fire department responded with its usual alacrity, but little or nothing could be done toward saving the barn, and the efforts of the firemen were directed to saving the house, fifty yards away, which caught fire and was also threatened with total destruction. The department apparatus, it is said, was practically useless, although there was a bountiful supply of water in a pond near by.

The premises are occupied by Mrs. Lolo Earl, a South American woman, who took possession only a few weeks ago. Besides the barn there were burned a valuable carriage horse, a heifer, seven pigeons and a large lot of hay, straw, oats, etc. Two tons of hay had just been deposited in the loft, and the carters were on their way for more when the fire broke out.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. It started on the ground floor, directly in front of the manger where the horse was tied. The poor animal after the lead strap and halter had been burned from its head, managed to walk into the yard, where it fell dead.

Burned Building to Be Repaired.

The loss by fire on the building on Somerset street recently occupied by Justice Thomas, has been adjusted by Elston French, the insurance agent, and work will be commenced Monday to thoroughly repair the damage, after which Mr. Thomas will again take possession. As a preventative against another such accident, he will have electric lights put in his office. Mr. Thomas will take possession December 14th.

Runyon's Libel on Mr. Fisk.

The report which Editor Runyon published yesterday concerning the serving of legal papers on Mayor-elect Fisk in a suit against a company of which he was alleged to be president, was a lie pure and simple. Editor Runyon will eat his own words today.

Bullheaded Editor Runyon.

Isaac Runyon, of East Third street, desires The Daily Press to state that the article published in The News regarding his marriage is absolutely untrue, and that the editor of the News refused to make a correction of the item.

—Tomorrow "only," Saturday, Dec. 5th, Van Emburg will close out a line of fine corset covers, were 25c to 40c at the slaughter price of 17c each.

TURKEY AND KNICKNACKS

KING'S DAUGHTERS' SUCCESSFUL SALE AND SUPPER.

The Old Post Office Building Transformed Into a Mart Wherein the Visitor Left His Coin Willingly.

The Advance Circle, King's Daughters, of the First Presbyterian church, under whose auspices the turkey supper and sale was held last evening in the old postoffice building, was very successful in the efforts put forth to raise money to assist in the grand work which this society is doing. The large room was prettily decorated with various colors in bunting, while the National colors were given due prominence. About the rooms tables were arranged. Each person who entered the place was met by Edward Hazen, whose genial manner induced them to proceed further and learn what was in store for them. To the left was the candy table, where, under the direction of Mrs. Geo. O. Stevens and Miss Katherine Glen, the choicest candies were dispensed.

Nearby was the fancy goods table, with an abundance of useful an ornamental articles. This table was in charge of Mrs. William A. Coddington and Miss Smalley. The cake table with a variety of the best home made cakes was under the able direction of Miss Bittenbender and Miss Scarborough.

Another table supplied with flowers was in charge of Mrs. J. E. McClintock and Mrs. Garretson.

As an extra attraction a "mystery" table was arranged where, for a small fee, a person secure most anything from a doll to a house and lot. This was under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Beerbower and Mrs. J. A. Smith.

The rear half of the room was devoted to tables where one could sit down and enjoy one of the best turkey suppers of the season. The supper included everything that the inner man could desire and the efficient service of those in charge was noteworthy. Mrs. J. A. Haynes was in charge of the supper department, and she was ably assisted by Miss Pansy Jean Herring, Miss Margaret Cove, Miss Susie Boss, Miss Boss, Miss Maag, Miss Lizzie Bittenbender, Miss Pruden and Miss Remsen, as waitresses.

Mrs H. A. Pope was chairman of the reception committee and her affable manner won many dollars of profit.

To J. A. Haynes, A. V. Searing and H. A. Pope is due much credit, for they carved nearly ten turkeys which were readily disposed.

Miss Blish was treasurer and she with her accustomed accuracy received all money from the sales. A feature of the event was the presentation of a very large pyramid cake to Rev. C. E. Herring. There were seven cakes in all and it was made by Mrs. J. A. Haynes.

Between the stated hours, 5 to 10 p. m., the room was thronged with friends of the circle and as a result of the affair about $95 will be realized as profit. This money will be used for missionary purposes as the circle decides to expend it. Toward the latter part of the evening George O. Stevens, was induced to act as auctioneer and he assisted in adding many dollars to the treasury.

FOR GREATER STORAGE.

Plainfield Ice Company Arranging to Keep Large Quantities of Ice.

The ruined ice house at the Wilson pond, Washingtonville, is now being torn down and a new and much larger one will be put up in its place on the same spot. The ice house is being built by the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company which owns the pond. The same company is planning for the erection of another new ice house near their new ice pond which is now partially completed. The latter will be a large and commodous one and capable of holding a large amount of ice.

Andrew Wilson and Alfred Coddington, of the company, went to Pennsylvania, Wednesday, after lumber to build the new houses with. Work has already begun and the old ruined ice house is rapidly being pulled down.

Had Friends Left, Anyway.

Friends of the colored man David Thompson, who was run over by the cars at Elizabeth, yesterday morning, went to the hospital there during the day, having been notified of the accident by telegram, and found the patient doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

"CASTE" DONE CLEVERLY

PLAINFIELD'S AMATEUR THESPIANS GIVE A GREAT PERFORMANCE.

W. R. Cock Impersonated the Role of "Eccles" in a Funny and Finished Manner.—His Support Was Very Good.

After a period of nearly two years silence Plainfield amateurs were again heard at the Casino, last evening, in T. W. Robertson's well known comedy, "Caste." Until last winter theatricals were looked upon as one of the essentials to the success of the season, but for some reason the year went by without a play of any kind. In spite of this fact which one would expect to whet the public appetite, there were more than one hundred empty chairs at last nights performance. In fact, it was the smallest audience that has greeted the first performance of an amateur play in many years. The only explanation is that the Plainfield public, or rather that section of it which patronizes the Casino theatricals, does not like advanced prices and reserved seats. At the last preformance in the Casino, with seats at $1.00 and none reserved, the house was so packed that many were turned away from the doors and even the most uncomfortable standing room was thankfully taken. Last night with every thing reserved at $1.50 and $1.25 there were barely 350 people in the house. However, these 350 were good natured, interested and appreciative and certain it was that the Casino was far more comfortable than when so tightly packed.

"Caste" is not altogether a pleasant play but it has been much affected by amateurs in the past and in the present instance it was pruned of many of its objectionable features as well as of a few of its better ones.

The story of Esther Eccles, her drunken father and her aristocratic husband who is called in active service in India shortly after making her his bride, is too well known to need more than a passing word here. Esther is of lowly birth, D'alroy, her husband is an exalted commoner, vastly afraid of his mother. When D'alroy is reported killed and the old drunken Eccles makes away with all the money left for the support of his wife the natural heart burnings and unhappiness ensue. D'alroy's mother, the Marquise de St. Muar, offers to take the child (of course there is a child) but her proposition is rejected with scorn. When things have come to the proper state of wretchedness, D'alroy turns up all right. You see he wasn't killed at all.

Polly Eccles and Samuel Gerrige, the gas man, haven't much to do with the play but they are pleasant to look at and listen to especially when played by Miss Cooley and Mr. Walz.

The full cast was as follows:

George D'alroy	Mr. W. L. Saunders
Eccles	Mr. W. R. Cock
Samuel Gerrige	Mr. F. W. Walz
Captain Hawtree	Mr. I. C. West
Dixon	Mr. Howard Huntington
Esther Eccles	Mrs. W. L. Saunders
Polly Eccles	Miss Grace A. Cooley
Marquise de St. Maur	Miss Louise K. Green

The "Esther" of Mrs. Saunders was a very interesting piece of acting. Her rendering of the part showed talent far ahead of that of the ordinary amateur and she won for herself well deserved applause. The two chief opportunities in the play, her parting with her husband (Act II,) and her return (Act III.) were grasped and the scenes were made extremely effective by this clever actress. Miss Cooley as Polly Eccles, younger sister to Esther, was vivacious and pleasing. Miss Louise K. Green, a new comer on the amateur stage in Plainfield, successfully filled the role of the Marquise.

William R. Cock added one more to his long list of successes in the role of Old Eccles. Nothing could have been better than Mr. Cock's playing of this part. His orations, his philosophy, his artful artfulness was each inimitable. Morever, while he was an extremely amusing "drunk" he was never offensive. It is extremely pleasant to see anyone so perfectly at home, so much at ease on the stage and yet so thoroughly imbued with the idea of his part. F. W. Walz, another old standby, is one from whom we alway expect something good. His Sam Gerrige was no exception to the rule and it was an entirely pleasing performance. He is a versatile actor and one of the very best of Plainfield's amateurs.

Wm. L. Saunders played D'alroy with a quiet dignity which was more effective than any effort at over-acting the part could have been. He played opposite his wife charmingly. I. C. West was very good in the difficult part of Captain Hawtree, a drawling Englishman of a next to impossible type. Mr. Huntington played Dixon, the butler.

The stage looked very well, indeed, and the two sets were attractive. Everything behind the curtain went as smoothly as possible under the di-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8.

COLOMA MURDERED

Now Said That a Pardon Was Granted the Rebel General.

WEYLER POCKETED THE DOCUMENT

Gen. Campos Said To Have Interceded in the Condemned Man's Behalf, Was Successful, and Sent Weyler Word in Ample Time.

Key West, Fal., Dec. 4.—Passengers just arrived from Havana give more shocking details of Lopez Coloma's execution. Gen. Martinez Campos is, it is said, indignant at the injustice committed in executing Coloma. Campos obtained the queen's pardon for Coloma and sent a telegram so advising. The message arrived at noon, but Weyler pocketed it, so report says, and ordered the execution to proceed, and Coloma was shot at 5 p. m. The new Cuban arrivals also report that Weyler's campaign in Pinar del Rio so far is a complete failure, despite the fact that he has over 60,000 men in the province. When Weyler left Artemisa he formed a column of 10,000 infantry, 1,500 cavalry and ten pieces of artillery and marched, skirting the base of the hills on the southern side, and seeking an opening to attack Maceo, who is strongly fortified on top of the hills. It appears that Maceo has gathered all his forces and is now entrenched in the hills awaiting Weyler's attack. There is, it is said no truth in the report that Maceo has divided his forces into small bands to elude combats, and it is further declared that it is known on good authority that Weyler has no view of meeting Maceo. Gomez with a large force is reported steadily advancing west, moving slowly on account of great impediments, in the way of cannons, infantry, etc. He is now reported in Santa Clara province, and, it is said, is coming with 20,000 men. There is great interest in Havana concerning President Cleveland's forthcoming message and the action of congress on the Cuban situation. The Spaniards and Cubans alike are anxiously awaiting results.

DEATH OF SERAFIN SANCHEZ.

The Report That the Rebel General Was Killed in Battle Confirmed.

New York, Dec. 4.—A dispatch dated Nov. 24 has just been received from Cienfugos, Cuba, by Julio de Castro of this city to the effect that Maj.-Gen. Serafin Sanchez was killed in an engagement at Las Damas, Santa Clara province. The dispatch confirms the Spanish reports to the same effect of a few days ago, and which the Cubans in this city did not believe. The death of Serafin Sanchez who was inspector-general of the army, is a heavy blow to the insurgents. The battle in which Gen. Sanchez met his death occurred on Nov. 20. An insurgent force of 1,200 under Generals Carrillo and Sanchez, while enroute to the coast to meet an expected expedition from Jamaica, was attacked by 3,000 Spanish under under Gen. Luque. A desperate battle ensued, lasting five hours, darkness bringing it to a close. The Spaniards lost 170 killed and 90 wounded. The Cuban loss was 43 killed and 26 wounded. Gen. Sanchez, mounted on a small horse, was in the thick of the battle. A column of Spanish soldiers surprised the insurgents by an attack from the rear, and Gen. Sanchez received a bullet in the back. He remained on his horse, however, and, although his compatriots tried to induce him to retire, he refused, saying that he was not badly wounded. Ten minutes later he fell from his horse and soon expired. His last words were: "Viva Cuba Libre."

Royalists in a High State of Excitement.

Havana, Dec. 4.—The expectation of loyalists here is at a high point, they wishing to hear of a decisive defeat of the rebels in the province of Pinar del Rio by the troops under command of Captain General Weyler. Since his return to the front from Havana General Weyler has had no engagement with the insurgents. In fact, the Spanish scouts have not been able to locate the enemy and the position is not known of a single one of the rebel parties. The last report received here stated that General Weyler and his forces were encamped near Los Palacios. The condition of General Munoz, who recently returned to Havana suffering with fever, has become worse and fears are entertained that he will not recover.

Firing Heard in Gobernadory Hills.

Havana, Dec., Dec. 4.—Musketry and cannon firing has been heard in the direction of the Gobernadora hills, near Cayajabof, about seven miles northwest of Artimisa, and in the rear of Gen. Weyler's forces. As yet no report has reached here as to the occasion of the firing, but it is thought that a detachment of Spanish troops has met a body of insurgents who are detached from Maceo's command. Gen. Weyler's ignorance of the whereabouts of Maceo is remarked upon here, and is giving rise to many rumors.

Arrested as Political Suspects.

Havana, Dec. 4.—Dr. Luis Pernas, Senor Figueros, a druggist, and several other well-known residents of Cienfuegos have been arrested as political suspects.

Opposed to the Dingley Bill.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Senator Dubois of Idaho, who returned to Washington last evening, says that he is opposed to the Dingley bill and does not think it will pass. "Why should it?" said he, "nobody wants it."

Funeral of Mrs. Sarah C. Mink.

Watertown, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Mrs. Sarah C. Mink, late national president of the Woman's Relief corps, who died here yesterday, will take place in this city to-morrow afternoon.

IT HITS THEM HARD

Tonnage Dues a Serious Matter for German Ship Owners.

WILL COST THEM LARGE SUMS

The President's Retaliatory Measure Meets with Approval Among Customs Officers---Our Relations with the Fatherland Further Strained.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The proclamation issued by the president yesterday afternoon suspending the law relieving German vessels from tonnage dues and other charges entering American ports will cost the German ship owners after January 1 next a considerable sum, as many vessels from the Fatherland enter the harbor of New York alone. While this act on the part of the president will no doubt cause a further break in the friendly relations between the United States and Germany, the suspension of the present law was made necessary because the German government imposed similar dues upon American vessels entering ports in Germany. Evidences of an unfriendly disposition on the part of the German government towards the United States have been accumulating ever since the differential duty on bounty paid German beet sugar was imposed by the Wilson tariff law. American cattle have been excluded on the pretext of contagion from Texas fever which cannot exist in northern climates. American hog products have been excluded, even though cooked and inclosed in cans, on the allegation that these cooked products might contain trichinea, which cannot exist in cooked food. Discriminating and prohibitive duties against American glucose and petroleum and many other exports which formerly went to the German empire have followed one after the other. All these matters have been made the subject of vigorous protest from our government, much of the correspondence having been conducted by Edwin F. Uhl, now ambassador in Berlin, while he was assistant secretary of state. Mr. Uhl is therefore particularly well qualified to deal with the existing situation, should it grow more tense. The proclamation is held by customs officials as justifiable on account of the discriminations against American shipping practiced in German ports. Proof of this discrimination and of the levying of extortionate tonnage dues and other charges upon American cargoes was submitted to the president, it is said. Under the act which is abrogated by the president's proclamation large ships flying the German flag, which have heretofore heen admitted free of port charges, will now be compelled to pay $500 to $600 a year each, and on smaller ships the tax will be levied at the rate of six cents per net ton, to be collected five times a year, in case the vessel makes that many trips. If more trips are made no further tax is levied until the end of the fiscal year.

German Consul-General Surprised.

New York, Dec. 4.—Consul-General Feigel, representing the German empire, said he was surprised to learn that the president had issued a restrictive proclamation against German vessels as no correspondence concerning that subject had passed through the German consulate in this city. Undoubtedly the German embassy at Washington had full cognizance of the matter. The act relieving German vessels entering United States ports from the payment of tonnage dues and other charges was of a reciprocal nature, as the same advantages were extended American ships entering German ports. At the office of the North German Lloyd and other large ship concerns it was admitted that the move would militate against their interests.

The Amazon Cable a Failure.

Para, Dec. 4.—The Brazilian government is having a hard time in trying to operate a cable to Munaos. The cable, costing about $1,000,000, was guaranteed by the company for thirty days. On the thirty-first day it failed and no message has since went over it. Engineers assert that a cable up the Amazon cannot be made a success on account of the current and many obstructions in the river bed.

New Jersey Presidential Electors.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 4.—Secretary of State Kelsey has notified the republican presidential electors of this state to meet at the state house, Trenton, on the second Monday in January next to affix their signatures to a declaration showing that the vote of New Jersey is cast for McKinley and Hobart.

Texas Will Join the White Squadron.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 4.—The Texas, which came out of the navy yard drydock yesterday after repairs to her sea-cock valves were completed, is now being coaled, and will in a few days proceed to Fort Monroe with the rest of the fleet.

Speed Trial of Torpedo Boat No. 6.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 4.—The speed trial of torpedo boat No. 6, built by the Herreshoffs, will take place within the next ten days over a seventeen-mile course from Bull Point to an imaginary line from Fort Dumplings to Brentons cove.

Appointed to West Point.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Charles McH. Eby of Newport, Pa., has been appointed cadet to West Point military academy, with P. E. Smith of Armville, Pa., alternate.

Will Buy the New Foundland Railway.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 4.—The government has decided to purchase the New Foundland railway for the sum of $1,775,000.

VERY LATEST FAD.

If You Do Not Carry a Rabbit's Foot You Are Not in the Swim

To receive a rabbit's foot, mounted as per specifications, may now be considered a very lucky thing. If the recipient of the gift is not superstitious, and values a rabbit's foot only as a rabbit's foot, neglecting its Voodoo associations, he has still much reason for rejoicing. He or she, usually she, may throw away the hairy abomination that is supposed to form the piece de resistance of the gift and still have a mounting of gold and jewels worth several weeks' allowance. A rabbit's foot with the customary accessions is a gift not to be despised.

How the custom of carrying a rabbit's foot made its way from its origin in the mysterious depths of Voodooism to the present lodgment in the sacred circles of upper tendom is a question which must be left to the specialists on fads and degeneracy. Intrinsically, the rabbit's foot is not a beautiful object. It is dirty-looking, and its hairy covering has an irradicable tendency to get mixed up promiscuously with everything in its immediate neighborhood.

THE LUCKY RABBIT'S FOOT.

A glance at a jeweler's window, however, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, will show how great a demand for the ornament there is, and the demand evidently cannot arise from the pure aesthetic effect of the ornament. We are driven to believe, therefore, that its wearers are in search of the supernatural assistance attendant upon its possession. It is just here that they are making a fatal error.

Of course, no student of folklore can doubt the efficacy of this charm, under proper circumstances. Here is where the trouble arises. There must be a grave doubt as to whether or not all the formalities are carried out. Every child knows that the rabbit must be what is known as a "graveyard rabbit," and that it must be captured and killed by an elderly colored man under a peculiar combination of astronomical and physical conditions which seldom occurs.

An enterprising firm of jewelers have taken advantage of this and put out the following advertisement, describing their rabbit's feet:

"Killed in a country graveyard at midnight during the dark of the moon, on Friday, the 13th of the month, by a cross-eyed, left-handed, red-headed, bow-legged nigger, riding a white horse.

It is hard to find a colored man with the above characteristics; it is harder to find one who can obtain a rabbit while riding a white horse on Friday, the 13th of the month, in the dark of the moon. Graveyard rabbits, in addition, are by no means abundant. Is it possible that all the rabbit feet on the market are obtained under these circumstances? The intelligent investigator thinks not. Yet the market is flooded with alleged genuine charms. It is to be feared that the public is being deceived.

Free Advertising for the L. A. W.

Boston, Dec. 4.—President Elliott of the League of American Wheelmen has secured signed contracts with extensive catalogue publishers, whereby the L. A. W. will be advertised gratuitously in 2,300,000 catalogues. Last year a large amount was expended for this purpose.

My

Nerves are weak, many people say, and yet they do not seem to know that they are literally starving their nerves. Weak, pale, thin blood cannot give proper sustenance—that is why you are nervous, tired, exhausted. The cure for this condition is to purify, vitalize and enrich your blood. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla fairly and faithfully, and the rich, red blood, which it makes, will soon feed the nerves the elements of true strength they require; they will cease their agitation and will resume their proper place—being under the control instead of controlling the brain and body. Read Miss Bartley's letter:

"I want to express my gratitude for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. My health has been very poor for three years, due to trouble with my

Kidneys

I was nervous, had pains in my back. I cannot tell what I suffered. My eyesight became affected and I was so despondent I did not have any interest in life. I had two physicians, but my complaints became worse. I was told that I was affected with Bright's disease. A relative urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and in a short time I began to notice a change in my condition. Things began to appear brighter, my eyes improved and did not trouble me so severely. My appetite returned and I gained strength every day. I am now able to do my own work, and feel perfectly well. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me and I gladly recommend it." MISS ELLA BARTLEY, 213½ S. Grant Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

My Back

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take easy to operate. 25c

Careful experiments made upon a healthy person show that of ordinary oatmeals

83 per cent. alone is digested.

Of

H-O

99.75

is digested.

The process of preparation of H-O is "peculiar to itself."

Subscriptions Free to

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly
Illustrated American (Weekly)
Truth (Weekly)
New England Magazine
Chatterbox (Monthly)
The American Kitchen Magazine
Home Magazine (Monthly)
of Binghamton, N. Y.

WITH COUPONS FROM THE

H.O.Co.'s Goods

ROYAL TOOTH POWDER and

Sold Everywhere, 10c.

Allen Pharmacy Manufacturing Co.

J. C. Pope & Co.,

INSURANCE AGENTS.

110 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW

Meat Market.

George Egel, Manager.

Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street 6 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.

To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—6 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days

Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!

C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 1 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,

Park Avenue Florist,

Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 16 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,

Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in

Cigars, Tobacco, etc.

"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. TICKLE,
11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

WINTER STYLES

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.

Just Received from manufacturers

FORCE, 129 Park Avenue. 29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.

V. L. FRAZEE

151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S

VARIETY MARKET.

Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

20 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS

If you want a deep, clear rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S. Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables

will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,

144 PARK AVENUE.

A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett

has removed to

148 EAST FIFTH STREET.

Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,

FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.

Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 168. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.

R. H. McCullough, Prop.

Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER,

Residence, 33 Linden Ave

Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf

Telephone 29b. Established 1878

ADDIS & SON,

Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.

Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.

ACCIDENT TICKETS.

THE INTER-STATE

Casualty Company of New York gives SIX MONTHS' insurance

$1.000 for $1.00,

to men or women

between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Department of the State of New York for the security of the insured.

For sale at office of

Honeyman's Private Tours,

181 North Ave. Plainfield, N. J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,

PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,

Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.

Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE

PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.

Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.

The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.

GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,

120 NORTH AVENUE.

Wholesale and Retail

Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE

Sewer Connections.

DAVID BOWDEN,

General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.

28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.

Mason and Builder

Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.

All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
OAL.
747 WEST FRONT ST.

Branch office with

G. A. HALLOCK,

109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS

of our own manufacture to select from Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.

M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,

121 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR.

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made be premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,

187 North Avenue.

Practical Plumber.

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.

Telephone Call 168a

L. L. Manning & Son,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.

STAGES

For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,

Sanitary Plumbing,

Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Contractor for sewer connections.

210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,

EXCAVATORS.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,

RETAIL DEALER IN

Fish, Oysters, and Clams.

Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,

Dealer in

Coal & Wood.

Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.

Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S

Furniture and Freight

EXPRESS.

Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract!

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—50 cts. a bottle 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y.M.C.A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE NO. 4.1

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

108 Park avenue. Established 1869

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale

IN BOTTLES and

FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxe be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulte s, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

C. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. RHEAUME, and N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—41 Watchung ave

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT -- Notice is hereby given, That the account of the subscribers, executors of Sybilla E. Albert, deceased, will be audited and stated by the surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the 16th day of December next.

Dated October 8th, 1896.

JAMES LESLIE,
WILLIAM R. CODINGTON.

10 9 10

MULLINS & SONS

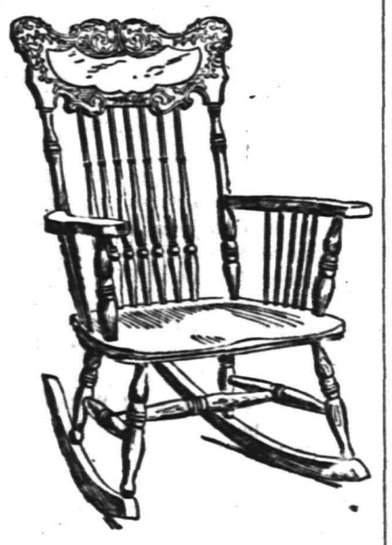
218-220 Market St., Newark.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS

We Can Sell You Better Goods and at Lower Prices than Anywhere Else. Look What We Offer This Week.

This Cylinder Stove (like cut) $5.75.

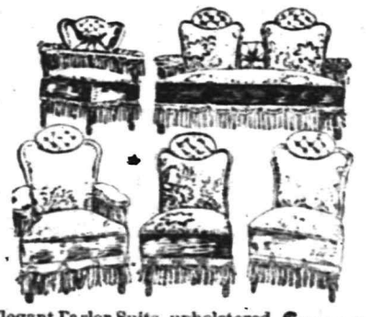
All styles and sizes at the lowest prices. Also full line of ranges.



Saddle Seat and Cobbler Rockers, in oak, birch or cherry, some with plush seats, exactly like cut, at $2.50

BANQUET LAMPS.

Banquet Lamps, Silk Shade, all colors, $2.50!



Elegant Parlor Suits, upholstered in tapestry or plush $25.00

Handsome New Mahogany Frame Parlor Suits, upholstered in tapestry, silk tapestry or plush special this week at $20.00

BRASS TABLES—100 more of BRASS and ONYX TABLES, all new designs the regular $6 tables, at $4.25

CHIFFONNIERES—NEW ANTIQUE OAK CHIFFONNIERES, 5 drawers, nicely finished. This week, to close them out at once, the entire lot at $4.50

CARPET BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK.

Best Quality Moquette .....95c. per yard
Tapestry Brussels .....50c. per yard
Ingrain .....35c. per yard

Easy terms of credit to everybody. We will furnish your home for $1 per week.

MULLINS & SONS.

218-220 Market St., Newark.

Branch Stores 78-81 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 121-125 Newark Ave., Jersey City, N. J. 136-138 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

OVERCOATS.

No sane man, if not already supplied, will hesitate much longer to secure one. We have an immense stock to show you and to show you is next thing to selling you.

PRICES--$8 to $24.

All wool goods, well made, sleeve linings that will last a year without a break. Dressy Kerseys, hanssome Beavers, nobby Cheviots, and durable Meltons. All sizes 33 to 48. They are right all through, inside and out. The appearance, the style the fit and the finish you can see at a glance, but they're just as right inside at the points you don't see but have to trust us for.

McGREGOR & COMPANY,

850-852 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

Telephone, Brooklyn, 366.

COMINS & EVANS

Acorn Brand Asphalt Roofing.

Gravel and Metal Roofing, Tile and Brick Roofing, Water-Tight Cellars.

45 WAVERLY AVE, BROOKLYN, N. Y.

New York office, 102 Fulton st., room 413.

Bargains in Real Estate

For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 169 North avenue
Armstrong Mulford, Assistant
BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

BOSTON'S GRAND OPERA.

No Musicians To Take Strikers' Places, It Comes to a Sudden End.

Boston, Dec. 4.—After spending the entire day in fruitless endeavor to secure musicians to take the place of the striking members of the orchestra which Col. Mapleson brought here from Philadelphia, Eugene Tompkins, proprietor of the Boston theatre, was obliged to announce the grand opera season at an end. The manager of the theatre said: "The grand opera season is ended because of the inability to secure another orchestra. We have been trying all day to get another orchestra together, but we could not do it. The company has entirely disbanded, but the artists will remain here and, if possible, arrangements will be made for a sacred concert for Sunday evening for the benefit of the chorus and the employes of the company. The theatre will be closed the rest of the week. Next week we will open with some dramatic performance. There had been a large advance sale of tickets for the opera season, and the money will be refunded in all cases. The trouble is with the orchestra. Mr. Tompkins guaranteed their salaries in Boston, but they demanded that he pay them for back salaries, amounting to $1,000, which were run up in Philadelphia. This Mr. Tompkins refused to do."

MANY PERSONS PERISHED.

Fatal and Destructive Storm and Floods in the West Indian Islands.

Kingston, Jamaica, Dec. 4.—A cyclone accompanied by heavy floods has swept the eastern West Indies, causing great loss of life. The St. Vincent and Montserrat estates have been completely wiped out. The wind blew with terrific violence and was accompanied by a very heavy rainfall. The many mountain streams on the various islands were soon transformed into torrents that swept down into the valleys, carrying everything before them. From the advices now at hand it appears that the island of St. Vincent, one of the windward group, and the island of Montserrat, one of the Leeward group suffered severely. A number of sugar, coffee and cotton estates were inundated and in some cases the entire crops were torn out and carried into the sea. Many of the persons drowned were negroes who lived in the water courses, and who had little if any warning of the approaching floods. Immense damage to property was also done by floods in the islands of Trinidad and Barbadoes, but so far as known no lives were lost on those islands.

Seventy-five Perished.

London, Dec. 4.—The colonial office has received a dispatch from Plymouth, capital of Monsterrat, stating that seventy-five persons on that island perished in the storm.

The Laurada in Danger.

Philadelphia, Dec. 4.—There are fears that the steamer Laurada, which has taken several filibustering expeditions to Cuba, may yet fall into the hands of the Spaniards. She is at Messina, Italy, landing fruit, and the charterer has ordered ordered the vessel to proceed to Valencia, a Spanish seaport, to finish loading. There she would surely be seized and such members of her crew who were in Cuba with her arrested.

Delaware Election Dispute.

Dover, Del., Dec. 4.—The superior court late yesterday afternoon gave a decision compelling the board of canvass in Kent county to meet on Tuesday next and count the vote of the last election. This would give the republicans a majority in the county. The democrats will take the matter to the court of errors and appeals and all proceedings will be stopped until it can be heard there.

Weyler's Latest Decree.

Havana, Dec. 4.—The Official Gazette contains the decree of Captain-General Weyler orderiug the redemption of the present gold bills within fifteen days and a new issue of $20,000,000 in silver bills to replace them. The decree also increases the duties upon imported goods five per cent. The new silver bills are receivable for the payment of all taxes except customs duties.

Suicide of Lieut. Wallace.

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—James W. Wallace, first lieutenant Company A, Eighteenth regiment, National Guard, committed suicide in the Eighteenth Regiment armory last night. He was in poor health, and it is thought he became mentally unbalanced. He was engaged to be married in the spring to a young lady in Washington, D. C.

Daring Daylight Bandits.

St. Louis, Dec. 4.—Thre masked men entered the office of the Home brewery during the busiest hours of the afternoon and presented pistols at the head of cashier Robbert Hofferkamp. They demanded that he turn over the money in the safe, and he immediately complied. The robbers secured about $800 and made good their escape.

Hundreds Dead from Starvation.

London, Dec. 4.—The Globe publishes a news agency dispatch from Bombay saying that the mortality from famine in the Belapur and Belaghal districts is steadily increasing. Hundreds of persons have died from starvation in the Gonda district.

Favor the Exclusion of American Pork.

Paris, Dec. 4.—A mass meeting of the Farmers' Union was held in Lyons yesterday at which the dealers in salt meats resolved in favor of the exclusion of American pork products, in view of the fall in the price of swine.

Vessels Seriously Damaged.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 4.—A number of vessels arrived here to-day in a seriously damaged condition. They were caught in a hurricane that has been raging off the coast for two days. Several vessels are missing.

GET WELL AND STAY WELL.

Get Rid of What Makes You Sick and Stay Rid of It.

It is so simple to be well that we wonder why there are so many sick people.

Come to think about it, must be because they don't know what's made them sick.

If they knew that, they should prevent it, and when they were sick, in some cases cure themselves. But so long as we don't take more care of our health we shall always be more or less sick.

The simple rules of health are: Keep clean, take exercise, eat good food, scour out your stomach.

This last means: Don't tolerate indigestion. Cure it with Shaker Digestive Cordial. A stomach full of undigested, fermented, putrid food is the unhealthiest thing you can think of.

Half our diseases and troubles come from the poisons of undigested food. More than half of them could be cured with Shaker Digestive Cordial.

More than half, because often when we think we are sick we are only weak and a course of nourishing food digested without effort by the stomach (with the aid of Shaker Digestive Cordial) would reinvigorate the whole system and make us well.

A ten cent trial bottle will prove it. At druggists.

Write for interesting book to The Shakers, 30 Reade street, New York.

SAYS HE'LL FOOL ALL

Hanna Intimates a Surprise Regarding a Place for Himself.

HE LEFT FOR WASHINGTON TO-DAY

The National Chairman Says McKinley Has Not Yet Decided Whether or Not To Call a Special Session of Congress.

Cleveland, Dec. 4.—Chairman Mark Hanna left at noon to-day over the Pennsylvania railroad for Washington to begin the preliminary arrangements for the inauguration of William McKinley as president of the United States. He looked happy this morning when a reporter called upon him as he was preparing to leave for the train, and he said he felt happy. He was asked: "Mr. Hanna, has it been settled whether you are to be the next secretary of the treasury or the next senator from Ohio to succeed Senator Sherman?" "Never mind what it will be. You newspaper fellows are smart, but I will fool you all yet." He refused to throw any light on what he meant by this remark only to say that he knew what he was talking about and that it would all come to pass in due time. When asked about his Washington trip he said: "One of the chief objects of my visit will be to arrange for the inaugural ceremonies. If present indications augur anything I believe that the pomp and splendor attending McKinley's inauguration will be the grandest ever seen." "Will you hold any important conferences?" "I will have several consultations with leading republicans. Will likely meet Senators Sherman, Quay, Proctor and others. Cannot say who the others will probably be." "Has Mr. McKinley determined to call a special session of congress?" "Not yet. It is a little early to decide definitely on that point. There are to many other matters to be decided before reaching any definite conclusion on that score. I do not know whether a special session of congress will be called or not."

DINGLEY AT CANTON.

The Maine Congressman Spent Last Night at the McKinley Residence.

Canton, O., Dec. 4.—President-elect McKinley continues to enjoy the best of health and Mrs. McKinley is slowly improving. Not a day passes now but half a dozen or more prominent republicans call at the McKinley residence to pay their respect to the next president, consult with him regarding cabinet appointments or legislation to be considered after he assumes the reins of the government. Nelson A. Dingley of Maine and his son, E. N. Dingley, who arrived yesterday afternoon, spent the night at the McKinley residence. Mr. Dingley is suffering from a cold and Dr. Phillips, the McKinley family physician, was called in to see him, and it was upon the physician's advice that Mr. Dingley spent the night in Canton. He expects to set out for the capital this afternoon. Representative R. W. Taylor of this district, who arrived from Washington last evening and called on Major McKinley, said the opinion prevailed at the capital that Senator Sherman had decided to become an active candidate for re-election to the senate of the United States. There has been no cabinet making for the past twenty-four hours. Major McKinley talked with the visitors whom he took into his confidence upon question of public and party policy. Senator McBride of Oregon thinks his state is entitled to recognition and calls it the banner commonwealth of the Pacific slope, but neither he nor Senator Mitchell made any cabinet suggestions to the president-elect. Senator Thurston said he would not accept a place in the cabinet if one were offered him. Some of the Grand Army men talk of urging their commander-in-chief, Gen. T. S. Clarkson, for a cabinet position, but it is not at all likely that Nebraska will be recognized in this way.

Removed from Office.

Pawtucket, R. I., Dec. 4.—The town council of Cumberland has unanimously voted to remove James H. Dwyer and Daniel J. O'Shea of the board of license commissioners from office. This is the result of the efforts of the union temperance committee, composed of the clergymen of the town, by whom charges of gross incompetency were preferred a few weeks ago.

THE DAILY PRESS.

M. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m. at North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 4, 1896

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.

Fair Tonight; Saturday Partly Cloudy Light Snow in the North Portion Saturday Morning; Warmer.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 37 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 3.--Supper of King's Daughters in old Postoffice building.
Dec. 3.--"Caste" at the Casino.
Dec. 3.--Sociable at Warren chapel.
Dec. 4.--Sociable at Trinity Reformed church
Dec. 4.--Operetta at Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 p m.

DON'T BUTCHER US, PLEASE.

If Editor Runyon possesses such an irresistible inclination to roast us each and every day in his personal column, we beseech him to do it in more style and grace than has marked his acts of recent dates. We don't mind the complimentary passages a bit, so far as their animus or effect is concerned. but what we do deplore is the awful crudity, yea denseness, that the fine hand of a real newspaper man does not betray. We regret this because in a measure his coarse embryo hippodrome performances with the pen must necessarily lower the average of an honorable profession into which he has forced himself to buzz and profit, like the drone in the beehive, upon the work and ability of others, and in such deterioration we must share with the rest of our profession. 'Tis hard, 'tis pitiable, 'tis unfortunate to be thus cast by the fates so near the swine. If Editor Runyon is perverse in his intention to make us a daily feature of his personal remarks, we ask (and it is not often that we ask favors of him, and if he has one whit of magnanimity in his character he will grant it) that he will write with more elegance and more humor about our faults and errors, which are to be but human. We don't mind the roasting, but we do hate this butchery. Perhaps Editor Runyon is not aware of the fact that he is not telling stories to the capricious college boys at Ithaca, but is writing for the edification and enjoyment of a respected and intelligent community.

Vice-President-elect Garrett A. Hobart gave a dinner at his home, in Paterson, yesterday afternoon to the members of the New Jersey Republican State Committee. The centrepiece was an elaborate floral elephant, representing the G. O. P., bearing Mckinley and Hobart to the White House.

STATE BOARD OF EDCATION.

Superintendent Charles J. Baxter Presents His Annual Report.

The State Board of Education met Tuesday morning and re-elected Dr. Lloyd Wilbur, of Hightstown Supervisor of the School Census, his term expiring at that time.

The annual report of the State Superintendent Charles J. Baxter, of this city, which is practically completed, states that the new township law is working well, and that the attendance at the schools is larger and more regular than it has been in the past under the old law. The report shows that there are nearly one hundred more teachers employed this year than last, and that there has been a small increase in teachers salaries.

NEW JERSEY'S ELECTORS.

Notified to Meet to Declare the Result of the Election in This State.

Secretary of State Kelsey yesterday notified the Republican presidential electors of this state to meet at the State house, Trenton, on the second Monday in January next, to affix their signatures to a declaration showing that the vote of New Jersey is cast for McKinley and Hobart., The declaration will be conveyed to the house of representatives by a special messenger.

Dispute Over a Board Bill.

The case of Clara E. Williams against Arthur Wyckoff, in tort, was settled in Justice Nash's court yesterday. Both plaintiff and defendant were colored. The trouble arose over the alleged fact that Miss Williams did not pay her board. She was boarding at the Wyckoff's and the latter state that as she did not pay her board they held her trunk for security. They did not go about it according to true process of law and when sued gave up the trunk.

A Dime Sociable.

One of a series of dime sociables under the auspices of Minerva Temple, No. 4, R. S., to replenish their relief fund, was held at the residence of Mrs. Andrew Mattis, of Madison avenue, last evening. There were about fifty present, and the evening was spent in playing games, dancing and other amusements. Refreshments were served.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

A SPOT TO SEE SIGHTS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

perhaps more enjoyable despite the noise, for the birds have just waked up and are a lively set, indeed.

The regular awards were all made on Wednesday, and yesterday the judges examined the exhibits with a view of awarding the special premiums. The latter were given as follows:

Shelton trophy—Silver cup, value $30, won by C. S. Thomas, of Rahway, N. J.

$5 in gold—For largest and best display of leghorns, won by G. H. Cotton, of Schraalenberg, N. Y.

Bone cutter—For largest and best display of cochins, won by Lyndhurst Poultry Yards, of Glassboro, N J.

Silver cup, value $20—For largest and best display of poultry, by the association, won by Orr's Poultry Yards, of Orr's Mills, N. Y.

Silver cup, value $20—For largest and best display of pigeons, won by Havemeyer Brothers, of Mahwah, N. J.

Silver cup, value $20—For the largest and best display of bantams, other than game, won by Congressman D. A. Nichols, Monroe, Conn.

Silver cup, value $20—For the largest and best display of game bantams, won by Havemeyer Brothers, of Mahwah, N. J.

Silver cup, value $20—For the largest and best display of cats, won by Mrs. E. N. Barker, of Newbury, N. Y.

Silver Cup—For the best exhibition pen of Black Langshans, won by C F. Gullberg, of Plainfield, N. J.

Courier-News Trophy—Silver cup valued at $20 for the largest and best display of Wyandottes, won by C. W. Johnson, of Cranford, N. J.

Silver Cup—Donated by a friend of the Association for the heaviest long-haired cat, won by Mrs. Weed, of Woodhaven, N. Y.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Putnam & DeGraw have a great variety of Christmas goods.

—The Plainfield Grocers' Protective Association will hold its regular meeting on Dec. 14th.

—The contract case of Osment against Thorn has been settled in Justice Nash's court.

—The W. C. T. U. festival will be held in their rooms on Watchung avenue December 9th and 10th.

—The Women's Relief Corps will meet tomorrow evening and nominate officers for the ensuing year.

—The Washington Avenue Card Club will meet this evening at the home of Miss Janie Churcill, of Dunellen.

—The Plainfield Camera Club will hold a meeting on Monday evening in their rooms in the Babcock building.

—Bargains such as have never before been offered will be found at Lederer's fire sale, which starts tomorrow.

—The Grocers' Protective Association of the State will hold its annual convention at New Brunswick on the fifteenth of January.

—A beautiful new cover appears this month on all magazines delivered from Rand's Magazine Exchange. It keeps them clean and tidy.

—At the Y. M. C. A., E. L. Suffern will speak and Lieut. Edna Ellis of the Salvation Army will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4:15.

—A. C. Lazzi has just completed the contract for the laying of 200 feet of flagging, in front of property belonging to William J. Roome, on Myrtle avenue.

—A regular meeting of the Bricklayers and Mason's union was held in the Elkwood building, Wednesday evening, when one new proposition was received.

—Justice Nash has issued summons in the following contract cases: Manning against Thorn, returnable on the 9th; Osment against Smith, returnable on the 9th; Huber against Hollenbeck, returnable on the 14th.

—How dollars are made—as a rule they are coined at the United States mint—that is one way—another way to make dollars is by saving. Peck can save you dollars by buying your fine underwear at 316 West Front street.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Friends from out-of town are being entertained by Miss Nash, of Prospect avenue.

Mr. Derlach, of Elizabeth, was in Plainfield yesterday on important business.

Miss Ella Hedden, of West Fourth street, is entertaining a friend from out-of-town.

Will Nash, of Prospect avenue, has been confined to his home for several days with illness.

Miss VanHorn, of Stanhope, has returned to her home after visiting Plainfield relatives.

Ex-Councilman F. E. Marsh, of Madison avenue, has returned from a trip to St. Louis.

Charles Suhr, of Watchung avenue, has returned from Deckertown, where he had been ill for some time.

Madame Getti and daughter, formerly of this city sail for Europe tomorrow to spend several months.

Mayor B. A. Hegeman returned to his home on Myrtle avenue, yesterday, after a short business trip to Buffalo.

Rev. Dr. Main, the new supply at the Seventh-day Baptist church, will conduct services tonight and tomorrow.

Mrs. Mary B. Ross, of Watertown, Mass., is being entertained at the home of Mrs. W. W. Winn, on Grove street.

The Misses Grace and Florence Phillips, of Brooklyn, are guests at the home of the Misses Langdon, of East Ninth street.

Miss Dolly Jones, of Trenton, who has been the guest of Miss Laura Sydenham, of Craig place, for several days, has returned home.

Miss Hattie Curry, of Arlington avenue, is able to be out again after being confined to the house with injuries received in a runaway at Westfield.

James K. Arnold, Jr., and C. E. Rogers, who have been working at Undercliffe, Bergen county, for Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham, will return home this evening.

Mrs. Clayton O. Moore, with her daughter, Miss Moore, who has been visiting her daughter-in-law, Mrs. L. Moore, left for their home, Bethlehem, Penn., today.

Mrs. George A. Audsley is ill at her home on Grove street. Her son Bartholdi, who has been suffering with scarlet fever, is improving under the care of Dr. D. Van D. Hedges.

Tampered With the Votes.

There is considerable talk of bringing some of the workers in the Second ward before the Grand Jury for tampering with voters at the last election. The alleged offence is said to have been committed on last Tuesday morning and one of the local justices has been consulted regarding the making of the complaint.

Thanks Extended.

The Relief Association desires to express its thanks for the donations towards Thanksgiving dinners for the poor. Owing to the very liberal contributions of individuals as well as of two of the churches of Plainfield, it was possible to furnish dinners to 76 familys. Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, secretary.

Mayoralty Appointmens.

The appointments which will be made by Mayor-elect Charles J. Fisk, will be submitted to the Council at first meeting in February. The appointment of committees and the election of a president of the Council takes place at the first meeting in January.

A Guild Sale.

The Ladies Guild of the church of the Redeemer, on Grove street, will hold a sale of cake and fancy articles, in the Sunday school rooms of the church, on December 17. The ladies are working hard to make this sale a success. The proceeds will be for the church building fund.

Avenue Work Almost Finished.

The work on Watchung avenue has about been completed, and the borough now has one of the best avenues in this section. There is very little prospect that anything will be done on this side of the brook for some time to come.

Young housewives may depend on Cleveland's baking powder. It does the work just right every time. "I have used Cleveland's baking powder over 25 years—it never disappoints."—Mrs. B. F.

Comment on Mr. Serrell's Letter.

To the Editor of the Daily Press:—Harold Serrell voted for Chas. J. Fisk; so did lots of other people He is accused by dame rumor of having voted for Mr. Martine; so are many other voters. Now there is nothing very strange in this nor would it be very aggravating, if it were not a fact, that by chance of fate, the wheel of fortune has rolled around until Serrell finds himself occupying an "Official Position." Somewhere in either the constitution of the United States, the constitution of the State of New Jersey or in the charter of the city of Plainfield, it must be required that all rumors of the kind that Mr. Serrell complains of should at once be denied and this denial should also include all fathers, brothers and other relations of the one aggrieved. This Mr. Serrell has done and has covered himself all over with glory galore. How seldom it is that our officials get up sufficient courage to comply with these mandates. There is still hope for the country. Then, too, how elevating it is, to think that we have at least one occupying an "Official Position" whose family join with him in the "(our) estimation have shown a deplorable lack of appreciation" sentiment. Vale Serrell,

An Ex-Councilman.

Great Preparations.

Great preparations are being made for the holiday trade at Edsall's. He says from the very liberal patronage he is receiving in the various departments he feels warranted in putting in as fine, or even finer, assortment of holiday goods than the Commercial Palace has ever shown before. See new advertisement in another column.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 7th.

A Play That is Sure to Please.

JAMES A HERNE'S

Beautiful Comedy-Drama,

SHORE ACRES

Direction of B. C. Miner.

A Fine Company of Players

Entire New Scenery.

Unique Realistic Novelties.

PRICES NEVER VARY.

Reserved Seats, $1, 75c., 50c. and 25c. Seats on sale Friday at Box Office at 9 a. m.

WORK IS A PLEASURE

When a workman has the best of tools in reach. All our stock of builders' and general hardware is beyond criticism. Carpenters' and mechanics' tools of all kinds. Builders' supplies. Moulders' trowels on hand. Miscellaneous to order.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co.

105 West Front street.

Telephone Call. 49 I.

RIGHT ON TOP!

That is where PECK is.

Do you want any of his good goods?

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.

NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS, All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders.

HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.

HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.

One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.

129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of

DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY,

NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR,

CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS,

BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, will be placed on sale

SATURDAY MORNING

AT 8:30 O'CLOCK.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

SOME DOLL FACTS.

This is the best Doll Store in Plainfield. No question about that. The variety is greater and the qualities are finer than you can find anywhere else in this town.

Still more: New York, with all its great stores where Dolls are sold, contains no stock finer than mine.

The Dolls I sell are imported to my order. I buy them at as small prices as I can, and sell them as near to cost as I can afford.

Here are big Dolls and little ones. Some dressed ready for your little girl to take out for an airing. Others undressed, so the child can be a real "play" mother, and make clothes for her "baby."

Some Dolls cry. Some go to sleep. Some even "talk," but Dolls can't be expected to talk very good.

Will you look at these beautiful things? Bring the little ones along with you. Seeing is free.

Toys Are Treacherous

Most toys are made to sell. They look all right, but they don't last. The children are happy with them today, but tomorrow they are unhappy because the toys are broken. Some Toys are pretty strong. For instance, Iron Toys, Wooden Boats, Blocks, Games, Ten Pins, Pocket Knives. Plenty of 'em here. I want to sell 'em to you to gladden some little body's heart at Christmas time.

More Things

Lots of other nice things for gifts here. Prices not high either. Come in and look around. It will keep your eyes busy for a good many minutes to see everything.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front Street.

Xmas.

CURTIS M. THORP.

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be

FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.

Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and irons, fenders, etc.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."

310-312 Park Avenue.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2 00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

Mrs. A. N. Randolph spent yesterday with friends in Bayonne.

Mrs. VanMiddlesworth, is ill at home, suffering from chills and fever.

Joseph Maier is arranging for a theatre party to New York within a week or two.

Mrs. Walter Apgar, of High street, has been entertaining friends from out-of-town.

Mrs. John Hayzer, of Brooklyn, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. A. W. Warden, on Lincoln avenue.

Miss Grace Crosby has returned to Westfield after a pleasant sojourn with the Misses Walker, of Greenbrook.

John Kinney cracked the ice on Green Brook, back from here, yesterday and caught a three pound pickerel with hook and line.

Next Monday night the Council will hold its regular meeting, when it is thought the matter of street lighting ing will be definitely decided.

The members of the Washington Avenue Card Club will meet at the home of Miss Churchill, of Washington avenue, tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Phœbe Melick, of Clinton, N. J., who has been visiting among relatives and friends here for a few days past, returned home yesterday.

Elias Giles and Fred Vail rendered valuable assistance at the fire yesterday, and aided materially in saving the house from perhaps total destruction.

The skating is fairly good on the New Market lake, and many young people from here walk over daily and nightly, too, to glide over the smooth surface.

A. A. Parker and A. F. Warden have each captured prizes for their fancy chickens at the poultry show now in progress at the Jersey Cycle Academy, in Plainfield.

The Sunday-school of the Presbyterian church met last evening and rehearsed for the first time a Christmas cantata, which is to be given in connection with their Christmas entertainment, It will include music, recitations and part songs.

The Misses Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. John Logan attended a reception of the Bound Brook Euchre Club, Wednesday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Davis Tiston. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and the Dunellen guests arrived home at a seasonable hour.

Neaf Apgar, well known as a former manager of the Dunellen Gun Club, and Jacob Blenderman, of New York city, are home from their western hunting trip. During a week's stay in Indiana, they shot over 1,000 quail. Neaf says the quail are nearly as plentiful there this season as the English sparrow is in the east.

The street lights have been shut off, and after sundown the borough is in total darkness. The merchants have also been obliged to resort to kerosene and tallow dips. The cause of the difficulty is said to be because the Greenbrook Electric Light Company cannot produce enough power to furnish both this place and Bound Brook with the proper service, and Dunellen being the smaller of the two places, and less pecuniary benefits accruing from the service there, the lights were cut off. The Plainfield Electric Light Company could very easily extend its service here, and it is said that efforts are being made in that direction.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Blimm have issued invitations to a select few of their near friends in Plainfield and Elizabeth for a turkey dinner to be followed by dancing on the evening of Wednesday, December 16th.

Arrangements are already being made for cutting ice on the ponds in this vicinity. Unless the weather moderates, it is thought that the ice will be of a sufficient thickness to house early next week.

No direct evidence has yet been obtained leading to the arrest and conviction of the John R. Marsh safe burglars, but one or two persons are under surveillance day and night.

A committee from the Young Men's League Men's League met at W. H. Turton's house, last evening, and consummated their plans for a grand

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Highest of all in Leavening Power. Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ralley which is to be held in the Baptist church chapel, Saturday evening. Councilman-elect William N. Runyon, H. S. Thatcher and several others from Plainfield have signified their willingness to be present and assist in the entertainment. John R. Marsh has generously donated a handsome lot at the corner of Westfield and Park avenues, and on this the League intend to erect a handsome clubhouse early in the spring.

THEATRICAL.

Kittie Rhoades has not yet played a part more gracefully than that of Hazel Kirke last night, and her appearance won loud applause. In every way she filled an exacting role with excellent taste and judgment. There will be a matinee to-morrow afternoon at 2.30. Admission ten cents; only a few seats being reserved for twenty cents. To night "The Factory Girl," a new play to Plainfield will be presented, and the engagement will close with "The Senator's Daughters" to-morrow night which is also a new play.

But few plays written for the American stage have attracted such widespread attention as James A. Herne's homely picture of farm life on the New England coast. There is something extremely refreshing in the title, "Shore Acres" It smells of the sea. The story Mr. Herne tells is a powerful one. Not so much in what is expressed but in what is left to the imagination. The author in "Shore Acres" shows the beauties of realism. Other writers have shown its darker side, Mr. Herne the other. His play has been commended for the good it has done and clergymen have publicly commended it. It does not, however, deal with religion and its characters are simple, everyday people, who know little of the world's strifes and struggles. In their own rock-bound village they are living quiet, unpretentious lives, and teaching through Mr. Herne's genius a lesson of love and self-sacrifice. Their are no thrilling dramatic climaxes in "Shore Acres" and there is hardly anything that is immoral or unnatural. The players do not attempt to do any historic acting and they never crowd the centre of the stage, but always impress you as doing just what the people they are representing would be doing in just such circumstances. An artistic interpretation of "Shore Acres" will be given at Music Hall next Monday night.

There is a great diversity of offerings at the Pleasure Palace, New York, the only continious music hall in America. Sybil Johnstone, a well-known legitimate actress, assisted by Shea, as leading man, "Lyon Adams," in "A Woman's Pay," a comedy which Coquelin and Agnes Booth gave jointly at a benefit. The European eccentrics, Brothers Poluski, in their funny skit, "Late on Parade," and Imro Fox, comedy juggling. John Wilson and Bertha Waring, of "Little Christopher" fame, (their vaudeville debut) in their famous talking and dancing sketch. Other high-class entertainers are the Casino Comedy Four; George Evans, the original "Honey Boy;" Stewart and Gillen, comedy boxers; Leavitte and Novello, jugglers; Minnie Lee and Mildred Conner, comediennes; the Carmon Sisters, duettists; Hanley, Logan and Hanley, comedy trio, and the Kariams, aerial gymnasts.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Laura D. Osborne, of Brooklyn is the guest of Miss Sadie Douglass, of Mercer avenue.

Miss Lulu Piker, of Arlington, has returned after a pleasant visit with Plainfield relatives.

Mrs. Harvey D. Wilkins, of Rochester, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. D. Douglass, of Washington avenue.

Mrs. M. J. Greenough, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Matthews, of Grove street.

Rev. E. E. Jones, of Clinton, moved yesterday with his family to 15 Grove street, in the house formly occupied by Dr. Chas. R. Thiers.

Nicholas R. O'Connor returned to his home in New York yesterday, after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bovey, of Somerset street.

Gen. James S. Negley, of West Seventh street, will leave for Richmond, Va., today, where he will view the old battle field and other points of interest.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A.O.U.W., will meet this evening to transact important business.

—Phillip Janners, of New Market, has purchased a new horse at the sale at Madison Square Garden, New York.

—After the Christmas holidays, I.H. Boehm will open up a new department in the store now occupied by Hallock, next door.

—W. H. Rogers, the cycle dealer, expects soon to open his new store on North avenue, formerly occupied by Addis, the plumber.

—The Paugh Caugh Naugh Sinque tribe of Red Men met on Wednesday evening and conferred the hunter degree on one candidate.

—Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A.O.U.W. will hold a meeting this evening. Several candidates will be initiated and officers will be elected.

—Don't forget the souvenir we are giving free to purchasers today and tomorrow. Grand Union Tea Company, 138 West Front street.

—Next Sunday evening, Rev. C. E. Herring, will preach a sermonette on "Mohammed Webb," and a sermon on the recent news from Armenia.

—James. R. Blair, 126 Park avenue, has the finest line of neckwear, silk handkerchiefs, umbrellas, mufflers, etc., for the holidays. Watch his ad.

—The next meeting of the Thursday night whist club will be held in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McClintock, on West Front street.

—The second annual meeting of the New Jersey Sanitary Association will be held at the Laurel house, Lakewood, N. J., December 11th and 12th.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will observe next week as a week of prayer, as was recommended by the Local Union.

—At the meeting of Miantonomah Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., to be held this evening an important committee will make a report regarding the recent changes to the by-laws.

—Many complaints are made regarding the boardwalk on Grove street, near the bridge over Green brook. It is the only bad walk on the entire street and it should be fixed.

—The first rehearsal for the cantata, "A Jolly Christmas Eve," which is to be given at the Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church, took place Wednesday evening.

—This cold weather we are having is making ice very fast and you will surely need a pair of skates. One of the best places in town to buy them is at the Plainfield Cycle and Sporting Goods Company's, store on North avenue.

—George Hallock, the gents' furnishing goods dealer, will leave his store on West Front street soon after the first of January and establish himself in the store now occupied by E. A Laine at the corner of Park avenue and West Second street.

—A horse owned by a farmer named Nansen, ran away on East Fourth street, yesterday afternoon, and the only damage committed was the destruction of two barrels of choice apples. The animal was caught at the corner of Fourth street and Watchung avenue. The horse was frightened by a trolly car.

—Tomorrow the Grand Union Tea Company, whose branch store in this city is at 138 West Front street, will open a store in New Brunswick. Their placing a branch store in Plainfield was a good move. They have a nice business here and it is growing. Today, by the way, is one of their Souvenir days. All purchasers receive a fancy box of stationery free.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY." Park and North avenues.

Y. M. R. C. to Keep Alive.

The campaign is over and the Republican headquarters are now closed. The Young Men's Republican Club promises to live. At a meeting recently Councilman-elect W. N. Runyon, E. H Frost and H. Case were appointed a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws for a permanent organization. This committee will make its report at a meeting of the club to be held on the evening of December 15th, at which time the permanent organization will be completed. The club will meet monthly.

Lively at Mt. Zion's Bazaar.

The bazaar and fair in aid of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church which is in progress in the church building on West Fourth street, this week, had an increased attendance last evening. The various tables and booths were well patronized, and Pastor Groves now has the assurance that the church will be greatly benefited, financially, by the enterprise.

—Blood is life and upon the purity and vitality of the blood depends the health of the whole system. Experience proves Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

W. C. T. U.
"FESTIVAL OF DAYS."
December 9 & 10.
Opens at 2 p. m., in rooms corner
Watchung Ave. & Fourth St.
Useful and Fancy Articles, Homemade Candy.
Come and buy your Christmas presents.
2t d 4-8

Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Etc.
The Second Annual Exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association at CYCLE ACADEMY, on December 2d, 3d, 4th & 5th.
A large display of Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Rabbits, Guinea Pigs, etc. Pigeons that cost $100 each; cats valued at $5,000 each. Incubator hatching chicks daily. Come and bring the children.
Admission, 25c. Children, 15c.
11 30 6

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

A NEAT young woman wishes a situation as working housekeeper. State particulars. Mrs. A. A., care Press.

A YOUNG neat women wishes a situation at light housework, no washing. A. A. care Press.

WANTED—A competent cook. Apply to superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital.

FOUND—Gold Masonic badge and pin. Owner can have same by proving property and paying advertising charges. A. F. Marsh, 25 Vine street.

WANTED—First-class cook and laundress, in small family. Apply 996 Central avenue. 12 4 3

WANTED—A grocery clerk with some experience. Address Grocer, care Press. 12 4 2

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

LOST—Carriage dog; spotted. Liberal reward if returned to coachman, corner Sherman and Plainfield avenues.

SALESWOMAN WANTED — Address at once, "Treb," care Press.

GOOD DRESSMAKER would take more engagements by the day. C., care Press. 12 3 2

FOR SALE—Stove suitable for office or store. 127 Park avenue.

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.
100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.
39c each.

The Kosmo,
One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,
Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats

Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers

We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS

That are well worth your time to see:
Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear

An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

Men's	Value.	Our price.
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER
From 3c.
SAMPLES FREE.
Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.
To $2
EDWARD LCVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

DO YOU KNOW
that Christmas will soon be here?
PUTNAM & DEGRAW
have an elegant line of
HOLIDAY GOODS.
COME AND SEE!
RIGHT IN IT
Every one that's wearing our $3.00 Bull Dog Shoes.
DON'T FORGET
We are the only ones in town that sells the FAMOU HANAN SHOE.
A. WILLETT AND SON,
NO. 107 PARKAVE.

THE MISTRESS of the Mine.

or A Woman Intervenes.

by Robert Barr

Pictures by F.H.King.

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr.

a terrible memory you have! I do not wonder at your city man forgetting. Are you sure what you told him did not happen longer ago than yesterday?"

"Yes, it happened some time before."

"Ah, I thought so. I am afraid it is your own terrible memory, and not his forgetfulness, that is to blame."

"Oh, I am not blaming him at all. A man has every right to change his mind, if he wants to."

"I thought only a woman had that privilege."

"No; for my part, I freely accord it to everybody; only sometimes it is a little depressing."

"I can imagine that. In fact, I think no one could be a more undesirable acquaintance than a man who forgets today what he promised yesterday, especially if anything particular depended upon it. Now, why cannot you come to our house some evening and have a talk about the mine with my cousin or my father? My father could give you much valuable advice in reference to it, and I am anxious that my cousin should help to carry this project on to success. It is better to talk with them there than at their office, because they are both so busy during the day that I am afraid they might not be able to give the time necessary to its discussion."

John Kenyon shook his head. "I am afraid," he said, "that would do no good. I do not think your cousin cares to have anything to do with the mine."

"How can you say that? Did he not discuss the matter with you on board ship?"

"Yes; we had some conversation about it there, but I imagine that—I really do not think he would care to go any farther with it."

"Ah, I see," said Edith Longworth. "My cousin is the man who 'forgot to day what he said yesterday.'"

"What am I to say, Miss Longworth? I do not want to say 'Yes,' and I cannot truthfully say 'No.'"

"You need say nothing. I know exactly how it has been. So he does not want to have anything to do with it? What reason did he give?"

"You will not say anything to him about the matter? I should be very sorry if he thought that I had talked to anyone else in reference to it."

"Oh, certainly not; I will say nothing to him at all."

"Well, he gave no particular reason; he simply seemed to have changed his mind. But I must say this, he did not appear to be very enthusiastic about it when I talked with him on board ship."

"Well, you see, Mr. Kenyon, it rests with me now to maintain the honor of the Longworth family. Do you want to make all the profit there is to be made in the mica mine—that is yourself and your friend, Mr. Wentworth?"

"How do you mean 'All the profit?'"

"Well, I mean—would you share the profit with anybody?"

"Certainly, if that person could help us to form the company."

"Very well; it was on that basis you were going to take in my cousin as a partner, was it not?"

"Yes."

"Then I should like to share in the profits of the mine if he does not take an interest in it. If you will let me pay the preliminary expenses of forming this company, and if you will then give me a share of what you make, I shall be glad to furnish the money you need at the outset."

John Kenyon looked at Miss Longworth with a smile. "You are very ingenious, Miss Longworth, but I can see, in spite of your way of putting it, that what you propose is merely a form of charity. Suppose we did not succeed in forming our company, how could we repay you the money?"

"You would not need to repay the money. I would take that risk. It is, in a way, a sort of speculation. If you form the company, then I shall expect a very large reward for furnishing the funds. It is purely selfishness on my part. I believe I have a head for business. Women in this country do not get such chances of developing their business talents as they seem to have in America. In that country there are women who have made fortunes for themselves. I believe in your mine, and I believe you will succeed in forming your company. If you, or if Mr. Wentworth, were capitalists, of course, there would be no need of my assistance. If I were alone I could not form a company. You and Mr. Wentworth can do what I cannot do. You can appear before the public and attend to all preliminaries. On the other hand I believe I can do what neither of you can do; that is, I can supply a certain amount of money each week to pay the expenses of forming the company; because a company is not formed in London for nothing, I assure you. Perhaps you think you have simply to go and see a sufficient number of people and get your company formed. I fancy you will find it not so easy as all that. Besides this business interest I have in it, I have a very friendly interest in Mr. Wentworth." As she said this, she bent over toward John Kenyon and spoke in a lower tone of voice. "Please do not tell him so, because I think that he is a young man who has possibilities of being conceited."

"I shall say nothing about it," said Kenyon, dolefully.

"Please do not. By the way, I wish you would give me Mr. Wentworth's address, so that I may communicate with him if a good idea strikes me, or if I find out anything of value in forming our company."

Kenyon took out a card, wrote the address of Wentworth upon it, and handed it to her.

"Thank you," she said. "You see I deeply sympathized with Mr. Wentworth for what he had to pass through on the steamer."

"He was very grateful for all you did for him on that occasion," replied Kenyon.

"I am glad of that. People, as a general thing, are not grateful for what their friends do for them. I am glad, therefore, that Mr. Wentworth is an exception. Well, suppose you talk with him about what I have said before you make up your own mind. I shall be quite content with whatever share of the profits you allow me."

"Ah, that is not business, Miss Longworth."

"No, it is not; but I am dealing with you—that is, with Mr. Wentworth—in this matter, and I am sure both of you will do what is right. Perhaps it would be better not to tell him who is to furnish the money. Just say you have met a friend to-day who offers, for a reasonable share of the profits, to supply all the money necessary for the preliminary expenses. You will consult with him about it, will you not?"

"Yes, if it is your wish."

"Certainly it is my wish; and I also wish you to do it so nicely that you will conceal my name from it more successfully than you concealed my cousin's name from me this afternoon."

"I am afraid I am very awkward," said John, blushing.

"No, you are very honest, that is all. You have not become accustomed to the art of telling what is not true. Now, this is where we live. Will you come in?"

"Thank you, no; I'm afraid not," said John. "I must really be going now."

"Let the coachman take you to your station."

"No, no, it is not worth the trouble; it is only a step from here."

"It is no trouble. Which is your station, South Kensington?"

"Yes."

"Very well. Drive to South Kensington station, Parker," she said to the coachman; and then, running up the steps, she waved her hand in good-by as the carriage turned.

And so John Kenyon, without the price of the carriage and horses to his name, drove in this gorgeous equipage to the underground station and took the train for the city.

As he stepped from the carriage at South Kensington, young Longworth came out of the station on his way home, and was simply dumfounded to see Kenyon in the Longworth's carriage.

John passed him without noticing who it was, and just as the coachman was going to start again, Longworth said to him:

"Parker, have you been picking up fares in the street?"

"Oh, no, sir," replied the respectable Parker, "the young gentleman as just left us came up from the city with Miss Longworth."

"Did he, indeed? Where did you pick him up, Parker?"

"We picked him up in Cheapside, sir."

"Ah, very good. I will just step inside," and with that, muttering some imprecations on the cheek of Kenyon, he stepped into the carriage and drove home.

CHAPTER XIII.

The chances are that no matter under what circumstances young Longworth and Kenyon had first met, the former would have disliked the latter. Although strong friendships are formed between people who are very much unlike, still it must not be forgotten that equally strong hatreds have arisen between people merely because they are of opposite natures. No two young men could have been more unlike each other, and as Longworth recalled the different meetings he had had with Kenyon, he admitted to himself that he disliked the fellow extremely. The evident friendship which his cousin felt for Kenyon added a bitterness to this dislike that was rapidly turning it into hate. However, he calmed down sufficiently on going home in the carriage to know that it was better to say nothing about her meeting with Kenyon unless she introduced the subject. After all, the carriage was hers, not his, and he recognized that fact. He wondered how much Kenyon had told her of the interview at his uncle's office. He flattered himself, however, that he knew enough of women to be sure that she would very speedily refer to the subject, and then he hoped to find out just how much had been said. To his surprise, his cousin said nothing at all about the matter, neither that evening nor the next morning, and consequently he went to his office in rather a bewildered state of mind.

On arriving at his room in the city he found Melville waiting for him.

Melville shook hands with young Longworth and, taking a mineral specimen from his pocket, placed it on the young man's desk, saying:

"I suppose you know where that comes from?"

Longworth looked at it in a bewildered sort of way, turning it round and round in his hand.

"I haven't the slightest idea, really."

"No? I was told you were interested in the mine from which this was taken. Mr. Wentworth called on me yesterday and gave your name as one of those who were concerned with the mine."

"Ah, yes, I see; yes, yes, I have—some interest in the mine."

"Well, it is about that I came to talk with you. Where is the mine situated?"

"It is near the Ottawa river, I believe, some distance above Montreal. I am not certain about its exact position, but it is somewhere in that neighborhood."

"I thought by the way Wentworth talked it was in the United States. He mentioned another person as being his partner in the affair. I forgot his name."

"John Kenyon, probably."

"Kenyon! Yes, I think that was the name. Yes, I am sure it was. Now may I ask what is your connection with that mine? Are you a partner of Wentworth's and Kenyon's? Are you the chief owner of the mine, or is the mine owned by them?"

"In the first place, Mr. Melville, I should like to know why you ask me these questions."

Melville laughed. "Well, I will tell you. We should like to know what chance there is of our getting a controlling interest in the mine. That is very frankly put, isn't it?"

"Yes, it is. But whom do you mean by 'we?' Who else besides yourself?"

"By 'we' I mean the china company to which I belong. This mineral is useful in making china. That I suppose you know."

"Yes, I was aware of that," answered Longworth, although he heard it now for the first time.

"Very well, then; I should like to know who is the owner of the mine."

"The owner of the mine at present is some foreigner, whose name and address I do not know. The two young men you speak of have an option on that mine for a certain length of time: how long I don't know. They have been urging me to go in with them to form a company for the floating of that mine, for £200,000, on the London market."

"He mentioned £200,000," said Melville. "It struck me as rather a large amount."

"Do you think so? Well, the objection I had to it was that it was too small."

"It seems to me the young men have an exaggerated idea of the value of this mineral if they think it will pay dividends on £200,000."

"This mineral is not all there is in the mine. In fact, it is already paying a dividend on £50,000 or thereabouts because of the mica in it. It is being mined for mica alone. To tell the truth, I did not know much about the other mineral."

"And do you think the mine is worth £200,000?"

"Frankly, I do not."

"Then why are you connected with it?"

"I am not connected with it—at least not definitely connected with it. I have the matter under consideration. Of course, if there is anything approaching a swindle in it, I shall have nothing to do with it. It will depend largely upon the figures that the young men show me whether I have anything to do with it or not."

"I see; I understand your position." Then, lowering his voice, Melville leaned over toward young Longworth and said: "You are a man of business. Now I want to ask you what would be the chance of our getting the mine at something like the original option price, which is, of course, very much less than £200,000? We do not want to have too many in it. In fact, if you could get it for us at a reasonable rate, and did not care to be troubled with the property yourself, we would take the whole ourselves."

Young Longworth pondered a moment, and then said to Melville:

"Do you mean to freeze out the other two fellows, as they say in America?"

"I do not know about freezing out, but, of course, with the other two there is so much less profit to be divided. We should like to deal with just as few as possible."

"Exactly. I see what you mean. Well, I think it can be done. Are you in any very great hurry for the mine?"

"Not particularly. Why?"

"Well, if things are worked rightly, I don't know but that we could get it for the original option. That would mean, of course, to wait until this first option had run out."

"Wouldn't there be a little danger in that? They may form their company in the meantime, and then we should lose everything. Our interest in the matter is as much to prevent anyone getting hold of the mine as to get it ourselves."

"I see. I will think it over. I believe it can be done without much risk; but, of course, we shall have to be reasonably quiet about the matter."

"Oh, certainly, certainly."

"Very good. I will see you again after I have thought over the affair, and we can come to some arrangement."

"I may say that our manager has written a note to Wentworth saying that this mineral is of no particular use to us."

"Exactly," said young Longworth, with a look of intelligence.

"So, of course, in speaking with Wentworth about the matter, it is just as well not to mention us in any way."

"I shall not do so."

"Very well. I will leave the matter in your hands for the present."

"Yes; do so. I will think it over this afternoon, and probably see Wentworth and Kenyon to-morrow. There is no immediate hurry, for I happen to know they have not done anything yet."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

P. H. ZIMMER,
Practical Machinist and Engineer.
Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting, Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work, General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order. 12 1 1y

Potter & Kellogg,
DEALERS IN
Lehigh Valley Coal.
Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Fine Chrysanthemums, Trees and Shrubs. Also, Palms, Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns and Cassino Clematis, Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.
DENTON'S.
131 Hillside avenue.

Safe Deposit Vaults
THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Of Plainfield, New Jersey.
Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.
J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier.
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "
DIRECTORS:
Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M Stillman. Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.
Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.
VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

MRS. L. ADAMS,
MILLINERY.
Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.
114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Consorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield November 30th, 1896.

Adams Miss Minnie E	Lanoton Mrs Edw E
Brown Miss Fannie E	McNeill, Miss B N
Case Miss H Caroline	Pond Mrs Silas D
Christensen C	Phalen Miss Winnie E
Cox Mrs	Quinn Miss Rosae
Cornelin Patrick	Sherman Miss Albertine
Davisson C S	Smalley Mrs Geo
Floyce & Newins	Smith Wm
Jones Kate	Wakeman Miss Frances
Kane Thos	Walls Saran

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry rates will receive your work.

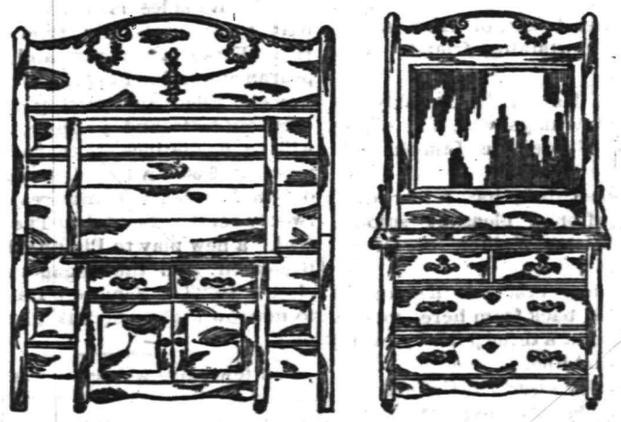
Hillier & Co.,
North ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 30M

Finest Assortment
OF
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
IN THE CITY.
Agency for
Lincoln Fountain Pens $1 and $1.50.
FULLY WARRANTED.
HARPER'S,
411 PARK AVENUE.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Ltd.
The Portland Range has ventilated oven door, duplex grate; it eats less coal than any other make.

Clearing Space for Holiday Goods

that are fast arriving. To do it quick, we've put diminutive prices on more bulky stocks—bedroom and parlor suits. In bedroom suits we've some 50 of same liberal, elegant style as cut herewith—NOT a cheap makeshift, but lasting. Extra large dresser and mirror, large washstand and heavy carving. Prices 50 to 75 per cent. lower than formerly. Begin at $24.75 Still another line as low as $11.75 the suit.



50 Suits on style of above cut—suit here shown is $24.75—large dresser fine plate mirror, etc. etc.

PARLOR SUITS same liberality in making, reductions is apparent in this line. All suits (in a score of patterns) put way below old prices. We've pretty designs as low as $17.50—You'll get splendid worth in every single style we're carrying.

CARPETS This Carpet Dept. is filled with bright new goods at what might be dubbed "dull season prices." Won't list 'em for lack of space—best call and judge for yourself. Will match—yes, go lower than any other price you've seen or know about.

Amos H. Van Horn, Ltd. 73 MARKET ST. W. of Broad St. Newark, N. J.
Smallest Prices, Easiest of Terms. Telephone 580
Note name "Amos" before entering store
Goods delivered Free to any part of State.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

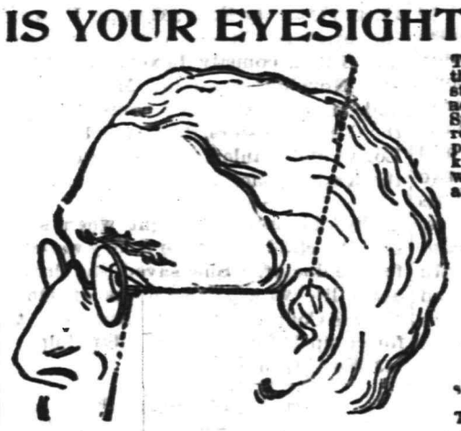
Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?



There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for your strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,
EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.
PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.
-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE
AT REDUCED PRICES.
We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.
POWLISON & JONES.
149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 28, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28 p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 40, 3 17, 3 30 5 38, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 30, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8 00, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p. m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a. m. 12 33, 1 40, 3 17, 3 30, 5 38, 7 01 8 13 8 32 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 10, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 35, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 35 a m; 1 10, 1 35, 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2

Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 46, 2 11, 2 33, 3 35, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 38, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08 6 35, 8 07, 8 50 11 05 p. m. Sunday 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 35, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a. m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 36, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 28 a m; 2 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32 4 04, 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 31, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 03, 5 16 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 03 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

5 15 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg.

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 28 a m Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5.14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 9 32, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 and 5.32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 2.32* 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2.32*, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 3:45, 5, 6:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 30 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m: closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son. Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office 763 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station

AT Jas. R. Blair's,

126 Park Ave.

You can get Winter Caps from 25c. to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.

Watch his window for Holiday goods.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey s 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bannanas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at air rices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

BARRELS OF MONEY IN GOOD PATENTS

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co. 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 49b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.

No. 143 West Front street.

Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201-203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to $18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to $8 00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equaled during the present season.

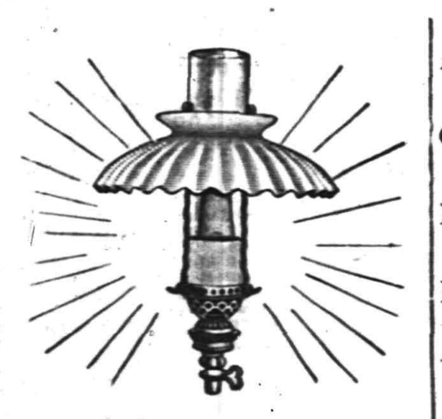
Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM. 113 West Front street.



The Great Gas Saver !
Three times the Light.
One-half the Gas.
See our Welsbach Stand Lamp.

J. W. GAVETT.

Assortment

Of FURNITURE.

In all grades.

Largest and Best

We have ever exhibited.

Visitors always welcome.

No trouble to show goods.

G. Q. PACKER.

Our Overcoats

this season are, as usual, peculiarly our own in perfectness of detail and fit. Prices have been put at smallest point.

Ulsters from $8.00

$10.00, 12.00 and above. Uncommonly dressy for Ulsters, too. Chinchillas, Irish Friezes, Mixed and Black Oxfords.

Overcoats, $8.00

to $25.00—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Vicunas. Some with plain and others with combination linings.

Suits from $6.00

to $15.00—used to get far more for same kind of garments. In swell cheviots.

Boys' Clothing

—we make a good deal of our boys' clothing success. Been clothing juveniles for many years and feel we have an A No. 1 dep't. See it.

Boys' Reefers

with large ulster or deep sailor collars. Blue Chinchillas, Friezes and Oxford mixed. Fashionable. $3.00, 4.00, 6.00.

Boys' School Overcoats

made in same way as men's styles. Blue, black and Oxford Kerseys. Fine finish, $4.00, 5.00, 6.00 and 8.00.

Boys' Two Piece and Reefer Suits

Exceptional sale. Were $3.50, 4.00 and 4 50 before. Now all at $3.00 New in cloth and cut.

Boys' Shoes—excellent kinds, $1.50 up. Men's $2.00 up.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

MARSHALL & BALL

The People's Outfitters. | 807, 809, 811, 813 Broad St. NEWARK, N. J.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

THE FITZ-SHARKEY FIGHT.

No Other Subject Discussed in Sporting Circles at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—While the decision of Referee Earp in the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fight is still being questioned and that violently, there can be no doubt of the decision of a police magistrate this morning, who, when three men were arraigned before him for coming to blows over the result of the fight, promptly sent two of them to the workhouse. Although the prize fight occurred night before last, the amount of talk still indulged in concerning it is very surprising, the conversation even in the hotel lobbies being apparently almost entirely devoted to the various aspects of the bout. The larger part of those expressing opinions appear to favor Fitzsimmons' side of the story, but Sharkey is not without friends. No one who attended the fight as a spectator has yet been found who says that Fitzsimmons fouled Sharkey. Nevertheless, three reputable physicians who examined Sharkey say that there is a swelling and discoloration in the groin, and that this was the result of the alleged foul. Sharkey himself asserts that he had the best of every round and would certainly have won had he not been fouled. On the other hand, Fitzsimmons stoutly denies this and declares that Sharkey repeatedly fouled him, but that, knowing that he had the sailor at his mercy, he did not claim the decision, as he wanted to win on a clear knockout. He says he was simply robbed of $10,000. Martin Julian late yesterday afternoon applied for an injunction restraining the club from paying to Sharkey or his representatives the purse of $10,000. It will be several days before Sharkey can leave his bed. Sharkey has received a telegram from James J. Corbett expressing regret at the foul tactics of Fitzsimmons which prevented him from obtaining a decision in a full ten-round contest without a foul. Corbett expresses his readiness to meet Sharkey on or before January 1.

BUSINESS IN THE SOUTH.

Every Indication Points to Increased Activity After January 1 Next.

Baltimore, Dec. 4.—Special reports to the Manufacturers Record show that throughout the entire south there is a gradual but steady improvement in the sentiment regarding business and the outlook is encouraging for marked activity after the new year. A great many railroad enterprises, some short lines and some of considerable extent, which have been held in abeyance for the last twelve months, are being taken up again with good prospects for early construction. In a number of cases contracts for building have been definitely closed, and the indications are for larger railroad building in the south during the coming year than for several years.

Valuable Minerals in Connecticut.

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 4.—A test of rocks discovered on the farm of Deacon Goodrich at Cox's Crossing, Portland, has revealed traces of gold. That region is very rich in minerals. Graphite, native and mixed with mica, has been recently discovered. Fine mineral specimens are daily found by mineralogists. Portland ordered a highway built, and this deposit was uncovered while the road was being made.

Vice-President Stevenson at His Desk.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Vice-President Stevenson was in his room at the capitol this morning preparing for the session that will open on Monday. Mr. Stevenson declined to talk politics or predict what the possible course of legislation this session would be, further than to remark that he believed the short session would compel congress to give considerable of its time to the appropriation bills.

House Appropriation Committee.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The sub-committee of the house appropriations committee in charge of the legislative, executive and judicial bill is again in session to-day. It was stated by one of the members that the provisions of the bill, except those relating to the congressional library, will be completed to-morrow.

New York Morgue Keeper Indicted.

New York, Dec. 4.—Morgue keeper Albert White has been indicted by the grand jury for illegally disposing of dead bodies in his care. In default of $1,000 bail he was committed to the Tombs.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot higher; checking trade. Dec., 90c.; May, 90c.

Corn—Spot is firmer; prices quiet. Dec., 29¼c.; May, 32⅛c.

Oats—Trade is steady; fair demand. Dec., 23⅜c.; May, 26¼c.

Eggs—Market steady; choice firm. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@22c.; western, fresh, 22@24c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 21@23.

Pork—Prices steady; moderate trade. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.50@9.00; family, $10.00@10.75.

Lard—Market firmer, but inactive. Prime western, $4.25.

Butter—Slow receipts; choice firm. Creamery western extras, 24c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19½@22c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10¾c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@8¾c.

Potatoes—Slow and barely steady. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

WATERS STILL RISING

The Situation at Chippewa Falls Grows Worse Hourly.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE ARE HOMELESS

Snow Storm Adds to the Distress—Government Engineer Investigates the Situation at the Ice Jam—Dynamite of No Avail So Far.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 4.—The waters of the Chippewa still creep slowly into the city and the prospect of an early end of the trouble is still remote. The water extends half way to Central street now and all buildings are inundated. That portion of the town which it was expected would be the first to suffer—the block on the bank of the creek between Spring and Central streets—has escaped so far, and most of the business houses there continue to transact business, although it now appears that they will be forced to vacate in a short time. Col. Jones, the government engineer, who is here examining the situation, has few encouraging words to offer. He believes that when the gorge goes out it will not go out suddenly, but is not prepared to say whether or not dynamite can budge it. Already 2,000 pounds of dynamite has been used on the gorge, but with little effect. To make matters worse a heavy snowstorm has set in and more ice is forming. The people are now thoroughly panic-stricken and men are asking each other where it will end. Reports from the farming country are distressing. Hundreds are homeless, all their personal effects being swept away by the relentless waters. The government will be asked to send men to try and blow up the gorge. This is believed to be the only hope now to save the entire city from being inundated. The freight and passenger depots of the Wisconsin Central and Milwaukee roads are in a sadly demoralized condition. The Milwaukee freight depot stands at an angle of forty-five degrees from its former position, and the fact that it is connected to the railroad tracks with strong cables alone prevents it from falling into the river. The tracks are twisted and snarled and will not be fit for use for some time. Mayor Lindley has received numerous telegrams proffering assistance in case aid is required. To all telegrams he replied that no assistance was yet required. It is impossible to get room for all who have been forced to move, and merchants have been obliged to store goods in private residences on the hill.

NOT DIPLOMATIC ETIQUETTE.

Opposition to the Proposed Public Fund for a Gift to Ambassador Bayard.

London, Dec. 4.—In its issue to-day the Daily Chronicle publishes an article on the proposal of the Daily Telegraph to open a public subscription for the purpose of presenting a national Christmas gift to Ambassador Bayard. The Chronicle, while admitting the Telegraph's kindly motives and Mr. Bayard's claim to regard, condemns the suggestion as improper and opposed to diplomatic etiquette. The mere idea, it says, is enough to bring cold perspiration to the brow of the most deserving diplomat. Mr. Bayard, however much he may appreciate the good will of the proposal, cannot possibly accept such a gift. He will foresee that the proposal will be ridiculed in the United States as a journalistic advertisement. The Chronicle suggests that distinguished Englishmen give a banquet to Mr. Bayard to show the estimation in which he is held here. The Daily Telegraph to-day publishes interviews with the chief officers of a number of trades unions regarding its proposal to establish a fund by popular subscription for the purpose of purchasing a suitable gift for Ambassador Bayard as a token of the respect and good will of the British people. All these officials expressed approval of the plan. The paper announces that it has already received about thirty subscriptions, including one from Lord Mayor Phillips and one from Sir Edwin Arnold.

Japan's Kerosene Oil Output.

Washington, Dec. 4.—A report received at the department of state from Consul McIvor, stationed at Kanagawa, shows that Japan has increased her output of kerosene from 1,172,778 gallons in 1884 to 9,054,058 gallons in 1895. This increase has taken place since the introduction of American machinery.

Thieves at Work in Lynn.

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 4.—Lynn is being worked by an expert gang of thieves who commit their depredations mostly in daylight, their last exploit having been a robbery at the house of president Charles A. Coffin of the General Electric company, of diamond jewelry valued at nearly $500.

Senator Voorhees in Washington.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Senator Voorhees of Indiana, accompanied by his daughter, reached Washington last night and went to the Riggs house, the senator having given up his house during the summer, when his lease expired. He seems in good health

Manning Was Well-Known at Hartford.

Hartford, Dec. 4.—Robert J. Manning, who tried to kill his wife and shot himself at Boston yesterday, was a few months ago the foreman of the Evening Post composing room and was well-known here. His wife had left him.

Senator Allison Ill.

Dubuque, Ia., Dec. 4.—Senator Allison's departure for Washington has been postponed indefinitely. He is confined to his home with a cold and abscess of the ear.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:06 a. m.
Sun sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

CENTRAL BOWLING LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.
Park Club	3	1
Elizabeth A. C.	3	3
Westfield	2	2
Roselle Casino	2	2
Cranford Country Club	2	2
New Jersey A. C.	1	1
Bayonne R. and A. A.	1	3

GOLF.

A. Z. Huntington, of the Hillside Club, won a second prize at the public golf tournament at VanCortlandt Park, New York, last Saturday.

BASKET BALL.

Although the Y. M. C. A. basket ball team was badly defeated the other evening, the team has not lost interest in the game by any means. They will play again on Saturday evening with a team from their old rivals, the business men's class team. The game will commence at 8.30 o'clock and will be preceded by a drill in free work and a bar bell drill.

An error was made in stating that three of the men on the second team of the Twenty-Third Street branch of the New York Y. M. C. A. were from the first team. Some time ago they played there but they are now regular members of the second team. The second team played here last Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium against the local team.

COLDER, BUT NO SNOW.

Ice is Forming Rapidly and in Some Places There is Skating.

The expected snow storm did not come, instead the cold wave came with increasing strength and the mercury dropped lower than it has before this winter. At 12 o'clock last night it had fallen to 15 degrees above zero and this morning at 7 o'clock, the thermometer registered 11 degrees above zero.

Of course, the continued cold has been rapidly forming ice. Hyde's pond has been frozen over and yesterday quite a number went there to try its smooth surface. The ice was rather thin and cracked in some places, but no one happened to get in. At the New Market pond, there was some skating, but the ice was too weak for pleasure. By tomorrow, however, it should be excellent. The other smaller ponds had their quota of visitors.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, has returned from a visit to Newark.

Mrs. Joseph A. Haynes, of North avenue, has recovered from a slight illness.

Mrs. George W. Saums, of East Second street, is ill with an attack of the grip.

John P. Woolfe and family, of Duer street, moved yesterday to 224 West Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Randolph, of West Second street, went to Philadelphia today on a visit.

Fairview Avenue Surprise.

Mrs. H. J. Martin, of Fairview avenue, was tendered a surprise party last evening, and the affair was a thorough surprise. Miss Lizzie Dunn, of West Fourth street, made all the arrangements in her usual excellent manner and the evening was one of genuine pleasure to the guests present. In all there were about thirty people in the party, and the evening was devoted entirely to the playing of games and sociability. Before the guests left for home an abundance of refreshments was served.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Borough Election.

The term of Borough Councilmen Valiant and Peck expire next March and there is a probability that they may be re-elected.

Always FIRST
Gail Borden
Eagle Brand
CONDENSED MILK
For 35 years the leading brand. It is the Best and the most economical.
A PERFECT FOOD FOR INFANTS

"CASTE" DONE CLEVERLY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

rection of J. Parker Mason.

The programmes requested that ladies should remove their hats. It is hardly necessary to say that they didn't.

Taken all together it may be said that there have been worse plays in the Casino and there have been better, but the audience last night seemed well pleased with the performance, which was, indeed, superior to the generality of amateur plays. It is to be hoped that there will not be such a long interval before another play is offered for our delectation.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—J. W. Gavett has purchased a new Cleveland bicycle.

—The ladies of Hope Chapel sent a Christmas box away yesterday to the mountain whites of North Carolina.

—A meeting of the Gazelle Engine Company was held on Wednesday night and routine business was transacted.

—An anniversary sociable will be held in Hope Chapel this evening, under the auspices of the ladies' Bible class.

—Tomorrow only, Saturday, December 5th, VanEmburgh will close out about 200 yards of dark outing flannel at 2½c yard.

—Preparatory services will be held at Warren chapel this evening, and on Sunday morning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.

—A pleasant party was given by Miss Mary Scott to a number of friends at her home on East Sixth street last night. Among those present were Misses Farion Cousin, Reed and Goode and Mrs. Gray; L. L. Crum, John Perkins, Thomas Burton, J. N. Fields, C. Venable and J. A. Saunders.

CHILDREN'S HOME NEEDS HELP.

Many Little People to Care For With Small Means.

On Thanksgiving day, application was made to the Board of Managers of the Children's Home for the admittance of three little children, whose mother has just died after confinement, leaving a baby twenty months old and three other children under seven years of age. The father is a respected gardner and seeks work. We now have twenty-three children and last night applications were made for two others. Our treasurer's report at the monthly meeting held on December 3d showed only $153 for current expenses for our family of twenty-six. The ladies of the Board are very anxious to secure at once additional members annual memberships of $1.00 and sustaining memberships of $10 will be most gratefully received by Mrs. Kimball, president, or Miss Ella Serrell, 625 West Front street.

Not the Oldest Councilman.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In your editorial column of last night's issue you mention that Councilman Westphal would be the oldest member in point of service after January 1st. This is an error, as Councilman John B. Dumont is the oldest member in point of service, having served in the Common Council for eleven years, and Councilman Frost has been a member of the Common Cyuncil for as long a term as my own. As a matter of justice to the above gentlemen you will kindly insert this correction and oblige, William A. Westphal.

Funeral of Mrs. Waldron.

The funeral obsequies of the late Mrs. Mary Fisher How Waldron were held this morning at the home of her son-in law, W. D. W. Miller, of LaGrande avenue and were attended by a large circle of friends and relatives. The opening prayer was made by Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., and then Rev. S. P. Simpson read the impressive Episcopal service. There was a solo by Charles Lewis. The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful.

Arrested for Criminal Assault.

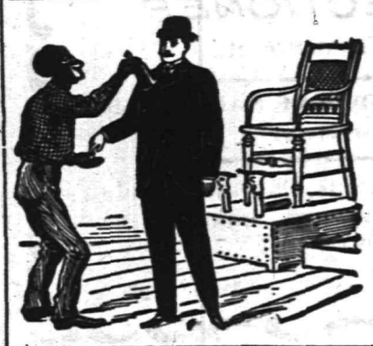
Miss Margaret Dunham, aged sixteen years, appeared before Justice Newcorn last evening, and made a complaint against Edward Carthorne, charging him with criminal assault. Both are colored people. Constable Rockafellow arrested the defendant and the Justice committed him to the station house to await a hearing. Lawyers Swackhamer and Runyon represent the girl and Lawyer W. A. Coddington represents the defendant.

Trinity Sunday School Officers.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of the Trinity Reformed church Sunday School was held last evening with the following result: Superintendent, E. E. Anthony; assistant superintendent, F. E. Smith; secretary, E. H. Bird; Treasurer, W. F. Oliver; librarian, H. C. VanEmburgh; assistant librarian, James A. Love; precentor, H. J. Martin; pianist, Miss Lillian Force; executive committee, John H. VanWinkle, Sr., Miss Mabel Wilson, Miss Lizzie Dunn.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front st.

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.
Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired. PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.



Special—We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.
Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25
SEBRING'S.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED
From the Publishers 500 titles of
PAPER-COVERED NOVELS
Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at
5 AND 10 CENTS EACH.
Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.
LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO., —Dealers in—
Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.
Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock
Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Let Fashions Change
It may be possible to get a Roman nose or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.
G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

An Enormous Saving in Money
It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for net spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.
SPECIAL
300 all wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all wool overcoats, worth $14.00 at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.
New York Clothing Company,
214 WEST FRONT STREET.
M. WEINBERGER.
Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

Chapel to Become a Church.

The Monroe Avenue chapel is soon to be a regularly ordained church. The letters will be received at a "watch" meeting to be held in the chapel on New Year's Eve, to which all the M. E. churches in the city will be invited.

—Make your purchases of teas, coffees or baking powder, tomorrow, at the Grand Union Tea Company, 138 West Front street, and receive one of their souvenirs.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist Church will hold its monthly consecration meeting this evening at eight o'clock. Subject: "How to get good out of our troubles." A cordial welcome awaits all who attend.

Sound Advice.

Borrowall (happening to come in)—That's a fine machine of yours, Ferguson. Some day I'll come round and take it out for a little spin. By the way, what kind of a bicycle would you advise me to ride?

Ferguson—I'd advise you to ride one of your own.—London Fun.

Realism.

Fling—And did the stage have the appearance of a real garden in the garden scene?

Storms—Oh, yes; I hadn't been on three minutes before the place was filled with vegetables.—Yonkers Statesman.

No Fixed Rule.

"Yoh kain't set down no fixed rule o' conduct in disher life," said Uncle Eben. "Samson got inter trouble 'case he done got 'is h'ah cut, an Absalom got inter trouble 'case he didn't."—Washington Star.

Those Tons of Coal.

"Perdition," hissed the burglar. "I am pursued."

He was forced to drop all the heavy articles he had stolen, retaining only the ton of anthracite coal.—Detroit Tribune.

A Cautious Youth.

Mother—Johnny, why did you not tell me that you were naughty at school?

Johnny—'Tisn't best to tell women everything.—Boston Transcript.

Appreciated.

"Wasn't that dinner we just had great?"

"Elegant! I don't know when I have felt so uncomfortable."—Brooklyn Life.

A Misunderstanding.

Palace Car Porter—Kin I brush de dust outer yer clothes, boss?

Traveler—There's no dust in my clothes, Sam.

"Well, yer doesn't look like yer was dead broke, boss."—Yonkers Statesman.

Not Worth Notice.

Walker—Well, Queen Victoria has beaten the record for a long reign.

Wheeler—Huh! She hasn't made a century by a long chalk yet.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

No Time For Syntax.

"Flee!" cried she.

"You mean fly, don't you?" he asked.

"Never mind what insect I mean. Just git. Pa's coming."—Harlem Life.

The Husking Bee.

Now comes November and her beauties rare,
Frost fairies breathe upon the distant wood
Or ride on moonbeams o'er the cornfields bare,
Where nature fondly reared her cornstarch brood.
Off to the barn we lads and lassies go,
For now the husking bee's the proper thing.
And 'neath the Chinese lanterns' mellow glow
Our merriment shall make the rafters ring.'

A husky rustle fills the cold, keen air,
And sheaf on sheaf is thrust upon the sight,
And riotous love flits freely everywhere,
And storms of arrows follow in his flight.
What ho! Kind fortune smiles on me at last.
I snatch it up. There is a rousing cheer.
My arm glides round her waist and holds it fast,
For Molly's found for me a plump red ear.

Her burning lips are such a subtle snare;
Her black eyes gleam at me so pure and bright—
So sweet a perfume rises from her hair
That I'd have done it had the ear been white.
I took more kisses than the game allowed,
And I was just a trifle rough, I fear,
Although the others cried I "did me proud"
When Molly found for me a plump red ear.

Before that happy husking bee was o'er
I was the envy of each sighing swain,
For Molly came across nine red ears more,
And on her lips my kisses swift did rain.
And when I saw dear Molly home that night,
And at the gate my love I did declare,
She whispered in my ear, to my delight,
"Oh, Jack, 'twas I who put those red ears there!"

—Harold McGrath in New York Sunday World.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

"CRISP NOTES!"

—About bright and cheerful things tending to make a Merry, Merry Christmas to everybody.

—So many nice and encouraging words have been said about Edsall's fine new stock and the marvelously low prices.

—That we feel like making the finest Christmas display that the Commercial Palace has ever attemped.

—It's not only nice words that has given us the inspiration but the very liberal purchases the people are making.

—It's just lovely to see the new, pretty things coming in and going out with such a "snap."

—And an air of satisfaction on the faces of the buyers

—Many remark that there is no use of going to New York so long as Edsall keeps up this "wide a make" selling, and Edsall says it's a continued story and the end cometh not yet.

—We advertise to sell fine goods cheaper than any other house, and we do it, too.

—By Saturday next our store will be in full holiday trim, and if you want to see something bright and attractive just come in and walk through.

—Many of the display stands are up now and filled with new and elegant novilties.

—Our own importation of fine bisque figures and bric a brac and elegent French china in all the new and desirable prices, will "cut a figure" this season, they are positively lower than New York prices.

—And in Christmas cards and Christmas tree ornaments, and the like, we just expect to astonish everybody.

—One of the largest publishers of books has given us unusual advantages in buying this season, so when you come to get our prices we know you will buy.

—It is just wonderful what awfully low prices, and fine tasty goods we can offer you in our Art Department; pocket books made up to our own order especially for holiday trade, at "cut" prices, too.

—And you can just revel in laces and ribbons and veilings cheaper than you have ever dared to think of before. Our last great purchase of these goods were enough to supply the whole town for three months yet.

In boy's clothing, caps and furnishings, we will give you prices, styles and qualities that you wouldn't think possible, at least that is the remark of many when we quote the price, and —Boy's what do you think?—we give a real fine watch free with a purchase of five dollars. See the watches in our big show windows.

—We just about please everybody in our Millinery Department this season, so if you are in need of a new hat or bonnet for Christmas, you can be sure to get suited in our department and we know our low prices will suit you too.

—But we've got to stop this story somewhere, as it would take a whole newspaper to continue it to the end, and besides, space cost money too.

—The thing to do is for you to come in and see for yourself.

—We are never afraid to have our advertisements investigated either as to prices, qualities and even quantities, in which the latter is so often so terribly exaggerated by some dealers.

EDSALL'S

Ladies' Calf Skin Heavey Sole WALKING BOOTS, $3
Per Pair. Button and lace; Goodyear welts; dressy and serviceable. Just the shoe for Ladies' who dislike Rubbers.
DOANE & EDSALL.

Creamery Butter
20 & 25c Per Pound at
J. F. MACDONALD'S
Uptown Grocery.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.
CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!
GEORGE E. ROGERS.....Lessee. | GEORGE H. WILLEY.....Manager
Dainty Charming KITTIE RHOADES
ALL THIS WEEk,
In the following repertoire.
Matinee Saturday Afternoon — Admission 10cts.
BEST RESERVED SEATS 20CTS.
Tuesday Evening, East Lynne. Wednesday Evening, Polly. Thursday Evening, Hazel Kirk. Friday Evening, Factory Girl. Saturday Matinee, Unannounced. Saturday Evening, The Senator's Daughter.

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

MIRTH AND MELODY MIX

AND THE TWO ENTERTAIN A LARGE AUDIENCE IN Y. M. C. A. HALL.

The Programme Presented at the Entertainment of the Benevolent Band of King's Daughters Was Very Good.

Many entertainments have been given in Plainfield but none more enjoyable than the one held in the Y. M. C. A. hall last evening, under the auspices of the Benevolent Band of King's Daughters for the benefit of the city nurse. The cause was a good one and the programme was certainly one also. It is rarely that an audience is treated to such a collection of well rendered selections as was heard last night by a large and thoroughly enthusiastic assemblage that filled the little hall.

The stage was arranged for the occasion with palms and potted plants at the corners, and a handsome screen and chairs, giving it the appearance of a drawing room.

The programme opened with a delightful selection by Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith, the talented reader. The selection was one full of feeling and was given by Mrs. Smith in a way that carried her hearers with her. Frank J. Smith acted as accompanist and kept up a soft melody that made the rendition all the more impressive. As she smilingly bowed to her audience at the conclusion of her reading the spell that seemed to rest over her hearers was broken, and they burst into loud and hearty applause. Her encore was of a different style bnt it pleased the audience even better.

The well known ballad of Long fellow's "Excelsior" was sung by a male chorus composed of Elmer Runyon, George O. Stevens, first tenors; Walter Place, George B. Schoonmaker, Ren Abbott, Andrew J. Selz, second tenors; Charles L. Lewis, Jose Macardo, Walter J. Funk, first basses; William N. Runyon, Fred H. Walz, C. G. Hill, second basses. The selection was well given, the many voices blending very harmoniously together. Mr. Smith was the accompanist. A baritone solo, "The Heart of a Sailor," was sung by Charles L. Lewis in a manner that called forth hearty applause which would not cease until he sang again.

"Adagio Patherique" was the title of the violin solo by Miss Nelly Udell and very artisticly was it rendered. Her touch was light and yet firm and she seemed to have perfect control over her instrument at all times. Her playing was of a high order and she deserved the continued applause that was accorded her. He encore was also excellently rendered.

Another selection by Mrs. Smith well suited the audience. It was "The Marriage of the Flowers," and it was given in as charming a manner as the others. In response to the applause that followed it she told in an irresistably funny way some of the experiences of Mr and Mrs. Pike in their early married life.

The appearance of Councilman elect William N. Runyon was the signal for another round of applause. He sang "My Old Dutch," in his well-known style, and then followed with two well known Negro ballads in response to the universal demand for more. Miss Udell made her second appearance and was as well received as before. Her selections were a "Cradle Song" and "Tarantella," and they were rendered with admirable skill.

"Behind the Curtain, by Mrs Burton Harrison, was Mrs. Smith's next number and it was given in a very dramatic manner that captivated her audience. Her encore was a dainty piece entitled "Money Musk." The piano accompaniment by her husband made it much more effective. Three short solos by Mr. Lewis followed and were heartily applauded. They were "My Memories," "Let Me Believe" and "Beauty's Eyes." In the last Miss Udell played a violin obligato.

The programme ended with a tragical cantata entitled, "The Grasshopper." The audience prepared to weep after seeing the title, and they did, but it was from laughing so hard. Those that took part in this heart-rending selection were the young men that sang in the opening male chorus. They sat around in a half circle with Mr. Lewis in the centre. They began by singing a very mournful ditty of four lines that told of a grasshopper that sat on a sweet potato vine and how a big turkey gobbler came up behind and gobbled up the poor grasshopper. In an extremely doleful voice Mr. Lewis explained the different verses or at least the different renderings of the one solitary verse. They sang it as the grasshopper would have sung it, and they were so affected by it that they wept. They told it as the villian would have, and repeated the story in a solo ballad form with solemn faces, while the audience

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.

LESSONS OF ELECTION.

CITIZENS WRITE ON SOME PHASES OF REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT.

The Small Majority of Mr. Fisk Should Act as a Warning to Retrench in Taxes—Poor Idea to Rely on Private Pocketbook.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The first lesson drawn from the result of our late charter election is a severe rebuke to the Republican party and the policy they have pursued for the last four or five years. That there was any personal objection to Mr. Fisk as a candidate for mayor of our city will not be claimed for a moment. A gentleman of the highest respectability and head of one of the most successful banking houses of the country, of strictest integrity and of high executive ability, it will not be claimed for a moment that his majority was reduced to 334, while the votes for others ran up from 900 to 1700, from any personal objections to Mr. Fisk

There is in the writer's opinion but one explanation: The Republican party after having raised the assessment on property in Plainfield fifty per cent have increased the rate of taxation from 1.70 to 2.30.

This to a man of Mr. Fisk's wealth and position is scarcely felt, and his tendency to extravagance is well known, thus rendering investments in real estate in Plainfield or in personal property unremunerative.

Our city tax, fire department and state school tax constitute almost one half of our taxation. This will be followed by heavy assessments for sewage, and with the excessive rates charged for water, Plainfield will not be a desirable place to live in. Let the Republican party heed the lesson and call a halt on expenses. M.

"To the Editor of The Daily Press—The alleged "disclosure" in last nights "Courier-News" regarding Councilman Fisk's action in paying personally for the work done on our streets is nothing new to the active wide-awake citizen—the fact that this had been done was common talk all over town during the campaign even if Editor Runyon had pledged himself not to spring it upon the dear public, and it has occasioned considerable argument as to whether Plainfield ought to allow such work to be paid for by any of her citizens, regardless of the generous impulse which prompts it.

At first glance it would seem as if no one could object to a matter of this kind, but more careful thought make several substantial reasons for such objection. First: the natural spirit of independence to be found in every true American citizen is adverse to placing the community under obligations to an individual for expenses of municipal government which should be shaved by all. Second: the precedent established is a bad one—the next Councilman who may be chairman of the Street Committee will be constantly reminded that he is not keeping the streets in as good condition as his predecessor and the suggestion will doubtless be made that he put his hand in his pocket to make up for the lack of public funds.

Almost every man of experience can recall instances where men of ability, but without bank accounts, have been deterred from accepting official positions, both in and out of politics, because of their inability to keep up with the pace set by others more favored.

We all honor our Mayor-elect and apppreciate his generosity in this matter, but right is right, and wrong is nobody; let Plainfield pay her own street cleaning bills or permit her streets to go dirty. The Council of 1897 should promptly appropriate the amount necessary to reimburse Mr. Fisk for what he has so generously advanced to its depleted treasury.

A Plainfield Business Man.

Building Prospects Good.

Contractor Frank Patience has secured the contract to build a house on Johnson avenue for Miss McCabe, of Watchung avenue. He has about completed Mr. Baldwin's new house on the corner of East Third and Berckman street, and Mr. Maiden's house on West Third street. Mr. Patience says that the prospects for building is excellent.

Sunday-school Committees.

The following committees have been chosen for the Sunday-school of the Trinity Reformed church. Library—H. E. Gayle, Miss Emma Gillem, Miss Minnie Arnold; Teachers—O. W. Dunham, Miss Ella C. Benedict, Mrs. Josie N. Tier; Music—Miss Emma Gillem, Mrs. John Manley, Mrs. Frank B. Storr.

Not to be Married.

The statement that Walter E. Jenkins, of Woodland avenue, is soon to be married, is incorrect. Mr. Jenkins wishes The Press to state that he has no intention of being united in matrimony to anyone at present.

TRINITY'S FUN MAKERS.

EVENING OF PLEASURE FOR VISITORS AND PROFIT FOR CHURCH WORKERS.

Rev. C. E. Herring Told of Some of His Odd Experiences While Wheeling Through Foreign Climes Last Summer.

The sociable and musical entertainment given under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, which was postponed from Friday night of last week, on account of the illness of Rev. Cornelius Schenck, the pastor, took place in the church parlors last evening, but owing to other entertainments and meetings in various parts of the city, the attendance was not so large as was anticipated.

Superintendent Edward E. Anthony presided and announced the numbers from an informal programme, beginning with a beautiful selection by a quartette composed of Mrs. Asa Collier, Mrs. E. H. Bird, Robert Clark and F S. Cutter. Mrs. Ryder and Mr. Cutter followed, each with a solo, and a trio composed of Mrs. Ryder, Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Bird, next favored the audience with a delightful vocal rendition. Mrs Collier gave another soprano solo, after which Superintendent Anthony in a few well selected and humorous remarks introduced Rev Mr. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who gave an interesting ten minute talk on his travels in Europe and the "Life of Women on the Other Side." "Distance lends enchantment," said he, "and that's one reason I never took one to my side Italy is noted for its very many pretty women, and especially those employed in the stores."

Rev. Mr. Herring told of his going into a shop in Naples to buy a spool of thread and some needles, but they didn't sell the two commodities in the same place. These purchases were made necessary, he said, on account of rents in his trousers caused by continued wheeling. He, however, found a good Samaritan in the person of a woman who patched the pants while he waited. The kindness shown him by the Italians was something remarkable. In both Germany and Italy, men, women, cows and even dogs are equal laborers, and in parts of Germany women are employed to flag the railroad trains. In Naples cows are milked in the street and the milk sold by the glass.

Dr. Herring said he saw many female bicyclists, but no ladies wheels. He also told of the varieties of fruits grown in Italy, including watermelons and twenty-eight varieties of lemons. In Rome, cantilopes are the prevailing fruit. Ice cream is sold for six cents a plate in Rome, and only at night. "But," said the speaker, in conclusion, "one can forego the many disadvantages of travel, etc., for the sake of seeing the beautiful sights of Italy and particularly Rome in all its glories."

Mr. Clark and Mrs. Collier each favored the audience with a solo, after which Superintendent Anthony jokingly referred to the following new sextette and the position they occupy on the diamond: Mr. Clark, first base; Mr. Dunham, second base; Mr. Dunn, short stop; Mr. VanEmburgh, third base; Mr. Meeker, pitcher; and Mr. Gayle catcher—to catch the money for church purposes.

Waiters and waitresses then served delicious ice cream and cake in abundance, and after an hour or so of social chat, the gatherings broke up, thus ending another of the many delightful entertainments for which the Trinity Reformed church people are so justly noted.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle chairman, Mrs. J. F. MacDonald, Mrs. A. M. Gillem, Mrs. John C. VanDyke, Mrs. P. M. Demarest and Mrs. F. A. Church.

Received an Invitation.

Miantonomah Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., received an invitation last evening to attend the anniversary exercises of Iona Council, Decree of Pocohontas, which will be held Wednesday evening, December 16th. Three propositions were received by the tribe and the hunters' degree was worked on two candidates.

Evening Sight Singing Class.

Miss Anno O. Marsh, 915 Madison avenue, will start her evening class in sight singing for gentlemen and ladies on Monday evening, December 7th, at her home at eight o'clock. Three dollars for ten lessons. All who wish to join should start promptly with the class if possible.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

IN HONOR OF A TEACHER

HOPE CHAPEL MEMBERS RECOGNIZE THE WORK OF SILAS YERKES.

The Sunday School Class of Which He is Instructor Numbers About 150 and is Made Up of the Older Members.

The ladies' senior Bible class of Hope Chapel gave an entertainment in the chapel last evening in honor of Silas Yerkes, who is their teacher. Mr. Yerkes had had the honor of presiding over this class of ladies for over three years, during which time the class has made a rapid yet steady growth. At the present time the class numbers close to 150, most of these ladies being mothers, in fact some of them grandmothers with their grandchildren attending the same school.

An excellent programme was presented with Rev. G. K. Newell presiding. After the opening ceremony Mr. Newell paid a high tribute to Mr. Yerkes and his class, complimenting them upon their regular attendance and their studious attention to their teacher.

He also ascribed great credit to them for their earnestness in the performance of their several duties in connection with the work of the chapel. Mr. Yerkes in behalf of himself and the class suitably responded. The social parts of the programme were then entered into in earnest. When several selections of music, songs and appropriate recitations were rendered.

The committee of arrangements which consisted of Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Mrs. D. McInnes, Mrs. N Head, Mrs. C. Foster, Mrs. J. Bushby, Mrs. J. Montgomery, and Mrs. Cox, deserve to be remembered with thanks for the very efficient and satisfactory manner in which they arranged the programme.

It is interesting to note that the majority of the gentlemen present were the husbands of the ladies who gave the entertainment. It is also highly gratifying to know that these wives and husbands study the Word of God regularly every Sunday. The senior male and female classes number at the present time over 250, and it is evident that Hope chapel has become a power for good in the western part of the city.

The following programme was rendered: Prayer, Rev. G. K. Newell; piano solo, Miss L. Firstbrook; song. Fred Wharton; recitation, Lenina Gerhold; address, Rev. G. K. Newell; piano solo, Miss L. Firstbrook; recitation, George Leighs; address, Silas Yerkes; recitation, Hannah Higgins.

PREACHING GOSPEL AND DOING GOOD

Report of Missionary Work Being Done in Western States.

The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church was held in the chapel of the church yesterday afternoon. The meeting took the form of a praise and Thanksgiving service. Miss Hardenberg, contralto, of the church choir, was present and rendered a beautiful solo. Mrs. Pearson, of Elizabeth, was then introduced by the president, and she gave an interesting talk of the work being done by the Presbyterian missionaries in New Mexico, especially among the schools which have been established Mrs. Pearson declared that there was Mormonism in Utah, notwithstanding the fact that politicians were strenuously trying to hid it.

She spoke of the magnificent school at Santa Fe, in charge of Miss Allison, and while the Presbyterian work there outnumbered that done by all other denominations, including the Roman Catholics, Mrs. Pearson did not think that that was saying very much.

LIVELY CHURCH AUXILIARY.

Monroe Avenue Chapel Young Men's Association Elect Officers.

The Young Men's Association of Monroe Avenue chapel held a business meeting last night at which the annual election of officers was held. It resulted as follows: President, Henry Apgar; vice-president, Edward Beekman; secretary, Clarence Brouard; and treasurer, Adam Neuman. The general committee will consist of Charles Randolph, Adam Neuman and Rev. W. C. O'Donnell. Adam Neuman and Fred Phillips were appointed a committe to arrange for an entertainment. Walter Arthur, Victor Christofferson and Rev. W. C. O'Donnell were chosen a committee to look after a sociable to be given by the Association in a few weeks. The treasurer reported a balace of $29 in the treasury. The association now has thirty members.

Judgment for the Plaintiff.

Judgment for the plaintiff was given yesterday by Justice Newcorn in the cases of Huff against Clark, and Schloss et als against Giles. The case of Ivins & Company against Brown was adjourned one week.

WOULD NOT LET HIM IN ALLEGED THAT GEORGE TOBIN INTERFERED WITH A FIREMAN.

When W. H. Addis Attempted to Go In His Store as a Fireman, It is Claimed He Pushed Him Back and Swore at Him.

While the oakum was burning merrily in the basement of George J. Tobin's plumbing establishment on North avenue last evening at about 5:30 o'clock, there was trouble of another nature at the entrance. Mr. Tobin, the proprietor, prevented the entrance of one of the firemen, not only with his voice but in deed. And now he will have to answer for his acts in the city court.

It is a rule in the fire department that the first officer to arrive on the scene of the fire takes command until the arrival of any of the chiefs, and last night, William H. Addis, assistant foreman of Engine Company, No. 1, was the first to reach the Tobin fire. Roundsman Mattox was keeping the crowd away from the entrance, and Tobin was assisting him.

Addis started to enter but, it is alleged, Tobin pushed him back. The Roundsman explained that Addis was a fireman and could go in, but Mr. Tobin declared that he should not saying that he would do more harm than good. Then, it is alleged, Tobin struck at the fireman and the latter just escaped the blow by ducking. The crowd began to gather and the friends of Addis persuaded him to come away.

The sequel to the quarrel occurred this morning when Chief Grant notified Tobin that he held a warrant for him for interfering with a fireman while doing his duty and for using profane and indecent language.

Addis claims that Tobin in ordering him away used very improper language. Tobin did not appear before Judge DeMeza, however, until Roundsman Mattox was sent for him and served the warrant personally.

Tobin admitted that he had ordered Addis out of the store.

He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set down for Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the City Court rooms He has consulted Reed & Coddington in the matter.

PUT OUT BY A CHEMICAL STREAM.

Threatening Fire Nipped in the Bud at Tobin's Plumbing Store.

George J. Tobin's plumbing establishment on North avenue was threatened with destruction by fire last evening at about 5.30 o'clock, but the prompt use of the stream from the chemical engine soon quelled the conflagration. The damage was very slight, amounting to about $30, which was covered by insurance. The building is owned by Rev. J. P. Taylor.

Several of Tobin's men were working down in the cellar by the light of a candle when a bale of oakum fell against it and the next moment was all ablaze. As there was no water handy, Patrolman Flynn sent in an alarm from box 21, and the apparatus responded promptly. They came in the back way, however, as the fire was in the rear of the basement. The flames had just spread to a barrel of rosin and the inflammable contents of the barrel had just caught when the firemen arrived. The fire was soon extinguished with the chemical stream which again proved it effectiveness.

When the fire started, some one ran to the offices of Boice, Runyon & Co. and notified them of the fire. James Davis, of that office, immediately started to send in an alarm from box 13, but the one from box 21 was before him.

A GARBAGE DISPOSAL.

Plainfield Sanitary Company Perfecting Details for Their Work.

The executive committee of the Plainfield Sanitary Company are holding frequent meetings perfecting the details for the erection of their plant, which will be constructed and fully equipped for business by April 1, 1897.

Estimates for building are being procured now from our local contractors. When this plant is completed Plainfield will have the most complete and sanitary system for the gathering and final disposition of garbage ever invented.

Civil Service Examination.

Charles B. Stephens, John Whitenack and Edward T. VanWinkle, constituting the Civil Service Commission, will meet in the Babcock building this afternoon to examine ten applicants for letter carriers and clerks in the Post Office Department.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

DANGER TALK OF FLOODS

THE ICE COMPANY'S DAM THE SUBJECT OF CONSIDERATION.

An Expert Examined The Plans for the Borough and Declares That the Structure is Not Built to Stand Much Pressure.

The only two members of the Borough Council who were absent from the regular meeting held last evening were Messrs. Lounsburry and MacLaughlin. After the previous minutes had been read and approved, Clerk Arnold presented his monthly financial report as follows:

	Balance.	Deficit.
Borough	$347.97
Fire Department	175.53
Lights	25.27
Roads	1,197.13
		1,745.90
Poor		380.99
Total balance	$1,364.91.

The amount of $153.91 was reported as collected during the month from licenses, fines, etc.

Tax Collector H. N. Spencer reported that $848 had been collected as 1895 taxes, and $5,315.46 as 1896 taxes.

The name of William Debele was submitted to the Council for confirmation as a member-elect of Warren Engine Company.

Residents of Wilson avenue between Cedar street and the Stone house, asked for two electric lights, and the matter was referred to the proper committee.

F. A. Dunham, in a communication, asked the Council to pay Contractor Bowden $700 on account of Watchung avenue work. He stated that when the work was completed there would yet be $600 due Mr. Bowden. Mr. Dunham stated that up to date the cost for opening the avenue was $2,089.25.

The regular batch of claims was received and ordered paid.

Mr. Woolston, of the street committee, stated that the street work during the past month had cost $202.59, and he reported that there was yet about four days work on Watchung avenue.

Mr. Valiant, of the laws, ordinance and election committee, said that the petition referred to the committee regarding the Washingtonville ice pond and dam now in course of construction, had been considered and the members found that they were not able to decide in the matter, so they secured the services of an engineer who had furnished them with facts concerning the matter. The engineer consulted was Joseph O. Osgood, of Washington Park.

He stated that he had examined the plans and specifications of the pond and dam and had concluded that they were made without surveys to supply a demand for cheap work. He did not think the plans were being adhered to and if they should be followed he considered they were not efficient. In the plans no provision had been made for floods and no calculation made as to how much water the pond would hold. Mr. Osgood said that the pond would hold between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 cubic feet of water, and there was great danger that the borough would suffer to a considerable extent if the dam should break or there should be an overflow. He considered that the affair had been planned with as little expense as possible. On November 10th Mr. Osgood made a visit to the place where the pond is located, and after an inspection he advised that constant supervision of the work was necessary to secure the best results. After that time the company had more extensive plans made by F. A Dunham, and after Mr. Osgood had examined the plans he said that it was evident that the company does not intend constructing the pond and dam with an idea to safety.

The above information from Mr. Osgood was communicated to the Council by letters read by Mr. Valiant. The latter said that he thought the situation was one for general alarm. One person, who signed the petition against the construction, had secured the services of an engineer who after investigation found that the structure was not substantial.

Mr. Peck stated that the fire, water and lamps committee had placed a new furnace in Warren Engine Company's house at a cost of $108, which action was absolutely necessary. The same member then offered several resolutious, the first of which was that a warrant for $1,033 42 be drawn in favor of H. N. Spencer to meet the $1,000 note with interest, due December 20th; the second resolution was that a warrant be drawn for $806 in favor of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company to meet the $800 note with interest, due December 15th.

Another resolution offered by Mr. Peck granted an exemption certificate to H. A. Voehl who had served seven in the fire department.

Mr. Schutt offered a resolution that

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5.

OUTLOOK OF BUSINESS

Further Evidence of the Rapid Renewal of Trade Activity.

GRATIFYING REDUCTION IN FAILURES

The Abandonment of Two of the Largest Combinations Additional Ground for Confidence --- Others Likely To Follow.

New York, Dec. 5.—Dun's weekly review of the state of trade for the week just ending will to-day say: The classified failures of November, given to-day, show gratifying reduction compared with October, and are especially important as showing that the disturbance which swelled failures $36,000,000 in August and September, did not prevent quick return to a monthly aggregate scarcely greater than that of May. Defaulted liabilities in eleven months have been $198,738,459 against $148,544,202 last year, the increase being only $14,000,000 outside of those two months. The decline of failures to about 40 per cent. of the September aggregate gives stronger ground for the confidence so generally expressed. Ground for confidence is also found in the abandonment of two of the largest combinations by which the iron industry has been retarded, and the possibility that two others will be abandoned. Such a state of things suggests that these organizations, formed when depressed business failed to support all the works in existence, are not expected to survive a general revival and ample demand for products. The immediate effect of breaking prices is to check large buying of iron and steel products, but it will soon be seen about where prices are to range. The bar combination is still undersold by steel bars, and nothing is doing in rails, because the meeting shortly to be held will settle whether any price shall be fixed for next year. Bessemer pig at Pittsburg is lower at $11.75, and Grey forge at $10, but there is large demand for vessel plates, both on foreign contracts and for the lakes. Several thousand cars have been ordered, and numerous new buildings and bridges.

Leather, Coke, Wool.

The new demand for boots and shoes is so scanty that some works are about out of orders, though many still have enough, taken at old prices or a slight advance, to run through the year. Buyers generally decline to pay the larger advance now asked, and prices of leather do not yield. Hides at Chicago have again fallen about 5 per cent. and are scarcely higher than a month ago. Minor metals are a shade stronger. The coke combination has changed its method so that contracts are openly made below prices recently ruling, and there is some partition of consumers among the producing interests. Anthracite sells below the official circular, but better demand is expected with revival in manufacturing. Wool manufacture is waiting, and while more concerns are at work, the new demand improves but little with more favorable weather. Speculative sales of wool continue large, London prices having risen 10 per cent., and the average of 104 quotations by Coates Brothers is 13.66 cents against 12.92 a month ago. In the cotton manufacture there is little change, though goods are selling better, but with many added works production exceeds present demand.

Cotton and Wheat.

The market for raw cotton is weak with middling uplands an eighth lower. With over 4,750,000 bales in sight on December 1, when the crop is usually about half in sight, current estimates would leave only 3,500,000 more to come forward in nine months, and the larger consumption in mills does not advance prices. Other produce markets have been weaker. Wheat rose to the close last weak, but gradually reacted, and broke sharply on Friday, closing at 2⅜ lower for the week. Storms have some influence, but receipts for the week were only 2,961,821 bushels against 7,214,911 last year. Atlantic exports were slightly smaller, flour included, 1,992,467 bushels against 2,326,093 last year, but the sharp advance in prices would naturally check shipments. Milling returns at the four largest western centers show a decrease of 28,490 barrels for the week, and further decrease is expected owing to the diminishing export demand for flour.

Monetary Affairs.

The treasury shows a deficit of $8,050,004 for the month, and $52,293,770 for eleven months, but has been much strengthened by receipts of gold in exchange for legal tenders of which the actual circulation has increased $20,000,000. Compared with a year ago the increase in all circulation is $52,200,000. Foreign exchange is kept strong by large operations which are virtually lending money to London, and the receipts of $2,500,000 last week from the interior, with absorption of stocks and payments of time loans on them, makes money plenty and cheaper. Of good commercial paper the supply is much below the demand, though large amounts have been taken, including much eastern mill paper. Failures for the week have been 379 in the United States against 324 last year and in Canada 55 against 52 last year.

Complimented by Major McKinley.

Toronto, Dec. 5.—John Leith Councill, captain of the Toronto 'varsity football club and the champion halfback of Canada, to-day received from Major McKinley, president-elect of the United States, his photograph and a friendly note in the major's handwriting. The latter refers to Councill's great prowess as a football player, and says a good word in general about young Canadians.

DRESS REFORM.

Interesting Address Delivered at the National Council of Women at Boston.

Boston, Dec. 5.—At the afternoon session of the National Council of Women Miss Annie White made an interesting address. Speaking for the committee on dress, she said, in part: "The increasing interest in the movement to secure a more rational dress for women is attested by the constant demands for assistance from all parts of the country and from foreign countries. A circular addressed to teachers, calling their attention to their opportunities for disseminating our principles and furnishing them with practical suggestions for talks upon hygienic and artistic dress, is now in preparation. We aim to secure model gowns. Whether the agitation of the dress question made possible the general adoption of the wheel costume, or whether we are to look upon the latter as our most important ally, matters little, but the almost total absence of criticism on the part of the public upon even the most radicial cycling costume illustrates the truth of this declaration, made by advocates of dress reform: 'Our costume will never be allowed to pass unnoticed by the public until they are familiar with it.' Co-operation, steadfast endeavor, high ideals must ultimately break down all barriers and make it possible for women to so clothe themselves that a free and abounding sense of strength, unhampered limbs, unrestricted organs and a mind at ease will be theirs. The aim of the committee is to remove all those physical and moral conditions engendered by irrational dress, which have helped to arrest the development of women. We would clothe them not less beautifully, but more artistically; not less carefully, but with the minimum of expenditure consonant with success, in the way of time, money and nervous strength."

DIRECTOR PRESTON'S REPORT.

Details of the Operations of the U. S. Mints and Foreign Statistics.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The report of R. E. Preston, director of the mint, shows in elaborating details the operations of the mints and assa offices during the fiscal year 1896, together with statistics of foreign countries relative to the production, coinage and monetary condition of each. The total coinage of gold and silver by the various countries of the world was as follows: Gold, $231,087,438; silver, $121,510,219. Total, $352,697,657. The total metalic stock and uncovered paper in the world was estimated on Jan. 1, 1896, to be $60,938,600,000. The director recommends that authority be given the secretary of the treasury to have experiments made to determine the best means of preventing the counterfeiting of silver coinage. At the prevailing price of silver the bullion and nominal value of our silver coins is about 100 per cent., and this constitutes a great temptation for the stamping of such coins by unscrupulous persons, affording them an opportunity to place in circulation counterfeit silver coins at about 100 per cent. profit as good as those stamped by the mints and which cannot be distinguished from them, even by experts.

ALTEMUS & CO.'S AFFAIRS.

After Payment of Debts a Large Surplus Will Remain.

Philadelphia, Dec. 5.—One of the largest personal bonds on record has been filed by John Lowber Welsh, as assignee of the dry goods commission firm of Coffin, Altemus & Co. The records of the court of common pleas show that the amount of the bond was $3,850,000, the security being the American Surety company of New York. Besides, this the records show that John Lowber Welsh as assignee of Joseph B. Altemus, filled another bond in the sum of $350,000 with the same surety company. Mr. Welsh was appointed assignee for both Coffin, Altemus & Co. and Joseph B. Altemus when they made an assignment, several months ago. An inventory of Coffin, Altemus & Co. show an appraisement of $1,925,000, and it is understood that the administration of the estate is proceeding so rapidly and successfully under the management of the assignee that after the payment of all indebtedness there will be a surplus of several hundred thousand dollars on hand.

Princeton Athletes Banquetted.

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 5.—As a fitting culmination to a successful athletic season the championship Princeton football team were banquetted last night at the Princeton inn by the alumni of the university. James R. Sheffield of Yale and Joseph H. Sears of Harvard were present bearing the congratulations of the vanquished teams to the victorious Tiger eleven. Robert Annin, '77, president of the Gridiron club of Washington, and A. H. Joline, '79, of New York, spoke on behalf of the alumni.

Business Boom at Middletown, Conn.

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 5.—Wilcox, Crittenden & Co., ship chandlery manufactures, will commence running on full time Monday. The Worcester Cycle company has ordered in all hands Monday next to work full time, and has plenty of orders. The Middletown Plate company has put on an all-night gang in some departments and in others put on extra hands who will work till 9 p. m.

Raines Law Investigation.

New York, Dec. 5.—The investigation of the operation of the Raines law in this city came to a close yesterday afternoon, and the next session of the committee will be held in Buffalo on Wednesday next.

Hamlin Goes to Boston.

Washington, Dec. 5. — Assistant Secretary Hamlin, who left here for Boston yesterday afternoon, will be absent several days.

WHERE IS WEYLER?

No One in Havana Seems To Know the Captain-General's Whereabouts.

Havana, Dec. 5.—The people of Havana are still in the dark so far as the movements of General Weyler are concerned. If the authorities have heard anything definite from him since he went into camp near Los Palacios they are keeping their information to themselves. They state that they are ignorant of his present position, but that they know he is carrying out in detail the plan of campaign prepared before he left Havana. Rumors regarding Maceo are many, but little attention is paid to them. The only definite news from the province of Pinar del Rio is that the commands of Generals Melquizo and Inclan have had encounters with the rebels. The fight in the Gobernadora hills was between Gen. Inclan's command and a band of rebels. No details of the engagement have been made public, and it is not known which side was victorious. A party of rebels who made the attack on Fort Bazen, province of Santiago de Cuba, were repulsed. They were pursued by the local guerrillas, who killed six insurgents and wounded fourteen. The troops had one officer and four privates wounded. Col. Torto reports that his command has defeated the rebels under Costillo and other leaders at Mazareno, province of Havana. The rebels lost twenty-three killed, while the Spanish loss was six killed and eleven wounded. The district court of Matanzas has given a decision in the case of Oscar Cespedes, an American citizen, who was captured in the field and held as a prisoner of war in San Severino castle, Matanzas. The court holds that he must be handed over to a military tribunal for trial.

Servia Makes a Record.

Boston, Dec. 5.—The Cunard steamship Servia, which arrived yesterday, made the run from Queenstown in six days, fourteen hours and eight minutes, which establishes a new record between Queenstown and Boston, beating all previous passages by several hours.

Loss of Life on Steam Vessels.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Supervising Inspector General Dumont reports that during last year 221 persons lost their lives on steam vessels out of 500,000,000 passengers carried. This was a decrease in loss of life of 173 persons from the year before.

Hamburg Dock Strike.

Hamburg, Dec. 5.—The dock strike continues to spread and the strike committee will this evening consider a plan for extending the strike among the laborers employed in the city. Business is almost at a standstill in the harbor.

Wyzeman Marshall Dying.

Boston, Dec. 5.—Wyzeman Marshall, the veteran actor and teacher of elocution, is dying of old age at his home in this city. He entered his 81st year last September. Death may occur at any moment.

Liver Ills

Like biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, constipation, sour stomach, indigestion are promptly cured by Hood's Pills. They do their work easily and thoroughly. Best after dinner pills. 25 cents. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pill to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

it's neglect of throat and bronchial troubles that leads to death-dealing disease.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

No wonder Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is praised by its users. Its curative effects are like magic. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

HOME BUILDING AND LOAN Association.

ORGANIZED APRIL, 1888.

Meets at Republican Headquarters, room No. 12, East Front street, on the third Monday of each month for payment of dues and interest. New series opened in April and October of each year.

Monthly dues are $1 per share. Shares $200 each. Entrance fee 25 cents per share.

Members are entitled to borrow the face value of their shares on approved real estate security.

Present receipts available for loans over $4,000 monthly.

ISAAC W. RUSHMORE, President.
S. R. Struthers, Secretary. 10 11 6m-s

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order. 12 1 1y

Your Idea

is that oatmeal is oatmeal—there can't be much difference.

But there can!

Even in ordinary oatmeals there can be a difference—good oats and good milling are better than lean and shrivelled oats and poor milling.

But oatmeal may be something more than a matter of fat groats and smart millers.

The oat in its natural state is the most nutritious of grains, but it must be adapted to man's physical needs. The starch cells—the indigestibility—must be broken.

Steam cooking will break the cells, change starch into sugar, make the indigestible digestible.

And there is such an oatmeal, steam-cooked.

H-O

is the name.

Subscriptions Free to

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly
Illustrated American (Weekly)
Truth (Weekly)
New England Magazine
Chatterbox (Monthly)
The American Kitchen Magazine
Home Magazine (Monthly)
of Binghamton, N. Y.

WITH COUPONS FROM THE

H.O.Co.'s Goods

ROYAL TOOTH POWDER and

Sold Everywhere, 10c.

Allen Pharmacy Manufacturing Co.

I. C. Pope & Co.,

INSURANCE AGENTS,

110 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW

Meat Market.

George Egel, Manager.

Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street 6 12 t

Honeyman's Private Tours.

To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days

Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!

C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 11 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,

Park Avenue Florist,

Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. :: 6 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,

Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in

Cigars, Tobacco, etc.

"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanses and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. TICKLE.
11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

WINTER STYLES

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.

Just Received from manufacturers

FORCE, 129 Park Avenue.

29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.

Best Dairy Butter 18c.

V. L. FRAZEE

151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S

VARIETY MARKET.

Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS

If you want a deep, clear, rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S. Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables

will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,

144 PARK AVENUE.

A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Pig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett

has removed to

148 EAST FIFTH STREET.

Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,

FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.

Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.

R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER, Residence, 33 Linden Ave.

Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf

Telephone 29b. Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

NO. 226 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.

ACCIDENT TICKETS.

THE INTER-STATE

Casualty Company of New York gives SIX MONTHS' insurance

$1.000 for $1.00,

to men or women

between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.

For sale at office of

Honeyman's Private Tours,

181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.

6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,

PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,

Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.

Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE

PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.

Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.

The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisine unsurpassed.

GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,

120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail

Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE

Sewer Connections.

DAVID BOWDEN,

General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.

28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.

Mason and Builder

Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.

OAL.

747 WEST FRONT ST.

Branch office with

G. A. HALLOCK,

109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS

of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.

M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,

121 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR.

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,

187 North Avenue.

Practical Plumber.

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.

Telephone Call 158

L. L. Manning & Son,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.

STAGES

For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,

Sanitary Plumbing,

Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Contractor for sewer connections.

210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,

EXCAVATORS.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,

RETAIL DEALER IN

Fish, Oysters, and Clams.

Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,

Dealer in

Coal & Wood.

Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.

Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S

Furniture and Freight

EXPRESS.

Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract!

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—50 cts. a bottle 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE NO. 4.1

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

103 Park avenue. Established 1869

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 8c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES and FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators.

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 Year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—91 Watchung ave.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, That the account of the subscribers, executors of Sybilla E. Albert, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the 16th day of December next.

Dated October 8th, 1896.

JAMES LESLIE,
WILLIAM R. CODINGTON.
10 9 10

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Is As Clean As Yours

STOCKING-FILLERS?

Thoughtful buyers do not wait until Christmas Eve to think about their purchases. In our stock you will surely find something to interest, always at prices a little lower than elsewhere. Go look where you will, you cannot find anything in all Newark to approach our assortment of

Jewelry, Silverware, Cutlery,
Watches, Cut Glass, Novelties.

RINGS—are always popular for Christmas gifts. 5-stone Diamond Hoop Ring, $3 up. 5-stone Opal and Pearls, $18 up 5-stone Diamond and Opal, $16 up. 5-stone Opals, $6 up. Children's Rings, 60 cents up Diamond Cluster, $20 up Opal and Diamond Cluster, $15 up. Gentleman's Solitaire, from $15 to $150.

Brooches, Sleve Links, Chains, Charms, etc.

RICH CUT GLASS—Low enough in price to make many an acceptable Christmas gift.

OPERA GLASSES—Our own importations, plain leather, best quality lenses, $3. Mother of Pearl, gilt trimmings, $6.

MEN'S WATCHES—Not a watch in our store which we do not guarantee. In nickeled cases, at $2.50. In silver cases, Swiss movement, $5. In silver cases, Waltham or Elgin movement, $10.50.

POCKET KNIVES—For Men and Boys—Discounts to Schools. We are sure of meeting every requirement from our immense assortment. You can buy one for 5 cents or you can spend $18. Boys' 2, 3 and 4-bladed Knives, 25c. and 50c. Girls' 2-bladed, pearl handle, 25c. From 50c. to $2 we show a large line of our own, Rodgers' and Wostenholm Knives in every variety of handles, with 2, 3 and 4 blades. Razor and Shaving Outfits, Scissors singly and in sets, with plain or silver handles.

WISS'S CUTLERY—Is known for its excellence wherever cutlery is used. Been making them for half a century. Table Knives and Forks, rubber handles, $3.25 set. Table Knives and Forks, celluloid, $4 set. Table Knives, plain handles, 75c. half dozen. Carvers, staghorn handles, $4.25 per pair. Carvers, celluloid handles, $2 per pair.

LADIES' WATCHES—We have them in silver, solid gold, gold-filled case and enameled cases. Solid 14-kt. gold American Watch, Roman design, $17 Studded with diamonds, $30. Gold filled cases, warranted 20 years, from $12 up Ladies' solid silver watches, from $3.50 up.

GOLD SPECTACLES (0 styles), at $5.00 upward, make solid sensible presents. Fitted to the eyes after careful examination. L.B. Hilborn (R. O.), is our optical examiner. The cheaper kind in steel frames $1.00, also those without rims, just lenses and clips—same price—better ones $1.50.

J. WISS & SONS,

755 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for net spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

Bargains in Real Estate

For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 169 North avenue Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

MAY END IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

San Francisco Sports Still Greatly Excited Over the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey Fight.

San Francisco, Dec. 5.—The case of Wyatt Earp, who refereed the Fitzsimmons-Sharker fight Wednesday night, and who was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, which he was compelled to hand over to Police Captain Wittman at the ringside, will come up Tuesday next. There is no end to the bad blood which exists over the outcome of the fight and it would not be surprising if it did not result in serious trouble. The disputed contest is still being fought over and over again on every street corner of San Francisco to-day. Professional men, merchants, horsemen, millionaires and men in every vocation of life, save churchmen, may be seen illustrating just how the Australian put the sailor to sleep. Sharkey is resting easily today and will be on the streets within a week. Dr. Tausig, physician of the National Athletic club, does not hesitate to assert that in his opinion Sharkey did not receive any such blow as his backers claim Fitzsimmon administered. Another leading physician who inspected the sailor is of the opinion that Sharkey was doped with iodine to bear out Earp's claim of foul. The purse has not yet been paid and from present indications there will be a legal battle which will eclipse the ring encounter. Such men as Adolph Spreckels and Major McLaughlin are behind Fitzsimmons and Julian, while Sharkey's supporters are few and inconsequential. To add to Fitzsimmons' troubles, suit has been instituted against him by J. J. Haur on a claim for $905 held in judgment by Jimmy Carroll, the lightweight. Carroll was one of Fitzsimmons' trainers for his fight with Maher near El Paso. His bill for services was not paid.

BOSTON FREE SILVERITES.

They Charge Fraud and Withdraw from the Contest for Places on the City Ticket.

Boston, Dec. 5.—There will be no silver municipal ticket in the field in this city. At the hearing before the election commissioners upon the protest against permitting the names of Knox, Barry, Piller, Plummer and Ryan, "democratic-Bryan-citizens," candidates for the board of aldermen, to appear on the official ballot a sensation was created by J. B. Moran, counsel for Mr. Barry, who announced that he and his client were satisfied that fraud had been committed in connection with the filing of the nomination papers. He further said it was evident that forgery had been committed in procuring names. He declared that Mr. Barry would have nothing further to do with the matter and withdrew his name. Counsel for some of the other candidates declared that their clients had no knowledge of irregular proceedings in connection with the nomination papers, but in view of the condition of affairs they had no desire to have their names remain on the ballot, and all the names were withdrawn.

WHOLESALE POISONING.

Members of One Hundred Milwaukee Families Eat Bread Containing Arsenic.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 5.—The health department reports a wholesale poisoning of families in the northern part of the city. According to reports which reach the health department members of about one hundred families are ill, with all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning. The people who are sick had eaten bread purchased at a bakery establishment on Sherman street, and the physicians and officers of the health department are inclined to attribute the origin of the wholesale poisoning to that source.

MANY CASUALTIES REPORTED.

A Fierce Gale Sweeping the English Channel and North Sea.

London, Dec. 5.—A southeast gale is prevailing in the English channel and the North sea and a tremendous sea is running. Many casualties have been reported. The historic chain pier at Brighton, which was erected in 1823, has been demolished. The pier was damaged in a recent storm and there was some talk of taking it down. It was reported at the time that a number of Americans intended to purchase it and erect it at one of seaside resorts in the United States.

Brake Shoe Company Incorporated.

Albany, Dec. 5.—The Corning Brake Shoe company has just been incorporated to manufacture brake shoes and other railroad supplies in Corning. The capital is $200,000.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Trade quiet; prices steady. Dec., 91⅛c.; May, 87⅛c.

Corn—Spot is firmer; prices quiet. Dec., 29¼c.; May, 30⅝c.

Oats—Trade is steady; fair demand. Dec., 23⅜c.; May, 26¼c.

Eggs—Steady; moderate demand. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@22c.; western, fresh, 22@24c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 21@23.

Pork—Prices steady; moderate trade. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.50@9.00; family, $10.00@10.75.

Lard—Market firmer, but inactive. Prime western, $4.20.

Butter—Light supply; choice firm. Creamery western extras, 24c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19½@22c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10¼c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Slow and barely steady. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

FREE BRIAR PIPE FOR

25 Gail & Ax's NAVY LONG CUT

COUPONS OR GUMMED STICKERS

WORKING FOR ALGER

Michigan Friends Urge His Claim for Secretary of War.

DELEGATION SENT TO CANTON

Iowa Friends of Senator Allison Will Not Object if He Receives a Cabinet Portfolio—C. G. Dawes Calls on Major McKinley.

Canton, O., Dec. 5.—President-elect McKinley finds less time now to attend to his correspondence and devote to the privacy of his home than he did when the numerous delegations were arriving before the election. His callers now are mostly leaders in the policy and management of the government. Some it is believed come to urge the claims of certain friends to appointments, while others are called to advise in the selection of the cabinet or other important posts. The first imposing delegation in the interests of a cabinet possibility called yesterday afternoon. Some of the foremost men of Michigan visited Major McKinley to ask him to consider the name of Gen. Alger when he formed his cabinet. Gen. Alger's friends suggested him for the position of secretary of war. This delegation included President Angell of the University of Michigan, Col. Hecker of Detroit, congressman George A. Spaulding of Monroe and Col. A. T. Bliss of Saginaw. Major McKinley received his visitors in his library. Ex-Congressman Brewer was spokesman. The president-elect made no promises. Members of the delegation said they were delighted with their reception. Congressman John A. T. Hull of Des Moines, Ia., was one of Major McKinley's callers during the evening. He is chairman of the committee of library affairs. He had a talk with Major McKinley. Lafayette Young and G. M. Reynolds, Des Moines banker, accompanied Congressman Hull. They united in saying that Iowa would be glad to have Senator Allison remain in the senate, but if he were called to the cabinet the people of the state would want him to consider the invitation very seriously. The officers of the Eighth regiment of the Ohio National guard called on Major McKinley and invited him to have his picture taken in a group with them, which he did. The Eighth Ohio is the regiment which is to escort Major McKinley from Canton to Washington. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago spent the afternoon and evening at the McKinley residence. He said that the only knowledge he had of the rumors announcing his forthcoming appointment as private secretary he had gained from the newspapers. He left for Washington last night.

Criticises the Raines Law.

New York, Dec. 5.—The grand jury in a formal presentment handed up in the court of general sessions, criticises the Raines law. The jury declare that in many cases the evidence against alleged violators of the law is thrown out because the provision of the law regarding hotels are not plainly enough defined, and assert that evasions of the provisions of the law has the tendency to bring the execution of the criminal law into disrepute.

Worden Granted a Reprieve.

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 5.—Gov. Budd to-day issued a reprieve to Walter D. Worden, postponing the date of his execution from the 8th of December to the 4th of June, 1897. Worden was sentenced to be hanged for complicity in the wrecking of a Southern Pacific train carrying federal troops near Sacramento during the great railroad strike of 1894. President Cleveland recently interfered in his behalf through Senator White of California.

Drowned Off the Newfoundland Coast.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 4.—Several more vessels have arrived here in a more or less damaged condition, having been caught in the hurricane which passed over the Banks. Three men were washed overboard from the schooner Nancy and drowned. They would probably have been saved had they not been encumbered by their clothing, which was covered with ice.

Congressional Election Contest.

Philadelphia, Dec. 5.—Samuel Hudson, the candidate for congress on the silver ticket in the Third district of this city at the late election and who was defeated, has served notice upon William McAleer, dem., the successful candidate, that he will contest his seat. Mr. Hudson charges false registration, use of money and other election abuses.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m. 108 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 5, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair, Followed by Increasing Cloudiness on Sunday; Warmer on Sunday Morning.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 42 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 10—Meeting of Parliamentary Club at Y. M. C. A. at 10 a. m.

A dinner is being arranged by the Republican leaders in honor of Mayor Gilbet, who is to retire in favor of Councilman Fisk the first of January.

A Newark man who had been a football player recently had his neck dislocated by a trolley car. He survived, of course, and got $18,000 from the company.

The Press publishes today two communications which merit the careful perusal of the incoming city administration. The ideas expressed are timely and practical.

Many taxpayers whose means are limited are wondering how the sewer assessments will be paid—whether in a lump sum or in payments that will be easy for those whose finances are small.

One of the fascinations that newspaper work has for Editor Runyon, the drone of journalism, is the "roasting" of lively competitors in a vulgar and deformed tone, seeking to expose their passing errors in such a way as to cast the light of infallibility upon his own illustrous brow. He knows unless his sense of comprehension is very dense, and his acts at times disclose such a deplorable mental degeneracy) that the haste in which a daily paper is prepared must necessarily invoke more or less mistakes, his own product being even more prolific in such faults than other contemporaries. Notwithstanding this, and in direct contravention of the commonest dictates of logic in determining just or sound conclusions of mental reason, he frequently refers with a glamour of coarse adjectives and epithets, to the things in which competitors are imperfect (because it is human to err) only to commit the same and even more egregious faults himself the very next moment.

BURGLARIZED A BUTCHER SHOP.

George Egel's Place Broken Into and Meat Stolen.

Sometime during last night the butcher shop owned by George Egel, on Somerset street, was partially entered and several partridge, quail and rabbits were taken. Over the main doors there is a swinging transom and this was left open. The game was left hanging on hooks near the transom and it was an easy matter for any one to have taken them. Mr. Egel did not know of his loss until he opened his store this morning and found a pair of rabbits on the floor which had been dropped by the thieves in their attempt to take the game.

The robbery was reported to Chief Marshal Wilson who will investigate the matter at once. He has an idea as to who the thieves are and they will be watched.

The Jolly Whisters.

The Jolly Whist Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Buckle, on Westervelt avenue. Mr. Tolles and Mr. Buckle were awarded first and second prizes for the men, while Mrs. P. A. Emmons and Mrs. Woodruff secured the first and second prizes for the women. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Tolles, on Orange street.

On the Police Force.

Patrolman Lunger was off duty yesterday attending the funeral of his grandfather. Patrolman Myers was also off, Special Policeman Dagnall taking his place.

Mrs. J. S. King, has been visining relatives in Farmingdale, L. I., and friends in Harlem for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hummer, of Sunnyside, N. J. and Mr. and Mrs Henry Hummer, of Stelton, N.J., have returned home after paying a visit to L. A., and C M. Hummer, of North Plainfield.

—At the special glove sale now on at Crane & Clark's hat store, 120 West Front street, heavy working gloves are going for 9c each and up, and dog skin gloves for men and boys at 29c up.

—Rev. Dr. Roberts, of Liberia, West Africa, will deliver his famous umbrella and empty plate lecture at the Filmore avenue Baptist church, Central avenue, corner Second street, on Tuesday evening, December 8.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

OFFICIALS ARE AT ODDS.

THE CANVASS OF PLAINFIELD'S VOTE IN DISPUTE.

Clerk Howard Stops the County Board—Claims That the County Canvassers Have no Authority—Commissioners Disagree.

There was a mild clash yesterday morning between the county board of canvassers on one side and County Clerk Howard Norman on the other. What the outcome is to be remains to be seen. Early yesterday morning the canvassers, William Chamberlain, P. J. Byan, John L Crowell and E. C. Woodruff, with Clerk Ryno, met to go over the Plainfield city election returns.

Mr. Howard did not think it necessary for them to do it, and cited laws specifying that municipal election returns in cities of 40,000 inhabitants or more should be convassed. The county officials pointed out that Plainfield did not have the population, and therefore could not be canvassed.

The board of canvassers insisted that they had a right, and it was their duty, but in deference to the objections raised would adjourn until the matter was looked into properly.

The canvassers sent in for the last election a bill for $975, $200 each and $175 for the clerk. Plainfield's election, if canvassed in a similar way, would take a day at least.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Queen City Lodge, No 226, I.O.O.F., meets on Monday night.

—The billiard room at the Park Club has been improved with a new coat of varnish.

—A number of young people from this city are planning a skating party to Cranford for this evening.

—Jacquett, the gents furnisher, received today and exceptionally fine stock of men's underwear which will be sold at right figures.

—Several new members joined the mathematical and mechanical class in Hope Chapel last evening under Prof. Fowler, of Rutgers College.

—Brooks Carson and Fred Denckau, of this city, will soon start in the florist business on Park avenue in the store adjoining Harper, the stationer.

—The great bargains to be offered at Lederer's dry goods store are attracting crowds of people who are sure to get just what they want at low prices.

—A meeting of the advisory committee of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association will be held in a few days to consider important matters.

—The members of the First Church of Christ will meet as usual tomorrow at 10 45 a m. and 7.45 p. m. at the home of the pastor, Rev. B. W. Hand of West Front street.

—The famous make of men's link cuffs, E. & W., 25 cents per pair, and a handsome pair of men's fur gloves at $1 25, are two of the many trade makers found at Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

—Edsall's Commercial Palace is being transformed into a veritable "fairy land." It's worth seeing. Call in when you are out shopping tonight and see the fine display of new and pretty things.

—The cadet company of the North Plainfield High School will meet for drill this evening in the basement of the school. The cadets expect soon to drill in the Jersey Cycle Academy with the High School Cadets.

Something about Mr. Worrel—An Interesting Personality.

The gentleman who lectures before housekeepers in Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday afternoon, is thirty-eight years old, is married and resides with his family in Dorchester, a delightful suburban district of Boston. On the temperance and other vital questions, he takes a strong, influential position on the right side. He is a member of the Congregational Club, Boston, one of the strongest and most conservative social-religious organizations in New England. Mr. Worrell is the only person who has made food discussion a large success. He has won an established reputation in New England, where he has lectured seven consecutive seasons. Tickets for the lecture in this city may now be procured at the box office, free, by housekeepers only.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

MIRTH AND MELODY MIX

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

roared with laughter. They finally ended with a grand chorus on the subject that brought down the house.

This very successful entertainment was gotten up by the Benevolent Band of King's Daughters, of which Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney is the efficient president. The committee of arrangements for the entertainment consisted of Mrs. F. S. Martin, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. William Myers and Miss Ella Martine. F. S. Martin presided over the ticket window and W. L. C. Glenney looked after the door. The ushers were Harry Patton, Clifford Halloway, Edward Hobby, Lester Glenny and Van R. Schuyler.

Of the singers, Messrs. Hill, Abbott, Funk, and Selz were from the University of New York.

THEATRICAL.

A late number of Munsey's Magazine has a laughable article about the turkey dinner the poor actors are obliged to eat in "Shore Acres." It says; "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children ought to be notified about little Maudy Gates, who is litterally stuffed with turkey, cranberry sauce and mince pie every night in the week and twice on Saturday." It must be an awful thing to be obliged to eat such delicacies when one has no appetite for them. There are some actors now playing in "Shore Acres" that have set down to this Thanksgiving feast over one thousand times. No wonder they hate the sight of roast turkey. As yet Mr. Herne's play has not caused a scarcity of this toothsome bird, but there is no telling what may happen if "Shore Acres" continues to grow in popularity. A fine scenic production of this popular comedy drama will be given at Stillman Music Hall, Monday evening.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

(Notices under this head are published by The Daily Press free of charge, when supplied fresh each week by authority. Copy must be in hand by 10 a. m. Saturday to insure insertion, and should be supplied Friday when possible.)

Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest—Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m.; Sunday-school, 9:45 a. m.

St. Joseph's (R. C.) Church—Rev. William. H. Miller, pastor. Masses at 8:30 and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 2:30; evening devotions, 8.

St. Mary's (R. C.) Church—Rev. P. E. Smyth, pastor. Masses at 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 a. m.; evening devotions at 8. Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.

Trinity Reformed Church—Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rev. A. I. Mar-Martine, of Dunellen, will preach. Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.

St. Stephen's Church, Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector—Holy Communion, 7:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 9:45 a. m.; Holy Communion and sermon, 11 a. m.; evening prayer and sermon, 7:45. The free stages have been discontinued, as the trolley cars run past the church every twelve minutes.

Reform Hall—4:15 meeting will be led by Mr. Demaris.

Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. H. J. Johnston, pastor—Preaching service, 10:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Morning subject, "The Tree of Life." Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m. Epworth League at 7 p. m., subject, "The Third Person in Every Friendship."

Monroe Avenue M. E. Chapel, Rev. William C. O'Donnell, pastor—Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday-school at 3 p. m. Epworth League meeting at 7:15 p. m.

Grace Church, Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector—Early celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m.; litany, Holy Communion and sermon 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school at 3 p. m.; children's service, 3:30 p. m.; evening service at 7:45. An address to the children will be made by Miss Street, lately returned from India, at 3:30.

Y. M. C. A. Bible training class and the Bible class for members of the physical department will be conducted at 4:15 p. m.

Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. C. R. Barnes, D. D., pastor—Preaching by the pastor at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning subject, "The Promises of God;" evening, "The Work of God." Sunday-school and monthly missionary meeting at 2:30 p. m.; Epworth League prayer meeting at 7 p. m.

Park Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor—Sunday-school at 2:30 p. m. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the pastor. Morning theme, "Christ the Only Intercessor;" evening, "Smitten Souls."

Congregational Church, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor—Morning service at 10:30; Sunday-school at 2:45; Christian Endeavor service at 7:30 p. m.

First Presbyterian Church—Rev. Chas. E. Herring, pastor. Evening service, sermonette, Mohammed Webb and Islam; sermon, The American Question.

E. L. Suffern will speak and Lieut. Edna Ellis, of the Salvation Army, will sing at the Y. M. C. A.

Salvation Army Hall—The meetings will begin at 3 o'clock instead of 2:30 as heretofore. Staff Captain and Mrs. Brown, who have the charge of the Northern New Jersey District, will conduct special meetings Saturday and Sunday, Dec 12th and 13th.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Fred E. Smith, of Mercer avenue, is detained at home by a slight illness.

Miss Anna Hummer, of High Bridge, returned home yesterday after a pleasant visit with Plainfield friends.

Miss Etta Trembly, of 418 West Fourth street, has been awarded the prize French doll, offered in Home Talk, published by L Sternberg & Co., 205 209 West Front street, she having given the largest number of words from the two words "Thanksgiving Day.

—Blood is life and upon the purity and vitality of the blood depends the health of the whole system. Experience proves Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier.

Hood's Pills act easily anp promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

A Competivive Drill.

At the meeting of Somerset Council No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., last evening, there was a competitive drill between the initiatory teams of the above council and Central Council, of Westfield. Several of the State Officers were present, and they decided that Somerset Council was entitled to the honors. After the drill a smoker was enjoyed and speeches were made by the visitors.

TWO SONS OF GRIEF.

Losing Their Wives Was Hard, but They Were Getting Reconciled.

The one was a man about 60 years old, with a satchel on his knees. The other was a man of about the same age, with a satchel between his feet. They sat opposite each other in the street car, and each had a mourning band on his hat. By and by they happened to look at each other, and a fellow feeling welled up in their hearts at once.

"I take it," said No. 1 as he leaned across the aisle, "that your beloved wife has departed from this cold world."

"She has," was the reply. "You also seem to have suffered the same sorrow."

"Jest the same. Yes, my wife has been laid away to rest. It comes hard, don't it?"

"Powerful hard. Did you feel as if you wanted to go too?"

"I did. I purty nigh committed suicide."

"So did I. Did you git over that feelin after about three months?"

"Waal, sorter."

"Same with me. You fust thought you'd buy a $100 gravestun, didn't you?"

"That was exactly my figger.

"Same here. Got one yit?"

"Noap."

"Neither hev I. How much you goin to pay when you do git one?"

"About $15."

"That's my figger. Did it seem to you fur the fust six months as if you could never marry agin?"

"It did."

"Same with me. Then you kinder had a feelin that it was your dooty?"

"That's it—that's it."

"Same with me. Then you begun to cast yer eye aroun fur a widder?"

"Sure's you live, I did."

"Same with me. And you found one?"

"I did, and I'm goin to be married next week."

"Same with me. And if we happen to run across each other on our bridal towers, let's poke each other in the ribs and knock off hats and drink a lot of ginger ale and hev fun together."—New York Sunday Journal.

The Statement Caught Him.

"It's no soft snap," he said, "this running for office. Why, I'm going night and day. I haven't heard my wife's voice in three months."

And then his friend, with an expression of mingled sadness and hope, reached out and grasped his hand and said eagerly.

"For the Lord's sake, tell me how I can get into politics!"—Chicago Times-Herald.

Not Much in His.

Owens—What's in a name anyhow?
Dunne—Not much in yours, old man.
Owens—What do you mean?
Dunne—Why, everything you've got is in your wife's name, isn't it?—Brooklyn Life.

The Kiss I Didn't Get.

She gave consent and bent her head—
I thought her strangely kind—
With pouted lips, "Just one," she said,
And then—she changed her mind—
A woman's privilege. Ah, 'twas sad
To relinquish it. And yet
The sweetest kiss I ever had
Was that kiss I didn't get.

Then how she laughed—the dainty sprite—
And smoothed my scowling brow!
I played a churlish part that night—
I scarce forgive her now.
And yet 'twas better far, I'm sure,
Than if our lips had met,
For in remembrance will endure
That kiss I didn't get.

So 'tis with life—the aims we miss
Will shine forever bright
And leave a fragrance like the kiss
I failed to get that night.
Ah, years may come and years may go,
But ne'er shall I forget—
The sweetest kiss I'll ever know—
The kiss I didn't get.
—Will Adkins in Nashville American.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay. required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

Potter & Kellogg,
DEALERS IN
Lehigh Valley Coal.
Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

WORK IS A PLEASURE

When a workman has the best of tools in reach. All our stock of builders' and general hardware is beyond criticism. Carpenters' and mechanics' tools of all kinds. Builders' supplies. Moulders' trowels on hand. Miscellaneous to order.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co.
105 West Front street.
Telephone Call 49 L. 9 3 1y

RIGHT ON TOP!

That is where PECK is.

Do you want any of his good goods?

--JAQUETT'S--
CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.
SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders.
HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.
HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.
One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of
DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY,
NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR,
CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS,
BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, will be placed on sale

SATURDAY MORNING

AT 8:30 O'CLOCK.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

SOME DOLL FACTS.

This is the best Doll Store in Plainfield. No question about that. The variety is greater and the qualities are finer than you can find anywhere else in this town.

Still more: New York, with all its great stores where Dolls are sold, contains no stock finer than mine.

The Dolls I sell are imported to my order. I buy them at as small prices as I can, and sell them as near to cost as I can afford.

Here are big Dolls and little ones. Some dressed ready for your [illegible] out for an airing. Others undressed, so the child can be a real "play" mother, and make clothes for her "baby."

Some Dolls cry. Some go to sleep. Some even "talk," but Dolls can't be expected to talk very good.

Will you look at these beautiful things? Bring the little ones along with you. Seeing is free.

Toys Are Treacherous

Most toys are made to sell. They look all right, but they don't last. The children are happy with them today, but tomorrow they are unhappy because the toys are broken. Some Toys are pretty strong. For instance, Iron Toys, Wooden Boats, Blocks, Games, Ten Pins, Pocket Knives. Plenty of 'em here. I want to sell 'em to you to gladden some little body's heart at Christmas time.

More Things

Lots of other nice things for gifts here. Prices not high either. Come in and look around. It will keep your eyes busy for a good many minutes to see everything.

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front Street.

Xmas.

CURTIS M. THORP,

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be
FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.
Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and-irons, fenders, etc.
"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."
310–312 Park Avenue.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

S. N Giles, of Port Richmond, S. I., is visiting his brother George, here.

Harry Dodwell, an employe of A. M. Griffin in Plainfield is home suffering from the grip.

The young lads about town are now having good skating on the brickyard pond, just north of here.

The Misses Emma Giddes, Nellie Martin and Katie Sebring spent yesterday in New York shopping for the holidays.

The new town hall was declared finished today, and it must be said that the structure is an ornament to the borough.

George Huff and Jacob Small went gunning for rabbits yesterday, but they found none, although they saw numerous tracks in the snow.

Engineer John Moynahan and Geo. Manning had a few friendly games of checkers and dominoes in W.H. Cole's office last evening. Both are expert players and it was nip and tuck from start to finish.

Miss Mamie Cooper, of Church street and Madison avenue, entertained about twenty of her relatives and near friends last evening. The entertainment was styled a "house warming," and was given as a sort of christening to the new addition to the house.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

This evening a reception and literary entertainment will be given in the parlors of the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Blimm will entertain a few Plainfield and New York friends over Sunday.

W. H. Turton is making extensive preparations for the holiday trade. He intends decorating the interior of his store before Christmas.

FANWOOD.

The Fanwood Borough Firemen's Relief Association has been incorporated by President H. T. Robinson, Foreman H. L. Hall and A. C. Baker, of the department, who yesterday filed the articles of incorporation with the Clerk of the County in Elizabeth. The officers of the new association are: H. T. Robinson, president; H.N Stevens vice president; L J. Ellis, treasurer; F. D. Warren, E. A. Urner and C. W. TenBroeck, directors.

WASHINGTONVILLE.

About thirty young people assembled at the home of Mrs. Speir, Thursday evening, and gave her a pleasant surprise. The evening was pleasantly passed with music, singing, games and dancing.

A SOURCE OF POLLUTION.

From Where Does the Oil and Refuse Flow Into Green Brook Now?

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In your Wednesday's issue you call attention, and justly so, to the odor arising from the catch-basin at the corner of West Front and New streets. If the Board of Health of this city, provided there is such a body in existence, would send their Health Inspector to examine the mouth of this sewer he would find that gallons of foul-smelling oil comes out of it and flows into Green brook, polluting its waters for a long distance. Whence comes this refuse oil? Can it be possible that by some break in the sewer, or other mishap, the exhaust steam and waste oil of the Electric Light Company goes into the sewer and thus into the brook? Who can tell, and whose business is it to find out, if the Health Board does not?

Engineer.

Do You See It?

There's a glow of golden promise in [illegible] clouded country's skies, it is the ou[illegible] signal light [illegible] that bids prosperity arise, its growing flame lights up the path of industry again and tells the dawn of better times throughout our wide domain. Is it possible your vision [illegible] the signal bright to read? Then go to [illegible] Collier's, 103 Park avenue, for [illegible] which you are in need.

—Noah Dove Encampment, I.O.O.F., held a meeting on Thursday night and routine business was transacted. The encampment will meet again on the evening of December 17th, when the officers will be nominated.

—McClure's Magazine, a popular illustrated monthly, has been added to the list of periodicals regularly received at the reading room of the Public Library. By the addition of McClure's the number of periodicals received at the Library, reaches 106. These are all accessible to the public.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

DANGER TALK OF FLOODS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

the action of Collector Spencer in paying the mouthly pay roll amounting to $202.59 be confirmed. Another resolution offered by the same member provided that a warrant for $700 be drawn in favor of Contractor Bowden on account of the Watchung avenue extension and the same be charged to F. A. Dunham. The above two resolutions were adopted, as was also one offered by Mr. Woolston that a warrant for $225.07 be drawn in favor of H. N. Spencer to meet the $1,000 note due December 15th, the same to be charged to the road account.

At this time S. B. Joseph, who was present, was given the privilege of the floor and he spoke to the council somewhat as follows:

"I desire to speak not as a firemen but as a taxpayer. I am heartily in favor of all improvements in our borough, but I feel that the introduction of a hose company in the West End at an expense of $2,000 is useless and unnecessary. As matters now exist with the water hydrants in that part of the borough, and good roads, the firemen are able to do the best work. If you follow out your present plans you will find the present system of fire alarm useless to those in the West End, as has been demonstrated already, for you cannot awake those in that section. As a firemen I will say that the department is in good working order, but it is deficient in not having ladders to work with. I would advise that a hook and ladder truck be purchashed instead of the other expenditure. It could be placed in the old electric light station or in a portion of the Heyinger building. Thus we would be able to handle any fire we might have. Our department will compare favorably with any voluntary department in this state.

Mr. Pangborn, of Chatham street, then appeared before the Council and asked the members to go with him through Chatham street, that they might see how some one had failed to do their duty in not placing lights there.

Mr. Pangborn said that he had just previously escaped a serious accident, and on Sunday night last he had met with a similar experience and Mayor Hegeman assured Mr. Pangborn that the matter would be attended to at once.

This concluded the business of the evening and the council adjourned.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charles W. Nichols, of Rahway, was in town yesterday afternoon on business.

Miss Minnie Force, of LaGrande avenue, has recovered from a slight illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Depew, of Rockview avenue, have gone to Atlantic for a week's stay.

Robert Pierson, of Clinton avenue, has secured a position as conductor on the street railway.

L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, went to Philadelphia on business yesterday.

Isaac Runyon and family, of East Third street, have moved to E izabeth where they will reside.

Mr. Powers, the milkman, has accepted a position as motorman on the Somerset street trolley line.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duffert, of Brooklyn, are guests at the home of Mrs. E. F. DuBois, of Park avenue.

Oscar A. Campbell, who has been practicing law at Morgantown, W. Va., is spending several weeks at his home on Netherwood avenue.

Mrs. George S. Olmstead, of New York, has returned home after visiting her cousin, Miss Mary L. Van-Eps, of Franklin place.

Harry Morrison, of New York, formerly of this city, sailed yesterday for Europe to look after the interests of the National Tobacco Company.

Halstead C. Compton, of West Front street, will leave today for a six week's hunting trip to Newburn, North Carolina. Dr. Zeglio had expected to accompany Mr. Compton, but he was necessarily detained at home on account of a very sick patient, which he cannot leave at present.

Soothing, and not irritating, [illegible]ngthening, and not weakening, [illegible]t effective—such are the qualities of [illegible]witt's Little Early Risers, the famous [illegible]ills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front [illegible]reet.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—A regular meeting of Engine Company, No. 2, will be held on Tuesday evening at the company parlors.

—Edsall's Commercial Palace is being decorated with red and blue bunting for the Christmas holidays.

—Contractor John H. Kitchen, of this city, has completed the carpenter work on the new Town Hall at Dunellen.

—H. C. Compton has just completed the work of connecting up his new house on Compton avenue with water and sewerage.

—A handsome display of Lazell's perfumes is on exhibition in the show window of L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist.

—The Madison avenue commissioners and the sewer commissioners will each report to the City Council at the meeting Monday evening.

—Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, will hold its regular meeting on Monday evening. The temple degree will be confered.

—There are several places about town where the ice on the sidewalk is left, thereby making it possible for pedestrians to meet with accidents.

—At the next meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O.O. F., a representative of the Odd Fellows' Home will be present and give an illustrated lecture on "Ben Hur."

—Michael Quinn, C. C. Brower, of Avon Park, Robert Fairburn and James Arkell, of Westfield, sold a number of colts for fair prices at the Kellogg sale at Madison Square Garden, New York.

—Vogt Brothers, owners of the Morristown True Democratic Banner, have purchased and will continue the publication of the Madison Democrat, which was started three months ago to advocate free coinage of silver.

—The local union Christian Endeavorers will hold a rally Thursday evening, December 17th, in the First Presbyterian church, at which time Rev. Dr. Harsha, of Harlem, will deliver an address on "Bible Study."

—The Plainfield High School Cadets did not meet for drill this week on account of the cold weather, but arrangements will soon be made by which the company will be able to drill at the Jersey Cycle Academy one evening each week.

—Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, County President of the W. C. T. U., will lead the meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4:15 in the rooms on Watchung avenue. She will have something to say regarding the recent St. Louis convention which she attended.

—Garriet Q Packer, the well known furniture dealer, of West Front street, is offering a fine assortment of furniture novelties for suitable and useful holiday presents. He also begs to remind his many friends and patrons of his custom of reserving what they may select to be ready for delivery when wanted.

—A stock insurance company with a capital stock of $200,000 and a reserve stock of $70,000 to be known as the Somerset Assurance Company is one of the probabilities in the near future. John H. B. Speer is the promoter and some of the leading capitalists of the State are subscribers The home office will be in Somerville.

—Leading dentists recommend Royal Tooth Powder—It is made of finest precipitated chalk and Conti-Castile soap (finest known) delicately flavored, four-ounce glass, nickeled-top bottle, 25 cents; deeorated metal can, 10 cents. Royal Borated or Carbolated Talcum, nothing better, metal sprinkler top cans, 10 cents. Plainfield's best stores handle these goods. A trial solicited. Allen Pharmacy Manufacturing Company.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY." Park an North avenues.

Notice of Assignment.

Notice is hereby given that John V. Berkaw of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, carrying on business of shoe dealer, hath this day made an assignment to the subscriber of his estate for the equal benefit of his creditors, and that the said creditors must exhibit their respective claims under oath of affirmation to the subscriber at his office No. 125 West Front street, Plainfield N. J., on or before the 24th day of February, being three months from this date, or be forever barred from coming in for a dividend of the estate; and the said creditors are further notified that a list of the claims against the said John V. Berkaw will be filed with the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union at the expiration of the said three months when exceptions thereto may be filed by any person interested.

Dated Nov. 24, 1896.

J. AUGUSTUS SMITH, Assignee.
S. S. SWACKHAMER, Atty. 11 28 4 oaw

NOTICE.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—Frank A. Patience, doing business as contract r and builder in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, and State of New Jersey, hereby desires to state that the report being circulated regarding his failure in usiness is utterly false from the beginning, and h reby offers a reward of TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS to any person who can trace said report to its origin and lead to the conviction of the original circulator; and furthermore that he has been doing business for numerous of Plainfield's wealthiest and respected citizens for the past four years and never before has had his financial standing questioned or never has given any reason to anyone to question same. FRANK A. PATIENCE. 12 5 2

Christmas Wreaths Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,
Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.
DENTON'S.
131 Hillside avenue.

Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Etc.
The Second Annual Exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association at CYCLE ACADEMY, on December 2d, 3d, 4th & 5th
A large display of Poultry, Pigeons, Cats, Rabbits, Guinea Pigs, etc. Pigeons that cost $100 each; cats valued at $5,000 each. Incubator hatching chicks daily. Come and bring the children.
Admission, 25c. Children, 15c.
11 30 6

Safe Deposit Vaults
THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Of Plainfield, New Jersey.
Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.
J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier;
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "
DIRECTORS:
Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M. Stillman. Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. B. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.
Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.
VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

FOR SALE—Lady's Richmond wheel. Apply 247 West Front St.

HOUSE TO LET—Complete order; $10 per month. G. F. White, 116 West Front street, tea store.

SITUATION WANTED—By young girl to do general housework in small family; no washing. Address "S," care Press.

WANTED—Situation by stenographer and typewriter; with machine, if desired. Address "Typewriter," care Press.

WANTED—First-class cook and laundress, in small family. Apply 996 Central avenue. 12 4 3

WANTED—A grocery clerk with some experience. Address Grocer, care Press. 12 4 2

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

GOOD DRESSMAKER would take more engagements by the day. C., care Press. 12 3 2

FOR SALE—Stove suitable for office or store. 127 Park avenue.

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11-10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.
100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.
39c. each.

The Kosmo,
One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,
Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats
Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.
Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers
We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS
That are well worth your time to see:
Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear
An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

	Value.	Our price.
Men's
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER
From 3c. To $2
SAMPLES FREE.
Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over fine. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.
EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

DO YOU KNOW
that Christmas will soon be here?
PUTNAM & DEGRAW
have an elegant line of
HOLIDAY GOODS.
COME AND SEE!

RIGHT IN IT
Every one that's wearing our $3.00 Bull Dog Shoes.
DON'T FORGET
We are the only ones in town that sells the FAMOUS HANAN SHOE.
A. WILLETT AND SON,
NO. 107 PARK AVE.

THE MISTRESS of the Mine.

or A Woman Intervenes.

By Robert Barr

Pictures by F.H.King.

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr.

With that Mr. Melville took his leave, and young Longworth paced up and down the room, evolving a plan that would at once bring him money and give him the satisfaction of making it lively for John Kenyon.

That night at home young Longworth waited for his cousin to say something about Kenyon, but he soon saw that she did not intend to speak of him at all. So he said to her:

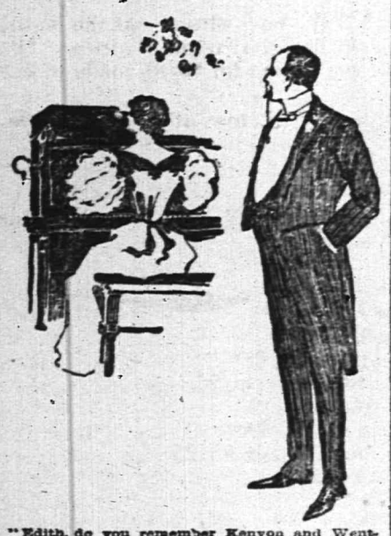
"Edith, do you remember Kenyon and Wentworth, who were on board our steamer?"

"Do I remember them? Certainly."

"Well, do you know they had a mining property for sale?"

"Yes."

"I have been thinking about it. To tell the truth, Kenyon called at my office a day or two ago, and at that time, not having given the subject much thought, I could not give him any encouragement; but I have been pondering over it since, and have almost concluded to help them. What do you think about it?"



"Edith, do you remember Kenyon and Wentworth who were aboard the steamer?"

"Oh, I think it would be an excellent plan. I am sure the property is a good one, or John Kenyon would have nothing to do with it. I shall write a note to them, if you think it best, inviting them up here to talk to you about it."

"Oh, that will not be necessary at all. I do not want people to come here to talk business. My office is the proper place."

"Still we met them in a friendly way on board the steamer, and I think it would be nice if they would come here some evening and talk over the matter with you."

"I don't believe in introducing business into a person's home. This would be purely a business conversation, and it may as well take place at my office or at Wentworth's, if he has one, as I suppose he has."

"Oh, certainly; his address is—"

"Oh, you know it, do you?"

Edith blushed as she realized what she had said; then she remarked: "Is there any harm in my knowing the business address of Mr. Wentworth?"

"Oh, not at all—not at all. I merely wondered how you happened to know his address when I didn't."

"Well, it doesn't matter how I know it. I am glad you are going to join him, and I am sure you will be successful. Will you see them to-morrow?"

"I think so. I shall call on Wentworth and have a talk with him about it. Of course we may not be able to come to a workable arrangement. If not, it really does not so very much matter. But if I can make satisfactory terms with them, I will help them to form their company."

When Edith went to her room she wrote a note. It was addressed to George Wentworth in the city, but above that address was the name of John Kenyon. She said:

"DEAR MR. KENYON: I felt certain at the time you spoke, although I said nothing of it, that my cousin was not so much at fault in forgetting his conversation as you thought. We had a talk to-night about the mine, and when he calls upon you to-morrow, as he intends to do, I want you to know that I said nothing whatever to him about what you said to me. He mentioned the subject first. I wanted you to know this, because you might feel embarrassed when you met him, by thinking I had sent him to you. That is not at all the case. He goes to you of his own accord, and I am sure you will find his assistance in forming a company very valuable. I am glad to think you will be partners. Yours very truly, EDITH LONGWORTH."

She gave this letter to her maid to post, and young Longworth met the maid in the hall with the letter in her hand. He somehow suspected, after the foregoing conversation, to whom the letter was addressed.

"Where are you going with that?"

"To the post, sir."

"I am going out; to save you the trouble, I will take it."

After passing the corner, he looked at the address on the envelope; then he swore to himself a little. If he had been a villain in a play he would have opened the letter; but he did not. He merely dropped it into the first pillar box he came to, and in due time it reached John Kenyon.

CHAPTER XIV.

If a bad beginning presages a good ending, the two amateur company promoters ought to have been well pleased, but, such is the inconsistency of human nature, they were not. Wentworth was the least depressed by the ominous start, although he admitted that the letter received from the manager of the china manufactory asserting that the spar shown to him was of no particular value, was a serious setback. Kenyon maintained that Melville and Brand, his manager of the works, were either ignorant or falsifiers of fact. The mineral, he insisted, was all that he claimed it to be.

"I hardly see how that helps us," said Wentworth. "They can't be ignorant, for they know how to make china, while we don't. On the other hand, why should they lie to us? What object could they have in not telling the truth?"

That was a question that John was not prepared to answer, so, being a sensible man, he remained silent.

When he read Edith Longworth's letter he felt more encouraged, and, in due time, William Longworth himself wrote, asking for an appointment, saying he had reconsidered the matter, and, if satisfactory arrangements could be made, he would be glad to assist them in forming a company.

When the three young men met in Wentworth's office, Longworth appeared to have become reasonably enthusiastic about the project, but assured them that a company could not be formed in the economical manner they had intended. Much depended on appearances in the city; handsome offices would have to be obtained, a good firm of solicitors should be chosen and there would be much printing and advertising to be done.

Kenyon pointed out that all this required time and money, both of which requisites were short.

"We are making a strike for £60,000 each," said Longworth, calmly, focusing his glittering monocle on Kenyon. "That sum of money is not picked up in London every day, and it is never picked up anywhere without taking a little risk. If you economize on your sprat you will not catch your gudgeon."

"But we haven't the money to risk," persisted Kenyon.

"Then, my dear sir," said Longworth, "cease to fish for gudgeon, and return to the highly respectable profession of mining engineering. If I am going to join you I can't afford to go on to certain failure. If you can't pay for the lottery ticket, it is foolish to expect to draw the grand prize; now, isn't it?"

Wentworth, who knew more of the city and its ways than his partner did, at once recognized the truth of Longworth's theories on the subject.

"You are quite right, Mr. Longworth," he said; "and I think that all we need now discuss are the terms of our agreement with each other."

"There will be little difficulty on that score," replied Longworth. "I will take a third of the risk and a third of the profits, if that is satisfactory to you."

The agreement was completed on this basis, and Wentworth felt that a long step had been taken toward the end desired, but Kenyon wondered why their new partner had so suddenly changed his mind. Offices were taken near the bank, and much time and money were spent in fitting them up. Both Kenyon and Wentworth chafed at the delay, but their partner pointed out that nothing was to be gained by undue haste. Any attempt to rush things would have a bad effect in the city. Capital was timorous, and nothing must be done prematurely.

All in all, Kenyon and Wentworth received many excellent business maxims from their partner, and it is to be hoped they profited by them.

Prospectuses were printed, and a firm of solicitors was retained; but in spite of all this no real progress was made toward the formation of the Canadian Mica Mining company (limited).

William Longworth had an eye for beauty. One eye was generally covered with a round disk of glass, except when it fell out of its place and dangled in front of his waistcoat. Whether the monocle assisted his sight or not, it is certain that William knew a pretty girl when he saw her. One of the housemaids in the Longworth household left suddenly, without just cause or provocation, as the advertisements say, and in her place was engaged a girl so pretty that when William Longworth caught sight of her, his monocle dropped from its place, and he stared at her with his two natural eyes, unassisted by optical science. He tried to speak to her on one or two occasions when he met her alone, but he could get no answer from the girl, who was very shy and demure, and knew her place, as they say. All this only enhanced her beauty in young Longworth's estimation, and he thought highly of his cousin's taste in the choosing of this young person to dust the furniture.

William had a room in the house, which was partly sitting-room and partly office, and where he kept many of his papers. He was supposed to study matters of business deeply in his room, and it gave him a good excuse for arriving late at the office in the morning. He had been sitting up into the small hours, he would tell his uncle, although he would sometimes vary the excuse by saying that it was quieter in his room than in the city, and that he had spent the early part of the morning in reading documents.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, held on Thursday, October 1st, 1896, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed the following members present, viz.:

Director Hubbard and Freeholders Brucklacher, Burnett, Clark, Ehrlich, Farrell, Hulskamper, King, Krouse, Littell, Miller, Ogden Robison, Swain, Tier, Wahl—16.

Absent, Freeholder Roll.—1.

The minutes of the previous meeting, (reading of bills being omitted), were on motion approved as read.

From William Richardson, of Martinsville, N. J., stating in part, that in 1891 he had entered into a contract to construct 5 miles of macadam road between Springfield and Scotch Plains. The road was completed according to specifications, and paid for by the County in full, but in the performance of his contract, he had lost $5,000.00 and he was now insolvent, his physical health being also impared.

Although having no legal claim against the County, he hoped that the County could find it possible to aid him financially.

After being read in full, the communication, on motion of Freeholder Littell, was received and referred to the County Road Committee.

From James W. Fink, County Road Inspector, as follows, viz:

Westfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Board of Chosen Freeholders for the County of Union.

Gentlemen:—The undersigned would respectfully present to your honorable body, the following report of county road repairs for the year 1896, to the present date.

On North or Westfield avenue 11,578 feet have been repaired with one and a half inch stone at the following places: in Elizabeth at Elmora 123 feet on Bayway; from Pope's Summit to Lorraine; in Roselle at Lehigh Valley R. R bridge; in Cranford and at Garwood; 2,760 feet have been topdress with fine stone, and 34,105 feet of gutters cleaned.

On St. Georges avenue, 7,823 feet of road has been repaired with one and a half inch stone at the following places, west of Glasier's bridge, at the 40 acre road and in Rahway. 18,126 feet of gutters cleaned.

On Morris avenue 9339 feet of road have been repaired with one and a half inch stone at the following places: in Springfield; at Springfield and Summit township line, near Spring Lake Hotel, 2,955 feet top-dressed with fine stone, and 25,120 feet of gutters cleaned.

On Mountain Avenue 3,068 feet of road repaired with one and a half inch stone at the following places: from the residence of Mr. Brill to Style's corner and at Westfield and Scotch Plains township line, 1,800 feet top dressed with fine stone, and 6,933 feet of gutters cleaned, also, near the residence of Mr. Vanderpool on Morris Avenue, 56 feet of road have been taken up, and relaid with Telford and Macadam, and 80 feet of tile drain laid, also 190 feet on the Boulevard has been repaired with one and a half inch stone, making a total of six and one eighth miles road repaired with one and a half inch stone, one and a half miles road top dressed with fine stone, fifteen and three quarter miles of gutters cleaned, 33 miles road top dressed with clay.

The total cost of this work is $14,003.21.

(Signed.)
Very Respectfully
James W. Fink,
Inspector.

On motion of Freeholder Farrel, received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

From the committee to settle with the County Collector.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen:—Your committee to settle with the County Collector, respectfully report, that they have examined his books, showing his receipts and disbursements, together with his vouchers, bonds and coupons paid, and bank books, and we find the same agree and are correct in every particular; his total receipts from the beginning of the fiscal year are $89,525.01; disbursements, $74, 395.76; balance in bank; $15,129.25.

Dated, Sept. 29th, 1896.

(Signed)
GEORGE W. LITTELL.
BENJAMIN KING.
HENRY KROUSE.
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher received and placed on file.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Burnett:

Resolved, That James G. Moore be paid the balance due on contract for bridges in Union Township, amounting to $278.00 when the work is approved by the Committee, and the bills properly audited.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Clark:

Resolved, That the bill of John M. Leidley, for mason work on Willow Grove Road bridge, Westfield Township, amount $350.00, be paid when approved by the Committee.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Miller:

Resolved, That the County Collector be, and is hereby authorized to pay to the New Jersey State Hospital, the quarterly bill, amounting to $8,908 33.

Freeholder Littell moved the adoption by the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Clark:

Resolved, That the bill of Wm. T. Kirk, for the sum of $210.00 for iron work on Willow Grove Road bridge, Westfield Township, be paid when approved by the proper committee, as per contract.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

The following bills, audited and approved, were read, and on roll call ordered paid, viz:

Court Account—George Kyte, Sheriff $707.15. E. R. Collins, Justice $4.65, Henry J. Schoppe $12.50, James Ritchie $75.00, T. F. McCormick $391.67, Frederick C. Marsh $1.250.00, Pauline Newburgh, Administratrix, $45.00, E. B. Kelley, Justice of the Peace, $9.49, Geo. R. Rockafellow $4.20, Geo. R. Rockafellow $6.17, Wm. Howard, $140.76.

Stationery Account—Jno C. Rankin, Co., $90.25, Jno. C. Rankin Co. $342.

Jail Account—Thomas B. Smith $3.50, W. H Neefus $61 64 James O Brokaw, $16.32, J. W. Hildebrant & Co. $66 27, J. P. Glasby $38.50, Henry J. Schmidt $4.75, J. P. Hanlin $24.69.

Incidental Account—Wm Howard $100.68, F. W. Westcott $42 90

Election Account—I. M. Hewitt $4.50.

Com. Expense Account—W H. Barton $5 50, W. H. Barton $8 50, W. H Swain, $14 50, Jno. H. Tier $6 85, Jas. A. Burnett $7 75, F L. Graves $40 50.

Members' Pay Account—W H. Hulskamper $46, Jas. A Burnett $ 9.50, W. H. Swain $:0, Jno F. Wahl, $25, Jno. H. Tier $80, Addison S. Clark, $76. Fred Miller $52, Jacob Brucklacher, $58.

County Road Repair Account—J. W. Fink $60, Wm. Chamberlain $397.90, Wm Chamberlain $2,642.94.

Public Building Account—R. G. Laggren, $3 25, The Yale and Town Mfg Co $21 32, Protection Engine Co. No 1, $50, Jno. C. Blore $25. P. L. Johnson $6, Frederick W. Brucklacher $12.68, The Moore Bros. Co. $73, The Moore Bros. Co. $30, Elizabethtown Gas Light Co., $79.05, Elizabethtown Water Co. $62.50.

Salary Account—S. Rusling Ryno $25, E. M. Wood, $125.00.

Bridge Account—B. Doyle $35 00, C. C. Wincker $11.74, Henry Meyers $50.00, Everett P. Pierson $120 000, Joshua Bryant $15.50, C. Vreeland $10.00, W. R. Ogden $10.00 F. L. & A. Heidritter $5 48, Hymann Isaacs $41.52, G. E. Van Voorhis $55 50, G. E. Van Voorhis $90 00, David Busch $52.10, Robert Wilson $95.00, New Jersey Dock & Bridge Building Co. $48.00. New Jersey Dry Dock & Tran's Co. $512.00, Charles Frentz $40 50, W. W. Scenck $5.42. John Schmidt $9.00, J. B. Crane $15.00, C. O. Mulford $20.76, J J. Bageley $75.00, George Wahl $32.00, Frank Oechsner $8 00, John Maxwell $11.50, Jno. D. Higgins $25, Jas. L. Bageley, $37.78. S. P. Debbie $20. W. H. Brokaw $8 80, Fintin Hibbits $8.38, Fintin Hibbits $139.82, E. Muddell & Son $6.35, $64.-71, $56.50. Roll & Borby $8.25, Wm. Paynter $33.25, $43.50, $47.25, Frank Murphy $56.50, Thos. Glynn $10 50, Noah Woodruff $7.53, William Allen $5 50, G. H. Koester $3 05, A. W. Stiles $41.25, $10.10, J. M. Liedley $6, J. S. Irving $33. C. H. French, $17.85.

Freeholder Clark moved to adjourn which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned to Thursday, Nov. 5, at 2:30 p. m.

S. RUSLING RYNO, Clerk.

MRS. L. ADAMS,
MILLINERY.
Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.
114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield November 30th, 1896.

Adams Miss Minnie E	Lanoton Mrs Edw E
Brown Miss Fannie E	McNeill, Miss B N
Case Miss H Caroline	Pond Mrs Silas D
Christensen C	Phalen Miss Winnie E
Cox Mrs	Quinn Miss Rosse
Cornelin Patrick	Sherman Miss Albertine
Davisson C S	Smalley Mrs Geo
Floyce & Newins	Smith Wm
Jones Kate	Wakeman Miss Frances
Kane Thos	Walls Saran

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,
North ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 30M

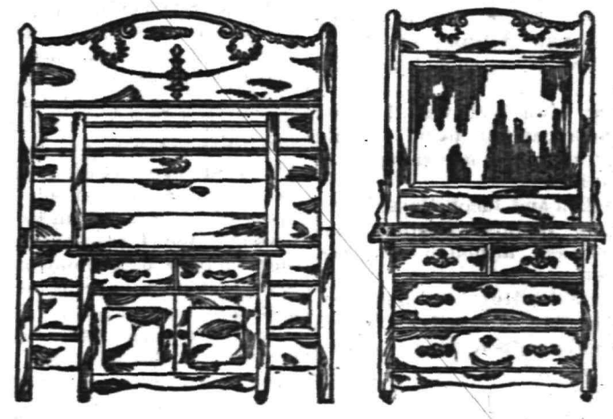
Finest Assortment
OF
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
IN THE CITY.
Agency for
Lincoln Fountain Pens $1 and $1.50.
FULLY WARRANTED.
HARPER'S,
411 PARK AVENUE.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Ltd.

The Portland Range has ventilated oven door, duplex grate; it eats less coal than any other make.

Clearing Space for Holiday Goods

that are fast arriving. To do it quick, we've put diminutive prices on more bulky stocks—bedroom and parlor suits. In bedroom suits we've some 50 of same liberal, elegant style as cut herewith—NOT a cheap makeshift, but lasting. Extra large dresser and mirror, large washstand and heavy carving. Prices 50 to 75 per cent. lower than formerly. Begin at $24.75 Still another line as low as $11.75 the suit.



50 Suits on style of above cut—suit here shown is $24.75—large dresser fine plate mirror, etc. etc.

PARLOR SUITS same liberality in making, reductions is apparent in this line. All suits (in a score of patterns) put way below old prices. We've pretty designs as low as $17.50—You'll get splendid worth in every single style we're carrying.

CARPETS This Carpet Dept. is filled with bright new goods at what might be dubbed "dull season prices." Won't list 'em for lack of space—best call and judge for yourself. Will match—yes, go lower than any other price you've seen or know about.

Amos H. Van Horn, Ltd. 73 MARKET ST. W. of Broad St. Newark, N. J.
Smallest Prices, Easiest of Terms. Telephone 580
Note name "Amos" before entering store
Goods delivered Free to any part of State.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

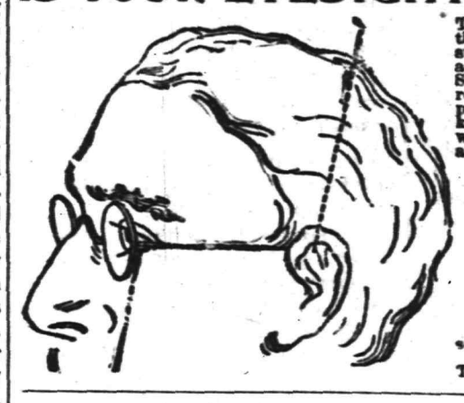
Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?



There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,
EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 101 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.
PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.
-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.
149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04 10 37, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 40, 5 04, 5 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 06, 11 10, 11 10 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30 5 36, 7 01, 8 13 8 00, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 30, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 00, 3 00, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 8 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30 4 00, 5 00, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 50, 8 02, 8 38, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 06, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 06, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01 8 13 8 32 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 1h, 7 18, 7 55, 8 3s, 9 03, 10 05, 11 25, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 40, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 30, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 9 04, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30 11 25 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40; 7 30, 9 25, 10 2 Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 05, 2 11, 2 32, 3 25, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 40 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 15, 4 55, 5 25, 6 09, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 9 15, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 30, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 46 p11, 4 45, 6 15, 6 33, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 33, a m; 2 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 33, 4 04, 7 05, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 03 a m; 6 33, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 05, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

9 15 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

3 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 05 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

4 58 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin, (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

5 10 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 30 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 25 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 25 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

3 05 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 25 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m, 1 15, 3 51, 5, 25, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 58 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m, 1 15, 3 12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 8 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 8 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 34*, 6 45, 9 21, 9 57* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 05 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2 22*, 5 34*, 6 25*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m. 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 05 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*, p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:20, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 5:20 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 30 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m; closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office 763 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station.

AT Jas. R. Blair's,

126 Park Ave.

You can get Winter Caps from 25c. to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.

Watch his window for Holiday goods.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. s20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

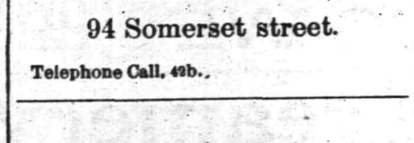
Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf



"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 49b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.

No. 143 West Front street.

Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

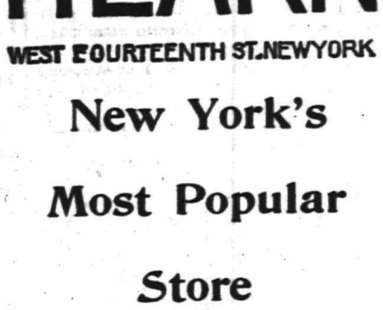
Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM. 113 West Front street.



The Great Gas Saver!
Three times the Light.
One-half the Gas.
See our Welsbach Stand Lamp.

Assortment
Of FURNITURE.
In all grades.
Largest and Best
We have ever exhibited.
Visitors always welcome.
No trouble to show goods.

J. W GAVETT. G. Q. PACKER.

HEARN

WEST FOURTEENTH ST. NEW YORK

New York's Most Popular Store For Everything in Dry Goods.

See New York Sunday and Evening papers for week's Specials.

FREE DELIVERIES DAILY

By Our Own Wagon in

Plainfield, Westfield
Elizabeth, Netherwood
Elizabethport, Fanwood
Roselle, Union
Lorraine, Elmora
Aldene, Linwood
Lyons Farm, Rahway
Cranford.

11 17 e od to 12 29

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing

Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's cutting a specialty.

Corporation Notice !

The undersigned commissioners heretofore appointed by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield to make an estimate and assessment of damages that any owner or owners of land will sustain by the widening and laying out of Madison avenue from the Southeasterly side line of West Front street to the Northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the Southeasterly side line of West Front street to the Northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 8th, 1896, and also to ascertain the amount of damages that shall be assessed as aforesaid and of all necessary expenses incident to such widening and laying out, and to make a just and equitable assessment thereof among the owners, and occupants of the lands, tenements and real estate benefited thereby in proportion to the benefits each shall be deemed to acquire, said assessment to be made pursuant to the valid laws now in force in the State of New Jersey governing such assessments, any unconstitutional provisions of the City Charter to the contrary, notwithstanding the assessment heretofore made by said commissioners having been recommitted to them by resolution of the Common Council for further consideration in respect to the assessment for benefits and damages, hereby give notice that they have this day filed their report and assessment as amended in the office of the City Clerk, and that the same is open to inspection of the public and will be presented to the Common Council at the meeting of that body to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh day of December, eighteen hundred and ninety-six at eight o'clock p. m. The streets or avenues or particular sections thereof which are included in said assessments are as follows: Madison avenue from West Front street to West Seventh street; both sides of West Front street; West Second street; West Third street; West Fourth street; West Fifth street; and West Sixth street; and the Northwesterly side of West Seventh street extending from Madison avenue Northeasterly and Southwesterly, respectively, to points not exceeding three hundred and seventy-three feet distant measured along said several streets from the centre line of Madison avenue.

The lands taken and the lands assessed are designated on the map accompanying said report and assessments as amended, and filed in the office of the City Clerk.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., November 20, 1896.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
WM. M. SANDFORD,
J. FRED MacDONALD,
Commissioners.

11 21 28 12 5

Trustee's Sale.

Public notice is hereby given that the subscriber will expose for sale on Friday, November 27, 1896, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the premises, 146 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J., lately occupied by William J. Stephenson, caterer; all the goods and chattels contained in said premises, consisting of a large amount of table cutlery, silver ware, china ware, table cloths, napkins, etc.; tables, chairs, hat racks, show cases, ice cream forms, cake pans, machinery, 1 six horse steam engine, 1 ten horse, boiler, belts, pulleys, 1 bay horse, 2 wagons, harness, lot of tin ware, copper ware etc.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Trustee.
REED & CODDINGTON, Attorneys. 11 19 6

FOLLOWED BY DEATH.

People Who Would Welcome an End of Sufferings.

It is Your Duty to Restore Your Wasted Energies—Dr. Greene's Nervura the Secret of Health and Long Life.

"All run down!" What a common phrase this is! And about equally used by both sexes. A weak condition of the nerves and poor blood are the causes that lead to this effect. The entire system needs renovation, and only a thoroughly effective blood and nerve restorative can do it. The greatest, the most potent blood purifier and nerve strengthener is Dr. Greene's Nervura, which is absolutely magical in its operation and infallible in its curative potency. Do not trifle with worthless things. Take something that will positively cure you, that will not fail—take Dr. Greene's Nervura which is the greatest blood and nerve remedy of the age.

In using Dr. Greene's Nervura you are taking the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and the medicine is therefore perfectly adapted to cure just these complaints. Dr. Greene can also be consulted free in regard to any case, personally or by letter.

FOR MORE MORAL LAWS.

Washington Reform Bureau To Push Measures Now Pending in Congress.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The reform bureau of this city, which originated the Gillett bill, by which the last session of congress abolished divorce colonies in the territories and which received from President Cleveland the pen with which the bill was signed, considers the approaching session of congress especially favorable for the moral measures still pending, inasmuch as they regard the appropriation bills out of the way and financial legislation likely to wait for the McKinley congress. The measures which the reform bureau is chiefly urging are the Gillett bill to extend the anti-gambling legislation, which has been applied to mails and express, to telegraph; the Broderick bill, to raise the age of protection for girls to 18 years in the district of Columbia and the territories; the McMillan bill, to restore to this District its former law against Sunday traffic, which was invalidated by a clerical error, and the Phillips bill to appoint a non-partisan commission for the investigation of the problems of labor and capital.

The Chippewa Ice Gorge.

Shawano, Wis., Dec. 5.—At Keshena falls, two miles up the river, ice in the Chippewa river is piled below the falls thirty feet high. The water backs up so that the falls are covered. The ice jam extends two and a half miles down the river and is piled high against the lower or Keshena bridge. The water is backing up in a creek at the village and part of the place is under water. The flood is rising steadily. At the government planing mill the water is seven feet deep and all of the agency property is in danger.

Time Occupied by Dreams.

The time occupied by a dream is one of the marvels of sleep. In the work entitled "The Philosophy of Mystery," we read of a man who dreamed that he had enlisted as a soldier; that he had joined his regiment and traveled to a foreign country; that he finally deserted on account of the harsh treatment he had received at the hands of his superior officers; that he had been apprehended and carried back to his regiment; that upon arriving there he was tried by court-martial, condemned to be shot and was led out for execution. At this moment the guns of the executioners exploded and the sound awoke the dreamer. It was clear now that a loud noise in an adjoining room had both produced the dream and awakened the dreamer almost at the same moment.

Suicide in Japan.

An essay on the prevalence of suicide in Japan has been written by Mr. Saito Kokufu, a native statistician. The statistics extend over ten years and show that suicide has been on the increase in Japan, both actually and in proportion to the total number of deaths. In 1885 and 1886 the number in proportion to the population reached its highest. Mr. Saito observes that during these years there was a great rise in the price of the necessaries of life. In the case of Japanese women the age at which suicide is most frequent is about 20; the corresponding period with men is 25. Comparatively few women commit suicide after the twenty-fifth year, but men are not safe until they are past 40.

SEC. FRANCIS' REPORT

Operations of the Interior Department for the Fiscal Year of '96.

EXPENDITURES INCREASED $1,000,000

The Actual Public Domain Is 1,849,072,587 Acres, with 600,000,000 Acres Still Vacant — $140,000,000 Distributed Annually in Pensions.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Secretary of the interior David R. Francis has submitted his annual report to the president. The appropriations for the last fiscal year amounted to $157,179,656. The estimates for the present fiscal year are about $1,000,000 more than was appropriated last year. The actual public domain is now 1,849,072,587 acres. The public lands still vacant amount to over 600,000,000 acres, not including Alaska. About 85,729,751 acres have been patented to railroads and there are yet due railroads and wagon roads under their grants an aggregate of 114,736,639 acres. The total acreage segregated from the public domain was 946,219,160 acres. The secretary deems it desirable that our waste acreage should be taken up by actual settlers who should be given every encouragement, and says if the rate of settlement continues in the future as in the past but very little vacant land will be left in thirteen years time. He urges legislation for the preservation of the forests and states that a report will be submitted to congress by the forestry commission which has lately returned from a tour of inspection. Secretary Francis calls the attention of congress to the necessity of legislation looking to the reclaiming of arid lands and says that of the 500,000,000 acres of arid lands, 100,000,000 acres might be reclaimed by the conservative use of water, but it is impossible, under the laws now in operation, to control the reclamation of the arid regions as to prevent the improvident use of water over which the general government has no control. The secretary briefly mentions the difficulties between the Otoe and Missouria Indians, which, he states is a complicated one. No settlement has yet been agreed upon.

The Pension Question.

On the pension question he says that about 970,678 persons are drawing about $140,000,000 per annum in pensions, and the branch of the service should be conducted with great care and discretion. It gives a table which shows that the total amount paid out by the government in pensions and the cost of disbursing the same during the last thirty-one years was $2,034,817,769, which lacks only $246,712,525 of being equal to the high water mark of the interest-bearing public debt. One hundred and forty million dollars is thought to be sufficient for the payment of pensions during the next fiscal year, unless pensions are increased by further legislation. The secretary recommends that an increase from $8 to $12 per month be granted to all survivors of the Mexican war, who are wholly disabled and destitute. The Indians, he says now occupy about 85,000,000 acres of land, and they should be protected from the sinister machinations of unscrupulous men. He recommends that the Indian bureau should be conducted by a commission of three members, two to be civilians of different political parties and one an army officer.

A Judge and a Reporter Sued for Libel.

Whitman, Mass., Dec. 5.—A suit for $20,000 has been instituted by John P. McKay of Rockland, a lawyer with an office in Boston, against Judge Kelly of the second district court at Abington, and W. C. Gurney, a newspaper reporter, for alleged libel, and their property has been attached. Mr. McKay was arrested in Boston Saturday charged with uttering a forgery. A mortgage was filed with the International Trust company of Boston by McKay as collateral for a loan, and it was alleged that the name of the register of deeds was forged.

Pension Appropriations.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The appropriations for the next fiscal year will not be less than $140,000,000, and it may exceed that sum. This is due to the circumstance that pensions under the law of 1890 are payable only from the date of application, while pensions under the general law carry in many cases heavy arrears which largely increase the average.

Fruit Too Cheap in the United States.

Boston, Dec. 5.—A private cablegram received by a prominent fruit importer of this city from Sicily states that the work of packing fruit for shipment to America has been suspended. It is understood that this is owing to the low prices received for the fruit in this country, which makes every shipment a loss to the owner.

Vacheron Acquitted.

Albany, Dec. 5.—The jury in the case of assemblyman Eugene F. Vacheron, charged with bribery in accepting $2,000 to have the Hudson river ice harvesting bill amended, returned a verdict of acquittal last night after being out only ten minutes. The defense presented no witnesses.

Quarantine Removed from Bryan's Home.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 5.—Health Officer Rhode has removed the quarantine from the home of Hon. W. J. Bryan, his eldest daughter, Ruth, having entirely recovered from the attack of diphtheria.

Ecuadorian Minister Arrives.

New York, Dec. 5.—Among the passengers who arrived last night per steamer Finance from Colon, were L. F. Carlo, Ecuadorian minister to the United States, and his family.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:09 a. m.
un sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

WINTER SPORTS.

The hockey season at the Plainfield High School promises to be a lively one this year judging from present appearances. There are a number of good candidates who are very anxious to make the team and are practicing hard for it. Now that the skating has begun and efficient practice is possible, the interest has greatly increased. Manager Carroll L. Runyon has proved himself a hustler and is planning an exciting season as far as games are concerned. The team from the Montclair High School is expected to play in this city on Tuesday, December 29, and games are being arranged with the Newark Academy and Pingry's School at Elizabeth. Manager Runyon also expects to arrange some games with the crack New York and Brooklyn school teams. The team has not yet been selected but Captain Walter Serrell has kept his eye open for the best men. The first game will be played this afternoon, weather permitting, at New Brooklyn pond against a team of graduates. The game will merely be one for practice and to give the captain a chance to pick his men.

CYCLING COMMENT.

A. H Barnett, the well known bicycle rider of Westfield, visited friends in town yesterday.

ROUNDED THEIR FIVE YEAR MARK.

Seventh-day Baptist Church Celebrate an Anniversary.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-day Baptist church celebrated its fifth anniversary this morning at the church, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion with palms and potted plants. The meeting was presided over by Miss Ernestine Smith, president of the Society, and a large chorus choir assisted in the singing. After the Juniors marched in together singing the meeting opened with a Scripture reading by the president, and a prayer by Rev. L. E. Livermore.

The secretary's report showed that the society had gained from 16 to 86 membership during the five years. The third annual report of the Junior society was made by the Superindent, Mrs. H. M. Maxson and gave the present membership as 35, with an average attendance of 28. The amount raised by the Juniors during the year was $22 88.

Then followed five papers with the initial letters taken from the Y. P. S. C. E. The first was "Youthful service" by Jacob Barker nnd he told of the better results of work with the young than with the old. "Prayer" was the topic of Miss Ida L. Spicer's paper in which she told of the efficacy of prayer and thow strength, faith and earnest work would result. Miss Lou Clauson told of "Sociability" and how it aided in the good work of the church and brought strangers and backsliders into the fold.

"Consecration" was the title of Miss Louise Lewis' paper and she said that though all cannot be missionaries, everybody can, tn everyday life, do little acts consecrated to Christ's service.

"Education" was the last of the papers and was given by Prof. H. M. Maxson, and he told how the human soul can be educated to do many things and how by constant effort the sinner can learn to love God and believe in Him.

Rev. A. E. Main closed the meeting with a few words on the choice between the two roads, the choice of the good and evil character.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—A special invitation is extended to all young men residing in the neighborhood of Monroe Avenue chapel to attend the young men's Bible class at the chapel tomorrow afternoon.

—The Christian Endeavor Society the Park Avenue Baptist church observe the week of prayer next week. Special services will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

—Something not seen every day was observed on North avenue this morning. It was a horse whose hair was a light green in color. His blanket presumably, had "run" from getting wet, thus leaving its impression on the animal.

KITS AND CHICKS VISIT.

THEIR STAY IN PLAINFIELD WILL END THIS EVENING.

The Reception to the Distinguished Visitors in Point of Numbers Not Great—All Who Have Seen Them are Pleased.

For the last time has the sun shone on the strange gathering that has been in possession of the Jersey Cycle for the last few days, for tonight the second annual exhibition of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association comes to an end. It has been a novel thing for Plainfield, this poultry show with its side attractions of the pigeons and cats.

It is amusing to hear the remarkable opinions of some of the visitors. Of course, everybody has seen chickens before, but not of all the kinds exhibited here. The immense buff Cochins drew forth all sorts of comments, especially on account of their size. The Polish and Houdan fowls attracted lots of attention because of their wonderful crests, which gave some the appearance of a football player all ready for the fray or else a large chrysanthemum.

The different varieties of pigeon rather puzzled some of the uninitiated beholders. One well known citizen pointed out the Jacobins to his wife and told her to notice the pigeons that had their head under their wing and had gone to sleep. It was only on close examination that he discovered that the Jabobins have hoods and manes.

Yesterday the geese began to wake up to the full realization of their position, and then they tried to frighten the wits out of every one that came around by giving vent to all sorts of strange noises. The old turkey gobblers joined in the racket and struted around with tails outspread as if to give vent to their feelings.

The greatest attractions are the incubators and the pussies. Everybody wants see a chicken break his shell and join his brothers and sisters in the enjoyment of life. The cats rubb against the bars of their cages and purr with delight. Of course everybody was to stroke their soft fur and the cats seem to enjoy it.

Columbia Lodge Elects.

Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O U. W., met last evening and held its annual election of officers which resulted as follows: Master Workman, Garret T. Dunham; foreman, William Demarest; overseer, P. A. VanFleet; past master workman, J. W. A. Bauersachs; guide, W. C. Smith, Jr., B. H. Loughlin; financier, E. A. Laing; receiver, H. Leifke; inside watchman, W. A. Woodruff; outside watchman, M. Koller; trustee for three years, V. W. Nash; medical examiners, Drs. Carman and Adams delegates to Grand Lodge, V. W. Nash and J. W. A. Bauersachs; alternates, W. A. Woodruff, E. M. Laing. Five candidates were initiated. A meeting of the Columbia Conclave, No. 52, Adhesive Mongolians, was afterwards held and six candidates initiated.

Mrs. E. Weeks, of 10 Grove street, and Mr. Keefe, of New York, left town today to spend a few days visiting relatives in Philadelphia.

E. B. Clark is making the addition of a fine library to the northwest side of his residence on Crescent avenue, Dvarts Tracy is the architect.

Wholly Unnecessary.

Electrical Supply Agent—You ought to have a burglar alarm system in your house, so that you would be instantly awakened if any intruder were to step inside one of the doors or windows.

Mr. Younglove—My dear sir, we don't need anything of the sort. We are weaning our baby.—Cleveland Leader.

The Reason Was Plain.

Applicant For Situation as Zoological Keeper—May I ask why you think it necessary that candidates should be married men, sir?

Secretary—My good man, how on earth do you expect any one else could stand the continual noise?—London Tit-Bits.

Ill Natured.

"A man ought always to consult his wife before he takes any step of importance," the dyspeptic man remarked.

"You think there is an advantage in her intuitive perceptions?"

"No. But it keeps her from saying, 'I told you so.'"—Washington Star.

So Lifelike.

"How do you find it possible to act that role of the persecuted wife so naturally?" ased the reporter.

"It isn't very difficult," replied the great actress. "The villain is my real husband."—Philadelphia North American.

Much In Her Favor.

Fond Mother—I think it's a shame, Cyrus, that we've let Esmeralda grow up without trying to give her some kind of musical training. She can't sing at all.

Sensible Father—That's true, Emily, but she knows it.—Chicago Tribune.

His Advice.

Peasant—I spoke to our herb doctor, and he advised me that I should—

Doctor (interrupting)—Oh, he gave you some idiotic advice, I don't doubt!

Peasant—He advised me to see you.—Humoristische Blatter.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W Randolph, 143 East Front st.

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.

Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired. PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C LITTER, Secretary and Treas.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL

GEORGE E. ROGERS.....Lessee. | GEORGE H. WILLEY.....Manager

MONDAY EVENING, DEC 7th
A Play That is Sure to Please.
JAMES A
HERNE'S
Beautiful Comedy-Drama,
SHORE ACRES
Direction of B. C. Miner.
A Fine Company of Players
Entire New Scenery.
Unique Realistic Novelties.
PRICES NEVER VARY.
Reserved Seats, $1, 75c., 50c. and 25c. Seats on sale Friday at Box Office at 9 a. m.

One Night Only.
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10th,
Farewell tour and only appearance in this city of the Magnificent Organization
RICE'S Burlesquers
50 Artists in a Gorgeous Production of EVANGELINE.
Music by E. E. Rice.
Libretto by J. Cheever Goodwin.
With all its Wealth of Attractions.
SEE
The Pretty Girls.
The Water Nymph's Ballet.
The Heifer.
The Balloon Ascension.
The Dazzling Diamond Fields.
The Lively Monkey.
The Grand Amazonian March.
Magnificent Scenery, Beautiful Costumes, Grand Chorus and Enlarged Orchestra.
Prices for this engagement—$1, 75c, 50c, 35c. and 25c. Seats on sale at Box Office, Tuesday, 9 a. m.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock
Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

That Fashions Change

It may be possible to get a Roman net or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but no here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

THE CENTIPED SALOON.

This is the first saloon opened for business in Giveadam Gulch. Three of its proprietors have

BEEN LYNCHED BY MOBS,

but the fourth, who is your humble servant, is accounted a bad man to fool with and has no fear of the rope. A doctor within half a block to attend all wounded men.

WE ARE NOT WICKED,

but we do like to see things moving lively. Customers allowed to shoot at the glasses and decanters, and no objections on the part of the barkeepers to being popped at. If you seek an old time place don't pass us by.

HANK JONES, Proprietor.

ON SIGHT!

It having come to my knowledge that the big luffer known in Giveadam Gulch as Colonel Tompkins has been reporting around that he would not take my word for a dead rabbit, this is to give notice that I shall open fire on him on sight unless he sends me an apology within 24 hours. DAN CREEDON.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Whereas my wife, Hannah Jackson, better known to the public as Redheaded Han, has left my bed and board without just cause or provocation, this is to warn all persons not to trust the pesky critter on my account. She will doubtless seek to marry again, and God help the man who gets her!

JAMES BAXTER.

A NEW BRAND.

This is to give legal notice that our new cattle brand is composed of three figures, arranged thus, "X—X—X," and placed on the shoulder of all our cattle. Any one found with cattle bearing this brand in their possession will have to fight or pay over their full value. Our cowboys hope to shoot at least 12 cattle thieves this year. PLATT & RODNEY.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

George Gordon, physician and surgeon, has removed his office to 10 Apache avenue. Office hours all day and all night. Cases of illness promptly attended to and a specialty made of gunshot and knife wounds. I have attended 50 wounded men in the last year. I am the doctor who saved Jim Brady's life after he had been stabbed 14 times. Sober on every day of the week except Friday.

WE DO NOT ADVERTISE!

But the editor of The Kicker has held us up for this space. He was just two seconds ahead of us on the draw. BURKE & REARDON, Merchants.

MEAT MARKET.

This is to notify the public that I have opened a new meat market next to the Red Dog saloon, and customers will at all times find me supplied with at the lowest prices. Hunters will find a ready sale for bear meat at my shop, and all kinds of game will be kept in season.

THE BEST MEAT IN TOWN

DON'T MIND THAT LIAR

on Cochise place who claims to get his meat from Chicago and sell at Omaha prices. He doesn't know enough about meat to saw a calf in two. SAM TOMPKINS.

M. QUAD.

Terror.

The toreador's face blanched with terror.

"Merciful heavens!" he gasped.

The moment he stepped into the arena he perceived that somebody had rung in an advanced cow in place of the conventional bull, but it was too late to retreat, and he went forward to meet his fate without flinching.—Detroit Tribune.

The Universal.

A hateful, serpentine hiss pervaded the more or less crowded auditorium. Mr. Barnes Tormer, the eminent tragedian, paused in his rendition of the famous soliloquy. "Some one," he remarked, "is evidently suffering from a puncture." Thus has the vulgarly intrusive wheel invaded even the precincts of tragedy.—Indianapolis Journal.

Made a Mistake.

"You say she's a kleptomaniac?"

"Oh, dear, no."

"Why, you certainly did say so."

"Ye-es, I did; but it was a mistake. I find that I overrated her wealth and social

SENATOR QUAY'S CRAFT.

How He Got Even With the Boy Rowdy of Beaver.

Just below Senator Quay's home in Beaver, Pa., three streets meet. At the point of intersection is a small triangular strip which the boys of the neighborhood for many years have used for a ball ground.

The senator has always looked upon this spot as an eyesore, as it was destitute of grass and usually was covered with sticks, stones and other impedimenta. Recently he decided to beautify the little triangle by a fountain, which he constructed at his own expense and presented to the city of Beaver.

But the boys resented this invasion of their vested rights and immediately showed evidences of their indignation by filling the fountain's basin—a circular inclosure of cement, a dozen feet in diameter—with stones and clods of earth.

The senator ordered the basin cleaned, but the fountain played only one day before it again became choked and quit.

From that time forward it became a race between the senator and the youngsters. As fast as the fountain was put in order it was filled up again, and at last a guard was stationed to frighten away the mischief makers.

Even this was only partially successful. Every boy seemed to think it his duty to saunter close enough to throw a stone into the fountain and dart away before he could be caught. In case the watchman gave chase a dozen youngsters would attack the fountain while he was away.

Finally the senator resorted to strategy and diplomacy. He sent for one of the ringleaders of the boys and said:

"Do you want to earn a little money?"

The young man did.

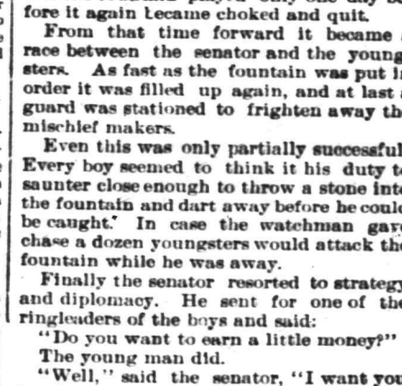
"Well," said the senator, "I want you to throw a few boys into my fountain down there. I'll give you 25 cents apiece for sousing them into the water. You may come here every evening, and I'll pay you for your day's work. Take care, though, that they don't throw you in. If they do, you'll have to pay me 25 cents for every time you take a plunge."

That night the boy presented a claim for 75 cents. It was promptly paid, and the young business man remarked: "I'll get more of 'em tomorrow. It's a cinch. I'm stronger and bigger than the other kids. It's just like finding money."

The next night the youngster reported earlier than usual. He was the muddiest and most bedraggled specimen of humanity that could be conceived of. Slowly approaching Senator Quay, he extended a grimy hand and gave him a half dollar.

"Dere's your change," he said. "I ducked six of 'em, but I've been in eight times myself."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Her Faithful Dog.



Miss Innit's dog does his star trick just as Mr. Leftly is proposing.—Truth.

Cruel.

Stranger—Is the editor in?

Sanctum Sentinel—No, sir. He has just gone out.

Stranger—This makes three times I have called today, and each time you have told me he had just gone out.

Sanctum Sentinel—He's the greatest man for luck you ever see.—Boston Transcript.

"CRISP NOTES!"

—About bright and cheerful things tending to make a Merry, Merry Christmas to everybody.

—So many nice and encouraging words have been said about Edsall's fine new stock and the marvelously low prices.

—That we feel like making the finest Christmas display that the Commercial Palace has ever attempted.

—It's not only nice words that has given us the inspiration but the very liberal purchases the people are making.

—It's just lovely to see the new, pretty things coming in and going out with such a "snap."

—And an air of satisfaction on the faces of the buyers

—Many remark that there is no use of going to New York so long as Edsall keeps up this "wide a make" selling, and Edsall says it's a continued story and the end cometh not yet.

—We advertise to sell fine goods cheaper than any other house, and we do it, too.

—By Saturday next our store will be in full holiday trim, and if you want to see something bright and attractive just come in and walk through.

—Many of the display stands are up now and filled with new and elegant novilties.

—Our own importation of fine bisque figures and bric a brac and elegent French china in all the new and desirable prices, will "cut a figure" this season, they are positively lower than New York prices.

—And in Christmas cards and Christmas tree ornaments, and the like, we just expect to astonish everybody.

—One of the largest publishers of books has given us unusual advantages in buying this season, so when you come to get our prices we know you will buy.

—It is just wonderful what awfully low prices, and fine tasty goods we can offer you in our Art Department; pocket books made up to our own order especially for holiday trade, at "cut" prices. too.

—And you can just revel in laces and ribbons and veilings cheaper than you have ever dared to think of before. Our last great purchase of these goods were enough to supply the whole town for three months yet.

In boy's clothing, caps and furnishings, we will give you prices, styles and qualities that you wouldn't think possible, at least that is the remark of many when we quote the price, and —Boy's what do you think?—we give a real fine watch free with a purchase of five dollars. See the watches in our big show windows.

—We just about please everybody in our Millinery Department this season, so if you are in need of a new hat or bonnet for Christmas, you can be sure to get suited in our department and we know our low prices will suit you too.

—But we've got to stop this story somewhere, as it would take a whole newspaper to continue it to the end, and besides, space cost money too.

—The thing to do is for you to come in and see for yourself.

—We are never afraid to have our advertisements investigated either as to prices, qualities and even quantities, in which the latter is so often so terribly exaggerated by some dealers.

EDSALL'S

Ladies' Calf Skin Heavey Sole WALKING BOOTS, $3

Per Pair. Button and lace; Goodyear welts; dressy and serviceable. Just the shoe for Ladies' who dislike Rubbers.

DOANE & EDSALL.

Creamery Butter 20 & 25c Per Pound at

J. F. MACDONALD'S
Uptown Grocery.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.

CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

Special— We place on sale today a
Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.
Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25
SEBRING'S.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.
177 NORTH AVENUE.

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

A FIRE HORSE KILLED.

DRIVER BREEM GOT INTO A BAD MESS IN A RUN TO A FIRE.

Made a Turn, and to Avoid Colliding With Gazelle's Cart, Ran Into a Tree and Killed the Horse and Hurt Himself.

The most expensive fire to the Plainfield fire department occured yesterday morning at 12:21 when an alarm was sent in from Box 21, corner of Watchung and North avenues, by Patrolman Saunders. The fire was in the servants' room of the house at 832 Richmond street, occupied by Samuel E. Brooks and family. The colored servant girl was in her room, and she was sitting on her bed doing some sewing. Close by the bed was a chair on which stood the lighted lamp. In a few minutes the woman dropped off to sleep and while in this condition she accidentally knocked the lamp over. She awoke just in time, for soon afterward the lamp exploded. The woman ran out of the room and called Mr. Brooks who was on the first floor getting ready to retire. The two used what water was handy, but Mr. Brooks soon learned that he could not extinguish the fire. He then ran out doors and searched for a patrolman. Not finding one he returned for his wheel and came up town, where he found Patrolman Saunders. He wanted the latter to send in an alarm from Box 25, but this he could not do, as it was off of his beat, so he used Box 21.

The chemical engine appeared first and the patrolman informed Driver Fiering where the fire was. Very quickly he reached the house and with the aid of a man, named Godown, run the line of hose to the top floor. The room was dense with smoke and after two attempts he succeeded in entering the room. Fiering was, however, obliged to lay flat on the floor, cover his face with his hat, and use the hose with one hand. He bravely fought the fire until the other firemen arrived. Perhaps at no other time has the chemical engine proved its efficiency to such good advantage, for the house would probably have been consumed. As it was, the fire was confined entirely to the one room.

While all of the above was going on, one of the most serious accidents in the history of the department occurred.

Driver Fred Breem, with the hook and ladder truck, and Driver James Daly, with Gazelle hose carriage, met at the corner of Watchung and North avenues. Someone called to Daly to go to Fifth street, while someone else told Breem to go straight ahead. Daly took the lead and the apparatus went down Watchung avenue flying.

When near Fifth street it is said that it looked to Breem as though Daly was going to turn into Fifth street to the left. This did not evidently appear to the former quick enough, for he soon learned that he either had to run into the hose wagon with the possibility of killing several men or make an exceedingly short turn into East Fifth street. He chose the latter, and did not have room enough to clear himself. The next instant there was a terrific crash, for the horse known as George had run into a big tree and broken his back. The foot board of the truck also hit the tree with such force as to twist it all out of shape and break the gong, besides causing a bad sprain of Breems's right leg. F. S. Moore, who was at the wheel was thrown completely over the wheel and his hat was demolished. The front wheel next to the curb was thrown out of shape, every spoke was cracked and the arm of the axle was bent.

A crowd soon gathered and Dr. Pocock was sent for to examine the condition of the horse. Soon after the accident Chief Doane appeared and upon learning that none of his men were fatally injured, he went on to the scene of the fire. When the doctor arrived he ascertained upon examination that the horse was mortally wounded, and acting under orders, Patrolman Flanagan shot the animal and put him out of misery.

Breem remained with the other horse, who was not injured in the least, while the firemen pulled the truck by hand to the fire.

Later, when it was learned that Breem was injured, Chief Doane took him to Dr. Long's house and had him examined. The doctor pronounced it a very bad sprain. After proper treatment Breem was taken home, where he will be confined for some time. That he was not killed is a mystery.

Councilman C. J. Fisk was notified at once and he, together with Chief Doane, made a thorough investigation of the affair. They decided that the accident was the result of circumstances which could not have been avoided, and they attach the blame to no one. Mr. Fisk was consulted, because Councilman Stebbins, chairman

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

WATER FLOW LESSENED.

A SUIT FOR $10,000 TO BE STARTED BY A MILL OWNER.

Alleged That the Summit Water Company Have Diverted Green Brook's Volume of Water to the Damage of Others.

A very important suit for $10,000 is soon to be started that will involve one of the leading corporations of the town of Summit, the Summit Water Company, and make an intricate question for the courts to settle. The company, it is claimed, has been diverting the course of a number of small streams which have heretofore finally emptied into Greenbrook. The alleged result of this is that Greenbrook has been reduced in size and that the mill rights along this stream have been lessened in value on account of the decreased amount of water to give them power.

T. J Goth, of Dunellen, who owns the mill right at the old Goth mill between Dunellen and Greenbrook, claims that the lack of water has seriously injured the value of his property and is now preparing to bring a suit for $10,000.

The cause of the diverting of the streams was the need of more water to supply Summit and the course of the brooks has been changed so as to allow them to empty into the company's reservoir.

Mr Goth has retained City Judge DeMeza as his lawyer in the matter and the necessary papers are now being drawn. It is understood that the other mill owners on the course of the brook are behind Mr. Goth in this matter and will also push their claims should this one be successful.

Judge DeMeza was seen by a Press reporter this afternoon and admitted that the papers were being prepared in the case. The suit promises to be an interesting one.

During the past year many conferences have been held by the mill owners along Green brook from Scotch Plains to below Dunellen, and the question was discussed and many plans for united action suggested. P. M. French and Abram Cadmus, of this city, are both interested, as they both own mill rights on Green brook.

A Stirring Sermon.

The congregation of Trinity Reformed church feel thankful to the people of Dunellen for the loan of one of their pastors, Rev. A. I. Martine, yesterday. Those who listened to his stirring sermons at both morning and evening service were spiritually refreshened and awakened, and filled with a desire to do more valiant service in soul saving in the future. He is a thoroughly consecrated man of God, and it was a pleasure to the writer to listen to his earnest, convincing arguments to both saint and sinner.

An Interesting Report.

The W. C. T. U. meeting led by Mrs. Dr. Tomlinson, yesterday afternoon, was very interesting. She gave a splendid report of the National Convention of the W. C. T. U., recently held at St. Louis. Mrs. Tomlinson took for her scriptural lesson, the 146th Psalm, which, she said, was read at the opening of the convention. There was one present at the meeting who said he had visited St Louis about fifty years ago, when Missouri was a slave State, and at that time, they claimed, slavery could never be abolished but it has been, and so will King Alcohol.

Wouldn't Pay the Jehu.

Two young men, both machinists, of this city, visited Scotch Plains late Saturday evening and engaged a rig from a livery stable keeper of that place and were driven home. When they reached this city they told the driver to go to Hades, and jumping from the wagon left the poor man to drive home without his pay. Judge Clark, of Scotch Plains, has been furnished with the men's names, and unless they call and settle the matter may get into the courts.

The Stirling Silk Mills to Be Rebuilt.

Work has been begun on the erection of H. A. Streuli's silk mills at Stirling, which were recently distroyed by fire. The concrete foundation is now being laid and a gang of about 150 men are at work in the erection of the different buildings which are to be of brick. They are to be finished by January 25th. The architect is Evarts Tracy, of this city.

A Change in the Services.

A radical change was made in the services at the St. Stephens church yesterday for the first time. Instead of holding the regular service of evening prayer in the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, it was held in the evening at 7:45 o'clock when the rector, Rev. S. P. Simpson, preached a sermon and the choiristet choir sang. The change in the time will be made permanent.

—There will be no week of prayer services in the Congregational church.

VEHICLES LIKE SIEVES.

THEY CAUSE UNTOLD TROUBLES TO BICYCLISTS BY PUNCTURING TIRES.

Street Commissioner Meeker is Making Every Effort to Prevent the Scatering of Refuse by Ash Carts and Stone Wagons.

Plainfield has had excellent roads during the past year but a visit to the repair shops for bicycles in the city would have shown an unusual number of punctured tires. Of course, a certain number is to be expected but the number was larger than it should have been. Early in the summer, the new crushed stone used in repairing the macadamized roads accounted for much of it but the many rains converted the lime in the stone into a cement.

One of the prominent factors in the puncturing of the tires is the fine crushed stone that is allowed to fall from many of the stone wagons that pass through the streets. Some of these wagons are old and the cracks between the boards are large enough to allow a small stream of the fine sharp particles of stone to sprinkle all over the roadway. Street Commissioner Meeker is a cyclist and appreciates the danger to wheels and to horses' hoofs from these sharp stones, and has often warned the owners of the leaky wagons that they must be more careful.

Another unthankful duty of Mr. Meeker's is in trying to keep the local ash collectors from dropping the contents of their wagons all over the streets. The sharp ashes, bits of broken glass, and tacks and nails are as dangerous to the cyclists as the small stones, while newspapers, boxes and the like give the streets a very untidy appearance. Many times has Mr. Meeker called down the maledictions of the drivers of these vehicles on his head by making them go back and sweep up their remains of a broken bottle or pick up some large piece of paper that has blown off their load. Mr. Meeker can't be everywhere at once and so these things gradually gather to the discomfort of the wheelmen, as many will testify.

There has been some talk of incorporating in one of the next ordinances a law that will in some way prevent this wholesale distribution of the loads of the ash and stone wagons along the thoroughfares of the city. The plan suggested in the case of the ash wagons was that before they were licenced that the wagons should be inspected by the street commissioner as to whether they were in condition to carry their loads of ashes and other rubbish. Some action would be well received by the cycling population of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

ON THE GOLF COURSE.

The Misses Van Boskerck Entertain at the Hillside Club.

A pleasant social event occurred Saturday afternoon at the grounds of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, when a few friends, on the invitation of the Misses Van Boskerck, met and enjoyed a game of golf. The winners proved to be Miss McCreedy and Mr. Calkins.

After the game the guests were invited to the home of the Misses Van-Boskerck, where a fine dinner was served. The Misses Van Boskerck poured tea assisted by Miss Dudley, of New York. The guests present were: Miss Breslin, Miss Lawrence, Miss Dudley, of New York; Misses Johnson, of Bridgeport, Conn., Misses Tracy, Miss Finley, Mrs. Delanoy, Miss Florence Waring, Miss Gertrude Andrews, Misses Holly, Miss May Evans, Misses McCready, Miss Grace Cooley, and Messrs. West, Waring, Calkins, Henderson, J. H. P. Wharton, Jr., Dr. Ard, Harry McGee, James Murray, of Plainfield; Marshall Adams, of New York.

Fixing up a Bad Walk.

After the borough council meeting Friday evening the members entered into a decision of the dangerous board walk in front of the First Church of Christ building on Grove street, as suggested by The Daily Press recently. Mr. Woolston chairman of the Street Committee, was authorized to have a stone walk laid at that place, and the same would be paid for. Mayor Hegeman agreed to start the list with a subscription of $5. The walk will cost about $23 and the balance of the money will be easily raised. The walk is in a wretched condition, and recently several pedestrians have nearly sustained serious injury. The members of the church are in a condition financially which will not permit them to put down the walk, but are willing to assist.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

CATS AND CHICKENS GO.

THE POULTRY AND PET STOCK SHOW CLOSED SATURDAY NIGHT.

Except That the Attendance Was Not Quite as Large as Expected, the Show Was Considered a Great Success in Most Ways.

The poultry show is over. The host of noisy visitors have gone and no more salute the people of Plainfield with sundry crowings and the like. The long lines of cages have disappeared from the floor of the Jersey Cycle Academy and it has again assumed its wonted appearance. From the eyes of an expert or ordinary beholder, it was a great success, with its numerous entries and the excellent specimens to be seen. Financially it was not what it should have been, and the townspeople did not turn out as they should have and were expected to. The receipts nearly covered expenses, however.

The people of Plainfield learned something in regard to the show and the association which was behind it, and should they decide to come again next year there is no doubt but that the city would give the enterprise much better support. The attendance on Saturday was much better than on any previous day of the exhibition and the officers of the Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association were much gratified.

The silver cups that were awarded, or at least most of them, were on exhibition Saturday night and attracted much attenton. They were very handsome, especially the Sheldon tropny. The manner in which the premiums were awarded seemed to suit the exhibitors, for real merit was rewarded wherever found. Plainfield came out extremely lucky in the matter of prizes considering the number of her entries. Many of the neighboring towns, Dunellen, Westfield, Cranford, Rahway, New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Somerville also received their share of the premiums.

The general impression left by the show was a pleasant one to all that attended. It was the first time that anything of the kind was ever held here and it was a novelty.

The cats were a new feature but their reception, especially by the ladies will make it a permanent part of the show. The pussies exhibited included many fine ones and another year would see Plainfield much better represented in that class.

Much credit is due to Joseph L. Wiseman, of this city, through whose efforts the association finally decided to choose Plainfield for the annual exhibition. He made himself generally useful during the show. Much credit is also due to the energetic officers of the association who sucessfully conducted the exhibition and who treated all whom they came in contract with in a courteous and gentlemanly manner.

CARRIAGES COLLIDED.

Drivers Thrown Out and Received Sundry Cuts and Bruises.

A collision between two carriages occurred on Park avenue yesterday afternoon that resulted in the wrecking of one of the rigs and the partial injury of both drivers. Peter A. Emmons, of Jackson avenue, went out riding in buggy, while his brother, John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, accompanied him in another rig. The were driving down Park avenue when they approach a carriage going in the same direction, whereupon John Emmons pulled up his horse suddenly, while his brother tried to turn out, but as there was not room enough a collision resulted.

The other rig was driven by a lad named Fred Boice, also of the borough, and his wagon was a complete wreck. Both drivers were thrown out and received sundry cuts and bruises. Mr. Emmons being the more unlucky, his horse started to run away, but was caught before going very far.

Week of Prayer Services.

According to the recommendation of the local Christian Endeavor Union, many of the local societies will hold a week of prayer, study and preparation for evangelistic work this week. The committee suggested the following topics: Sunday—Our Field—Inform ourselves as to the needs and opportunities; Monday—The Work of the Spirit; Tuesday—The Bible Idea of Service, Personal Work, etc.; Wednesday—The Gospel Plan of Salvation. Study carefully, Sin, Pardon, Faith, Repentance; Thursday—Answering Objections of Unbelievers; Friday—God's Present Call and Qualifying for Service, Personal Responsibility; Saturday—Power—A quiet hour, waiting upon God for the Power.

—The stores are fast fitting up with the great gas saver, the Welsbach light. Gavett has just put them in G. Q. Packer's, Mulford Estil's and Powlinson & Jones.

PARCEL MESSENGER WAR

OVER NOW AS FAR AS STEVENSON, OF SOMERVILLE, IS CONCERNED

By His Perseverance He Convinces the Company That He Is a Good Man, and It Employs Him to Work for Them.

The war between Purchasing Agent A. C. Stevenson, of Somerville, and the United States Express Company is at an end. The fight, which had assumed large proportions, was precipitated months ago by the action of the Central Railroad at the instigation of the United States Express Company, to break up the messenger business carried on by Stevenson between Somerville and New York. Stevenson had acted as messenger and purchasing agent for the local merchants for twenty-two years.

Three of the railroad's detectives have been constantly engaged in shadowing Stevenson in order to prevent him from boarding the trains with his parcels. A number of New York business men and many of the commuters on the road came to the aid of Stevenson in his fight with the two big corporations. He was constantly aided in outwitting the detectives. Mutual friends finally interceded and as a result Stevenson was requested to call at the New York office of the United States Express Company. Stevenson met Superintendent Topping of the company, who said:

"Stevenson, you will acknowledge that the United States Express Company is right in this fight?"

"No, sir," replied Stevenson, "but I will acknowledge that you were right in trying to enforce the provisions of your contract for the exclusive right to carry express matter, you will understand that with me it is a fight for a living and the right to earn it by the legitimate means that I have employed for twenty-two years."

"And that," said Superintendent Topping, shaking Stevenson warmly by the hand, "entitles you to our sincere consideration. You will understand that with us this has been a fight of principal rather than dollars and cents. The success or failure of your opposition would establish a precedent which might to some extent affect the 30,000 miles of railroad over which we operate our business."

At the end of an interview of three hours Stevenson was offered a salary to continue his services as purchasing agent for the merchants and residents of Somerville in the interest of the United States Express Company, and this he accepted.

The United States Express Company is now inaugurating a rapid delivery system for the benefit of residents in the suburban towns which is intended to do away with local messengers. An agent will canvass the town each morning for orders. He will purchase goods in New York and see to it that they are shipped promptly by express. His services will be paid for by the express company and his patrons will be required to pay only the regular rate of express charges on the packages.

It is hoped that Whitfield Frazee will accept a similar position for Plainfield.

Matinee Lecture on Food—An Entertainment of Real Value.

Let no housekeeper overlook Mr. Worrell's lecture in Y. M. C. A. Hall, tomorrow afternoon. The entire range of food will be discussed. The lecture will be valuable, not only for the knowledge it will impart in dietetics, but for its many practical points which in no other way could be so concretely presented. There will be a magnificent platform exhibit of raw food products, many of them obtained from the Botonical Museum of Harvard University, at Cambridge. Every seat reserved for housekeepers. Admission by ticket only. None but housekeepers can secure them, free, at the box office.

Wanted; Who Can Supply Them?

A few articles of furniture are badly needed for the office of the Organized Aid Association, On West Front street, to wit:

Three wood seat chairs, not too heavy; three cane seat chairs; a table, medium size, say 2x3 ft., cherry, walnut or stained; two floor mats or small rugs, say 2x3 ft., a piece of oil carpet or linolum, say 3x6 ft. or a little larger. Gifts of such articles—if in fairly good condition—will be gratefully accepted, and on notice received, the association will send for them at its own expense. Please address Mrs. W. A. Woodruff at the office, or H. P. Reynolds, treasurer, No. 71 Washington avenue, North Plainfield.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

BOY THIEVES CAPTURED

YOUNG MILLIGAN AND WILSON ARRESTED IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Stole a Bag Worth $1,000 from Wm. Cortright and Were Living Lavishly at the Capital of the United States.

Lewis Milligan and Charles Wilson, the fifteen-year-old youngsters who disappeared from their homes in this city three weeks ago, after the former had stolen a bag containing several hundred dollars and a number of valuable papers, amounting in all to about $1,000, from the home of Wm. Cortright, 418 West Fifth street, have been captured in Washington, D. C., where they have been having a gay time with their ill-gotten wealth. The story of theft was told exclusively in the Daily Press at the time of its commitment.

Their manner of living and the large amount of money they were spending caused them to be suspected.

The boys were first noticed at the races at Bennings during Thanksgiving week, but it was thought they were connected with one of the stables, and but little attention was paid to them.

During the week just past, the amount of money they had been spending, again brought them under the observation of the detectives, who began a quiet investigation. It was soon learned that they had bought diamonds, watches and jewelry of every description. They occupied an expensive suite of rooms at a prominent hotel, one room of which had been fitted up with a punching bag, boxing gloves and other gymnastic apparatuses. They dressed in the height of fashion and bought everything they fancied.

When first taken into custody they claimed to be brothers, and said their mother had sent them to Washington to attend Georgetown College. When placed under arrest by the detectives they weakened, and told the circumstances of the robbery.

Cortright, they said, was a wealthy citizen of Plainfield, and was reputed to keep large sums of money about the house. While passing there one day about three weeks ago, they were tempted to enter. Finding no one at home, they ransacked the house and obtained the plunder. They were not aware of the amount they had stolen until the next day, when they counted and divided the cash. They then went to New York, and later to Washington. They arrived there about the time of the races, and placed large bets on long shots and lost much of the stolen money to the bookies. They lived high, and lined their pockets with diamonds, watches and jewelry.

After they had told their story they were sent to the police station, and Chief of Police Grant, of this city, was notified of their arrest. That official wired back immediately to hold the boys, as he would start at once for this city. He left this morning at 9:10 o'clock and will return tonight at 9:55 o'clock with the young criminals.

The detectives then took an inventory of the property in the boys' possession. From their pockets had been taken various articles of jewelry. Each carried a silver-mounted, pearl handled revolver. In their room at the hotel were found trunks and travelling bags containing silk underwear, complete outfits of clothing and linen, bicycle costumes and other articles.

Since going to Washington the boys have made the acquaintance of two young girls, upon whom they have lavished every attention.

Their ambition seems to have been to follow the races and eventually attain fame as plungers. They affect horsey talk. At the police station last night they said they had intended leaving Tuesday for California with a race horse friend. They said they would not go back to Plainfied unless compelled to and would not remain there in any case.

An "Ian Maclaren" Window.

According to the present custom of the leading book dealers, Mulford Estil has arraigned one of his windows as an "Ian Mclaren" window in which is now displayed all of that great author's work handsomely bound. He also is exhibiting a number of the original photographs from which the illustrations for the books were made. They were taken from nature by Clifton Johnson. The covers for two of the books were designed by George Wharton Edwards, of this city. These volumes are "The Bonnie Brier Bush," and "A Doctor of the Old School."

Mrs. Waldron Entered at Greenwood.

The remains of the late Mrs. Mary Fisher How Waldron were taken to Brooklyn Friday afternoon and interred in the Greenwood Cemetery. Rev. S. P. Simpson, of this city, conducted services at the grave.

SOCIALISTS BEHIND IT

German Dock Strike a Matter of Political Importance.

WHY ARBITRATION WAS REJECTED

The Government Will Soon Be Bound To Interfere---Emperor William Favors a Waiting Policy---Turkish Financial Policy.

(Copyright, 1896, by the United Associated Presses.)

Berlin, Dec. 7.—Passing from its initial phase as a mere industrial agitation in pursuit of higher wages, the strike of the dock laborers at Hamburg and elsewhere has become a matter of political importance. Behind the local organizers of the Hamburg strike, as it has now been revealed, are the executive committee of the socialist party who are working not so much in the interests of the laborers as in the interests of the social democratic party. The executive committe of the socialist party are now established in headquarters at Hamburg and they have managed to get the trades unions throughout Germany to supply funds for the support of strikers at all the Baltic ports. What is called a "laborers' common resistance fund" has been formed to which the socialist associations in every great centre are contributing. The object of this movement is less to conquer the employers than to foster the socialist propaganda. If the dock laborers at Hamburg had been left to themselves they would have settled their dispute with the masters, who proffered to their old employes concessions equal to what the strikers originally demanded. Since the socialist leaders have intervened, however, the demands of the strikers have increased until now the employers find themselves face to face with the real issue, which is that the entire shipping industry of Germany must obey the dictates of the politico-social organization or fight out a supreme battle to the end.

William Counsels a Waiting Policy.

The rejection by the employers of the proposal to submit the dispute to a board of arbitration was due to the knowledge of the employers of the fact that the men behind the strikers would not eventually accept the decision of the arbitration tribunal, which, as proposed, conceded only one member to represent the employers. It was not the absence of the adequate representation on the tribunal that caused the employers to reject the proposal, but it was their conviction of the futility of the whole proceeding. The movement is now seen to be a combined socialist attack upon German commerce, in which the government will soon be bound to interfere. The emperor sent an agent to see personally Senator Hachmann of Hamburg, Herr Hinrichsen, the president of the Hamburger burgerschaft, and Herr Noack, the president of the Hamburg chamber of commerce, all of whom advised the formation of an arbitration tribunal to which the dispute between the employers and strikers should be submitted for settlement. The kaiser himself strongly favored the earliest possible settlement of the difficulty until he was shown that the socialist politicians were managing the strike, when, it is understood, his majesty advised the home office to await the developments of the situation, but not to interfere. In the meantime Gen. von Schlewitz, commanding the troops at Hamburg, has been instructed to take full measures to maintain order.

Turkish Financial Reforms.

M. Nelidoff, Russian ambassador to Turkey, who has been in St. Petersburg for some time, left the Russian court this morning on his return to Constantinople. It is reported here that he has the authority of the czar to propose a conference of the powers upon the questions of the Turkish financial reforms and the opening of the Dardanelles. The conference, it is said, will not touch upon the Egyptian question.

Ambassador Bayard's Plans.

London, Dec. 7.—Ambassador Bayard will go to Bristol on Dec. 17. He will be entertained at luncheon by the chamber of commerce of that city on that day, and in the evening will distribute the prizes at the Merchant Venturers' Technical college. On Dec. 18 Mr. Bayard will take luncheon with the officials of the Merchant Venturers and later will dine with the treasurer of that institution, returning to London on Dec. 19.

Cutting Down Expenses.

Bath, N. Y., Dec. 7.—At a special meeting of the trustees of the Soldiers' home the salary of Engineer Densmore was reduced from $125 per month to $100, and Superintendent of Construction Fogarty's salary from $100 to $75. It was decided to lay off a dozen or more of the citizen employes. It is intimated that there will be a change of the officials of the institution in a few months.

Palaces for South African Millionaires.

London, Dec. 7.—The South African millionaire, J. B. Robinson, has bought a stately mansion, Dudley house, Park lane, Piccadilly. Another Afrikaner, the stock broker, Beil, has built a palace near Grovenor Gate, and Barney Barnato is erecting in Park lane the largest and most gorgeous private building in England.

To Coach Columbia's Crew.

New York, Dec. 7.—It is entirely probable that Walter H. Peet, the famous coach, will have charge of Columbia's crews next year. If he can arrange his business hours so as not to conflict with the coaching he will take charge of the crew.

CONGRESS CONVENES

Senate and House Resume Work at Noon To-day.

USUAL OPENING SCENES EXACTED

Much Interest Manifested by Foreign Diplomats over the President's Message ---Programme of the Business on Hand.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The final session of the 54th congress convened at noon to-day with the usual ceremonies. The visitors' galleries in both the senate and the house were fairly well occupied when the session opened, and in the diplomatic gallery a number of foreign representatives sat awaiting with much interest the reading of the president's message. On several of the senators' desks were floral pieces, and one particularly elaborate piece rested on Vice-President Stevenson's desk. Flowers were also plentifully in evidence in the house. Before the session opened there was the usual exchange of congratulations or condolences, as the case might be, over the results of the elections.

Immigration Bill First in Order.

When the last session closed the house immigration bill had and now has the right of way in the senate. It is the unfinished business and will be called up pro forma at the expiration of the morning hour. Although known as the house bill on the calendar as reported to the senate by Mr. Lodge, it is a materially different measure, all of the house provisions having been stricken out except the enacting clause and a new bill substituted. This bill will be called up to-morrow by Senators Lodge and Chandler, who desire to push it to a vote as quickly as possible. As the bill came from the house, it provided not only for the exclusion of immigrants who could not fill the educational test, but went at some length into the regulating of alien contract labor. Mr. Lodge's substitute provides for what is known as the educational test and excludes all persons over 14 years of age who cannot read and write the language of their mother country or some other country, except that an aged person not so able who is a parent or grandparent of an admissable immigrant may accompany or be sent by such immigrant. For the purpose of testing the capability of the immigrant to read and write a citation of five lines from the constitution of the United States is to be used, printed in the various languages of the immigrants.

New Dates for Special Orders.

An effort will be made to secure new dates for the consideration of special orders that were not reached during the last session. These measures coming now under this preferred head are senate bill 1012, to prevent the desecration of the national flag; house bill 3,206, to amend the act to prevent the extermination of fur-bearing animals of Alaska; house bill 878, to reduce the cases in which the penalty of death may be inflicted, and senate joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of senators by popular vote. An important local bill which has developed a bitter fight is the Detroit bridge bill for a bridge across the Detroit river. It was postponed at the last session until the first Monday in December. In addition to the appropriation bills there are several measures that will contend with each other for the right of way. Prominent among these are the bills to refund the Pacific railroad debt; to admit the territories of New Mexico and Arizona; authorizing the secretary of the navy to enlist additional men, now pending in the senate on a motion to reconsider the vote by which it was passed; Mr. Davis' resolution relative to the assertion and enforcement of the Monroe doctrine; a bill to facilitate the construction of a cable between this country and the republic of Hawaii; providing for a uniform classification and grading of agricultural products, and one providing for the reorganization of the consular and dipiomatic service.

House of Representatives.

In the house of representatives the swearing in of two new members was the first to engage the attention of speaker read and the house—Messrs. Boatner of Louisiana and Stokes of South Carolina. These gentlemen enjoy the very unusual distinction of having twice received certificates of election to one congress. At the last session their seats were declared vacant, but the contestants did not succeed in establishing their rights thereto, and new elections were ordered to fill the vacancies. Since congress adjourned another vacancy has occurred—that occasioned by the death of ex-Speaker Crisp. His son, who was his father's clerk, has been nominated to fill the unexpired term, but the election will not be held until the 16th instant. Mr. Blue, chairman of the sub-committee of the committee on appropriations, at a suitable opportunity, will report the general pension bill to the house, and announce a day for its consideration. This will doubtless be early in the week. The rules of the house provide that all business on the calendar shall retain its place throughout an entire congress, so that adjournment from one session to another means no more than adjournment from day to day. The programme of business for the first week of the session will depend upon the developments from day to day of committee action and recommendation. Before the week closes, however, the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill will be reported and placed on the calendar, and on a Friday night there will be the usual session for the consideration of private pension bills.

FASHIONS IN DOGS' NAMES.

"Sport," "Spot" and "Rover" No Longer Employed.

Fashions in dog names are undergoing a radical change. The formerly familiar Sport and Spot and Rover are as completely a thing of the past as a summer's straw hat or last year's comic opera. Every dog has its day, and theirs is over. Their departed spirits roam the happy hunting grounds and their earthly quarters are filled with a race of sturdier canines responding to sturdier names, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

Rob Roy McGregor is the romantic title of a handsome Scotch collie, the pet of a dozen children of the North side. Peter Kelley, a fox terrier, roams the streets of the same locality, and Rum Punch and Gin Cocktail are two skyes frequenting the Lake Shore drive, whose intoxicating names explain their hatred of water.

Irish appellations are in the ascendency. Patrick Jarsfield is a Chicago fox terrier, whose feminine owner enjoyed the story of the Celtic hero's exploits as caroled by Plunkett Greene. "Yim Yoolan" from the lips of an army girl calls an ugly Yorkshire terrier to be duly admired by diplomatic callers. Paddy familiarly and Paderewski on state occasions is the name of a hairy specimen of appropriate amber hue who makes life a burden to passing cyclists on Grand boulevard.

Billy Sykes is the baptismal prerogative of a South side brindle bull, while his brother in Lake View sedately answers to Lord Chumley. Chimmie Fadden is the ugliest bull in Chicago.

SUICIDE OF A RATTLESNAKE.

Little Doubt of the Fact That They Kill Themselves by Their Own Bites.

The question as to whether the rattlesnake's venom is poisonous to itself has often been discussed, but if any satisfactory conclusion has ever been arrived at we are unaware of the fact, says the St. Louis Republic. Dr. W. J. Burnett, formerly a member of the Boston Society of Natural History, says that there are good reasons for believing that the action of the rattler's virulent poison is the same upon all living things, vegetable as well as animal. Other eminent naturalists combat this theory and declare that the idea of an animal poison killing or injuring a vegetable is really preposterous. Burnett says: "It is even just as fatal to the snake itself as to other animals." Then he relates the experience of one, Dr. Dearing. The doctor had a specimen of the prolific rattler which he kept alive in a cage. One day he irritated the reptile so as to study the effect of the anger thus provoked. The snake struck wildly about a few times and then buried its fangs in its own body. Almost instantly, the experimenter says, the reptile rolled over and died. If this story is true, and we have no reason to doubt the story, we see in it the remarkable and unique physiologiacl fact of a liuqid secreted from the blood which proves deadly when introduced into the very source from which it was derived.

Worth Trying Again.

"Of course, you understand, Miss Filkins; I'm a bachelor from choice."

"Oh, I supposed so, naturally, Mr. Singleman, knowing you as well as I do. But you might try again."

"Try again?"

"Yes. Girls are such strange creatures, you know, and she might choose differently the next time."—Chicago Post.

Nerve

Excitement, overwork and worry are ruining the health of thousands of women. Pure Blood is required to feed the nerves, a good appetite and digestive strength are demanded to keep the body strong and vigorous, and to restore the exhausted energies there must be sound and refreshing

Sleep

By its power to respond to all these needs Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself the greatest friend of women. Thousands write that they have been given health and strength by its use. It is the great blood purifier, and consequently the true nerve tonic.

"I feel that I should be wanting in common gratitude should I fail to tell the benefit my wife has derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. She became seriously ill from running ulcers, caused by poorness of and was strongly advised by a friend to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. She said it had cured her and would no doubt cure my wife. So we tried it, and to say that its effect is wonderful, is only using a mild expression. It appears to be building up a new constitution for her; and, as we are a family of eleven, there are eleven of us rejoicing at the result.

Blood

"If the foregoing induces only one person, suffering in the same manner, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I shall feel more than rewarded." ELIJAH PACKER, 585 Monroe Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

This

is the trade-mark which is on every genuine wrapper of

Scott's Emulsion

All others claiming to be "just as good," "just the same" and "equal to" Scott's Emulsion are imitations, without this label.

Get the genuine if you want genuine results!

50c. and $1.00 at all druggists

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York

J. C. Pope & Co.,

INSURANCE AGENTS,

110 East Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW Meat Market.

George Egel, Manager.

Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street 6 13 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.

To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days

To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.

To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 19—25 days

Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired, inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!

C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor

No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 11 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN, Park Avenue Florist,

Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,

Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in

Cigars, Tobacco, etc.

"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. STICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

Edwin B. Maynard,

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

WINTER STYLES

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.

Just Received from manufacturers

FORCE, 129 Park Avenue. 29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.

Best Dairy Butter 18c.

V. L. FRAZEE

151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S VARIETY MARKET.

Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

220 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS

If you want a deep, clear rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables

will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,

144 PARK AVENUE.

A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett

has removed to

148 EAST FIFTH STREET.

Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,

FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.

Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 1st. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.

R. H. McCullough, Prop.

Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER, Residence, 33 Linden Ave

Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf

Telephone 29b. Established 1878

ADDIS & SON,

Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.

ACCIDENT TICKETS.

THE INTER-STATE

Casualty Company of New York gives SIX MONTHS' insurance

$1.000 for $1.00,

to men or women

between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.

For sale at office of

Honeyman's Private Tours,

181 North Ave. Plainfield, N. J.

6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,

PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,

Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.

Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 9 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE

PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.

Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.

The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.

GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,

120 NORTH AVENUE.

Wholesale and Retail

Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE

Sewer Connections.

DAVID BOWDEN,

General Contractor. 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.

28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES,

Mason and Builder

Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 18 Elm place. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.

All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO. OAL. 747 WEST FRONT ST.

Branch office with

G. A. HALLOCK,

109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS

of our own manufacture to select from Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.

M. C. DOBBINS, 206 Park Avenue, Plainfield.

8 15 tf

H. Eggerding,

121 Park ave., Manufacturer of the Celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR.

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made he premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,

187 North Avenue.

Practical Plumber.

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure This should be done before connecting with new sewer.

Telephone Call 128a

L. L. Manning & Son,

STEAM GRANITE WORKS,

Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.

STAGES

For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,

Sanitary Plumbing,

Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Contractor for sewer connections.

210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,

EXCAVATORS.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,

RETAIL DEALER IN

Fish, Oysters, and Clams.

Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,

Dealer in

Coal & Wood.

Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.

Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S

Furniture and Freight

EXPRESS.

Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 203 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract !

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—20 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y .M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

108 Park avenue. Established 1869

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES, and FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

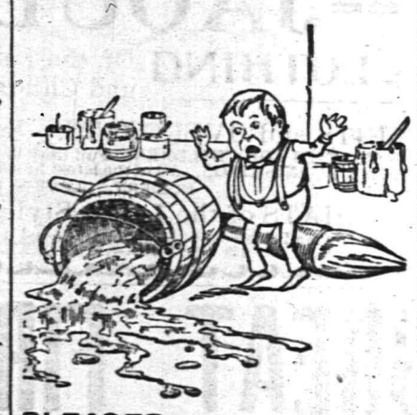
Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.



PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor.

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—91 Watchung ave.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT -- Notice is hereby given, That the account of the subscribers, executors of Sybilla E. Albert, deceased, will be audited and stated by the surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the 16th day of December next.

Dated October 8th, 1896.

JAMES LESLIE,
WILLIAM R. CODINGTON.
10 9 10

MULLINS & SONS

218-220 Market St., Newark.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS

We Can Sell You Better Goods and at Lower Prices than Anywhere Else. Look What We Offer This Week.

This Cylinder Stove (like cut) All styles and sizes at the lowest prices. Also full line of ranges. $5.75.

Saddle Seat and Cobbler Rockers, in oak, birch or cherry, some with plush seats, exactly like cut, at $2.50

BANQUET LAMPS.

Banquet Lamps, Silk Shade, all colors, $2.50!

Elegant Parlor Suits, upholstered brocatelle, silk tapestry or plush $25.00

Handsome New Mahogany Frame Parlor Suits, upholstered in brocatelle, silk tapestry or plush special this week at..... $20.00

BRASS TABLES—100 more of BRASS and ONYX TABLES, all new designs the regular $6 tables, at..... $4.25

CHIFFONNIERES—NEW ANTIQUE OAK CHIFFONNIERES, 5 drawers, nicely finished. This week, to close them out at once, the entire lot at.. $4.50

CARPET BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK.

Best Quality Moquette.....95c. per yard
Tapestry Brussels.....50c. per yard
Ingrain.....35c. per yard

Easy terms of credit to everybody. We will furnish your home for $1 per week.

MULLINS & SONS.

218-220 Market St., Newark.

Branch Stores 78-84 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 121-125 Newark Ave., Jersey City, N. J. 136-138 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for net spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00 at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and I will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

Bargains in Real Estate For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned, either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

Telephone, Brooklyn, 366.

COMINS & EVANS

Acorn Brand Asphalt Roofing.

Gravel and Metal Roofing, Tile and Brick Roofing, Water-Tight Cellars.

45 WAVERLY AVE, BROOKLYN, N. Y

New York office, 102 Fulton st., room 413.

THE CUBAN INSURRECTION.

Weyler's Latest Decree---Stories of Enormous Thieving Among Army Officials.

Havana, Dec. 7.—The real reason for the new decree which will soon be issued by Captain-General Weyler, requiring every able-bodied man between the ages of 18 to 60 to take the field against the isurgents, is perfectly well-known here, although no one dares to openly discuss it. It is a fact that the 18,000 soldiers recently sent here by Spain are not enough to cover the losses of the Spanish army within the past few weeks. More than that, it is said that high military authorities here are concealing from Spain the knowledge of more than half of the army's losses for the purpose of continuing to draw from the treasury the wages and allowances of the dead men. It is estimated that from April, 1895, to last November more than $30,000,000 have been stolen from the Spanish treasury in this way. The number of soldiers in the field is less than the central government believes, and is not sufficient for Weyler's plan of campaign, which is simply to march against the insurgents in heavy bodies. The news of the forthcoming decree has created such an excitement among Cuban families that the number of young men who have joined the insurgent forces within the past few days is greater than at any time since the beginning of the war. A circular has been quietly issued to the Cubans, which says: "No man of honor can doubt which side he must take if placed by the tyranny of the Spanish government in the position of choosing between Spain and Cuba Libre." Talk of war with the United States is again heard. What makes the Spanish residents more desperate is the financial distress of the country, which is ruining them. They all believe that a war with the United States would afford a happy solution. In their ignorance of the real power of the United States, they imagine that Spain would win, and that after Uncle Sam was beaten he would have to pay a heavy indemnity to Spain. Outside of Havana famine is beginning to spread. In Bramates, province of Pinar del Rio, 10,000 persons are dying from Hunger. In Cardenas poverty is so great that families who were wealthy before the war are now begging in the streets. In Cienfuegos, an opulent city until 1895, the misery is also great, and here in Havana famine is expected soon as a consequence of Weyler's methods of warfare and his destruction of all the provisions in the country districts.

WEYLER'S CAMPAIGN.

The Whereabouts of the Spanish General Still a Matter of Doubt.

Havana, Dec. 7.—Four days have now elapsed since any news has been received from Captain General Weyler. It is not known in what part of the province of Pinar del Rio he is or what he is doing towards carrying out the plan of the campaign on which the loyalists have built high hopes, but which has thus far resulted in no signal success. Heavy rains have been prevailing lately and it is probable that the condition of the country has put a temporary check on the operations of the Spanish forces. Officials here state that there is nothing surprising in no dispatches being received from General Weyler, as he is a man of action rather than of words, and is waiting to meet the rebels before he devotes any time to writing dispatches. General Melguizo reports that his command surprised a rebel hospital in the Valle hills, province of Pinar del Rio. Six insurgents, whether wounded or not is not stated, were killed and the dwellings and all the camp paraphernalia were destroyed. The first contingent of the new reinforcements, numbering 2,500 men, arrived here yesterday.

Death of Rev. A. T. Worden.

Canajoharie, N. Y., Dec. 7.—The Rev. A. T. Worden, aged 55 years, died suddenly of heart failure yesterday at his home in Ames, N. Y., where he had been pastor of the Free Baptist church for twelve years. He resigned a year ago on account of failing health. Mr. Worden served through the civil war, having enlisted as a private, and was promoted several times. After the war he studied for the ministry and was ordained in 1871. He was well known in literary circles through his contributions of poetry, humorous sketches, etc., to prominent periodicals.

Republican Senators To Caucus.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The republicans of the senate will hold a caucus to-morrow morning. It is not expected that the first caucus will reach any conclusions on pending questions. The general situation will be discussed, but it is understood that no effort will be made to take the sense of the party at this time on the possibility of passing the Dingley bill.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Trade easy; prices steady. Dec., 91c.; May, 87c.

Corn—Spot firm; old prices prevail. Dec., 29¼c.; May, 30⅝c.

Oats—Trade is steady; fair demand. Dec., 23⅜c.; May, 26⅛c.

Lard—Market firm; moderate trade. Prime western, $4.18.

Eggs—Steady prices; good demand. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@22c.; western, fresh, 22@24c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 21@23.

Butter—Good supply; choice firm. Creamery western extras, 25c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19½@22c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 9½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

THE TURNPIKE WAR

More Gates Destroyed by Armed Men in Kentucky.

PRIVATE PROPERTY THREATENED

One Keeper Compelled To Chop Down His Own Gate---Gates Will Be Repaired and Toll Collected with the Aid of an Armed Guard.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Dec. 7.—A mob of between forty and sixty men armed with shotguns and axes rode through Mercer Saturday night and chopped down six toll gates. The gate keepers were warned not to repair the gates or collect any more toll under penalty of being burned out. The mob passed through this city at 2 o'clock Sunday morning enroute for Macksville, and they destroyed every toll gate on the line of march. At Salt River, one mile from here, Dave Barnett, a gate keeper, was made to chop down his own gate, and he was told to notify the turnpike directors that if the gate was repaired and money collected the raiders would not only burn the toll house, but also the private property of the board of directors. These men have ordered the gates repaired and toll will be collected by an armed guard. The same warning was given at some of the other gates. Over 300 toll gates have been burned or chopped down since the turnpike war began in Washington county three months ago and as yet only five arrests have been made. No convictions resulted from these. The gates destroyed represent 1,500 miles of turnpike valued at $4,000,000 and the state and county authorities have furnished no protection whatever.

BRYAN'S BOOK.

Its Title Will Be "The First Battle"—His Reasons for Writing It.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 7.—It has just been learned that the title of William J. Bryan's book is to be the "The First Battle." In the preface, he states his reasons for writing the book in the following words: "The campaign of 1896 was a remarkable one, whether we measure it by the magnitude of the issues involved or by the depth of interest aroused. I have been led to undertake the present work by a desire felt by myself and expressed by others to have the more important incidents of the campaign put into permanent form for the convenience of those who have taken part in the contest and for the use of those who shall hereafter desire to review the struggle. The amount of work done by the advocates of free coinage is beyond computation and the number of those who took an active part in the contest too great for enumeration. These facts, together with the difficulty of choosing between so many meritorious speeches, have compelled me to limit the quotations to the addresses made and papers issued by persons standing in an official or semi-official capacity and to the principal speeches delivered by myself. I have added a brief history of the campaign, including a decision of the election returns and the significance thereof. It has also been thought best to narrate the part taken by me in the silver agitation prior to the convention, and at the request of the publishers I have included a biographical sketch, written by Mrs. Bryan." It is understood here that the publishers will issue the book in the early part of January.

GUARDING MINE PROPERTY.

Strikers Threaten the Forest Coal Company's Plant at Archbald.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 7.—Detectives and deputy sheriffs are on guard to protect the breaker and other property of the Forest Coal company, near Archbald, from the threats of nearly 100 miners and laborers who went on strike Saturday. The men claim they are assessed 6 1-2 cents for every ton of coal they mine to pay the wages of three men who are set to oversee them at their work of robbing pillars in a drift. When they struck they prevented other employes from putting the mines in operation. The company's foremen and superintendent were notified, and with armed officers they went to the scene of trouble, routed the rioters and arrested four of the leaders. Superintendent Jones of the company says that he will not reemploy one of the strikers, and they must vacate all the company's houses.

Bishop Williams Ill.

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 7.—Bishop John Williams, senior bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, is confined to his house with sciatica, so that all engagements have been cancelled. He is able to hear his classes and give his lectures at the Berkeley Divinity school. His episcopal work will be done by bishops visiting in the state.

An Old Landmark Burned.

Hornellsville, N. Y., Dec. 7.—Fire caused presumably from a chimney of the Thacher flour mills burned one of the oldest landmarks of the Canisteo valley to the ground yesterday. Loss, $15,000. One hundred years ago Judge George Hornell, from whom the city was named, built the mill.

Sarah Ulrich Kelley Killed.

Honesdale, Pa., Dec. 7.—Sarah Ulrich Kelley, known as the "Bard of Shanty Hill" and aspirant before congress for the place of poet laureate of America, was instantly killed yesterday in Cherry Ridge township by being thrown from her carriage.

Death of Irving Gibbs Platt.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 7.—Irving Gibbs Platt, aged 35 years, one of the most prominent business men in Waterbury, died yesterday of typhoid fever at his home in Platt's Mills.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

105 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 5, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.

Generally Fair Tuesday; Probably Cloudy and Threatening in the Morning; Slightly Cooler Tuesday Afternoon.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 50 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 10—Meeting of Parliamentary Club at Y. M. C. A. at 10 a. m.

As now constituted the Common Council will meet for the last time tonight in regular session.

Romantic and daredevilish, indeed, is the story printed in The Press today of the capture of the two boy bandits who looted a Plainfield home of a cool thousand. But they will pay the fiddler, no doubt, when brought before the judicial bench.

Chief Doane tells The Press that no blame whatever can be thrown on Driver Fred Breem for the deplorable accident in the fire department yesterday morning. The Chief commends Driver Breem as one of the best handlers of the reins over a team of horses that he has ever seen.

That the course of true love never runs smooth is evidenced in the case of the ardent swain of this city who waited on an Elizabeth belle and playfully took a pound of butter from the fair damsel, and was then called to a court on the charge of theft. Explanations on the part of the rash admirer that he did it to tease the young lady finally exonerated him from his act.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Wm. Fiering, of East Front street, is very ill at her home.

Walter G. Runyon and family, of this city, have moved to Elizabeth.

Wm. Hardy, of Brooklyn, spent Saturday and Sunday with Plainfield friends.

The work on the ice pond and dam at Washingtonville has been stopped for the present.

John K. Large and family have taken possession of their new house on East Front street, near Sandford avenue, and will hereafter be residents of Plainfield. Mr. Large is chief of the Central Railroad detective service, a very responsible position, which he fills with grat satisfaction to the company and terror to evil-doers.

The Sofa Caught Fire.

A fire occurred at the home of Horace Sherwin, on Orchard place, last evening, in a most peculiar manner. Mr. Sherwin was sitting in his parlor and while lighting a cigar, a spark from the match struck the sofa. In an instant the sofa was one mass of flames. Mr. Sherwin's first thought was to get the piece of furniture out doors, which he did. In the meantime Lawrence Berner, a young son of Jacob Benner, saw the flames and he ran to the corner of Front and Grove streets where he sent in an alarm from Box 31, with the key from Barker's drug store. The department responded quickly, but the firemen had very little to do, except to extinguish the flames of the burning sofa which was by that time was out in the street. The loss was $92.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A Noble Woman Gone.

A telegram was received this afternoon announcing the sudden death at 5 o'clock this morning of Miss A. C. Bagot, at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. J. Powers, Wilmington, N. C. Miss Bagot spent all of last winter at the home of her cousin, Mrs. A. L. Force, 82 Duer street, and that home was truly made brighter by her presence. None knew her but to love her, and her sudden death will sadden many hearts in Plainfield and very many in Brooklyn, where she has resided all her life. But blessed be God, she is among the redeemed in Heaven, having given her heart to Christ early in life. It is expected that her remains will be brought from the city in which she died and placed in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, the date of which will be announced in these columns.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

A FIRE HORSE KILLED.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

of the fire committee, was out of town and Mr. Fisk was the most easy one to reach.

One of Wm Hand's horses was at once secured and will be kept until other arrangements are made. Frank Hand is on duty as driver.

The truck will be repaired at once, and the old truck will be used in its place.

The fire consumed everything in the room, which articles belonged to the servant and upon which there was no insurance. No other part of the house was damaged nor was anything else burned.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—It is suggested that the ladies remove their hats at the Mcalaren lecture Thursday night.

—All persons holding tickets unpaid for the Maclaren lecture will confer a favor by remitting at once.

—A meeting of Stone Square Lodge, Colored Masons, will be held tonight in their rooms on West Front street.

Frank Lock, of West Front street, welcomed his seventh daughter Friday evening. His friends are extending congratulations.

—The Christian Alliance will meet at 7:45 Tuesday evening at the rooms of the W. C. T. U. on Watchung avenue for prayer, praise and testimony.

—Mr Murray will meet his Bible class this evening, instead of Tuesday evening. All men interested are invited. The subject of the lesson will be "Paul, the Missionary," second lesson.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will give a musical entertainment in the church on Wednesday evening of this week.

—At the W. C. T. U. "Festival of Days" there will be a small child's wardrobe for a child two years old, to be given to the King's Daughters' Circle in Plainfield that receives the largest number of votes.

—The bazaar given by the Helping Hand society of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, closed Friday evening after a successful run of three evenings. The result was the raising of $70.88, which will be used for the benefit of the church.

—A Christmas fair for the sale of fancy and useful articles will be held in All Souls church on the afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. An entertainment will be given in the evening. Admission 10 cents; children, 5 cents.

THEATRICAL.

The excellent character comedian, George W. Wilson, for many years identified with the famous Boston Museum Stock Company, has been especially engaged to play Nathaniel Berry in James A. Herne's beautiful comedy-drama, 'Shore Acres." Mr. Wilson was at one time associated with Edwin Booth, and was also a member of the Booth-Salvini Company. It is known that Mr. Wilson has played more parts than any other actor now before the public, and many parts created by him have never been surpassed. Mr. Wilson was a member of the original "Shore Acres" Company, and is thoroughly conversant with every part in the piece. He will appear as Uncle Nat at Music Hall tonight.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

Transfers and Contracts.

The following transfers of real estate were recorded in Union County Clerk Howard's office, from November 26 to December 2, inclusive, and reported in the New Jersey Contractor: George A. Strong, Plainfield, to William A. Wheelock, New York, lot Central avenue, Plainfield, $1; William Wheelock, et ux, to Harriet E. W. Strong, westerly side of Central avenue, Plainfield, $1; Norman K. Barnes et ux, Plainfield, to Katherina Ruppert, North Plainfield, lot West Front street, Plainfield, $2,700; George H. Harris, et ux, Woodbridge, to Morris N. Bunt, Rahway, 20-28 acres, road Rahway to Plainfield, $4,100. The following contract was filed from November 26 to December 2 inclusive: G. A. Strong, Plainfield, with C Abbott, carpenter and mason, stable $1,977.

Your Neighbor

doesn't know what she is missing by not using Cleveland's baking powder.

GEORGE J. TOBIN'S SIDE.

The Plumber Says He Did Not Strike Fireman Addis.

To the Editor of the Daily Press:—In your issue of Saturday in reference to the alarm of fire at my store on Friday evening you state that I struck or attempted to strike W. H. Addis. This is not so and I suppose he started the story to create a sympathetic business feeling, but it will not go. This is the nineteenth century and people have intelligence enough to judge for themselves. Addis came running to my store after the fire had been extinguished with a crowd of other pedestrians, dressed in citizens' clothes, and with no visible appearance of a fireman about him, either in garb or character. The fire being out, and having no use for the man, I thought it was for my best interest not to admit him, and therefore told Roundsman Mattox not to allow him to enter. The fire having been in the rear of the cellar, I could not see why he should want to insist upon entering the front of the store. He having been in my employ I did not want him in my show room handling the stock when there was no occasion for it. I wish to say in conclusion that I thank the firemen most cordially for their prompt and effective service, and also Charles W. Runyon, manager of the Telephone Company, who with his own hand grenade did very effective work. George J. Tobin.

MRS. VANRIPER'S WILL.

It is Being Contested in the New Jersey Courts.

The VanRiper will case came up before Judge Hudspeth at Jersey City for trial on Friday. Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and City Judge DeMeza represented the caveators, while Messrs Linspeer and Condit, of Jersey City, were the lawyers for the proponents.

The will which is being contested is that of the late Mrs. Mary Elizabeth VanRiper, formerly of this city and late of Elizabeth. It was made in favor of one niece and fifteen institutions, and the contestors are Miss Margaret E. McLoughlin and others of this city. The trial will be continued on December 16th.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

Thrown From His Wagon.

William Smith, Jr., of Grandview avenue, was thrown out of his wagon yesterday afternoon on Watchung avenue, owing to the fact that his horse was frightened at a steam roller which stood on the avenue. The horse ran as far as Washingtonville where he was caught by a man named Baldwin, and returned to the owners house. Young Smith was not injured nor was his rig, and his escape is considered very fortunate.

Cut Her Forearm.

Miss Kate Muldowney, a servant girl in the employ of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Runyon, of West Fourth street, cut her forearm severely Saturday afternoon while cleaning a window at the house. In drying the pane of glass she pressed heavily on it and her hand and forearm went through the glass. Dr. B. Van D. Hedges was summoned at once and gave proper treatment. Miss Muldowney lost a considerable amount of blood as a result of the accident, but she is recovering.

Cheapest, Because the Best

GAIL BORDEN EAGLE BRAND

CONDENSED MILK

Send for that little book, "Infant Health," great value to mothers. Sent free.

N. Y. Condensed Milk Co.

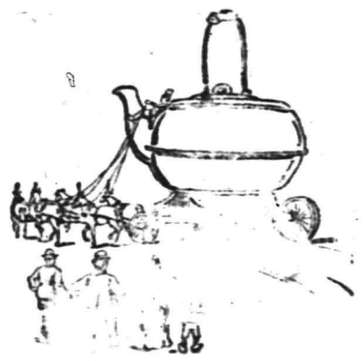
71 Hudson Street, New York

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe?

DOANE & EDSALL.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co



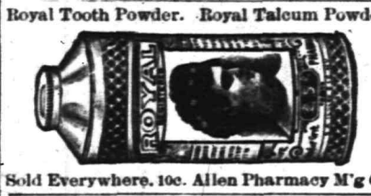
are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.

Christmas Tree Holders, Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver-plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1.98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.

Telephone Call 49 I. 9 8 1y

ELY'S CREAM BALM is a positive cure. Apply into the nostrils. It is quickly absorbed. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; samples 10c. by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York City.

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.



Sold Everywhere. 10c. Allen Pharmacy M'g Co.

ST. NICHOLAS

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

CONDUCTED BY MARY MAPES DODGE.

"The best of all children's magazines" is the universal verdict on ST. NICHOLAS. It began existence in 1873, and has merged in itself all of the leading children's magazines in America. The greatest writers of the world are its regular contributors. The supreme quality of ST. NICHOLAS is its bright, healthful and invigorating atmosphere.

THE COMING YEAR

will be a great one in its history. It will have a more varied table of contents and more spirited illustrations than ever before. The leading serial, beginning in November, will be

A Story of Shakspere's Time.

'MASTER SKYLARK,"

BY JOHN BENNETT.

Illustrated by Birch.

THIS is a live story, full of action, color, merriment, and human nature. The world's greatest poet figures as one of the principal characters, although the hero and heroine are a boy and girl. It is poetic in treatment, but full of the romance of the Elizabethan age, and very dramatic in plot. Another serial, beginning in November is

A Great War Story for North and South.

"THE LAST THREE SOLDIERS,"

BY WILLIAM H. SHELTON. A strong story with a unique plot. Three Union soldiers, members of a signal corps, stationed on a mountain top, cut a bridge that connects them with the rest of the world and become veritable castaways in the midst of the Confederacy. Will be read with delight by children North and South.

A Serial For Girls.

"JUNES GARDEN" by MARION HILL, is addressed specially to girls, and is by a favorite writer. It is full of fun, the character drawing is strong and the whole influence of the story is inspiring and uplifting.

SHORT STORIES.

THERE will be many tales of brave effort and adventure. GEORGE KENNAN has written three exciting stories of his experiences in Russia; WALTER CAMP will have a stirring account of a bicycle race, and J. T. TROWBRIDGE will contribute a story of the sea. Every month will have articles representing

All the Best Writers.

Patriotic Sketches, Helpful Articles, Tales of Travel, Fanciful Tales, Bright Poems, Spirited Pictures, Prize Puzzles, Etc., Etc., Etc.

$3.00 a year, 25c. a number. All dealers take subscriptions, or remittances may be made direct to the publishers by money or express order, check, draft or registered letter.

The Century Co., Union Square, New York.

RIGHT ON TOP!

That is where PECK is.

Do you want any of his good goods?

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.

NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders, HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.

HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.

One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.

129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of

DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY, NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS, BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, will be placed on sale

SATURDAY MORNING

AT 8:30 O'CLOCK.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

SOME DOLL FACTS.

This is the best Doll Store in Plainfield. No question about that. The variety is greater and the qualities are finer than you can find anywhere else in this town.

Still more: New York, with all its great stores where Dolls are sold, contains no stock finer than mine.

The Dolls I sell are imported to my order. I buy them at as small prices as I can, and sell them as near to cost as I can afford.

Here are big Dolls and little ones. Some dressed ready for your little girl to take out for an airing. Others undressed, so the child can be a real "play" mother, and make clothes for her "baby."

Some Dolls cry. Some go to sleep. Some even "talk," but Dolls can't be expected to talk very good.

Will you look at these beautiful things? Bring the little ones along with you. Seeing is free.

Toys Are Treacherous

Most toys are made to sell. They look all right, but they don't last. The children are happy with them today, but tomorrow they are unhappy because the toys are broken. Some Toys are pretty strong. For instance, Iron Toys, Wooden Boats, Blocks, Games, Ten Pins, Pocket Knives. Plenty of 'em here. I want to sell 'em to you to gladden some little body's heart at Christmas time.

More Things

Lots of other nice things for gifts here. Prices not high either. Come in and look around. It will keep your eyes busy for a good many minutes to see everything.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front Street.

Xmas.

CURTIS M. THORP,

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be

FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.

Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and-irons, fenders, etc.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."

310–312 Park Avenue.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE

Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

A valuable grey work horse owned by Alvah Grey died on Saturday.

Mrs. L. Egbert and Mrs. Noonan have been visiting among friends in in New York city.

Mrs. J. W. Griggs, is able to sit up after an illness extending over a period of several days.

Several persons have openly declared that they simply joined the fire department to escape paying taxes.

Mrs. Jerusha Fulper, of Sargeantsville, this state, is visiting her cousin, Miss Lillian Staats, of North avenue.

The father of Night Operator Chas. Dunham, who has been visiting his son, returned to his home in Clinton, yesterday.

Rev. A. I. Martine, the pastor, will conduct communion services in the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning.

Night Operator Charles Dunham has been granted a few days leave of absence which he will spend in general recuperation.

The street cars have been equipped with neat and attractive stoves so that the cars are now much more comfortable in riding to Plainfield.

The skating on the New Market pond was a little ticklish, Saturday, and only a few venturesome boys and girls were seen on the ice at night.

Arrangements are making for a parade and blow-out of the Fire Department, soon after the department is domiciled in its new quarters, probably the latter part of December.

At last the Dunellen passengers over the street railway can warm their toes and ears at the Emerydale station. On Saturday a neat little stove was set to rights in the building and a coal fire started in the store.

The street lights in Dunellen were lighted at 5:45 o'clock on Saturday evening at twenty minutes later they went out. Two ladies were seen afterwards wending their way to the post office, each one carrying a lantern.

The new furnace which A. S. Giles has recently put in the new town hall building was started up on Saturday, for the first, and it worked to the evident satisfaction of all parties interested. It has been accepted by the borough commissioners.

The Central Railroad Company, it is understood, has notified the Fire Commissioners here to the effect that if the borough will furnish a fire-alarm gong and a certain number of fire-boxes, the company will furnish gratuitously the steam to blow the gong with.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

The skating on Marsh's pond, near here is excellent, and unless a thaw sets in, it will continue good all winter. The ice is about four inches thick.

Dr. Westcott is ill at home suffering from an attack of grip bordering on pneumonia. However, his condition was pronounced as much improved.

A double quartette or glee club, including Plainfield, Fanwood and Scotch Plains singers, held forth at Blimm's Hotel Saturday evening and rendered some very appropriate music. Light refreshments were served at the close of the singing.

Miss Lulu Dorwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dorwood, of Scotch Plains, was tendered a surprise party at her home on Bartle avenue, Friday evening. The young lady was twelve years old on that day and some fifteen of her young friends and acquaintances met at her home and spent a few hours in harmless enjoyment. Of course there was the traditional birthday cake.

During the past few winters cock fighting has formed one of the main amusements for the sporting fraternity hereabouts, and this winter is no exception to the rule. Already some three or four of the local sports are getting in readiness for a cock fight, which is to take place near here within a week. The birds have all been in battles before, and the betting up to date is about even. Plainfield birds will figure in the main.

The entertainment given under the auspices of the Young Men's League, held in the chapel of the Baptist church Saturday evening, was a pronounced success. A regular business meeting of the League was held first, at which several of the prominent residents of the place came forward and expressed a desire to assist in the building of a new brick club-house, as already outlined in The Press. W. N. Runyon and H. Thatcher, of Plainfield, were present and rendered musical selections, witty sayings, etc. Mr. Runyon was encored eight times. The two Plainfielders were afterwards made honorary members by unanimous consent. Rev. Mr. Braker made a few appropriate remarks on the welfare of the League, and spoke of its progressiveness. The League, he said, was started about a month ago; now it has 85 members and the roll will reach 100 or upwards within a month. Mr. Turton called upon President W. H. Hoar, who made a few remarks of encouragement and stated that it was unanimously resolved that the League attend divine services in the Baptist church next Sunday morning at 10:30, when Rev. Mr. Braker will preach an appropriate sermon to the members. This league bids fair to outrival many of a similar kind in the State, and when its building is once up and completed then the young men of the town will have a place to spend their spare time. The entertainment committee which consists of W. H. Turton, chairman, Fred Allen, Edward Faucher, George Young, William Buckley and R. Collins, are leaving nothing undone to carry out the plans, and it is safe to say that within a few months the building will be completed and fully equipped. Another entertainment will be given two weeks from tomorrow night. The committee will hold a meeting at the residence of W. H. Turton this evening to further consummate their plans. The initiation fee to join the league is $1, and the dues $3 a year.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Josie Martin, of Chatham street, is confined to her home by illness.

Miss Mamie DeNize, of West Front street, has recovered from a slight illness.

Wm. Breem, of Brooklyn, was the guest yesterday of his brother, Fred Breem, of Richmond street.

Mrs. Robert Binning, of New York, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Elijah Stites, of Chatham street.

Miss Reba Tinsman, of Lumberville, has returned home after a visit with the Misses Livesay, of Park avenue.

Julius Williams, of Elmwood place, arrived home Saturday night after a six weeks business trip through the west.

Mrs. Skinner, of the West End, was taken to Morris Plains Insane Asylum yesterday owing to her demented condition.

Roy T. Philips, of Madison avenue, is slowly improving from his recent injuries as the water has almost left his knee.

Mrs. David A. Zeigler and son, Kenneth, of Denver, Col., are guests at the home of Mrs. Zeigler's brother, Eugene A. Laing, of Central avenue.

Arthur B. Albertus, of New York, formerly of this city, who has just returned from a year in California, was the guest yesterday of Ernest Millard, of North avenue.

Harry Thornton, of the firm of Parke, Davis, and Company, New York manufacturing chemists, visited his Plainfield friends on Saturday. He is a former resident of this city.

Another prominet acquisition to Plainfield's notable residents is D. J. Kelley, manager of the American Queen, a fashion publication of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will reside at 334 Franklin place.

Gen. James S. Negley, of West Seventh street, left on a late train Saturday night for a business trip through the western part of Pennsylvania. The General will be gone until the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Morrison and William Morrison, of Mountain avenue, and W. J. Kitchen, of Somerset street, went to New York Friday to bid good-bye to H. D. Morrison, formerly of this city, who sailed on the steamship, "Campaignia," for Europe.

Mrs. David A. Zeagler, and son, Kenneth, of Denver, Colo., are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Laing of Fifth street and Central avenue. This is their first visit here within the past five years. Mrs. Zeagler was formerly Miss Carrie W. Laing of West Fourth street.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—The Woman's Relief Corps will elect their officers next Friday evening.

—Trinity Commandery No. 17, K. T., will meet this evening in regular session.

—The street committee of the borough council will meet Wednesday evening.

—Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F. will meet as usual this evening in the lodge rooms.

—The Christmas festival of the St. Stevens church will be held on Monday, December 23th.

—A new stone walk is being laid in front of Powlison & Jones' building on East Front street.

—The Parliamentary Club will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building.

—The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will meet for practice tomorrow evening in their rooms.

—A regular communication of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., will be held tomorrow evening.

—There will be election of officers at the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., tomorrow evening.

—Tomorrow evening "Ian Maclaren," Dr. Watson, will appear at Music Hall for the benefit of the Children's Home.

—The owners of Hudson's pond desire the public to know that persons are strictly forbidden to skate on the pond.

—The Plainfield Board of Education will hold its regular December meeting in the High School building this evening.

—The Town Improvement Association will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow afternoon at the usual hour.

—John Mocraft, tried for non-support of his wife, was found guilty by City Judge DeMeza and ordered to pay her $3 a week.

—While playing hockey on Hyde's pond Friday afternoon, A. Price Simmonds broke through the ice and received a good ducking.

—The Kappa Delta Phi of the Plainfield High School held a meeting last Friday afternoon at which time routine business was transacted.

—Important business will be transacted at the meeting of Washington Camp, No. 30, Patriotic Order Sons of America, to be held this evening.

—The cases against Patrick Dunavan, Mrs. Bessie Errico and Mrs. Maggie Benford in the city court were adjourned for a week, Saturday morning.

—Two small boys were reprimanded by City Jugde DeMeza on Saturday for breaking a hydrant on South Second street. They promised to do so no more.

—The hearing in the criminal assault case of Dunham against Carthorne has been adjourned by Justice Newcorn to next Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

—The draw-head of the first car on the 1:10 train from New York Saturday afternoon pulled out just before reaching Roselle, causing the train to be fifteen minutes late at Plainfield.

—Perseverence Lodge, No. 74 Knights of Pythias, initiated one candidate in the first rank on Friday night. Next Friday the second rank will be worked and the officers of the lodge nominated.

—The old ice house located at Washingtonville, owned by the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, was set fire to purposely Friday afternoon by members of the company to destroy the same. The company did not care to move the old structure and the above course was adopted to get rid of it.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY." Park and North avenues.

—You can be well when your blood is rich and nourishing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure and cures all blood diseases, restoring health and vigor

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion headache. 25c.

Maclaren's Lecture,

Tuesday Evening, Dec. 8th,

at

MUSIC HALL.

DOORS OPEN 7:30. LECTURE at 8 SHARP.

A few Platform Chairs at $1, and a few 75c. seats, still remain. Standing tickets, 50c. each.

A CHRISTMAS FAIR

for the sale of

Fancy and Useful Articles,

will be given by the ladies of All Souls Church on the afternoons and evenings of WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY and FRIDAY.

DECEMBER 9th, 10th & 11th,

from 3 until 10 o'clock.

Admission, 10cts. Children, 5cts.

Entertainment in the evenings. 12 7

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier.
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell,
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M. Stillman. Isaac W. Bunnmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

H. DeMott,

Undertaker and Embalmer,

59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.

Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

TO LET—Several tenant houses at reasonable rent. Apply J. M. Hetfield. 12 7 6

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 817 First place. 12 7 2

PRIVATE egg customers wanted for our fresh eggs. Montrose Farm, South Plainfield N.J. 12 7 2

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 12 7 tf

WOMAN wants situation as good cook or general housework. 544 West Third street.

YOUNG American woman wishes situation at general housework. Address E., care Press.

TO LET—A fine restaurant to let, furnished or unfurnished. Enquire P. M. French. 11 7 2

LOST—On Spooner ave., school books; finder rewarded on returning to Irving School or 676 8th St.

HORSE blankets, robes, harness and whips at cost. John Wolfe, 66 Somerset street. 12 7 2

SITUATION WANTED by young Danish girl to do upstairs work; good references. Apply 728 West Front street.

WANTED—Colored girl for general housework; with references. Apply, between 2 and 5 o'clock p. m., 1001 Central avenue. 12 7 2

LOST—Child's astrican cloth cape between Lafayette and Elmwood places. Finder please return to this office.

WANTED—First-class cook and laundress, in small family. Apply 996 Central avenue. 12 4 3

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.

100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.

39c. each.

The Kosmo,

One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,

Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats

Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers

We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS

That are well worth your time to see:

Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear

An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

	Value.	Our price.
Men's
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c. To $2

SAMPLES FREE.

Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

DO YOU KNOW

that Christmas will soon be here?

PUTNAM & DEGRAW

have an elegant line of

HOLIDAY GOODS.

COME AND SEE!

Does Your Husband Want

Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?

If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON,

NO. 107 PARK AVE.

THE MISTRE[SS] of the M[INE] or A Woman['s] Inte[rest]

By Robert Barr,

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyri[ght] Rob[ert Barr]

The first time that William got an answer from the new housemaid was when he expressed his anxiety about the care of this room. He said that servants generally were very careless, and that he hoped she would attend to the room and see that his papers were kept nicely in order. This, without glancing up at him, the girl promised to do, and William thereafter found his room kept with a scrupulous neatness which would have delighted the most particular of men.

One morning when William was sitting in this room, enjoying an after-breakfast cigarette, the door opened softly and the new housemaid entered. Seeing him there, she seemed confused and was about to retire again when William, throwing his cigarette away, sprang to his feet.

"No, don't go," he said; "I was just about to ring."

The girl paused with her hand on the door.

"Yes," he continued, "I was just going to ring, but you have saved me the trouble; but, by the way, what is your name?"

"Susy, if you please, sir," replied the girl, modestly.

"Ah, well, Susy, just shut the door for a moment."

The girl did so, but evidently with some reluctance.

"Well, Susy," said William, jauntily, "I suppose that I am not the first one who has told you that you are very pretty."

"Oh, sir!" said Susy, blushing and looking down on the carpet.

"Yes, Susy, and you take such good care of this room that I want to thank you for it," continued William.

Here he fumbled in his pocket for a moment and drew out half a sovereign.

"Here, my girl, is something for your trouble. Keep this for yourself."

"Oh, I couldn't think of taking money, sir," said the girl, drawing back. "I couldn't, indeed, sir."

"Nonsense," said William; "isn't it enough?"

"Oh, it's more than enough. Miss Longworth pays me well for what I do, sir, and it's only my duty to keep things tidy."

"Yes, Susy, that is very true; but very few of us do our duty, you know, in this world."

"But we ought to, sir," said the girl, in a tone of quiet reproof that made the young man smile.

"Perhaps," said the young man; "but then, you see, we are not all pretty and good, like you. I'm sorry you won't take the money. I hope you are not offended at me for offering it," and William adjusted his monocle and looked his sweetest at the young person standing before him.

"Oh, no, sir," she said. "I'm not at all offended, and I thank you very much, very much, indeed, sir, and I would like to ask you a question, if you wouldn't think me too bold."

"Bold?" cried William. "Why, I think you are the shyest little woman I have ever seen. I'll be very pleased to answer any question you may ask me. What is it?"

"You see, sir, I've got a little money of my own."

"Well, I declare, Susy, this is very interesting. I'd no idea you were an heiress."

"Oh! not an heiress, sir; far from it. It's only a little matter of four or five hundred pounds, sir," said Susy, dropping him an awkward little courtesy, which he thought most charming. "The money is in the bank and draws no interest, and I thought I would like to invest it where it would bring in something."

"Certainly, Susy, and a most laudable desire on your part. Was it about that you wished to question me?"

"Yes, if you please, sir. I saw this paper on your desk, and I thought I would ask you if you thought it would be safe for me to put my money in these mines, sir. Seeing the paper here, I supposed you had something to do with it."

William whistled a long, incredulous note, and said: "So you have been reading my papers, have you miss?"

"Oh! no, sir," said the girl, looking up at him with startled eyes. "I only saw the name Canadian Mica Mine on this, and the paper said it would pay ten per cent., and I thought if you had anything to do with it that my money would be quite safe."

"Oh! that goes without saying," said William; "but if I were you, my dear, I should not put my money in the mica mine."

"Oh! then, you haven't anything to do with the mine, sir?"

"Yes, Susy, I have. You see, fools build houses, and wise men live in them."

"So I have heard," said Susy, thoughtfully.

"Well, two young fools are building the house that we will call the Canadian Mica mine, and I am the wise man, don't you see, Susy?" said the young man, with a sweet smile.

"I am afraid I don't quite understand, sir."

"I don't suppose, Susy," replied the young man, with a laugh, "that there are many who do, but I think in a month's time I will own this mica mine, and then, my dear, if you still want to own a share or two, I shall be very pleased to give you a few without your spending any money at all."

"Oh! would you, sir?" cried Susy, in glad surprise, "and who owns the mine now?"

"Oh! two young fellows. You wouldn't know their names if I told them to you."

"And are they going to sell it to you, sir?"

William laughed heartily, and said: "Oh! no; they themselves will be sold."

"But how can that be, if they don't own the mine? You see I am only a very stupid girl, and don't understand business. That's why I asked you about my money."

"Well, Susy," said William, "I suppose I am not the first one who has told you that you were pretty."

"I don't suppose you know what an option is, do you, Susy?"

"No, sir, I don't. I never heard of it before."

"Well, these two young men have what is called an option on the mine, which is to say they are to pay a certain sum of money at a certain time and the mine is theirs, but if they don't pay the certain sum at the certain time, the mine isn't theirs."

"And won't they pay the money, sir?"

"No, Susy, they will not, because they haven't got it. Then these two fools will be sold, for they think they are going to get the money, and they are not."

"And you have the money to buy the mine when the option runs out, sir?"

"By Jove!" said William, in surprise, "you have a prodigious head for business, Susy. I never saw anyone pick it up so fast. You will have to take lessons from me and go on the market and speculate yourself."

"Oh, I should like to do that, sir, I should indeed."

"Well," said William, kindly, "whenever you have time, come to me and I will give you lessons." The young man came toward her, holding out his hand, but the girl slipped away from him and opened the door.

"I think," he said, in a whisper, "that you might give me a kiss after all this valuable information."

"Oh, Mr. William!" cried Susy, horrified.

He stepped forward and tried to catch her, but the girl was too nimble for him, and sprang out into the passage.

"I think," protested William, "that this is getting information under false pretenses; I expected my fee, you know."

"And you shall have it," said the girl, laughing softly, "when I get ten per cent. on my money."

"Egad," said William to himself, as he entered his room again, "I will see that you get it. She's as clever as an outside broker."

When young Longworth had left for his office, Susy swept and dusted out his room again, and then went down stairs.

"Where's the mistress?' she asked a fellow servant.

"In the library," was the answer, and to the library Susy went, entering the room without knocking, much to the amazement of Edith Longworth, who sat near the window with a book in her lap. But further surprise was in store for the lady of the house. The housemaid closed the door, and then, selecting a comfortable chair, threw herself down in it, exclaiming:

"Oh, dear me; I'm so tired."

"Susy," said Miss Longworth, "what is the meaning of this?'

"It means, mum," said Susy, "that I'm going to chuck it."

"Going to what?" asked Miss Longworth, amazed.

"Going to chuck it. Don't you understand? Going to give up my situation. I'm tired of it."

"Very well," said the young woman, rising, "you may give notice in the proper way. You have no right to come into this room in this impudent manner. Be so good as to go to your own room."

"My!" said Susy, "you can do the dignified. I must practice and see if I can accomplish an attitude like that. If you were a little prettier, Miss Longworth, I should call that striking," and the girl threw back her head and laughed.

Something in the laugh aroused Miss Longworth's recollection, and a chill of fear came over her, but, looking at the girl again, she saw she was mistaken. Susy jumped up, still laughing, and drew a little pin from the cap she wore, flinging it on the chair; then she pulled off her wig, and stood before Edith Longworth her natural self.

"Miss Brewster!" gasped the astonished Edith. "What are you doing in my house in that disguise?'

"Oh," said Jennie, "I'm the lady slavey, and how do you think I have acted the part? Now sit down, Miss Dignity, and I will tell you something about your own family. I thought you were a set of rogues, and now I can prove it."

"Will you leave my house this instant?" cried Edith, in anger. "I shall not listen to you."

"Oh, yes, you will," said Jennie, "for I shall follow your example and not let you out until you do hear what I have to tell you."

Saying which the amateur housemaid skipped nimbly to the door and placed her back against it.

CHAPTER XV.

Jennie Brewster stood with her back to the door, a sweet smile on her face.

"This is my day for acting, Miss Longworth. I think I did the role of housemaid so well that it deceived several members of the family. I am now giving an imitation of yourself in your thrilling drama: 'All at Sea.' Don't you think I do it most admirably?"

"Yes," said Edith, sitting down again. "I wonder you did not adopt the stage as a profession?"

"I have often thought of doing so, but journalism is more exciting."

"Perhaps. Still, it has its disappointments. When I gave my thrilling drama, as you call it, on shipboard, I had my stage accessories arranged to better advantage than you have now."

"Do you mean the putting off of the boat?"

"No; I mean that the electric button was under my hand—it was impossible for you to ring for help. Now, while you hold the door, you cannot stop me from ringing, for the bell rope is here beside me."

"Yes, that is a disadvantage, I admit. Do you intend to ring, then, and have me turned out?"

"I don't think that will be necessary. I imagine you will go quietly."

"You are a pretty clever girl, Miss Longworth. I wish I liked you, but I don't. So we won't waste valuable time deploring that fact. Have you no curiosity to hear what I was going to tell you?"

"Not the slightest; but there is one thing I should like to know."

"Oh, is there? Well, that's human, at any rate. What do you wish to know?"

"You came here well recommended. How did you know I wanted a housemaid, and were your testimonials—" Edith paused for a word, which Jennie promptly supplied.

"Forged? Oh, dear, no. There is no necessity for doing anything criminal in this country, if you have the money. I didn't forge them—I bought them. Didn't you write to any of the good ladies who stood sponsor for me?"

"Yes, and received most flattering accounts of you."

"Certainly. That was part of the contract. Oh, you can do anything with money in London; it is a most delightful town. Then, as for knowing there is a vacancy, that also was money. I bribed the other housemaid to leave."

"I see. And what object had you in all this?"

Jennie Brewster laughed—the same silvery laugh that had charmed William an hour or two before—a laugh that sometimes haunted Wentworth's memory in the city. She left her sentinel-like position at the door and threw herself into a chair.

"Miss Longworth," she said, "you are not consistent. You first pretend that you have no curiosity to hear what I have to say, then you ask me exactly what I was going to tell you. Of course you are dying to know why I am here; you wouldn't be a woman if you weren't. Now, I've changed my mind and I don't intend to tell you. I will say though that my object in coming here was, first, to find out for myself how servants are treated in this country. You see my sympathies are all with the women who work, and not with the women—well, like yourself, for instance."

"Yes, I think you said that once before. And how do we treat our servants?"

"So far as my experience goes, very well indeed."

"It is most gratifying to hear you say this. I was afraid we might not have met your approval. And now, where shall I send you your month's money, Miss Brewster?"

Jennie Brewster leaned back in her chair, her eyes all but closed, an angry light shooting from them that reminded Edith of her glance of hatred on board the steamship. A rich warm glow of color overspread her fair face, and her lips closed tightly. There was a moment's silence between them, and then Jennie's indignation passed away as quickly as it came. She laughed, with just a touch of restraint in her tone.

"You can say an insulting thing more calmly and sweetly than anyone I ever met before; I envy you that. When I say anything low down and mean, I say it in anger, and my voice has a certain amount of acridity in it. I can't purr like a cat and scratch at the same time—I wish I could."

"Is it an insult to offer you the money you have earned?"

"Yes, it is, and you knew it was when you spoke. You don't understand me a little bit."

"Is it necessary that I should?"

"I don't suppose you think it is," said Jennie, meditatively, resting her elbow on her knee, and her chin on her palm. "I ... where our point of view differs. I like to know everything. I interests me to know what people think and talk about, and somehow it doesn't seem to matter to me what the people are, for I was even more interested in your butler's political opinion than I was in Lord Frederick Bingham's. They are both conservatives, but Lord Freddie seems shaky in his views, for you can argue him down in five minutes, but the butler is as steadfast as a rock. I do admire that butler. I hope you will break the news of my departure gently to him, for he proposed to me, and he has not yet had his answer."

"There is still time," said Edith, smiling in spite of herself. "Shall I ring for him?"

"Please do not. I want to avoid a painful scene, because he is so sure of himself and never dreams of a refusal. It is such a pity, too, for the butler is my ideal of what a member of the aristocracy should be. His dignity is something awe inspiring, while Lord Freddie is such a simple, good-natured, every-day young fellow, that if I imported him to the states I am sure no one would believe he was a real lord. With the butler it would be so different," added Jennie, with a deep sigh.

"It is too bad that you cannot exchange the declaration of the butler for one from Lord Frederick."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order. 12 1 1y

MRS. L. ADAMS,

MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET.

NOTICE.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

Frank A. Patience, doing business as contract r and builder in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, and State of New Jersey, hereby desires to state that the report being circulated regarding his failure in usiness is utterly false from the beginning, and h reby offers a reward of TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS to any person who can trace said report to its origin and lead to the conviction of the original circulator; and furthermore that he has been doing business for numerous of Plainfield's wealthiest and respected citizens for the past four years and never before has had his financial standing questioned or never has given any reason to anyone to question same. FRANK A. PATIENCE. 12 5 2

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

North ave., Plainfield.

Telephone 30M

Finest Assortment OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES IN THE CITY.

Agency for Lincoln Fountain Pens $1 and $1.50.

FULLY WARRANTED.

HARPER'S,

411 PARK AVENUE.

Christmas Wreaths Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms, Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.

DENTON'S.

131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,

DEALERS IN

Lehigh Valley Coal.

Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Amos H. Van Horn,

LIMITED.

CARPETS AT COST!

Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:

25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.

MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES

NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.

Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.

LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!

Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.

Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.

73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.

Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.

OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS !

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE ?

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED,

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Stations in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 20, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 29, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 46, 5 25, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 36, a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 12, 8 32, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 20, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 3 00, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 3 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 50, 8 00, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m, 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17, p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 3 35, 3 58, 5 05, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 9 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 25 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 25, 10 2

Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 05, 2 11, 2 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 28, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 10, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 3 05, 3 55, 4 35, 5 28, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 9 55, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 30, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 08, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 46, 3 11, 4 56, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m Sunday at 5 45, 8 38, a m; 3 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 06, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04, 7 05, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 02 a m; 6 33, 7 10 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 03, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

8 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c, with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W R. R.

3 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 03 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

4 56 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 29 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 59 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg.

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

8 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

9 54 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

5 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

6 34 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5, 12, 5 54, p. m. Sunday. (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a m; 3 30 p. m

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37; 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 32 p. m

ROYAL BLUE LINE

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 24*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 27* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m, 12 46, 2 17, 2 22*, 5 24*, 6 28*, 8 21, 9 27* p.m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m, 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 24*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14* p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 26 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:50, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 6:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:30 a. m., 1:30, 4 50 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m; closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son. Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office, 763 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

AT Jas. R. Blair's,

126 Park Ave.

You can get Winter Caps from 25c. to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.

Watch his window for Holiday goods.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. s 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 42b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate E clair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets — all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes — from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits — tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts — in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1,98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

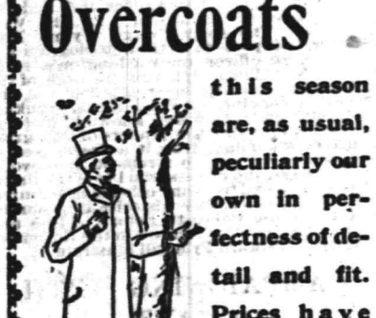
Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.



Assortment

Of FURNITURE.

In all grades.

Largest and Best

We have ever exhibited.

Visitors always welcome.

No trouble to show goods.

The Great Gas Saver !

Three times the Light.

One-half the Gas.

See our Welsbach Stand Lamp.

J. W GAVETT. G. Q. PACKER.

Our Overcoats

this season are, as usual, peculiarly our own in perfectness of detail and fit. Prices have been put at smallest point.

Ulsters from $8.00

$10.00, 12.00 and above. Uncommonly dressy for Ulsters, too. Chinchillas, Irish Friezes, Mixed and Black Oxfords.

Overcoats, $8.00

to $25.00—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Vicunas. Some with plain and others with combination linings.

Suits from $6.00

to $15.00—used to get far more for same kind of garments. In swell cheviots.

Boys' Clothing

—we make a good deal of our boys' clothing success. Been clothing juveniles for many years and feel we have an A No. 1 dep't. See it.

Boys' Reefers

with large ulster or deep sailor collars. Blue Chinchillas, Friezes and Oxford mixed. Fashionable. $3.00, 4.00, 6.00.

Boys' School Overcoats

made in same way as men's styles. Blue, black and Oxford Kerseys. Fine finish, $4.00, 5.00, 6.00 and 8.00.

Boys' Two Piece and Reefer Suits

Exceptional sale. Were $3.50, 4.00 and 4.50 before. Now all at $3.00 New in cloth and cut.

Boys' Shoes—excellent kinds, $1.50 up. Men's $2.00 up.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

MARSHALL & BALL

The People's Outfitters. | 807, 809, 811, 813 Broad St. NEWARK, N. J.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

EDDY'S KITE EXPERIMENTS.

Telegraph and Telephone Messages Sent over a Wire Suspended in Mid-air.

Bayonne, N. J., Dec. 7.—William A. Eddy, Dr. Mitchell and Henry L. Allen sent the first kite telephone and telegraph message in the world over a mid-air wire suspended by three large kites Saturday night. Morse sounder telegraph signals were also sent by means of a battery. The wire was carried aloft by the kites beyond three lines of trees, two roadways, one line of fire alarm telegraph wires, one line of regular telegraph wires, and a house. A red lantern was attached to an end of wire passing through a pulley, held at a height of about 500 feet, and paid out upward and beyond the intervening obstacles. When the lantern had been carried over the line of Lexington avenue it was slowly lowered, carrying with it the wire to the earth, where Dr. Mitchell soon established ground connections at each end of the wire, when the first telephone message was received by Mr. Eddy. A telegraph signal by the usual Morse sounder was also successfully transmitted. The telegraph signals and telephone messages were continued for about an hour and a half. From the time the first kite was sent up until the last one was drawn in seven hours were consumed. Delay was caused by two of the lowering lanterns falling about 500 feet, the lowering wire having broken, owing to a jam in the pulley and by the wind, which was so light from the southwest that for a time the lifting force was insufficient. Mr. Eddy says the wire can be carried across the Kill von Kull readily, especially with northerly wind.

FAULKNER WANTED TO RESIGN.

The Result of the Election in West Virginia Changed His Plans.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Senator Chas. J. Faulkner, chairman of the democratic congressional committee, was asked this morning by a reporter for the United Associated Presses about the report that he intended to resign from the senate in order to take a position as counsel for a large corporation. He said there was nothing in it now, but two years ago that was his expectation. "A very desirable and lucrative offer was made to me in 1894 and after consideration I decided to accept, with a proviso. I told some of the leading democrats of my state that if they carried the legislature I would leave the senate and they could elect two senators. We carried the state evey year since 1872 and I had no idea the result of the election would be different then. But it was, and I did not resign. The situation is the same now, and I shall not leave until my term expires in 1899."

BRYAN APOLOGIZES.

Asks His Friends To Pardon His Delay in Answering Their Letters.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 7.—William J. Bryan has given out the following statement: "I hope that those who have written to me since the election will not get impatient if they do not receive an answer promptly. I have four persons assisting with my correspondence, but we are considerably behind. The mail exceeded 2,500 letters per day for a while after the election, and even now I could not answer the letters as fast as they arrive if I could spend every hour of the day at the work. Other work prevents me giving my whole time to correspondence. I shall do the best I can to answer all letters as soon as possible after receipt, and I hope my friends will pardon the delay."

Death of Judge Henderson.

Randolph, N. Y., Dec. 7.—The death of judge W. H. Henderson, which occurred at his residence here Saturday night, came without warning. He was about to retire in his usual good health, when he was seized with heart disease. Judge Henderson was appointed supreme court judge by Gov. Tilden in 1876. He was president of Chamberlain institute and of the Western New York Home society. He was 68 years of age.

Naval Apprentice Boys Return.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 7.—All of the apprentice boys who escaped from the naval training station Saturday afternoon had been brought back or had returned of their own free will by midnight, and all are confined in the brig. The whole affair was apparently a boyish escapade to show disapproval of the way things have been managed in regard to liberty-granting:

Justice Harlan To Speak at Yale.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 7.—The annual address at the commencement of the Yale law school will this year be delivered by justice John M. Harlan of the supreme court of the United States. Justice Harlan's subject is not announced, but it is expected that it will be one of international interest.

Two Drowned While Skating.

Litchfield, Conn., Dec. 7.—Martin Burns, aged 10, was drowned yesterday afternoon at 3:30 while skating on the Middle pond.

Holyoke, Mass., Dec. 7.—Anton Magcon, aged 18, was drowned in the Connecticut river yesterday afternoon while skating.

Peculiar Death of an Old Man.

Danbury, Conn., Dec. 7.—Gilbert Light, a farmer, aged 67 years, came here from Ridgway Saturday night to visit a relative. He went into the wrong house and, in his confusion, fell from a stoop into a stream fifteen feet below. He was so badly hurt that he died in the police station half an hour later.

Distinguished Arrivals.

New York, Dec. 7.—Among the passengers who arrived last night per steamer La Champagne, from Havre, were Mme. Calve, M. Chevalier, Courte de Diesbach Mgr. Gravel, Paul Heinemann and Mgr. Lebrecque.

WILL NOT ACCEPT IT

Bayard Declines the Proposed Present from Englishmen.

MANY THANKS FOR THE PROMOTERS

Deeply Touched and Gratified at the Kind Evidence of Esteem, But Unable in His Present Position To Accept the Gift.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Information has been received here that Ambassador Bayard has declined with many thanks the proposed testimonial which the London Daily Telegraph suggested should be raised by popular subscription in England as a mark of appreciation of his efforts to preserve good will between the two countries. Mr. Bayard takes the ground that his position as ambassador would prevent his acceptance of any gift of the kind proposed. This is in accord with the views which the state department held of Mr. Bayard's action in the matter. The letter sent by the ambassador to the Telegraph declining the proposed honor is dated December 5, and says in part: "Early this morning I telegraphed you not to proceed further with your kind and generous proposal for a testimonial to me from the people of this country in token of their appreciation of my efforts to establish between the two great English speaking countries relations of harmony and good will." Mr. Bayard then proceeds to say that he was touched and gratified by the proposal and the Telegraph's generous eulogy of him, but that a few hours' reflection showed him that, holding his present office and invested with its discretion and duties, he should scrupulously obey the spirit of his country's law, which inhibit anyone holding an office of trust or profit under the American government from accepting "without the consent of congress any present from any king, prince or government." He further says: "While I live I shall not cease to thank the people of these islands for the whole-hearted, unstinted welcome I have received at their hands and the warm hospitalities that have showered on me and mine."

The Proposal Withdrawn.

London, Dec. 7.—The Telegraph, in a leader, to-day announces the withdrawal of its proposal for a public fund for a present to Ambassador Bayard. It says there is no need to inquire whether any high official authority influenced Mr. Bayard to decline the proposed gift. The reception of the proposal has shown how sincere is the good will of the English nation towards him.

PLAGUE-STRICKEN CUBA.

Over 10,000 Spanish Soldiers in Hospitals in Havana and Immediate Suburbs.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Dr. M. Burgess, sanitary inspector of the marine hospital service at Havana, informs Surgeon-General Wyman under date of Nov. 28 that yellow fever in Cuba had not diminished particularly in severity during the previous week; that small pox increased considerably among civilians, and that fevers and dysentery had augmented considerably. Of the 316 deaths in the week ended Nov. 26, 87 were from yellow fever and 220 new cases were reported; 54 from small pox, with 400 new cases. Eighty-three of the 87 deaths from yellow fever during the week were among Spanish soldiers in the military hospitals, the remaining four being among civilians. All of the 54 deaths from small pox occurred among civilians. "I am informed," said Dr. Burgess, "from what I believe to be credible sources, that in the eight government military hospitals which are established in the city and its immediate suburbs there are over 10,000 sick and wounded Spanish soldiers."

Ivory's Trial Postponed.

London, Dec. 7.—The solicitors of Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell, the alleged Irish-American dynamite conspirator, have obtained a postponement of his trial for one month in order to enable them to complete their chain of evidence on behalf of the prisoner by the arrival of witnesses, depositions, &c., from New York.

A MOUNTAIN PRIMA DONNA.

She Is Still Looking for an Engagement at $1,000 a Night.

"I was traveling through North Georgia," said a drummer to a Washington Star reporter. "I stopped all night at a cabin, where a young girl kept me awake by singing. Her voice did not have a particle of music in it, and she had no idea whatever of time or tune, but she made the loudest noise I ever heard come from a human being.

"In the morning my host said:

"'I seed in th' county paper thet they paid primmer donners big wages.'

"'Yes, some of them get $1,000 a night.'

"'Waal, so I heerd. Now, I'll make it to yo' inturest to tell how yo' go 'bout gittin' a job at it. Yo' see, my darter hes mo' voice than any one I ever seed. She's got the bigges' kin' o' crap o' voice. We visited Atlanty, whar my brother lives, an' we went to hear one o' them primmer donners, an' sense then Mag's practiced till she kin sing so she kin be heerd a plumb mile furder than thet yallar-haired gal at th' show. A thousan' dollars a night! Yo' jess git her a job an' we'll sho' be squar 'bout it.'

"I am still looking for a job for her."

Fire in a Publishing House.

Manchester, N. H., Dec. 7.—A fire in the Mirror building yesterday damaged the office of George F. Willey, publisher. Mr. Willey estimates his loss on books at $10,000.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:11 a. m.
un sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

WINTER SPORTS.

No match game of hockey was played at New Market Saturday afternoon as the ice was too soft. If it is strong enough by tomorrow afternoon a game will be played between the Plainfield and New Market hockey teams.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street, has purchased the well known pacer, "John H." from John H. Shultz, the well known, horseman from Parkville, Maryland. The horse has a record of 2:21.

WITH ROD AND GUN.

Herbert Schutt and Louis Darling spent Friday in hunting through the great swamp. They met with first class luck.

GOLF.

A meeting of the trustees of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will be held at the club-house this evening.

MR. HORR A LITTLE BETTER.

Still He is in a Precarious Condition With Bronchitis.

Plainfield has no better known citizen than ex-Congressman Roswell G. Horr, of Park avenue, who is now confined to his bed with a very serious illness. For some time he been suffering Bright's disease but an attack of bronchitis has aggravated the trouble and for several days Mr. Horr has laid at death's door. Dr. Janeway, a specialist from New York, was summoned and assisted Dr. Hedges in his care of the sick man.

Mr. Horr is feeling slightly better today and if no new developments appear the probabilities are that he will recover. He is still, however, in a precarious condition.

AN AFTERNOON WEDDING.

Miss Lillie King Becomes the Wife of Herbert Langford.

A very quiet wedding took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Church of the Redeemer, when Miss Lillie King, daughter of Thomas King, of 1112 West Front street, and Herbert Langford, of North avenue, were united in marriage by Rev. Jocelyn Johnstone. Only the near relatives of the contracting parties were present at the church.

Mr. Langford is employed by White, Young & Graham, wholesale dry-goods merchants, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Langford left town after the ceremony for an extended bridal tour. On their return they will reside in this city.

A Quiet Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Mee, of Steiner place, and Jacob Cress, of Brooklyn, was celebrated quietly Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Father Miller performed the ceremony. Miss Nellie Mee, sister of the bride, acted as bridemaid, and James Cress, brother of the groom, was best man. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Brooklyn, where they will reside. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Newman, of Steiner place.

The Wheelman to Blame.

Wm. Bowe, who was driving the delivery wagon for Henry Nichwitz, the Somerset street feed dealer, on Park avenue this morning, collided with a colored boy on a wheel in front of Doane's jewelry store. The wheel was wrecked, and its owner wished to have Bowe arrested, but the witnesses of the accident said that the cyclist was on the wrong side of the street and that Bowe was in no way to blame.

University Extension Lecture Tonight.

The University Extension lecture will be held this evening instead of tomorrow on account of the lecture of Ian Maclaren which is to be given in Music Hall tomorrow night. The subject of the lecture tonight will be "The Planets."

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Harry Warnock, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, of Grove street, has gone to visit friends in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

'Miller' Lamps are

Beautiful, Delightful to use, Safe.

The best lamp made. See them. Buy them for house, store, club, church, &c., and for GIFTS—WEDDING AND HOLIDAY.

If not for sale by dealers, but at our store or by mail. Miller Bicycle Lanterns are the Best. Our fine Brass and Onyx Tables are beautiful.

Edward Miller & Co., Manufacturers. Established 1844.
28 and 30 W. Broadway, N. Y.

For cool weather buy a Miller Oil Heater.
10 15-Mon-Thur

LET UNCLE SAM SPEAK.

REV. C. E. HERRING PRERCHES ON THE ARMENIAN QUESTION.

He Thinks it is Time For a Christian and Just Nation Like This to Intercede for Oppressed Armenia.

The following is a portion of the sermon preached by Rev. C. E. Herring last night on the "Armenian Question."

"Acts 8-1 'And Saul was consenting to his death!' That was to the death of the Godly man Stephen—and he is classed with the persecutors. We may regard these two characters as personifications of the Christian nations of the world and Armenia. The Armenian question continues to absorb our interest, and seems to be no nearer solution. Foxes' Book of Martyrs is outclassed by the barbarities of this enlightened Christian nineteenth century. The cruelties of the Roman Colosseum were humane in comparison. The historic Diocletian persecution numbered but 2000; this, 100,000 victims, and yet this frightful loss of life by a semi-barbarous people is only met with political apathy.

The Armenians—who are they? The first nation to accept Christianity; men capable, energetic and peaceable, in all respects our equals, eager for education according to Dr. Hamlin, "a noble race" that cling to their faith under eleven centuries of persecution under the Berlin Treaty, the Sultan engaged to maintain religious liberty, and he has failed. Armenians, revolutionists! How many Turks killed? How many Armenians? Oh, for another Æsop with a revised edition of the lamb and the wolf. The Turk was a brigand at his entrance into Europe, and is a brigand today. Armenian atrocity is no new thing.

"It is time for America to take vigorous action. Losses to Americans amount to $100,000. What reparation has been made? Nothing, and nothing will be made under the present Minister.

"The United States has a grievance and no territory to acquire, and she should possess a little of the American spirit of 1815. When the hands of England were tied she swept the Mediterranean of the Algerian pirates. Here is another time when she can act. Let her speak in such a tone that will thunder at the gate of the Sultan's palace and create such an impression that the American flag shall be respected."

Annual Meeting of the Aid Association.

On Thursday next at 8 o'clock p m., the Organized Aid Association will hold its annual public meeting in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church. The people of Plainfield are invited to be present and to hear thorough reports of the committees, of what useful work is being done by this society, which makes a business of charity. After the business is over there will be an interesting programme which has been arranged by Col. Tyler.

Judgment for the Plaintiff.

Justice Newcorn has given judgment for the plaintiff in the case of Sternberg against Carthorne. Summons has been issued in the case of Day against Bebout, returnable December 14th, and the case of Wolf against McNamee has been adjourned one week.

Tobin's Trial Adjourned.

The trial of George J. Tobin did not come up this morning in the city court as was expected. The case will be tried later in the week. Tobin is charged with interfering with a fireman in the discharge of his duties and for using profane and indecent language.

Cured at the Hospital.

Mr. Eckert, of Bound Brook, who has been at the Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment, was discharged last night, having been cured of an attack of pneumonia.

—The new Royal Arcanum Council will be instituted on Thursday evening, Dec. 10th. The place of meeting will be named later.

—Marshal Hansen arrested George Green on Somerset street yesterday morning at 1 o'clock for being drunk and disorderly. This morning Justice Crosley find him $5.

—A public meeting of the New Home Building Loan and Savings Association, of New Jersey, will be held in the parlors of Reform Hall, this evening at 8 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

His Observation.

"Did you know," said the man who was reading an article about the contraction of metals, "that a clock ticks faster in winter than summer?"

"No, I never noticed that about a clock. But I know a gas meter does."—Washington Star.

A Happy Marriage.

"So it was a happy marriage?"

"Quite. The bride was happy, the bride's mother was blissful, the count was in ecstasy, and I understand that his creditors are in a state of delirious joy."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Making an Appointment.

"When you've a minute to spare," said the insurance agent, "I'd like to talk to you."

"All right," replied the busy man. "Come in [illegible]"—Philadel-

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W Randolph, 143 EastFront st.

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.

Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired. PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!

GEORGE E. ROGERS.....Lessee. | GEORGE H. WILLEY.....Manager

MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 7th.

A Play That is Sure to Please.

JAMES A.

HERNE'S

Beautiful Comedy-Drama,

SHORE ACRES

Direction of H. C. Miner.

A Fine Company of Players

Entire New Scenery.
Unique Realistic Novelties.

PRICES NEVER VARY.

Reserved Seats, $1, 75c, 50c. and 25c. Seats on sale Friday at Box Office at 9 a. m.

One Night Only.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10th,

Farewell tour and only appearance in this city of the Magnificent Organization

RICE'S Burlesquers 50 Artists in a Gorgeous Production of EVANGELINE.

Music by E. E. Rice.
Libretto by J. Cheever Goodwin.
With all its Wealth of Attractions.

SEE
The Pretty Girls.
The Water Nymph's Ballet.
The Heifer.
The Balloon Ascension.
The Dazzling Diamond Fields.
The Lively Monkey.
The Grand Amazonian March.

Magnificent Scenery, Beautiful Costumes. Grand Chorus and Enlarged Orchestra.

Prices for this engagement—$1, 75c. 50c. 35c. and 25c. Seats on sale at Box Office, Tuesday. 9 a. m.

OVERCOATS.

No sane man, if not already supplied, will hesitate much longer to secure one. We have an immense stock to show you and to show you is next thing to selling you.

PRICES--$8 to $24.

All wool goods, well made, sleeve linings that will last a year without a break. Dressy Kerseys, hanssome Beavers, nobby Cheviots, and durable Meltons. All sizes 33 to 48. They are right all through, inside and out. The appearance, the style the fit and the finish you can see at a glance, but they're just as right inside, at the points you don't see but have to trust us for.

McGREGOR & COMPANY,

850-852 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

A Cruel Remark.

He—Aw, yaas, just weturned to town aftah a month in the country, you know. Gweat sport. Out in the fawmyard one day. Old cow wanted to lick me. Ha! ha! ha!

She—Is it not wonderful how strong the maternal instinct is in the lower animals? —Up to Date.

Pride Has to Hustle.

"Pride goeth before a fall," she quoted.

"Is that so?" he returned.

"So the poet says."

"Well, all I have to say is that pride has to hump himself if he goes before some of the bicycle headers I've seen scorchers take."—Chicago Post.

Near to It.

Mistress—Do you understand all the duties of a waitress?

Servant—Yes, ma'am.

Mistress—Can you make mayonnaise dressing?

Servant—No, ma'am. But I can do plain sewing.—Truth.

The Whole Art of Angling.

"Why, you always seem to catch more fish than Johnny Bunce!"

"Yes'm; I'm a much better liar than wot he is!"—Ally Sloper.

LOOK! for the Cushioned Button.

IT'S ON The Velvet Grip Hose Supporter.

PERFECT IN USE.
NO SLIPPING. NO TEARING.
All Styles and Sizes at Plainfield Stores.

THE CENTURY IN 1897. ALL NEW FEATURES.

THE CENTURY will continue to be in every respect the leading American magazine, its table of contents including each month the best in literature and art. The present interest in American history makes especially timely its leading serial feature for 1897 and the masterpiece of its author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," purports to be the autobiography of its hero, an officer on Washington's staff. Social life in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolution is most interestingly depicted, and the characters include Washington, Franklin, Lafayette, and others well known in history. It is safe to say that the readers of this great romance will obtain from it a clearer idea of the people who were foremost in Revolutionary days, and of the social life of the times, than can be had from any other single source. The work is not only historically accurate, but is a most interesting story of love and war. The first chapters are in the November number. Howard Pyle will illustrate it.

A GREAT NOVEL OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

CAMPAIGNING WITH GRANT,

By GENERAL HORACE PORTER,

is the title of a series of articles which has been in preparation for many years. General Porter was an aide on General Grant's staff and a close friend of his chief, and the diary which he kept through the war is the basis of the present articles, which are striking pen-pictures of campaign life and scenes. They will be fully illustrated. The first one is in the November CENTURY.

A NEW NOVEL BY MARION CRAWFORD, author of "Mr. Isaacs," "Saracinesca," "Casa Braccio," etc., entitled, "A Rose of Yesterday," a story of modern life in Europe, with American characters, begins in November. The first of a series of engravings, made by the famous woodengraver, T. Cole, of the old English masters also is in this issue. New features will be announced from time to time.

Superb Art Features.
The Best Short Stories.

$4.00 a year, 35 cents a number.

All dealers take subscriptions, or remittances may be made direct to the publishers by money or express order, check, draft, or registered letter.

The Century Co., Union Square, NEW YORK.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie B 2	Maguire Miss Annie
DerCharnelMiss Lil'n	Prentice Mrs. Geo
Dutcher Chas H	Reich Miss Elizabeth
Fonda Guy Q	Rockerer J C
Foster Miss Vera	Slater Joshua
Gray Miss Maggie	Steinorth R
Harrison Wm F	Stelle Freeman
Holingvist Miss Agnes	Schenck Mrs E
Herben Mrs S J	Tevis E L
Lewis C F	Wiley Mrs Fred
May Miss M A	Walker Mrs Mary E
Midgely Jas L V	Whiteall Mrs C D
Mendel Gus	Weingart Miss AnnieL

"CRISP NOTES!"

—About bright and cheerful things tending to make a Merry, Merry Christmas to everybody.

—So many nice and encouraging words have been said about Edsall's fine new stock and the marvelously low prices.

—That we feel like making the finest Christmas display that the Commercial Palace has ever attemped.

—It's not only nice words that has given us the inspiration but the very liberal purchases the people are making.

—It's just lovely to see the new, pretty things coming in and going out with such a "snap."

—And an air of satisfaction on the faces of the buyers

—Many remark that there is no use of going to New York so long as Edsall keeps up this "wide a make" selling, and Edsall says it's a continued story and the end cometh not yet.

—We advertise to sell fine goods cheaper than any other house, and we do it, too.

—By Saturday next our store will be in full holiday trim, and if you want to see something bright and attractive just come in and walk through.

—Many of the display stands are up now and filled with new and elegant novilties.

—Our own importation of fine bisque figures and bric a brac and elegent French china in all the new and desirable prices, will "cut a figure" this season, they are positively lower than New York prices.

—And in Christmas cards and Christmas tree ornaments, and the like, we just expect to astonish everybody.

—One of the largest publishers of books has given us unusual advantages in buying this season, so when you come to get our prices we know you will buy.

—It is just wonderful what awfully low prices, and fine tasty goods we can offer you in our Art Department; pocket books made up to our own order especially for holiday trade, at "cut" prices, too.

—And you can just revel in laces and ribbons and veilings cheaper than you have ever dared to think of before. Our last great purchase of these goods were enough to supply the whole town for three months yet.

In boy's clothing, caps and furnishings, we will give you prices, styles and qualities that you wouldn't think possible, at least that is the remark of many when we quote the price, and —Boy's what do you think?—we give a real fine watch free with a purchase of five dollars. See the watches in our big show windows.

—We just about please everybody in our Millinery Department this season, so if you are in need of a new hat or bonnet for Christmas, you can be sure to get suited in our department and we know our low prices will suit you too.

—But we've got to stop this story somewhere, as it would take a whole newspaper to continue it to the end, and besides, space cost money too.

The thing to do is for you to come in and see for yourself.

We are never afraid to have our advertisements investigated either as to prices, qualities and even quantities, in which the latter is so often so terribly exaggerated by some dealers.

EDSALL'S

Creamery Butter 20 & 25c Per Pound at J. F. MACDONALD'S
Uptown Grocery.

What Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO., — Dealers in —

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Special-- We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.

CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

A CITY HALL PROPOSED

THE CITY OFFICERS ARE CONSIDERING SUCH AN IMPROVEMENT.

Councilman Barrows Says That $40,000 Is Needed for Such a Building—Delinquent Taxes Are to be Collected.

There was a great deal of important business transacted at the meeting of the City Council held last evening, and all of the Councilmen were present to look after it. Mr. Fisk made a motion that the regular order of business be suspended and that the report of the sewer commissioners be received. The motion prevailed and the forepart of the report was read. It is an exceedingly voluminous report and is complete in every particular. It must be stated that in the opinion of those who perused the figures of assessment that they are very low and the average is remarkably fair.

The assessment on property is $36,085.95, and the curb assessment amounts to $5,492.52. The amount to be paid by the city is $124,578.11, which makes a total of $166,156.58. The individual assessments can be seen at the city clerk's office. It wuld be impossible to publish the same owing to the very long list. Following the reading of the report, Mr. Fisk offered a resolution that the Council will proceed to consider, review, alter, ratify and confirm said report and assessments at a meeting to be held in the Council rooms, Monday evening, December 28th, at eight o'clock, at which time all persons interested will be given an opportunity to be heard upon the subject of said assessments. Mr. Fisk then moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet Monday evening, December 28th. After a sewer corporation notice was ordered advertised the regular order of business was returned to.

Two applications for truck licenses were received and granted after which the City Collector's and City Treasurer's report were received and filed. Street Commissioner Meeker reported that 49 sewer permits had been granted during the month and the inspector of buildings, T. O. Doane, reported eighteen permits granted for buildings.

Mr. Barrows offered a resolution expressing the regrets of the council in losing such a valuable member as ex-President William G. E. See. The resolution was ordered spread on the minutes and a copy was ordered sent to Mr. See.

Mr. Dumont offered a resolution that the $4,000 sewer note now due be renewed for four months. A poor claim of $9.40 for socks, underwear, etc., bought of O. M. Dunham in 1891, was presented. Accompanying the bill was the orders issued by Justice of Peace J. Oakley Nodyne. The bill was presented last year but the orders did not accompany it, and last evening Mr. Dumont moved that the bill be paid, which was so ordered.

Mr. Stebbins made a statement of the accident which happened to the fire department apparatus and horse while going to a fire Sunday morning He said that after investigation it was learned that no one was to blame. He offered a resolution that a new team of horses be purchased for the hook and ladder truck and that the horse now used for No. 2 hose wagon be traded off in the deal. The idea is to assign the remaining truck horse to No. 2 hose wagon, as the horse now doing duty is getting to old for service.

The above resolution was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Fisk made a report on the Watchung avenue extension matter and in a resolution stated that the claim made by the Durlach's could not be allowed. He therefore moved that the original report of the commissioners be confirmed, and the motion was adopted.

Another resolution was offered by Mr. Fisk that the report of the Madison Avenue Commissioners be laid on the table for the present.

The following persons were reported as not having complied with the side walk ordinance; the work was ordered done and for the payment a lien will be effected on the property: Jeanette W. Bond, Norwood avenue; Mary C. K. Randolph, C. P. Sebring, Estate Warren Bartlett, Eva G. Hurlburt, R. A. Boyce, West Front street.

Mr. Barrows stated that the last election developed many things, chiefly an attack on the present administration, which the citizens showed they desired to keep in power. He said it was right that some important steps were taken for the city, which according to the state laws had passed from a third to a second class city. He thought it depended entirely on the citizens as to whether they wanted a municipal building. He desired the daily press to state that a caucus was held six weeks ago when steps were taken to collect back taxes. He stated further that the police committee had considered plans for a municipal building and thought that an expenditure of at least $40,000 should be made, though the law gave them the privilege of spending $30,000. The needs of such a building were cited by Mr. Barrows.

He then offered a resolution that the president appoint a committee of four to thoroughly look into the matter of erecting a building and report at the next meeting. The following committee was appointed: Messrs. Barrows, Fisk, Dumont and Westphal.

Mr. Barrows offered another resolution that the Corporation Counsel be instructed to inform the Council what necessary steps were needed to establish the city in the second class. This resolution was adopted as was also another offered by the same Councilman that whereas there is $80,000 back taxes due, the Corporation Counsel be asked to report at the next meeting what course the Council should pursue to collect the same.

According to rule and custom, Mr. Fisk made a statement regarding the street appropriation for next year. He said that if the people wanted good streets they would have to raise the money for that purpose. One way it could be done would be for the residents of a street to petition the Council to have their street repaired, and then let the Council assess the property owners. Another way Mr. Fisk suggested was that street assessment bonds could be issued for the purpose.

Mr. Fisk desired to let the matter rest for the present, and no action was taken. Mr. Frost said that some provision would have to be made to carry off the surface water caused by storms. This he said would cost from $9,000 to $10,000. Something separate from the present sewer system would have to be considered, and the people might just as well know it first as last.

Mr. Dumont gave a short history of the Madison avenue matter, but as no one desired to take the matter from the table, no further action was taken.

On a motion of Mr. Stebbins the amendment to the building ordinance was adopt on its third reading.

Chairman Westphal, of the auditing committee, in reporting the bills stated that he had one bill of $54 due the assessor for taxing dogs. He wanted to know if that was the work of the assessor.

Mr. Fisk informed Mr. Westphal that Mr. Hubbard had had an assistant, and that the bill had been running for three or four years. To avoid all further trouble Mr. Fisk offered a resolution that the assessor be allowed 10 cents on each dog assessed.

Mr. Frost stated that in his judgment Plainfield should have a board of assessors, as the work was very much in need of such a body. He did not agree with the men who had criticised this year's assessments, and he suggested that the committee of which he is a member be continued for another year, so that they could look into the matter of taxation more thoroughly. This concluded the business of the evening and the council adjourned.

AN OLD ROUNDER.

The Fire Department Horse Killed Was Near His End, Anyway.

The fire department horse, named George, which was killed in going to a fire Sunday morning, was one of a team which was owned at one time by the late J. Newton Jenkins, who carried on the business of moving buildings.

If the horse had lived he would have been seventeen years old next spring. He had learned his duty well during the length of time he was in the department, and was an exceedingly knowing horse. His former mate died sometime ago.

The head of this department was considering, however, the advisability of purchasing another horse in his place, for he was getting rather old for service.

The probabilities now are that a new team will be purchashed for the truck and the one horse left will take the place of the "Phil" horse now being driven to No. 2 hose wagon. The latter horse is getting most too old for good work.

A Church Musical.

A musical will be held in the parlors of the Seventh Day Baptist church on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of the church. A delightfull programme has been arranged and a pleasant time is expected.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 EastFront st.

VACATION IS TOO SHORT.

BOARD OF EDUCATION PETITIONED BY HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS.

Scholars Want a Full Two Weeks For Holiday Vacation, But the Board Thinks the Other Way—Other Matters Decided.

It did not take long to do the business of the Board of Education at the regular December meeting of the Board last evening, for there was little besides the regular routine business to be done.

The meeting was called to order by the president of the Board, Dr. Probasco, Messrs. Lounsbury, Abbott and Lovell being the other members present. Dr. Jenkins arrived in time for the executive session that followed the regular session. There was the usual batch of bills ordered paid, several of which caused a little discussion.

A communication was received from Architect Karr saying that he had visited the Lincoln School and found the work going along smoothly, but that it would be necessary to heat the building before any plastering could be done. A letter from Contractor Abbott to the same effect was also read in which he asked the Board to furnish the coal necessary to heat the building. Mr. Lounsbury asked if it was the duty of the Board to furnish the coal. Mr. Abbott said that such was the custom and, on motion, the matter was left to the discretion of the building committee with power to order the coal.

Mr. Lounsbury, secretary of the Board, read a communication from the Mutual Life Insurance Company stating that interest to the amount of $650 was due December 19 on $26,000 corporation bonds. It was ordered paid. There was also a memorandum for interest on $2,000 for one day, amounting to 28 cents. Mr. Lounsbury explained that this was presented because the check for the last interest arrived at the company's office one day late. He said he thought this was a very small piece of business for such a company and he advised the Board not to pay it. His advice was accepted.

City Treasurer Titsworth sent word that he had received from B. Holmes, county superintendent of schools, $1,335.19, and deposited it in the First National Bank. The regular communication from City Collector John Johnson was received and it stated that he had collected $4,118.36, which with $25.52 interest made a total of $4,143.88, $3,100 had been deposited in the First National Bank and $1,043.88 in the City National Bank.

A petition signed by seventy-three of the High School pupils was then read. They asked that the Christmas vacation commence on December 18 instead of on December 23, thus giving the entire two weeks as a vacation. Mr. Lounsbury thought that that was too much as the school closed two days before Christmas. He didn't think it was right. Dr. Probasco expressed similar opinions and the Board decided not to grant the petition. The Board then adjourned into executive session.

HAD IT OUT WITH FISTICUFFS.

Then One Had the Other Arrested, But Withdrew the Complaint.

There was a warrant out for the arrest of William Sullivan last evening, but when be appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning he was discharged, as the complaint had been withdrawn. Sullivan was charged with being disorderly, striking Patrick O'Keefe in the face and otherwise disturbing the peace of the neighborhood.

O'Keefe is the new manager of the Rising Sun Brewery Company's salooon on Park avenue, and yesterday happened to be dispensing his wares when Sullivan and a party of friends entered the saloon. After a wordy skirmish, it is alleged, they decided to settle their differences in a local livery stable. Fists were to be the weapons, and they prepared for the conflict by removing all superflous clothing. Several blows, it is said, were struck and then the fun came to an end.

When O'Keefe started for his home, he claims, Sullivan appeared and punched him in the jaw. Words continued to fly and O'Keefe made a complaint against his antagonist. This morning he thought better of it and withdrew the complaint.

—Edward White received yesterday from Florida a large box of beautiful palms and evergreens. He has used them in decorating, and it gives the store the appearance of a tropical garden.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

THE PLANETS ABOVE US.

THEIR TELESCOPIC APPEARANCE AND PHYSICAL CONDITION.

Dr. Prentiss Delivers Another of the Interesting Lectures in the University Extension Course in This City.

The usual large audience greeted Professor Prentiss last night at the fifth astronomical lecture in the University Extension series. "The Planets: Their Telescopic Appearance and Physical Condition," was his subject, and very fine photographic and other views illustrated the lecture.

The first pictures thrown on the screen were of some of the more important constellations, Mr. Prentiss calling the attention of his audience to the fact that the stars always preserve their relative configurations, however much they alter their positions in the sky from hour to hour. The sun and moon continually change their places, moving always eastward among the constellations; and a few others, which to the eye appear as very brilliant stars, though they are really not stars at all, also move, though not in quite so simple a way. These moving bodies were called by the Greeks, "planets," or "wanderers."

The ancient astronomers supposed they revolved about the earth, and invented most extraordinary and complicated orbits for them, in order to explain their eccentric movements. They really revolve in elliptical orbits, but little inclined to each other, nearly circular, with the sun at one focus. So far as we know, the planets are dark bodies, shining, like the moon, by the reflected light of the sun. The order of their distance from the sun stands thus: Mercury, Venus, the earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune; and between Mars and Jupiter, in the place where a planet would naturally be expected, there are already discovered nearly 300 little planets, or "asteroids," which probably represent a single planet somehow either "spoiled in the making," so to speak, or else subsequently burst into fragments.

All the planets except the inner two and the asteroids are attended by "satellites." Of these the earth has one (the moon) Mars two, Jupiter four, Saturn eight, Uranus four, and Neptune one.

Mercury is so near the sun that it is seen by the naked eye as a bright star only for a few days as a morning star, west of the sun, or evening star, east of the sun, at intervals of forty-four and seventy-two days.

Venus is so brilliant as to be seen at times at mid-day by the naked eye, casting a shawdow at night. Like Mercury and the moon, it presents various phases of great beauty.

After Venus, in order of distance from the sun, comes the earth, then Mars, which was discussed last week, the asteroids. Then comes the giant of the solar system, Jupiter, larger than the rest of the planets combined. It would take 316 earths to balance Jupiter in the scales.

Saturn shines as a bright yellow star and is altogether unique among the planets, being surrounded by several flat rings and attended by eight moons. Although ninety-five times as heavy as the earth, its density is so small that it would float in water

There will be only one more astronomical lecture in this course. It will be given on Tuesday evening of next week, in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church, the subject being "Comets and Meteors." On the following week the examination of the class will take place.

Evangelistic Leaders.

The week of prayer, study and preparation for evangelistic work will be observed at Trinity Reformed church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. Below will be found the subject for each night and the name of the leader: Tuesday—The Bible Idea of Service; Personal Work, etc., E. E. Anthony. Wednesday—The Gospel Plan of Salvation; Study Carefully Sin, Pardon, Faith, Repentance, David VanWinkle. Thursday — Answering Objections of Unbelievers, George Luckenbill. Friday — God's Present Call and Qualifying for Service; Personal Responsibility, Mrs. F.C.Adams. Saturday—Power; A Quiet Hour, Waiting Upon God for the Power, Rev. C. E. Herring. Acts 1, 1:14 is suggested for special study. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Looked After the Birds.

Manager E. W. Mills, of the United States Express Company, has had quite a job on his hands in the transportation of all the exhibits from the poultry and pigeon show which was held in the Jersey Cycle Academy last week. They were handled in excellent shape, however, and Mr. Mills received much praise for the able way in which they were handled.

PARKS WON BOTH GAMES.

Defeated the Crack Bowlers of Elizabeth Last Night.

The far famed bowling team of the Elizabeth Athletic Club seems to be fair prey for the Park Club bowlers. Last night the Plainfield team went to the home of the crack Elizabethians and took two games from them by rattling good rolling. The result of the games was a surprise to the local men as well as the home team.

Several of the "youngsters" of the Park Club were unable to go and three of the veteran bowlers of the veteran bowlers of the club went down to represent the Plainfield club. They had not had much practice but they succeeded in putting up a high score, unusually high for strange alleys. Matthews, Worth and Thiers made up a strong trio and Van Buren and Ball left so honored in their company that they, too, put up a wonderful game.

The first game was hard fought but the Parks rolled well, and so astonished their antagonists that the latter forgot to bowl as they should. In the second game they woke up and proceeded to give the visitors a hard rub. Some well timed strikes came at the bidding of the Parks and they downed the home team by five pins. Ball rolled well in the last game and was high man. There were no low scores, however, on either side and all the men put up a remarkably even game. It was superior bowling that won the game for Plainfield, however, and the Elizabeth men admitted it.

The score in the first game was: Park, 835; Elizabeth, 800. Second game: Parks, 820; Elizabeth, 815.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

Boys Auxiliary of Grace P. E. Church Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the Boys Branch of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was held in the chapel of Grace P. E. church last evening. Rev. Floyd Appleton was appointed director, Wells Taylor having resigned. The remaining three officers, E. Cleveland Howard, vice-director, Charles Peterson, secretary, and Ernest Fellows, treasurer, were reappointed to serve for the year.

It was resolved to hold a meeting every Thursday evening, beginning December 17th, except the first Thursday in the month when the members will hold the business meetings.

The boys of this city who would like to attend the meetings will be made welcome.

The Director is to begin a course of study on "Church History," December 17th.

Entertained at Euchre.

The Central Avenue Euchre Club, which now meets on Monday instead of Tuesday evenings, was royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Mason, last evening. There were six tables as usual, and the playing throughout was very clever. Mrs Howard Fleming and Mrs. Charles Brookes won the honors for the women, while Alex. Gilbert and Irving Brown won the honors for the men Those present as guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brookes. The club will meet again in two weeks as usu al

How to Send an Alarm of Fire.

Patrolman Saunders appeared before Councilman Fisk, last evening, at the request of the latter, to receive instructions regarding the sending in of an alarm of fire. Mr. Fisk told the Patrolman that under all circumstances he was supposed, when sending in an alarm, to remain at the box until all apparatus had passed. Mr. Fisk thinks that if the Patrolman had remained at Box 21, Sunday morning, the serious accident would not have happened.

A Big Christmas Stock.

Eighteen cases of Christmas goods were put on sale at Edsall's Commercial Palace, yesterday. This house claims to have the largest assortment of holiday goods this side of New York, and prices are guaranteed in a good many cases lower. They will begin to-morrow what they call a great "cut" price sale on all kinds of goods and will keep it up all through the holiday trade. Edsall says if fine goods and low prices will keep trade in town he will certainly do it this season.

Train Struck a Wagon.

A westbound Philadelphia express train struck a milk wagon at one of the Westfield crossings this morning. The wagon was badly wrecked and about one hundred quarts of milk spilled.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

THE RUNAWAYS RETURN

CHIEF GRANT ESCORTED THEM HOME FROM WASHINGTON.

There Was a Large Crowd Awaiting Them—The Lads Have Little to Say and Refused to Make a Statement in Court.

After two weeks of gay life at the capital of the country, Lewis Milligan and Charles Wilson have returned to their native city, but in a far different way than in which they left it. After enjoying all that money could buy, they finally wound up in a cell of the Plainfield lockup, a tired, sorrowful pair of lads, for they have begun to realize their position.

The story of their disappearance was exclusively told in The Press at the time, yesterday their capture at Washington was recorded. Chief Grant went to Washington after them yesterday morning and found the lads all safe in the charge of the Washington police. The Chief took a look at the Capitol while he was there, and then started for home with his two prisoners handcuffed at his side. The fact leaked out that the chief and his prisoners were expected to arrive on the 9:55 train, and when they reached here they found half the juvenile population of the town awaiting them. Stories of the wonderful adventures of the two Plainfield lads had gone abroad and everybody wanted to see them.

Both lads were looking well and dressed right up to date. Milligan wore a suit of dark cloth and a tan and white "turtle-back" sweater. His companion had on a well-fitting suit of brown cloth, a white shirt with figured bosom and figured silk neck-tie. He also wore a brown overcoat of light weight and a white Fedora hat. Milligan had a black Fedora hat and both lads wore pointed russet shoes.

Their luggage arrived this morning by express and consisted of a trunk, a grip, two new dress suit cases and a Stearns road wheel, gorgeous in its yellow enamel.

They were lodged in the lockup for the night. This morning they refused to eat anything although they had fasted since yesterday morning. They were not much inclined to talk to their visitors, but told some of their experiences.

Their story, as learned by Chief Grant on his visit to Washington, was that the lads arrived there about two weeks ago and put up at the Keystone Hotel. There they took several rooms, one of which was partially equipped as a gymnasium. They purchased two wheels and bicycle suits and enjoyed Washington's famous asphalt roads. They became acquainted with two of Wastington's fair daughters, both of respected families. The lads bought four gold watches with accompaning chains, two of which were afterwards found in the possession of the girls who had, however, no idea of where the money came from. Four solitare diamonds rings, two of which were presented to their young lady friends, were also found and two pearl studded rings. The young men equipped themselves with what they thought necessary and enjoyed life.

At last they went to the races where they were finally discovered by the detectives, as was told last evening in The Press. Milligan says that they bet $10 on a horse and won $25 just before they were discovered.

When captured they had about $340 in cash, the jewelry already mentioned, one wheel, the other had been sold, and their trunk, grips and dress-suit cases. The certificates of deposit had been destroyed.

The lads were brought before Justice Newcorn this morning at 11 o'clock for a hearing. Through their counsel, they pleaded non vult and refused to make a statement. City Judge DeMeza acted as their attorney. Justice Newcorn then committed them to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Medicated Vapor Baths.

The efficacy of the medicated vapor baths has long since been practically demonstrated as a remedial agent in all chronic cases of rheumatism, fever and ague, and many other diseases that flesh is heir to. They are not only a remedy but a luxury to the weak, and act like magic in relieving the exhaustion, languor and fatigue of the mind and body. Call at No. 149 East Fifth street and try them.

The Trolley Kills Dogs.

Early last evening a trolley car car killed two dogs on East Front street, and a cat on Somerst street. One of the dogs was owned by Fred Casper and was very valuable. All three animals were horribly crushed, and they were removed during the night.

—Finest Elgin creamery butter 24 cents a pound. Fresh country eggs 25 cents a dozen, at Demarest & Son's.

THE MISTRE[SS] of the M[INE]

or A Woman Inte[rvenes]

By Robert Barr

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyri[ght] Rob[ert Barr]

"Too bad!" cried Jennie, looking with wide-open eyes at the girl before her. "Why, bless you, I had a proposal from Lord Freddie two weeks before I ever saw the butler. I see you don't believe a word I say. Well, you ask Lord Freddie. I'll introduce you and you tell him you don't believe he asked me to be Lady Freddie, if that's the title. He'll look sheepish, but he won't deny it. You see, when I found I was going to stay in England for a time I wrote to the editor of the Argus to get me a bunch of letters of introduction and send them over, as I wanted particularly to study the aristocracy. So he sent them, and, I assure you, I found it much more difficult to get into your servants' hall than I did into the halls of the nobility; besides, it cost less to mix with the Upper Ten."

Edith sat in silence, looking with amazed interest at the young woman, who talked so rapidly that there was sometimes a difficulty in following what she said.

"No, Lord Freddie was not half so condescending as the butler, neither was his language so well chosen; but then, I suppose, the butler's had more practice, for Freddie is very young. I am exceedingly disappointed with the aristocracy. They are not nearly so haughty as I had imagined them to be. But what astonished me in this country is the way you women spoil the men. You are much too good to them. You pet them and fawn on them, and naturally they get conceited. It is such a pity, too, for they are nice fellows, most of them. It is the same everywhere I've been—servants' hall and all. Why, when you meet a young couple, of what you are pleased to call the lower classes, walking in the park, the man hangs down his head as he slouches along, but the girl looks defiantly at you, as much as to say: 'I've got him. Bless him! What have you to say about it?' while the man seems to be ashamed of himself, and evidently feels that he's been had. Now, a man should be made to understand that you're doing him a great favor when you give him a civil word. That's the proper state of mind to keep a man in, and then you can do what you like with him. I generally make him propose, so as to get it over before any real harm's done, and to give an artistic finish to the episode. After that you can be real good friends, and have a jolly time. That's what I did with Lord Freddie. We all went up the river one day—two young men friends of Freddie's and two nice girls, a chaperon, and myself. Would you believe that those two girls proposed to tow us up stream, and the young men actually allowed them to do so. I was steering, and it made me so angry I couldn't speak. Lord Freddie seemed to feel that it was necessary to keep up a conversation, but when I didn't reply to him he calmly lit his pipe and began to smoke. The other two reclined with their hats over their eyes and, I think, went to sleep. Meanwhile the two nice girls trudged along the bank together, pulling the rope. I would have sunk the boat if I could, but I didn't know how. Well, when we got to the place where we were to have tea, the young men said it was jolly nice of the girls to tow them so far; then they went and sprawled under some trees, leaving the complacent girls to get tea ready. I couldn't stand it any longer. I went up to the three sprawlers under the tree, and, bidding them good-by, I started down the tow-path. Lord Freddie sprang up and, running after me, asked where I was going. I told him I was going to walk back to London. He laughed and said I couldn't; it was 50 miles away. But when he saw I was in earnest, he became anxious to know what the matter was.

"I told him I thought I had come out with three gentlemen, but, finding I was mistaken, I was just going back. He got very red, and then I just gave him my opinion of him and his friends, coming out with three girls and paying no more attention to them than if they were three dolls. That settled things. Freddie apologized, and he said he would go back and shake the brutes up a bit, which, I suppose, he did, for the brutes were as nice as could be to us after that. When Freddie and I were towing the boat back he proposed, and I laughed at him. After awhile he began to laugh, too, and so we had a splendid time. What a lovely little river the Thames is, isn't it? A nice, clean, little pocket river. I would like to buy it and put it in our back yard in America, just to sit and look at it. Now, here am I, chattering away as if I were paid for talking instead of writing. Why do you look at me so? Don't you believe what I tell you?"

"Yes, I believe all you say. What I can't understand is, why a bright girl like you should enter a house and—well—do what you have done here, for instance."

"Why shouldn't I? I am after accurate information. I get it in my own way. Your writers here tell how the poor live, and that sort of thing. They enter the houses of the poor quite unblushingly, and print their impressions of the poverty-stricken homes. Now, why should the rich man be exempt from a similar investigation?"

"In either case it is the work of a spy."

"Yes, but a spy is not a dishonorable person; at least he need not be. I saw a monument in Westminster Abbey to a man who was hanged as a spy. A spy must be brave; he must have nerve, caution and resource. He sometimes does more for his country than a whole regiment. Oh, there are worse persons than spies in the world."

"I suppose there are, still—"

"Yes, I know. It is easy for persons with plenty of money to moralize on the shortcomings of others. I'll tell you a secret. I'm writing a book, and if it's a success, then good-by to journalism. I don't like the spy business myself any too well; I'm afraid England is contaminating me, and if I stayed here a few years I might degenerate so far as to think your newspapers interesting. By the way, do you know Mr. Wentworth's address?"

Edith hesitated a moment, and at last answered: "Yes, I do."

"Will you give it to me? I think I ought to write him a note of apology for all the anxiety I caused him on board ship. You may not believe it, but I have actually had some twinges of conscience over that episode. I suppose that's why I partially forgive you for stopping the cablegram."

CHAPTER XVI.

Edith Longworth was astonished at herself for giving the address to the young woman, but she gave it, and Lady Slavey departed in peace, saying by way of farewell: "I'm not going to write up your household, after all."

When the new offices of the Canadian Mica Mining Company, Limited, were completed, Kenyon took charge of them. He was somewhat overpowered by their grandeur, and he thought that unnecessary expense had been incurred in the fittings, but as they were now in for it, he said nothing, although a shiver of fear ran over him when he thought of the possible failure of his scheme, leaving the rapidly accumulating debt hanging over him. He occupied a desk in one of the back rooms, while a clerk in the front office gave away prospectuses to all who called, and furnished useful knowledge to an inquiring public. Most of Kenyon's callers were newspaper canvassers who wanted advertisements, which John at that moment was unable to supply. An oily young man, whose cast of countenance indicated that he belonged to a shrewd, thrifty and money-making race, said he was commissioned by the Financial Field to get particulars about the mine, and this information Kenyon readily supplied, feeling glad that no advertisement was asked for.

Longworth was seldom at the new offices. He was busy seeing acquaintances who would take stock in the new mining company. He constantly cautioned his partners against being in too much of a hurry, and he amazed Wentworth by informing him that he had overcome the objections and secured the cooperation of Melville, who had reported so unfavorably about the mineral, thus showing that anything could be accomplished if you took your time over it. A Mr. King, also connected with the china works, had promised his assistance.

The first meeting of proposed shareholders was set for Monday afternoon, and Longworth expressed his belief that the forming of the company would be accomplished before the week was out.

One day when Kenyon entered the office the clerk said to him:

"That young gentleman has been here twice to see you. He said it was very important, sir."

"What young gentleman?"

"That gentleman—here is his card—who belongs to the Financial Field, sir."

"Did he leave any message?"

"Yes, sir; he said he would call again at three o'clock"

"Very good," said Kenyon, and he began compiling the address to proposed subscribers.

At three o'clock the smooth, oily gentleman from the Financial Field put in an appearance.

"Ah, Mr. Kenyon," he said, "I am glad to meet you. I have called twice, but had not the good fortune to find you in. Can I see you in private for a moment?"

"Certainly," answered Kenyon. "Come into the directors' room," and into the directors' room they went, Kenyon closing the door behind them.

"Now," said the representative of the Financial Field, "I have brought you a proof of the editorial which we propose using, and which I am desired by the proprietor to show you, so it may be free, if possible, from any error. We are very anxious to have things correct in the Financial Field," and with this he handed to John a long slip of white paper with a column of printed matter upon it.

The article was headed, "The Canadian Mica Mining Company, Limited." It went on to show what the mine had been, what it had done, and what chances there were for investors getting a good return for their money by buying shares. John read it through carefully.

"It's a very handsome article," he said, "and it is without an error, so far as I can see."

"I am glad you think so," replied the young gentleman, folding up the proof and putting it in his inside pocket. "Now, as I said before, although I am not the advertising canvasser of the Financial Field, I thought I would see you with reference to an advertisement for the paper."

"Well, you see we have not had a meeting of the proposed stockholders yet, and we are not in a position to give any advertisements about the mine. I have no doubt advertisements will be given, and, of course, your paper will be remembered among the rest."

"Ah!" said the young man, "that is hardly satisfactory to us. We have a vacant half page for Monday—the very best position in the paper—which the proprietor thought you would like to secure."

"As I said a moment ago, we are not in a position to secure it. It is premature to talk of advertising at the present state of affairs."

"I think you know it will be to your interest to take the half page. The price is £300, and besides that amount we should like to have some shares in the company."

"Do you mean for one insertion of the advertisement?"

"Yes, that is what I mean."

"Don't that strike you as being a trifle exorbitant? Your paper has a comparatively limited circulation, and they do not ask us anything like that price even in the large dailies."

"Ah! my dear sir, the large dailies are quite different. They have a tremendous circulation, it is true, but it is not the kind of circulation we have. No other paper circulates so largely among investors as the Financial Field. It is read by exactly the kind of people you desire to reach, and I may say that, except through the Field, you cannot get at some of the best men in the city."

"Well, admitting all that, as I have said once or twice, we are not yet in a position to give an advertisement."

"Then I am very sorry to say that we cannot on Monday publish the article I have shown you."

"Very well, I cannot help it. You are not compelled to print it unless you wish. I am not sure, either, that publishing the article would do us any good. It would be premature, as I say. We are not yet ready to court publicity until we have had our first meeting of proposed stockholders."

"When is your first meeting of stockholders?"

"On Monday at three o'clock."

"Very well, we could put that announcement in another column, and I am sure you would find the attendance at your meeting would be very largely and substantially increased."

"Possibly, but I decline to do anything till after the meeting."

"I think you would find it would pay you extremely well to take that half page."

"I am not questioning that fact at all. I am merely saying what I have said to everyone else, that we are not ready to consider advertising."

"I am sorry we cannot come to an arrangement, Mr. Kenyon, very sorry indeed," and saying this, he took another proof sheet out of his pocket, which he handed to Kenyon. "If we cannot come to an understanding, the manager has determined to print this, instead of the article I showed you. Would you kindly glance it over, because we would like to have it as correct as possible."

Kenyon opened his eyes and unfolded the paper. The heading was the same, but he had read only a sentence or two when he found that the mica mine was one of the greatest swindles ever attempted on poor old innocent financial London!

"Do you mean to say," cried John, looking up at him with his anger kindling, "that if I do not bribe you to the extent of £300, besides giving you an unknown quantity of stock, you will publish this libel?"

"I do not say it is a libel," said the young man smoothly; "that would be a matter for the courts to decide. You might sue us for libel if you thought we had treated you badly. I may say that has been tried several times, but with indifferent success."

"But do you mean to tell me that you intend to publish this article if I do not pay you the £300?"

"Yes; putting it crudely, that is exactly what I do mean."

Kenyon rose in his wrath and flung open the door.

"I must ask you to leave this place.

Easy to Take Easy to Operate

Are features peculiar to Hood's Pills. Small in size, tasteless, efficient, thorough. As one man said: "You never know you have taken a pill till it is all over." 25c. C. I. Hood & Co., Proprietors, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills

The only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

the danger is in the neglect— that's why so many colds lead to a fatal disease.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is made for throat and lung troubles. It acts like magic. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

This

is the trade-mark which is on every genuine wrapper of

Scott's Emulsion

All others claiming to be "just as good," "just the same" and "equal to" Scott's Emulsion are imitations, without this label.

Get the genuine if you want genuine results!

50c. and $1.00 at all druggists

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York

J. C. Pope & Co.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW
Meat Market.
George Egel, Manager.
Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.
To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 19—25 days
Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE!
Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!
C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 11 17 ly

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,
Park Avenue Florist,
Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns. Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,
Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in
Cigars, Tobacco, etc.
"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!
Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. STICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield
Ladies' shampooing and children's cutting a specialty.

WINTER STYLES
Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.
Just Received from manufacturers
FORCE, 129 Park Avenue.
29 1m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.
V. L. FRAZEE
151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S
VARIETY MARKET.
Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.
120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS
If you want a deep, clear, rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables
will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY,
Bakery,
144 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett
has removed to
148 EAST FIFTH STREET.
Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,
FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.
Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly.
Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's
STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.
R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
Residence, 33 Linden Ave.
Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf
Telephone 29b. Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON.
Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.
ACCIDENT TICKETS.
THE INTER-STATE
Casualty Company of New York
gives SIX MONTHS' insurance
$1.000 for $1.00,
to men or women
between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Department of the State of New York for the security of the insured.
For sale at office of
Honeyman's Private Tours,
181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,
PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,
Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.
Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 3 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE
PARK AVENUE. 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD. New Jersey.
Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.
The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.
GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,
120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail
Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE
Sewer Connections.
DAVID BOWDEN,
General Contractor. 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.
28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.
Mason and Builder
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st.
H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
COAL.
747 WEST FRONT ST.
Branch office with
G. A. HALLOCK,
109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS
of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.
M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,
121 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,
187 North Avenue.
Practical Plumber.
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.
Telephone Call 168

L. L. Manning & Son,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,
Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 180 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.
STAGES
For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing,
Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for sewer connections.
210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,
EXCAVATORS.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
—Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.
Edw. P. Thorn,
RETAIL DEALER IN
Fish, Oysters, and Clams.
Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,
Dealer in
Coal & Wood.
Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue.
Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.
Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S
Furniture and Freight
EXPRESS.
Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract!

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—20 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Are those who are blind to the fact that we can prescribe the right glasses for all species of defective vision. That is our specialty. If you are troubled with your eyes in any way, we will test them and prescribe glasses that will remedy all defects, and give you cause for thanks.

COLLIER

103 Park avenue. Established 1869

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and oack, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES. and

FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL.

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

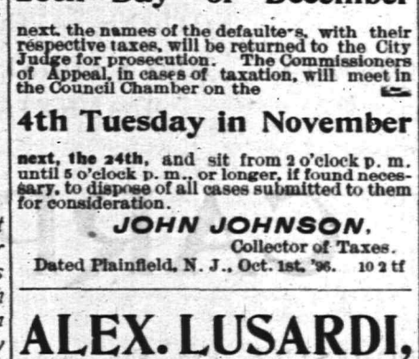
Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.



PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has this Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—91 Watchung ave.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of Elizabeth Stephenson, deceased will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the third day of February next.

Dated, November 25th, 1896.

WILLIAM G. DeMEZA.

12-1-10-w.

Beautiful Dolls FREE.

The French Doll.

Five beautiful dolls, lithographed on cardboard, eight inches high. Can be cut out and put together by the children—no pasting. Each doll has two complete suits. American, French, Spanish, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, German, Swiss, Turkish and Indian costumes. All parts being interchangeable, many combinations can be made, affording endless amusement and instruction. A high-class series of dolls, patented and manufactured for us exclusively and not to be compared with the numerous cheap paper dolls on the market.

How To Get Them.

Cut from five outside wrappers of None Such Mince Meat the head of the girl holding pie. Send these with ten cents in silver—wrapped in paper—and your full name and address, and we will send the dolls postpaid. Or we will send them free for twenty heads of the girl. Send only the heads to avoid extra postage.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

STOCKING-FILLERS?

Thoughtful buyers do not wait until Christmas Eve to think about their purchases. In our stock you will surely find something to interest, always at prices a little lower than elsewhere. Go look where you will, you cannot find anything in all Newark to approach our assortment of

Jewelry, Silverware, Cutlery,
Watches, Cut Glass, Novelties.

RINGS—are always popular for Christmas gifts. 5-stone Diamond Hoop Ring, $3 up. 5-stone Opal and Pearls $18 up. 5-stone Diamond and Opal, $16 up. 5-stone Opals, $6 up. Children's Rings, 60 cents up Diamond Cluster, $20 up. Opal and Diamond Cluster, $15 up. Gentleman's Solitaire, from $15 to $150.

Brooches, Sleve Links, Chains, Charms, etc.

RICH CUT GLASS—Low enough in price to make many an acceptable Christmas gift.

OPERA GLASSES—Our own importations, plain leather, best quality lenses, $3. Mother of Pearl, gilt trimmings, $6.

MEN'S WATCHES—Not a watch in our store which we do not guarantee. In nickeled cases, at $2.50. In silver cases, Swiss movement, $5. In silver cases, Waltham or Elgin movement, $10.50.

POCKET KNIVES—For Men and Boys—Discounts to Schools. We are sure of meeting every requirement from our immense assortment. You can buy one for 5 cents or you can spend $18. Boys' 2, 3 and 4-bladed knives, 45c. and 50c. Girls' 2-bladed, pearl handle, 25c. From 50c. to $2 we show a large line of our own, Rodgers' and Wostenholm Knives in every variety of handles, with 2, 3 and 4 blades. Razor and Shaving Outfits, Scissors singly and in sets, with plain or silver handles.

WISS'S CUTLERY—Is known for its excellence wherever cutlery is used. Been making them for half a century. Table Knives and Forks, rut ber handles, $3.25 set. Table Knives and Forks, celluloid, $4 set. Table Knives, plain handles, 75c. half dozen. Carvers, staghorn handles, $1.25 per pair. Carvers, celluloid handles, $2 per pair.

LADIES' WATCHES—We have them in silver, solid gold, gold-filled case and enameled cases. Solid 14-kt. gold American Watch, Roman design, $17. Studded with diamonds, $30. Gold-filled cases, warranted 20 years, from $12 up. Ladies' solid silver watches, from $3.50 up.

GOLD SPECTACLES (0 styles), at $5.00 upward, make solid sensible presents. Fitted to the eyes after careful examination. L. B. Hilborn (R. O.), is our optical examiner. The cheaper kind in steel frames $1 00, also those without rims, just lenses and clips—same price- better ones $1.50.

J. WISS & SONS,

755 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for net spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all-wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

Bargains in Real Estate For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 169 North avenue Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned, either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

and leave it at once. If you ever make an appearance here again while I am in the office, I will call a policeman and have you arrested."

"My dear sir," expostulated the other, suavely, "it is merely a matter of business. If you find it impossible to deal with us there is no harm done. If our paper has no influence, we cannot possibly injure you. That, of course, is entirely for you to judge. If any time between now and Sunday night you conclude to act otherwise, a wire to our office will hold things over until we have had an opportunity of coming to an arrangement with you. If not, this article will be published on Monday morning. I wish you a very good afternoon, sir."

"Do you mean £300 for one insertion?"

John said nothing, but watched his visitor out on the pavement, and then returned to the making of his report.

On Monday morning as he came in by train, his eye caught a flaming poster on one of the bill boards at the station. It was headed Financial Field, and the next line, in heavy black letters, was "The Mica Mining Swindle." Kenyon called a newsboy to him and bought a copy of the paper. There, in leaded type, was the article before him. It seemed, somehow, much more important on the printed page than it had looked on the proof.

As he read it he noticed an air of truthful sincerity about the article that had escaped him during the brief glance he had given it on Friday. It went on to say that the Austrian Mining company had sunk a good deal of money in the mine, and that it had never paid a penny of dividends—that they merely kept on the mine at a constant loss to themselves in the hope of being able to swindle some confiding investors—but that even their designs were as nothing compared to the barefaced attempt at swindling contemplated by John Kenyon. He caught his breath as he saw his own name in print. It was a shock for which he was not prepared, as he had not noticed it in the proof. Then he read on. It seemed that this man, Kenyon, had secured the mine at something like £10,000, and was trying to shove it off on the unfortunate British public at the enormous increase of £200,000; but this nefarious attempt would doubtless be frustrated so long as there were papers of the integrity of the Financial Field that took the risk and expense of making such an exposure as was here set forth.

The article possessed a singular fascination for Kenyon. He read and reread it in a dazed way as if the statement referred to some other person, and he could not help feeling sorry for that person.

He still had the paper in his hand as he walked up the street, and he felt numbed and dazed as if some one had struck him a blow. He was nearly run over in crossing one of the thoroughfares, and heard an outburst of profanity directed at him from a cab driver and a man on a bus; but he heeded them not, walking through the crowd like one under a spell.

He passed the door of his own gorgeous office and walked a considerable distance up the street before he realized what he had done. Then he turned back again, and, just at the doorstep, paused with a pang at his heart:

"I wonder if Edith Longworth will read that article," he said to himself.

CHAPTER XVII.

When John Kenyon enterd his office it seemed to him that his clerk looked at him askance. He imagined that innocent gentleman had been reading the article in the Financial Field, but the truth is John was hardly in a frame of mind to form a correct opinion on what other people had been doing. Everybody he met in the street, it seemed to him, was discussing the article in the Financial Field.

He asked if anybody had been in that morning, and was told that there had been no callers. Then he passed into the directors' room, closed the door behind him, sat down on a chair and leaned his head on his hands with his elbows on the table. In this position Wentworth found him some time later, and when John looked up his face was haggard and aged.

"Ah! I see you have read it."

"Yes."

"Do you think Longworth is at the bottom of that article?"

John shook his head. "Oh, no!" he said; "he had nothing whatever to do with it."

"How do you know?"

Kenyon related exactly what had passed between the oily young man of the Financial Field and himself in that very room. While this recital was going on Wentworth walked up and down, expressing his opinion now and then in remarks that were short and pithy, but hardly fit for publication. When the story was done he turned on Kenyon.

"Well," he said, there is nothing for it but sue the paper for libel."

"What good will that do?"

"What good will it do! Do you mean to say that you intend to sit here under such an imputation as they have cast upon you and do nothing? What good will it do? It will do all the good in the world."

"We cannot form our company and sue the paper at the same time. All our energies will have to be directed toward the matter we have in hand."

"But, my dear John, don't you see the effect of that article? How can we form our company if such a lie remains unchallenged? Nobody will look at our proposals. Every one will say: 'What have you done about the article that appeared in the Financial Field?' If we say we have done nothing, then, of course, the natural inference is that we are a pair of swindlers, and that our scheme is a fraud."

"I have always thought," said John, "that the capitalization is too high."

"Really, I believe you think that article is not so unfair after all. John, I am astonished at you!"

"But if we commence a libel suit it cannot be finished before our option has expired. If we tell the people that we have begun to sue the Financial Field for libel, they will merely say they prefer to wait and hear what the result of the case is. By that time our chances of forming a company will be gone."

Before John could reply there was a knock at the door, and the clerk entered with a letter in his hand which had just come in. Kenyon tore it open, read it, and then tossed it across the table to Wentworth. Wentworth saw the name of their firm of solicitors at the top of the letter paper. Then he read:

DEAR SIR: You have doubtless the article in the Financial Field of this morning referring to the Canadian Mica Mining company. We should be pleased to know what action you intend to take in the matter. We may say that, in justice to our reputation, we can no longer represent your company unless a suit is brought against the paper which contains the article. Yours truly, W. HAWK.

Wentworth laughed with a certain bitterness. "Well," he said, "if it has come to such a pass that Hawk fears for his reputation, the sooner we begin a libel suit against the paper the better."

"Perhaps," said John, with a look of agony on his face, "you will tell me where the money is to come from. The moment we get into the law courts money will simply have to flow like water, and doubtless the Field has plenty of it. It will add to their reputation, and they will make a boast that they are fighting the battle of the investor in London. Everything is grist that comes to their mill. Meanwhile we shall be paying out money, or we shall be at a tremendous disadvantage, and the result of it all will probably be a disagreement of the jury and practically ruin us. You see, I have no witnesses."

"Yes, but what about the mine? How can we go on without vindicating ourselves?"

Before anything further could be said young Mr. Longworth came in, looking as cool, calm, and unruffled as if there were no such things in the world as financial newspapers.

"Discussing it, I see," were his first words.

"Yes," said Wentworth. "I am very glad you have come. We have a little difference of opinion in the matter of that article. Kenyon here is averse to suing that paper for libel. I am in favor of prosecuting it. Now what do you say?"

"My dear fellow," replied Longworth, "I am delighted to be able to agree with Mr. Kenyon for once. Sue them! Why, certainly not. That is just what they want."

"But," said Wentworth, "if we do not, who is going to look at our mine?"

"Exactly the same number of people as would look at it before the article appeared."

"Don't you think it will have any effect?"

"Not the slightest."

"But look at this letter from your own lawyers on the subject." Wentworth handed Longworth the letter from Hawk. Longworth adjusted his glass and read it carefully through.

"By Jove!" he said, with a laugh. "I call that distinctly good. I had no idea old Hawk was such a humorist! His reputation, indeed; well, that beats me! All that Hawk wants is another suit on his hands. I wish you would let me keep this letter. I will have some fun with my friend Hawk over it."

"You are welcome to the letter, so far as I am concerned," said Wentworth; "but do you mean to say, Mr. Longworth, that we have to sit here calmly under this imputation and do nothing?"

"I mean to say nothing of the kind; but I don't propose to play into their hands by suing them; at least, I should not if it were my case instead of Kenyon's."

"What would you do?"

"I would let them sue me if they wanted to do so. Of course, their canvasser called to see you, didn't he, Kenyon?"

"Yes, he did."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

FREE BRIAR PIPE FOR

25 Gail & Ax's NAVY LONG CUT

COUPONS OR GUMMED STICKERS

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE. Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

05 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 6, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Threatening, Possibly Light Showers, Followed by Clearing Weather Wednesday. Stationary Temperature.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 50 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 10—Meeting of Parliamentary Club at Y. M. C. A. at 10 a. m.

Though the President's message is an all important document there are but few people who read it through.

Great is New Jersey and her people! Nearly every sensational piece of news that the New York papers published this morning came from the Garden State. And Plainfield contributed her quota.

The proposition of the Councilmanic officials, announced at last night's meeting of the Common Council, to erect a public building for the accommodation of all city officers, is something that has long been thought best for the interests of the city, as the amount of money the city is now paying in rent would pay the interest and a part of the principal each year on the bonds which it would be necessary to issue to provide for the cost of such a building. Some of the quarters now provided for the transaction of city affairs are a disgrace to a progressive community, a notable example of which is the alleged station house.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Cushing, of Brooklyn, is visiting Plainfield relatives for a few days.

T. H. Keller returned last night from a trip of eleven days in western cities.

Mrs. Frank Green, of Somerset street, is confined to her home with illness.

Miss Eva C. Dunavan, of Plainfield avenue, is the guest of friends in Newark.

Miss Lillian Fisher, of Sparta, Sussex county, is the guest of Miss Mattie Merrill, of La Grande avenue.

Mr. and Mr. Charles S. Langdon, of East Ninth street, have returned from their trip to Hot Springs, Virginia, much improved in health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sargeant, of 455 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting at the home of her niece, Mrs. S. P. Craig, of College place.

T. K. Murkil, Jr., superintendent of the Southwick Foundry, Philadelphia, was in town on Saturday inspecting the Pond Tool Works, of this city.

Miss Essie Thompson, of Belvidere avenue, will assist at a festival that is to be given at Bound Brook on Thursday night when she will be the guest of her cousin, Miss Stelle, of Bound Brook.

Lucky Escape From Being Killed.

Ambrose Smalley, a carpenter from this city, started for Westfield with his box of tools early this morning, where he was to go to work. He was walking between the tracks when the 7.45 east-bound Newark train came along and one of the cars struck the tool box fore and aft, wrecking the box and scattering the tools promiscuously about the track. Mr. Smalley's right hand was badly cut, so that it bled profusely.

Not in the City Limits.

A bright blaze in the direction of the west end of the city attracted the attention of the police this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock, and Chief Doane was notified. He decided, however, that the fire was too far off, and he did not order the department out. The fire was evidently beyond Bound Brook.

A Christmas Sale.

The ladies of St. Stephen's church will hold a sale of cake and fancy articles on Saturday from 3 to 9 p. m. Articles suitable for Christmas gifts will be offered. A special feature will be a Santa Claus for the children; and it is hoped that he will receive liberal patronage from the little folks. Admission will be free.

Rev. C. B. Mitchell Makes a Change.

Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, D. D., formerly pastor of the First M. E. church in this city, and recently pastor of a church in Kansas City, Mo., will assume charge of the Hennepin M. E. church in Minneapolis, Minn., the first of next April.

A Good Investment.

On receipt of ten cents, cash or stamps, a generous sample will be mailed of the most popular Catarrh and Hay Fever Cure (Ely's Cream Balm) sufficient to demonstrate its great merit. Full size 50c.

ELY BROTHERS,
56 Warren St., New York City.

I suffered from Catarrh three years; it got so bad I could not work; I used two bottles of Ely's Cream Balm and am entirely well; I would not be without it.—A. C. Clarke, 341 Shawmut Ave., Boston.

THE FIFTY-SIXTH FIRE.

DEBRIS IN ADDIS' PLUMBING SHOP MAKES A LIVELY BLAZE.

A Hard Fire For the Firemen to Get at Owing to the Dense Smoke — Mrs. Mundy Almost Overcome With Smoke

The fifty-sixth fire for this year and the fourth for this month called out the fire department last night at 6:28, when Box 13, at the corner of Park and North avenues, was pulled by Patrolman Myers.

The fire broke out in a quantity of debris consisting of excelsior, peach baskets and straw under the cellar stairway in the building occupied by Addis & Son, on Park avenue.

At the time Sergeant Kiely was in Rockfellow's grocery store, and a man standing near him smelled smoke and remarked that he thought the building was on fire. Smoke was then noticed coming up through the floor. The sergeant rushed outside immediately, when he saw a dense volume of smoke coming from the store occupied by Addis & Son, the plumbers.

He called fire loudly, and Patrolman Myers hearing the call pulled Box 13 at once. The store had been closed for the night and Mr. Addis was on his way home when he heard the alarm. He returned and assisted the firemen.

The chemical engine could have extinguished the fire, but Chief Doane thought it best to use water and four lines of hose were laid.

The fire was a hard one to fight on account of the unbearable smoke, but the firemen did good work in keeping it below the first floor. Most of the damage was in the cellar and the entire loss will probably be about $200.

Mr. Rockfellow's store was damaged slightly by fire and smoke. The cause of the fire is given as spontaneous combustion.

Roundsman Mattox bravely rescued Mrs. Mundy who lived in the flats above. She was about overcome with the smoke when the Roundsman rushed in and carried her from the building.

It was fully a half hour after the fire before the recall was sounded.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A SCHOOLMASTER'S LETTER.

Remarkable Specimen of Orthography of a Once School Teacher.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Out of the dust of thirty years the following gem comes to light from a package of business letters. By its bearing on life "in Dixie" it may interest some of your readers who lived through the late unpleasantness. And if your typos can print it verbatim et-literatim et punctatim, it may serve other some as a study in syntax, in punctuation, in orthography—phonetic and conventional; having the merit—as compared with a passage from a popular "dialect story"—of undoubted authenticity.

It were a pity to take the snap out of this letter of Sam Yates by printing with it a glossary; but it may be allowable to point to the masterly touch of condensation in the sentence "I wer teching schoule but it don pame" (pay me.) And it may be necessary to explain that by "cards" Sam means an appliance for "carding" cotton and wool by hand, used the world over even within the present century, and a necessity of life in the Confederate States.

Howard Prescott Reynolds.

first

Columbianer Ala Jan 31. 66

Mr R I have about hunderd fifty gud sheep and calf skins, if you want ter giv cards fer them what will yer low for theem they are mity fin skins an in gud ordder, the skins were tanned las faul, Giv mee the best bargin you kin us I was in army & lost putty nigh everything I had, & now I want ter trade littell ter mak living I wer teching schoule last faul but it don pame. Write me sune on, the, mattre care of Depot Keeper which is Jim Simeser.

Yores trewly
Sam Yates
Columbiana
Shelby County,
Ala.

Mr. Horr Resting Easily.

Ex-Congressman Roswell G. Horr, of Park avenue, is resting easier today and the prospects of his recovery are very bright.

—You can be well when your blood is rich and nourishing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure and cures all blood diseases, restoring health and vigor.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache. 25c.

No Matter

how low the price, baking powders that vary in strength are expensive.

They raise pretty well once or twice, and then, losing their strength, fail, and so waste good butter, flour, eggs, sugar, time and temper.

Cleveland's baking powder never varies. It does the work just right every time, and that is why housekeepers prefer it.

Cleveland's, Pure and Sure.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Finest Elgin creamery butter 24 cents a pound; none better at any price. Demarest & Son.

—The managers of Music Hall have cancelled Evangeline which was to have been presented Thursday night of this week.

—The Ladies' Orchestra will give an entertainment and dance this evening in Friendship Hall, New Market. A number from this city will attend.

—No better present can be given to a friend, wife, husband or parent than six months or a years' subscription to Rand's Magazine Exchange.

—Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickenson will address the semi-annual meeting of the Plainfield City Union of King's Daughters on Saturday afternoon in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church. Tea will be served a 4 30 o'clock.

—A musical and literary entertainment will be given in the lecture room of the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be received during the evening. All are welcome.

Cyclists Collide.

Harry Campbell, of Avon Park, met with a serious acident while riding home from Plainfield one night last week. He was spinning along on the right hand side of the street when he met a solitary cyclist coming in the opposite direction. The stranger was riding on the left hand side of the road and did not keep a watch ahead. The result was a spill in which both wheels were wrecked and Campbell badly cut and bruised. The other rider was also somewhat banged up. The stranger said he was from Plainfield.

An Evening of Progressive Euchre.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Washington Avenue Card Club was held last Friday evening at the home of Miss Janie Churchill, of Dunellen. The first prizes were won by Miss Sallie Gray and Thomas Barrett, while Miss Eva Williams and Chas. Mattis were the next successful couple. After the progressive euchre the guests spent the rest of the evening in playgames and dancing.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

Christmas Gifts to the West.

The Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, of Trinity Reformed church, have sent a large Christmas box, filled with games, dolls, candies, books, magazines, etc., to gladden the hearts of Rev. B. Mollema's Sunday-school scholars, at Platte, South Dakota.

From the Church of Her Childhood.

The funeral services of Miss Augusta C. Bagot, who died suddenly at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. J. Powers, of Wilmington, N. C., yesterday morning, will be held at Plymouth church, Brooklyn, N. Y., tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Justice Nash's Court.

Justice Nash issued summons yesterday in the case of Van Court against Drake, on contract, returnable on the 14th. He also rendered judgment in the case of Lenkenez vs. Walsh, on contract, for $57.39 and costs.

Bound Brook's Choral Society.

Bound Brook now has a Choral Society which expects to give a series of concerts this winter. The members of the society are now practicing every week for their first concert which will probably be held soon after the first of the year.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

HOLIDAY GOODS,
ALL BRIGHT
AND NEW.

VAN EMBURGH.

BASEMENT FULL
OF
TOYS AND GAMES.

RIGHT ON TOP!

That is where PECK is.

Do you want any of his good goods?

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders.
HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.
HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.
One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of
DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY,
NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR,
CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS,
BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, will be placed on sale

SATURDAY MORNING

AT 8:30 O'CLOCK.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

SOME DOLL FACTS.

This is the best Doll Store in Plainfield. No question about that. The variety is greater and the qualities are finer than you can find anywhere else in this town.

Still more: New York, with all its great stores where Dolls are sold, contains no stock finer than mine.

The Dolls I sell are imported to my order. I buy them at as small prices as I can, and sell them as near to cost as I can afford.

Here are big Dolls and little ones. Some dressed ready for your little girl to take out for an airing. Others undressed, so the child can be a real "play" mother, and make clothes for her "baby."

Some Dolls cry. Some go to sleep. Some even "talk," but Dolls can't be expected to talk very good.

Will you look at these beautiful things? Bring the little ones along with you. Seeing is free.

Toys Are Treacherous

Most toys are made to sell. They look all right, but they don't last. The children are happy with them today, but tomorrow they are unhappy because the toys are broken. Some Toys are pretty strong. For instance, Iron Toys, Wooden Boats, Blocks, Games, Ten Pins, Pocket Knives. Plenty of 'em here. I want to sell 'em to you to gladden some little body's heart at Christmas time.

More Things

Lots of other nice things for gifts here. Prices not high either. Come in and look around. It will keep your eyes busy for a good many minutes to see everything.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front Street.

Xmas.

CURTIS M. THORP,

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be

FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.

Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and-irons, fenders, etc.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."

310–312 Park Avenue.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2 00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

W. S. Emory is now employed as night car inspector at the trolley car-house.

Frank Tinsman has returned home after a few days spent at Port Murray, this State.

Mrs. Joseph Laing, formerly of this place, but late of West Milstone, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Carmon.

The annual election of officers of the M. E. church Sunday-school will take place this evening in the parlors of the church.

Robert Carpenter, Charles Boice and Charles Carpenter rode their wheels to Newark, on Sunday, returning in the early evening.

Miss Maude Benton, formerly of this place and now of New York, spent Sunday with Mrs. John Herbert of Dunellen avenue.

The members of the Ladies' orchestra will furnish the music for an entertainment and dance in Friendship Hall, New Market, this evening.

Mrs. Mary Williams and Mrs. Lottie Taylor, who are visiting in Jacksonville, Fla, are expected to return per Clyde Steamer, due in New York on the 18th inst.

Mrs. Amos Giddes, who has been visiting her son, Isaac Giddes, of North avenue, has gone to Bound Brook to spend a few days with another son, A. E. Giddes.

Miss Jerusha Fulper, of Sergeantsville, N. J., who has been the guest of Miss Staats, left for Somerville, today, where she will visit among friends previous to her departure for home.

W. H. Carman, Frank VanHise and Dr. Nelson went out looking for rabbits, yesterday afternoon. They hunted the wilds and suburbs of New Market, but the cotton tails were found to be few and far between.

Messrs. Milligan & Apgar and F. H. Gise have been awarded the contracts for the carpenter and mason work, respectively, for W. Fisher's new house on Prospect avenue, which is to cost something like $6,000. The work is to begin at once, and it will be pushed forward to completion before spring.

Thomas Kelley, thirteen years age, was skating on what is known as the Hardingham pond, on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, when he broke through the ice and came near drowning. He went in nearly up to his chin and had it not been for some of his companions, he might have perished in the icy water.

Two young lads, not yet in their teens, and both of most respectable parantage thought they would have a little fun and excitement yesterday, so they kindled a good-sized bonfire on the floor of Walter Runyon's barn in the rear of the store on North avenue, and after the fire was burning briskly they started out and yelled fire. Arthur Giddis and other neighbors discovered the fire just in the nick of time to avert a most disastrous conflagration. The building is in the most thickly settled part of the town, with other barns and outbuildings in close proximity, and had the fire once been fairly started there is no telling where it would have stopped. The two boys were taken home, where the shingle was vigorously applied.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

A regular meeting of the township committee will be held on Friday evening next.

W. H. Turton will take the initiatory degree in the Jr. O. U. A. M. on Friday evening.

William E. Bacon late of this place, but now of Haverstraw, advices state to friends here, is suffering from an attack of measles.

Some of the boys have no respect for the Sabbath, for they spent their Sunday-school hour pitching pennies, bumping marbles and other amusements.

Mrs. John H. Blimm and the Misses Marion and Madaline Blimm will go to New York on Wednesday for a week's visit among relatives and friends.

Judge Clark has some valuable game bantams, but through modesty he did not enter any of them in the poultry show just closed at Plainfield. The judge has won several prizes in recent years for his exhibitions of fine poultry.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

The roads were quite good for bicycling Sunday, and many out-of-town cyclists passed through here on their way to and from Plainfield.

Edward Hand had a valuable watch dog run over by a stone wagon yesterday. The animal may live, but it is doubtful.

Thos. Wensler, of the man-of war California, was in town yesterday and spent a pleasant afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lee.

The members of the Young Men's League are looking forward in happy anticipation to the time when they can own and occupy their own club-house. This, however, will not be before next spring.

Judge Clark has had his two monster hogs slaughtered. Their aggregate weight was over 700 pounds, and if all is made into sausage the Judge will have enough to last his family over the holidays.

The stone crusher on the mountain broke down Saturday, and in all probability the crusher will not start up again until spring, inasmuch as the company has enough stone on hand to meet all orders between now and that time.

Some one confiscated a Columbia bicycle, model 40, No. 15,338, from under the horse sheds at Emery's Hotel, on Sunday, the 22d of November, and the owner of the place offers a reward of $25 for the return of the wheel and no questions will be asked.

W. H. Turton always has an eye to business, and on Sunday night he slept with one eye open, for at about 3 o'clock Monday morning he heard someone prowling about his premises with the evident intention of breaking into and entering his store. Mr. Turton stole cautiously to his bedroom window just in time to see a strange man leave the yard and disappear in the darkness.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ackerman are making extensive improvements to their home near here. Among other improvements is a beautiful tiled bathroom with quartered oak ceiling and side walls, and in this room is to be placed a marble slab 8½ feet long, 32 inches wide and 1½ inches in thickness. The entire work will be completed in about ten days.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. Smith returned yesterday from a visit with friends in Hamburg, Pa.

OAK TREE.

Preparations are now being made for a Christmas entertainment at Marconnier chapel, and a great time is expected.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Next Tuesday the New South Plainfield temperance hall will be formerly opened, with a grand supper, speechmaking and a dance. Everything will be free and Prof Eugene O'Reilly will furnish the music for singing and dancing.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. J. A. Blatz, of Somerset street, is able to be out after her recent illness.

Arthur Murphy, of Washington avenue, is out again after a severe week's illness.

Miss Julia J. Ketcham, of East Fifth street, is just recovering from a recent attack of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Fred MacDonald, of East Front street, are guests of relatives at Freehold.

Miss Florence Dodge, of East Front street, has secured a position with Van Emburgh & Son.

Herbert Schutt, of Duer street, has accepted a position with the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Miss Josie Fritz, of Somerset street, is the guest of her friend, Miss Adrienne Allison, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dryden, of West Seventh street, left yesterday morning on a short visit in Baltimore.

Charles Wilcox, formerly of New York, now of Chicago, is the guest of his brother, Abner Wilcox, of East Ninth street.

Charles H. Randolph, of Park avenue, has recovered from his recent illness and has returned to his duties at the Potter Press Works.

Frank L. C. Martin, of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Academy, left town Saturday evening on a western business trip. He was accompanied by Sydney B. Bowman, of New York. They will stop at Buffalo, Cleveland and Toledo.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—The Union County Court will convene today.

—The members of No. 2 Engine company will hold a regular meeting this evening.

—The case of Griffin against Smith, on contract, comes up before Justice Huff at Dunellen today.

—What is the world coming to? Well from the looks of Peck's store it is coming nigh to Christmas.

—Routine business will be transacted at the meeting of Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias, tomorrow evening.

—The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, met yesterday afternoon and transacted routine business.

—The members of the Warren chapel sewing school are planning for an entertainment to be given soon after the holidays.

—Next Tuesday evening a temperance hall will be opened at South Plainfield by Morris Higgins. O'Reilly will furnish the music.

—The Ladies Aid Society of Warren chapel have filled a barrel with useful articles and sent it to one of their home mission-field workers.

—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church will hold a meeting in the chapel of the church this afternoon.

—The women of the First Presbyterian church will hold a sewing meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abbott, on West Front street.

—On Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of this week Rev. C. E. Herring will visit the members of his church living on East Second and Third streets.

—E. E. Barrett, the East Fifth street plumber, has been putting in hot water heating apparatus at the offices of City Judge DeMeza in the Codington building.

—The dance to be given by the German Benevolent Society in Saengerbund hall next Monday evening, gives promise of being a most enjoyable affair.

—The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church will be held Friday afternoon next in the chapel of the church.

—Invitations have been sent out by Mrs. A. Walter Haviland and the Misses Haviland, of 26 Rockview avenue, for teas to be given December 17 and 31 and January 7 and 21.

—A number of the members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, who have not already been measured for their uniforms, will be measured this evening at a special meeting of the corps.

—Judgment has been rendered in the case of the Eagle Brewing Company against John J. Hibbitts, on contract, by Justice Mattison, for $200 and costs. Thomas F. Quinn represented the plaintiff.

—Georgia Nedles, a young miss of West Second street, is the proud possessor of a handsome gray cat which weighs eighteen pounds. She has named him "Crowley." The cat is not yet two years old.

—A large dog owned by Rufus Laren, of West Fourth street, got tangled up with a trolley car Sunday and had his tail cut off. The canine suffered so that yesterday Mr. Laren had him chloroformed to death.

—It would be an interesting question as to the cheapest place in town and what line of goods is lowest at the present time. Probably wall paper would be found the lowest priced article and Love's, corner of North and Watchung avenues, the cheapest place in the city, if not in the whole State.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

ALL MAKES OF
SEWING MACHINES
repaired. Singer Machine cash or instalments.
218 West Front Sreet
12 8 1 w

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

DIED.

BAGOT—At Wilmington, N. C., December 7, Augusta C. Bagot, daughter of the late Thomas Bagot.
Funeral services at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, Wednesday, December 9, at three o'clock p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

BLACK onyx pin lost, going or coming from Grace Episcopal church, Park avenue and Sixth street, Sycamore avenue and Seventh. Reward at this office.

A YOUNG neat women wishes situation as working housekeeper please state wages. Address Mrs. M. A. Press office.

WANTED—In the Second Ward, not over five minutes' walk from the North Avenue station, to buy a house not to exceed $4,000. Address, stating number of rooms, "Home," care Press. 12 8 3

SITUATION WANTED by a reliable person to do general housework in a private family; city reference. Please address "A. T.," care Press. 12 8 3

WANTED—Position as cashier or bookeeper by young woman. Address H., care Press.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. 9 Grove street.

WANTED—Capable salesmen, resident of Plainfield, with some capital to take charge of branch store for "Head-to-foot Outfits for Bicycle Riders." Salary and interest to right party. Address, stating reference and capital, Wholesale Clothing, 286 Market street, Newark N. J. 12 8 3eod

SITUATION wanted as housekeeper or nurse; experienced. best reference. Address Box 203, Long Branch N. J.

LOST—Silk purse containing change key, car-tickets. Leave at this office.

TO LET—Several tenant houses at reasonable rent. Apply J. M. Hetfield. 12 7 6

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 817 First place. 12 7 2

PRIVATE egg customers wanted for our fresh eggs. Montrose Farm, South Plainfield N.J. 12 7 2

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E. C. Mulford. Broker. 12 7 tf

WOMAN wants situation as good cook or general housework. 544 West Third street.

YOUNG American woman wishes situation at general housework, Address E., care Press.

TO LET—A fine restaurant to let, furnished or unfurnished. Enquire P. M. French. 11 7 2

LOST—On Spooner ave., school books; finder rewarded on returning to Irving School or 676 8th St.

HORSE blankets, robes, harness and whips at cost. John Wolfe, 66 Somerset street. 12 7 2

SITUATION WANTED by young Danish girl to do upstairs work; good references. Apply 728 West Front street.

WANTED—Colored girl for general housework; with references. Apply, between 2 and 5 o'clock p. m., 1001 Central avenue. 12 7 2

LOST—Child's astrican cloth cape between Lafayette and Elmwood places. Finder please return to this office.

WANTED—First-class cook and laundress, in small family. Apply 996 Central avenue. 12 4 3

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.
100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.
39c each.

The Kosmo,
One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,
Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats

Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers

We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS

That are well worth your time to see:
Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear

An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

Men's	Value.	Our price.
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c.

SAMPLES FREE.

Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.

To $2

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW

210 West Front Street.

An assortment of HOLIDAY GOODS on one of our centre tables marked 25c. is well worth examining before purchasing elsewhere. Also, STAPLE GOODS, such as Umbrellas, Underwear, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Extracts, Silk Mufflers, Silk Initial Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, Napkins, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Does Your Husband Want

Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?

If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON,
NO. 107 PARK AVE.

HOW IT IS VIEWED

Opinions in Washington of Cleveland's Final Message.

CUBAN QUESTION LEADS DISCUSSION

Many Senators and Representatives Loath To Express Their Views---Members of Foreign Relations Committee Particularly Reticent.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Views of a number of senators and representatives on the president's message were bought this morning by a representative of the United Associated Presses, and although they were generally chary in their comments several were found who willingly expressed their opinions of the message. Speaker Reed said: "It seems hardly necessary to comment upon the message. It is calm in tone and on the Cuban question will be much more satisfactory to the community than it would have been a year ago, as much sounder ideas prevail than prevailed then. I wish there had been as frank an acknowledgement of the deficit a year ago as there is now. The idea that the revenue is sufficient, being made so by borrowing, seems to me hardly tenable." Gen. Grosvenor, rep., Ohio: "The treatment of the Cuban and other foreign matters will not be satisfactory to those who have so earnestly hoped for the early action of our country in the interests of and early cessation of wholesale murder in the unhappy sland of Cuba. The reference to the tariff is far from satisfactory. The claim that price of commodities has been reduced in the interests of the people is unimportant when we realize that idleness by force has placed even cheap goods beyond the reach of so vast a body of our people." Francis G. Newlands, silverite, Nevada, said that the remedy for financial ills proposed by the president, namely, the retirement of the greenbacks and the substitution of national bank notes, would not give the needed relief. Mr. McCreary, dem., Ky., said: "I am pleased with the president's reference to the Cuban and the Venezuelan questions and the tariff." Mr. Taft, rep., O.: "The president has stated the position of the United States forcibly. What he says may be considered as a notice to Spain that the present conditions cannot continue indefinitely." Mr. Lound, rep., Cal.: "The position of the president on Cuban affairs should receive the commendation of all Americans. It is dignified, yet it is sufficiently aggressive to intimate to Spain that this country is anxiously watching events in Cuba." Mr. Bartlett, dem., N. Y., expressed the opinion that the time had come when the United States should interfere in the struggle between Cuba and Spain. Mr. Barrett, rep., Mass.: "The message shows that the administration will do nothing regarding Cuba. An attempt will be made to get congress to force him into some radical measures. I do not believe that it will succeed. That and the Hawaiian question will go over to the next administration. The democrats get no cue from the message, except to do nothing." Representative Morse of Massachusetts—"What the president says of the Turkish situation does credit to his humanity. What he says about the struggle in Cuba and his intimations to Spain are patriotic, humane, and perhaps as far as the country is justified in going in the present situation of affairs." Mr. Walker, rep., Mass.—"What the president says about the weakness of our banking system and its reform is most admirable. When he suggests, however, that the greenbacks be retired by the issue of bonds he forgets that we passed an act in 1866 to retire them, and when only $59,000,000 had been retired the people rose up and congress repealed the act. In 1875 an act was passed to retire them, with the same result as in 1866." Mr. Dalzell, rep., Pa.—"The message is fair as to everything but the tariff. The only two questions that the public are interested in are Cuba and the tariff. I like best that reference to Cuba where he shows a determination not to permit any other power to interfere in the island's affairs. The president is unfair on the tariff." Senators who were loth to discuss the message were especially noticeable among members of the committee on foreign relations. Of this committee, Senators Sherman, Davis, Cameron, Lodge, Gray, Turpie, Daniel and Mills refused to discuss the message in the most formal way. Other senators of prominence who declined to talk were Aldrich, Vest, Faulkner, Hill, Wolcott, Gorman and Jones. Frye of Maine said: "The message is common place. So far as the Cuban question concerned the president argues on both sides of the subject." Senator Chandler of New Hampshire: "The message is strong on Cuba and its treatment is adequate to a certain point, but it does not go as far as I would wish. On the tariff it is weak."

THE MESSAGE.

Cuban Situation and Tariff and Finance the Principal Discussions.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The president's message is received as a fitting public farewell from the man whose policies and personality have occupied so much public attention for twelve years. The document is neither very long nor very sensational. The chief topics of interest are the Cuban and financial questions. Announcement is made of the prospective settlement of the Venezuelan boundary question, and that negotiations for a treaty of general arbitration of all differences between Great Britain and the United States are far advanced and promise to result in successful consummation at an early date. The president deplores the situation in the east, and expresses the disbelief that "the present sombre prospect in Turkey will be long permitted to offend the sight of Christendom." Regarding Cuba, the president says:

For Peace in Cuba.

"These inevitable entanglements of the United States with the rebellion in in Cuba, the large American property interests affected, and considerations of philanthropy and humanity in general, have led to a vehement demand in various quarters for some sort of positive intervention on the part of the United States. It was at first proposed that belligerent rights should be accorded to the insurgents—a proposition no longer urged, because ultimately and in practical operation clearly perilous and injurious to our own interests. It has since been and is now sometimes contended that the independence of the insurgents should be recognized. But imperfect and restricted as the Spanish government of the island may be, no other exists there—unless the will of the military officer in temporary command of a particular district can be dignified as a species of government. It is now also suggested that the United States should buy the island—a suggestion possibly worthy of consideration if there were any evidence of a desire or willingness on the part of Spaln to entertain such a proposal. It is urged, finally, that, all other methods failing, the existing internecine strife in Cuba should be terminated by our intervention, even at the cost of a war between the United States and Spain—a war which its advocates confidently prophesy could be neither large in its proportions nor doubtful in its issue.

Right and Not Might Our Rule.

"The correctness of this forecast need be neither affirmed nor denied. The United States has nevertheless a character to maintain as a nation, which plainly dictates that right and not might should be the rule of its conduct. Further, though the United State is not a nation to which peace is a necessity, it is in truth the most pacific of powers, and desires nothing so much as to live in amity with all the world. Its own ample and diversified domains satisfy all possible longings for territory, preclude all dreams of conquest, and prevent any casting of covetous eyes upon neighboring regions, however attractive. That our conduct towards Spain and her dominions has constitued no exception to this national disposition is made manifest by the course of our government, not only thus far during the present insurrection, but during the ten years that followed the rising at Yara in 1868. No other great power, it may safely be said, under circumstances of similar perplexity, would have manifested the same restraint and the same patient endurance. It may also be said that this persistent attitude of the United States toward Spain in connection with Cuba, unquestionably evinces no slight respect and regard for Spain on the part of the American people. They in truth do not forget her connection with the discovery of the western hemisphere, nor do they underestimate the great qualities of the Spanish people, nor fail to recognize their splendid patriotism and their chivalrous devotion to the national honor.

Genuine Autonomy Our Remedy.

"They view with wonder and admiration the cheerful resolution with which vast bodies of men are sent across thousands of miles of ocean, and an enormous debt accumulated, that the costly possession of the Gem of the Antilles may still hold its place in the Spanish crown. And yet neither the government nor the people of the United States have shut their eyes to the course of events in Cuba, or have failed to realize the existence of conceded grievances, which have led to the present revolt from the authority of Spain—grievances recognized by the queen regent and by the cortes, voiced by the most patriotic and enlightened of Spanish statesmen, without regard to party, and demonstrated by reforms proposed by the executive and approved by the legislative branch of the Spanish government. It is in the assumed temper and disposition of the Spanish government to remedy these grievances, fortified by indications of influential public opinion in Spain, that this government has hoped to discover the most promising and effective means of composing the present strife, with honor and advantage to Spain and with the achievement of all the reasonable objects of the insurrection. It would seem that if Spain should offer to Cuba genuine autonomy—a measure of home rule which, while preserving the sovereighty of Spain, would satisfy all rational requirements of her Spanish subjects—there should be no just reason why the pacification of the island might not be effected on that basis. Such a result would appear to be in the true interest of all concerned. It would at once stop the conflict which is now consuming the resources of the island and making it worthless for whichever party may ultimately prevail. It would keep intact the possessions of Spain without touching her honor, which will be consulted rather than impugned by the adequate redress of admitted grievances. It would put the prosperity of the island and the fortunes of its inhabitants within their own control, without severing the natural and ancient ties which bind them to the mother country, and would yet unable them to test their capacity for self-government under the most favorable conditions. It has been objected on the one side that Spain should not promise autonomy until her insurgent subjects lay down their arms; on the other side, that promised autonomy, however liberal, is insufficient, because without assurance of the promise being fulfilled.

Offer Made to Spain.

"Nevertheless, realizing that suspicions and precautions on the part of the weaker of two combatants are always natural and not always unjustifiable—being sincerely desirous in the interest of both as well as on its own account that the Cuban problem should be solved with the least possible delay—it was intimated by this government to the government of Spain some months ago that, if a satisfactory measure of home rule were tendered the Cuban insurgents, and would be accepted by them upon a guaranty of its execution, the United States would endeavor to find a way not objectionable to Spain of furnishing such a guaranty. While no definite response to this intimation has yet been received from the Spanish government, it is believed to be not altogether unwelcome, while, as already suggested, no reason is perceived why it should not be approved by the insurgents. It is therefore fervently hoped on all grounds that earnest efforts for healing the breech between Spain and the insurgent Cubans, upon the lines above indicated, may be at once inaugurated and pushed to an immediate and successful issue. The friendly offices of the United States, either in the manner above outlined or in any other way consistent with our constitution and laws, will always be at the disposal of either party.

When Our Patience May End.

"Whatever circumstances may arise, our policy and our interests would constrain us to object to the acquisition of the island or an interference with its control by any other power. It should be added that it cannot be reasonably assumed that the hitherto expectant attitude of the United States will be indefinitely maintained. While we are anxious to accord all due respect to the sovereignty of Spain, we cannot view the pending conflict in all its features, and properly apprehend our inevitably close relations to it, and its possible results, without considering that by the course of events we may be drawn into such an unusual and unprecedented condition, as will fix a limit to our patient waiting for Spain to end the contest, either alone and in her own way, or with our friendly co-operation. When the inability of Spain to deal successfully with the insurrection has become manifest, and it is demonstrated that her sovereignty is extinct in Cuba for all purposes of its rightful existence, and when a hopeless struggle for its re-establishment has degenerated into a strife which means nothing more than the useless sacrifice of human life and the utter destruction of the very subject-matter of the conflict, a situation will be presented in which our obligations to the sovereignty of Spain will be superseded by higher obligations, which we can hardly hesitate to recognize and discharge.

Our Present Policy.

"Deferring the choice of ways and methods until the time for action arrives, we should make them depend upon the precise conditions then existing; and they should not be determined upon without giving careful heed to every consideration involving our honor and interest, or the international duty we owe to Spain. Until we face the contingencies suggested, or the situation is by other incidents imperatively changed, we should continue in the line of conduct heretofore pursued, thus in all circumstances exhibiting our obedience to the requirements of public law and our regard for the duty enjoined upon us by the position we occupy in the family of nations. A contemplation of emergencies that may arise should plainly lead us to avoid their creation, either through a careless disregard of present duty or even an undue stimulation and ill-timed expression of feeling. But I have deemed it not amiss to remind the congress that a [illegible] when a correct policy and care for our interests, as well as a regard for the interests of other nations and their citizens, joined by considerations of humanity and a desire to see a rich and fertile country, intimately related to us, saved from complete devastation, will constrain our government to such action as will subserve the interests thus involved and at the same time promise to Cuba and its inhabitants an opportunity to enjoy the blessings of peace."

Tariff and Finance.

The president submits a statement of the revenues and expenses of the government, and adds: "I believe our present tariff law, if allowed a fair opportunity, will in the near future yield a revenue which, with reasonable economical expenditures, will overcome all deficiencies. In the meantime no deficit that has occurred or may occur need excite or disturb us. To meet any such deficit we have in the treasury, in addition to a gold reserve of one hundred millions, a surplus of more than one hundred and twenty-eight millions of dollars applicable to the payment of the expenses of the government, and which must, unless expended for that purpose, remain a useless hoard, or, if not extravagantly wasted, must in any event be perverted from the purpose of its exaction from our people. The payment, therefore, of any deficiency in the revenue from this fund is nothing more than its proper or legitimate use. The government thus applying a surplus fortunately in its treasury to the payment of expenses not met by its current revenues, is not at all to be likened to a man living beyond his income and thus incurring debt or encroaching on his principal. It is not one of the functions of our government to accumulate and make additions to a fund not needed for immediate expenditure. With individuals it is the chief object of struggle and effort. The application of accumulated fund by the government to the payment of its running expenses is a duty. It is immeasurably better to appropriate our surplus to the payment of justifiable expenses than to allow it to become an invitation to reckless appropriations and extravagant expenditures.

"This reference to the condition and prospects of our revenues naturally suggests an allusion to the weakness and vices of our financial methods. They have been frequently pressed upon the attention of congress in previous executive communications and the inevitable danger of their continued toleration pointed out. Without now repeating these details, I can not refrain from again earnestly presenting the necessity of the prompt reform of a system opposed to every rule of sound finance and shown by experience to be fraught with the gravest peril and perplexity. I am more convinced than ever that we can have no assured financial peace and safety until the government currency obligations upon which gold may be demanded from the treasury are withdrawn from circulation and canceled. This might be done, as has been heretofore recommended, by their exchange for long-term bonds bearing a low rate of interest or by their redemption with the proceeds of such bonds. Even if only the United States notes known as greenbacks were thus retired, it is probable that the treasury notes issued in payment of silver purchases under the act of July 14, 1890, now paid in gold when demanded, would not create much disturbance, as they might, from time to time, when received in the treasury by redemption in gold or otherwise, be gradually and prudently replaced by silver coin. This plan of issuing bonds for the purpose of redemption certainly appears to be the most effective and direct path to the needed reform. In default of this, however, it would be a step in the right direction if currency obligations redeemable in gold, whenever so redeemed, should be canceled instead of being reissued. This operation would be a slow remedy, but it would improve present conditions. National banks should redeem their own notes. They should be allowed to issue circulation to the par value of bonds deposited as security for its redemption, and the tax on their circulation should be reduced to one-fourth of 1 per cent. In considering projects for the retirement of United States notes and treasury notes issued under the law of 1890, I am of the opinion that we have placed too much stress upon the danger of contracting the currency, and have calculated too little upon the gold that would be added to our circulation if invited to us by better and safer financial methods. It is not so much a contraction of our currency that should be avoided as its unequal distribution. This might be obviated, and any fear of harmful contraction at the same time removed, by allowing the organizatione of smaller banks and in less populous communities than are now permitted, and also authorizing existing banks to establish branches in small communities under proper restrictions. The entire case may be presented by the statement that the day of sensible and sound financial methods will not dawn upon us until our government abandons the banking business and the accumulation of funds, and confines its monetary operations to the receipt of the money contributed by the people for its support, and to the expenditure of such money for the people's benefit."

Trusts and the Law.

"Another topic," says the president, "in which our people rightfully take a deep interest may be here briefly considered. I refer to the existence of trusts and other huge aggregations of capital, the object of which is to secure the monopoly of some particular branch of trade, industry or commerce and to stifle wholesome competition. When these are defended it is usually on the ground that though they increase profits they also reduce prices and thus may benefit the public. Their tendency is to crush out individual independence and to hinder or prevent the free usé of human faculties and the full development of human character. Though congress has attempted to deal with this matter by legislation, the laws passed for that purpose thus far have proved ineffective, not because of any lack of disposition or attempt to enforce them, but simply because the laws themselves as interpreted by the courts do not reach the difficulty. If the insufficiencies of existing laws can be remedied by further legislation it should be done. Even though it may be found that federal authority is not broad enough to fully reach the case, there can be no doubt of the power of the several states to act effectively in the premises, and there should be no reason to doubt their willingness to judiciously exercise such powers."

McKinley Reads the Message.

Canton, O., Dec. 8.—Major McKinley read President Cleveland's message through with great interest, but without comment. The portion of it devoted to the Cuban question was discussed by those present. The concensus of opinion was that it was an informing presentation of the situation and, on the whole, about what was expected. Col. M. T. Herrick of Cleveland said it was conservative and breathed a spirit of fairness which would be commanded

MRS. L. ADAMS,
MILLINERY.
Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.
114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Christmas Wreaths. Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,
Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.
DENTON'S.
131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,
DEALERS IN
Lehigh Valley Coal.
Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Amos H. Van Horn,
LIMITED.
CARPETS
AT COST!
Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:
25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.
MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES
NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.
Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.
LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!
Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.
Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.
73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.
Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary
These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:
Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash, " " " " $6 & $7.
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.
Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.
WERNERS!
Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.
Leech, Stiles & Co.,
EYE SPECIALISTS.
H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.
PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.
-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE
AT REDUCED PRICES.
We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.
POWLISON & JONES.
149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 28, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 3 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17, p. m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 30, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8 00, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p. m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01 8 13 8 32 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30 11 35 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2

Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 46, 2 11, 2 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 08, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 38, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43 5 14, 6 35, 10 35, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 30, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a. m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 55, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 28, a m; 2 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04, 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 30, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 08, 5 16 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 08 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

4 55 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin, (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 28 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17 2 32*, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 5:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 30 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m: closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !
AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,
139-141 East Front street.
ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son. Superior quality of
LEHIGH COAL.
No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No 1 Kindling Wood
Yard and office 763 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station.

AT Jas. R. Blair's,
126 Park Ave.
You can get Winter Caps from 25c. to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.
Watch his window for Holiday goods.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,
TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.
Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. 8 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.
25 Washington avenue.
Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.
HIGH GRADE
PARLOR HEATERS,
Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters
OUR PRICES ARE LOW.
Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.
A. M. GRIFFEN.
119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,
SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.
Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Banannas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S
Marble and Granite Works,
SOMERSET STREET.
Our motto—Good work, good material at dr rices.

FRANK DAY,
114 WEST SIXTH ST.,
(Near Park Avenue.)
Livery and boarding stable in al its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

BARRELS OF MONEY IN GOOD PATENTS.
"HINTS TO INVENTORS"
mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co. 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm

Oysters !
The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.
Coddington & Ackerman.
7 15 ly

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at
W.L. & J.M. Smalley,
94 Somerset street.
Telephone Call, 42b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.
It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.
Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver
Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.
Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu
Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.
L. W. Randolph,
PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING
BAKER AND CONFECTIONER
201-203 West Front Street.
TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.
VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.
Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.
Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=
113 WEST FRONT STREET.
COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.
Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at........$4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to........$18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to........$8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at........$1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.
Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.
Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

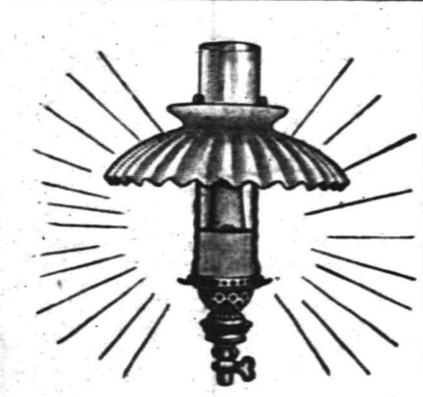
Neckwear.
The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.
If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.
A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.
Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

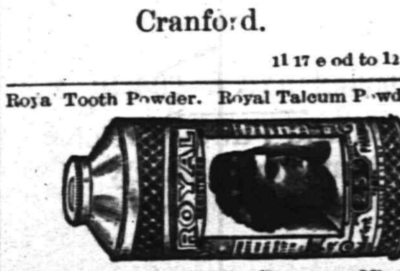


The Great Gas Saver !
Three times the Light.
One-half the Gas.
See our Welsbach Stand Lamp.
J. W GAVETT.

Assortment
Of FURNITURE.
In all grades.
Largest and Best
We have ever exhibited.
Visitors always welcome.
No trouble to show goods.
G. Q. PACKER.

HEARN
WEST FOURTEENTH ST. NEW YORK
New York's
Most Popular
Store
For Everything
in Dry Goods.
See New York Sunday and Evening papers for week's Specials.
FREE DELIVERIES DAILY
By Our Own Wagon in
Plainfield, Westfield
Elizabeth, Netherwood
Elizabethport, Fanwood
Roselle, Union
Lorraine, Elmora
Aldene, Linwood
Lyons Farm, Rahway
Cranford.
11 17 eod to 12 29

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.



Sold Everywhere, 10c. Allen Pharmacy M'g Co.

Delicate Dress Goods.
Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.
Hillier & Co.,
North ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 30M

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie R 2	Magnie Miss Annie
DerCharnel Miss Lil'n	Prentice Mrs. Geo
Dutcher Chas H	Reich Miss Elizabeth
Fonda Guy Q	Rockerer J C
Foster Miss Vera	Slater Joshua
Gray Miss Maggie	Steinorth R
Harrison Wm F	Stelle Freeman
Holingvist Miss Agnes	Schenck Mrs E
Herben Mrs S J	Tevis E L
Lewis C F	Wiley Mrs Fred
May Miss M A	Walker Mrs Mary E
Midgely Jas L.V	Whiteall Mr C D
Mendel Gus	Weingart Miss AnnieL

ABLE AND DIGNIFIED

British Press Praise President Cleveland's Cuban Policy.

MONROE DOCTRINE HURTS, THOUGH

A Bold Policy and Not Free from Danger for the United States To Claim a Virtual Protectorate Over the American Continent.

London, Dec. 8.—Commenting upon President Cleveland's message to congress, the Standard says it is dignified and able and is marked throughout with sterling common sense. It deserves and will doubtless obtain the serious study of the European people. The Standard is of the opinion that the message will incite bitterness in Spain; which country, nevertheless, must make up her mind to listen to friendly counsel. Spaniards may be excused if they detect a tone of menace. The condition of Cuba will certainly not induce impartial observers to say that menace is unwarranted. The paper dwells on Mr. Cleveland's pointed reassertion of the Monroe doctrine in the paragraph reading: "Whatever circumstances may arise, our policy and our interests would constrain us to object to the acquisition of the island or any interference with its control by any other power." It sees in this the intention of the United States to claim a virtual protectorate over the American continent and the islands thereof. This, it adds, is a large and bold policy that is not quite free from danger, as Spain is not the only power with which the United States might thereby become embroiled. The paper expresses the opinion that if Spain found a powerful friend in Europe to help prevent Cuba from passing from her hands the objection of the United States based on the Monroe doctrine would not be of much account. Fortunately, there seems to be no real risk that the Monroe doctrine will occasion further disputes with Great Britain. In conclusion, the Standard refers to the passages referring to the satisfactory ending of the Venezuelan dispute, and says that the dignified language of the message where it refers to Turkey shows the powers that they can be assured of the cordial support of the United States in executing corrective measures in that country.

Against the Monroe Doctrine.

The Daily News is chiefly impressed by the section of the message referring to Cuba. It admits that the Americans cannot be permanently indifferent to the disastrous condition of the island, but says that while the intentions of President Cleveland and Secretary of State Olney may be in every way good, European opinion is not favorable to the latest version of the Monroe doctrine, and Spain will have influential support if she holds out against it. The continental press has become very sensitive on the subject of American pretensions, and the message is likely to meet with sharp comment. Lord Salisbury is thought to have yielded too much in the Venezuelan matter, and there will be many voices urging Spain not to yield. It is to be hoped that they will prevail. Autonomy would be the best thing for the Cubans, as it would be for Spain. The Chronicle says in a leader on the same subject that the alternative before Spain is really to either satisfy the Cubans or to have Cuba taken from her forcibly. The responsibility will remain with the United States, and, considering the state of Cuba and what the Cubans are, a full-sized Nemesis will certainly await any want of success in American methods. In conclusion, the paper says: "The Spanish failure is colossal and undeniable. The United States is ready to take upon itself the huge burden of restoring order and prosperity in the island. We advise Spain in her own interest to sell Cuba, but he would be no friend of the United States who would advise the latter to buy the island."

Praised by the Times.

The Times will say that the tone and spirit of the message are worthy of all praise. President Cleveland, it adds, gives his countrymen the soundest advice in the most unexceptionable language, nor can the least complaint be made of the character of the warnings he addresses to Spain, though it is not improbable that Spanish pride will take offense. It is clear that President Cleveland is actuated by friendly feelings toward Spain. It would be wise for the latter to consider whether it could not avail itself of the president's offer of aid in settling the trouble in Cuba.

INAUGURATION PLANS.

Selection of Chairman of Arrangements Committee and Marshal of Parade.

Washington, Dec. 8.—S. W. Woodward declined appointment as chairman of the committee of arrangements for President McKinley's inauguration, and C. J. Bell, president of the American Security and Trust company of Washington, was tendered and accepted the honor. Gen. Horace Porter of New York has been appointed marshal of the inauguration parade. John Hay, the historian, entertained Mark Hanna, Congressman Payne and others at a dinner last night.

Death From Hydrophobia.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 8.—Andrew Danko, of Sturmerville, who was recently bitten by a mad dog, died yesterday of hydrophobia. For the past week he suffered great pain. It required two men to hold him and the sight of water threw him into convulsions.

Cabinet Speculation.

Canton, O., Dec. 8.—A new cabinet possibility has swung into view. The name is that of Col. Henry A. Dupont of Delaware. He is mentioned in connection with the secretary of war [illegible]. Mr. Dupont is a graduate of West Point.

COL. FELLOWS' DEATH

Numerous Messages of Sympathy Received by the Family.

PUBLIC FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Affecting Scene When the Favorite Son of the Deceased Arrived Home from Hot Springs Three Hours Too Late To Bid His Father Farewell.

New York, Dec. 8.—The funeral of Col. John R. Fellows, district attorney of New York county, whose death occurred yesterday afternoon, will take place to-morrow afternoon from his late residence, and will be public. Vernon M. Davis, the newly appointed successor of the deceased, has charge of the arrangements. Many friends have called to extend sympathy and telegrams have been received by Mrs. Fellows from many friends of the family expressing regret at the sad ending of her husband. One of the pathetic incidents connected with the sorrowful event was the home coming of John R. Fellows, jr., the favorite son of the deceased. On receipt of the information of his father's serious illness he started immediately for home from Hot Springs. Telegrams announcing his condition were sent to him at different points. The final telegram announcing the death was received by the young man when he reached Philadelphia. There was an effecting scene when he reached home three hours after his father's death.

Col. John R. Fellows was born in Troy in 1832. When he was five years old his father emigrated to Saratoga county, this state, and there the boy first went to school. When 18 years of age he went to his uncle in Camden, Ark. He studied law in the office of judge Abner A. Stith and soon became a shining light in the legal firmament of that state. The colonel was an elector-at-large from Arkansas on the Bell and Everett ticket in 1860. He stumped his state and was a strong union man. When the war broke out he enlisted in the First Arkansas regiment and served in the Confederate army. He was with the regiment in several battles and was made a colonel. He served later on the staff of Gen. W. N. R. Beall, and was assigned to duty as assistant inspector-general. It was in 1863 that Col. Fellows became a prisoner of war, when Port Hudson, La., fell. After the surrender of Gen. Lee, Fellows returned to Camden and resumed his law practice. He was nominated for state senator in 1866 and was elected. Col. Fellows was delegate to the national convention held in this city in 1868, and helped nominate Gov. Seymour for president. The governor was so impressed by his eloquence that he prevailed upon him to remain here after the convention and help in the campaign in this state. In 1869 District Attorney Garvin appointed Mr. Fellows his assistant and he held the position until 1873. He was counsel to the excise board for two years, and later was assistant under District Attorneys McKeon and Martine. In 1887 he was elected district attorney over De Lancy Nicoll, and after the expiration of his term served as a member of the house of representatives from this city. He succeeded Mr. Nicoll as district attorney at the last election to that office. During the recent campaign Col. Fellows spoke frequently for the gold standard cause in the doubtful middle states. He had been for years a well-known figure at state and national conventions, and his reputation as an orator extended throughout the country.

APPROPRIATION ESTIMATES.

$421,718,970 Needed for the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, '98.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The estimates of appropriations required for the public service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, as furnished by the several executive departments and submitted to congress by Secretary Carlisle, show grand totals of $421,718,970.60, against $418,091,073.17 estimated for 1896-97. The tables this year are noticeable for the scarcity of estimates for the construction of public buildings except in the marine hospital service, and for the river and harbor improvements. The following amounts are asked for public buildings in the places named: Alleghany, Pa., postoffice, $55,000; Buffalo, N. Y., postoffice, $600,000; Brockton, Mass., postoffice, $50,000; Camden, N. J., custom house and postoffice, $100,000; Cumberland, Md., court house and postoffice, $50,000; New York city, appraisers' warehouse, $300,000.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Prices weak; trade quiet. Dec., 87⅞c.; May, 86⅛c.

Corn—Spot easier, with fair trade. Dec., 29c.; May, 31⅜c.

Oats—Trade firmer; fair demand. Dec., 23⅜c.; May, 26⅜c.

Lard—Market firm; moderate trade. Prime western, $4.10.

Eggs—Steady prices; good demand State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 22@26c.; ice house, 16@22c.; western, fresh, 22@24c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 21@23.

Butter—Receipts continue moderate. Creamery western extras, 24c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19@23c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Steady; moderate demand. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1 37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:12 a. m.
Sun Sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

BASKET BALL.

A game of basket ball was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday evening between the regular team and the team from the business men's class. The regulars won by a score of 18 to 10 after an exciting game. The game was well contested and the decisions of the officials were very satisfactory.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Peter J. Emmons, of Jackson avenue, has purchased Jed Smalley's pacer, "Alonzo," 2:21¼.

Jedediah Smalley, of Craig place, purchased a trotter at the Kellogg horse sale in Madison Square Garden, New York.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—At the fire last night the fire lines were used and they proved to be very valuable in keeping the crowd back.

—Martha Washington Council, D. of A., are arranging for a red, white and blue tea and dance on the evening of Washington's Birthday.

—W. J. Stephenson, the caterer, has succeeded in amicably adjusting his difficulties and expects to open his place on North avenue this week.

—J. Fred MacDonald, the uptown grocer, is making a specialty of fine dried fruits, also groceries, at prices to suit every pocketbook. Read his new advertisement.

—The Methodist watch-night service will be held this year in the Vincent chapel. The Monroe Avenue and Grace M. E. churches will join with the First M. E church.

—The new council of Royal Arcanum will be instituted Thursday evening in Grand Army hall. Members of Plainfield Council and members of the order are invited.

—Several State officers paid a visit to Old Glory Council, Daughters of Liberty, last night. The council initiated several candidates and there was a pleasant time in the good of the order.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Lucie Palmer Davis, of East Fifth street, has gone to Brooklyn to visit friends.

Miss Blanche Miller, of Newark, is the guest of Miss Louise Snediker, of Grove street.

Charles Lodge and family have moved from White House to their new residence on East Front street, opposite Sandford avenue.

Mrs. M. J. Coyne, of No. 306 Richmond street, is seriously ill from a complication of diseases. Dr. Tomlinson is the attending physician.

French Political History.

There was a large attendance and much interest at the meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club held yesterday afternoon. The usual paper was prepared and read by Miss Elizabeth Stewart, on the subject of "Political History of Henry IV of France." It was a very able paper and a number of the members contributed items of interest on the subject. The paper on "Current Events" was prepared and read by Mrs. Harry M. Stockton.

Class Officers.

A meeting of the Class of '97 of the Plainfield High School was held yesterday afternoon at the High School. Miss Alice Jenkins was elected secretary of the class, and Louis Squires, Miss Louise Egan and Miss Edith Pruden were appointed a committee to take charge of certain Christmas arrangements.

Petit Jurors.

At the December term of the Union county court this morning, the following Plainfielders were drawn for the petit jury: David S. Pope, B. T. Barnes, Charles H. VanWinkle, Abner S. Bartlett and William H. Drayton. The libel suits of Mayor Rankin against Dr. Reiner, were laid over for the term.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are are best.

THE SHAKERS DO THEIR DUTY

"If a man discovers a valuable medicine," said Horace Greeley, "It is his duty to advertise it." Yes, and at once; for suffering demands the speediest relief possible. But let the man first be sure. Suffering had better wait than be deluded by false hopes. Medicine, like surgery, must often seem cruel in order to be really kind. On this principle the Shakers, of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y., withheld their great indigestion and dyspepsia remedy from the public for several years. With them rightdoing is everything—money comparatively nothing. Hence the popularity and success of whatever they offer for sale. Having satisfied themselves of the merit of their medicine by employing it in the worst cases of digestive disorders in their own vicinity for years, they did their duty—they advertised it under the name of the Shaker Digestive Cordial. In all cases where there is distress after eating, pain in the stomach, chest and back; aversion to food with the resulting symptoms such as headache, furred tongue, eructation of gas, with weakness and loss of flesh, etc., the Cordial has a most happy effect. Being itself a digestive food with power to digest other foods, it relieves the weak and possibly inflamed stomach of the labor in which it is in no condition to perform, gives new strength to the body and presently restores to the digestive organs their normal vigor. Taken immediately after eating this remedy insures the digestion of the meal and prevents the fermentation of the food, which is the source of the most of the afflicted symptoms which accompany dyspepsia. It is also as agreeable to the taste as it is potent as a medicine.

To show their own confidence in it, and to hasten its universal adoption, the Shakers authorize druggists to sell trial bottles at the nominal price of ten cents.

Sewer Assessments.

The sewer commissioners' report presented to the City Council last evening comprises about 2,100 names and the assessments run from 58 cents to $436.58.

—The quarterly conference of the First M. E. church will be held Saturday evening in Vincent Chapel. Presiding Elder George Washington Smith will preside.

—The officers of the North Plainfield High School cadet company will meet at the home of Captain George Edwards, of Duer street, on Thursday night for examination in military tactics.

—A rehearsal of the Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school of the First M. E. church was held in Vincent chapel yesterday afternoon. The entertainment is entitled "The House of Santa Claus."

—The lounge which caught fire at the house of Horace Sherwin on Orchard place, Saturday evening, was covered with corduroy, which material is very inflammable. This fact is stated that others may be cautious.

CRISIS IN VICTORIA'S FINANCES.

England's Queen Once Had a Narrow Escape from Bankruptcy.

It is a fact that not very many years ago her majesty escaped complete financial ruin by a mere chance. The failure of a certain great bank is within everybody's recollection. It came like a thunderbolt upon the whole commercial world.

The deficit was not to be counted in hundreds of thousands, but in millions of money. As for the shareholders in the unlimited company, they were liable individually to the whole extent of the bank's debt. That is to say, the owner of a ten-pound note share was a part debtor of the six or seven millions that the bank was short.

This, of course, meant hopeless ruin even to the very richest of them. The first call swept away the savings of a lifetime of the widow and orphans. In a short time the weight of debt had attacked and swallowed up the middle-class holders of the shares. Then, grinding as slowly and surely as "the mills of the gods," it reached the capitalists and millionaires and left them sucked dry and penniless. It mattered nothing whether they had one share or a hundred, the result was the same—hopeless ruin.

Now it happened that some time before this failure a loyal Scotchman had died, bequeathing sundry shares in this bank to the queen. Her advisers sat long in council considering this bequest, and her fate trembled in the balance.

At last they decided that it was beneath her dignity to hold shares in a commercial undertaking. But the comic papers got hold of the incident after the failure of the bank and made capital of it from the point of view of what "might have happened."

They pictured Osborne, Balmoral and Buckingham palace for sale and the crown jewels in pawn. They pictured "Mrs. England" reduced to taking in lodgers. They represented her ruling the kingdom from a room in the workhouse and Mr. Gladstone bringing her a welcome present of tea and tobacco.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Toothsome Morsel.

"I do not remember," remarked the cannibal king as he drew away from the table after moistening the tips of his fingers in the finger bowl, "I do not remember that I ever ate a more delicious meal."

"I am glad you liked it, sire," replied the grateful chef. "That was a sweet girl grad you ate."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Proper Sort.

Marian—The proper thing, nowadays, is to go bicycle riding with a groom.

Tottie—That's all right, if it's a bridegroom.—Brooklyn Life.

Corporation Notice.

Commissioners of Assessments report for sewerage construction on consideration before the Common Council, Plainfield, N. J.

Notice is hereby given that, at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J., held on Monday, the seventh day of December instant, there were presented and laid before the Common Council (the same having first been filed in the office of the City Clerk December 7th, 1896), the report and assessments of the Commissioners of Assessments of said City heretofore appointed under the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the appointment of Commissioners of Assessments under Chapter CXLI P. L. 1895," approved April 25th, 1896, containing the assessments of damages and benefits or expenses, as the case may be, for the making and constructing of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," approved April 7th, 1890, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and ordinances and other proceedings of the Common Council had under said acts of the Legislature, said report and assessments covering the whole of said system of sewerage already completed, that is to say: the making and constructing of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections) in streets and parts of streets mentioned in said report, and the construction of sewerage disposal beds and appurtenances; the said streets and parts of streets in which the same were so made and constructed and the location and dimensions of the several lots, tracts and parcels of land and real estate so assessed being delineated on set of maps entitled "Sewer Construction Assessment Maps dated Dec. 7, 1896" numbered from 1 to 24, both inclusive, and 101 to 124 both inclusive, filed in the office of the Collector of Taxes December 7th, 1896, each of said maps being attested by the signatures of the said commissioners and said streets and parts of streets being the following, to wit:

Woodland avenue from South avenue to Putnam avenue.
Woodland avenue from Watchung avenue to Highland avenue.
Belvidere avenue from Ravine road to La Grande avenue.
Ravine road from Belvidere avenue to Berkley avenue
Putnam avenue from Woodland avenue to Franklin place.
Franklin place from La Grande avenue to Watchung avenue.
Watchung avenue from Woodland avenue to La Grande avenue.
Watchung avenue from East Sixth street to East Front street.
Hillside avenue from Prospect avenue to Watchung avenue.
Richmond street from East Front street to Watchung avenue.
Norwood avenue from East Front street to Green Brook.
Carlton avenue from Watchung avenue to La Grande avenue.
Kensington avenue from La Grande to Watchung avenue.
Webster place from Putnam avenue to Watchung avenue.
Ninth street East and West respectively from Watchung avenue to Central avenue.
Crescent avenue from East Seventh street to Third place
First place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.
Second place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.
Third place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.
Washington street from La Grande avenue to East Fourth street.
Washington street from East Third street to East Front street.
Church street from East Fourth street to the C. R. R. of N. J.
Church street from East Third street to East Front street.
Park avenue from Ninth street to Front street.
Sycamore street from East Fourth street to East Seventh street.
North avenue from Watchung avenue to Park avenue.
College place from West Eighth street to West Ninth street.
Arlington avenue from West Ninth street to West Third street.
Madison avenue from 370 North of Stelle avenue to West Front street.
Central avenue from 180 ft. North of Randolph road to West Front street.
New street from West Seventh street to West Front street.
Division street from West Eighth street to West Fifth street
Liberty street from West Eighth street to West Sixth street.
Liberty street from West Fifth street to West Front street.
Elmwood place from West Front street to West Second street.
Plainfield avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.
Grant avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.
Grant avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.
Clinton avenue from West Front street to Dunellen avenue.
Sanford avenue from Green Brook to East Front street.
Westervelt avenue from Green Brook to East Front street.
Elm place from Green Brook to East Front street.
Front street East and West respectively from Berckmen street to Clinton avenue.
Orchard place from New street to Liberty street.
Second street East and West respectively from Berckman street to Plainfield avenue.
South Second street from Liberty street to Plainfield avenue.
East Third street from Midway avenue to Watchung avenue.
West Third street from Arlington avenue to Grant avenue.
Fourth street East and West respectively from the C. R. R of N. J. to Plainfield avenue.
Cottage place from Richmond street to Washington street.
Fifth street East and West respectively from Richmond street to Plainfield avenue.
Sixth street East and West respectively from Richmond street to Plainfield avenue.
LaGrande avenue from Belvedere avenue to Woodland avenue.
LaGrande avenue from Richmond street to Watchung avenue.
Seventh street East and West respectively from Crescent avenue to 900 feet west of Grant avenue.
West Eighth street from Park avenue to Grant avenue.
Dunellen avenue from Clinton avenue to Disposal Beds.

And it was ordered that said Common Council will proceed to consider, review, alter, ratify and conform said report and assessments at a meeting to be held in the Common Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, N. J., on the twenty-eighth day of December, 1896, at 8 o'clock p. m., at which meeting all persons interested in or affected by said improvements, on account of which said assessments were made, will be given ample opportunity to be heard upon the subject of said assessments.

The character of the work and improvement for which said assessments have been made is shown by the foregoing, and in general is the construction of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), and sewerage disposal beds and appurtenances, and a system of sewerage and appurtenances; and the streets and avenues or particular sections thereof which are included in said assessments are those hereinbefore particularly set forth.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., December 7th, 1896.
JAMES T. MACMURRAY,
City Clerk.
d 8 9 15 22

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter, Wm. McD. Coriell,
P. M. French, H. Mulford Estil,
Wm. M. Stillman, Isaac W. Rushmore
J. W. Johnson, Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.

Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
H. E. RIDER, President.
C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

How Manufacturers Test Bicycles.

Unless one has visited a great bicycle factory it is not easy to appreciate the many delicate operations that the parts of a bicycle are subjected to, the many tests that must be passed, and the hundreds of careful inspections that the many parts must pass before they are considered worthy or good enough to be assembled into a bicycle of standard worth. Visitors to a big manufactory are surprised at the extent of the plant, the perfect appointments, and air of discipline that prevails throughout. It does not take the most inexperienced long to see why it costs so much to build a good bicycle. The most exacting care is required; the very best materials are necessary in every part; skilled labor of the highest order is essential to obtain the desired results, and if any part gets through the inspection-room and is afterwards found imperfect, it is nothing short of marvelous.

A CHRISTMAS FAIR

for the sale of

Fancy and Useful Articles,

will be given by the ladies of All Souls Church on the afternoons and evenings of WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY and FRIDAY.

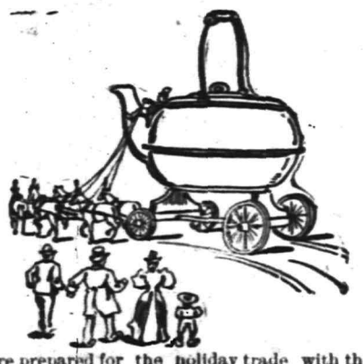
DECEMBER 9th, 10th & 11th,

from 3 until 10 o'clock.

Admission, 10cts. Children, 5cts.

Entertainment in the evenings. 12 7

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co



are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.

Christmas Tree Holders, Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver-plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks, Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1.98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.

Telephone Call 49 I. 9 3 1y

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order. 12 1 1y

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this. The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical, stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe?

DOANE & EDSALL.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS

IN

ENDLESS VARIETY

AT

HARPER'S,

411 PARK AVENUE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

W. C. T. U.

"FESTIVAL OF DAYS."

December 9 & 10,

Opens at 2 p. m., in rooms corner

Watchung Ave. & Fourth St.

Useful and Fancy Articles, Homemade Candy.

Come and buy your Christmas presents.
2t d 4-8

GREATEST CHRISTMAS BARGAINS YET!

We are not exaggerating when we say we are now showing the largest and most attractive assortment of Christmas Goods this town has ever seen, and at Lower Prices. We can save you money and sell you first-class goods, too. Come right to EDSALL'S first. You will save time. We can mention only a few sample bargains.

1 lot hard wood children's desks, drop lid, 18-in wide, 24-in high, only 98c., worth $1.25.
1 lot slate top children's desks, 18-in wide, 24-in high, 49c.
1 lot hard wood children's rockers only 53c.
1 lot easel blackboards, 18x20-in, only 29c.
1 lot dolls' wire bedsteads and mattress only 21c.
1 lot children's upholstered swings only 47c.
1 lot children's A, B, C blackboards 17c.
1 lot lead soldiers, large size, 16c.
1 lot spring runner boy's sleds 49c.
1 lot mechanical toys, carpenter, machinist, etc., only 39c.
1 lot soldiers', firemen and sailors' uniforms only 35c.
1 lot buckboards $2.98.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS.

It is just impossible to give you an idea of the great values we can offer you in this line.

Our own importations of Bisque Figures, Bric-a-brac and French China, embracing the handsomest line of Cups and Saucers, Plates, Chocolate Pitchers, Fern Bowls, Trays, and novel pieces ever shown in this section, and the prices are fully 25 per cent lower than ever before.

On our first or main floor

you will find about everything you can think of in the Dry and Fancy Goods line, and every article has been purchased at the lowest price that money and skill in buying can produce.

Then our plan of selling double the amount at one-half the usual profit makes our prices lower than the lowest.

In a word

just save yourself time, trouble and expense and come for your Holiday Goods direct to

EDSALL'S.

Call at

J. F. MACDONALD'S

The Uptown Grocery.

And be convinced that it is our aim to supply the people with the best goods at the lowest prices and that we now have a full line of all the new goods necessary to make your order complete.

Musc Raisins,	3 lbs. for 25cts.	Figs,	10 cts. per lb.
Table "	5 " " 50 "	English Walnuts,	15 " " "
Currants,	3 " " 25 "	Paper Shell Almonds,	25 " " "
Cal. Prunes,	2 " " 25 "	Pecans,	18 " " "
" Apricots,	2 " " 25 "	Filberts,	15 " " "

A choice lot of apples by the barrel at an equally low price.

Fast Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in —

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock
Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Special—We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.

CRANE & CLARK,

Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

Last Edition.

THE DAILY PRESS

Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

FROM O'ER BONNIE LEE

DR. JOHN WATSON LECTURES BEFORE A CULTURED AUDIENCE.

Talks of the Characteristics of the Scottish Race and How They Differ From the People of Other Nations.

Perhaps no one man in the United States is at present exciting more interest than the genial Scottish clergyman, John Maclaren Watson, better-known as Ian Maclaren, who wrote the story which in the past year has touched so many thousands of hearts, —"Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Mr. Watson is pastor of the Sefton Park Presbyterian Church, Liverpool, and is a pure Scot, though he was born in England. His lecture tour through the United States has attracted large audiences everywhere, and the lecture he gave in this city last night was no exception. Despite the unpleasant weather, Music Hall has seldom been so-thronged, and with such a cultured and appreciative audience.

The stage presented a charming appearance, draped with flags, and decorated with a row of plants, chiefly ferns, just within the foot-lights, while rugs, easy chairs, a table and a piano lamp gave a homelike look. Seated on the stage were the following:

Lemuel W. Serrell, Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., Rev. T. Logan Murphy, Rev. Floyd Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roome, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Runyon, Winfield S. Angleman, Thomas Van Boskerck, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wood, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dryden, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Kimball, president of the Board of Managers of the Children's Home, Mrs. E. P. Williams, Miss Florence Williams, Mrs. C. W. McCutchen, Miss Ella Serrell, Miss Cock, the Misses VanBoskerck, and the members of the Rasores Club of which Mrs. Kimball is president.

The committee that had charge of the decorating of the stage consisted of Mrs. John T. Titsworth, Mrs. E. P. Williams, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, and Miss Ella Serrell. The ushers were as follows:—J. Everett Kimball, George Griffin, Harry Patten, Van Renssalaer Schuyler, Louis Neuman, Gifford Cooley, Alfred E. Holmes, John W. Brower, Edward Petrie and William Coriell.

Mr. Watson was introduced by Mayor Alexander Gilbert, who, while complimenting his distinguished guest, also called the attenion of the audience to the fact that the proceeds of the lecture were to go to a most deserving object, the Children's Home, which is just now seriously in need of assistance, as the number of inmates is quite large, and the amount in the treasury very small.

Warm applause greeted Mr. Watson whose every word was listened to with closest attention throughout the evening, and looks of eager interest and smiles of appreciation of the speaker's Scotch wit were seen on every side. His was on "Certain Traits of Scottish Character," and was exceedingly bright and entertaining, though its greatest charm was necessarily the personality of the man who made his hearers forget time and place in listening while he drew for them a picture of the Scottish character which they will not soon forget.

You will think me a courageous man, he said, when I name as the first trait of the Scottish character a sense of humor. It is not a characteristic usually accorded to the Scot. But you must remember that different nations take their humor in different ways. When a jest approaches the southern mind it receives it at once and holds carnival over it. When the jest comes to the Scot, if after careful investigation he finds it worthy, no man could give it a more thorough appreciation. According to our outward seriousness is the intenseness of our inward appreciation. Can anyone suppose that two nations of men reared as differently as the French and the Scotch could have the same kind of humor? It may be freely granted that no nation, unless perhaps your own, of which I say nothing, can equal the French in the fine flower of humor. An intellect so practical as the Scot's is incapable of drollery. In fun, the English excel all other nations, always excepting your own people. There is nothing intellectual in fun. It makes life go pleasantly, in the home, in politics, and I sometimes think a little fun would make things go more pleasantly in the church.

There is another kind of humor, however, which is more intellectual, but not so much adapted to making life pleasant—irony. If we look for this kind of humor, there is nothing like Scotch humor; it is so dry, so gritty. If we cannot offer you all kinds of humor, we can at least give you the strongest kind, irony.

The next trait I want to mention is

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5.

GOLFING NEWS.

Course to be Kept Open But Regular Playing Discontinued

Owing to the likelihood of of inclement weather it has been decided to discontinue the Saturday afternoon teas that have been such a feature at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club during the autumn months. The golf committee will keep the course open as long as the weather will permit, although temporary greens will in all probability be made necessary by the continued frosts.

The large number of applicants for membership since the limit of 150 was was reached some time ago has caused some discussion as to the possibility of increasing the membership but the trustees have decided not to raise the limit until the coming spring at any rate and it is stated on the best authority that the increase, when it comes, will be made a small as possible and will not in all probability exceed 25. Those whose applications have been already posted will be of course the first to reap the benefit of any increase in the membership limit.

It is hoped that it will be possible to keep the course open until January 1, as it was last year but after that date the house will be closed and the fixtures of the course removed but this will not prevent those who wish to practice in fine weather from playing around the course.

G. A. R. OFFICERS ELECTED.

I. L. McVoy to Command Winfield Scott Post for a Year.

The all-important business transacted at the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., last evening, was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Commander, I. L. McVoy; Senior Vice-Commander, C. B. Stephens; Junior Vice-Commander, Wm. Hand; Quartermaster, Andrew Cox; Surgeon, Wm. R. Moore; Chaplain, John A. Goodwin; Officer of the Day, Wm. C. Smith; Officer of the Guard, S. C. Terry; Council of Administration, W. W. Coriell, E.C. Morse, M.C. Dobbins, Wm. C. Smith; Delegates to Department Encampment, E. C. Morse, Albert Perry; Alternates, Andrew Cox, J. W. Van Horn.

The Post will be inspected at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, Dec. 22d, at which time the department officers will be present.

A Festive Occasion.

The home of Clarence Bond, corner of Front street and Norwood avenue, was the scene last evening of a festive occasion when he celebrated the anniversary of his birthday. There were guests present from Newark, Orange, Elizabeth and Plainfield. The forepart of the evening was passed in a social manner, after which the young people present formed themselves into a whist party. Refreshments were served in abundance and all present will long remember the event with a great deal of pleasure.

Entering Womanhood.

Miss Try. Mattox, of 455 Webster place, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of her birthday, yesterday, in a pleasing manner. Last evening about twenty intimate friends called at her home and gave her a delightful surprise. Games were played, vocal and instrumental music was rendered and the balance of the evening was passed in dancing. The young hostess received many valuable presents from her friends. A bountiful collation was served after which the guests left for their several homes.

The Dog Got in the Way.

Frank Davey, an employe of Schwed Brothers, met with a lively experience last evening about 6 o'clock. He was riding his wheel on Somerset street near Craig place, and in turning out for a passing wagon he ran with much force into a small dog. Davey's wheel was considerably damaged and he was thrown fully fifteen feet. The dog was injured, but as the canine got away so quick, no one knows or cares how much. The rider fortunately escaped without the slightest injury.

Independent Gun Club Disbands.

After an existance of about one year the Independent Gun Club of Dunellen has disbanded, and has sold its club house to Stanley Day, of New Market, who intends to use it for a lunch house and place for the skaters to go in and take a rest while skating. Some of the members have joined the Dunellen Gun Club which is an up to date club and is in a flourishing condition. It numbers about thirty members.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 EastFront st.

FINANCE BEFORE TARIFF

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER'S VIEWS ON LEGISLATION IN CONGRESS.

He is in Favor of Passing an Unequivocal Gold Standard Law and Equalizing Rates of Interests—Other Suggestions.

"Nothing should be done in the way of tariff legislation this session," said Congressman Fowler, of this State, yesterday to a Newark News correspondent. He added: "The passage of the Dingley bill would prove an almost irretrievable mistake. While more revenue must be provided at the earliest possible moment, the burning question before the American people is the readjustment of our finances and the recomposition of our currency.

"The battle ground of the Presidential campaign was finance, and not tariff. Ten thousand words were printed ;10,000 spoken upon the money question to a syllable printed or uttered on the tariff. Mr. McKinley should be just as wise, courageous and patriotic in his message to Congress when he calls it together, which he will certainly do, as he was in his letter of acceptance. In that letter he led a gallant fight, and he should not falter now, but appealing to the patriotism of the Republicans and of the Democrats through whose assistance the victory was won, he should urge the immediate passage of a financial measure unequivocally establishing the gold standard, retiring the demand obligations of the Goverment and securing to every section of this country equal banking facilities and an equalization of the rates of interest. The commerce and trade of the country demand this, and unless the Republican party anticipates the public will, it can not hope to retain political power.

"Such a financial measure passed, for obvious reasons a tariff bill could be passed without difficulty or delay, and should be passed before this whole country is inundated with the products of foreign mills. The tariff bill passed, a permanent tariff commission should be established to correct the inequalities that will almost immediately develop, and also to make suggestions and recommendations from time to time as progress and changes are made through inventions and discoveries.

'In legislation, as well as everything else, we should adjust our methods to our rapidly changing conditions, realizing that the variations in commerce and trade are greater and more far reaching in one year now than they were in five years forty years ago. Therefore, any tariff law, however perfect, which may be passed, may become a montrosity within the next five years. The only way that we can hope to keep pace with the rapidly and ever-changing conditions of this marvelous age is the one suggested, if we hope to enjoy the advantages of a wise and scientific system of taxation coming through evolution rather than suffer intolerably from business convulsions resulting from tariff revolutions every four or five years."

PAINTERS IN COURT.

Marsh, Ayres & Co. Withdraw Their Suit Against E. E. Marshall.

The case of Marsh, Ayres & Co. against E. E. Marshall, in tort, has been settled in Justice Nash's court by the returning of the property in question. It seems that some time ago, Dory Vroom borrowed a pair of painters' hooks from Marshall and through some accident the were lost. At last Marshall wanted to use the hooks and Vroom borrowed a pair from Marsh, Ayres & Co. for the occasion. Marshall kept them for several months and refused to return them until Vroom should replace his which had been lost. The suit followed and yesterday the hooks were returned and the suit stopped.

For Reference.

Books in the Public Library on the planets, University Extension Lectures: Champlin's Young Folk's Astronomy; Clerke's History of Astronomy; Henschel's Astronomy; Ball's Story of the Heavens; Giberne's Sun, Moon and Stars; Newcomb's Popular Astronomy; Flammarion's Wonders of the Heavens; Langlay's New Astronomy; Lockyer's Astronomy; Mitchell's Popular Astronomy; Proctor's Expanse of Heaven; Other Worlds Than Ours; Our Place Among Infinities; Universe of Suns; Serviss's Astronomy With an Opera Glass.

When You Cannot Read

Your evening paper, when you cannot thread your needle without difficulty or annoyance, call on our specialist and he will tell you without charge whether glasses will correct the trouble. Leech, Stiles & Co., 107 East Front street, every Thursday. Hours, 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

CHARGE OF CORRUPTION

ALLEGED THAT MONEY WAS PAID FOR VOTES IN THE CITY ELECTION.

A Prominent Republican Leader Involved in the Charges—The Attention of the Grand Jury Will be Called to the Cases.

Though the Republican candidates won in the recent municipal election against a ticket headed by James E. Martine, the "farmer orator," the Democrats do not take their defeat with silence, says a dispatch to the New York Journal today. Now there is loud proclamations that there was an immense amount of fraud in the purchasing of votes by the G. O. P. workers, and efforts are being made to gather evidence of such wrongs to be presented to the next session of the Grand Jury of Union County for the indictment of the perpetrators.

There are two cases which have come prominently to the surface and in all probability will be used in the endeavor to have the indictments secured. The first is that of a colored man, who went before a Justice a few days ago and stated that he had been approached on election day by a Republican worker, who had openly offered him $2 to vote the Republican ticket. He wanted the Justice to gather the evidence necessary for the arrest of the man whom he alleged had attempted to corrupt his suffrage.

The other case is still more flagrant, and comes from the Fourth Ward. During the afternoon of election day a prominent Republican leader approached a Democrat and asked him if he had voted. Though the man had already cast his vote, he replied in the negative and asked the worker how much there was in it.

"I'll give you as much as any other man," was the reply, followed, it is alleged, by the Republican rolling a $2 bill in a Republican ticket and telling the Democrat to go and vote 'that.'"

The Democrat went to the Second District polling place and asked the Democratic inspector if he had voted. The inspector replied in the affirmative, at which the man handed the ticket to inspector and asked him to look at it. He unrolled it and the $2 bill dropped out. The incident caused considerable excitement around the polling place, and the man who had been approached told the inspector to keep the ticket and money for future evidence, at the same time mentioning the Republican's name who had given him the ticket and money. The ticket and money are still held by the inspector, and will doubtless be used to secure the indictment of the Republican.

There are other cases where it is alleged that money was used illegitimately, and a lively time is expected as the outcome.

Old Partners Reunited.

The many friends of the old piano firm of Vanderbeek & Sattels will be pleased to learn that they have again united in business at the old stand. Mr. Vanderbeek was obliged, owing to serious illness, to retire from business, but as he has regained his health, he decided to enter business again, and he purchased one-half interest from Joseph Sattels in the old-established piano business.

A Parlor Meeting.

There will be a parlor meeting held in the parlor of Vincent chapel tomorrow at 3 p. m. for the foreign and home missionary societies of the Methodist church. Miss Ketring, of New York, will represent the foreign and Miss Mathews, of New York, the home. An invitation is extended to Grace M. E. church and to all interested in missionary work.

To Lecture on Ben Hur.

H. Theo. Chamberlain, of Jersey City, will give an illustrated lecture in the Y. M. C. A. building Tuesday evening, January 5th, under the auspices of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F. The subject will be "Ben Hur," and the proceeds will go to the benefit of the Ridgely Home for Orphans of Odd Fellows of New Jersey.

Successful Evangelists.

Rev. Arthur Crane and son, Arthur, of Carlton avenue, have returned home from Freehold, Monmouth county, where they have been conducting revival services. There were 150 convertions, 50 of which were made at one service. They go Thursday to Asonia, Conn., to conduct services there.

—The second of the services in the week of prayer at the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held this evening. The meeting will be led by Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the church, and the topic will be "The Gospel Plan of Salvation."

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

A FOOD TALK.

Interested Housewives Hear a Practical Sort of a Lecture.

That the intelligent housekeepers of Plainfield appreciate a good thing was fully established yesterday afternoon, when a very large number of them completely filled the Y. M. C. A. Hall to hear E. B. Worrell give a lecture on the entire range of food. Mr. Worrell represents the Walter Baker & Company, manufacturers of cocoa and chocolate, which are known the world over. The platform was arranged attractively with an exhibit of raw food products, while on either side was placed enlarged pictures of the ever-familiar trade-mark of the company. Mr. Worrell is a highly cultured person and thoroughly understands the subjects he discusses.

He treated the subject of food products, as a body-builder, in a clear and intelligent manner, and showed the different percentage of foods which go to make up a healthful body. He then discussed the subject of food adulteration, as being cheap and injurious.

At the close of the lecture, Mr. Worrell's assistants presented each woman with a sample box of the Walter Baker & Company's goods. Many of the women remained and talked personally with Mr. Worrell and they found that he was affable and painstaking in answering their questions.

JUSTICES WERE ABSENT.

Middlesex County Grand Jury Retired Without Being Charged.

The December term of the Middlesex County Courts began yesterday morning. Chief Justice Beasley, who presides over the Middlesex Circuit, could not be present, and had arranged with Circuit Judge Miller, appointed to relieve the pressure on Supreme Court justices, to preside in his stead. Justice Miller, however, failed to arrive, and a telephone message to the Chief Justice elicited no reason why he was absent. Judge Woodbridge Strong, of the Middlesex County Courts, at 11 o'clock had the Grand Jury sworn, and they retired without being charged. It is Sheriff Litterst's first Grand Jury, and ex-Assembyman George H. Tice, of Perth Amboy, is its foreman. The civil cases were called and dates fixed, with the understanding that the preemptory call will take place to-day when Judge Miller will be present. The assault case of Charles Wood against Frank Vosseler, both of this city, is being considered by the Grand Jury to-day.

A SERIOUS DELAY.

The Proposed New Road to Bound Brook Dragged Into Court.

A temporary stop has been put to the proceedings for the building of the new road from Dunellen to Bound Brook. A caveat has been served and it will be necessary to wait until the next term of court in April to have the proceedings reviewed. The caveat was secured by M. H. Close, who resides on the present road between the two places. Although he owns no property along the line of the proposed thoroughfare it is understood that his opposition is caused by his fear that the new road would take away all the traffic from the present road.

Everybody is Welcome.

The idea having gone forth that the prayer meetings of the Young People's society now being held nightly in Trinity Reformed church are for young people only, The Press is requested to give an invitation to everybody to attend, young or old, saint or sinner. The meeting last night was led by E. E. Anthony, and was spiritually helpful to those who were present. Tonight the leader will be Daniel VanWinckle, and you are invited to be present.

The Runaways Sent to Elizabeth.

The two young runaways, Lewis Milligan and Charles Wilson, were taken to the county jail at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. Owing to the large crowd of curious spectators about the North Avenue station, the boys were taken to the Netherwood station, from where they took the train for Elizabeth. They seemed to have recovered from the downheartedness and bid their friends goodbye in a very cheerful manner.

Claims Unlawful Ejectment.

Justice Newcorn has issued a summons in the case of Mrs. Kelly against Mrs. Tobin et als, which is returnable December 15th. This is the suit which was started by the plaintiff's husband, Edwin Kelly, who died recently at the hospital. The action is brought to recover $200 damages, which are claimed for unlawfully ejecting both her and her husband from the house they occupied on West Fourth street.

—Three more students from Dunellen have just entered Plainfield Business College.

FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

IMPORTANT MATTERS DISCUSSED BY SUPERINTENDENT BAXTER.

The Secondary Schools Largely in Need of Improvement in New Jersey—A Clear Exposition of What is Required.

In the annual report of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Baxter, of this city, one of the most interesting portions is that relating to the establishment and improvement of secondary schools. He strongly recommends legislation which will lead to the development of them. In speaking of secondary schools, Superintendent Baxter says:

"This important subject was ably discussed by my predecessor in his annual report one year ago. But it is one of such vital importance to the State that it seems an unpardonable omission of duty to do otherwise than continue its agitation. It should be kept in the public mind until legislation tending to the encouragement of such schools is secured.

"Anyone interested in educational affairs cannot have failed to observe that in every town or village where a high school has been established, it has resulted in the betterment of the entire school system. In employing a competent head for such school they also secured supervision that systematized and improved all the lower grades.

"In many places the tenure of office of incompetent and inefficient teachers has long been extended because there was no one qualified to correctly judge of the merits of their work; and the employment of a proper educational head has resulted in a long-needed weeding out and general awakening.

"The argument that the State has enough to do to take care of her common elementary schools, these cost all the people are either able or willing to pay for, is altogether specious and misleading. Granting that the taxpayer is already burdened, then it behooves us to give him good value. It is in the support of schools either indifferent or poor—common in name and worse than common in quality—that money is wasted. Those intrusted with the oversight of the school affairs of the State, and in a position to direct its educational policy, should not suffer themselves to be influenced by an unwise and mistaken sentiment that is not largely prevalent.

"In the spring of 1635, one hundred and forty-seven years before the Declaration of Independence, the Public Latin School, of Boston, which is still in existence, was founded. In 1647, the General Court of the Massachusetts Colony decreed as follows: 'It is farther ordered that when any town shall set up a grammar school, the master thereof being able to instruct youth so far that they may be fitted for the university.'

"Here in quaint phrase is stated the cause of the generally admitted educational supremacy of that common wealth. The Bay State started right, and she has generally continued in the right line of progress. We find there today the secondary or high school so largely in evidence that it is within reach of all who choose to avail themselves of its advantages. It is to be found in every town or village of any importance, and sometimes at the country crossroads. In portions of that State visited during vacation outings, it has seemed as though every other man was a college graduate, and this condition of exceptional average intelligence is directly traceable to the influence of its secondary schools.

"The tendency of the college is toward the rounding out and elevation of the high school, and that of the high school toward the betterment of all the grades below it; thus, in the educational as in the material world, light comes from above.

"In New York and many of the Western States they have by legislative enactments given aid and encouragement to secondary education, and it is greatly to be regretted that New Jersey has thus far taken no definite action in this matter.

"If we would add 5 per cent to the amount already appropriated for the support of our elementary and grammar schools, and devote this increase to the establishment and support of secondary schools, we would add 100 per cent to the efficiency of the present school system.

"As action in this matter is most important, should be definite and effective and not longer delayed, I beg to recommend that the law governing the taking of the school census be amended so as to include all children between the ages of 4 and 18 years, instead of between 5 and 18 years. That the increased amount raised from this charge in minimum age

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.

AUTONOMY IDLE TALK

Cubans Want Nothing Short of Absolute Independence.

STATEMENT OF DELEGATE PALMA

No Commercial Intercourse Between Cuba and Spain and the Political Abyss To Deep To Be Ever Healed.

New York, Dec. 9.—Senor Tomas Estrada Palma, delegate of the Cuban republic in the United States, has given out a statement regarding the reference by President Cleveland to Cuba in his annual message to congress. Senor Palma in his statement says: "I think that the message, generally speaking, is in a great measure very depressive to Spain as an independent nation. The message acknowledges the grievances which have led to the present revolt of the Cubans against the authority of Spain. It supports the Cubans in their distrust of any promise whatsoever that the Spanish government can make to them and pledges the guaranty of the United States as a security for any agreement which Spain may enter upon with Cuba. President Cleveland finally declares, without hesitation, that the patience of the United States in waiting for Spain to end the contest has a limit; that the obligations to the sovereignty of Spain will be superceded by higher obligations, and that considerations of humanity and a desire to see a rich and fertile country, intimately related to the United States, saved from complete devastation, will subserve the interests thus involved and at the same time promise to Cuba and its inhabitants an opportunity to enjoy the blessings of peace.

Cuban Party Government.

"As to the inference contained in the message that the Cuban government has now given up all attempt to exercise its functions, I shall only mention the fact to prove the contrary, that immediately after the capture of Guaimaro by Gen. Calixto Garcia, President Cisneros and his cabinet proceeded to the town and there issued and enforced various decrees, some of which related to the treatment of prisoners, and to further military operations. At the time Gen. Gomez, commander-in-chief of the army, was only eight miles from Guimaro, receiving orders from the goverenment and making ready to comply with them. This fact proves, beyond any doubt, that the civil government of the republic of Cuba commands the respect and obedience of the military authorities even, as in this case, superseding a victorious general in the very moment of his triumph.

Against Autonomy.

"It remains for me to say some words about autonomy. Autonomy would mean that the Cuban people will make their own laws, appoint all of their public officers, except the governor general, and attend to the local affairs with entire independence, without, of course, interference by the metropolis. What then would be left to Spain, since between her and Cuba there is no commercial intercourse of any kind? Spain is not, and cannot be a market for Cuban products and is moreover unable to provide Cuba with the articles in need by the latter. The natural market for the Cuban products is the United States, from which in exchange Cuba buys with great advantage flour, provisions, machinery, etc. What then, I repeat, is left to Spain but the big debt incurred by her, without the consent and against the will of the Cuban people? We perfectly understand the autonomy of Canada as a colony of Great Britain. The two countries are already connected with each other by the most powerful ties—the natural intercourse of a reciprocal commerce, which is the only thing apt to create and strengthen the friendly relations, good will and respect among the people of the world.

Demand Absolute Independence.

"On the other hand, it is an idle talking to speak of autonomy to the Cuban people. They have framed a constitution for a sovereign nation, they have bravely fought for about two years to maintain their independence, shed their blood in torrents, lost their dearest relatives and friends and forfeited their possessions to that just and noble end. In the meantime the hatred of the Cubans which the Spanish officers and the Spanish government have entertained as evinced by the shooting in cold blood of prisoners of war, in defiance to the laws of civilization and humanity, by the massacres of defenseless people, including women and children, by the overcrowding with suspects of the jails and dungeons and the deportation of thousands of them to the murderous penal colonies of Africa—all this, a policy of terror, approved by the Queen Regent, has deepened to such an extent the political abyss rent between Cuba and Spain, that it is absolutely impossible to fill it up with any sort of scheme which does not affirm the absolute independence of the Cuban people. Cuba has decided to get rid forever of the Spanish rule, and her people count neither their enemies nor the many patroits who daily succumb in the struggle. They go on, confident in the justice of their cause, the firmness of their resolution and the protection of God. They realize, of course, that they are in the very center of the free America, left alone to themselves, without a hand outstretched to them, but far from being discouraged, they feel convinced of their ultime success."

Military Prisoners Killed.

London, Dec. 9.—A dispatch from Manila states that a number of political prisoners at Cavite while attempting to escape recently were pursued by troops who killed sixty of the fleeing men in the streets of the city.

FATHER CONATY'S ELEVATION.

The New Rector of the Catholic University a Guest of Cardinal Gibbons.

Baltimore, Dec. 9.—Cardinal Gibbons is in receipt of an official letter from the pope informing his eminence that his holiness had appointed Rev. Thomas J Conaty, D. D., of Worcester, Mass., rector of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C., to succeed Rt. Rev. Bishop Keane. Father Conaty has arrived here and is now the cardinal's guest at the archiepiscopal residence. It has not been decided just when Father Conaty will assume his position, but the date will be arranged at a conference to be held at the cardinal's residence this afternoon. It may be said that the newly appointed rector of the university will be installed before the end of the year, probably between Christmas and the new year. The letter from the pope to Cardinal Gibbons was as follows: "It is with pleasure that we have received the letter which you sent us from the meeting held in Washington to designate another president of the university, evincing as it does your eager desire to provide for the welfare of the great seat of learning. Yielding to your request we have considered the names of three candidates whom we have proposed as worthy to discharge the office of rector. Of these we have deemed fit to choose, and, by our authority, we do hereby approve the first on the list, namely, Thomas J. Conaty, heretofore parish priest in Worcester and president of the summer school. Both the learning and the zeal for the advancement of religion which characterize this distinguished man, whom you by your joint suffrages recommend, inspire us with the well-grounded hope that his efforts will not be without abundant fruits in watching over the interests of the university as well as in enhancing its lustre. How dear to our heart is this matter cannot but be well known to you, for you are aware how untiring was our solicitude in founding this institution, that we might deservedly reckon it among those works which, in the interest of religion and science, we have out of our loving affection undertaken for the furtherance of the glory of your country, and which we have, with God's help, been able to bring to a happy issue. Meanwhile, as an earnest of heavenly grace and as an evidence of our spiritual good will we most lovingly in the Lord impart to you, our beloved son, to the new president of the university and to all its faculty, the apostolic benediction." Together with the pope's letter Cardinal Gibbons received from Cardinal Rampolla a letter giving expression to sentiments of great esteem and affection which his holiness entertains for Bishop Keane, and severely condemning as misrepresentations and calumnies the rumors spread by evil-minded persons that the former rector had incurred the displeasure of the holy see, and that some of the professors of the university were to be removed. The same letter, moreover, expresses the desire of the holy father that Bishop Keane should come to Rome, where he would be received and treated with honor. Cardinal Rampolla's letter was written before it was known that Bishop Keane had decided to go to Rome.

SPANISH BARBARITY.

Affecting Story Brought Out by the Arrival of Six Children from Cuba.

New York, Dec. 9.—Six children of the name of Velvas have arrived from Havana by the steamer Orizaba. They were sent here by the Cuban insurgents. Three are boys and three are girls. Their ages range from two years to ten years. They were met by an aged Brooklyn couple who are relatives of the children. The father of the children, a planter residing near Nuentas, Cuba, was arrested on November 17 as a spy and after a short trial was condemned to death. The Spanish officers agreed to permit Mrs. Velvas to witness the execution. While she was on her way to the military camp the Spanish soldiers hurried him off. When she arrived at the scene of the execution and saw the lifeless body of her husband she swooned. The Spanish soldiers let her lie where she fell for several hours before they removed her shrieking to a nearby tent. She died shortly after. The insurgents heard the story, sought out the children and sent them here

No Turkish Insult to Our Flag.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The Turkish legation has authorized the following statement: "The reports published recently in some of the American papers, to wit, that the American flag has been torn down and trampled upon in Haskeny and in another Armenian village, are entirely without foundation. The Turkish legation is authorized to contradict categorically all such statements and reports as false and perfideous."

Verdict of Premeditated Murder.

Buffalo, Dec. 9.—The coroner's jury has found a verdict of premeditated murder against Edward Jones, colored, who shot and killed Charles Carrington on Thursday night last. The prisoner's wife testified that he was jealous of her and had threatened if she did not cease visiting Carrington there would be "trouble."

The Ice Gorge at Keshena.

Shawano, Wis., Dec. 9.—The ice gorge at Keshena shows no signs of breaking and the high water maintains its level. Evidently the river has formed a channel beneath the ice bridge and if the weather continues moderate there will be no danger of destructive floods.

Runaway Apprentices Sentenced.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 9.—Ten days' confinement in the "brig" with bread and water for fare is the sentence imposed upon each of the naval apprentices who participated in Saturday's runaway escapade.

INCIDENT ON THE ALLEY "L."

Truculent Negro Passengers Subdued by a Friend of the Conductor.

On the alley "L" road one evening a trio of negroes boarded a southbound train and proceeded in a way to capture the car they were in. They stood in the aisle and obstructed the progress of people coming and going out at the different stations and were inclined to be disputatious and quarrelsome with anybody who ventured to criticise their conduct. One of them in particular, the largest of the three, was especially pugnacious, and finally when the conductor ordered them to take their seats the big fellow threatened all sorts of destruction to the official, and defied him openly to lay hands on him, says the Chicago Chronicle.

The conductor passed to the next car and enlisted the services of an acquaintance of his, a "bouncer" at one of the smaller theaters. This worthy weighed about 240 pounds and was a giant in strength and size. He walked into the car where the darkies stood, grabbed the big one, who was at least half a foot shorter than the bouncer, and dragged him to the door.

As the car was just then slacking up at a station the bouncer threw the colored man clear over the gate and on to the platform without waiting for the guard to open the gate. The darky sprawled all over the platform and his two companions slunk to seats as the bouncer looked back into the car. The train went on, the two remaining "terrors" keeping very still.

After several stations had been passed one of them spoke in subdued tones to the other. All he said was: "Dat sholy was a strong man."

SUICIDE IN A DREAM.

Thought He Was Cutting His Throat—Awoke and Found That He Really Was.

Do you dream when you sleep?

If you do there is no absolute certainty that you will not awake some night to find yourself committing suicide.

The thing has been done. The recent records of the North London police court have chronicle of a case which probably cannot be duplicated in any police court record in the world.

There is a man named William Illman, 25 years old, a packing-case maker, "of Florence road, Hornsey." William had been drinking and went home to sleep off the effects of his potations. In the middle of the night his father was awakened by a cry:

"Father! Father!" The old man rushed into his son's room and found William diligently cutting his throat with a razor.

In court young Illman offered an explanation which was interesting. "I did not intend to commit suicide at all," he said. "I had been drinking very freely, and I suppose it excited my nerves.

"In the midst of my sleep I dreamed that I was cutting my throat. It seemed to me that I was very tough and did not cut easily. I kept sawing away, however, and by and by I awoke to find that, in fact, I was killing myself as rapidly as possible. A man is not responsible for what he does in his sleep. I had no more intention of taking my own life than your honor has, and when I awoke and discovered that I was doing it I called my father to come and stop me."

The judge said that Illman was the most remarkable man who had ever come before him, and gave him some salutary advice on the evils of the drink habit.—N. Y. Journal.

Health

Depends upon keeping the blood in a pure condition, free from disease germs, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses, vitalizes and enriches the blood, throwing out the impurities that clog and irritate the system and permits no lodgment of the seeds of disease. Read the following:

"I cannot recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla too highly for it has done wonders for me. I was Sick

and all run down and my health was so poor I could not get out of doors. I was not able to do anything, being troubled with asthma and heart disease. I was nervous and could not sleep nights. I had become completely discouraged when I happened to read an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to give it a trial. After taking the first bottle I felt better and since taking five bottles I am so much improved that I feel like a new man. I am now able to do a fair day's work and sleep at night. My heart does not trouble me and I have realized great relief for asthma. I feel full of courage once more and life seems brighter and worth living. I would recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all afflicted as I have been, for I know it will help them. If this statement of facts will be of benefit, you are welcome to use it as you please." HENRY J. WRIGHT, Box 502, Oxford, New York.

Well

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

do you eat iron

Some persons are always taking iron. If weak and easily exhausted; pale and without appetite; if the nervous system is weak, and sleep difficult, what do you take? Iron? But iron cannot supply food to the tissues; nor does it have any power to change the activity of unhealthy organs and bring them back to health. Cod-liver oil is what you need. The oil feeds the poorly-nourished tissues, and makes rich blood. Iodine, bromine, and other ingredients, which form part of the oil, have special power to alter unhealthy action.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is the most palatable way to take cod-liver oil. The hypophosphites supply healthy nerve action, which controls all the processes of life.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby. All druggists.

JUST AS GOOD IS NOT SCOTT'S EMULSION.

J. C. Pope & Co.,

INSURANCE AGENTS,

110 East Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW

Meat Market.

George Egel, Manager.

Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 13 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.

To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days

To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.

To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days

Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J

FOR SALE!

Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired, inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable!

C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor

No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold or hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 11 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,

Park Avenue Florist,

Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,

Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in

Cigars, Tobacco, etc.

"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!

Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. PICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

Edwin B. Maynard,

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield Ladies' shampooing and children's cutting a specialty.

WINTER STYLES

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.

Just Received from manufacturers

FORCE, 129 Park Avenue. 29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.

Best Dairy Butter 18c.

V. L. FRAZEE

151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S

VARIETY MARKET.

Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS

If you want a deep, clear, rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S. Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables

will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,

144 PARK AVENUE.

A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett

has removed to

148 EAST FIFTH STREET.

Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,

FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.

Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.

R. H. McCullough, Prop.

Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

Residence, 33 Linden Ave.

Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf

Telephone 29b. Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.

Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.

ACCIDENT TICKETS.

THE INTER-STATE

Casualty Company of New York gives SIX MONTHS' insurance

$1.000 for $1.00,

to men or women

between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Department of the State of New York for the security of the insured.

For sale at office of

Honeyman's Private Tours,

181 North Ave. Plainfield, N. J.

6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,

PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,

Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.

Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 3 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE

PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.

Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.

The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity, Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.

GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,

120 NORTH AVENUE.

Wholesale and Retail

Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE

Sewer Connections.

DAVID BOWDEN,

General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.

28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 19 tf

C. W. LINES,

Mason and Builder

Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 18 Elm place. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.

All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO. COAL. 747 WEST FRONT ST.

Branch office with

G. A. HALLOCK,

109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS

of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.

M. C. DOBBINS, 206 Park Avenue, Plainfield.

8 15 tf

H. Eggerding,

121 Park ave., Manufacturer of the Celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR.

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Clea. Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,

187 North Avenue.

Practical Plumber.

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.

Telephone Call 128a

L. L. Manning & Son,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.

STAGES

For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,

Sanitary Plumbing,

Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Contractor for sewer connections.

210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,

EXCAVATORS.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,

RETAIL DEALER IN

Fish, Oysters, and Clams.

Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,

Dealer in

Coal & Wood.

Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.

Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S EXPRESS.

Furniture and Freight

Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract!

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—20 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this. The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical, stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe?

DOANE & EDSALL.

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and oack, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES, and FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER.

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & o,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has this Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulte s, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

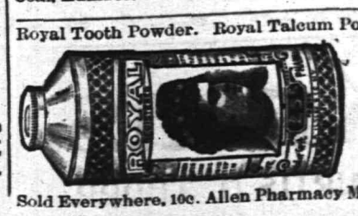
YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—91 Watchung ave.

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.



Sold Everywhere, 10c. Allen Pharmacy M'g Co.

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash	- -	$ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100 PIERCE SPECIAL Bicycles*		2,000.00
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches	-	1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month	- -	$3,400.00
		12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897,		$40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Competitors to save as many SUNLIGHT SOAP Wrappers as they can collect. Cut off the top portion of each wrapper, that portion containing the heading "SUNLIGHT SOAP." These (called "Coupons") are to be sent, postage fully paid, enclosed with a sheet of paper stating Competitor's full name and address and the number of Coupons sent in, to Lever Bros., Ltd., New York, marked on outside Wrapper (top left hand corner) with NUMBER of the DISTRICT Competitor lives in.

No. of District	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands, New Jersey.
2	New York State (outside of N. Y. City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands).
3	Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and District of Columbia.
4	The New England States.

*The Bicycles are the celebrated Pierce Special, 1897 Pattern, m'f'd by Geo. N. Pierce & Co., of Buffalo, Boston and New York. Fitted with Hartford Tires, First Class Nickle Lamp, New Departure Bell, Standard Cyclometer, and Hunt Lace Saddle.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897 in each of the 4 districts prizes will be awarded as follows:

The 1 Competitor who sends in the Largest Number of coupons from the district in which he or she resides will receive $100 Cash.

The 5 Competitors who send in the Next Largest Numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside will Each receive at winner's option a lady's or gentleman's Pierce Special bicycle, price $100.00.

The 10 Competitors who send in the Next Largest Numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside will Each receive at winner's option a lady's or gentleman's Gold Watch, price $25.

2. The Competitions will Close the Last Day of Each Month during 1897. Coupons received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Lever Brothers, Ltd., and their families, are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of Winners in Competitor's district will be forwarded to Competitors in about 21 days after each competition closes.

5. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

MULLINS & SONS

218-220 Market St., Newark.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS

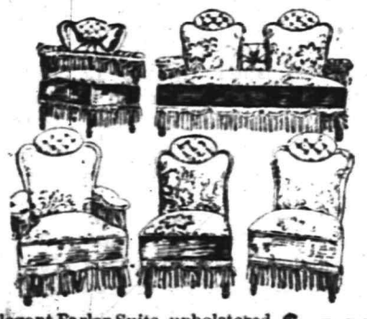
We Can Sell You Better Goods and at Lower Prices than Anywhere Else. Look What We Offer This Week.

This Cylinder Stove (like cut) $5.75.
All styles and sizes at the lowest prices. Also full line of ranges.

Saddle Seat and Cobbler Rockers, in oak, birch or cherry, some with plush seats, exactly like cut, at $2.50

BANQUET LAMPS.

Banquet Lamps, Silk Shade, all colors, $2.50!



Elegant Parlor Suits, upholstered brocatelle, silk tapestry or plush $25.00

Handsome New Mahogany Frame Parlor Suits, upholstered in trocatelle, silk tapestry or plush special this week at..... $20.00

BRASS TABLES—100 more of BRASS and ONYX TABLES, all new designs the regular $6 tables, at..... $4.25

CHIFFONNIERES—NEW ANTIQUE OAK CHIFFONNIERES, 5 drawers, nicely finished. This week, to close them out at once, the entire lot at.. $4.50

CARPET BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK.

Best Quality Moquette	95c. per yard
Tapestry Brussels	50c. per yard
Ingrain	35c. per yard

Easy terms of credit to everybody. We will furnish your home for $1 per week.

MULLINS & SONS.

218-220 Market St., Newark.

Branch Stores 78-84 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 121-125 Newark Ave., Jersey City, N. J. 136-138 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH.

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

Telephone, Brooklyn, 366.

COMINS & EVANS

Acorn Brand Asphalt Roofing.

Gravel and Metal Roofing, Tile and Brick Roofing, Water-Tight Cellars.

45 WAVERLY AVE, BROOKLYN, N. Y.

New York office, 102 Fulton st., room 413.

FITZ-SHARKEY TROUBLE.

Proceedings in the Suit Over the $10,000 Purse---Earp a Poor Man.

San Francisco, Dec. 9.—Bob Fitzsimmons, his manager, Martin Julian; Dan Lynch, representing Tom Sharkey; Wyatt Earp, who acted as referee in the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fight, and a number of others interested in the legal squabble for the possession of the $10,000 purse money, appeared in Justice Groezinger's court room yesterday afternoon. Referee Earp was the only witness examined, and he was not asked to explain how or when he consented to act as referee. He testified, however, that he did not possess a dollar in the world and that he owned no property save the clothing he wore. This admission created surprise, as the witness was popularly supposed to be a man of means. Cross-examination was reserved until to-morrow. Julian insists that he has abundant testimony to prove the existence of a huge piece of jobbery. Although Sharkey was supposed to have suffered a relapse yesterday, he was nevertheless well enough to change his quarters to the Vallejo last evening. The Fitzsimmons faction positively claim that he moved for the purpose of remaining beyond the jurisdiction of Justice Groezinger's court, but his friends deny this.

INTERNATIONAL CRICKET.

Philadelphia Team Will Be Hospitably Received in England Next Year.

London, Dec. 9.—Representatives from the various county cricket clubs held a meeting yesterday to arrange the schedule of games to be played next season. Mr. Alcock, secretary of the Surrey Cricket club, said that he had been asked to arrange a programme for a series of games with the Philadelphia eleven, the games to be played in June and July next. In making the announcent Mr. Alcock stated that the Philadelphians had always been extremely hospitable to English cricketers who visited their city. According to the schedule arranged the first game of the Philadelphians will be played against the Oxford university eleven, at Oxford on June 7, and the series will close in London on July 29, with a match with the Surrey team. The visit of the Americans will be a source of pleasure to the English players, who are desirous of reciprocating the many courtesies and attention paid them during their visits to the United States.

INAUGURATION PREPARATIONS.

All Parties Represented in the Composition of the Executive Committee.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Chairman C. J. Bell, of the general committee on the inauguration of President-elect McKinley, has announced the following executive committee: A. T. Britton, James G. Berret, Myron M. Parker, Crosby S. Noyes, Judge Long, national committeeman from Florida; Beriah D. Wilkens, Benj. Butterworth, Charles G. Glover, Henry E. Davis, Lawrence Gardner, R. Ross Perry, A. M. Clapp, Charles G. Conn, Stilson Hutchins, John F. Cook and Milton M. Holland. This may yet be further enlarged. Republicans, white and colored, together with silver and gold democrats are all recognized in the compostion os the committee.

Death of Nathan Webb.

New York, Dec. 9.—Nathan Webb, who participated in the war of 1812 and who was a veteran in the civil war, is dead at the home of his daughter in this city. He was 100 years old Dec. 3. Mr. Webb was born in Delaware county, N. Y., and until three years ago lived at Big Flats, N. Y., a small town near Elmira. He was always strong and hearty and up to Sunday was in perfect health. On that day he was seized with a stomach trouble, which resulted in his death. During the war of 1812 he acted as water carrier for the regiment.

Corn Crop of 1896.

New York, Dec. 9.—The 1896 crop of corn, now practically secured, is placed at 2,269,000,000 bushels, according to the December report of the American Agriculturist. There is the greatest disappointment in quality of the product. Complaint of failure to ripen and properly dry out is very general. While the crop is the largest ever grown, the amount of merchantable corn is probably less than was produced last year. The average rate of yield is 27.9 bushels shelled corn from an acre, a total of 81,402,000 acres.

To Examine Armor Plates.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Secretary Herbert has appointed a committee to investigate the quality of the plates furnished for the Kearsarge and Kentucky, now being built at Newport News, Va. Some of the plates furnished, on being worked for fitting to the vessel, did not fulfill requirements and complaint was made. The board will meet at Newport News.

Hamburg Dock Strike.

Hamburg, Dec. 9.—Four thousand six hundred men are working about the docks to-day and ninety vessels are loading or discharging. The number of strikers who are returning to their work is constantly increasing and from present indications the end of the trouble cannot be far off.

Placed on the Retired List.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Lieut.-Col. Jas. F. Randlett, Ninth cavalry, has been placed on the retired list on account of age. He was born in New Hampshire and appointed to the army from the volunteer service in which he served from 1861 to 1865.

Albert Halsted Married.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Albert Halsted, editor of the Springfield, Mass., Union, and son of Murat Halsted, was married in this city last night to Miss Aline Wilcox at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Whittmore, her mother.

WAS MACEO KILLED?

The Report Distresses Insurgent Sympathizers in Havana.

MAY BE A RUSE OF THE REBELS

Royalists Jubilant and Major Cirujeda, Who Is Said To Have Killed the Rebel General, Is the Lion of the Hour.

Havana, Dec. 9.—After a fight near Punta Brava, in which Major Cirujeda's command routed a rebel column in a fight lasting all day, there was found among the dead rebels the body of a well dressed man, on which there were documents which lead to the belief that the dead man was a son of Maximo Gomez. Among the papers found was one which, written with a lead pencil, was a confession that the writer had committed suicide rather than to abandon the body of Antonio Maceo. The war diary of Maceo was also found. In it there is an entry which says that rebels crossed the trocha on December 4. It is concluded from these circumstances that Maceo was killed in the engagement with Major Cirujeda's command. The news of the death has caused the greatest kind of a sensation in Havana. The loyalists are jubilant. The rebel sympathizers feel very despondent over the loss of the rebel leader, though a considerable number of them place little reliance on the truth of the news. Though the Spaniards are confident that Maceo is really dead this time, some of the Cubans profess to believe that the finding of the confession and the diary was due to a trick of the insurgents to delude the Spanish into the belief that Maceo was killed, while he pursues his plan of reaching Gomez. Major Cirujeda is now in the city, and it has been proposed to hold a great demonstration in his honor. In the cafes and all other public places the Spanish residents are congratulating each other on what they believe to be a death blow to the rebellion. There is some ground for the supposition that the report is not true. The officials here declare that while they believe that both Maceo and Gomez's son are dead, they lack positive information and are awaiting a confirmation of the report. This, however, has had no effect upon the popular jubilation, and Major Cirujeda is the hero of the hour. It is also reported that the rebel leader Valencia was killed in a recent engagement.

MACEO'S SIXTH DEATH.

Great Rejoicing in Madrid over the Latest Rumor from Cuba.

Madrid, Dec. 9.—The Havana correspondent of the Imparcial has sent a dispatch to that paper which has caused rejoicing among the people of this city, who take it for granted that the statements made are true. The correspondent claims that he has personally made an investigation of reports current in Havana of the death of Antonio Maceo, second in command of the rebel army, and found them to be true. In official circles the report is accepted with reserve.

It has already been officially announced about six times that Antonio Maceo had been killed, and there have been rumors innumerable to the same effect. Heretofore it has been the custom of the Spanish officials in Havana to announce the death of Maceo whenever he defeated the Spaniards either in strategy or open battle. The report that Maceo has crossed the trocha and is moving eastward to join the forces of Gomez may have prompted the Spanish officials to circulate the statement that he was dead in order to calm the excitement certain to be caused by the knowledge that the Cuban leader had again outwitted Captain General Weyler.

SPANIARDS ENRAGED.

President Cleveland's Message Causes Much Adverse Criticism.

Madrid, Dec. 9.—That part of President Cleveland's message referring to Cuba has caused widespread comment and much adverse criticism throughout Spain. Everwhere an unfavorable impression has been produced by the pretensions of the United States and their threatening attitude towards Spain. The Spanish newspapers publish bitter articles on the subject, in which they attribute the attitude of the United States to self-importance springing from the concessions by Great Britain in the Venezulan matter.

Comment of the Paris Temps.

Paris, Dec. 9.—The Temps, commenting on President Cleveland's message, says that it is worthy of his administration, which has always borne the stamp of honesty. Treating of that part of the message bearing on the Cuban question, the Temps declares that the president's attitude will satisfy neither Spain nor the rebels, and expresses doubt as to the efficacy of the offer to guarantee the autonomy of Cuba. Spain, it says, would never think of agreeing to an arrangement that would make the United States the sovereign power in Cuba, while, on the other hand, the insurgents will not be satisfied unless the island is made independent or annexed to the United States. With reference to Venezuela, the Temps declares that the settlement of the question on the lines proposed by the United States is a triumph for President Cleveland, but that it gives an unexpected extension to the Monroe doctrine.

Praised in Berlin.

Berlin, Dec. 9.—The semi-official Cologne Gazette, in its comments on President Cleveland's message to congress, says that his suggestions in relation to the settlement of the Cuban trouble are perfectly correct, and that there is nothing in them incompatible with the honor of Spain.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE. Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

108 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 9, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair and Cooler Tonight; Probably Fair Thursday; High West Winds on the Coast Today.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 52 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 9--W. C. T. U. Festival of Days in rooms corner of Watchung avenue and Fourth street.
Dec. 9--Sale at All Souls' church, 3 to 10 p. m.
Dec. 9--Musical in the Seventh-day Baptist church.
Dec. 10--Meeting of Parliamentary Club at Y. M. C. A. at 10 a. m.
Dec. 10--New Royal Arcanum Council to be instituted.
Dec. 12--Mary Lowe Dickenson to address King's Daughters in Crescent Avenue church, 4:30 p. m.

GOV. GRIGGS HESITATES.

Gov. Griggs says he has not yet made up his mind about the advisability of sending the New Jersey National Guard to Washington to take part in the inaugural parade. He hesitates over approving it because of the expense it would incur. A conservative estimate of the cost of transportation and rations for two days for the entire division places the figures at $25,000, without pay for the men.

A few days ago the Elizabeth Journal made a great ado about how much greater their sportsmen are than those of Plainfield, and boasted that in all games they were the superiors. We of Plainfield are modest in our claims, but still we think that in several pastimes, notably bowling and whist, we can knock the spots of the Elizabeth crack a jacks.

Now that it really looks as though Plainfield may be graced with a modern building, adapted to needs, for a city hall, the question of a site is a very important one and is being carefully considered. Among the properties mentioned is that owned by J. Fred MacDonald at the corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue.

Beyond the honor which Plainfield accorded to Rev. John Watson last night by packing Music Hall with the city's distinguished people to hear his lecture, is also the gratification of knowing that the profits are to go to one of the most worthy institutions of the city—the Children's Home.

It is said that the reason Senator Smith was appointed a member of the committee to notify President Cleveland that Congress had assembled, was because Mr. Cleveland is soon to become a Jerseyman.

Congressman Fowler feels highly honored now and then by being mistaken for President-elect McKinley, because of his Napoleonic features.

As an aftermath of the recent State convention of the Christian Endeavor in this city, the week of prayer being observed this week is very appropriate.

Christmas is but a short two weeks off. It is the tradesmen's harvest.

Praise for the Fire Department.

Too much praise or thanks cannot be given the Fire Department for their prompt action in extinguishing the fire at the Clifton flats on Tuesday evening. Scarcely had the gong sounded when the big doors of the engine-house flew open and the engine on its way to duty. The cellars and main hall of the flat were already full of smoke and the heat intense, just ready to burst in flames, but the efficient work of the faithful men saved from destruction a valuable piece of property and left undisturbed the comfortable homes of half a dozen families. C. B. Clifton.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Evening Sight-Singing Class.

Miss Anna O. Marsh, 915 Madison avenue, started her class last Monday evening, but will repeat the first lesson on Thursday evening, December 10th, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of those who wish to join, but could not be present then.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

shall constitute a special fund to be used according to the discretion of the State Board of Education for the encouragement of secondary and kindergarten schools, thus enabling it to piece out and complete a public school system that is at the present time deficient at both ends. If the said Board shall elect to use less for this purpose than the sum thus raised and set apart, then the balance to be annually apportioned the same as other school moneys.

"I sincerely hope that the above suggestion will be given due consideration, and as a result of such consideration receive early and favorable legislative action."

THEATRICAL.

Grand scenic productions will be the rule every evening next week at Music Hall by the Corse Payton Comedy Company, aided by the inimitable and versatile comedian, Corse Payton, and the charming and talented actress, Miss Etta Reed, and the strongest dramatic company of players that ever appeared in repertoire at popular prices. Mr. Payton carries his own special car for the transportation of his magnificent scenery and properties, which are displayed at every performance. Strict attention is given to the minutest details, which allows Mr. Payton to claim that he gives the most complete productions ever attempted by any traveling company. Aside from the performance, there is introduced strong refined singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of his company. The above company will appear for one week and the prices are only 10, 20 and 30 cents. Secure your seats early.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

W. W. Pierson, of Liberty street, is confined at his home by illness.

Frank Rickert, of this city, has returned from a visit with Newark friends.

Charles W. Burton, of Watchung avenue, left this morning on a few days trip to Boston.

Mrs. Pierre Grumpier, of New York, is visiting her friend, Mrs. J. M. Martin, of Park avenue.

F. L. C. Martin, of Park avenue, returned last evening from a trip to the west on business.

Mr. and Mrs. VanWyacke, of Mercer avenue, have returned from a visit with New York friends.

Senator-elect Isaac Barber, M. D., of Warren county, is a guest of Dr. Wood, 144 Crescent avenue.

Miss Breslin, of New York, is the guest of her friend, Miss Gertrude Andrews, of Central avenue.

Mrs. G. W. Hotchkiss, of Chicago, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Hotchkiss, of Rockview avenue.

Isaac P. Runyon, of H. C. Runyon's law offices, returned this morning after a pleasant visit at Pluckamin.

Mrs. and Miss Tongue, of Westchester, N. Y., are guests at the home of S. L. Schoonmaker, of Central avenue.

Mrs. Charles E. Ryder and her daughter, Miss Ryder, of East Front street, have gone to New York for a part of the winter.

Mrs. Wm. Fiering, of East Front street, is improving from a serious illness, and her many friends will be pleased to learn the above.

Stanley Morehouse, of Westfield, who graduated from the High School in Plainfield in '93, was the guest of Plainfield friends yesterday.

Rev. A. H. Skeel, of Hubbardsville, N. Y., will be the guest of his daughter, Mrs. John Weir, of Rockview avenue, for a few days.

Mrs. Lusk, wife of Lieutenant Lusk, of West Point, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, of Rockview avenue.

Mrs. C. A. Schimer who has been spending the past few days with Mrs. Howard Wilson, of Grove street, returned to her home in Paterson yesterday.

Driver Fred Breem, of the fire department, who was severely injured Sunday morning in driving to a fire, is improving nicely under the care of Dr. Long.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Dupee, who have been spending the last week at Hadden Hall, Atlantic City, are expected to arrive at their home on Rockview avenue, today.

Dr. Watson, "Ian MacLaren," and his wife were entertained at dinner last night at the home of Frances E. Wood, of Franklin place. They returned to New York last night by late train.

A Visitor's Day.

The business men's class at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will hold a visitor's afternoon to-day to which their friends are invited. The class begins at 5 30 o'clock and lasts for one hour.

If you can make nice cake you are the one to appreciate Cleveland's Baking Powder. It makes just that delicate, dainty kind of a cake that the expert cake maker strives for.

If you are not a cake maker, we can help you become one. Send for "How to Make Nice Cake," with our cook-book, free for stamp.

Cleveland Baking Powder Co., New York

BROKE EVEN AT BOWLING.

Westfield and Cranford Each Win a Game From the Other.

Two more games were rolled in the Central Journal League last evening at Cranford, when the team from the Westfield Athletic Club went down there and managed to get one out of the two games rolled. The first game was quite exciting, and the teams fought gallantly for the victory, but the visitors proved themselves the better and won by 30 pins. The Westfield men rolled well, Voehl making the highest score for the team. Rogers, of the Cranford's, rolled 203, but two of the team rolled poorly, which brought down the total. The home team pulled themselves together in the second game, leaving their opponents far in the rear, winning easily by 103 pins.

The individual scores were as follows:

WESTFIELD.

	1st game	2d game
Baker	185	143
Voehl	186	161
Naething	165	178
Love	140	127
Smith	156	161
	835	760

CRANFORD.

	1st game	2d game
Page	138	173
Madden	183	181
Rogers	203	177
Watkins	158	143
Sharp	133	189
	805	863

Ladies Orchestra First Reception.

The Ladies Schubert Orchestra held its first reception in Friendship Hall, New Market, last evening. Despite the stormy weather, there was a large attendance and the evening passed very pleasantly for all. A delightful programme occupied the first part of the evening in which a play, entitled "A Temperance Pudding," was especially pleasing. Then followed dancing, the music for which was furnished by the Ladies Orchestra, which continued until a late hour. A collation was served toward the close of the evening, and everybody pronounced the affair a great success.

Death of Mrs. McCarthy.

Mrs. Ann McCarthy, wife of Daniel McCarthy, of 422 West Sixth street, died at her home yesterday afternoon from infirmities due to old age. She was in her seventh-sixth year and has resided in Plainfield for about forty-five years. She leaves a husband and two children, Michael McCarthy, of South Second street, and Mrs. James O'Keefe, who has been living with her parents since the death of her husband. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon

Boys Who Don't Behave.

Five lads of respectable families, living in the southern part of the city, were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning charged with throwing stones at Col. Dietrich and using profane and indecent language. The trial was set down for Saturday morning, and the young offenders will be dealt severely with.

Fire Loss Settled.

The loss at the fire in the basement of the Clifton building, on Park avenue, has been settled by the insurance companies. The loss amounted to $375. The place was insured through the agencies of W. A. Woodruff, Abbott, and J. C. Pope & Company.

To Avoid Confusion.

There is a petition being circulated in Mountainside to have the Government change the name of the Baltusrol postoffice to Mountainside, and thus do away with one of the confusing names of the place.

Gen. Swayne to Speak.

Gen. Wager Swayne will address the the public meeting the Organized Aid Association to-morrow night in the Crescent avenue church.

GAIL BORDEN
EAGLE Brand
CONDENSED MILK.
Has No Equal
SOLD EVERYWHERE

HOLIDAY GOODS,
ALL BRIGHT
AND NEW.

VAN EMBURGH.

BASEMENT FULL
OF
TOYS AND GAMES.

Be on time

And secure the choicest of the many HOLIDAY GIFTS at

PECK'S.

--JAQUETT'S--
CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.
SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders.
HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.
HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.
One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of
DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY,
NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR,
CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS,
BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, is

Now on Sale.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

SOME DOLL FACTS.

This is the best Doll Store in Plainfield. No question about that. The variety is greater and the qualities are finer than you can find anywhere else in this town.

Still more: New York, with all its great stores where Dolls are sold, contains no stock finer than mine.

The Dolls I sell are imported to my order. I buy them at as small prices as I can, and sell them as near to cost as I can afford.

Here are big Dolls and little ones. Some dressed ready for your little girl to take out for an airing. Others undressed, so the child can be a real "play" mother, and make clothes for her "baby."

Some Dolls cry. Some go to sleep. Some even "talk," but Dolls can't be expected to talk very good.

Will you look at these beautiful things? Bring the little ones along with you. Seeing is free.

Toys Are Treacherous

Most toys are made to sell. They look all right, but they don't last. The children are happy with them today, but tomorrow they are unhappy because the toys are broken. Some Toys are pretty strong. For instance, Iron Toys, Wooden Boats, Blocks, Games, Ten Pins, Pocket Knives. Plenty of 'em here. I want to sell 'em to you to gladden some little body's heart at Christmas time.

More Things

Lots of other nice things for gifts here. Prices not high either. Come in and look around. It will keep your eyes busy for a good many minutes to see everything.

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front Street.

Xmas.

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be

FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.

Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and-irons, fenders, etc.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."

CURTIS M. THORP, 310–312 Park Avenue.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2 00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

Mrs. A. N. Randolph has been visiting Mrs. E. G. Lake in Somerville.

Mrs. Wm. VanMiddlesworth entertained company from Westfield yesterday.

David P. Runyon has gone to Orange for three weeks to assist his father in building a new barn.

The Central Railroad Company is laying in a stock of engine sand at the tanks. It is bought here from West Bergen.

Miss Josephine Butche, of West Fourth street, Plainfield, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jos. Maier, at the Park Hotel, for the past few days.

Adam Dealman has just purchased another valuable hunting dog from H. Craig, making four in all he purchased this season for hunting purposes.

The contract case of Griffin vs. Smith was again adjourned in Judge Huff's court, yesterday, on account of the absence from the State of a material witness.

The Presbyterian church people are arranging for a pumpkin pie sociable in the church parlors on Thursday. Admission, entitling one to a chunk of pie, will be 10 cents.

Car No. 13 of the street railway service had to be returned to the house for repairs after making the 5.45 o'clock Dunellen trip, last evening. No passengers were taken on the return trip.

There was not a street lamp burning between the post office corner and the street car terminus last evening, and two drunken men held possession of the single sidewalk for over half an hour, frightening women and children who were on their way to and from the street cars.

The barns and outbuildings on what is known as the William Henry Smalley place, about one-quarter of a mile west of the Greenbrook tanks, were totally destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning, together with a quantity of winter grain, hay, straw, etc. The buildings were located only a short distance south from the railroad track, and the only cause assigned is sparks from a passing locomotive.

The new Dunellen fire gong was tested yesterday afternoon, and it set the natives guessing whether it was a genuine alarm of fire, or whether "old Gabe" was blowing his trumpet. At any rate half a hundred or more citizens and boys started on a run for the round house, where the gong is located, and when ascertaining that it was only a test, they retraced their steps, sadder but wiser than before. The test was made by automatic air pressure.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

The Sunday-schools in the various churches are rehearsing their Christmas carols.

Many of the wells in this locality are yet dry, and it is feared they will remain so all winter.

The condition of County Physician Westcott, who has been suffering from the grip, is reported as much improved.

The moderate weather of the past day or two has put an end to the heretofore good skating on the mountain ponds. The ice has become rotten and dangerous.

Rev. Mr. Braker will preach an appropriate sermon to young men and members of the League, in the Baptist church, next Sunday morning. The League will attend in a body.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—The "Jolly Six" will give an invitation dance in Skandia Hall on the evening of December 16th.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

FROM O'ER BONNIE LEE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

one which you all recognize, for you call us the "Canny Scot." If you want to understand any people, you must look at their past history. The Scotch nation had for centuries to stand sword in hand, constantly on guard. And now the Scotch are ever engaged in watching, in playing an endless game of fence. Notice how guarded the Scot is, he will grant nothing. You say you can get nothing out of a Scot; well, we know that there is nothing in which a man needs to be more careful than in his choice of words, and often before we choose exactly the right word to use, the occasion for using it is gone. Conversation with us, you perceive, is on an intellectual basis. In what other country can you see the peasants sitting hour after hour arguing some theological proposition?

Another trait is dourness. The difference between dourness and obstinacy is that one dour Scot more than equals a thousand merely obstinate men.

There have been very few martyrs in Scotland, in times of religious persecution. If there are to be persecutions, there are two who can play at that game. The persecutors usually lose their interest in that sort of thing when the friends of the martyr manifest an inclination to send his persecutor after him. You can't intimidate a Scot; if you say to him: "We'll make it the worse for you if you do such a thing," he stands up all the straighter as he says: "Well, I'll do it!"

You can't bully the Scottish nation. They will stand up for their rights, and they have never been beaten. If you take them the other way, you will find them yielding enough. They are the hardest people in the world, if a man threatens them; they are the softest people in the world, if a man coaxes and compliments them. It is of men who stand fast for what their conscience tells them, out of which you may build up a strong nation, a nation which will stand fast in the hour of trial.

Scattered through Mr. Watson's lecture were many stories of Scotch life, illustrating the traits he was describing, and told in his inimitable style. At the close of the lecture he gave a reading from "Through the Flood," one of the stories contained in "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," telling how the rugged old country doctor, William MacLure, brought the great city surgeon to save the life of Annie, Tammas Mitchell's beloved wife, by the operation which he alone could perform. The touching little story has gone to the hearts and brought tears to the eyes of many, when read at home, but the scene became real before them as never before as they listened to it told by the pleasant, sympathetic voice, which brought out both the firmness and the strength and the exceeding tenderness of the grand old "doctor of the old school."

As a Plainfield clergyman recently said in his sermon, Ian Maclaren's religious books may die, since they are not especially remarkable, but the world will not soon forget his stories of Scottish life, which came straight from his great warm heart, and go straight to the hearts of his readers.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Wanted; Who Can Supply Them?

A few articles of furniture are badly needed for the office of the Organized Aid Association, On West Front street, to wit:

Three wood seat chairs, not too heavy; three cane seat chairs; a table, medium size, say 2x3 ft., cherry, walnut or stained; two floor mats or small rugs, say 2x3 ft., a piece of oil carpet or linoleum, say 3x6 ft. or a little larger. Gifts of such articles—if in fairly good condition—will be gratefully accepted, and on notice received, the association will send for them at its own expense. Please address Mrs. W. A. Woodruff at the office, or H. P. Reynolds, treasurer, No. 71 Washington avenue, North Plainfield.

Too Much Frost in the Ground.

On account of frost in the ground, Contractor Alex. Kane has been compelled to stop work on the sewer connections. He reports having enough contracts ahead to keep a force of men at work all winter, but on account of the recent cold snap his work has been necessarily retarded.

—The annual business meeting of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, sharp, in Reform Hall.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—The W. C. T. U. fair opens this afternoon in their rooms on Watchung avenue.

—The Parliamentary Club will meet tomorrow morning at the Y. M. C. A. building.

—The Rasores Club met yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. John T. Baker, of Stelle avenue.

—The sidewalk in front of H. N. Spencer's place of business on Somerset street, is being repaired.

—Woolston & Buckle have the contract for the painting of C. W. Krausse's residence on Vine street.

—An inviting display of holiday goods at inviting prices can be seen if you accept Peck's invitation to call.

—The Borough Street Committee will hold an important meeting this evening at the home of Mayor Hegeman.

—The W. C. T. U. "Festival Days" will open to-day in the rooms on Watchung avenue and it will continue tomorrow.

—The colored Knights Templar, of this city, are to have a concert in Mt. Zion A. M. E. church on Thursday evening.

—The members of the Alis football team will have their picture taken in a group as soon as their captain, Roy T. Phillips, recovers from his recent accident.

—Leggett, the druggist, carries a full and complete line of Walter Baker & Co's superior cocoa and chocolate.

—J. J. Praed, Jr., of West Fourth street, has taken charge of his father's business and will continue the same at the old establishment.

—The scholars of the East Third Street Mission Sunday-school met yesterday afternoon and rehearsed a Christmas cantata which they will give at Christmas time.

—At the Executive Committee meeting of the Town Improvement Association held yesterday afternoon, it was decided not to hold a meeting of the Association this month.

—The ladies of St. Stephen's church will hold a fair on Saturday afternoon at the residence of their rector, Rev. S. P. Simpson, on Watchung avenue. The fair will be from 3 to 9 o'clock.

—Alex Lusardi, 211 West Front street, has on sale a large stock of foreign and domestic fruit, nuts, bananas, cigars and choice confectionery for the holidays. California fruit a specialty.

—Bird lovers will be interested in the nest of the Oropendula, lent by Mrs. S. R. Struthers to the Public Library. The bird is a native of Central America. A description of its size, habits, etc., accompanies the nest, which hangs in the reading room.

—The Plainfield Electric Light Company, has a force of men engaged in removing the old poles which support their wires, and substituting for them new ones, that are much taller. The work is being done on Grove street between Craig place and Mercer avenue.

—The fire which occurred Monday evening in the cellar of the building occupied by Addis & Son., attaches no blame to the latter, as they did not occupy the cellar nor did they have anything to do with that part of the building. The account of the fire in the Daily Press of yesterday was unintentionally misleading in the head lines regarding the above fact.

—You can be well when your blood is rich and nourishing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure and cures all blood diseases, restoring health and vigor.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache. 25c.

Along Legal Lines.

In Justice Newcorn's court judgment has been given the plaintiff in the case of Boone against Deady, and the case of Boone against Shaddle has been adjourned one week. The case of Coddington, administrator, against Burke, will be tried December 16th.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

"Time or Tide Waits for No Man."

Have your time always correct and you won't want time to wait. Our watches or clocks never vary. They are sure and reliable timekeepers, whether in the exquisitely jeweled chatelaine watch, or fine gold or silver case. They are always correct. Speaking of time—remember now is the time to be looking around for a useful and handsome Christmas present for wife, husband or sweetheart; and who doesn't love a good watch?

COLLIER,
103 Park Ave. Established 1869.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT — Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscribers, executors of and trustees under the will of Daniel J. Marshall, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the tenth day of February next.

JOHN H. VAN WINKLE,
FREDERICK W. McCULLY,
HARRY W. MARSHALL,
Executors.
Dated December 8th, 1896. 12 9 10w w

NOTICE!

The undersigned have this day formed a co-partnership under the style of Vanderbeek & Sattels for the transaction of a general business for the sale of Pianos and Organs, at No. 221 Park Avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.

A. VANDERBEEK,
JOSEPH SATTELS.
Dated Dec. 8, 1896. 12 9 3t

A CHRISTMAS FAIR

for the sale of

Fancy and Useful Articles,

will be given by the ladies of All Souls Church on the afternoons and evenings of WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY and FRIDAY,

DECEMBER 9th, 10th & 11th,

from 3 until 10 o'clock.

Admission, 10cts. Children, 5cts.

Entertainment in the evenings. 12 7 3

ALL MAKES OF SEWING MACHINES
repaired. Singer Machine cash or instalments.
218 West Front Sreet.
12 8 1 w

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

DIED.

McCARTHY—In this city, December 8th, 1896, Ann McCarthy, age 75 years.
Funeral from her late residence, 422 West Sixth street, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, December 10. Friends and relatives are respectively invited to attend.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

FOUND—Two small keys. Owner may secure them by calling at Press office and paying for advertisement.

LOST—Music roll; last evening. Reward at this office.

$3,500 to $4,000 to loan at 5 per cent on real estate worth double. P. O. Box 386.

WANTED—In the Second Ward, not over five minutes' walk from the North Avenue station, to buy a house not to exceed $4,000. Address, stating number of rooms, "Home," care Press. 12 8 3

SITUATION WANTED by a reliable person to do general housework in a private family; city reference. Please address "A. T.," care Press. 12 8 3

TO LET—Several tenant houses at reasonable rent. Apply J. M. Hetfield. 12 7 6

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 12 7 tf

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine, 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11-10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

THE SHREWD BUYERS

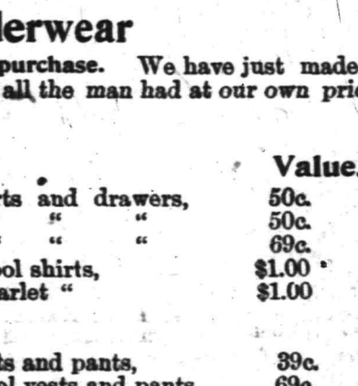
Figure closely, not on the amount of money you have to spend but on the result any value you obtain from it. 'Tis one of the many reasons why you should trade here. You are sure of the

Best Result.

Silk Mufflers.

100 dozen men's silk mufflers, bought at the big Trade Sale at half the value. Cream and Black. 27 in. square.

39c. each.



The Kosmo,

One of the best corsets, made of black sateen, long waist, made to sell for $1.25,

Our Price 79c.

Ladies' Coats

Such values never before offered. We have closed out the entire stock of a Broadway manufacturer at half the regular price. The above cut is a sample of the coat we are selling for $3.98, made of fine boucle cloth.

Adjustable Sash Curtain Rods, fit any window, all complete, 10c. each.

Ladies' Wrappers

We sell for 98c. a full-size wrapper made of fine twilled outing flannel, equal to any $1.25 wrapper made.

SPECIALS

That are well worth your time to see:
Fine Outing Flannel, all colors, 6c.
Ladies' Fleeced-lined Ribbed vests, 25c.
Mens' heavy white shirts, 25c.
" white unlaundried shirts, 39c.
" heavy wool half hose, 2 pair for 25c.
Ladies' fleeced lined hose, 23c.

Winter Underwear

An immense purchase. We have just made of heavy wool underwear. Bought all the man had at our own price. On sale today and tomorrow.

Men's	Value.	Our price.
Heavy white shirts and drawers,	50c.	25c.
" colored " " "	50c.	25c.
" " " " "	69c.	39c.
" natural wool shirts,	$1.00	69c.
" all wool scarlet "	$1.00	69c.
Ladies
Heavy ribbed vests and pants,	39c.	21c.
Extra heavy flannel vests and pants,	69c.	39c.
Lot of wool vests,	69c.	33c.
" " " pants,	69c.	33c.
Childrens
Lot of wool vests and pants, each,		15c.
Lot of Men's sweaters,	$1.75	$1.19
" " Boys "	$1.50	98c.
" " Ladies wool cardigan jackets		49c.

You will find these goods all on the bargain table.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c.

SAMPLES FREE.

Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.

To $2

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW
210 West Front Street.

An assortment of HOLIDAY GOODS on one of our centre tables marked 25c. is well worth examining before purchasing elsewhere. Also, STAPLE GOODS, such as Umbrellas, Underwear, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Extracts, Silk Mufflers, Silk Initial Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, Napkins, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Does Your Husband Want

Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?

If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON
NO. 107 PARK AVE.

THE MISTRESS of the Mine

or A Woman Interested

By Robert Barr

Author of "The Face and The Mask".

Copyright

"He told you that he had a certain amount of space to sell for a certain sum in cash?"

"Yes."

"And, if you did not buy that space, this certain article would appear; whereas, if you did, an article of quite a different complexion would be printed?"

"You seem to know all about it," said Kenyon, suspiciously.

"Of course, I do, my dear boy. Everybody knows all about it. That's the way those papers make their money. I think, myself, as a general rule, it is cheaper to buy them off. I believe my uncle always does that when he has anything special on hand and doesn't want to be bothered with outside issues. But we haven't done so in this instance, and this is the result. It can be easily remedied yet, mind you, if you like. All that you have to do is to pay his price, and there will be an equally lengthy article saying that, from outside information received with regard to the Canadian Mining company, he regrets very much that the former article was an entire mistake, and that there is no more secure investment in England than this particular mine. But now, when he has come out with his editorial, I think it isn't worth while to have any further dealings with him. Anything he can say now will not matter. He has done all the harm he can. But I would at once put the boot on the other foot. I would write down all the circumstances just as they happened—give the name of the young man who called upon you, tell exactly the price he demanded for his silence, and I will have that printed in an opposition paper to-morrow. Then it will be our friend, the Financial Field's, turn to squirm! He will say it is all a lie, of course, but nobody will believe him, and we can tell him, from the opposition paper, that if it is a lie he is perfectly at liberty to sue us for libel. Let him begin the suit if he wants to do so. Let him defend his reputation. Sue him for libel! I know a game worth two of that. Could you get out the statement before the meeting to-night?"

Kenyon, who had been looking for the first time in his life gratefully at Longworth, said he could.

"Very well; just set it down in your own words as plainly as possible, and give date, hour and full particulars. Sign your name to it, and I will take it when I come to the meeting this afternoon. It would not be a bad plan to read it to those who are here. There is nothing like fighting the devil with fire. Fight a paper with another paper! Nothing new, I suppose?"

"No," said Kenyon; "nothing new except what we are discussing."

"Well, don't let that trouble you. Do as I say, and we will begin an interesting controversy. People like a fight, and it will attract attention to the mine. Good-by. I shall see you this afternoon." And with that he was gone, leaving both Kenyon and Wentworth in a much happier frame of mind than that in which he had found them.

"I say, Kenyon," said Wentworth, "that fellow is a trump. His advice has cleared the air wonderfully. I believe his plan is the best, after all, and, as you say, we have no money for an expensive lawsuit. I will leave you now to get on with your work, and will be back at three o'clock."

At that hour John had his statement concluded. The first man in was Longworth, who read it with approval, merely suggesting a change here and there, which was duly made. Then he put the communication into an envelope and sent it to the editor of the opposition paper. Wentworth came in next, then

"I would let them sue me if they wanted to."

Melville, then Mr. King. After this they all adjourned to the directors' room, and in a few minutes the others were present.

"Now," said Longworth, "as we are all here, I do not see any necessity for delay. You have probably read the article that appeared in this morning's Financial Field. Mr. Kenyon has written a statement in relation to that which gives the full particulars of the inside of a very disreputable piece of business. It was merely an attempt at blackmailing which failed. I intended to have had the statement read to you, but we thought it best to get it off as quickly as possible, and it will appear to-morrow in the Financial Eagle, where, I hope, you will read it. Now, Mr. Kenyon, perhaps you will tell us something about the mine."

Kenyon, like many men of worth and not of words, was a very poor speaker. He seemed confused, and was often a little obscure in his remarks, but he was listened to with great attention by those present. He was helped here and there by a judicious question from young Longworth, and when he sat down the impression was not so bad as might have been expected. After a moment's silence it was Mr. King who spoke.

"As I take it," he said, "all we wish to know is this: Is the mine what it is represented to be? Is the mineral the best for the use Mr. Kenyon has indicated? Is there a sufficient quantity of that mineral in the mountain he speaks of to make it worth while to organize this company? It seems to me that this can only be answered by some practical man going out there and seeing the mine for himself. Mr. Melville is, I understand, a practical man. If he has the time to spare, I would propose that he should go to America, see this mine and report."

Another person asked when the option on the the mine ran out. This was answered by young Longworth, who said that the person who went over and reported on the mine could cable the word "right" or "wrong;" then there would be time to act in London in getting up the list of subscribers.

"I suppose," said another, "that in case of delay there would be no trouble in renewing the option for a month or two?"

To this Kenyon replied that he did not know. The owners might put a higher price on the property, or the mine might be producing more mica than it had been heretofore, and they perhaps might not be inclined to sell. He thought that things should be arranged so that there would be no necessity of asking for an extension of the option, and to this they all agreed.

Melville then said he had no objection to taking a trip to Canada. It was merely a question of the amount of the mineral in sight, and he thought he could determine that as well as anybody else. And so the matter was about to be settled, when young Longworth rose, and said that he was perfectly willing to go to Canada himself, in company with Mr. Melville, and that he would pay all his own expenses, and give them the benefit of his opinion as well. This was received with applause, and the meeting terminated. Longworth shook hands with Kenyon and Wentworth.

"We will sail by the first steamer," he said, "and, as I may not see you again, you might write me a letter of introduction to Mr. Von Brent, and tell him that I am acting for you in this affair. That will make matters smooth in getting the extension of the option if it should be necessary."

CHAPTER XVIII.

Kenyon was on his way to lunch next day when he met Wentworth at the door.

"Going to eat?" asked the latter.

"Yes."

"Very well; I'll go with you. I couldn't stay last night to have a talk with you over the meeting, but what did you think of it?"

"Well, considering the articles which appeared in the morning, and considering also the exhibition I made of myself in attempting to explain the merits of the mine, I think things went off rather smoothly."

"So do I. It doesn't strike you that they went off a little too smoothly, does it?"

"What do you mean?"

"I don't know exactly what I mean. I merely wanted to get your opinion about it. You see, I have attended a great many gatherings of this sort, and it struck me there was a certain cut-and-driedness about the meeting. I can't say whether it impressed me favorably or unfavorably, but I noticed it."

"I still don't understand what you mean."

"Well, as a general thing, in such meetings, when a man gets up and proposes a certain action there is some opposition, or somebody has a suggestion to make, or something better to propose, or thinks he has, and so there is a good deal of talk. Now when King got up and proposed calmly that Melville should go to America, it appeared to me rather an extraordinary thing to do, unless he had consulted Melville beforehand."

"Perhaps he had done so."

"Yes, perhaps. What do you think of it all?"

Kenyon mused for a moment before he replied: "As I said before, I thought things went off very smoothly. Whom do you suspect—young Longworth?"

"I do not know whom I suspect. I am merely getting anxious about the shortness of the time. I think myself you ought to go to America. There is nothing to be done here. You should go, see Von Brent, and get a renewal of the option. Don't you see that when they get over there, allowing them a few days in New York, and a day or two to get out to the mine, we shall have little more than a week after the cable dispatch comes in which to do anything, should they happen to report unfavorably."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

NOT YOUR STOMACH.

Pure Blood and Good Nerves Mean a Happy Life.

More Ills Arise From a Deranged Nervous System and Impoverished Blood Than From Local Disorders.

You may think it is your stomach, but you will find your stomach trouble is only an indication that you are debilitated, and debility is the result of nerve weakness and poor condition of the blood. A vigorous condition of the nerves and generous supply of pure blood will relieve your stomach troubles, or any other disease that you may have, such as tired feeling, nervousness, insomnia, dyspepsia, liver complaint, heart weakness, kidney trouble, neuralgia, rheumatism. You can strengthen your nerves and enrich and purify your blood by using Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great invigorator and nerve strengthener whose magical restorative properties have brought back thousands from sickness to health. Test it. Try it. Try it to-day. It will cure you. Remember that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the prescription and discovery of the well-known Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and hence of necessity is perfectly adapted to cure just these complaints. An added value is the fact that Dr. Greene can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redying. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

North ave., Plainfield

Telephone 30M

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie R 2	Maguire Miss Annie
DerCharnelMiss Lil'n	Prentice Mrs. Geo
Duteher Chas H	Reich Miss Elizabeth
Fonda Guy Q	Rockerer J C
Foster Miss Vera	Slater Joshua
Gray Miss Maggie	Steinorth R
Harrison Wm F	Stelle Freeman
Holingvist Miss Agnes	Schenck Mrs E
Herben Mrs S J	Tevis E L
Lewis C F	Wiley Mrs Fred
May Miss M A	Walker Mrs Mary E
Midgely Jas L V	Whiteall Mrs C D
Mendel Gus	Weingart Miss AnnieL

MRS. L. ADAMS, MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Christmas Wreaths, Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,

Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.

DENTON'S.

131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,

DEALERS IN

Lehigh Valley Coal.

Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Corporation Notice.

Commissioners of Assessments report for sewerage construction on consideration before the Common Council, Plainfield, N. J.

Notice is hereby given that, at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J., held on Monday, the seventh day of December instant, there were presented and laid before the Common Council (the same having first been filed in the office of the City Clerk December 7th, 1896), the report and assessments of the Commissioners of Assessments of said City heretofore appointed under the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the appointment of Commissioners of Assessments under Chapter CXLI P. L. 1895," approved April 25th, 1896, containing the assessments of damages and benefits or expenses, as the case may be, for the making and constructing of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," approved April 7th, 1890, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and ordinances and other proceedings of the Common Council had under said acts of the Legislature, said report and assessments covering the whole of said system of sewerage already completed, that is to say: the making and constructing of sewers and a purtenances (including house connections) in streets and parts of streets mentioned in said report, and the construction of sewerage disposal beds and appurtenances; the said streets and parts of streets in which the same were so made and constructed and the location and dimensions of the several lots, tracts and parcels of land and real estate so assessed being delineated on set of maps entitled "Sewer Construction Assessment Maps dated Dec. 7, 1896" numbered from 1 to 24, both inclusive, and 101 to 123 both inclusive, filed in the office of the Collector of Taxes December 7th, 1896, each of said maps being attested by the signatures of the said commissioners and said streets and parts of streets being the following, to wit:

Woodland avenue from South avenue to Putnam avenue.

Woodland avenue from Watchung avenue to Highland avenue.

Belvidere avenue from Ravine road to La Grande avenue.

Ravine road from Belvidere avenue to Berkley avenue

Putnam avenue from Woodland avenue to Franklin place.

Franklin place from La Grande avenue to Watchung avenue.

Watchung avenue from Woodland avenue to La Grande avenue.

Watchung avenue from East Sixth street to East Front street.

Hillside avenue from Prospect avenue to Watchung avenue.

Richmond street from East Front street to Watchung avenue.

Norwood avenue from East Front street to Green Brook.

Carlton avenue from Watchung avenue to La Grande avenue.

Kensington avenue from La Grande to Watchung avenue.

Webster place from Putnam avenue to Watchung avenue

Ninth street East and West respectively from Watchung avenue to Central avenue.

Crescent avenue from East Seventh street to Third place

First place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.

Second place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.

Third place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.

Washington street from La Grande avenue to East Fourth street.

Washington street from East Third street to East Front street,

Church street from East Fourth street to the C. R. R. of N. J.

Church street from East Third street to East Front street.

Park avenue from Ninth street to Front street.

Sycamore street from East Fourth street to East Seventh street.

North avenue from Watchung avenue to Park avenue.

College place from West Eighth street to West Ninth street.

Arlington avenue from West Ninth street to West Third street.

Madison avenue from 350 North of Stelle venue to West Front street.

Central avenue from 180 ft. North of Randolph road to West Front street.

New street from West Seventh street to West Front street.

Division street from West Eighth street to West Fifth street

Liberty street from West Eighth street to West Sixth street.

Liberty street from West Fifth street to West Front street.

Elmwood place from West Front street to West Second street.

Plainfield avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.

Grant avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.

Clinton avenue from West Front street to Dunellen avenue.

Sanford avenue from Green Brook to East Front street.

Westervelt avenue from Green Brook to East Front street.

Elm place from Green Brook to East Front street.

Front street East and West respectively from Berckmen street to Clinton avenue.

Orchard place from New street to Liberty street.

Second street East and West respectively from Berckman street to Plainfield avenue.

South Second street from Liberty street to Plainfield avenue.

East Third street from Midway avenue to Watchung avenue.

West Third street from Arlington avenue to Grant avenue

Fourth street East and West respectively from the C. R. R of N. J. to Plainfield avenue.

Cottage place from Richmond street to Washington street.

Fifth street East and West respectively from Richmond street to Plainfield avenue.

Sixth street East and West respectively from Richmond street to Plainfield avenue.

LaGrande avenue from Belvedere avenue to Woodland avenue.

LaGrande avenue from Richmond street to Watchung avenue.

Seventh street East and West respectively from Crescent avenue to 900 feet west of Grant avenue.

West Eighth street from Park avenue to Grant avenue.

Dunellen avenue from Clinton avenue to Disposal Beds.

And it was ordered that said Common Council will proceed to consider, review, alter, ratify and conform said report and assessments at a meeting to be held in the Common Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, N. J., on the twenty-eighth day of December, 1896, at 8 o'clock p. m., at which meeting all persons interested in or affected by said improvements, on account of which said assessments were made, will be given ample opportunity to be heard upon the subject of said assessments.

The character of the work and improvement for which said assessments have been made is shown by the foregoing, and in general is the construction of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), and sewerage disposal beds and appurtenances, and a system of sewerage and appurtenances; and the streets and avenues or particular sections thereof which are included in said assessments are those hereinbefore particularly set forth.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., December 7th, 1896.

JAMES T. MACMURRAY,
City Clerk.

d 8 9 15 22

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital	$200,000.
Surplus and Profits	$90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter,	Wm. McD. Coriell,
P. M. French,	H. Mulford Estil,
Wm. M. Stillman,	Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson,	Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

Amos H. Van Horn,

LIMITED.

CARPETS AT COST!

Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:

25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.

MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES

NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.

Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.

LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!

Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.

Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.

73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.

Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.

OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59 7 25, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 40, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04 10 37, 11 10 a m; 12 00, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 08, 4 25, 5 04, 6 40, 7 08, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 16, a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30 5 38, 7 01, 8 12 8 39, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 20, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 20, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15 5 30, 5 45 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30 4 00, 5 00, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 50, 8 00, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 37, 11 10 a.m; 12 09, 1 15 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 08, 5 25, 5 54, 6 40, 7 08, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 38, 7 01, 8 13, 8 39, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03 10 05, 11 25, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35 3 25, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30 11 25 a m; 1 30, 1 25, 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2 Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 46, 2 11, 3 22, 3 35, 4 36, 5 02, 5 16, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 32, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 05, 3 42 5 14, 6 35, 10 16, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35 7 45, 8 19 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05 3 22, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 55, 5 15, 6 28, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 28, 8 m; 2 05, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04 7 05, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 37 7 39 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 08, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

6 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c., with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 08 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

4 55 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 36 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 12 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 25 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 05 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg,

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 23, 5 54 p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 53 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 53 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 32 p. m

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 24*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—6 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 3 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2 25*, 5 24*, 6 38*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 24* p. m., 1 17 night. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 6:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 15 and 7:30 p.m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m: closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office 763 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station.

AT Jas. R. Blair's,

126 Park Ave.

You can get Winter Caps from 25c. to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.

Watch his window for Holiday goods.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. s 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Percy O. Obl. Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 49b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu Troches—the pocket companion. 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

The Great Gas Saver!
Three times the Light.
One-half the Gas.
See our Welsbach Stand Lamp.

Assortment
Of FURNITURE,
In all grades.
Largest and Best
We have ever exhibited.
Visitors always welcome.

No trouble to show goods.

J. W GAVETT. G. Q. PACKER.

Our Overcoats

this season are, as usual, peculiarly our own in perfectness of detail and fit. Prices have been put at smallest point.

Ulsters from $8.00

$10.00, 12.00 and above. Uncommonly dressy for Ulsters, too. Chinchillas, Irish Frieses, Mixed and Black Oxfords.

Overcoats, $8.00

to $25.00—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Vicunas. Some with plain and others with combination linings.

Suits from $6.00

to $15.00—used to get far more for same kind of garments. In swell cheviots.

Boys' Clothing

—we make a good deal of our boys' clothing success. Been clothing juveniles for many years and feel we have an A No. 1 dep't. See it.

Boys' Reefers

with large ulster or deep sailor collars. Blue Chinchillas, Frieses and Oxford mixed. Fashionable. $3.00, 4.00, 6.00.

Boys' School Overcoats

made in same way as men's styles. Blue, black and Oxford Kerseys. Fine finish, $4.00, 5.00, 6.00 and 8.00.

Boys' Two Piece and Reefer Suits

Exceptional sale. Were $3.50, 4.00 and 4.50 before. Now all at $3.00 New in cloth and cut.

Boys' Shoes—excellent kinds, $1.50 up. Men's $2.00 up.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

MARSHALL & BALL

The People's Outfitters. | 807, 809, 811, 813 Broad St. NEWARK, N. J.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

WORK IN CONGRESS

The Important Business Before Senate and House.

EVERYBODY IS DISCUSSING CUBA

Mills Will Introduce a Resolution in the Senate To-day Calling Upon the President To Seize the Island by Force.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The principal business before the senate to-day is Senator Call's resolution providing for the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents, discussion of which was prevented yesterday by the adjournment of the senate in memory of ex-Speaker Crisp. Senator Mills of Texas will also offer the following joint resolution: "Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled that the president of the United States is hereby directed to take possession of the island of Cuba with the military and naval forces of the United States and hold the same until the people of Cuba can organize a government deriving its powers from the consent of the governed and arm and equip such military and naval forces as may be necessary to secure them against foreign invasion." Among senators and repretatives the Cuban question is generally looked upon as the most important matter now confronting the government, and while opinion differs as to the policy to be pursued, the majority seem to favor the president's suggestions, to wait awhile longer before making any determined move. Several senators and not a few members of the house, nevertheless, are red-hot enthusiasts in the cause of the insurgents, and favor immediate interference to bring about a cessation of the useless sacrifice of life and the destruction of property on the island. That there will be numerous Cuban measures introduced at this session and unlimited discussion is almost certain. However, the belief is general that the matter will be left for the next administration to grapple with.

House of Representatives.

The house is pushing work through at a rapid rate. The first business in order was the call of committees where it left off at the close of last session. Under the call the committee on post-offices and postroads occupied nearly three hours of the session, in that period securing the passage of three bills. The general pensions appropriation bill was then taken up and Mr. Grow, rep., Pa., made a speech in favor of a protective tariff based upon the president's commendation in his message of the present tariff law. The pension bill was passed without amendment. The documents in the contest of Thos. E. Watson vs. J. C. C. Black for a seat in the Fifty-fourth congress from the Tenth Georgia district were received from the clerk of the house and by the speaker referred to the committee on elections No. 1.

Gladstone's Physical Condition.

London, Dec. 9.—Mr. Gladstone has been afflicted with frequently recurring attacks of shortness of breath since last Thursday. The physicians attending the ex-premier say that although those attacks are momentarily alarming there is really no cause for anxiety, but it will be necessary for Mr. Gladstone to spend the winter at Cannes.

Republican National Committee.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The establishment here of permanent headquarters of the republican national committee will doubtless lead to the abolition of the headquarters of the republican congressional committee. Chairman Babcock will call a meeting of the committee within a few days to determine the matter definitely.

Bryan's Lecture Tour.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 9.—William J. Bryan has consented to change the opening of his lecture. He will open in Atlanta on December 23 instead of January 5, as previously arranged. He will return from Atlanta to his home and remain there until January 10, when he will resume his tour.

National Irrigation Congress.

Hartford, Dec. 9.—Governor Coffin has appointed the following delegates to the national irrigation congress which will begin at Phoenix, Arizona, December 15: Atwood Collins, Lyman B. Brainard and John C. Abbot. They are prominent business men of this city.

Wanted at New Bedford, Mass.

Arkansas City, Kan., Dec. 9.—Dr. Ezekiel H. Noble, wanted at New Bedford, Mass., for performing an operation, which resulted in death a year ago, has been arrested here. Officers have been after him since the crime was committed.

Big Fire in Montreal

Montreal, Dec. 9.—Fire which started in the Baron block, opposite the St. Lawrence Hall hotel, St. James street, last night, destroyed the entire block, causing a loss of $300,000. The St. Lawrence hall and other big building were in danger.

Claims $3,000 from New York State.

Albany, Dec. 9.—George D. Miller, of Albany, has filed with the state board of claims a claim for $3,000 against the state. He claims that the state appropriated land in Rochester belonging to him for canal purposes.

Honored for Gallantry in Battle.

Washington, Dec. 9.—A medal of honor has been awarded Clifford Thompson, late major Fifth United States cavalry, for most distinguished gallantry in action at the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., May, 1863.

NO GOVERNING CLASS

Quay Says Organized Wealth Cannot Control This Nation.

MORE PRINCIPLE NEEDED IN POLITICS

The Pennsylvania Senator Against the National Business Men's League. A Class, He Says, Against the Masses.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The attention of Senator Quay having been called to the interview of Thomas Dolan, published in a Philadelphia paper, he said: "My views upon the connection between business and politics were mentioned in a speech at a republican meeting in Pittsburg a few days previous to the presidential election. I am opposed to the entire scheme of the National Business Men's league as disclosed by Mr. Dolan. Its basic theory is that organized wealth shall dictate high offices and so take possession of the government. It will be met as stubbornly and overthrown as disastrously as was Bryanism. Bryan invoked the masses against the classes. The promoters of this league invoke a class against the masses and all other classes. No league of business men or other men, based upon wealth or other foundation, can erect a governing class in this country. I do not believe that 10 per cent. of the business men of the country sympathize with this league. There must be less business and more principle in our politics. The business issues are making our politics sordid and corrupt. The tremendous sums of money furnished by business men, reluctantly in most instances, are polluting the well springs of our national being."

HANNA ENTERTAINED.

Guest of Honor at a Dinner Given by Republican Congressional Committee.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Mark A. Hanna was the guest of honor at a dinner given at the Metropolitan club last night by the republican congressional committee. The spacious dining room was tastefully decorated with ferns, palms and creeping ivy. Covers were laid for fifty and, aside from thirty-seven members of the congressional committee, there were present Mark A. Hanna, Gen. Horace Porter, Gen. W. M. Osborne, Hon. H. C. Payne, Senators Thurston, Shoup, Mitchell and Dawes and Representative Boutelle of Maine. When the cigars were brought in Hon. J. W. Babcock, chairman of the committee, introduced Mr. Hanna in a short speech. Mr. Hanna responded with much feeling and complimented the committee on its effective work. It was nearly midnight when the festivities ended.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Result of the Vote at Several Cities and Towns in Massachusetts.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 9.—Augustus Sprague, dem., was re-elected mayor by 987 plurality. License carried. The common council stands 16 republicans, 8 democrats. Four women are elected to the school board. Springfield elected a democratic mayor and license won. At Brockton the republicans re-elected the mayor, defeated license and control the common council. Gloucester elected a republican mayor and defeated license. At Fall River Mayor Green, republican, was re-elected. The city government is strongly republican. License carried.

Salem, Mass., Dec. 9.—Mayor Turner was re-elected yesterday for the fourth term, and no license was carried. While the republicans made nominations, politics cut no figure, the vote being a matter of personal popularity.

Taunton, Mass., Dec. 9.—At the city election N. J. W. Fish, republican, was elected mayor without opposition. Republicans have a big majority in the board of aldermen and common council. The vote on license was 2,468 yes; 1,738 no.

Life Sentence Reduced.

Albany, Dec. 9.—Gov. Morton has reduced to forty years, subject to commutation for good behavior, the sentence of William West of New York city, a life prisoner in Sing Sing. This will release West in September, 1898, when he will have served twenty-four years. West was a convict in Sing Sing, and in a quarrel killed a fellow convict.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Prices lower; trade fair; Dec., 87c.; May, 86c.

Corn—Spot easy; old prices prevail. Dec., 29c.; May, 31½c.

Oats—Trade firm; moderate demand. Dec., 23¾c.; May, 26⅝c.

Lard—Market firm; moderate trade. Prime western, $4.9.

Pork—Prices steady; moderate trade. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.50@9.00; family, $10.00@10.75.

Says:

Eggs—Spot trade dull and weak. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 21@25c.; ice house, 16@21c.; western, fresh, 21@23c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 20@21½.

Butter—Receipts continue moderate. Creamery western extras, 24c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19@23c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Steady; moderate demand. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:13 a. m.
un sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Westfield bowling team will meet the Park Club team in this city next Monday evening.

WHIST.

The new challenge trophy cup of the Park Club was first played for on Monday night in a contest between the teams from the Orange Whist Club and the Jersey City Club. The Jersey City team won the trophy by a score of 12 to 10. The game was played at Newark. The cup will be played for again on next Monday evening when the team from the Elizabeth Whist and Chess Club will go to Jersey City to play for it.

CYCLING COMMEN.T

Joe Harrison, the well known bicycle rider from Asbury Park, has gone on the stage in a cycle drama in Wilmington, Delaware. Harrison has won many prizes in the race meets of the Crescent Wheelmen while in the amateur ranks. His present action will throw him in the professional class next year.

A sample of the Cleveland Swell Special for '97, has been received by the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company and is now on exhibition in their windows. The wheel shows a number of improvements over the '96 model. The frame is longer and the rake to the forks is not as great as before. There are a number of improvements in the bearings, handle-bars, and rear tubing. The road wheel weighs about 23 pounds complete.

Monte Scott, the well-known racer has accepted a challenge from Eddie McDuffee for a twenty-five mile race for next spring. Scott prefers to have the riders unpaced riding around the track in opposite directions but the Boston lad preferred the ordinary method with pace-makers and Scott has conceded the point. At present he is in Denver but he will probably come East at once to arrange the details for the meeting.

Mrs. Hall's Newark Lectures.

The second of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall's course of parlor lectures was given yesterday morning at the residence of Mrs. Richardson, 64 Park place, Newark, N. J. The subject of the talk was "General Francis Marion and the Huguenots of South Carolina." A large audience, comprising several members of the Huguenot Society, and other well-known Newark ladies, was present. Mrs. Hall sketched in an interesting manner the career of the noted partisan leader, describing some of his hair-breadth escapes, and his signal service to the patriot cause during the Revolutionary War. He was of Huguenot descent. The last lecture of the course will take place on Tuesday next, at Davis' parlors on Broad street. "Subject: Byron and the Heroes of the Greek Revolution."

A Year a Voter.

Bert Honeyman, of Duer street, was agreeably surprised Monday evening by a few of his friends. The event was the celebration of Mr. Honeyman's twenty second birthday. Dancing and games helped to pass an evening of great pleasure to the following guests who were present: The Misses Smith, Nettie Krietling, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Connett, George Taylor and Harry Carey, of Plainfield; Miss Quick, of North Branch.

Roselle Sewer Assessment.

There is a vigorous protest from the owners of corner lots in Roselle over the fact that the sewer commissioners have assessed corner lots about $10 more than other lots in the block.

—The newest thing in town is to buy $1 fleeced-lined underwear for 67 cents at Jaquett's.

—The Garden State Poultry and Pigeon Association will hold a meeting, Friday afternoon, at 19 Park Place, New York, to settle up the business of the show held in Plainfield last week.

HOLDS without tearing. The Vim Grip HOSE SUPPORTER. Never Slips or Unfastens.

Sample Pair, by Mail, 25c.

Cushioned Button Clasp.

GEORGE FROST CO. 551 Tremont St. BOSTON, MASS.

All Styles and Sizes at Plainfield stores.

CAGES ATTACHED.

William Hand Don't Want to Risk His Pay For Carting.

The history of the cages that played such an important part in the recent poultry and pigeon show must be a varied one. Another chapter in this eventful history was enacted last evening when the cages that contained them was attached by Constable Mattox on a claim from William Hand & Son for about $10.

It was Hand's trucks that carried these cages over to the Jersey Cycle Academy and then brought then back after the show was over. They are the property of the Spratt Patent, and Mr. Hand was promised his pay as soon as the goods were delivered at the car, but it was not forthcoming. The car was soon to leave and to make sure of his claim Mr. Hand appeared before Justice Nash last evening and the writ of attachment was issued. The car is now being held until Mr. Hand hears from the owners of the property inside.

LAID DOWN TO DIE IN THE WOODS!

Umbrella Mender Stricken With Fever Found Unconscious by a Hunter.

David Romel, of Liberty Corner, while hunting in the woods north of Liberty Corner Saturday found an unconscious man lying on the ground. Romel secured assistance and the man was taken to Liberty Corner. Dr. Fields examined the man and found that he had fever and that the first joints of his fingers were frozen. All medicines had to be forced down his threat, while the man pleaded with the doctor to let him die.

The man, who is an umbrella mender, refuses to give his name. It is supposed that he was taken sick while going through the woods and laid down to die. Before laying down the man had gathered leaves into two sacks and had put his feet into one sack and his head into the other. His recovery is thought to be doubtful.

KICKED IN THE JAW.

An Ugly Horse Lands a Hoof in Alfred Ackerson's Face.

A narrow escape from a broken jaw occured yesterday afternoon when Alfred Ackerson, coachman for F. A. Pope, was kicked in tho left side of the face by one of Mr. Pope's horses. The blow was so heavy that it knocked the coachman flat and stunned him for a few minutes. When he recovered he sought Dr. Tomlinson who prescribed the proper treatment. Mr. Ackerman's face pains him very much, but he considers that he was fortunate in not having any broken bones.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, nd giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

Pay Your Butcher or be Blacklisted.

At a regular meeting of the Retail Butchers Mutual Protective Association, held last night, the following was adopted. Resolved, that the name of all who are in arrears to any member of this association and who fail to make satisfactory payments before January 1, 1897, shall be placed on the black list and the attorney of the Association shall be instructed to begin proceedings at once to collect the amount due.

Street Car Jumped the Track.

One of the Somerset trolley cars ran off the track in front of the High School building, last evening, and remained off until the car from the mountain came down and pulled it on.

Mr. Horr Improving.

Ex Congressman Roswell G. Horr, of Park avenue, is considerably improved in health today and his recovery is now looked on as very probable.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

Mrs. David Snediker, of Grove street, gave an informal tea Monday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Blanche Miller, of Newark.

—A meeting of Engine Company, No. 2, was held last evening, at which time further arrangements for their fair were made. There was a large attendance.

—A number of the members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, attended a meeting of Palestine Commandery in New York on Monday night.

—At the meeting of the United Brotherhood, No. 155, of Carpenters and Joiners, held last evening, officers for the ensuing year were nominated. The election will be held Tuesday evening, December 22d.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

Guns, Ammunition, Shooting Coats, Leggings, Cartridge Belts, etc.

Bicycles and Guns Rented and Repaired. PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

ONE SOLID WEEK
Commencing MONDAY, DECEMBER 14.

The Versatile Comedian,
CORSE PAYTON,
Supported by the Charming and Talented Actress,
MISS ETTA REED,
and a company of recognized players in a grand repertoire of comedies and dramas, handsomely mounted and staged by a carload of his own special scenery. Gorgeous Costumes, Magnificent Properties, Elaborate Scenery. Each Play a Grand Scenic Production. A complete change of singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of the company at each performance.

CUT THIS OUT.

15c. and this coupon will entitle any lady to the best reserved seat in Music Hall if presented at the Reserved Seat Sale before MONDAY NIGHT at 7 o'clock.

SPECIAL SOUVENIR MATINEES WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY.
Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cts. Matinee Prices, 10cts.; Reserved Seats, 20cts. Sale opens Saturday, Dec. 12, at box office.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for net spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all-wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,
214 WEST FRONT STREET.
M. WEINBERGER.
Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

OVERCOATS.

No sane man, if not already supplied, will hesitate much longer to secure one. We have an immense stock to show you and to show you is next thing to selling you.

PRICES--$8 to $24.

All wool goods, well made, sleeve linings that will last a year without a break. Dressy Kerseys, hanssome Beavers, nobby Cheviots, and durable Meltons. All sizes 33 to 48. They are right all through, inside and out. The appearance, the style the fit and the finish you can see at a glance, but they're just as right inside, at the points you don't see but have to trust us for.

McGREGOR & COMPANY,
850-852 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

Bargains in Real Estate
For sale or to let.
MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,
Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue
Armstrong Mulford, Assistant
BROKER.

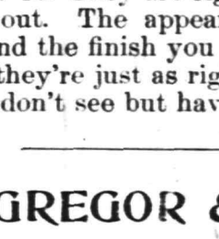
Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

HOLIDAY PRESENTS IN ENDLESS VARIETY AT HARPER'S,
411 PARK AVENUE.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

NASAL CATARRH is a LOCAL DISEASE and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes. This remedy does not contain mercury or any other injurious drug.

ELY'S Cream Balm opens and cleans the Nasal Passages. Allays Pain and Inflammation. Heals and Protects the Membrane from Colds. Restores the senses of Taste and Smell. Is quickly absorbed. Gives relief at once. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; samples 10c. by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

CATARRH



COLD IN HEAD

P. H. ZIMMER,
Practical Machinist and Engineer,
Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.
12 1 1y

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co

are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.
Christmas Tree Holders, Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver-plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks, Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1.98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.
Telephone Call 49 I. 9 3 1y

NOTICE.

Estate of Robert Anderson deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate to the county of Union, made on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from the 6th day of November 1896, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
ANSON W. ANDERSON, Administrator.
11 18 10-oaw-w

GREATEST CHRISTMAS BARGAINS YET!

We are not exaggerating when we say we are now showing the largest and most attractive assortment of Christmas Goods this town has ever seen, and at Lower Prices. We can save you money and sell you first-class goods, too. Come right to EDSALL'S first. You will save time. We can mention only a few sample bargains.

1 lot hard wood children's desks, drop lid, 18-in wide, 24-in high, only 98c., worth $1.25.
1 lot slate top children's desks, 18-in wide, 24-in high, 49c.
1 lot hard wood children's rockers only 53c.
1 lot easel blackboards, 18x20-in, only 29c.
1 lot dolls' wire bedsteads and mattress only 21c.
1 lot children's upholstered swings only 47c.
1 lot children's A, B, C blackboards 17c.
1 lot lead soldiers, large size, 16c.
1 lot spring runner boy's sleds 49c.
1 lot mechanical toys, carpenter, machinist, etc., only 39c.
1 lot soldiers', firemen and sailors' uniforms only 35c.
1 lot buckboards $2.98.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS.

It is just impossible to give you an idea of the great values we can offer you in this line.

Our own importations of Bisque Figures, Bric-a-brac and French China, embracing the handsomest line of Cups and Saucers, Plates, Chocolate Pitchers, Fern Bowls, Trays, and novel pieces ever shown in this section, and the prices are fully 25 per cent lower than ever before.

On our first or main floor
you will find about everything you can think of in the Dry and Fancy Goods line, and every article has been purchased at the lowest price that money and skill in buying can produce.

Then our plan of selling
double the amount at one-half the usual profit makes our prices lower than the lowest.

In a word
just save yourself time, trouble and expense and come for your Holiday Goods direct to

EDSALL'S.

Call at J. F. MACDONALD'S
The Uptown Grocery.

And be convinced that it is our aim to supply the people with the best goods at the lowest prices and that we now have a full line of all the new goods necessary to make your order complete.

Musc Raisins,	3 lbs. for 25cts.		Figs,	10 cts. per lb.
Table "	5 " " 50 "		English Wallnuts,	15 " "
Currants,	3 " " 25 "		Paper Shell Almonds,	25 " "
Cal. Prunes,	2 " " 25 "		Pecans,	18 " "
" Apricots,	2 " " 25 "		Filberts,	15 " "

A choice lot of apples by the barrel at an equally low price.

That Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
—Dealers in—
Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.
Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock
Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Special--We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.
Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25
SEBRING'S.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.
CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

UNDER A MARRIAGE BELL

MISS MARGARET CODDINGTON BECOMES THE WIFE OF IRA GRAMLEY.

The Ceremony Performed at the House of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Krewson, by the Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes.

It was, indeed, a very pretty home wedding that was celebrated last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Krewson, 469 West Front street, when their niece, Miss Margaret A. Coddington, was united in marriage to Ira Gramley, of Kaneville, Illinois. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. R. Barnes, pastor of the brides' church in the presence of about forty friends and relatives. The rooms were prettily decorated with evergreens and roses, while the parlor presented the most attractive appearance. In one corner was arranged a bower of evergreens, suspended from which was a beautiful marriage bell, under which the bridal party stood. The ceremony took place at 6.30.

The bridemaid, Miss Jennie Brokaw, richly gowned in pink silk, rimmed with pink, satin preceded the party. She was followed by the bride, exquisitely gowned in white albatross, trimmed with white satin, who entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, Job Coddington, who gave his daughter away in marriage. The groom and best man, Winfield C. Coddington, brother of the bride, entered the parlor from the hallway, and met the others beneath the marriage bell. The marriage was performed with a ring. Both the bride and bridemaid carried white and pink roses.

Following the ceremony the happy couple were showered with congratulations by their friends.

The guests then adjourned to another room where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. The table was laiden with all the good things of the season and the decorations were very fine.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a large collection of useful and ornamental presents.

In a few days Mr. and Mrs. Gramley will leave town and visit friends in various New Jersey towns, after which they will go to Centre county, Pa., to spend several weeks. From there they will go to Kaneville, Ill., where they will reside. At the latter place Mr. Gramley has a large and productive farm.

The bride is well-known in this vicinity, and is an accomplished and highly esteemed young woman. Her many friends wish both her and her husband a bright and prosperous journey through life.

A Novel Kind of Sociable.

A very delightful evening is being arranged by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. Church for Friday night, when they will hold a "library sociable" in Vincent Chapel. The entertainment promises to be something new and very enjoyable, and a pleasant time is promised to all who can be present. The ladies have extended a cordial invitation to all their friends to come and enjoy themselves. The name suggests all sorts of ideas, but the committee has refused to reveal any of the particulars and will wait and surprise their guests with something entirely new.

Said to Have a Permit.

In regard to the catch basin at the corner of West Front and New streets, about which there has been so much complaint, The Daily Press is informed that a few years ago the Common Council gave the Plainfield Electric Light Company a permit to run their exhaust pipe into the sewer which connects with the basin, and in order to have the nuisance abated the permission will have to be revoked. It is said that at the mouth of the sewer, which is in Green brook, back of Mr. Lindsey's property, the odor is very offensive.

State Teachers' Association.

The New Jersey State Teachers' Association will hold its annual meeting in the Normal School, Trenton, on Dec. 28-30th. Speakers of State and national repute have been secured for the occasion. A resolution will be introduced at the meeting authorizing the officers to incorporate the association in accordance with and under the provisions of the laws of the State of New Jersey.

A Thankful Man.

Many thanks to offer to the voters of the Fourth ward for the nomination and election to the office of Justice of the Peace of the West End.

Adam Young,
815 South Second street.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

THE GLORY OF CHRISTIANITY.

Excellent Sermon Preached in Grace M. E. Church Last Night.

J. Y. Dobbins, D. D., of East Orange, preached an eloquent sermon last evening in the Grace M. E. church. His text was taken from 1 Corinthians, third chapter, and the three last verses: "Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours; whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours; and ye are Christs; and Christ is God's."

Rev. Mr. Dobbins said in substance: "It is profitable to note the connection in these three verses. Paul always reaches safe conclusions, and shows in a grand manner how all things are ours through Christ. He warns men against their own wisdom, for worldly wisdom is as foolishness before God, for God taketh the wise in their own craftiness. Paul shows that all things are ours, therefore we should follow no man, for we are Christ's, and joint heirs with Him; we are to realize that the great estate, the whole universe, is ours, for in God we move, live and have our being. We should get the fact into our hearts that Christ has gone to prepare a place for us, and that He will come again to receive us to Himself to enjoy the glory of His presence through eternity. Christ said: 'I was a thirst and ye gave Me to drink;' such is the service that is acceptable. The law of service and character is what counts. Christ then took upon Himself the form of man and became a little lower than the Angels that He might be of service. It is not the quantative but the qualative service that is acceptable. There will be many lowly servants who have not been trumpeted, that will receive the blessed words our Master welcoming them to share the glories of the home of our Savior."

This service was preceded by a fifteen-minute song service in which many appropriate Gospel songs were sung.

Good Reading

About good things you will find in White's advertisement. They are all ready for the holiday rush, and have prepared for the biggest business they have ever done. On Monday morning they will have a force of fifty salespeople, insuring to you the most prompt attention and good service. Their toy department is a regular fairyland for the children. There is everything to gladden their hearts The girls and boys, ladies and gentlemen have been well taken care of, as there are thousands of good, useful articles, that will make nice presents. You will find the store, as Mr. White says, a place where you can go, stay as long as you wish, and feel perfectly at home. You will find a crowd, but there is plenty of room for all.

Anxious For a Fountain Order.

A number of respresentatives of different firms manufacturing soda water fountains were in town yesterday to see L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, who expects to put in a new soda fountain shortly. Among the representatives were J. Allen Sangston, of the Lowe Art Tile Company, New York, J. H. Fredrichs, of Charles Lippincott and Company, Philadelphia, and a representative John Matthews and Company, of New York. Mr. Sangston was formerly a resident of this city and is well-known here.

For Saturday Only—Clothing Given Away.

Every one buying one of Jaquett's $16.00, $18.00 or $20.00 overcoats will get a present of a fashionable hat, or a child's suit; or $2.00 discount on any man's or young man's suit in the house; or every one buying a $10.00 or $15.00 overcoat will get a present of a child's separate pants, or a child's hat or a fine necktie; or $1.00 discount on any man's, young man's, boys' or children's suit in the house. This is a bona fide offer made for one day only, to reduce the stock and to introduce new goods.

Gone to Her Heavenly Home.

Tuesday, about noon, the wife of Rev. H. F. F. Schnellendruessler, died at her home on Milton place, from an attack of pneumonia, after a brief illness, surrounded by her husband, daughter and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, who had providentially been led to call at the house just at the hour of the spirit leaving the body. The funeral services will be held from the late residence of deceased to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Another Example.

Mrs. W. C. Williams, of East Front street, lost a black onyx pin and advertised for it in The Press. Andrew Mulford, of East Fifth street, found the pin and, noticing the advertisement in The Press, returned it to this office yesterday afternoon where the owner soon secured it. This is only another example of the advantages of Daily Press ads.

WOULDN'T SHOW BOOKS.

JACOB KIRKNER HAS TROUBLE WITH THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

Exchange Officials Demand Mr. Kirkner to Show Books Which Distinguished Lawyers Said He Ought Not to Do.

The New York Sun this morning says: "The Governors of the New York Stock Exchange, at a full meeting, which began yesterday afternoon and lasted well into the evening, suspended Jacob Kirkner for one year for "acts detrimental to the welfare of the Exchange." In a word, Mr. Kirkner had refused the request of a special committee of the Governors, consisting of Rudolph Keppler, W. H. Granbery and James McGovern, to show his books, which are supposed to contain his transactions for the firm of E. B. Cuthbert & Co., of 30 Broad street.

"In passing, it should be said that at the request of Cuthbert & Co. Joseph H. Choate, John R. DosPassos and Edward Lauterbach submitted briefs a short time ago to the effect that the special committee, consisting of Messrs. Keppler, Granbery and McGovern, had no authority to ask the firm or Mr. Kirkner or any other broker acting for the firm to produce their books either to prove or disprove any allegations that may have been lodged against the firm or any of its brokers.

"The special committee of the Governors paid no heed whatever to the opinions of these three distinguished lawyers, and yesterday, for the last time, before the meeting of the full Board of Governors convened, they asked Mr. Kirkner to produce his books for the purpose of demonstrating to them exactly the nature of the transaction he had had with Cuthbert & Co. Mr. Kirkner again refused, and the Governors, after a session lasting from 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon to 7 o'clock in the evening, passed sentence of suspension on Mr. Kirkner. This means that Mr. Kirkner, during the year which he is debarred from the privileges of the Stock Exchange, must pay his dues and gratuity fund assessments and all other fees just as if he were in full enjoyment of these privileges.

"Mr. Kirkner is one of the best known brokers on the Stock Exchange. He has been a member of the institution since Aug. 31, 1876. His office is at 24 New street. In years gone by he has been especially prominent as a vigorous and successful room trader, and on many occasions he was considered to be a factor in the market. He is a resident of Plainfield. Acting on the briefs submitted by the three lawyers already mentioned, he has all along protested that the special committee of Governors had no authority to examine his books, and he has persistently refused to show them."

EUCHRE CLUB ORGANIZED.

To Be Known as the Saturday Evening Club—The Members.

The organization of the Saturday Evening Euchre Club took place last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terhune, on Sandford avenue. Nearly all the members are residents of the above avenue, and it is the purpose of the club to meet bimonthly at the home of the members. The first meeting will be held Dec. 19th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terhune. The club has twenty members and is limited to twenty-four. Those who compose the membership of the club are Mr. and Mrs. Terhune, Mr. and Mrs. Nightingale, Mr. and Mrs. DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. W. R Codington, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Longman, Mrs. Kampman, Harry C. VanEmburgh, Miss Force, Miss Cornwell, Whitfield Terriberry, Mr. and Mrs. Dryden.

At the Plainfield High School.

The Senior essays for December are due to-morrow. The subjects are "The Life Works of Ian Maclaren," "A Character Sketch of George Eliot," and a review of one of Eliot's works.

The regular weekly singing lesson was held Tuesday morning under the charge of Charles L. Lewis, and the time was spent in practicing the new Christmas anthem. The school has already greatly improved under Mr. Lewis' careful instruction.

Preparations are being made by the Seniors for their regular Christmas ceremonies which will be held on Wednesday, December 23d.

Justice Newcorn's Court.

The criminal assault case of Dunham against Carthorne, was tried before Justice Newcorn yesterday and the defendant was held to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Justice Newcorn has issued summons in the cases of Linke against Smith; Smith against Frank Conde, returnable Dec. 18th, and Sternberg against Connolly, returnable Dec. 17th.

MUSIC OF SEVEN AGES.

A REALLY NOVEL AFFAIR GIVEN IN THE SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Programme Divided Into Seven Parts as Representing the Varying Periods of Man From Infancy to His Dotage.

"One man in his time plays many parts.
His acts being seven ages."

Such were the words used by one of the characters in Shakespeare's "As You Like It," and they headed the programme at the third musical of the Christian Endeavor society of the Seventh Day Baptist church, held in the church parlors last evening. The musicale was arranged in a novel manner, the programme being divided into seven parts, each representing one of the "ages" referred to in Shakespeare's "Seven Ages of Man," in that play. The novelty of the entertainment pleased the large audience that crowded the rooms while its excellence was enjoyed by all.

Little envelopes were handed to the visitors on their entrance and the inscription "silver offering" told plainly its use. As a result the treasury of the society was considerably increased.

The first "age" was the infant and the selections were all appropriate. The programme opened with a reading by Miss Louise Lewis, "The Rockaby Lady," by Eugene Field. It was well given and then a quartette, composed of Miss Nancy Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Titsworth and L. S. Bond, charmingly rendered the selection, "O Hush Thee, My Baby." This part of the programme ended with a cradle song, well given by Mrs. D. E. Titsworth. Miss Jessie Utter acted as accompanist while J. Z. Petrie played a violin obligato to the piece.

The second part was "The School Boy," and consisted of a reading of one of Eugene Field's poems, "Jest 'fore Christmas," by Miss Lewis and a well rendered alto solo, "Thou Wondrous Youth," by Julia J. Ketcham.

"The Lover" was the title of the next division of the programme. Miss Lewis recited "Diamond Cut Diamond," and then Walter H. McIlroy sang "Because I Love You" in his usual excellent manner, his fine tenor voice sounding sweet and powerful in his rendition of the selection. This part concluded with a fine violin solo by Mr. Petrie.

After the lover came "the soldier." First came the reading by Miss Lewis, entitled "Lucasta on Going to the Wars." "The Two Grenadiers" was the title of a delightful bass solo by D. E Titsworth. A male quartette, composed of Messrs. A. L. Titsworth, McIlroy, Bond and D. E. Titsworth, then gave "The Soldier's Farewell" in a manner that called for loud and prolonged applause.

Next came the age of "the justice." Miss Lewis read from Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure," and then followed one of Miss Mabel Maxson's delightful piano solos, a selection from the works of Schubert.

The ages were slipping quickly past and now "the lean and slippered pantaloon" was reached. A short selection from Longfellow was read by Miss Lewis and then a trio, composed of Miss Ketcham, Mrs. Frank Clawson and Mr. Bond, gave the song "Memory" in a feeling manner.

"The last scene of all" ended the programme. Miss Lewis's reading was 'Carcassonne" and Mr. McIlroy sang the tenor solo, "Come to Me, My Love." The entertainment concluded with another selection by the first quartette, "No Shadows Yonder." Then the audience passed out depositing their little envelopes in the waiting plate at the door.

Much credit is due to the committee that arranged this delightful evening for the novelty of their idea and the very successful manner in which it was worked out. The committee consisted of Miss Jessie M. Utter, chairman, Mrs. J. G. Miller, Miss Ida Randolph and Miss Louise Lewis.

C. O. A. Tonight.

The Charity Organized Aid will meet this evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, when Gen. Wager Swayne, of New York, will deliver an address. Miss Luella Harris, soprano soloist at the First Baptist church, will also sing. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested.

Dr. Barnes to Lecture.

Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, pastor of the First M. E. church, will deliver a lecture this evening at the New York University, and tomorrow evening he will address the North New Jersey Preachers' Association at Hackettstown.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

ROBBERS CHLOROFORMED DOGS.

Then They Burglarized a House While the Owner Slept on a Loaded Revolver.

The residence of Mr. Grant, who has charge of Senator McPherson's farm at Elmora, was burglarized early Tuesday morning. It is supposed the work was done by the same gang that afterwaid fired upon the Elizabeth police. The thieves secured at Mr. Grant's, a gold watch, $7 in cash and a woman's seal skin cloak.

The house is guarded by four dogs and Mr. Grant has three loaded guns on the premises. Besides this, he sleeps with a loaded revolver under his pillow. Yet despite all these precautions the robbers stole articles out of the rooms in which he and his wife were sleeping. She heard the noise made by the thieves, but thought it was the dogs moving about. All the animals, it is said, had been chloroformed.

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE.

Miss Daisy Elsberg Entertained a Party of Young Friends at Cards.

A delightful euchre party was given last evening by Miss Daisy Elsberg, of Prospect place, to a number of her friends. Most of the evening was spent in a game of progressive euchre. The first prizes were won by Miss Helen Worman and Allen Laing. Miss Hallie Van Deventer took the consolation prize. Very handsome silver prizes were given to the winners.

Among those present were Mrs. A. M. Griffin, the Misses Halla Van Deventer, Mabel Van Deventer, Laura Long, Sarah Long, Margaret Long, Adelaide Ball and Helen Worman, Mr. Conklin, of Harvard College, Clarence Peck, A. Willis West, Allen Laing, Fred H. Ball and George Worth.

At Rest.

The funeral services of the late Miss Augusta C. Bagot took place yesterday afternoon from the church of her childhood, Plymouth, Brooklyn, from whence her body was taken to Greenwood cemetery for interment. The top of the casket was covered with lillies and two magnificent pillows of roses, and several other floral pieces were placed beside the casket during the service, and as relatives and friends gazed for the last time, on earth, at the face of the deceased, tears of anguish were one of the evidences of sorrow at the earthly loss of one so good and lovable.

A Card From Mr. Littell.

To the Editor of the Daily Press:—I desire to say that a certain statement, which was made for a malicious purpose at the Third ward polling-place on the night of the city election, December 1st, while the votes were being counted, has just come to my knowledge. It was that I voted a certain marked ballot, which came out of the ballot-box, written on with a stylographic pen or ink of some description. It is not true. I deem it my duty to brand such a statement as a willful lie. D. W. Littell.

A Double Surprise.

A double surprise party was given at the home of Miss Cortwright, of East Sixth street, last evening. Miss Sadie Searing, of Madison avenue and Miss Louise Koller, of Lincoln place, were invited there to spend the evening only to find, on arriving there, that about twenty of their friends had gathered to give them a surprise. The evening passed very pleasantly with dancing and conversation while a bountiful collation was served toward the close. The music was furnished by Prof. Guttman.

To Revive Temperance.

A revival of the temperance cause is about to be started in this city, and the first meeting for the purpose will be held in Howell Division rooms, tomorrow evening. Prominent speakers will be present and address the meeting and it is to be hoped that much good will result.

Inspected Mountain Avenue.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met in North Plainfield this morning and looked over the work of macadamizing on Mountain avenue. The work, it is understood, gives universal satisfaction. The Board then dinnered at McVeys.

Change of Lodge Rooms.

At a meeting of Crescent Division, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, K. of P., held last evening, it was decided to give up their present quarters on West Front street and go to the K. of P. rooms on West Second street. After the meeting the members accepted the kind invitation of Sergeant John H. Tier and enjoyed an oyster supper at his expense.

—Court Plainfield, No. 1,144, Independent Order of Foresters, will initiate three candidates, elect three officers for the ensuing year and make arrangements to hold an anniversary, ball and entertainment at their meeting on Friday night. A large attendance of members is desired.

PLACE FOR XMAS GIFTS

FESTIVAL BEING CONDUCTED BY ALL SOULS' CHURCH WOMEN.

The Different Booths and Tables Present a Varied Array of Articles Which Will Make Useful Presents for Christmas.

The Christmas season is at hand and so the Christmas festival which opened in the parlors of All Souls' Unitarian church yesterday afternoon was very appropriate to the time. The parlors were appropriately dressed for the occasion and presented a very pretty appearance with the pine and other evergreen branches artistically hung about the room and on the pale yellow drapery of the different booths. Smiling faces brightened the place as the many lights could not do and altogether the opening of the fair was an auspicious one.

The festival was gotten up by the ladies for the benefit of the church and will be continued the rest of the week. A big sign and transparency informed the passerby of the fact and attracted many within. The attendance for the first night was good and everybody was, of course, delighted.

The different booths or tables are arranged about the sides of the parlors and on them are displayed a choice collection of articles of the many kinds. The tables are tastefully draped in pale yellow with evergreen trimmings. Nearest the entrance is the linen table on which many beautiful embroidered linens are to be found. This table is under the supervision of Mrs. W. F. Adams, Mrs. L. B. Woolston and Miss Hattie Currie. A varied supply of aprons is exhibited on the apron table which is looked after by Mrs James F. Buckle and Mrs. S. E. Walker. The miscellaneous table is described by its name and there are to be found many pretty fancy articles. This table is presided over by Mrs. Henry B. Wells, Mrs. A. G. Kerr and Miss Caroline Barber. A dainty display of delicious homemade candies makes another table very popular and here Mrs. C. L. Brownell and Miss Eva Pierce look after the many customers.

The "gem" table was something new and on it were to be found a number of little photographic gems which found a ready market. Harold Brownell and Malcomb Davis looked after this table. A small but imposing chef, decked out in white cap and apron, presided over the pop corn stall. Joseph Osgood was the name of his brave young chef. The "arrow" table, an invention on the same plan as the grab bag, only different, is under the charge of Irving Buckle and Thomas DeMeza.

A side room, artistically decorated in pink and blue, is the chocolate room of the Lend-a-Hand society. Here the young ladies of the church serve that delightful beverage and cake. The young ladies here are the Misses Emma Buckle, Grace Osgood, Laura Osgood, Ellen Osgood, Dorothy Wells, and Ada Wilston. Mrs. J. O. Osgood is everywhere at once and has general supervision over the festival.

Besides the tables there was another attraction which is the programme. Last evening there were recitations by Miss Brenahan, of South Plainfield, piano solos by Miss Alice Barlow, and a reading by Miss Ada Woolston. For this evening another pleasant entertainment has been arranged. Miss Mary B. Brown will read "Samantha Allen in the Rose Act," there will be a piano duet by the Misses Mary and Katie Graves and two songs by Harold Brownell and Thomas DeMeza.

AN AFTERNOON WEDDING.

Mrs. Ella Belle Ridley and R. Willard Ware Joined in Wedlock.

A very quiet wedding took place this afternoon when Mrs. Ella Belle Ridley and R. Willard Ware were united in marriage at the home of the bride, 821 Second place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. L. Goodrich and was a simple one, only the immediate family of the bride and groom being present. The marriage took place at one o'clock and after a lunch served by Max Wiertz, the couple left for a short visit to Washington, D. C.

Mr. Ware is a civil engineer and has an office in New York. He has resided at 810 Second place. Mr. and Mrs. Ware will continue to reside on Second place on their return from their wedding journey.

—The junior department of the Y. M. C. A will give an exhibition of the regular class work on Saturday morning at 10:45 in the gymnasium. Friends are invited.

—Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will confer the second rank on the one candidate, nominate officers for the ensuing year, and the Amplified Work team will have a rehearsal on Friday night.

AS VIEWED ABROAD

Opinions of Statesmen Regarding Our Relations with Cuba.

CRISPI SEES TROUBLE FOR EUROPE

Sir Charles Dilke Says Our Intervention Would Be No Precedent---Senor Silvela Looks for No Action on Our Part.

Paris, Dec. 10.—The Gaulois, having addressed queries to a number of prominent statesmen regarding the relations between the United States and Cuba, has received replies from several of its correspondents, which it will print to-day. Signor Crispi, ex-prime minister of Italy, in his reply says the subject is too wide to be properly discussed in a letter, and that its full consideration would require a volume. Signor Crispi concludes by asserting that the American people are trying to prepare a future which will not be an agreeable one for the peoples of the old world, and expresses surprise that European statesmen should remain indifferent upon the subject. Sir Charles Dilke, member of the English house of commons, says, in his response, that the intervention of the United States government in Cuba would not be a precedent, and cites the cases of the French in Mexico and the British in Venezuela. Senor Silvela, the leader of the Spanish dissident conservatives, in his answer to the Gaulois, says that he is convinced that the United States will not intervene in Cuban affairs and that no such action is contemplated in the present policy of the American government.

SPANIARDS STILL REJOICE.

Confirmation of Report of Maceo's Death Causes Glee in Havana.

Havana, Dec. 10.—A correspondent at Artemisa reports that Gen. Weyler, with his troops, passed through San Cristobal on the 7th, marching along the highway towards Candelaria. It is still unkown, the correspondent adds, whether or not the captain-general has encountered any body of the insurgents. The Havana newspapers all print leading articles upon the alleged death of Maceo, and all of them express joy over the report of his demise. They also publish more detailed accounts of the finding of the bodies alleged to be those of Maceo and young Gomez, tending to verify the reports of their death. It is reported that a band of rebels have attacked Arroyo Maranja, near Havana, setting fire to many houses in the town. After sharp fighting the insurgents were repulsed. Five of the soldiers forming the garrison of the town were wounded and one woman was killed. The rebels, it is said, lost heavily, but carried their dead and wounded away with them. Jacinto Collado Rodriguez was shot yesterday at Matanzas for the crime of rebellion. Twenty-five hundred more soldiers for the army have arrived from Spain. Captain General Weyler, in view of the scarcity of the supply of meat for the troops and the residents of the towns in the Pinar del Rio province caused by the difficulty of getting cattle for slaughter, issued a decree ordering the troops to assist the cattlemen to get their stock into the fields. The decree also prescribes rules for the payment to the owners of the value of their cattle. The press of Havana remain silent concerning the reference to Cuba contained in President Cleveland's message to congress. Official circles also maintain absolute reserve in regard to the subject.

Maceo's Reported Death Pleases Salisbury.

London, Dec. 10.—The Daily News to-day will say that Conde de Casa Valencia, the Spanish ambassador in London, had not heard the report of the death of General Maceo until he visited the foreign office yesterday afternoon, when Lord Salisbury congratulated him upon the news, which is confirmed from British sources.

New York Stock Exchange Holidays.

New York, Dec. 10.—The governing committee of the stock exchange has decided to close the exchange on the Saturday following Christmas, which falls on Friday. The exchange will be open on the Saturday following New Year's. Being the first business day of the new year it was deemed a day of too much importance to close the exchange.

Steamer Sunk by Hamburg Strikers.

Hamburg, Dec. 10.—The German steamer Kaiser, which recently arrived here from Port Natal and had been prepared for the accommodation of the men who had taken the places of some of the dockmen now out on strike, was sunk last night. The police authorities believe the sinking was the work of strikers.

Death of Col. McClellan.

Philadelphia, Dec. 10.—Col. Oliver Eldredge McClellan, who is dead at his home in Germantown, a suburb of this city, at the age of 43, was formerly superintendent of the Middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad, but had retired from the railroad business several years ago.

Anti-Saloon League Officers.

Washington, Dec. 10.—At the evening session of the anti-saloon convention the following officers were elected: President, Hiram Price of Iowa; vice-presidents, Rev. Dr. L. B. Wilson of Washington, Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, Minn., and Rev. John J. Beacon of Pittsburg.

Wesleyan Football Captain.

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 10.—Archie Young, '98, one of the celebrated twins from New Britain, has been elected captain of the Wesleyan football eleven for next year.

MORE CABINET GOSSIP

Several New Names Mentioned for McKinley's Official Family.

WISCONSIN'S BOOM FOR PAYNE

Mark Hanna Confers With the Republican Steering Committee in Washington---Metting of Gold Democrats in Indianapolis This Afternoon.

Canton, O., Dec. 10.—The Wisconsin friends of Mr. Payne of that state are urging his claims to a position in the cabinet, and a delegation of prominent politicians yesterday afternoon called upon Maj. McKinley with that end in view. Friends of Powell Clayton of Arkansas are putting forward the suggestion that he would be an available man for postmaster-general or secretary of war. Col. Otis of California is urging the claims of the Pacific slope to recognition and mentions Judge Waymire of San Francisco, Elwood Cooper of Santa Barbara, and Judge Dehaven of San Francisco. Mrs. McKinley, accompanied by her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette MacWilliams of Chicago, will leave here to-night to spend several days in Chicago at the MacWilliams residence. Maj. McKinley will remain in Canton.

NOT A CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

Ex-President Harrison Says He Can Do More Good in Private Life.

Indianapolis, Dec. 10.—A local paper contains an article to the effect that General Harrison had written a letter to one of his friends declaring that he would not accept the senatorship and was for Fairbanks for senator. When asked if this were true, General Harrison replied: "No, it is not true. I have written no such letter. But to every one who has spoken to me I have, from the time of the first mention of the subject, freely said not only that I was not a candidate, but that I did not want and could not accept the senatorship. To remain in private life is my desire and purpose. This purpose is not wholly selfish, for to those friends who have urged their too friendly views that I could serve the country usefully in public office I have answered that I can render better service out of office; that what I may say or write on public questions as a private citizen will gain more confidence. I shall also keep out of the contest as a meddler. My only interest is that of a citizen proud of his state, and the only advice I have to give is that the legislature shall choose a man who will, in the highest duties of office, dignify the state and honor the country."

NATIONAL GOLD DEMOCRATS.

Meeting of the Executive Committee at Indianapolis This Afternoon.

Indianapolis, Dec. 10.—Late this afternoon chairman W. D. Bynum will call the national executive committee of the national sound money democratic party to order. The members of the committee are W. B. Haldeman, Kentucky; George Foster Peabody, New York; L. C. Krauthoff, Missouri; F. W. M. Cutcheon, Minnesota; P. P. Hopkins, Illinois; J. C. Bullitt, Pennsylvania; C. V. Holman, Maine; J. B. Falkner, Alabama; M. B. Spelman, Louisiana. The committee will discuss the future of the gold standard democracy. It is quite probable that permanent headquarters will be established in this city by the gold standard men, from which literature will be sent out with the end in view of sustaining the organization and the battle against free silver. Col. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, will attend the meeting of the executive committee. This evening an informal banquet will be given at the Bates house in his honor, when it is expected that he will express his political views as to the past, present and future.

MR. HANNA'S MOVEMENTS.

Holds a Conference With the Republican Steering Committee.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Last evening at the capitol the republican senatorial steering committee and Mark Hanna held a conference that lasted upwards of two hours. The situation in the states of North Carolina, South Dakota, Kentucky and Washington, with respect to the election of United States senators, was discussed and it was decided that every honorable method should be employed to elect senators there, if possible. The possibility of passing the Dingley bill was also considered. While the republicans will vote to take that measure up whenever such a motion is made, the committee sees that the bill cannot possibly secure the requisite votes. It was also the judgment of the committee that an extra session of congress should be called at as early a day as possible after the inauguration of Mr. McKinley.

For Secretary of Agriculture.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 10.—L. H. Brigham of Ohio, master of the national grange, was endorsed for secretary of agriculture yesterday by the Illinois state grange.

Hawaiians Call Upon McKinley.

Canton, O., Dec. 10—Henry E. Cooper, Hawaiian minister of foreign affairs, and his private secretary, Benjamin Lodge Marx of Honolulu, are at Canton, and had a conference with the president-elect late yesterday afternoon. Ex-Senator Sawyer of Wisconsin called upon Major McKinley yesterday afternoon.

A Menace to Navigation.

London, Dec. 10.—The British steamer Rialto, at Newcastle from New York, reports having passed a submerged wreck in mid-ocean. It is a menace to navigation.

BRAIN FAGGING.

The Doctors Say There's Death in Too Much Mental Work.

Some interesting observations on the symptoms of mental fatigue were discussed at the recent meeting of the Anthropological society. The result of these investigations goes to prove that weariness of mind, the result of work, like other forms of exhaustion, is recognizable under two different though related aspects of irritability and of incapacity. Further careful inquiry into the same subject would probably show that, here as elsewhere, the former of these conditions is introductory to the latter, and is that natural sequel of that stage of apparently successful overaction which is seen when an organ still fully capable is unduly stimulated.

The observations referred to were culled from a series of reports by school-teachers, and included details of their own sensations as well as of the children under their care. The signs of mental irritability were apparent in sleepiness and nervous laughter; of fatigue, in sleepiness and incapacity for task work.

Lolling, yawning, and a languid manner told that the will was flagging; headache suggested overstrain in study, combined with defective ventilation, and perhaps a too sparing diet; while some curious facts bearing on the causation of color blindness and somnambulism were also noted.

Thus, in one case, the blue-color perception was for a time obliterated, and the sufferer from this defect found herself painting ivy leaves a bright orange; while in another a student, having retired to rest on the eve of an examination, awoke at his desk to find that he had been busily engaged in drawing humorous cartoons relating to a former conversation. Here we have an instance of cerebral irritation due to overwork, which suggests a somewhat close connection between dreaming and somnambulism, and affords a clew to the physiology of the latter condition.

Overwork, both mental and bodily, is at once the most general and the least regarded form of illness to which we are liable in the present age. Do what we may, it is next to impossible to escape from it; but there is, at all events, a certain satisfaction in being able to recognize its features. We must not forget, however, that it is also to a considerable extent a preventable evil, and it is certainly a matter for satisfaction that this fact is not ignored by the reforming party in the legislature.

Its treatment in individual cases requires chiefly that due attention be paid to the two great essentials of timely rest and wholesome diet. Work, however irksome, may, it is generally allowed, be undertaken on a very liberal scale if it is not too continuous, but is broken by timely and adequate intervals of rest.

The value of a plain and liberal dietary is hardly less, and we may take it as a maxim for the times that, so long as appetite and sleep are unimpaired, there is no dangerous degree of overwork; and, consequently, that a failure in either of these respects should be regarded as a warning signal, to which attention should be paid by relieving the strain of exertion.—N. Y. Recorder

THEY NEVER HEARD OF HIM.

Two Chicago Business Men Who Wondered Who George R. Davis Is.

Three men were chatting together in a Madison street cigar store. It was raining outside and neither was in a hurry to leave. One of them was a well-known politician and the other two were apparently successful business men. A military-looking gentleman with snowwhite hair, mustache and chin whiskers entered, says the Chicago Chronicle.

"Good evening," said the politician. "A nasty night," he added.

"Who is that?" queried one of the other two men of the politician after the man he had addressed as colonel had gone out.

"Why, don't you know him—Royal George Davis?"

"Well, who is Royal George Davis, anyway?"

"George R. Davis—don't know George R.?"

"What did he do?"

"Why, man, he was director general of the world's fair!"

"Never heard of him."

The politician looked at the man in undisguised amazement. "Come, buy the cigars," was all he said.

And such is fame.

Constipation

Causes fully half the sickness in the world. It retains the digested food too long in the bowels and produces biliousness, torpid liver, indigestion, bad taste, coated tongue, sick headache, insomnia, etc. Hood's Pills cure constipation and all its results, easily and thoroughly. 25c. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

consumption reaps his richest harvest where diseases of the throat and lungs are neglected.

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

If you have ever tried Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar you know what a safeguard it is against throat and lung troubles. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

Shall we whip

a poorly nourished horse when he is thoroughly tired? He may go faster for a few rods, but his condition is soon the worse for it. Better stop and feed him. Food gives force. If you are thin, without appetite; pale, because of thin blood; easily exhausted; why further weaken the body by using tonics? Begin on a more permanent basis. Take something which will build up the tissues and supply force to the muscular, digestive and nervous systems of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, meets every demand. The cod-liver oil is a food. It produces force without the whip. Every gain is a substantial one. The hypophosphites give strength to the nervous system. An improved appetite, richer blood and better flesh come to stay.

Scott's Emulsion

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been indorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby. All druggists.

Just as Good is not SCOTT'S EMULSION.

J. C. Pope & Co., INSURANCE AGENTS, 110 East Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW Meat Market. George Egel, Manager. Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 13 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours. To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days. To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days. To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 19—25 days. Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE! Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired, inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stable! C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor. No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. Visitors to Plainfield should not allow their horses to stand on the street in the cold hours when I will take care of them for a small charge. 1 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN, Park Avenue Florist, Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER, Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in Cigars, Tobacco, etc. "PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS! Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. STICKLE. 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

Edwin B. Maynard, Hair Cutting and Shampooing. Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's cutting a specialty.

WINTER STYLES Boots, Shoes & Rubbers. Just Received from manufacturers FORCE, 129 Park Avenue. 29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c. Best Dairy Butter 18c. V. L. FRAZEE 151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S VARIETY MARKET. Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A PIANOS If you want a deep, clear, rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S. Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables will be safe in Doane's Safe Deposit Vault. Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery, 144 PARK AVENUE. A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett has removed to 148 EAST FIFTH STREET. Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating. All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle, FRESH AND SALTED MEATS. Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL, 21 Steiner place, North Plainfield. R. H. McCullough, Prop. Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN, Real Estate and Insurance, 197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn, LICENSED AUCTIONEER, Residence, 33 Linden Ave. Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf Telephone 29b. Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON, Plumbing and Hot Water Heating. Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system. NO. 226 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all. ACCIDENT TICKETS. THE INTER-STATE Casualty Company of New York gives SIX MONTHS' insurance $1.000 for $1.00, to men or women between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Department of the State of New York for the security of the insured. For sale at office of Honeyman's Private Tours, 181 North Ave. Plainfield, N. J. 6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman, PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS, Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts. Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey. Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices. The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed. GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI, 120 NORTH AVENUE. Wholesale and Retail. Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE Sewer Connections. DAVID BOWDEN, General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner. 28 YEARS EXPERIENCE. Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES, Mason and Builder, Plainfield, N. J. Residence, 18 Elm place. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly 80

PEARSON & GAYLE, Carpenters and Builders. Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st. All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO. COAL, 747 WEST FRONT ST. Branch office with G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices. M. C. DOBBINS, 206 Park Avenue, Plainfield. 8 15 tf

H. Eggerding, 121 Park ave., Manufacturer of the Celebrated C. O. D. CIGAR. The best 5c cigar in the State, and made be premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN, 187 North Avenue. Practical Plumber. Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer. Telephone Call 128a

L. L. Manning & Son, STEAM GRANITE WORKS, Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church. Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son. STAGES For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER, Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating. Contractor for sewer connections. 210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co., EXCAVATORS. Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager. Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn, RETAIL DEALER IN Fish, Oysters, and Clams. Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes, Dealer in Coal & Wood. Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave. Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S Furniture and Freight EXPRESS. Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract !

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—20 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y .M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE NO. 4.

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this. The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical, stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe ?

DOANE & EDSALL.

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES, and FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & O.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has this Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators.

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

J. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

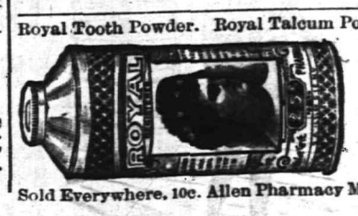
YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wood and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—91 Watchung ave.

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.



Sold Everywhere. 10c. Allen Pharmacy M'g Co.

Beautiful Dolls FREE.

The French Doll.

Five beautiful dolls, lithographed on cardboard, eight inches high. Can be cut out and put together by the children—no pasting. Each doll has two complete suits. American, French, Spanish, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, German, Swiss, Turkish and Indian costumes. All parts being interchangeable, many combinations can be made, affording endless amusement and instruction. A high-class series of dolls, patented and manufactured for us exclusively and not to be compared with the numerous cheap paper dolls on the market.

How To Get Them.

Cut from five outside wrappers of None Such Mince Meat the head of the girl holding pie. Send these with ten cents in silver—wrapped in paper—and your full name and address, and we will send the dolls postpaid. Or we will send them free for twenty heads of the girl. Send only the heads to avoid extra postage.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

STOCKING-FILLERS ?

Thoughtful buyers do not wait until Christmas Eve to think about their purchases. In our stock you will surely find something to interest, always at prices a little lower than elsewhere. Go look where you will, you cannot find anything in all Newark to approach our assortment of Jewelry, Silverware, Cutlery, Watches, Cut Glass, Novelties.

RINGS—are always popular for Christmas gifts. 5-stone Diamond Hoop Ring. $3 up. 5-stone Opal and Pearls. $18 up 5-stone Diamond and Opal. $16 up. 5-stone Opals, $6 up. Children's Rings, 60 cents up. Diamond Cluster, $20 up. Opal and Diamond Cluster, $15 up. Gentleman's Solitaire, from $15 to $150.

Brooches, Sleve Links, Chains, Charms, etc.

RICH CUT GLASS—Low enough in price to make many an acceptable Christmas gift.

OPERA GLASSES—Our own importations, plain leather, best quality lenses, $3. Mother of Pearl, gilt trimmings, $6.

MEN'S WATCHES—Not a watch in our store which we do not guarantee. In nickeled cases, at $2.50. In silver cases, Swiss movement, $5. In silver cases, Waltham or Elgin movement, $10.50.

POCKET KNIVES—For Men and Boys—Discounts to Schools. We are sure of meeting every requirement from our immense assortment. You ca buy one for 5 cents or you can spend $18. Boys' 2, 3 and 4-bladed Knives, 25c. and 50c. Girls' 2-bladed, pearl handle, 25c. From 50c. to $2 we show a large line of our own, Rodgers' and Wostenholm Knives in every variety of handles, with 2, 3 and 4 blades. Razor and Shaving Outfits, Scissors singly and in sets, with plain or silver handles.

WISS'S CUTLERY—Is known for its excellence wherever cutlery is used. Been making them for half a century. Table Knives and Forks, rubber handles, $3.25 set. Table Knives and Forks, celluloid, $4 set. Table Knives, plain handles, 75c. half dozen. Carvers, staghorn handles, $1.25 per pair. Carvers, celluloid handles, $2 per pair.

LADIES' WATCHES—We have them in silver, solid gold, gold-filled cases and enameled cases. Solid 14-kt. gold American Watch, Roman design, $17. Studded with diamonds, $30. Gold-filled cases, warranted 20 years, from $12 up. Ladies' solid silver watches, from $3.50 up.

GOLD SPECTACLES (0 styles), at $5.00 upward, make solid sensible presents. Fitted to the eyes after careful examination. L.B. Hilborn (R. O.), is our optical examiner. The cheaper kind in steel frames $1.00, also those without rims, just lenses and clips—same price—better ones $1.50.

J. WISS & SONS,

755 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for ret spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all-wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

WANT $100 PER DAY.

Supt. Lathrop's Counsel Present a Bill for $22,500.

Albany, Dec. 10.—Senator Edgar T. Brackett and Judge Houghton of Saratoga, who were counsel for Gen. Austin Lathrop, the superintendent of state prisons during the investigation of the charges against the state prison management, had a consultation with State Comptroller Roberts yesterday regarding the compensation they should be paid for their services. They had a bill ready for presentation to the Comptroller which called for the payment of $12,500 to Senator Brackett and $10,000 to Judge Houghton. Another item called for several hundred dollars for expenses such as printing, etc., bringing the total to over $23,000. The state comptroller told Senator Brackett to get Supt. Lathrop's approval to the bill and stated that after it was filed in the comptroller's office he would audit it at an amount that would be just to the state as well as to the attorneys. Senator Brackett, in speaking of his services during the investigation, said that he had spent 125 days and that Judge Houghton had spent 100 days and that they had estimated their services to be worth $100 per day.

CURSED THE JUDGE.

Convict Long Sentenced to an Extra Five Years in Prison.

Hartford, Dec. 10.—Charles Long, the convict who attempted to kill Deputy Warden Baisden at the state prison on Nov. 27, created a sensation in the superior court yesterday afternoon. After Deputy Baisden and a number of other witnesses had testified as to the attack by Long, he was asked what he had to say. He claimed that he was crazed with ill-health when he made the attempt on Baisden's life. Judge Wheeler sentenced him to five years in the state prison to begin at the expiration of his present sentence of ten years. Then Long opened a tirade against the judge and the witnesses. He cursed the judge, vowed vengeance, and said he would get even with them.

To Procure Sufficient Revenue

New York, Dec. 10.—At the meeting of the board of trade and transportation yesterday afternoon the executive committee submitted a substitute for the resolution offered by F. B. Thurber at the last meeting urging the United States senate to pass the Dingley tariff bill. It read as follows; "That speedy legislation should be enacted to procure sufficient revenue for the government, without lengthy tariff debate, which would keep the busines interests of the country in an unsettled condition when they need rest." After some discussion the substitute was adopted.

Huyck-Ritchie Nuptials.

Saratoga, N. Y., Dec. 10.—In the Regent street Baptist church last evening was solemnized the marriage of Annie, daughter of ex-Postmaster and Mrs. D. F. Ritchie of this village to John Niles Huyck of Albany. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. T. Hiscox, pastor of the church. The bride was attended by Florence K. Ritchie, and the bridesmaids were Elizabeth Moore Huyck of Albany and Miss Agnes Ritchie of Saratoga. Frank C. Huyck of Albany was best man.

Coal in Newfoundland.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 10.—A large deposit of coal has been discovered at Codroy on the west coast of the island close to the seashore and only twenty miles from Cape Ray, the terminus of the new railway. The product of the new mine can be carried to Cape Ray and a rail depot established at that place enabling ocean steamers bound to and from Montreal to coal there instead of at Sydney, avoiding deviation ninety miles from the regular course.

Norfolk & Western Earnings.

Philadelphia, Dec. 10.—The net earnings of the Norfolk & Western Railroad company for September, 1896, were $87,282, a decrease of $71,106, compared with September, 1895. For the nine months ended September 30 the net earnings were $1,609,314, an increase of $108,438 compared with the corresponding period of 1895.

Death of James J. Chapman.

Hartford, Dec. 10.—James J. Chapman, formerly cashier of the Farmers and Mechanics National bank of this city, died at Chicago yesterday. About ten years ago he served a term in the state prison with President Tracy of the bank for perjury in making false returns of the bank's condition to the comptroller of the currency.

Refuses a General Bond.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Assistant Secretary Hamlin of the treasury department has refused to accept a general bond for all goods imported by an importer when stored in his private bonded warehouse, in place of the special bond now required for each entry of imported merchandise.

To Urge the Passage of the Dingley Bill.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The delegation of fifty members of the Manufacturers' club of Philadelphia, who arrived here last night to urge upon the senate the passage of the Dingley bill, will visit the capitol this afternoon in pursuance of their object.

New Chicago Daily.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—The Chicago dispatch announces that after the first of the coming year a morning edition will be issued to be known as the Chicago Morning Dispatch.

Not Guilty of Bribery.

Columbus, O., Dec. 10.—The jury in the trial of ex-state senator W. C. Gear for bribery returned a verdict of not guilty.

Carr Lumber Company Dissolved.

Buffalo, Dec. 10.—The Carr Lumber company has been voluntarily dissolved and a receiver appointed.

RUSHING THE WORK

Interesting and Important Business Before Congress.

EFFORT TO TAKE UP THE DINGLEY BILL

Three Cuban Resolutions Offered in the Senate—Immigration Bill the Subject Under Discussion This Afternoon.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The immigration bill, consideration of which as unfinished business was interrupted by adjournment yesterday afternoon, is the immediate matter before the senate this afternoon, and Senators Lodge and Chandler will make a determined effort to have the measure debated. The session yesterday was attended by several interesting and important incidents. A joint resolution to continue the powers of the joint committee on the removal of taxes on alcohol used in manufactures and arts was reported and passed. The committee on interstate commerce was instructed to institute an inquiry as to the prevention of business competition by the joint traffic association of railroads, the flour millers, and the window glass manufacturers. The independence of Cuba was the subject of three joint resolutions introduced by Senators Cameron, Mills, and Call. The first acknowledges the independence of the island and directs the friendly offices of the United States government with Spain to bring the war to a close. The second directs the president of the United States to seize the island with the military and naval forces of the United States and to hold possession until the Cuban people can organize a government. And the third recognizes the republic of Cuba as a free and independent government and extends to it all rights in the ports and within the jurisdiction of the United States. The first two were referred to the committee on foreign relations and the last was laid on the table temporarily until such time as Mr. Call may desire to address the senate on the subject. Something of a political sensation was produced by a motion made by the populist senator from Nebraska, Mr. Allen, to take up the Dingley bill for action, so as, he said, to preclude the necessity of an extra session. At first objection was made by Mr. Aldrich, but after a few minutes' reflection Mr. Aldrich withdrew the objection, which was thereupon renewed by Mr. Palmer. The motion, however, was carried by a yea and nay vote—35 to 21. A very interesting colloquy followed, but the matter then went over without further action, but may be taken up at any time that a similar motion is made by any other senator.

House of Representatives.

Many matters of importance are occupying the attention of the house of representatives to-day, and if the spirit of labor which characterized the proceedings yesterday is maintained, several bills may be passed and senate amendments agreed to. Yesterday nine bills were considered and two conference reports agree to, in addition to some other business. Such industry at the opening of a session, even a short one, is unprecedented in the annals of congress. A senate bill was passed authorizing associations of farmers and stock raisers to locate and purchase public lands for reservoir sites irrespective of the homestead or pre-emption acts. Senate amendments to the house bill affirming the acts of the New Mexico legislature authorizing the issue of about $700,000 of bonds for territorial buildings were concurred in, with an amendment. The senate amendment validated $172,500 of railroad bonds issued by the county of Santa Fe and at the last session an obstinate fight was made against this amendment. The senate's increase of the pension granted to Mrs. Mary Gould Carr, widow of Gen. J. B. Carr, formerly secretary of state of New York, from $50 to $75 a month, was agreed to by a vote of 146 to 89. The usual resolution distributing the topics of the president's message to the appropriate committees was reported from the ways and means committee and agreed to.

"The Tub, Albany, N. Y."

Albany, Dec. 10.—"The Tub, Albany, N. Y.," is the queer name of a club which was incorporated yesterday with the secretary of state to promote among its members sociability, the development of a spirit of patriotism, intellectual improvement and health by athletic exercise. The directors are: Garret J. Benson, sergeant-at-arms of the state senate; state historian Hugh Hasting, assemblyman S. Fred Nixon, George W. Blake and William H. Burn.

Hartford City Bonds.

Hartford, Dec. 10.—City Treasurer Strong late yesterday afternoon opened bids for the $400,000 gold bonds of the city of Hartford, 3½ per cent., to run twenty-five years, registered, to redeem 6 per cent. bonds due January 1, 1897. There were twelve bidders, the highest being 103.219 of R. L. Day & Co., of Boston, who were awarded the bonds.

Killed at Sea.

Galveston, Tex., Dec. 10.—H. Langham, mate of the steamship William Cliffe, was killed at sea Dec. 4. A log broke loose in the hold, which the mate was trying to secure, when it rolled over him, crushing him so badly that he died the next day and was buried at sea.

Col. Fellows' Successor.

Albany, Dec. 10.—Governor Morton has given no consideration to the appointment of a successor to the late District Attorney Fellows of New York city. It is not expected the governor will take any action in the matter until next week.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m, 108 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 10, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.

Fair Tonight; Friday, Increasing Cloudiness; Continued Warm.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 52 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 10—Meeting of Parliamentary Club at Y. M. C. A. at 10 a. m.
Dec. 10—New Royal Arcanum Council to be instituted.
Dec. 12—Mary Lowe Dickenson to address King's Daughters in Crescent Avenue church, 4:30 p. m.

The friends and acquaintances of Jacob Kirkner, of this city, whose suspension from the New York Stock Exchange was made by the Board of Governors yesterday, feel that there must be a misunderstanding which will right itself in Mr. Kirkner's favor before long. Mr. Kirkner has been too long in the brokerage business to allow himself to become involved in any difficulty with the governing officers of the Exchange that might lead to a justifiable act such as they have taken. And besides, such an implication as their act infers is entirely foreign to Mr. Kirkner's character as known best among his friends in this city.

The merchants of Asbury Park will endeavor to have a bill passed in the next Legislature providing for the taxation by license of peddlers and others who come to watering places during the summer and injure the trade of local merchants.

The Elizabeth Journal pays a great compliment to Sheriff Kirk in his first drawing of jurors, and says:

It is remarkably free from what have come to be known as "professionals." It is composed largely of men of established reputation for intelligence and business capacity, and a jury whose average in these particular qualifications is much above the ordinary.

The annual reports of the savings banks of New Jersey show an increase of $3,821,362 over last year. This speaks well for the thrift of New Jersey's middle classes.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Clothing given away on Saturday at Jaquett's. 2

—The keys advertised as found in The Press were recovered by their owner, Charles Dresselt, Jr., this morning.

—The Firemen's Relief Association transacted routine business at their meeting held last evening.

—John Klopr, who has the distinction of conducting the only hotel in that part of Union county variously known as Mountainside, Baltusroll, Locust Grove and Branch Mills, has sold out to a Plainfield man, who will take charge January 1, provided the license is renewed.

—Isaac Randolph, a young colored man of Westfield, was arrested in Elizabeth yesterday for stealing a pair of shoes and $1.50 from his aunt, Eliza Johnson, at Westfield. Randolph was arrested, given a hearing and committed to the county jail by the Justice, taken before Judge McCormick to plead and sentenced to ten days in the county jail, all within thirty minutes.

—Speaking of apples, do you know that a great many are repacked in straight barrels that hold considerably less and yet have the appearance of original packing. If you haven't put in your apples for winter, J. F. MacDonald has a large shipment of New York State direct and are cheaper at $1.75 per barrel than others at a less figure, for you get the quantity you pay for.

Mrs. Mary Sutphen, of Central avenue, has gone to visit friends in Jersey city for a week.

Walter H. McIlroy, of New York, has been visiting at the home of D. E. Titsworth, of West Seventh street.

Mrs. George W. Grant left for Boston today to spend two weeks with her sister there. The Captain accompanied his wife to New York.

Geo. Mehl, Jr., of West Second street, went to New York this morning to accept a position with the D. J. Barry & Co, commission Brokers.

Miss Blanche Miller, of Newark, who has been visiting at the home of David Snediker, of Grove street, for several weeks, returned home this morning.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

"A FESTIVAL OF DAYS."

ALL THE NEEDS OF LIFE SUPPLIED AT THE W. C. T. U. ROOMS.

A Booth for Each Day of the Week and in Charge of Ladies Who Know the Knack of Selling to Visitors.

The "Festival of Days" now being held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., at their rooms on Watchung avenue, is a great success, both from an artistic and financial view.

The room is partially occupied with pretty booths representing six days in the week. The Monday booth represents wash day and everything needed by a good housekeeper on that day is on sale. Mrs. Thomas Minford is in charge of this booth, assisted by Mrs. Tomlinson and Mrs. O. B. Leonard.

Tuesday, which is known by most women as ironing day, has a booth filled with many useful articles such as are needed. Mrs. Silas Yerkes assisted by Mrs. Travell preside at the Tuesday booth.

Wednesday, mending day, requires a number of important things and Mrs. LaBoyteaux assisted by Miss Whiting are in charge here.

Thursday, which is reception day, is provided for, and a comfortable place is arranged where Mrs. Krom, Mrs. McNaughton, Miss Ross and Miss Yerkes can receive their guests and serve them with ice cream, cake and candy.

At the Friday booth there are lots of useful and pretty fancy articles, and as Friday is known know as bargain day, Miss French and Mrs. Titsworth, who are in charge, are sure to give all purchasers bargains.

Saturday, which nearly all women recognize as baking and cleaning day, is amply provided for at a booth where a full line of breads, cakes, and useful articles for cleaning are kept. Those presiding at this booth are Mrs. Parse, Mrs. Honeyman, Miss Lugar, Mrs. John French and Mrs. R. K. Case.

A particularly attractive and interesting place is the table where a person can contribute as many dimes as they choose and vote for their favorite Plainfield Circle of Kings Daughters. The Circle, of which there are eleven, receiving the higest number of votes will be presented with what is called the King's Daughter's wardrobe, and they will be at liberty to give it to women they think is deserving. Miss Edith Titsworth has charge of the table. The whole affair is under the direction of Mrs. Cahoone who is chairman.

The fair is being continued to day and this evening a musical programme will be rendered.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Putnam & DeGraw have a fine line of hand-painted china for Christmas gifts.

—The fire committee of the City Council will hold a meeting tomorrow evening to transact important business.

—Henry Wierenga is doing duty in Fred Breem's place as driver of the hook and ladder truck while the latter is confined to his home.

—Tomorrow night of this week all persons will be welcomed to Monroe Avenue chapel, to look over the many new literary selections.

—Marauders visited the turkey sheds of Frank Hedden, on East Fourth street, the other night and lifted two turkeys and a goose.

—The large show case in front of Justice Newcorn's store was blown over by the wind yesterday morning and nearly all the glass was broken.

—The subject of the next morning sermon in the Seventh-Day Baptist church, this week, will be "A Revival of Religion; what it means; why one is needed; how we can have it."

—All persons having articles for the Firemen's fair will please send them to Mrs. Wm. Chamberlain, 343 East Third street, or to R. B. Rogers. Monday night will be free to everybody.

—At the entertainment to be given in the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, this evening, James H. Frisbie will give his wonderful imitation of the Royal Blue Line from New York to Washington.

—The following will take part in the Odd Ladies' entertainment in the Babcock building to-night: J. Stanley Joy, humorist; Miss Vreeland, soprano, Jersey City; Elmer Runyon, tenor; LaVere's orchestra.

—The managers of the Children's Home extend cordial thanks to their friends whose generous gifts made "Thanksgiving Day" a happy one. Through Rev. J. T. Braker they secured $12 and groceries from the union services of Scotch Plains. From the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity Reformed church, a barrel of flour.

"Cut-Price Sale."

The great "Cut-Price Sale" begins at Edsall's this evening and will continue all through the holiday season. Both the main floor and big basement are literally packed with new seasonable goods, and Edsall says the people of Plainfield never before have had such a good opportunity to buy fine Christmas presents cheap as he is offering now. See new ad in another column.

Cleveland's.

The chief excellence of Cleveland's baking powder is its perfect healthfulness.

Its raising power comes from cream of tartar and soda (the wholesomest leaven); nothing else. It is not drugged with ammonia or cheapened with alum.

Cleveland's is perfectly wholesome; leavens most, and leavens best.

THEATRICAL.

Things that you will see and hear every evening next week at Stillman Music Hall in the big productions offered by the Corse Payton Company:—Funny comedians, pretty girls, strongest dramatic company that ever appeared in repertoire, gorgeous costumes, the greatest specialties, magnificent properties, gardens of palaces, stereopticon views, illustrated songs and a car load of the handsomest scenery ever in the city. This may seem a great deal to you for so small prices, but all we ask of you is to come once and we will own you for the balance of our engagement. This is the best, biggest, most complete, and best equipped repertoire company travelling. Can we say any more? Give us a trial and you will be convinced that you have seen all we promised to give you. Our prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents and we are with you all next week, with special souvenir matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

BOULEVARD TO BOUND BROOK.

An Improvement Which Will Open Up a Large Territory.

A great deal has been said and written during the past two years about the opening of the new road from Plainfield to Dunellen. The Daily Press has agitated the matter and kept its readers fully advised of the latest developments. This paper now has the pleasure of presenting a view of the road as substantially proposed by the surveyors of highways appointed by the court. We are the first daily newspaper to present this view. It also shows the county road which is about to be macadamized, thus giving a continuous macadamized road from Elizabeth to Somerville.

The new town of Lincoln is also shown as mapped out. This is the property being developed by the New Jersey Mutual Realty Company, of which prominent citizens of this city and Bound Brook are officers and stockholders. It is this company that has made the opening of this road possible at this time, as it has over ten thousand feet of property fronting on the new road. The well-known real estate hustler, Silas D. Drake, founder of Lorraine, is the manager of the company.

H. C. Suydam, the attorney, of this city and Bound Brook, has had charge of the legal end of opening this road, and is entitled to great credit.

Several prominent manufacturing concerns are contemplating locating at Lincoln.

—Contributions for the Asbestos Club benefit fund for the widows and orphans in Central America are now being received at the club rooms on East Front street. All checks will be duly appreciated and acknowledged by "Billy" Campbell and after the winter's supply of coal and kindling wood is laid in, the balance will be either kept or devoted to buying crackers and cheese for Christmas.

Mrs. J. S. Powlison, of Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, leaves today for a visit with her son Charles, who is general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Holyoke, Mass.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front st.

HOLIDAY GOODS

ALL BRIGHT AND NEW.

VANDERBURGH.

BASEMENT FULL OF TOYS AND GAMES.

Be on time

And secure the choicest of the many HOLIDAY GIFTS at

PECK'S.

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders, HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.
HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.
One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of
DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY, NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS, BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, is

Now on Sale.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!

ONE SOLID WEEK

Commencing MONDAY, DECEMBER 14.

The Versatile Comedian,

CORSE PAYTON,

Supported by the Charming and Talented Actress,

MISS ETTA REED,

and a company of recognized players in a grand repertoire of comedies and dramas, handsomely mounted and staged by a carload of his own special scenery. Gorgeous Costumes, Magnificent Properties, Elaborate Scenery. Each Play a Grand Scenic Production. A complete change of singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of the company at each performance.

CUT THIS OUT.

15c. and this coupon will entitle any lady to the best reserved seat in Music Hall if presented at the Reserved Seat Sale before MONDAY NIGHT at 7 o'clock.

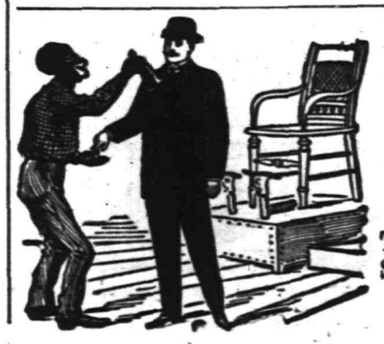
SPECIAL SOUVENIR MATINEES WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY.
Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cts. Matinee Prices, 10cts.; Reserved Seats, 20cts. Sale opens Saturday, Dec. 12, at box office.

Bargains in Real Estate For sale or to let. MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue
Armstrong Mulford, Assistant
BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned, either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied



Special--We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

The Misses Hunt visited New York friends yesterday, and they also went shopping.

J. Wilson, of Phillipsburg, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Wilhelm, of Front street.

John H. Becher, successor to August Streitwolf, of New Brunswick, was the guest of Joe Maier yesterday.

Mrs. J. W. Griggs was able to walk out yesterday for the first time after a ten days, illness from chills and fever.

Mrs. W. R. Hetfield and Mrs. W. R. Lindsay were in New York yesterday, and it is surmised that they were after Christmas presents.

W. S. Emery and a party of friends from Scotch Plains drove down here yesterday and spent a pleasant afternoon at the Park Hotel.

The usual midweek prayer meeting in the M. E. church, last evening, was well attended. After the service some of the Christmas carols were rehearsed.

B. F. McGovern and John Huff exploded a pound or more of powder and some shot on the mountain in search of game, yesterday. But they didn't bring home much game.

The Presbyterian church people are making extensive preparations for their pumpkin pie sociable, to-morrow evening. The pumpkins were raised by some of the members, and the pies were made by some of the good lady parishioners.

A valuable St. Bernard dog, owned by Mrs. Egbert, of Prospect avenue, became lonesome in the house yesterday and deliberately jumped through a plate-glass window in order to get out. The dog wasn't much injured, but the glass was.

A. A. Parker is not only a business man, but he is also a chicken fancier. His display of fancy stock at the show won several prizes and he is now receiving orders for settings of eggs and offers to purchase some of his most valuable stock.

During the summer and fall months the members of the Dunellen Athletic Association have been making strenuous efforts to furnish a first-class gymnasium, such a one as would be second to none in the State, but the progress of the enterprise has been more or less retarded for want of the necessary funds.

The members of the Dunellen Fire Department are holding nightly drills, when the weather will permit, for their parade and inspection which is to take take place next week. Prof. Guttman's band of Plainfield will head the procession and the day will be a red letter one in the history of the Dunellen Fire Department.

Car No. 14 of the street railway ran off the track and ploughed through about twenty feet of earth at the end of the line here, yesterday. The car was rendered useless until another came down and hauled it back on the track. No blame is attached particularly to anyone, and yet it was carelessness on some one's part, without a doubt.

So the happy thought of giving an entertainment met the hearty approval of the members, and this they have arranged for the evening of the 17th, instant, in Lincoln School hall. Among the artists to appear are Prof. George Jenkins, the banjoist, of Somerville and "Prof." Will. N. Runyon, of Plainfield, which the circulars announce as the only original vocalist.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

Dr. Westcott's condition reported as improved.

Mrs. J. McGilby and son, of Garwood, are guests at the West Side House.

The next regular meeting of the recently organized Young Men's League will be held on the evening of the 29th inst.

Since it has been drilled deeper W. S. Emery's town pump now give a pure and wholesome supply of water to all who manipulate the handle.

After a seven week's illness from what is known among horsemen as "old fashioned influenza," Dr. Pocock, of Plainfield, is bringing W. S. Emery's gray trotting mare around all right.

Fanwood Council. No. 745, R. A., entertained Grand Regent Ater and staff at their meeting last evening, at which time the following officers were elected: Regent, William B. Noble; past regent, Frank W. Quereau; vice-regent, W. R. Buckley; secretary, Norman Dunn; collector, James H. Parks; treasurer, Dr. F. W. Westcott; chaplain, John Bornman; guide, Richard Fisher; warden, John Cook; sentry, George H. Johnson. Under the good of the order there was refreshments, cigars and speechmaking.

—You can be well when your blood is rich and nourishing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure and cures all blood diseases, restoring health and vigor.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache. 25c.

Highest of all in Leavening Power. —Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Next Tuesday evening the new South Plainfield temperance hall will be formally opened with a grand supper, speechmaking and a dance. Stages will leave Plainfield and return to accommodate those wishing to attend. Prof. Eugene O'Reilly will furnish music for singing and dancing.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

—Fred Bird, of East Front street, has returned home from his southern trip.

Miss Mabel Schenck, of East Second street, is confined to her home with illness.

Edward Schenck, the milkman from New Market, is the proud father of a little boy.

Councilman R. I. Tolles, of Orange street, is suffering with an attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. W. J. Ford, of East Fourth street, is visiting her daughter in New Brunswick.

Peter A. Emmons, of Jackson avenue, has recovered from the effects of his recent accident.

Driver James Daly, of Gazelle hose wagon, spent yesterday out of town. His place was taken by Abner Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore who recently returned from their wedding trip have taken up their residence on Third place.

Miss Cora Richardson, of East Sixth street, entertained a few of her young lady friends yesterday afternoon with an informal card party.

Mrs. Charles Graves, of Liberty street, has returned from New York, where she has been under treatment. Her health is much better.

A private phonograph entertainment will be given this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Murray, by Thomas Schaefer.

Rev. J. Everitt Jones, formerly pastor of the Baptist church, at New Market, has taken up his permanent residence on Grove street.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Rodman, of East Seventh street, will give an informal dinner party to a few friends at their home this evening.

Mrs. W. G. Smalley, of No. 59 Somerset street, who has been regaining her health while visiting among friends at Martinsville, is expected home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Minford, of East Front street, gave a very charming dinner party to a few of their friends Monday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Theophlus Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bond and Rev. C. E. Herring.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillblains, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

—Morgan C. Bird, of Park avenue, had a narrow escape from loosing his hand, Tuesday morning. He was working about the machinery of his mill when his finger was caught in one of the wheels of the engine and the flesh badly cut and the nail torn out.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—R. C. Rand states that he cannot receive dolls for repair after the 15th.

—The Woman's Relief Corps will elect officers at their meeting to be held this evening.

—See "After the Theatre," by Hambridge, in Truth, Saturday. All trains and news stands.

—The High School Cadets of Plainfield held their regular drill this afternoon in the Cycle Academy.

—H. S. Thomas, of the borough, conducted the service at the Washingtonville chapel on Sunday evening last.

—The work of flagging the walk on the south side of West Front street below Grant avenue is progressing most favorably.

—A public meeting of the Organized Aid Association will be held this evening at the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church.

—Rebekah Degree Lodge, Odd Ladies, will give an entertainment this evening in their rooms in the Babcock building.

—John Kuium, of Stigers alley, who has been at the hospital under treatment for sometime past, has been discharged having been cured.

—Perseverance Lodge, No 74, K. of P., meets tomorrow evening and the second rank will be conferred. Officers will be nominated at the meeting.

—Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., will nominate officers Thursday evening, December 24th, instead of this evening as already mentioned.

Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., will meet in annual communication, this evening, when the election of officers will take place, followed by a collation.

—There will be nomination of officers at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., this evening, and the fair committee will make a report.

—A meeting of the Kappa Delta Phi of the Plainfield High School will be held tomorrow afternoon at the High School building and the programme will be a "hat talk."

—A library sociable will be held in Vincent chapel tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church. All are invited to attend.

—The cantata of "Queen Esther" will be given in the Congregational church, Westfield, Saturday evening, December 19th, instead of the 22d, as previously announced.

—The entertainment to be given by Rebekah Degree Lodge, Odd Ladies, this evening in the Babcock building, will be an enjoyable one, as excellent talent has been secured.

—Hallock, the hatter, will occupy the store corner of Park avenue and Second street, January 1st. E. A. Laine, the barber, now occupies the store, but has not yet decided where he will move.

—Frank Day, liveryman, 114 West Sixth street, near Park avenue, can supply you any time, day or night, with any kind of turnout. He keeps a general livery and boarding stable in all its branches.

—The work of repairing Zephyr hook and ladder truck was completed last night and today it is on duty again. A new front wheel has been ordered to take the place of the damaged one, which can be temporarily used with safety.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Ranbolph, 143 West Front street.

A Traveller to Talk.

Luther D. Wishard, who has travelled the world over in the interest of Y. M. C. A. work, will address the meeting for men at Association Hall on Sunday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock. Wm. N. Runyon will sing and a large mixed choir will lead in singing gospel hymns.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

The Fact that Doctors frequently advise change of air and climate to those suffering from catarrh is proof that catarrh is a local and climatic disease. Therefore, unless you can leave home and business, you should use Ely's Cream Balm. Applied directly to the seat of the disease, it effects instant relief and a satisfactory cure after short continuance. No mercury or injurious drug is contained in the Balm.

A CHRISTMAS FAIR

for the sale of

Fancy and Useful Articles,

will be given by the ladies of All Souls Church on the afternoons and evenings of WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY and FRIDAY,

DECEMBER 9th, 10th & 11th,

from 3 until 10 o'clock.

Admission, 10cts. Children, 5cts.

Entertainment in the evenings. 12 7 3

ALL MAKES OF SEWING MACHINES repaired. Singer Machine cash or instalments.

218 West Front Sreet.

12 8 1 w

H. DeMott,

Undertaker and Embalmer,

59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.

Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

DIED.

SCHNELLENDRUESSLER—In this city, Dec. 9, 1896, Alice A., wife of H. F. F. Schnellendruessler, aged 25 years.
Funeral services at her late residence, 1257 Milton place, Friday afternoon, Dec. 11, 1896, at 2 p. m.

MARRIED.

WARE—RIDLEY—On Thursday, December 10, by the Rev. C. L. Goodrich, at No. 821 Second place, Plainfield, N. J., Mrs. Elia Belle Ridley to R. Willard Ware.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

$12 In money, lost this morning. Finder will be rewarded by leaving same at Press office.

LOST—Tuesday evening sinst; in Music Hall or on Front street a medium size black gauze fan with silk tassle. Please leave at City National Bank or 537 East Front street. 12-10-2.

$7000 to loan on mortgage at 5 per cent. Clarence Murphy, Attorney. 12-10-tf.

FOR SALE—8 room house, all improvements, with lot; low price. Address by letter only, M. A. Korff, Watchung Ave., N. P. 12 10 6

LOST—An amethyst pin in North Plainfield, Monday. Suitable reward for return to Press office. 12 10 2

A YOUNG man with some experience wants work with a carpenter, own tools. Week's trial free. W. care Press.

FOUND—A gentleman's left hand buckskin glove on Wednesday. Owner can have same by applying at this office.

WANTED—Two or three rooms, low rent. Address X care Press.

FOR SALE—$100 bicycle 95 model. Inquire 826 First place. 12-10 6.

BOARD and rooms, 303 West Second street. 12 10-3.

GIRL wanted for general housework, references. Apply J. T. Vail, 177 North avenue. 12 10-tf

LARGE well heated rooms to let, with superior board near Crescent Avenue church. Crescent, this office. 12 10-3

WANTED—In the Second Ward, not over five minutes' walk from the North Avenue station, to buy a house not to exceed $4,000. Address, stating number of rooms, "Home," care Press. 12 8 3

SITUATION WANTED by a reliable person to do general housework in a private family; city reference. Please address "A. T.," care Press. 12 8 3

TO LET—Several tenant houses at reasonable rent. Apply J. M. Hetfield. 12 7 6

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 12 7 tf

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

ROOMS—With board at 217 West Second street. 11-10 1m

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11-10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

Plainfield's Busiest Store.

We sell goods cheaper than all others.

CHRISTMAS.

We have gathered here a collection of all that is good and durable in holiday goods. Our modern merchandising way of having the most attractive store and selling at the most attractive prices creates new business for us every day. We have secured many special values that we have priced extra low to stimulate early buying. You can select what you want and we deliver it when wanted.

For the Little Ones.

We have the most tempting assortment of Toys, Dolls, Games and Books for the little ones. No trash, but good, substantial, strong toys that will last. They are displayed on the main floor—House furnishing department.

For the Girls.

We think it will be a year for giving good, useful and serviceable presents, and have arranged for it. There are books, handkerchiefs, toilet articles, writing paper, toilet cases, handkerchief and glove boxes. All sold at our popular low prices.

For the Boys.

Some say 'tis hard to find a suitable present for the boy, but not so here, we have looked out for them in the best way. There are games of all kinds, puzzles, boys books, knives, sleds, handkerchiefs, gloves, mittens, sweaters, ties, in fact every thing to make a boy happy as they desire to be.

For the Ladies.

Easiest matter in the world to select something for the ladies, there are so many pretty useful things that never go amiss and they always want, and the cost is small. There are thousands of pieces of bric-a-brac, fancy cups and saucers, pictures, fancy screens and picture easels, toilet articles of every description, handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, sterling silver jewelry, toilet plush cases, pocket books, &c.

For the Men.

Last but not least come the men, and whether he is young or old there is plenty to make him forget for a time, business troubles and worry. There are linen and silk handkerchiefs, and mufflers, umbrellas, blacking cases, gloves, ties, jewelry, shirts, collar and cuff boxes, hosiery &c.

Remember.

The store is yours to come to do as you please and to feel as free as if you were in your own home. You will find plenty of polite clerks to attend to your wants and wishes. You are sure to find a crowd but 'twill be a good natured one and we promise you the best of service.

Special Values.

While the holiday rush is on there is not a stock in the store that will be neglected. You can fill every want in good, desirable goods of every kind and at lower prices than all others. There are special values in dress goods, hosiery, underwear, jackets, capes, rugs, table linen, &c.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c. To $2

SAMPLES FREE.

Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "Specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW

210 West Front Street.

An assortment of HOLIDAY GOODS on one of our centre tables marked 25c. is well worth examining before purchasing elsewhere. Also, STAPLE GOODS, such as Umbrellas, Underwear, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Extracts, Silk Mufflers, Silk Initial Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, Napkins, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Does Your Husband Want

Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?

If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON

NO. 107 PARK AVE.

JAS. R. BLAIR.

126 Park Avenue,

Has a fine assortment of Neckties, Mufflers, Umbrellas, Silk Handkerchiefs, Gloves, &c.,

Ready for the Holidays.

THE MISTRESS of the M

or A Woman Inte

By Robert Barr

Pi

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyri Rot

Yes, I see that. Still, it is only a question of facts on which they have to report, and you know as well as I do that no truthful men can report unfavorably on what we have stated. We have understated the case in every instance."

"I know that. I am perfectly well aware of that. Everything is all right if—if—Longworth is dealing honestly with us. If he is not, everything is all wrong, and I should feel a great deal easier if we had in our possession another three months' option of the mine. We are now at the fag end of this option, and it seems to me, as a protection to ourselves, we ought either to write to Von Brent—by the way, have you ever written to him?"

"I wrote one letter telling him how we were getting on, but have received no answer. Perhaps he is not in Ottawa at present."

"Well, I think you ought to go to the mines with Longworth and Melville. It is the conjunction of those two men that makes me suspicious. I can't tell what I suspect. I can give nothing definite but I have a vague uneasiness when I think that the man who tried to mislead us regarding the value of the mineral is going with the man who has led us into all this expense; he who refused to go into the matter in the first place, pretended he had forgotten all about it in the second place, and then suddenly developed an interest."

John knitted his brows and said nothing.

"I don't want to worry you about it but I do want your candid opinion. What had we better do?"

"It seems to me," said John, after a pause, "that we can do nothing. It is a very perplexing situation. I think, however, we should turn it over in our minds for a few days, and then I can get to America in plenty of time, if necessary."

"Very well; suppose we give them ten days to get to the mine and reply. If no reply comes by the eleventh day, then you will still have eighteen or nineteen days before the option expires. Put it at twelve days. I propose, if you hear nothing by then, you go over."

"Right," said John; "we may take that as settled."

"By the way, you got an invitation, did you not?"

"Yes."

"Are you going?"

"I do not know. I should like to go, and yet, you know, I am entirely unused to fashionable assemblages. I should not know what to say or do while I was there."

"As I understand, it is not to be a fashionable party, but merely a little friendly gathering which Miss Longworth gives because her cousin is about to sail for Canada. I don't want to flatter you, John, but I imagine Miss Longworth would be rather disappointed if you did not put in appearance. Besides, as we are partners with Longworth in this, and as he is going away on account of the mine, I think it would be a little ungracious of us not to go."

"Very well; I will go. Shall I call for you, or will you come for me?"

"I will call for you, and we will go there together in a cab. Be ready about eight o'clock."

The mansion of the Longworths was brilliantly lighted that night, and John felt rather faint-hearted as he stood on the steps before going in. The chances are he would not have had the courage to announce himself if his friend Wentworth had not been with him. George, however, had no such qualms, and was much more used to this kind of thing than his comrade. So they went in together and were warmly greeted by the young hostess.

"It is so kind of you to come," she said, "on such short notice. I was afraid you might have had some prior engagement and would have found it impossible to get here."

"You must not think that of me," said Wentworth. "I was certain to come; but I must confess my friend Kenyon here was rather difficult to manage. He seems to frown on fashionable assemblages, and actually had the coolness to propose that we should both have prior engagements."

Edith looked reproachfully at Kenyon, who flushed to the temples, as was usual with him, and said:

"Now, Wentworth, that is unfair. You must not mind what he says, Miss Longworth; he likes to bring confusion on me, and he knows how to do it. I certainly said nothing about a prior engagement."

"Well, now you are here, I hope you will enjoy yourselves. It is quite an informal little gathering, with nothing to abash even Mr. Kenyon."

They found young Longworth there in company with Melville, who was to be his companion on the voyage. He shook hands, but without exhibiting the pleasure at meeting them which his cousin had shown.

"My cousin," said the young man, "seems resolved to make the going of the prodigal nephew an occasion for killing the fatted calf. I'm sure I don't know why, unless that she is glad to be rid of me for a month."

Edith laughed at this and left the men together. Wentworth soon contrived to make himself very agreeable to the young ladies who were present, but John, it must be admitted, felt awkward and out of place. He was not enjoying himself. He caught himself now and then following Edith Longworth with his eyes; and when he realized he was doing this he abruptly looked at the floor. In her handsome evening dress she appeared supremely lovely, and this John Kenyon admitted to himself with a sigh, for her very loveliness seemed to place her further and further away from him. Somebody played something on the piano, and this was, in a way, a respite for John. He felt that nobody was looking at him. Then a young man gave a recitation, which was very well received, and Kenyon began to forget his uneasiness. A German gentleman with long hair sat down at the piano with a good deal of importance in his demeanor. There was much arranging of music, and, finally, when the leaves were settled to his satisfaction, there was a tremendous crash of chords, the beginning of what was evidently going to be a troublesome time for the piano. In the midst of this hurricane of sound John Kenyon became aware that Edith Longworth had sat down beside him.

"I have got every one comfortably settled with every one else," she said in a whisper to him, "and you seem to be the only one who is, as it were, out in the cold, so you see I have done you the honor to come and talk to you."

"It is indeed an honor," said John, earnestly.

"Oh, really," said the young woman, laughing very softly, "you must not take things so seriously. I didn't mean quite what I said, you know—that was only as the children say, 'pretended,' but you take one's light remarks as if they were most weighty sentences. Now, you must look as if you were entertaining me charmingly, whereas I have sat down beside you to have a very few minutes' talk on business. I know it's very bad form to talk business at an evening party, but you see I have no other chance to speak to you. I understand you have had several meetings of shareholders, and yet you never sent me an invitation, although I told you that I wished to help you in forming a company, but that is the way you business men always treat a woman."

"Really, Miss Longworth," began Kenyon, but she speedily interrupted him.

"I am not going to let you make any explanation. I have come over here to enjoy scolding you, and I am not to be cheated out of my pleasure."

"I think," said John, "if you knew how much I have suffered during this last day or two, you would be very lenient with me. Did you read that article upon me in the Financial Field?"

"No; I did not, but I read your reply to it this morning, and I think it was excellent."

"Ah, that was hardly fair. A person should read both sides of the question before passing judgment."

"It is a woman's idea of fairness," said Edith, "to read what pertains to

"Why do you not go to America?"

her friend, and to form her judgment without hearing the other side. But you must not think I am going to forego scolding you because of my sympathy for you. Don't you remember your promises to let me know how your company was getting on from time to time, and here I have never heard a word from you; now tell me how you have been getting on."

"I hardly know, but I think we are getting on very well, indeed. You know, of course, that your cousin is going to America to report upon the mine. As I have stated nothing but what is perfectly true about the property, there can be no question as to what that report will be, so it seems to me everything is going on nicely."

"Why do you not go to America?"

"Ah! well, I am an interested party, and those who are thinking of going with us have my report already. It is neccessary to corroborate that. When it is corroborated I expect we shall have no trouble in forming a company."

"And was William chosen by those men to go to Canada?"

"He was not exactly chosen; he volunteered. Mr. Melville, here, was the one who was chosen."

"And why Mr. Melville, more than you, for instance?"

"Well, as I said, I am out of the question because I am an interested party. Melville is a man connected with china works, and, as such, in a measure, an expert."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

FREE
BRIAR PIPE
FOR 25

Sail & Ax's
NAVY
LONG CUT

COUPONS
OR GUMMED STICKERS

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co

are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.

Christmas Tree Holders, Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver-plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks, Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1.98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.

Telephone Call 49 I. 9 3 1y

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry drivers will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

North ave., Plainfield

Telephone 30M

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie R 2	Maguire Miss Annie
DerCharnelMiss Lil'n	Prentice Mrs. Geo
Dutcher Chas H	Reich Miss Elizabeth
Fonda Guy Q	Rockerer J C
Foster Miss Vera	Slater Joshua
Gray Miss Maggie	Steinorth R
Harrison Wm F	Stelle Freeman
Holingvist Miss Agnes	Schenck Mrs E
Herben Mrs S J	Tevis E L
Lewis C F	Wiley Mrs Fred
May Miss M A	Walker Mrs Mary E
Midgely Jas L v	Whiteall Mrs C D
Mendel Gus	Weingart Miss AnnieL

MRS. L. ADAMS,
MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Christmas Wreaths. Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,

Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.

DENTON'S.

131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,

DEALERS IN

Lehigh Valley Coal.

Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Corporation Notice.

Commissioners of Assessments report for sewerage construction on consideration before the Common Council, Plainfield, N. J.

Notice is hereby given that, at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J., held on Monday, the seventh day of December instant, there were presented and laid before the Common Council (the same having first been filed in the office of the City Clerk December 7th, 1896), the report and assessments of the Commissioners of Assessments of said City heretofore appointed under the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the appointment of Commissioners of Assessments under Chapter CXLI P. L. 1895," approved April 25th, 1896, containing the assessments of damages and benefits or expenses, as the case may be, for the making and constructing of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," approved April 7th, 1890, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and ordinances and other proceedings of the Common Council had under said acts of the Legislature, said report and assessments covering the whole of said system of sewerage already completed, that is to say: the making and constructing of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections) in streets and parts of streets mentioned in said report, and the construction of sewerage disposal beds and appurtenances; the said streets and parts of streets in which the same were so made and constructed and the location and dimensions of the several lots, tracts and parcels of land and real estate so assessed being delineated on set of maps entitled "Sewer Construction Assessment Maps dated Dec. 7, 1896" numbered from 1 to 24, both inclusive, and 101 to 123 both inclusive, filed in the office of the Collector of Taxes December 7th, 1896, each of said maps being attested by the signatures of the said commissioners and said streets and parts of streets being the following, to wit:

Woodland avenue from South avenue to Putnam avenue.
Woodland avenue from Watchung avenue to Highland avenue.
Belvidere avenue from Ravine road to La Grande avenue.
Ravine road from Belvidere avenue to Berkley avenue
Putnam avenue from Woodland avenue to Franklin place.
Franklin place from La Grande avenue to Watchung avenue.
Watchung avenue from Woodland avenue to La Grande avenue.
Watchung avenue from East Sixth street to East Front street.
Hillside avenue from Prospect avenue to Watchung avenue.
Richmond street from East Front street to Watchung avenue.
Norwood avenue from East Front street to Green Brook.
Carlton avenue from Watchung avenue to La Grande avenue.
Kensington avenue from La Grande to Watchung avenue.
Webster place from Putnam avenue to Watchung avenue.
Ninth street East and West respectively from Watchung avenue to Central avenue.
Crescent avenue from East Seventh street to Third place
First place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.
Second place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.
Third place from Crescent avenue to East Ninth street.
Washington street from La Grande avenue to East Fourth street.
Washington street from East Third street to East Front street.
Church street from East Fourth street to the C. R. R. of N. J.
Church street from East Third street to East Front street.
Park avenue from Ninth street to Front street.
Sycamore street from East Fourth street to East Seventh street.
North avenue from Watchung avenue to Park avenue.
College place from West Eighth street to West Ninth street.
Arlington avenue from West Ninth street to West Third street.
Madison avenue from 370 North of Stelle avenue to West Front street.
Central avenue from 180 ft. North of Randolph road to West Front street.
New street from West Seventh street to West Front street.
Division street from West Eighth street to West Fifth street
Liberty street from West Eighth street to West Sixth street.
Liberty street from West Fifth street to West Front street.
Elmwood place from West Front street to West Second street.
Plainfield avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.
Grant avenue from West Eighth street to West Front street.
Clinton avenue from West Front street to Dunellen avenue.
Sanford avenue from Green Brook to East Front street.
Westervelt avenue from Green Brook to East Front street.
Elm place from Green Brook to East Front street.
Front street East and West respectively from Berckmen street to Clinton avenue.
Orchard place from New street to Liberty street.
Second street East and West respectively from Berckman street to Plainfield avenue.
South Second street from Liberty street to Plainfield avenue.
East Third street from Midway avenue to Watchung avenue.
West Third street from Arlington avenue to Grant avenue.
Fourth street East and West respectively from the C. R. R. of N. J. to Plainfield avenue.
Cottage place from Richmond street to Washington street.
Fifth street East and West respectively from Richmond street to Plainfield avenue.
Sixth street East and West respectively from Richmond street to Plainfield avenue.
LaGrande avenue from Belvedere avenue to Woodland avenue.
LaGrande avenue from Richmond street to Watchung avenue.
Seventh street East and West respectively from Crescent avenue to 900 feet west of Grant avenue.
West Eighth street from Park avenue to Grant avenue.
Dunellen avenue from Clinton avenue to Disposal Beds.

And it was ordered that said Common Council will proceed to consider, review, alter, ratify and conform said report and assessments at a meeting to be held in the Common Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, N. J., on the twenty-eighth day of December, 1896, at 8 o'clock p. m., at which meeting all persons interested in or affected by said improvements, on account of which said assessments were made, will be given ample opportunity to be heard upon the subject of said assessments.

The character of the work and improvement for which said assessments have been made is shown by the foregoing, and in general is the construction of sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), and sewerage disposal beds and appurtenances, and a system of sewerage and appurtenances; and the streets and avenues or particular sections thereof which are included in said assessments are those hereinbefore particularly set forth.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., December 7th, 1896.

JAMES T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

d 8 9 15 22

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M. Stillman. Isaac W. Bushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. R. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

Amos H. Van Horn,

LIMITED.

CARPETS AT COST!

Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:

25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.

MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES

NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.

Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.

LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!

Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.

Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.

73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.

Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash, " " " " $6 & $7.

OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 29, 7 59, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 29, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 43, 5 25, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 3 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 10, a m; 12 23, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 28, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 30, 8 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 20, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 20, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 50, 8 00, 8 23, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday, 8 01, 8 53, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 25, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 05, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 25 a m; 1 10, 1 35, 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2

Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 46, 2 11, 2 33, 3 35, 4 36, 5 08, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 8 19, 8 38, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43, 5 14, 8 25, 10 35, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 25, 4 55, 5 28, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 19, 6 25, 7 53, 9 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a. m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 55, 5 15, 6 26, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 28, a m; 2 03, 6 25 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 23, 4 04, 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 30, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 08, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 15 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 08 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

6 55 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 25 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 25 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15, 3 51, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 44, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 34°, 6 44, 8 21, 9 37° 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 4 55, 5 14° p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 44, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 3 37°, 5 34°, 6 38°, 8 21, 9 37° p.m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14°. p. m., 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34°, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14°, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 55 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (°) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—1:20, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 6:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 50 and 7:00 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m; closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 in the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood

Yard and office, 163 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station.

AT Jas. R. Blair's,

126 Park Ave.

You can get Winter Caps from 25c to $1.00. Gloves of all kinds from 25c. to $1.50, Sweaters $1.00 to $2.50 also. Underwear 50c. to 1.50.

Watch his window for Holiday goods.

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof. John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. s 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bannanas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY.

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Percy O. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W. L. & J. M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 42b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
No. 143 West Front street.
Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201-203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. ROEHM, 113 West Front street.

Store Open Evenings.

Useful Holiday Presents.

Desks, Tables,
Easy Chairs, Rockers, etc.
Fine China,
Elegant Lamps,
Fancy Pottery.

G. Q. PACKER. J. W. GAVETT.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

HEARN

WEST FOURTEENTH ST. NEW YORK

New York's Most Popular Store For Everything in Dry Goods.

See New York Sunday and Evening papers for week's Specials.

FREE DELIVERIES DAILY

By Our Own Wagon in

Plainfield,	Westfield
Elizabeth,	Netherwood
Elizabethport,	Fanwood
Roselle,	Union
Lorraine,	Elmora
Aldene,	Linwood
Lyons Farm,	Rahway
Cranford.

11 17 e od to 12 29

"Time or Tide Waits for No Man."

Have your time always correct and you won't want time to wait. Our watches or clocks never vary. They are sure and reliable timekeepers, whether in the exquisitely jeweled chatelaine watch, or fine gold or silver case. They are always correct. Speaking of time—remember now is the time to be looking around for a useful and handsome Christmas present for wife, husband or sweetheart; and who doesn't love a good watch?

COLLIER,

103 Park Ave. Established 1869.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Rudolph Kersting and Herman Klinsman, under the firm name of Kersting & Klinsman, was dissolved on the fourth day of Nobember, A. D., 1896, by mutual consent.

All debts owing the said partnership are to be received by the said Rudolph Kersting, and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

Dated this fourth day of November, A. D., 1896.

[Signed.] RUDOLPH KERSTING.
HERMAN KLINSMAN.

Rudolph Kersting, the senior member of the firm, will continue the business at the same place, 201 and 203 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. 11 11 6t Th

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, administratrix of Charles E. Catlin, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the thirtieth day of December next. GERTRUDE W. CATLIN

Dated October 28th, 1896. 10 29 10w

BANDITS BAFFLED.

Held Up a Western Train, But Could Not Open the Safe.

St. Louis, Dec. 10.—Passenger train No. 65, southbound on the Iron Mountain railroad, was boarded at Vandeventer avenue in this city at 9 o'clock last night by six train robbers. Two held up the conductor and brakeman, two covered the engineer and fireman and two others operated on the express car. Those on the locomotive stopped the train at the Bates street crossing and the door of the express car was opened by dynamite. The express messenger was forced to give up the keys, but the through safe, containing the money packages, was locked with a time lock and combination. The robbers got nothing, and at a signal they left the train, firing their guns to prevent pursuit, and fled in the darkness. The vicinity was soon surrounded by police, and a number of arrests were made.

TALMAGE NOT TO WED.

He Denies the Rumor and Says That He Is Sorry To Spoil a Good Story.

New York, Dec. 10.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, who is stopping at a hotel in this city, denied the report of his engagement to Miss Mangin of Sing Sing. When asked how he imagined the story got about, he said: "Well, sometimes folks do a lot of guessing. Every now and then they guess right, and then they guess wrong. I am sorry I can't give you other information, for I have had a little experience in newspaper work, and I know what a good story you might have written." Miss Mangin is about 30 years of age and her brother married one of Dr. Talmage's daughters. As the reported union would have made her the stepmother of her own brother, there was a great deal of interest attached to the report. The engagement it was said last night had been more than half way admitted by the young woman's friends, so Dr. Talmage's denial of its truth came rather as a surprise.

Editor McClure Dined.

Philadelphia, Dec. 10.—Col. Alexander K. McClure, the veteran editor of the Philadelphia Times, yesterday rounded out fifty years of journalism and his friends last night commemorated the golden anniversary of his editorial work by tendering him a dinner at the hotel Walton. About 300 guests were present. Pleasant and complimentary letters and telegrams of regret were read from President-elect McKinley, Secretary Herbert, William J. Bryan, Vice-President-elect Hobart and many others. Governor Hastings presided.

Col. W. B. McCreery Dead.

Flint, Mich., Dec. 10.—Col. W. B. McCreery, one of the most prominent citizens of Flint, died last evening. He was born in New York in 1837. He was collector of internal revenue under President Grant. In 1875 he was elected state treasurer, serving two terms, and was a member of the state board of agriculture for seven years. He was mayor of this city for two years and United States consul to Valparaiso, Chili, for two years.

Great Land Suit Settled.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 10.—Special Circuit Judge Smith has decided a suit involving 29,000 acres of timber and mineral lands in Bell county. The case was that of Edward Grimes and wife of New York vs. the American association, limited, an English corporation, and involved the title to the property. The court decided that the plaintiffs were entitled to all but a few patents. The property is valued at about $1,500,000.

Official Trial of the Gresham.

Washington, Dec. 10.—At the contractors' trial of the new revenue cutter Gresham, which will be stationed at Milwaukee, held at Cleveland the maximum speed developed was seventeen knots. This is a knot better than was expected. Engineer-in-Chief Collins of the revenue cutter service wired that the official trial would be held tomorrow.

Searching for Escaped Prisoners.

Batavia, N. Y., Dec. 10.—The sheriff and deputies are still scouring the country in an effort to capture Charles Melvin and Thomas Riley, confined in the county jail here for larceny, who sawed through the window grating of the jail Wednesday. There is no clue to where they procured the saw with which the bars were cut.

Hanged Himself in His Stable.

Pittsburg, Dec. 10.—Nicholas Hartman, 64 years old, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself with a clothes line to a joist in his stable. His body was found by his son. Hartman had become despondent over recent business reverses. He was engaged in the dairy business.

Secretary Roosevelt Coming.

London, Dec. 10.—J. R. Roosevelt, first secretary of the United States embassy, who has been suffering for several weeks from nervous prostration, but whose condition has somewhat improved, will sail for New York on the steamer Germanic to-day.

Archbishop Fabre Sinking Rapidly.

Montreal, Dec. 10.—Archbishop Fabre is sinking rapidly, and it is not expected that he can survive the day. Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, has cabled the pope's benediction to the dying archbishop.

British Ship Wrecked.

London, Dec. 10.—The British ship British Peer, London for Cape Town, has been wrecked near Saldanha bay, South Africa. Four of her crew were saved, but fourteen are missing.

Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Masons.

Boston, Dec. 10.—The Masonic Grand Lodge of Massachusetts yesterday afternoon elected Charles C. Hutchinson of Lowell grand master.

FITZ WAS SOLD OUT

Sensational Testimony in the Notorious Prize Fight Case.

SAN FRANCISCO SPORTS EXCITED

"Australian" Billy Smith Exposes on the Stand the Scheme Whereby the Cornishman Was Robbed—His Testimony Denounced as Perjury.

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—A large assemblage of ring followers and men-about-town crowded Judge Sanderson's courtroom in expectation of hearing sensational developments regarding the manner in which the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey prize fight was "fixed," and they were not disappointed. If credence is to be placed in the story told on the witness stand by "Australian" Billy Smith, Sharkey's trainer, Fitzsimmons was a defeated man before he left New York. According to Smith's testimony, J. J. Groom, J. H. Gibbs, Danny Lynch, Sharkey's manager, and Sharkey himself were the men who composed the National Athletic club, before which body the now notorious contest was fought. These four men, Smith swears, engaged Wyatt Earp as referee, with the understanding that he was to award Sharkey the fight directly Fitzsimmons landed a body blow or stomach punch which might be stretched into a foul. Earp was to receive $2,500 for his services. He declared that Sharkey was not injured, except by a blow on the cheek and ear. On cross-examination he stuck to his story and could not be shaken. Lynch, Groom and Gibbs denounce Smith's testimony as rank perjury. The disclosure has created a tremendous sensation among the sporting fraternity

MISS UHL'S MARRIAGE.

Daughter of the Ambassador to Germany Wedded in Berlin.

Berlin, Dec. 10.—The marriage of Miss Lucy Follett Uhl to Guy Vangordder Thompson of Yale university, was celebrated at the official residence of the bride's father, yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was a strictly private function. The maid of honr was Miss Alice Edwina Uhl, sister of the bride. The salon was handsomely decorated with flowers, ferns and palms, and Yale flags in flowers.

Suit Brought Against Urbana, O.

Hartford, Dec. 10.—The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company of this city has brought suit against the city of Urbana, O., to recover $50,000 damages. The company holds $25,000 of the city's 6 per cent. bonds upon which the city refuses to pay but 4 per cent. interest, which the holders refuse to accept. There are $90,000 worth of the bonds held in this city and $250,000 in New England.

Complain of Unjust Taxation.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 10.—Wm. T. Rodenbach, treasurer of the Goodyear Metallic Rubber Shoe company of Naugatuck, which is a member of the rubber trust, stated in an interview last evening that the company is seriously considering removal from Naugatuck to some other place unless relief is obtained from what it deems unjust and excessive local taxation.

Convention of Miners and Operators.

Pittsburg, Dec. 10.—The first session of the joint convention of miners and operators in the Pittsburg district was devoted to preliminary work, and but little progress toward fixing a wage scale can be made before this evening. There was a long discussion on pick machine mining. A sentiment is abroad that there will be no settlement at this convention.

An Alleged Embezzler Wanted.

Boston, Dec. 10.—The police have sent out circulars giving a description of Harold B. Gray, formerly of Hyde Park, and then employed by the American Wringer company, who is said to have embezzled $25,000 from that company. He has been missing since last July.

Washed Overboard and Drowned.

London, Dec. 10.—A dispatch from Sourabaya says the British bark Falls of Garry, from New York, which has arrived there, experienced heavy weather on the voyage, and that during a storm three seamen were washed overboard and drowned.

Dairy Stable and Cattle Burned.

Portland, Me., Dec. 10.—The fine dairy stable of Benj. G. Kimball of Oak Hill, Scarboro, was burned yesterday with forty head of cattle.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot weaker and quiet. Dec., 86¼c.; May, 85c.

Corn—Spot easy; old prices prevail. Dec., 29c.; May, 31⅜c.

Oats—Trade firm; moderate demand. Dec., 23c.; May, 25⅝c.

Lard—Market steady, but inactive. Prime western, $4.10.

Eggs—Quiet, weak and unsettled. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 20@24c.; ice house, 16@20c.; western, fresh, 20@22c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 19@20½.

Butter—Receipts are quite heavy. Creamery western extras, 24½c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19@23c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Steady; moderate demand. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1 37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:14 a. m.
un sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. will again try its skill against outside players. A game is now being arranged with the team from the Summit Y. M. C. A., the date for which will be announced later. The Summit boys are very anxious to meet the Plainfield team.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Charles Smith, of this city, went to Yardville this morning to take part in a shoot there.

COULDN'T STAND THE STRAIN.

A Fractious Horse Wrecks a Buggy at Sight of a Trolley Car.

The commuters that passed down Park avenue this morning on their way to the station noticed the wreck of a buggy lying in the gutter at the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street and wondered accordingly. The pile of debris at the side of the road was all that remained of a rig of a farmer that drove into Plainfield yesterday. He was coming down Park avenue shortly before 11 o'clock when the horse saw a trolley car and started to run away. The buggy was not a new one and the sudden effort of the steed was too much, and the old vehicle laid down. The horse continued on its way for a short distance with the shafts and front wheels dragging behind. Then someone stopped the wild career of the frightened animal and it was returned to its owner. This morning Street Commissioner Meeker found the remains of the wreck and started to have them carted away, but the owner came and took away his property.

BREAD BASKET ROBBED.

George Kirch, the Grocer, Suffers From Early Morning Visitors.

George Kirch, the Somerset street grocer, has for sometime been annoyed with a practical system of theft, and while he feels sure that he knows who the guilty ones are he hesitates about making any disclosure. Mr. Kirch opens his store very early in the morning, but his baker stops at his store before it is opened and to avoid delay the latter leaves of bread the required number of loaves in a basket in front of the store. Mr. Kirch is usually around soon after the baker arrives and he takes care of the bread at once. Of late, he has noticed that several loaves of bread were missing, and while he personally does not stand the loss, it is a source of trouble to both him and the baker.

A box with a lock on it has now been placed in front of the store and baker put the bread in there and then fastens the lock. In this way he is sure of having the bread.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

J. A. Blatz and Fred Hui went hunting to day back of Mt. Bethel.

Charles Sturtevant is moving his family from Orchard place to New Brunswick.

Miss Sadie Blimm, of Somerset street, is visiting her friend, Miss Sadie Brown, of New York.

Geo. Wilson, formerly with Hillier & Co., has associated himself in the building business with his father.

—Beautiful potted primroses, in bloom, only 12cts., all day Saturday, at Peterson's, florist, 217 Watchung avenue.

Stuart H. Patterson, of Franklin place, sat up for a while on Wednesday, the first time since he was taken ill, over four weeks ago.

James McLean, of Liberty street, has returned from a trip to the west, and has accepted a position with Demarest & Son, the Park avenue grocers.

Somerset County Petit Jury.

The North Plainfield members of the petit jury of Somerset county are J. W. VanHorn, George Lewis, Jonathan Lewis, S. B. Matthews and C. Morris. The jurors will meet Tuesday, December 22d.

Avenue Work Being Done Right.

The borough Street Committee met last night and decided that after an investigation the work on Watchung avenue was being done strictly according to the contract.

Reception to Children of Mary.

A reception will be given to the Children of Mary on Sunday evening at St. Mary's church. Father O' Neill, of Seton Hall College, will preach at the reception.

'Miller' Lamps are

Beautiful, Delightful to use, Safe.

The best lamp made. See them. Buy them for house, store, club, church, &c., and for GIFTS—WEDDING AND HOLIDAY.

If not for sale by dealers, but at our store or by mail. Miller Bicycle Lanterns are the Best. Our fine Brass and Onyx Tables are beautiful.

Edward Miller & Co., Manufacturers. Established 1844.

28 and 30 W. Broadway, N. Y.

For cool weather buy a Miller Oil Heater.

10 15-Mon-Thur

DUPLICATE CASE OF BAD BOYS.

Young New Brunswick Thieves Also Caught in Washington.

A duplicate case to that of Charles Wilson and Louis Milligan, the two young plungers who stole a large sum of money in this city, recently, and spent a considerable portion of it in Washington, came to light yesterday afternoon at the capital. At the instance of Detective C. A. Oliver, of New Brunswick, Policemen Wannell and Cox, of the sixth precinct, arrested John Labor and Jacob Ziegler at the city post office. Labor and Ziegler are not over 19 years of age each, and they are wanted in New Brunswick for grand larceny, it being claimed that they got away with money and property to the value of several thousand dollars. Detective Oliver reached Washington last night, having traced the boys there. All the police stations were notified to keep a lookout for them, and, as stated, they were taken into custody when they visited the post office. They would make no statement regarding the case when token to police headquarters. Dectective Oliver left for New Brunswick this morning with the prisoners.

BIG RAID ON JERSEY TRAMPS.

Elizabeth Police Take in 35 Hoboes at Upper Rahway.

A squad of the Elizabeth police last night made an exciting raid on freight trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad at the Grant avenue signal house, Upper Rahway, and captured thirty-five tramps who were on the cars.

The police were accompanied by Detective McNally of the railroad and a number of special men, who, with drawn clubs and revolvers boarded the trains, which were stopped for the purpose, and seized the men, some of whom were in box cars and others on gondolas. Many of the tramps resisted and attempted to escape.

The tramps, who ranged in age from 16 to 40 years, were driven into the signal station and held under guard until after midnight, when a special train was made up from Amboy Junction, and they were brought to Elizabeth and locked up in the police headquarters.

—Jaquett gives away clothing on Saturday. All come.

—The Board of Trade will hold an important meeting tonight.

—The fire, water and lamps committee of the borough will meet this evening and consider an important matter.

—The fourth annual ball of the Cabinet Social Club will be given at the Fanwood clubhouse on Tuesday evening, Dec. 22d.

Miss Quick, of North Branch, is the guest of Plainfield friends for a few days.

Fred McGlynn, of Brooklyn, has been visiting Percy Browne, of Sycamore avenue.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

A Remedy for Thinness.

A French paper tells the story of a dramatic instructor who had as a pupil a girl who was very pretty, but woefully thin. Thinness is so fatal on the stage—except where there is the highest genius, as in the case of that great actress of whose admirers it is said that they prefer grace before meat—that he consulted a physician about it. The physician recommended belladonna. "Why?" asked the dramatic instructor. "Because," was the reply, "belladonna has the property of dilating the pupil."

ELECTRIC LIGHTS AND EYESIGHT

Unprotected Lamps Found to Be Injurious to the Eyesight.

The question of injury to the eyes from electric light is being prominently discussed by scientists, oculists and laymen throughout the country. While opinions widely differ as to the ultimate injury likely to result from the rapidly increasing use of electricity, the consensus of opinion is that light from uncovered or uncolored globes is working damage to the eyesight of humanity. In a discussion of the subject a London electric light journal, in defending its trade, feels called upon to make some important admissions. It says: "It is not customary to look at the sun, and not even the most enthusiastic electrician would suggest that naked arcs and incandescent filaments were objects to be gazed at without limit. But naked arc lights are not usually placed so as to come within the line of sight, and when they do accidentally, whatever may result, the injury to the eye is quite perceptible. The filament of a glow lamp, on the other hand, is most likely to meet the eye, but a frosted bulb, is an extremely simple and common way of getting over that difficulty. The whole trouble can be easily remedied by the use of properly frosted or colored glass globes. In any case, however, the actual permanent injury to the eye by the glowing filament is no greater than that due to an ordinary gas flame."

Reassuring.

Ten Broke—I hear your father tramping abut upstairs rather nervously. Do you think I'd better go?

Penelope—No, there's no danger. He doesn't know it's you.—N. Y. Truth.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

$35. Will buy you a First-Class High Grade BICYCLE.

Peck & Snyder and Winslow Skates from 49c. up.

PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.

147-149 NORTH AVENUE.

H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

Xmas.

CURTIS M. THORP.

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be

FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.

Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and-irons, fenders, etc.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."

310–312 Park Avenue.

Call at

J. F. MACDONALD'S

The Uptown Grocery.

And be convinced that it is our aim to supply the people with the best goods at the lowest prices and that we now have a full line of all the new goods necessary to make your order complete.

Muse Raisins,	3 lbs. for 25cts.	Figs,	10 cts. per lb.
Table "	5 " " 50 "	English Walnuts,	15 " " "
Currants,	3 " " 25 "	Paper Shell Almonds,	25 " " "
Cal. Prunes,	2 " " 25 "	Pecans,	18 " " "
" Apricots,	2 " " 25 "	Filberts,	15 " " "

A choice lot of apples by the barrel at an equally low price.

CASINO.

MONDAY, DEC. 14th 1896.

LECTURE BY

MR. EDWARD C. PERKINS,

of Plainfield, N. J., under the auspices of

THE MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Subject:—"The Man with the Iron Mask."

Admission Twenty-five cents. Lecture will begin promptly at 3 o'clock 2 t s

AN ORDINANCE.

An ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Relating to the Construction of Buildings," approved January 3d, 1896.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Section 12 of the Ordinance entitled as aforesaid, be and the same is hereby amended by inserting after the words, "and the several component parts of such building shall be as hereinafter provided," where they occur in the first paragraph of said section, the words following, that is to say: "provided that in all cases of wooden or frame dwelling-houses within the fire limits which now have wooden or frame extensions of one story or more in height, the Building Inspector may grant a permit for the erection upon and above said existing extension of a new extension one or more stories in height, said new extension to have floor space not exceeding eighty square feet on each floor, and the room on each floor of said new extension to be used exclusively for the purpose of placing and using therein a wash basin, bath tub, and water closet, and appropriate apparatus to be used in connection therewith.

Approved by the Mayor December 8, 1896.
A. GILBERT, MAYOR.
Attest: J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk
12 10 2

NOTICE.

Estate of Joseph Tucker Dunham deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, made on the application of the undersigned executors of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from the seventh day of October 1896, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscribers.

MARY THANKFUL DUNHAM,
MAXSON MARVIN DUNHAM,
Executors.

10 15 10-oaw

FIRE FIRE FIRE

GRAND

Firemen's Fair

will be held by

Plainfield Engine Co. No. 2.

Dancing evenings from 10 until 12.

Dec. 14th to 19th, Inclusive.

No contest books out. Phonographic entertainment every evening.

Admission - - 10 cents.

NOTICE!

The undersigned have this day formed a co-partnership under the style of Vanderbeek & Sattels for the transaction of a general business for the sale of Pianos and Organs, at No. 221 Park Avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.

A. VANDERBEEK,
JOSEPH SATTELS.

Dated Dec. 8, 1896. 12 9 3t

SLIP AWAY TODAY.

Don't let the little ones know where you've gone. You'll find my store simply flooded with DOLLS for the girls, TOYS for the boys and BOOKS for the boys and girls.

Kid body and jointed dolls from 25c. up.

Fine dolls, full jointed, closing eyes, woven wig, from 75c. up.

Doll carriages from 25c. to $8.00

Iron trains from 25c. to $5.73.

Sleds from 25c. up.

Wagons, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Shoo-fly Rockers, Desks, Blackboards, Games, Wooden Boats that shoot, Tea Sets, Furniture, Trumpets, Tin Toys, Iron Toys, Rubber Balls, Etc., Etc.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front street.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS IN ENDLESS VARIETY AT HARPER'S,

411 PARK AVENUE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.

12 1 1y

GREATEST CHRISTMAS BARGAINS YET!

We are not exaggerating when we say we are now showing the largest and most attractive assortment of Christmas Goods this town has ever seen, and at Lower Prices. We can save you money and sell you first-class goods, too. Come right to EDSALL'S first. You will save time. We can mention only a few sample bargains.

1 lot hard wood children's desks, drop lid, 18-in wide, 24-in high, only 98c., worth $1.25.
1 lot slate top children's desks, 18-in wide, 24-in high, 49c.
1 lot hard wood children's rockers only 53c.
1 lot easel blackboards, 18x20-in, only 29c.
1 lot dolls' wire bedsteads and mattress only 21c.
1 lot children's upholstered swings only 47c.
1 lot children's A, B, C blackboards 17c.
1 lot lead soldiers, large size, 16c.
1 lot spring runner boy's sleds 49c.
1 lot mechanical toys, carpenter, machinist, etc., only 39c.
1 lot soldiers', firemen and sailors' uniforms only 35c.
1 lot buckboards $2.98.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS.

It is just impossible to give you an idea of the great values we can offer you in this line.

Our own importations of Bisque Figures, Bric-a-brac and French China, embracing the handsomest line of Cups and Saucers, Plates, Chocolate Pitchers, Fern Bowls, Trays, and novel pieces ever shown in this section, and the prices are fully 25 per cent lower than ever before.

On our first or main floor

you will find about everything you can think of in the Dry and Fancy Goods line, and every article has been purchased at the lowest price that money and skill in buying can produce.

Then our plan of selling

double the amount at one-half the usual profit makes our prices lower than the lowest.

In a word

just save yourself time, trouble and expense and come for your Holiday Goods direct to

EDSALL'S.

Hat Fashions Change.

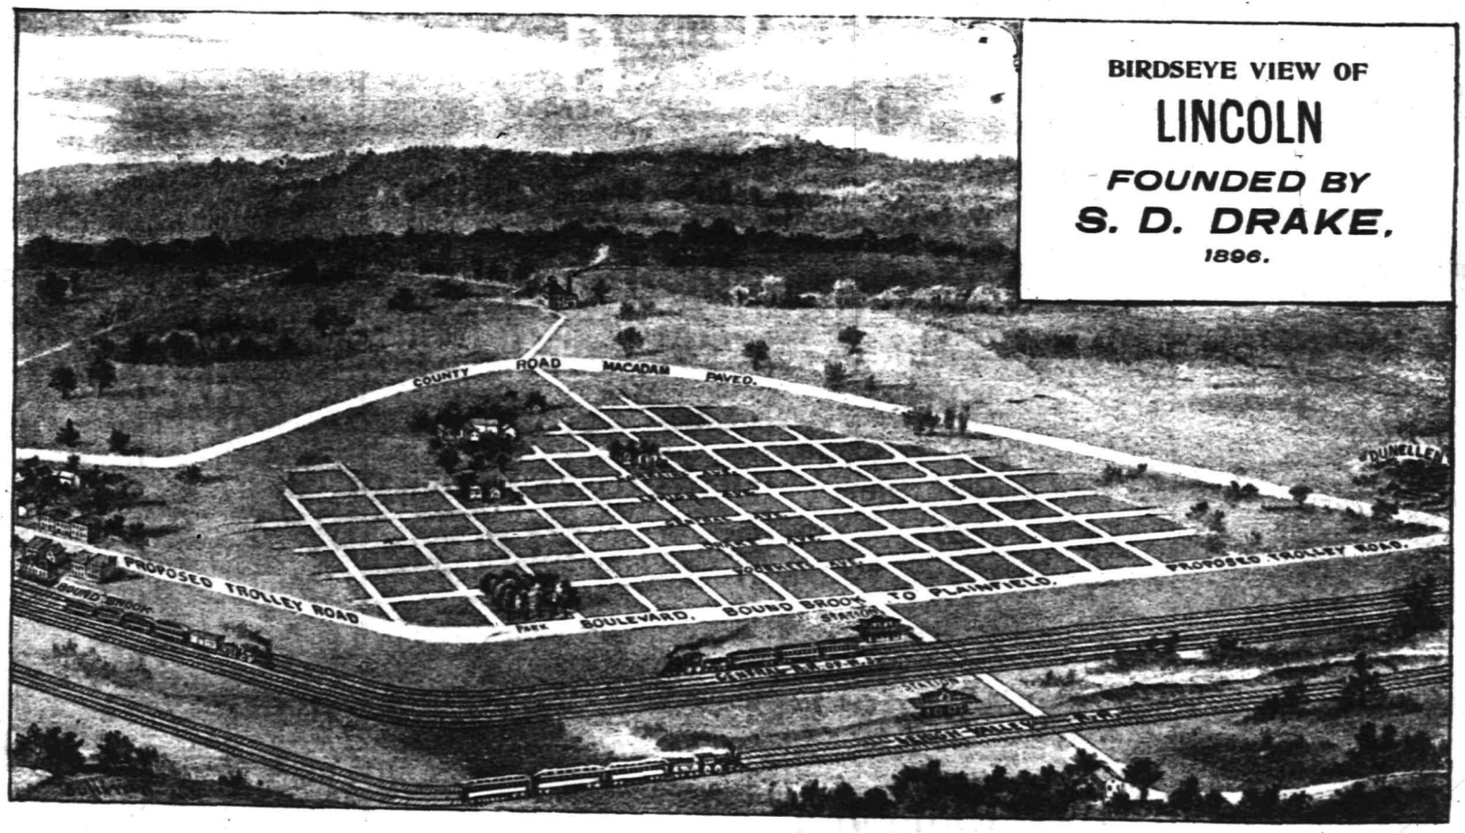
It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.

CRANE & CLARK,

Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.



Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

TO STOP ABUSE OF ALMS

THAT IS THE IDEA OF THE ORGANIZED AID ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of the Organization Held Last Evening and Very Encouraging Reports Heard For the Year.

The attendance at the annual meeting of the Charity Organized Aid Association, held last evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, was unusually large. President Tyler was in the chair and in the opening the meeting gave a brief outline of the work done by the Association. In his remarks he stated that heretofore there had been a lack of co-operation on the part of the churches and other charity organizations in the city. He urged that this matter be closely investigated and that all organizations strive toward a co-operation which would produce the best results. He said the Association was organized for the purpose of assisting other organizations so that charity would not be duplicated or abused.

The first business of the evening was the presentation of reports, and H. P. Reynolds, as treasurer, was called on first. His report showed that the Association has a membership of 145, consisting of persons who give $2, $5 and $10 a year. From this source $448 had been received. Direct contributions amounting to $225 had also been received. The total receipts for the year were reported to be $700. On the side of expenditure the amount of $652.87 was used. On November 16th there was a balance of $63.87 in the treasurer and all bills were then paid. At present there is a balance of $16.17 with a few unpaid bills.

C. W. McCutchen, chairman of the finance committee, stated that during the past thirteen months the operating expenses of the Association had been $650. There were 142 membes who gave $2; fifteen gave $5; fourteen gave $10; three $75; one $50 and one $100. He urged more hearty co-operation on the part of all.

For the district committee, Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, chairman, reported that during the past three years 467 cases had been considered, and during the past year there were 124 new cases, and of the above number 350 persons had been helped.

He stated that the advice of the Association had been sought by every charity organization in town and by seven out-of-town organizations and in every instance the advice given had been followed. He also stated that through the efforts of the Overseer of the Poor, ten persons had been taken off of the city poor list and three added. Mrs. Woodruff, the agent, hed made, during the year, 300 calls and had written 638 letters. Mr. Newell praised Mrs. Woodruff and H. B. Newhall, for their conscientious and faithful work.

W. L. Saunders, chairman of the printing and publishing committee, reported that $50.45 had been expended in that department during the year. He suggested that hereafter the chairman of his committee be selected of the district committee.

Mrs. H. B. Opdyke, as chairman of the employment bureau, presented an excellent report. She said that three classes of people had been dealt with. First, the faithful and efficient; second, unfaithful, without good references; third, those who were lazy and vicious. She stated that a woodyard was in operation, and she asked those present to order their wood through the committee. This she said would not affect other dealers in wood, as the coal merchants about town had informed her that there was very little profit in wood.

All reports were received and on a motion they were referred to the printing and publishing committee, for the purpose of having them printed.

At this time Miss Luella Harris, soprano soloist at the First Baptist church, rendered a beautiful solo, and the audience appreciated her rich, cultivated voice.

Mr. Tyler then introduced General Wager Swayne, of New York, who delivered the address of the evening. Gen. Swayne is identified with charity work in New York, and his remarks were based on experience.

Among other things he said: "There should be a co-operation in the work as a promotive of truth. That which prevents a man, not an object of charity, from becoming one, is doing a good work, for this is a most important matter, and don't leave a person in such a condition that they will prefer to become dependent upon charity."

During Gen. Swayne's remarks he cited many incidents in connection with his work, and he gave much good advice to the members present. His remarks were thoroughly enjoyed. In conclusion, Miss Harris again

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

NEW ARCANUM COUNCIL

STARTS OFF WITH A CHARTER MEMBERSHIP OF TWENTY-FOUR.

To Be Known as Greenbrook Council—Numbers Among Its Members Some of Plainfield's Most Influential Citizens.

The new council, Royal Arcanum, was instituted last evening in Grand Army Hall under the most auspicious circumstances. The charter membership is twenty-four, and the members are all well-known and highly-esteemed citizens.

The name chosen is Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, Royal Arcauum. District Deputy Grand Regent Busby was present and had charge of the work which was performed by State Grand Regent J. D. Otis, assisted by his staff as follows: Messrs. Calhuan, Alberts, Drummond, Wakefield, Leightfoot and Rand.

After the institution the new lodge elected the following officers to serve from January 1st, 1897: Regent, C. C. Davis; vice-regent, D. C. Allen; past regent, W. C. Oliver; orator, Edward Vermeule; chaplain, C. W. Wilson; secretary, F. L. Cobb; treasurer, H. H. Coward; collector, L. B. Skillman; guide, George O. Stevens; warden, Benjamin Mills; sentry, Charles Fulmer; representative to the Grand Council, W. C. Oliver; alternate, C. C. Davis; trustees, J. W. VanSickle, Joseph Robinson, Hugh Boyd.

This concluded the business of the evening and then all present enjoyed short speeches by the State officers, after which a sumptuous collation was served.

Delegations were present from Councils in Rahway, Elizabeth, Metuchen, Jersey City, Hoboken, Newark, Orange, and also from Plainfield Council.

AN OLD OFFICER RETIRES.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers of A. O. H. Last Night.

The annual meeting of the A. O. W. was held last night and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Edward Birmingham; vice-president, Edward Ryan; secretary, William McCarty; financial secretary, Peter W. McDonough; treasurer, Michael Nugent; sergeant-at-arms, William Casey. The installation of officers will take place at the January meeting, at which time P. Casey will have rounded out his twenty-fourth year of service as an officer in the organization and will retire with honors. A smoker will also mark the occasion. At the meeting last night five new members were initiated. The organization is in a very prosperous condition.

Small Boys Got the Best of Them.

Chief Giles and several of the members of the Dunellen Fire Department piled up a lot of boards and soaked them with kerosene on the property bought by Harry Terry on the New Market road. Tomorrow night the firemen were going to set fire to them and try their new alarm and also see how quick they could put out a bon-fire. But the small boys in that vicinity could not wait for to-morrow night, so they touched them off last night and the fire ladddies did not respond as they were too mad to work. The chief is looking for the boys that set the boards on fire.

Not the Right Sort of Cartridges.

It seems proper and fitting that, inasmuch as certain reports have been circulated to the effect that the police of the city are not thoroughly up-to-date in the use of their revolvers, that those in charge be delegated to give a few lessons. The latest report is that one of the policemen was trying to shoot a dog a few nights ago, and after repeated attempts with no result, the officer learned that he had a rim-fire revolver in which he was using centre fire cartridges.

Jerusalem Chapter Election.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., held last evening:—High Priest, D. C. Adams; King, C. C. Howard; Scribe, Walter A. Freeman; Captain of Host, Clarence Goss; Principal Sojourner, Robert A. Meeker; Junior Deacon, Edward Nelson; Trustees, John Chandler, John Odam; Secretary, Frank Coriell; Treasurer, Henry Liefke.

A Little Girl Wrote to Santa Claus.

Dear Santa:—I want St. Nicholas for Christmas, papa wants Harper's and mamma wants Ladies Home Journal. Now, I know you are poor this year, so please go to Rand's Magazine Exchange and subscribe for us. It only costs a dollar and seventy-five cents for six months, and we will remember you all that time.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

IN CONFUCIUS' REALM.

A MISSIONARY TELLS OF HER WORK AMONG THE CHINESE.

Miss Ketring Explains the Customs of the Almond-eyed People—The Pitiable Condition of the Poor in That Great Country.

The trials and perils of missionary life in China were very vividly pictured by Miss Ketring, a returned missionary from that country, at the parlor meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the First M. E. church, held in Vincent chapel, yesterday afternoon. Miss Matthews, superintendent of the Immigrant's Home at New York, was expected to come and talk on her experiences in the home mission field but she was unable to come. Miss Ketring, of New York, was present, however, and made a very interesting address, showing some of the idols and other queer curios from the land of the Chinaman. She told of the manners and customs of the Chinese and spoke about their idol worship. Her story of her own experiences while working among the natives were listened to with much interest and her description of the pitiable condition of the poor was very real.

There was a well rendered solo by Miss Margaretta Barnes, and the meeting ended with a little tea. Mrs. Edward Winter, president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, presided over the meeting which was largely attended. The tea was poured by Mrs. Henry A. McGee and Mrs. J. R. Joy.

A PLEASING PROGRAMME.

Daughters of Rebecca Entertain Their Many Friends.

The Odd Fellows' Hall in the Babcock building was the scene of a very enjoyable entertainment last evening given by Friendship Lodge, Daughters of Rebecca. The programme was an excellent one and fully appreciated by the audience that nearly filled the hall. D. P. Hicks acted as master of ceremonies.

The programme was as follows: Overture by the LaVere orchestra; soprano solo by Miss Katherine Vreeland; humorous selection by J. Stanley Joyce; violin solo by Robt. Barnes; dialogue, "Shoddy or Wool" or "The New House on the Hill;" humorous selection by Mr. Joyce; tenor solo by Elmer E. Runyon; piano solo by Miss Anna VanDeusen; soprano solo by Miss Vreeland; humorous selection by Mr. Joyce.

The committee that had charge of the entertainment consisted of Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. VanFleet, Mrs. Kettring and Miss Dunlap.

ALL SOULS' CHURCH FESTIVAL.

An Interesting Programme Given at the Event Last Night.

The Christmas festival was continued at All Souls' Church yesterday. The sales were good and those who attended were greatly pleased with the affair. The pretty appearance of the room caused many complimentary remarks. Tonight will be the last night and special attractions will be offered.

The programme last evening consisted of a piano duet by the Misses Mary and Katie Graves, two songs by Herbert Brownell and Tom DeMeza, and a reading by Miss Mary Brown. For to-morrow evening the committee has arranged an entirely new entertainment. There will be a reading by Miss Ada Woolston and several selections on the violin by Miss Clyde Burnett, accompanied by Miss Marguerite Burnett on the piano.

For Saturday Only—Clothing Given Away.

Every one buying one of Jaquett's $16.00, $18.00 or $20.00 overcoats will get a present of a fashionable hat, or a child's suit; or $2.00 discount on any man's or young man's suit in the house; or every one buying a $10.00 or $15.00 overcoat will get a present of a child's separate pants, or a child's hat or a fine necktie; or $1.00 discount on any man's, young man's, boys' or children's suit in the house. This is a bona fide offer made for one day only, to reduce the stock and to introduce new goods.

Beating the Railroad Company.

Its as good as a ten cent show to watch the antics of the "Whit." Frazee at the depot these mornings. Right under the eyes of railroad detectives, merchants come up and hand him money and packages to take to New York, yet he takes passage on the 8 31 o'clock train without carrying a single bundle. Only a morning or two ago, it is said, a prominent North Plainfield policeman took several of Frazee's packages aboard the train with him, and transferred them at Jersey City.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

WHIPPED A MAN ANYWAY

WHETHER HE WAS THE RIGHT ONE THEY ARE NOT SURE.

New Brunswick Young Men Had Their Bicycle Tires Ruined in Plainfield, and They Set Out on a Trip of Revenge.

Arthur Harding and Wm. Meyers, of New Brunswick, tell a story of how they "got square" with a man who they allege cut the tires of their bicycles. On Tuesday evening they rode to this city and called upon a young lady living in West Fifth street. When they arrived they found the young lady talking to a man named Lyons, from East Orange.

Meyers was acquainted with the young lady, but his companion was not. After Harding had been introduced they were invited inside. The invitation did not include Lyons. He turned and left, looking displeased. He is a musician, and is known as the "Professor," because he plays music for dances.

The New Brunswick boys left their wheels in front of the house when they went inside. When their visit was over they found their tires flat, and an examination showed they had been punctured in several places with a penknife. Rightly or wrongly, they jumped to the conclusion that Lyons had cut them. After considerable hard work they patched up the punctures and started for home, but the repairs were only temporary, and very temporary at that, for instead of three-quarters of an hour it took them three hours to get home, as they had often to stop to repair either one tire or the other.

They say they hired a tandem on Wednesday afternoon and rode to East Orange. They found where Lyons lived, but failed to find him at home. They hunted around until they discovered a man they took to be the one they were looking for. He was watching a game of football which some negroes were playing in an open lot. The boys say he denied he knew them or that his name was Lyons, but they were cocksure they were right and set upon him.

Harding is said to have hit him first, and then Meyers jumped into the fight. For either of the New Brunswick boys the man they attacked would have been a match, but he was unable to stand off both, and, according to their story, they used him pretty roughly. The dispute relative to the man's identity which preceded the fight had enlightened the crowd as to the reason of the attack, and the boys were cheered on in their work.

The boys say that after they finished with the East Orange man they rode home by way of Plainfield and told the young lady what they had done.

Found Dead on the Tracks.

As a train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey neared the Raritan station at 1.45 o'clock yesterday morning the engineer saw the body of a man lying on the eastbound track, near the end of the station platform. It proved to be that of James Lahey, twenty-five years old, who is well known in Raritan. Lahey's arm was broken and there was deep gashes in his forehead. It is believed that he attempted to jump from an east bound coal train passing through Raritan shortly after midnight, when his clothing caught on a bolt of the car and he was dragged the full length of the station platform. He was seen by his friends in Raritan at 6 o'clock Wednesday night. County Physician Wagoner pronounced it an accidental death.

Plainfield or Boston Artists?

James and Barry Burton, claiming to be colored song and dance men of Boston or Plainfield, were performing in an unlicensed manner on Main street Tuesday night, flourishing razors and scaring the audience, when Marshal Anderson ran them in and Judge Brampton sent them up for 20 days.—Bound Brook Democract.

Will Sue the Railroad Company.

Harry Willoughby, whose son William was struck by a train at the Central avenue crossing, Westfield, Tuesday, has engaged a lawyer and will bring suit against the railroad company for $1,000 damages for loss of horse and wagon and injuries to his son.

A Family Quarrel.

Night before last the borough marshals were called to a residence near Greenbrook road, where a family quarrel was disturbing the neighborhood. When the marshals appeared quiet was resumed, and as no one made a complaint there was no arrests made.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

GRAND OFFICERS HERE

PUBLIC INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS OF TEMPLARS OF LIBERTY.

The Exposition of Lodge Work by the Grand Officers Was Interesting to Visitors and Edifying to Members.

A public installation of the officers-elect of Templars of Liberty, No. 6, was held last evening in the rooms on West Front street. The work was performed in a highly creditable manner by Worthy Templar Percival; Grand Worthy Recorder McClurg; Past Grand Worthy Templar Tunison, of New York, assisted by the Grand Lodge staff.

The officers installed are as follows: Charles Leland, worthy templar; Charles Hall, vice-templar; J. B. Martin, worthy recorder; Jas. Davis, financial recorder; Nathan Hendri, treasurer; Arthur Osborn, marshal; Frank Sowden, assistant marshal; A. G. Nicholson, inside guard; Geo. Leland, outside guard.

There were 100 visitors present from New York, Brooklyn, Staten Island and Newark, accompanied by a fife and drum corps. At the close of the installation speeches were made by the Grand Lodge officers and the new officers of the Plainfield lodge.

The whole affair was an auspicious one and reflects credit on those who arranged it.

MISS WARING'S AT HOME.

A Charming Social Event at a Park Avenue Home Yesterday.

A charming social affair was the last "at home" given by Miss Florence Waring, of Park avenue, yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. Those who assisted Miss Waring in receiving were Mrs. J. W. Reinhart, Mrs. E. M. VanBuren, Mrs. A. T. Slauson, Mrs. F. H. Andrews, Mrs. C.A. Marsh, Mrs. M. S. Ackerman, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Massett, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Miss Tweedy, Miss Cock, Miss Holly, Miss Smalley, Miss Andrews, Miss Lawson, Miss Haviland, Miss Schoonmaker, of Plainfield, and Miss Weller, of Newburg-on-the-Hudson.

The decorations were especially attractive, and the prevailing color was red.

There were about 250 guests present during the stated hours.

A Profitable Affair.

The proceeds of the fair held in the old postoffice building last week amounts to $115, which has been donated to the First Presbyterian church. The fair was given by the Advance Circle of King's Daughters. The thanks of the circle is extended to the following who were not mentioned in the previous article on the fair: E. W. Mills, manager of the United States Express Company, for cartage. A. M. Griffen, for the loan and fixing of a stove, and Will Tier for general services.

Settled the Bill.

The trouble between William Hand & Son and the Spratts Company has been settled. The car with its load of cages has been released from the custody of Constable Mattox and has left for its destination. When the owners of the cages which were attached learned of the attachment of their property Captain Hand quickly received his pay for the carting. The reason why it was not paid before, they explained, was on account of a misunderstanding.

The W. C. T. U. Affair Closed.

The "Festival of Days" was brought to a close in the W. C. T.U. rooms last night. Yesterday afternoon and evening the rooms were crowded with people and nearly everything was sold. Last evening a musical programme was rendered on the cornet by Dr. Berg and Miss Berg, accompanied on the piano by Miss Carrie Dewey. Those in charge have not yet been able to tell just what the profits will be, but they are pleased with the patronage accorded.

Isaac P. Runyon to Marry

The marriage of Miss Addie P. Henry, of Pluckamin, and Issac P. Runyon, of this city, is to take place at the home of the bride on the afternoon of December 23d at 4 o'clock. Miss Henry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Henry, well-known residents of that vicinity. Mr. Runyon is clerk in the law-offices of Harry C. Runyon in the Babcock building.

Press Ads. Doing Good Work.

Edsall reports that his store on both floors are crowded with eager buyers every day, so much so that he is obliged to add a still large force of sales people than he had arranged for. He adds that the Press ads. are doing good work in bringing the great crowds to his store, and the low prices and fine new goods do the rest.

—Fancy stationery for holiday presents at Harper's.

HOUSE FOR THE FIREMEN

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE PRIDEVILLE HOSE COMPANY ABOUT COMPLETED.

Lot on Harrison Street Purchased on a Site for the Building.—Opened a Hydrant to Take the Bad Taste Out of the Water.

The Fire, Water and Lamp Committee of the Borough Council held an important meeting last evening at which time all arrangements were about completed for the erection of a hose building in Prideville, and the issuance of bonds as ordered by the Council. It was reported that a lot had been purchased for $175 by the Committee on which the new building will be placed. The lot is located on Harrison street, just this side of Augustus Fiering's property. The owner of the property gives $25 toward macadamizing the street in front of the lot. It is quite likely that the work on the building will be started very soon. Another important matter was discussed by the Committee.

It was regarding a resident of Prideville who had opened a hydrant in that locality recently, and let the water run for a length of time. He committed the deed without the sanction of the committee. Investigation proved that the city water in the man's house had been tasting bad for sometime and he thought by opening a hydrant it would improve the taste of the water. The amount of water allowed to run out together with the heavy force had caused considerable damage to the roadway.

The committee did not know but what the Water Supply Company had given the man permission to run the water off, and if so the Company would be held responsible for the damage. If they had not given their permission the man will be obliged to stand the expense himself. The matter has been referred to the Water Company and the committee are now awaiting a reply before taking any action.

BOY ROBBERS NOT SENTENCED.

They Will be Brought Up in County Court Again Next Wednesday.

The Plainfield lads, Lewis Milligan and Charles Wilson, who are confined in the county jail at Elizabeth on the charge of grand larceny, were brought up in the Court of Quarter Sessions on Wednesday and asked their plea. They explained that City Judge De Meza, of this city, was their attorney and had instructed them to say nothing without consulting him. At the request of Prosecutor Marsh, the boys was taken back to the jail and will appear in court again on Wednesday morning when Judge DeMeza will be present and enter a plea for them.

It is understood that an effort will be made to have the boys committed to the reform school instead of to State's prison. As the lads have admitted their guilt there will probably be no trial.

A Christmas Tree to Be There.

The ladies of the Aid Society of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Netherwood, will hold a sale and supper at the home of the rector, Rev. S. P. Simpson, 933 Watchung avenue, on Saturday from 3 till 9 o'clock p. m. In addition to the tables bearing the useful and ornamental articles usually sold at fairs, there will be a wonderful Christmas tree and dear old Santa Claus himself for the little folks. Music will be a special feature of the occasion also. No admission will be charged, and the patronage of the friends and well wishes of St. Stephen's is earnestly solicited.

Church Workers Hospitality.

At the regular monthly consistory meeting of the Elders and Deacons of Trinity Reformed church last evening at the residence of Elder Van Emburgh, East Second street, after the official business had been disposed of and adjournment was made, the brethren were the recipients of Mr. and Mrs. Van Emburgh's hospitality in the serving of delicious hot coffee and cake and a social chat.

Had $15 Once, But Not Now.

Joseph Pole, a Polish farmer, was arrested last night by Marshal Hansen on Brook avenue. The man was very much intoxicated and had been causing considerable trouble in the above locality. This morning Justice Crosley gave the man ten days as he had no money to pay a fine of $10. The man claimed that he had $15 when he started out yesterday morning, but he had spent it all for drink.

Testimony in a Partition Suit.

Testimony was taken yesterday in the partition suit whereby partition is sought of the farm of the late John Smalley, near New Market, before Special Master of Chancery John H. VanWinckle at his office on West Front street. The complainant in the suit is Susan M. Dunham and the defendants are William H. Smalley and others.

NEW TARIFF BILL

Ways and Means Committee To Begin Its Preparation.

PUBLIC HEARINGS WILL BE GRANTED

Decision at a Conference of the Republican Members of the Committee---Extra Session of Congress Now Evidently Certain.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The committee on ways and means will go to work at once to prepare a tariff bill. This was the conclusion reached by the republican members of the committee at a conference held last night in the rooms of Representative Grosvenor, called by Chairman Dingley, at which all of the republicans were present except Major Steel of Indiana, who was unavoidably detained. The conclusion reached was the unanimous expression of the members present. In the preparations of the bill, the committee will give hearings to all persons who are interested, and they will be conducted by the full committee. The first meeting of the committee will be held at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, at which time, if all the democratic members are present, the details of the hearings, the time when they shall begin, etc., will be agreed upon. In case Judge Turner of Georgia, the ranking member of the minority of the committee, should not be able to be present to-morrow, the meeting of the full committee will be postponed until such time as he can attend. So far as the members of the committee know, no person has yet been selected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of ex-Speaker Crisp, and the republican members of the committee stated that they had heard no names mentioned in connection with the appointment, except that of F. G. Newlands of Nevada. This determination of the republican members, of course, presupposes the calling of an extra session of congress shortly after the inauguration of President-elect McKinley, but after the adjournment of the conference they all disclaimed any direct knowledge upon the subject from the only source which could make the extra session a fact. General Grosvenor of Ohio, a member of the committee, talking to a United Associated Press reporter, said that no member had any positive information on the subject but they all knew that the chances were ten to one that an extra session would be called. In explanation of the action of the conference, General Grosvenor said:

Gen. Grosvenor Explains the Plan.

"The committee will open its doors to all persons representing interests affected by the tariff who can be heard while the preparation of the bill is in progress. You know that in perfecting a measure of that kind the schedules are first laid out, and then the rates of duty are inserted, and these are subject to change from day to day, as the committee may obtain information upon the articles to which they relate. What will be done by the committee, its method of procedure, the examination of witnesses and all matters pertaining to the hearings, were discussed in a general way last night, but no determination was reached respecting them." "When will the hearings probably begin?" "I think week after next," the general replied. "They cannot well be entered upon earlier, for want of time in which to prepare." Other members expressed the opinion that the bill to be prepared would propose a system of rules moderate in amount, as compared with those of the McKinley bill in 1890.

REPLY TO SENATOR QUAY.

Statement Issued by the Executive Committee of Business Men's League.

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—The executive committee of the Philadelphia branch of the National League of Business Men has sent out a lengthy reply to Senator Quay's criticisms of the organization. It says in part: "Not only the members of the various branches of the National League of Business Men throughout Pennsylvania, but the great mass of business men generally, must have been startled at the remarkable language used by Senator Quay. Never in their wildest moments did popocratic orators in the late campaign, use language more demagogic and communistic in their appeals to the so-called 'masses' against the so-called 'classes.' He out-herods Herod and out-Bryans Bryan." The statement then says it is easy to discern Mr. Quay's dislike of the business men, and asserts that he was hostile to the nomination of McKinley, but the business men rallied to the support of the Ohio man and he was victorious. It is also asserted that Mr. Quay may be contemplating the nomination of Senator Cameron to a second term, but without declaring any warfare against him, propose that he shall not dictate the selection of his own colleague and thus have two seats instead of one in the United States senate."

Work for 1,000 Idle Miners.

Pittsburg, Dec. 11.—Within a week about 1,000 idle coal miners along the Monongahela river will go to work as a result of the amicable adjustment of the wage scale between the operators and their employes. The wages for the coming six months will be 62 cents per ton in the first pool and 48 cents per ton in the second, third and fourth pools.

Stephen Dutton Convicted.

New York, Dec. 11.—Sephen A. Dutton, charged with swindling Mrs. Mary A. Godfrey and her daughter, Lily Alys Godfrey, formerly of Washington, out of some Washington real estate valued at $55,000, was convicted yesterday afternoon and was remanded for sentence. The extreme penalty is three years' imprisonment.

MACEO IS NOT DEAD

Positive Denial of the Report Received at Dallas, Tex.

SAID TO BE IN PINAR DEL RIO

Sensational and Glorious News for the Insurgents Promised About Dec. 15---Weyler Back in Havana Province.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 11.—The head of the local Cuban committe last night received dispatches from Key West, making absolute denal of the Spanish report from Havana of the alleged killing of Gen. Antonio Maceo. The dispatches state that at 9 o'clock Wednesday night Maceo was safe in Pinar del Rio province and his army was making successful operations against Captain-General Weyler's forces; that by the turning of Weyler's left flank on Dec. 1 Maceo had captured more than 12,000 stands of arms and immense stores of ammunition, medicines and commissary supplies. The dispatches also state that within the next three days the Cubans are likely to turn Weyler's other flank and win a decisive victory. Francisco Gomez has not been with Maceo in any of his recent movements and is safe in Matanzas province. The head of the local committee said: "We know positively that the most sensational and glorious news for the patriots will come from Cuba on or about December 15. Texas is doing more to help the patriots than any other state in the union just now, and is favorably located for effective aid. Dallas and Galveston will be in closer confidential relations with Key West than will any point in the east for some time to come."

ALLEGED CONFIRMATION.

Maceo's Doctor Said To Have Surrendered and Told of the Rebel General's Death.

Havana, Dec. 11.—Dr. Maximo Zertucha, who was the personal physician of Antonio Maceo, the Cuban insurgent general, has surrendered to Col. Tort, the Spanish commander at San Felipe, this province. The doctor confirms the announcement that Maceo was killed on December 7, near Punta Brava, in an engagement between the insurgents and a Spanish column commanded by Major Cirujeda. Dr. Zertucha says that Maceo was shot in the chin, the bullet breaking his jaw and passing out near the neck and shoulders. A second bullet wounded him in the abdomen. Up to the time of sending this dispatch this morning nothing has been learned of the whereabouts of Maceo's body and nothing further has transpired to confirm the reports of his death execpt the above alleged surrender of his physician. La Lucha, the government organ, is the first paper here to speak editorially of President Cleveland's message. It publishes a long leader in which it examines all the points of the Cuban section of the message and makes severe criticism of the whole. The paper makes a vigorous protest against the aggressive parts of the message. It says, among other things: "The message is no more or no less than a series of hypotheses. It cannot please Spain, but it does not wrong her." It adds that Spaniards cannot admit intervention in their own affairs. They have spirit enough to repulse impositions and will except nothing degrading or circumscribing their right to conduct their own affairs. When their honor is concerned they are of the same rank as the people of the most powerful and colossal nation. La Union Constitucional says the lecture is unpleasant to Spain, but admits that Mr. Cleveland's language lacks haughtiness when compared with that which he used towards other powers. It adds that it expects that the message will result favorably to Spain. The tone of the article throughout is rather mild.

FEAR A STUDENT'S OUTBREAK.

Popular Demonstrations in Spain over News of Maceo's Death Prohibited.

Madrid, Dec. 11.—The demonstrations made yesterday over the report of the death of Maceo excited apprehension in the minds of government officials that the students here might become disorderly and cause trouble. As a consequence the governor of Madrid has issued an order forbidding a renewal of the students' manifestations. Senor Cos-Gayon, minister of the interior, has also sent orders to the governors of the various provinces directing them to prohibit any further popular demonstrations.

Denial Received at New York.

New York, Dec. 11.—Cubans in New York do not believe that Maceo is dead. As soon as Gen. Thomas Estrada Palma heard the report he telegraphed to his private informant at Key West, and this morning he received a dispatch which came to Key West from Cuban sources at Havana, absolutely denying that Maceo was dead. The dispatch read as follows: "Maceo passed the trocha December 4. Report of his death absolutely false. Contradict it on my authority." Gen. Palma said that the dispatch came from a source in which he had entire confidence, and that he believed Maceo to be still alive.

Weyler Returns to Havana Province.

Havana, Dec. 11.—Capt.-Gen. Weyler, at the head of a column of troops, has arrived in the province of Havana from the province of Pinar del Rio.

Watching American Fishermen.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 11.—The government has ordered the utmost vigilance in enforcing the revenue laws among the American frozen herring fleet now visiting the south coast.

The Indiana at Fort Monroe.

Fort Monroe, Va., Dec. 11.—The battleship Indiana from Tompkinsville, arrived here last night.

HE BOUGHT THE HAY.

How an Inebriated Pennsylvania Farmer Got the Best of the Auctioneer.

The man who goes to an auction sober is often tempted to purchase things he does not want and cannot afford to buy. But such temptation is much stronger when it comes to one who has been imbibing over freely, particularly if he is of a speculative nature. Yet there are a few who have sufficient wit to get them out of difficulties of this character, even when their brains are more or less befuddled. An amusing occurrence took place at an auction in one of the rural towns of Pennsylvania, where a house, barn and farm were offered for sale. Farmers came from all the surrounding country with a view of making a day of it and some of them imbibed too much corn juice in honor of the occasion.

In the barn were stored between 20 and 30 hundredweight of hay—prime timothy—on which the bidding started at four cents and gradually rose a quarter of a cent at a time, until it neared the market value of seven and a half or eight cents per pound.

The auctioneer was annoyed by the reckless bidding of a typical old hayseed who was so drunk that he could hardly stand. He was determined to buy that hay, regardless of its cost, and when the last sober bidder feebly cried "eight cents" he shouted "ten!" Of course nobody would go higher than that and the farmers chuckled to think how their neighbor was to be taken in. "Do you mean to pay cash for this hay?" asked the auctioneer, who began to believe he had a good thing. "Wall, I reckon," replied the inebriated hayseed. "And how many hundredweight are you going to take?" "Dunno as I keer 'bout takin' a hundredweight," said the purchaser; "you might gimme 'bout one pound." What the auctioneer said will long be remembered by the farmers of Montgomery county —Philadelphia Record.

His Honeymoon.

The colored female cook of a family living at the South end came upstairs the other afternoon, and, twisting up the corners of her apron with considerable embarrassment, said to her mistress:

"You see, misses, I thought it moughbe bes' to be tellin' you dat I—dat I done got married las' week."

"Ah, indeed! And what is your name now, Hannah?"

"Mis' Williams, ma'am. You see, my husban', he am a cook, too. He am what dey calls a sheft in a hotel."

"A chef, heh? That's very nice. And do you expect to leave us directly, Hannah?"

"Not 'rectly, mam. I'll stay wid ye for de present. You see, my husban', he's gone to New York an' Washington on his honeymoon, an' it'll be nigh onto six weeks befo' he comes back!"—Pittsburgh Bulletin.

A Modern Malaprop.

Mrs. Shadmind—What a wonderful singer that new soprano is; of course, you heard her at the concert last evening.

Mrs. Franklaign—No; unfortunately I was not able to attend.

"Indeed! You have no idea of what you missed; why, she just electrocuted the audience."—Boston Courier.

Hopeless.

"Clinker tells me had to give up going into the bicycle business."

"Why?"

"He couldn't find a new name."—Brooklyn Life.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and building up medicine leads everything ever produced. It is positively the best. Others may make the same claim. But there's this difference: We prove it. Not by antiquity, but by Merit. Not by what we say, but by what Sarsa-parilla does. Hood's Sarsaparilla has a record of Cures unequalled in medical history. It positively, perfectly and permanently cures when all other medicines fail. That the keen discrimination of the people recognizes its merit and the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, is shown by the fact that they buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference and exclusion of all others. Hood's Sarsaparilla has a larger sale than all other blood purifiers. It wins confidence everywhere because the statements in its advertising and testimonials are verified by all who take it. No other medicine has ever received such praise, or so many voluntary testimonials of wonderful cures. No other medicine possesses the peculiar combination, proportion and process used in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla, and which give it merit peculiar to itself. This is the secret of its wonderful power, of its wonderful sales, of its wonderful hold upon the confidence of the people. This is why it cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Catarrh, Rheumatism, all Humors, Kidney and Liver troubles, Dyspepsia, That Tired Feeling, builds up the nerves, creates an appetite and strengthens the whole system. Its merit, its sales, its

Sarsaparilla

Cures

Make Hood's Sarsaparilla the One True Blood Purifier. Sold by all druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills the best family cathartic and liver stimulant. Easy to take, easy to operate. All druggists. 25 cents.

Your bones need lime.

Your hair needs sulphur.

Your teeth need dentine.

Your blood needs sodium.

What is best suited to the body as a whole is best for the proper growth of each individual member of it. If you want to "eat to live," you must eat

H-O

Be sure and get the package with the big H-O on the end.

Subscriptions Free to

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly
Illustrated American (Weekly)
Truth (Weekly)
New England Magazine
Chatterbox (Monthly)
The American Kitchen Magazine
Home Magazine (Monthly)
of Binghamton, N. Y.

WITH COUPONS FROM THE

H.O.Co.'s Goods

J. C. Pope & Co., INSURANCE AGENTS, 10 East Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW
Meat Market.
George Egel, Manager.
Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.
To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—6 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days
Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE!
Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stables!
C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. 11 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,
Park Avenue Florist,
Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns. Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,
Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in
Cigars, Tobacco, etc.
"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!
Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy, salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. TICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT -- Notice is hereby given, That the account of the subscribers, executors of Sybilla E. Albert, deceased, will be audited and stated by the surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the 16th day of December next. Dated October 8th, 1896.
JAMES LESLIE,
WILLIAM R. CODINGTON.
10 9 10

WINTER STYLES
Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.
Just Received from manufacturers
FORCE, 129 Park Avenue. 29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.
V. L. FRAZEE
151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S
VARIETY MARKET.
Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.
120 Park avenue. Telephone call 20-A

PIANOS
If you want a deep, clear, rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables
will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,
144 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett
has removed to
148 EAST FIFTH STREET.
Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,
FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.
Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.
R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
Residence, 33 Linden Ave.
Personal attention. Prompt service.
Telephone 28b. Established 1873. 1 14 tf

ADDIS & SON,
Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.
ACCIDENT TICKETS.
THE INTER-STATE
Casualty Company of New York
gives SIX MONTHS' insurance
$1.000 for $1.00,
to men or women
between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.
For sale at office of
Honeyman's Private Tours,
181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,
PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,
Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.
Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE
PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.
Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.
The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.
GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,
120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail
Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE
Sewer Connections.
DAVID BOWDEN,
General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.
28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.
Mason and Builder
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly to

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 19 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
OAK.
747 WEST FRONT ST.
Branch office with
G. A. HALLOCK,
109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS
of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.
M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,
121 Park ave.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,
187 North Avenue.
Practical Plumber.
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.
Telephone Call 158a

L. L. Manning & Son,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,
Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son,
STAGES
For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing,
Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for sewer connections.
210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,
EXCAVATORS.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.

Edw. P. Thorn,
RETAIL DEALER IN
Fish, Oysters, and Clams.
Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,
Dealer in
Coal & Wood.
Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.
Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S
Furniture and Freight
EXPRESS.
Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Leggett's Malt Extract !

is just the Tonic to use during this unsettled weather. Try it—20 cts. a bottle. 6 bottles for $1.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.1

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this. The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical, stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe?

DOANE & EDSALL.

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES, and FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has this Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators.

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the

4th Tuesday in November

next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 997 rear

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor.

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

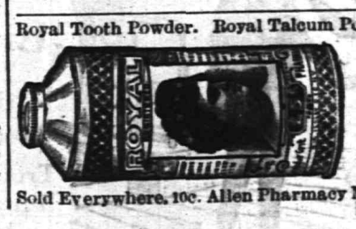
YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—311 Watchung ave.

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.



Sold Everywhere. 10c. Allen Pharmacy M'g Co

MULLINS & SONS

218-220 Market St., Newark.

GRAND DISPLAY OF FURNITURE SUITABLE FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS at Wonderfully Low Prices.

BANQUET LAMPS.

Banquet Lamps, Silk Shade, all colors, $2.50!

MUSIC CABINETS.

We are now showing beautiful new Music Cabinets, handsomely finished in mahogany and cherry, with bevel plate mirror, at $7.50.

Some as low as $4.50.

BRASS TABLES—100 more of BRASS and ONYX TABLES, all new designs the regular $6 tables, at..... $4.25

PEDESTALS.

Quartered oak and mahogany, highly polished and handsomely carved, for Monday, special at $4.50.

$5. SPECIAL—A handsome Banquet Lamp with a beautiful Onyx Top and Brass Table, all complete, for $5.

This Cylinder Stove (like cut) $5.75.
All styles and sizes at the lowest prices.
Also full line of ranges.

Saddle Seat and Cobbler Rockers, in oak, birch or cherry, some with plush seats, exactly like cut, at $2.50

WRITING DESKS—In oak and mahogany handsome new line to select from; a Writing Desk is always an acceptable gift, and this year our stock is larger and prices lower than ever. Some for..... $3.50.

RECEPTION CHAIRS AND GILT FURNITURE—All the newest designs in Fancy chairs and Gold Furniture We doubt if any New York store can show as fine a line. Upholstered with the best material. Prices range from... $1 50

ROCKERS OF ALL KINDS—Saddle Seat Rockers, mahogany, oak and cherry, beautifully carved, exclusive designs, some with plush seats. This week at only..... $2.50

Easy terms of credit to everybody. We will furnish your home for $1 per week.

MULLINS & SONS.

218-220 Market St., Newark.

Branch Stores 78-84 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 121-125 Newark Ave., Jersey City, N. J. 136-138 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all-wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

Telephone, Brooklyn, 366.

COMINS & EVANS

Acorn Brand Asphalt Roofing.

Gravel and Metal Roofing, Tile and Brick Roofing, Water-Tight Cellars.

45 WAVERLY AVE, BROOKLYN, N. Y

New York office, 102 Fulton st., room 413.

PAPER MEN COMBINE.

Manufacturers Reach a Practical Agreement To Pool Their Interests.

New York, Dec. 11.—The principal manufacturers of white paper used by newspapers, after numerous conferences, have reached a practical agreement to pool interests and to deal with consumers only through a general agency, which is to be established in this city. The plan involves the formation of a national association, capitalized at a moderate amount, which is to control the product of all the mills By this arrangement the manufacturers expect to reduce running expenses, to reorganize the trade and to promote friendlier business relations between all concerned. They expressly deny that prices will be advanced as a result of the proposed agreement, but contend that they are obliged to follow the example of other men directing great industries and co-operate to prevent ruinous competition.

MARIA BARBERI FREE.

The Italian Girl, Once Under Sentence of Death, Acquitted.

New York, Dec. 11.—The second trial of Maria Barberi, charged with the murder of her betrayer, Domenico Cataldo, ended last evening, the jury rendering a verdict of not guilty. The trial lasted seventeen days, and a large amount of testimony showing that the woman was afflicted with epilepsy and not responsible for her actions at the time of the murder was submitted. When the verdict was announced the prisoner was discharged from custody, and at once went to the home of her parents. On the first trial Maria Barberi was convicted of murder in the first degree, and was sentenced to be electrocuted at Sing Sing prison. Her counsel appealed the case to the court of appeals where the verdict was set aside and a new trial ordered.

THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET.

A Bill Introduced To Compel Its Selection from Members of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Representative Barrett, rep., Mass., has introduced a bill which requires the president to select the members of his cabinet from either the house of representatives or the senate, with the exception that the secretory of the treasury shall be a member of the house, and the secretary of state shall be a member of the senate. While holding the cabinet portfolios they shall retain their membership in the house to which they have been elected, receiving the pay of cabinet officials, but nothing for their congressional service. When they cease to become members of congress, they shall at the same time cease to be members of the cabinet.

BOSTON EXCISE BOARD.

Gov. Wolcott Interferes in the Granting of Licenses in Suburban Towns.

Boston, Dec. 11.—Governor-elect Wolcott has interfered in the policy of the police board of Boston with reference to the granting of liquor licenses in the suburban residential districts of this city, or the transfer to these sections of licenses from other districts, and has written a letter to the board (which is appointed by the governor) in which he practically calls a halt in this direction. The result is that no more saloons will be placed in the outlying wards of the city at present.

Recent Central Vermont Accident.

Rockville, Conn., Dec. 11.—Coroner Phelps has rendered a verdict in regard to the recent railroad accident on the Central Vermont railroad near Mansfield, when Engineer Hall, Fireman Hall and Brakeman Thomas of Brattleboro, Vt., were killed. He finds that their deaths were caused by the explosion of the boiler of the engine while going at a high rate of speed, the cause being unknown. He finds that the men were competent and that their death was not caused by the criminal act or carelessness of any person or persons.

The Turkish Problem.

London, Dec. 11.—The truth about the reported agreement for the settlement of the Turkish problem is that the powers agreed upon a joint peremptory demand on Turkey for specific reforms on the return of Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador to Constantinople. But Russia absolutely excludes coercive measures, so that no practical result is expected in reliable quarters.

Trouble at Lorenzo Marques.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—The German and Dutch consulates at Lorenzo Marques, Portuguese East Africa, have been attacked, a British flag torn to shreds, and the Dutch consul wounded. Germany has, in consequence, demanded satisfaction of Portugal. The Cologne Gazette says that the German warship Condor is on her way from Port Natal to Lorenzo Marques.

The Trouble in Madagascar.

Paris, Dec. 11.—Dispatches received from Antananarivo, capital of the island of Madagascar, announce that the insurgents, during the night of November 18, looted Ambohimanga, ten miles from Antananarivo. The insurgents captured forty prisoners and all the cattle. The English residents had a narrow escape from being massacred.

Monitor Puritan in Commission.

New York, Dec. 11.—The monitor Puritan, which was formerly placed in commission yesterday afternoon, is built on much the same line as the Terror, and is believed to be one of the most formidable coast defense vessels in the world. Her original hull was laid in 1864.

Movements of Our Warships.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The sailing of the Minneapolis from Jaffa for Smyrna and the arrival of the Amphitrite at Hampton roads have just been reported to the navy department.

WORK IN CONGRESS

Business Transacted at a Great Pace by the House.

NEW RECORD FOR ACTIVITY PROMISED

Sarcastic and Humorous Political Discussion---Further Delay for the Immigration Bill---Senate Not in Session To-day.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Although the senate is not in session to-day, that fact had no effect upon the proceedings in the house, where business is still being transacted at a great pace, and before adjournment this evening it is expected that the record of passed bills which has been continued each day since congress convened will have been exceeded or at least equalled. The house yesterday indulged in its first political discussion, sarcastic and humorous in its nature. It was provoked by the consideration of a bill amending the law prohibiting the alien ownership of lands in the territories so as to permit aliens to acquire under foreclosure of mortgage and hold the land for ten years, within which period they must dispose of it. Mr. Hepburn asked by what right a delegate from the territories sought to change a law now in accordance with the platform the inhabitants had approved by their votes at the last election. A breezy discussion ensued, in which the ethics of populism were considered, taking a wide range, and so conducted as to afford considerable amusement to the members. The territorial delegates urged the passage of the bill as a matter of justice to their people, who were now deprived of the power to receive investments of foreign capital; but the house refused to pass the bill to a third reading. Under call of committees, bills were passed prohibiting the sale of liquor in the capitol building, and protecting the rights of dramatic authors and musical composers in their productions. The bill to define the rights of purchasers of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad under foreclosure of the mortgage, authorized by the act of April 20, 1871, was laid over until Monday next, after having been amended so as to forbid the issue of capital stock by the new corporation for full value at par, on account of money paid in, or labor or material furnished, and approved by the secretary of the interior. Hon. C. J. Boatner, elected from the Fifth Louisiana district to fill the vacancy occasioned by the action of the House at the last session declared his seat vacant, appeared and took the oath of office.

The Senate.

The senate is not in session to-day, having adjourned from last evening until Monday next, when the first business before that body is the immigration bill, which has held the attention of the senate for so long a time. Messrs. Lodge and Chandler are disappointed, but not discouraged, by the many delays to which this bill has been subjected and will bend every effort toward having the measure forwarded as speedily as possible. The independence of Cuba and the recognition of the insurgents as a regularly organized government had two advocates in the senate yesterday in the persons of Senators Cullom and Call. Mr. Cullem delivered a carefully prepared speech in support of his views, while Mr. Call contented himself with a brief discussive statement. The bill to restrict immigration was taken up as the unfinished business—a motion by Mr. Gibson to postpone its consideration until the first Monday in January was defeated, 13 to 37. Various amendments to the text of the bill were offered or suggested, but no action was taken on any of them.

A Family of Suicides.

Newburgh, N. Y., Dec. 11.—John J. Corwin committed suicide here last evening by hanging. Some years ago both his parents committed suicide, the father by shooting and the mother by cutting her throat. Corwin cordially greeted his friends on the street yesterday and gave no indications of depression or of melancholy. When he went home last evening he greeted his wife in a pleasant manner and going up stairs hanged himself in the bath room.

Taxation at New Britain, Conn.

Hartford, Dec. 11.—The board of assessors of New Britain will not comply with the state law requiring that property be assessed at its full value. Some weeks ago they were notified by the state board of equalization to comply with the law, but the notification came too late, as the work of assessing all the property had been finished. All property has been assessed at half value.

The Fitz-Sharkey Case.

San Francisco, Dec. 11.—Geo. Allen, Tom Sharkey's assistant trainer, occupied the witness stand most of the second day's hearing in behalf of Bob Fitzsimmons. His testimony was strongly corroborative of that given by Billy Smith and tended to show the alleged conspiracy by which the Cornishman was robbed of the decision of the recent fight.

Two Boys Drowned While Skating.

Clayton, N. Y., Dec. 11.—While skating on the South Bay last night Fred and John Bush, two boys, aged 9 and 10 years respectively, broke through the ice and perished before the eyes of their mother, who boldly plunged in after them. Mrs. Bush was rescued with much difficulty.

Inventor of Nitro-glycerine Dead.

Rome, Dec. 11.—Alfred Noble, whose death is just reported at San Remo, was the inventor of nitro-glycerine, and is believed to have left a large fortune.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE. Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m. 106 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 11, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair Tonight; Increasing Cloudiness Saturday; Continued Warm.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 49 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 12.—Mary Lowe Dickenson to address King's Daughters in Crescent Avenue church, 4:30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AHEAD OF NEWARK.

Now it is Plainfield that is talking about building a new city City Hall. Meanwhile Newark, the premier city of the State, appears satisfied with the old ramshackle hostelry in which the municipal business is done.—Tribune.

After three weeks of testimony, expert and otherwise, and newspapers filled with disgusting illustrations of its different features, the murder trial of Maria Barberi ends with an acquittal. This ignorant and unfortunate specimen of the slums of the metropolis will now dissolve from public view much quicker than she came into prominence.

Charles J. Baxter, State Superintendent of Public Schools, who makes his home in this city, has proven to be the right man in the right place, though a year ago when he was appointed to the position there were some expression of surprise because of his not having a State reputation.

The Press advertisers are representative merchants in their respective lines of business, and you can spend your Christmas money with them without fear of being duped.

The little folks are expectant and wondering, the big folks perplexed and contriving about gifts. And yet the stores are jammed full of nice things.

One of the annual features of holiday life in Plainfield is The Press calendar, issued on New Year's day. It is a dandy this time, and no mistake.

Kris Kringle makes his visit two weeks from today.

Not quite chilly enough for Christmas weather.

HIBERNATING IN THE WOODS.

Odd Specimen of Humanity Happy in a Nest Under Two Umbrellas.

The village of Liberty Corner, which came into prominence lately through the candidacy of its Presbyterian minister for Congressional honors on the free silver ticket, has a hibernating man, who was discovered by hunters in the woods, near Basking Ridge. They noticed two raised umbrellas on the ground.

Under the umbrellas was a man who said he had gone into winter quarters to sleep until warm weather came

A party from Somerville brought the man out of the woods, though he begged to be left where he was. He is about sixty years old, and says he was born in Germany, but refuses to give his name. He is an umbrella maker, and a lot of handles and other parts and tools were found beside him. He says that the last food he had was on Friday, November 27, when he went into the woods and prepared to sleep during the winter. Since then, he says, he has eaten nothing but snow, which fell last Sunday night.

He had taken off his shoes, wrapped his feet in bags and filled his clothing with straw and leaves to protect him as much as possible from the cold. With straw and leaves he had made a nest and put the open umbrellas over him. An examination showed that he was not suffering from frost bites. He appears to be the same, and says that last winter he slept through the cold weather until warm weather returned and then got up and went about his work. Persons about Liberty Corner say that some person did remain in the woods about a month last winter. Threats and persuasion failed to induce him to divulge his name. One man said to another, "Take this knife and cut his throat if he doesn't tell his name." The man loosened his collar and replied, "Cut all you please. It makes no difference to me." He is being cared for by the Overseer of the Poor.

A Matrimonial Contract.

John O'Leary, of Rahway, has begun suit against his young wife, who has left him, to recover the house and lot which he deeded to her in consideration of her agreeing to marry him. The old gentleman claims that she has violated her part of the contract by refusing to live with him. The case wil be tried in the Union county court.

Old Hotel Man Dead.

Frederick Schonfille, one of the oldest hotel proprietors in Union county, died yesterday in Elizabeth, aged sixty. Every one addressed him as Shoo Fly. He was a cripple.

TO STOP ABUSE OF ALMS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

favored the audience with a pleasing selection. A vote of thanks was then tendered both to Gen. Swayne and Miss Harris for their services.

Before the meeting adjourned the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President, Mason W. Tyler; vice-presidents, H B. Newhall, Mrs. H. B. Opdyke, Alexander Gilbert; secretary, J. Doul Miller; treasurer, H. P. Reynolds.

THEATRICAL.

Peter F. Dailey in John J. McNally's latest farce comedy, "A Good Thing," returns to New York at the Grand Opera House next week. This play is funny to begin with and most laughable to end with; in fact, it is a sort of continuous laughter farce comedy. This time the jolly comedian will sing some new songs, and so will Miss Flora Irwin and the other members of this excellent company. The bevy of young and pretty women in the cast will wear new and fetching gowns.

Commencing Monday night the inimatable and versitile comedian, Corse Payton, supported by the charming and talented actress, Miss Etta Reed, and a company of recognized players will present a grand repertoire of comedies and dramas, handsomely mounted and staged by a carload of special scenery. On Monday night will be presented the five-act comedy-drama, "The Parisian Priscess, which admits of nearly all the scenery carried by Mr. Payton. During the action of the play many beautiful costumes will be worn by the ladies of the company, especially Miss Reed who will wear the original jeweled "Trilby" gown, imported from Worth, Paris, costing $3 500. In the fourth act will be shown the magnificent palace arch and conservatory set, which contains 150 colored incandescent lights. This set of scenery was painted and designed by A. E. McAndrews, of the Garrick Theatre, New York, at a cost of $1,000 to Mr. Payton. A complete change of singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of the company at every performance. Between the acts Sidney S. Toler, the renowned baritone, will sing descriptive songs aided by the Edison electric stereopticon. A fine series of views will also be shown making a continuous performance from rise to fall of the curtain. The following will be the repertoire for the week: Monday evening, "The Parisian Princess:" Tuesday evening, "The Galley Slave;" Wednesday matinee, "Camille;" Wednesday evening, "Drifted Apart;" Thursday evening, "Lend Me Five Shillings" and "A Yankee in Cuba;" Friday evening, "Flirtation;" Saturday matinee, "In Honor Bound;" Saturday evening, "The Plunger." Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Matinee prices, 10 cents; reserved seats, 20 cents. Sale of seats opens at Music Hall, Saturday, December 12th, at 9 a. m. Ladies not fortunate enough to secure lady tickets for Monday night can procure them at the box office.

—You can be well when your blood is rich and nourishing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure and cures all blood diseases, restoring health and vigor.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion headache. 25c.

At the Plainfield High School.

The Kappa Delta Phi meets this afternoon for a "hat-talk."

The Junior Latin class has finished the third book of Cicero and were examined in it today.

The Senior Latin class has now completed the second book of Virgil and a test was held yesterday.

There was a special singing lesson under the instruction of Mr Lewis yesterday morning and two new Christmas carols were practiced. Active preparations are now being made for the Christmas exercises.

A meeting of the class of '97 was held yesterday afternoon at the close of school. Plans were made to decorate Assembly Hall for Christmas and a committee, composed of Miss Grace Crane, Miss Edith L. Burt, Miss Emma Cutter, William Van Alstyne and Charles Noble, was appointed to take charge of the decorating.

When the Clock Strikes 2, tomorrow, "afternoon and evening only," Saturday, December 12th, Van-Emburgh & Son will sell their entire line of best outing flannels and figured flannelettes at the slaughter-price of 7½ cents per yard. Sale commencing at 2 o'clock, not sooner.

New Bungle of Mogullians.

A new bungle of Adhesive Mogullians will be formed at Hoboken on the evening of December 18. and Plainfield will be largely represented there. A special dispensation has been secured by Columbia Lodge of the A. O. U. W., so that their regular meeting will be held on the 16th instead of on the 18th, so that the members may be allowed to go to Hoboken if they wish. There will be several initiations at the meeting of the Columbia Lodge.

A Dime Sociable.

The members of the new council of the Degree of Pocohontas, which is soon to be instituted, gave a very enjoyable "dime" sociable at the home of Justice Vincent W. Nash, of Prospect avenue, last evening. A programme was given in the first part of the evening which consisted mainly of vocal selections, some of which were by Mrs. Radin, Mrs. Westphal, and Miss Riley. Most of the evening was spent in dancing, however, while refresnments were served at the close of the entertainment. About fifty were present. The affair broke up at about 2 o'clock. The committee that had charge of this very enjoyable sociable consisted of Mrs. Leland, Mrs. Dellahaunt, Miss Mowinkle and Miss Ada Nash.

Central Lodge Election.

A meeting of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., was held last evening at which time the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Clark T. Rogers, master workman; Joseph R. Dunham, foreman; George W. Gray, Jr., overseer; W. George Gray, past master workman; N. C. Mague, recorder; William Newcorn, financier; W. H. Brokaw, receiver; W. H. Larrabee, guide; A. E. Curtis, inside watchman; George W. Clark, outside watchman; representatives to grand lodge, L. J. Spicer and William Neweorn; alternates, T. C. Smith and Charles H. Randolph. Duriug the evening one candidate was initiated and two propositions were received.

Married in Westfield.

Fred Down, of Hillside and Prospect avenues, and Miss Bessie Dolan, of Sycamore avenue, this city, were married in Westfield Wednesday, after which they returned to Plainfield.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE

1897.

Recognized as a Great, Safe, Clean Family Paper—A Force in Public Affairs and Potent for Entertainment and Culture of Every Member of the Family.

Colored Supplement with the Semi-Weekly.

There is a place in the United States for a weekly of really high intellectual quality, and the American people have given the NEW YORK TRIBUNE a lavish welcome. During the past year THE WEEKLY was taken in over 245,000 families and read by about 1,250,000 people. Every effort will be made to brighten and enrich the paper and make it necessary to thousands of new friends.

Patriotic, self-respecting, enterprising, THE TRIBUNE is fearless and scholarly in editorial comment on public affairs, steadfast in principal, and not whirled about with every gust of passion; and it exhibits in every issue the truly American qualities of quickness, directness, brilliancy and force. It has won from Democratic rivals, by its thoroughly American spirit, the admission that it "commands the respect of all parties." In directing attention early and pointedly, to the availability of McKinley and Hobart for the Republican nominations in 1896, THE TRIBUNE played a now well known and imporiant part.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE ministers to all the sweet and wholesome interests of life: and it is distinctly a paper for families and for those who want the spirit and the editorials of the leading Republican paper of the United States. It has an excellent Agricultural page a page of Science and Mechanics a charming page especially for woman, a strong array of market reports of unchallenged excellence, and book reviews, foreign letters, and bright miscellany, in addition to the news of the week.

It can usually be subscribed for with local county weeklies. Sample copies free.

THE SEMIWEEKLY is printed on Tuesday and Friday, and gives twice as much matter as The Weekly.

The craving for color on the part of the young, and even of other members of a family, has now been recognized by THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE in the publication of a colored supplement of 16 pages, with each Friday's paper. If not gratified in a proper way, the lixing for pictures and innocent bright reading matter will incline many to seek in less desirable publications that which they cannot find in their favorite paper. The jokes and quaint paragraphs, and the fifty or more political cartoons, humorous sketches and half tones, and many other amusing contents of the colored supplement will prove a welcome addition to the wiser and weightier parts of the paper. It is printed on superfine paper, and its 16 pages are to emselves fully worth the price of the SEMI-WEEKLY. Sold separately as a pictorial weekly. "Twinkles" readily brings 5 cents a copy and in the course of a year the reader would receive more than he has paid for the THE TRIBUNE itself. The piquant comicalities of the supplement will lend new value to bound volumes and make each copy valuable long after the date of publication.

This edition is not offered in combination with local weeklies. The colored supplement will be sent only to subscribers who forward the regular price of the SEMI-WEEKLY, $2.00 a year, to THE TRIBUNE direct.

Sample copies of Friday's SEMI-WEEKLY free.

DAILY, $8 00 a year. SUNDAY TRIBUNE, $2 00. SEMI-WEEKLY, $2.00. WEEKLY, $1.0. TRIBUNE ALMANAC for 1897, with full election returns, out in January, 25 cents a copy. THE TRIBUNE, NEW YORK.

The New Cushioned Button Clasp on the Vinkgrip HOSE SUPPORTER will not Slip or Tear.

Safe and Secure on any kind of Hosiery.

Of your Dealer or Sample Pair, by Mail, 25c. (6 stamps)

GEORGE FROST CO., Manufacturers, BOSTON, MASS.

Sold at Plainfield stores

HOLIDAY GOODS. ALL BRIGHT AND NEW.

VAN EMBURGH.

BASEMENT FOR TOYS AND GAMES.

Be on time

And secure the choicest of the many HOLIDAY GIFTS at PECK'S.

FOR SATURDAY ONLY.

Clothing Given Away!

Every one buying one of JAQUETT'S $16.00, $18.00 or $20 00 overcoats will get a present of a fashionable hat, or a child's suit; or $2.00 discount on any man's or young man's suit in the house; or every one buying a $10.00 or $15.00 overcoat will get a present of a child's separate pants, or a child's hat, or a fine necktie; or $1.00 discount on any man's, young man's, boys' or children's suit in the house. This is a bona fide offer made for one day only, to to reduce the stock and to introduce new goods.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of

DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY, NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS, BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, is

Now on Sale.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!

ONE SOLID WEEK

Commencing MONDAY, DECEMBER 14.

The Versatile Comedian,

CORSE PAYTON,

Supported by the Charming and Talented Actress,

MISS ETTA REED,

and a company of recognized players in a grand repertoire of comedies and dramas, handsomely mounted and staged by a carload of his own special scenery. Gorgeous Costumes, Magnificent Properties, Elaborate Scenery. Each Play a Grand Scenic Production. A complete change of singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of the company at each performance.

CUT THIS OUT.

15c. and this coupon will entitle any lady to the best reserved seat in Music Hall if presented at the Reserved Seat Sale before MONDAY NIGHT at 7 o'clock.

SPECIAL SOUVENIR MATINEES WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY.

Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cts. Matinee Prices, 10cts.; Reserved Seats, 20cts. Sale opens Saturday, Dec 12, at box office.

Bargains in Real Estate

For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned, either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

Special—We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5

Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Miss Lillian Staats was in New York yesterday.

The Misses Hunt have returned from a visit with friends in New York city.

W. H. Coles shipped one of his draught horses to Annandale yesterday.

John. H. French, of Plainfield, was in town yesterday, the first time in three years.

The highest point registered by the thermometer yesterday at the railroad station was 69.

The members of the M. E. Sunday-school met last night to practice some Christmas carols.

Mrs. John Carl, of Plainfield, spent a day or two with her mother, Mrs. C. Carl, of Jefferson avenue.

The Central Railroad Company yesterday laid new planking at the Washington avenue crossing.

The U. S. Express Company received yesterday a handsome new set of scales for weighing light packages.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hetfield have been visiting their old homestead at Clinton, the home of Mrs. Hetfield's father.

Joel Giddis and Alex. Harris went to the mountain for rabbits and squirrels yesterday afternoon, but they only got a few.

The roadbed at the last turnout in the trolley line near here is continually submerged with water. In fact it is a regular slop hole.

Mrs. Marvin and daughter, Miss Anna, have returned to their home in Millington, after a few days' visit with Mrs. Marvin's sister, Mrs. Carl.

I. J. Stites is making extensive repairs to his place of business. Tar paper is being put on the roof and other necessary repairs are being made.

Three new motormen are being rehearsed into the mysteries of electricity, and one of them came into town with his car so fast yesterday, that he dropped his hat by the wayside.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

William Foster, of this place, will go to Boonton next week to remain for the winter.

The skating on the ponds in this vicinity is now a thing of the past, but there is plenty of time before spring for the lovers of this sport.

Ed Walters and Bob Walpole, the former of North Plainfield, made a tour of the mountain hunting, yesterday. Their success was nothing phenomenal.

A young daughter of Rev. Dr. Braker was accidentally struck on the eye with a stone thrown by some indiscreet youth yesterday, and the eye was considerably cut and discolored.

Some of the youth seem to have gone wild over the advent of the marble season. Yesterday a half dozen or more half-grown boys spent most of the day playing "bump" with marbles.

One or two farmers near here have not yet finished their fall corn husking. One of them said yesterday he didn't much care whether he finished up the work or not at the present price of corn.

A tremendous blast took place at the stone quarry near here at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rocks and debris were hurled nearly fifty feet in the air, and one the laborers got out of the pit just in time to save his life.

A farmer's rig containing a man, woman, four children, cat and two dogs, broke down on Front street yesterday and the entire family was thrown out. The heavy weight caused one of the hind wheels to collapse, and there was a promiscuous heap in the roadway for a time.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—Violinist Samuel D. Frazee and his regular New York harpist went to Junction, last evening, and played for a party at the Union Hotel.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. E L. Suffern is ill at her home on Linden avenue.

Mrs Carman, of Elmwood place, is seriously ill at her home.

David Rushmore, of Grove street, has gone to Montreal to spend the winter.

Aleck Milne, of Sycamore avenue, leaves tomorrow to visit friends in Brooklyn.

Mrs. James Field, of Somerville, was the guest of Plainfield friends yesterday.

Rev. A. H. Lewis, D. D., of Central avenue, returns Sunday from his trip through the west.

An addition is being made to the residence of Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street.

Volney F. Green, of East Fifth street, goes to Philadelphia this afternoon to spend a few days.

Mrs. Radin, of North avenue, is entertaining a relative from New Brunswick for a few days.

Mr. Smith, father of Architect Charles Smith, of Grove street, is very ill at the house of the latter.

Miss Lucie Palmer Davis, of East Fifth street, has returned from a visit with relatives in East Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Swackhamer, of East Sixth steeet, are visiting relatives in Whitehouse for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. MacElroy, of Baltimore, are guests at the home of Rev. D. J. Yerke, D. D., of West Seventh street.

John Bulmer, of Cottage place, is able to walk out again after a confinement of several weeks to the house by illness.

Mrs. Sharpe and son, of New York, have been visiting Mr. Sharpe's sister, Mrs. R. Willard Ware, of Second place.

Councilman-elect William N. Runyon, of East Ninth street, went to Brooklyn this afternoon to spend the night with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Dupee, of Washington Park, North Plainfield, arrived home yesterday from a ten days stay at Atlantic Highlands.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Skeel returned to their home in East Hamilton, N. Y., today, after a visit to their daughter, Mrs. John Weir, of Rockview avenue.

Mr. Keefe and Miss Keefe, of New Haven, N. Y., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Name, of Elmwood place, returned home yesterday.

Edward F. Randolph, of West Eighth street, returned yesterday from Philadelphia where he is attending college to remain in Plainfield for the rest of the week. He rode here on his wheel.

Mrs. Susie Cook, of Long Island City, will be the guest tomorrow at the home of E. W. Mills, of East Fifth street. Mrs. Cook is the daughter of General Superintendent C. E. Totting, of the United States Express Company.

Mrs. Charlotte Martin, mother of J. B. Martin, of Manson place, died at her home in Rahway, Monday, from paralysis, in the 74th year of her age. The funeral took place from the house on Wednesday, and interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery, at Rahway.

Mrs. J. Hook, of Southern California, who has been east on a visit, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kearth, of East second street, on Wednesday. She left for Washington on the 1.17 a. m. train yesterday morning, on her way home.

The wife of Lawyer Herr, of Flemington, and a sister of Detective J. K. Large, of East Front street, died on Sunday. She will be remembered as Miss Jennie Large, and some years ago attended the Seminary on Seventh street. She leaves a family of six children.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—Jaquett gives away clothing on Saturday. All come.

—A quantity of mud was removed from West Front street yesterday by the city's men.

—The North Plainfield Public School will be closed at holiday time from December 23d to January 3d.

—Several motormen on the street railway have removed their upper lip adornment and their friends hardly recognize them.

—The tiled floor in the entrance of the City National Bank has just been completed. It is composed of tiles only an inch square.

—Special sale of beautiful potted primroses, in bloom, only 12 cents, all day tomorrow at Peterson's, florist, 217 Watchung avenue.

—The residents of Codington avenue will be pleased to learn that they will have electric lighting commencing with next Monday night.

—One week from tonight several members of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W. will go to Jersey City to witness the institution of a new lodge.

—Mrs. F. C. Adams will lead the prayer meeting in Trinity Reformed church tonight at 8 o'clock. You are cordially invited to be present.

—The entertainment to be given by Iona Council, No. 14, Daughters of Pocohontas, next Wednesday evening, will be for members only.

—Watchung Lodge, No. 167, I. O. M., will give a ball and reception in the Cycle Academy on New Year's eve. Rogers will furnish the music.

—We dropped into Peck's store yesterday, but he was so busy he could not get time to trim his window, nor could he stop to describe his holiday goods.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church, will hold a meeting of special interest this evening in the Sunday-school room of the church.

—At the entrance to the new City National Bank building there is a pretty tile floor in the centre of which are the letters C. N. B., worked in a monogram.

—J. B. Blair, hatter and furnisher, will have on sale tomorrow (Saturday) bargains in derbys, neckwear, gloves, hosiery, suspenders and sweaters for the Holidays Give him a call.

—The Sunday-school scholars of the First Baptist church will have a Christmas entertainment this Xmas vastly different from any previous ones and it is said that it will be very fine.

—Another of the special week-of-prayer services will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church this evening. W. D. W. Murray will be the leader and the topic will be "Personal Responsibility."

—The funeral of Mrs. Ann McCarthy was held from her late home on West Sixth street, yesterday afternoon, Rev. E. M. Rodman officiating. The interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.

—At the meeting of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., last Wednesday evening, four candidates were initiated. Under a special dispensation ten members will be received next Wednesday evening.

—You will find at Putnam and Degraw's popular dry goods store an elegant assortment of hand-painted fancy articles, in glass, china and celluloid, for the holiday trade. A handsome line of men's scarfs were received yesterday.

—C. V. D. Corle, proprietor of the Metropolitan boarding stable, 138 East Second street, wishes to call attention to his advertisement in another column that he will take care of horses and carriages for a small charge to all visitors to Plainfield or other persons.

—Considerable complaint is being made about the condition of the side walk on Clinton avenue near Third street. For some time a gang of men has been at work lowering the sidewalk, but the work has been done at very irregular intervals and pedestrians in that neighborhood have had to wade through a regular sea of mud.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

FIRE FIRE FIRE

GRAND
Firemen's Fair will be held by
Plainfield Engine Co. No. 2.
Dancing evenings from 10 until 12.
Dec. 14th to 19th, Inclusive.

No contest books out. Phonographic entertainment every evening.
Admission - - 10 cents.

ALL MAKES OF
SEWING MACHINES
repaired. Singer Machine
cash or instalments.
218 West Front Sreet.
12 8 1 w

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

MARRIED.

HECKENS—SNOW—On Tuesday December 1, 1896, Willey Heckens to Miss Margaret Snow, at Salvation Hall, West Second street Plainfield.

DIED.

SCHNELLENDRUESSLER—In this city, Dec. 9, 1896, Alice A., wife of H. F. F. Schnellendruessler, aged 75 years.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

BOY wanted to work after school hours. 226 Park avenue.

FOUND—Part of watch case. Inquire at this office.

ROOM with board at 322 East Fifth street. 12 12 6

WANTED—A good girl for general housework, one who understands cooking. Inquire at 318 West Front street, in tea store.

CAPABLE neat woman wishes position for general housework, small family. N. S., care Press.

240 EAST NINTH STREET—Bright sunny rooms, adults only; references required. 12 11 6

WANTED—Capable salesmen, resident of Plainfield, with some capital to take charge of branch store for "Head-to-foot Outfits for Bicycle Riders." Salary and interest to right party. Address, stating reference and capital, Wholesale Clothing, 286 Market street, Newark N. J. 12 8 3eod

LOST—Tuesday evening 8inst; in Music Hall or on Front street a medium size black gauze fan with silk tassle. Please leave at City National Bank or 537 East Front street. 12-10-2.

$7000 to loan on mortgage at 5 per cent. Clarence Murphy, Attorney. 12-10 tf.

FOR SALE—8 room house, all improvements, with lot; low price. Address by letter only, M. A. Korff, Watchung Ave., N. P. 12 10 6

LOST—An amethyst pin in North Plainfield, Monday. Suitable reward for return to Press office. 12 10 2

FOR SALE—$100 bicycle 95 model. Inquire 826 First place. 12-10 6.

BOARD and rooms, 303 West Second street. 12 10 3.

LARGE well heated rooms to let, with superior board near Crescent Avenue church. Crescent, this office. 12 10-3

TO LET—Several tenant houses at reasonable rent. Apply J. M. Hetfield. 12 7 6

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E C. Mulford, Broker. 12 7 tf

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11 10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 916tf

Plainfield's Busiest Store.

We sell goods cheaper than all others.

CHRISTMAS.

We have gathered here a collection of all that is good and durable in holiday goods. Our modern merchandising way of having the most attractive store and selling at the most attractive prices creates new business for us every day. We have secured many special values that we have priced extra low to stimulate early buying. You can select what you want and we deliver it when wanted.

For the Little Ones.

We have the most tempting assortment of Toys, Dolls, Games and Books for the little ones. No trash, but good, substantial, strong toys that will last. They are displayed on the main floor—House furnishing department.

For the Girls.

We think it will be a year for giving good, useful and serviceable presents, and have arranged for it. There are books, handkerchiefs, toilet articles, writing paper, toilet cases, handkerchief and glove boxes. All sold at our popular low prices.

For the Boys.

Some say 'tis hard to find a suitable present for the boy, but not so here, we have looked out for them in the best way. There are games of all kinds, puzzles, boys books, knives, sleds, handkerchiefs, gloves, mittens, sweaters, ties, in fact every thing to make a boy happy as they desire to be.

For the Ladies.

Easiest matter in the world to select something for the ladies, there are so many pretty useful things that never go amiss and they always want, and the cost is small. There are thousands of pieces of bric-a-brac, fancy cups and saucers, pictures, fancy screens and picture easels, toilet articles of every description, handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, sterling silver jewelry, toilet plush cases, pocket books, &c.

For the Men.

Last but not least come the men, and whether he is young or old there is plenty to make him forget for a time, business troubles and worry. There are linen and silk handkerchiefs, and mufflers, umbrellas, blacking cases, gloves, ties, jewelry, shirts, collar and cuff boxes, hosiery &c.

Remember.

The store is yours to come to do as you please and to feel as free as if you were in your own home. You will find plenty of polite clerks to attend to your wants and wishes. You are sure to find a crowd but 'twill be a good natured one and we promise you the best of service.

Special Values.

While the holiday rush is on there is not a stock in the store that will be neglected. You can fill every want in good, desirable goods of every kind and at lower prices than all others. There are special values in dress goods, hosiery, underwear, jackets, capes, rugs, table linen, &c.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c. To $2

SAMPLES FREE.

Cheaper than ever before. Over 100,000 rolls in stock. It will pay you to call and look over line. Beautiful bedroom papers 3 and 5 cents a roll. Our high grade "specials" 10 cents and up. For this week only we will give a handsome scroll paper suitable for parlor at 5 cents per roll.

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW
210 West Front Street.

An assortment of HOLIDAY GOODS on one of our centre tables marked 25c. is well worth examining before purchasing elsewhere. Also, STAPLE GOODS, such as Umbrellas, Underwear, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Extracts, Silk Mufflers, Silk Initial Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, Napkins, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Does Your Husband Want
Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?
If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON
NO. 107 PARK AVE.

JAS. R. BLAIR.
126 Park Avenue,
Has a fine assortment of Neckties, Mufflers, Umbrellas, Silk Handkerchiefs, Gloves, &c.,
Ready for the Holidays.

THE MISTRESS of the M... or A Woman Inte...

By Robert Barr

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyri... Rob...

"Is Mr. Melville a friend of yours?"

"No, he is not. I never saw him until he came to the meeting."

"Do you know," she said, lowering her voice and bending toward him, "that I do not like Mr. Melville's face?"

Kenyon glanced at Melville, who was at the other side of the room, and Edith went on: "You must not look at people when I mention them in that way, or they will know we are talking about them. I do not like his face. He is too handsome a man, and I don't like handsome men."

"Don't you, really?" said John. "Then you ought to—" Edith laughed softly, a low, musical laugh that was not heard above the piano din, and was intended for John alone, and to his ears it was the sweetest music he had ever heard.

"I know what you were going to say," she said; "you were going to say that in that case I ought to like you. Well, I do; that is why I am taking such an interest in your mine, and in your friend, Mr. Wentworth. And so my cousin volunteered to go to Canada? Now, I think you ought to go yourself."

"Why?" said Kenyon, startled that she should have touched the point that had been discussed between Wentworth and himself.

"I can only give you a woman's reason, 'because I do.' It seems to me you ought to be there to know what they report at the time they do report. Perhaps they won't understand the mine without your explanation, and then, you see, an adverse report might come back in perfect good faith. I think you ought to go to America, Mr. Kenyon."

"That is just what George Wentworth says."

"Does he? I always thought he was a very sensible young man, and now I am sure of it. Well, I must not stay here gossiping with you on business. I see the professor is going to finish, and so I shall have to look after my other guests. If I don't see you again this evening, or have another opportunity of speaking with you, think over what I have said." And then, with the most charming hypocrisy, the young woman thanked the professor for the music to which she had not listened in the least.

"Well, how did you enjoy yourself?" said Wentworth, when they had got outside again. It was a clear, starlight night, and they had resolved to walk home together.

"I enjoyed myself very well, indeed," answered Kenyon; "much better than I expected. It was a little awkward at first, but I got over that."

"I noticed you did—with help."

"Yes, 'with help.'"

"If you are inclined to rave, John, now that we are under the stars, remember I am a close confidant and a sympathetic listener. I should like to hear you rave, just to learn how an exasperatingly sensible man acts under the mania."

"I shall not rave about anything, George, but I will tell you something. I am going to Canada."

"Ah! did she speak about that?"

"She did."

"And, of course, her advice at once decides the matter, after my most cogent arguments have failed."

"Don't be offended, George, but—it does."

CHAPTER XIX.

"What name, please?"

"Tell Mr. Wentworth a lady wishes to see him."

The boy departed rather dubiously, for he knew that his message was decidedly irregular in a business office. People should give their names.

"A lady to see you, sir," he said to Wentworth, and then, just as the boy had expected, his employer wanted to know the lady's name. Ladies are not frequent visitors at the offices of an accountant in the city, so Wentworth touched his collar and tie to make sure they were in their correct position, and, wondering who the lady was, asked the boy to show her in.

"How do you do, Mr. Wentworth?" she said, brightly, advancing toward his table and holding out her hand. Wentworth caught his breath, took her extended hand somewhat limply, then he pulled himself together and said:

"This is an unexpected pleasure, Miss Brewster."

Jennie blushed very prettily and laughed a laugh that Wentworth thought was like a little ripple of music from a mellow flute.

"It may be unexpected," she said, "but you don't look a bit like a man suffering from an overdose of pure joy. You didn't expect to see me, did you?"

"I did not, but, now that you are here, may I ask in what way I can serve you?"

"Well, in the first place you may ask me to take a chair, and in the second place you may sit down yourself, for I have come to have a long talk with you."

The prospect did not seem to be so alluring to Wentworth as one might have expected when the announcement was made by a girl so pretty and dressed in such exquisite taste, but the young man promptly offered her a chair, and then sat down with the table between them. She placed her parasol and a few trinkets she had been carrying on the table, arranging them with some care; then, having given him time to recover from his surprise, she flashed a look at him that sent a thrill to the finger tips of the young man. Yet a danger understood is a danger half overcome; and Wentworth, unconsciously drawing a deep breath, nerved himself against any recurrence of a feeling he had been trying to forget, with but indifferent success, saying grimly, but only half convincingly, to himself: "You are not going to fool me a second time, my girl, lovely as you are."

A glimmer of a smile hovered about the red lips of a girl, a smile hardly perceptible, but giving an effect to her clear complexion, as if a sunbeam had crept into the room and its reflection had lit up her face.

"I have come to apologize, Mr. Wentworth," she said at last. "I find it a very difficult thing to do, and, as I don't know just how to begin, I'll plunge right into it."

"You don't need to apologize to me for anything, Miss Brewster," replied Wentworth rather stiffly.

"Oh, yes, I do. Don't make it harder than it is by being too frigidly polite about it, but say you accept the apology, and that you're sorry—no—I don't mean that—I should say that you're sure I'm sorry, and that you know I won't do it again."

Wentworth laughed, and Miss Brewster joined him.

"There," she said, "that's ever so much better. I suppose you've been

"I want you to tell me something about your mine."

thinking hard things of me ever since we last met."

"I've tried to," replied Wentworth.

"Now that's what I call honest; besides I like the implied compliment. I think it's very neat, indeed. I'm really very, very sorry that I—that things happened as they did. I wouldn't have blamed you if you had used exceedingly strong language about it at the time."

"I must confess that I did."

"Ah," said Jennie, with a sigh, "you men have so many comforts denied to us women. But I came here for another purpose; if I had merely wanted to apologize I think I would have written. I want some information which you can give me, if you like."

The young woman rested her elbows on the table, with her chin in her hands, gazing across at him earnestly and innocently. Poor George felt that it would be impossible to refuse anything of those large beseeching eyes.

"I want you to tell me about your mine."

All the geniality that had gradually come into Wentworth's face and manner vanished instantly.

"So this is the old business over again," he said.

"How can you say that!" cried Jennie, reproachfully. "I am asking for my own satisfaction entirely, and not for my paper. Besides, I tell you frankly what I want to know, and don't try to get it by indirect means—by false pretenses—as you once said."

"How can you expect me to give you information that does not belong to me alone? I have no right to speak of a business which concerns others without their permission."

"Ah, then there are at least two others concerned in the mine," said Jennie, gleefully. "Kenyon is one, I know, who is the other?"

"Miss Brewster, I will tell you nothing."

"But you have told me something already. Please go on and talk, Mr. Wentworth—about anything you like—and I shall soon find out all I want to know about the mine."

She paused, but Wentworth remained silent, which, indeed, the bewildered young man realized was the only safe thing to do.

"They speak of the talkativeness of women," Miss Brewster went on, as if soliloquizing, "but it is nothing to that of the men. Once set a man talking and you learn everything he knows—besides ever so much more that he doesn't."

Miss Brewster had abandoned her very talkative attitude, with its suggestion of confidential relations, and had removed her elbows from the table, sitting now back in her chair gazing dreamily at the dingy window which let the light in from the dingy court. She seemed to have forgotten that Wentworth was there, and said more to herself than to him:

"I wonder if Kenyon would tell me about the mine."

"You might ask him."

"No, it wouldn't do any good," she continued, gently shaking her head. "He's one of your silent men, and there are so few of them in this world! Perhaps I had better go to William Longworth himself; he is not suspicious of me."

And as she said this she threw a quick glance at Wentworth, and the unfortunate young man's face at once told her that she had hit the mark. She bent her brow over the table and laughed with such evident enjoyment that Wentworth, in spite of his helpless anger, smiled grimly.

Jennie raised her head, but the sight of his perplexed countenance was too much for her, and it was some time before her merriment allowed her to speak. At last she said:

"Wouldn't you like to take me by the shoulders and put me out of the room, Mr. Wentworth?"

"I'd like to take you by the shoulders and shake you."

"Ah! that would be taking a liberty and could not be permitted. We must leave punishment to the law, you know although I do think a man should be allowed to turn an objectionable visitor into the street."

"Miss Brewster," cried the young man, earnestly, leaning over the table toward her, "why don't you abandon your horrible inquisitorial profession and put your undoubted talents to some other use?"

"What, for instance?"

"Oh—anything."

Jennie rested her fair cheek against her open palm again and looked at the dingy window. There was a long silence between them. Wentworth was absorbed in watching her clear-cut profile and her white throat, his breath quickening as he feasted his eyes on her beauty.

"I have always got angry," she said, at last, in a low voice, with the quiver of a suppressed sigh in it, "when other people have said that to me—I wonder why it is I merely feel hurt and sad when you say it? It is so easy to say, 'oh—anything'—so easy—so easy. You are a man, with the strength and determination of a man, yet you have met with disappointments and obstacles that have required all your courage to overcome. Every man has, and with most men it is a fight until the head is gray and the brain weary with the ceaseless struggle. The world is utterly merciless; it will trample you down relentlessly if it can, and if your vigilance relaxes for a moment it will steal your crust and leave you to starve. When I think of this incessant, sullen contest, with no quarter given or taken, I shudder and pray that I may die before I am at the mercy of the pitiless world. When I came to London I saw for the first time in my life that hopeless melancholy promenade of the sandwich men, human wreckage drifting along the edge of the street, as if they had been cast up there by the rushing tide sweeping past them. They—they seemed to me like a tottering procession of the dead—and on their backs was the announcement of a play that was making all London roar with laughter—the awful comedy and tragedy of it! Well, I simply couldn't stand it! I had to run up a side street and cry like the little fool I was, right in broad daylight."

Jennie paused and tried to laugh, but the effort ended in a sound suspiciously like a sob, and she dashed her hand, with quick impatience, across her eyes, from which Wentworth had never taken his own, watching them dim as the light from the window proved too strong for them, and finally fill as she ceased to speak. Searching ineffectually about her dress for a handkerchief, which lay on the table beside her parasol, unnoticed by either, Jennie went on, with some difficulty:

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Edwin B. Maynard,

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield. Ladies' shampooing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

THE SHAKERS DO THEIR DUTY

"If a man discovers a valuable medicine," said Horace Greeley, "It is his duty to advertise it." Yes, and at once; for suffering demands the speediest relief possible. But let the man first be sure. Suffering had better wait than be deluded by false hopes. Medicine, like surgery, must often seem cruel in order to be really kind. On this principle the Shakers, of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y., withheld their great indigestion and dyspepsia remedy from the public for several years. With them rightdoing is everything—money comparatively nothing. Hence the popularity and success of whatever they offer for sale. Having satisfied themselves of the merit of their medicine by employing it in the worst cases of digestive disorders in their own vicinity for years, they did their duty—they advertised it under the name of the Shaker Digestive Cordial. In all cases where there is distress after eating, pain in the stomach, chest and back; aversion to food with the resulting symptoms such as headache, furred tongue, eructation of gas, with weakness and loss of flesh, etc., the Cordial has a most happy effect. Being itself a digestive food with power to digest other foods, it relieves the weak and possibly inflamed stomach of the labor in which it is in no condition to perform, gives new strength to the body and presently restores to the digestive organs their normal vigor. Taken immediately after eating this remedy insures the digestion of the meal and prevents the fermentation of the food, which is the source of the most of the afflicted symptoms which accompany dyspepsia. It is also as agreeable to the taste as it is potent as a medicine.

To show their own confidence in it, and to hasten its universal adoption, the Shakers authorize druggists to sell trial bottles at the nominal price of ten cents.

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry prices will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

North ave. Plainfield

Telephone 30M

"Time or Tide Waits for No Man."

Have your time always correct and you won't want time to wait. Our watches or clocks never vary. They are sure and reliable timekeepers, whether in the exquisitely jeweled chatelaine watch, or fine gold or silver case. They are always correct. Speaking of time—remember now is the time to be looking around for a useful and handsome Christmas present for wife, husband or sweetheart; and who doesn't love a good watch?

COLLIER,

103 Park Ave. Established 1869.

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't "

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter, Wm. McD. Corlell,
P. M. French, H. Mulford Estil,
Wm. M. Stillman, Isaac W. Rushmore,
J. W. Johnson, Wm. B. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie R 2	Maguire Miss Annie
DerCharnel Miss Lil'n	Prentice Mrs. Geo
Dutcher Chas H	Reich Miss Elizabeth
Fonda Guy Q	Rockerer J C
Foster Miss Vera	Slater Joshua
Gray Miss Maggie	Steinorth B
Harrison Wm F	Stelle Freeman
Holingvist Miss Agnes	Schenck Mrs E
Herben Mrs S J	Tevis E L
Lewis C F	Wiley Mrs Fred
May Miss M A	Walker Mrs Mary E
Midgely Jas L V	Whiteall Mrs C D
Mendel Gus	Weingart Miss AnnieL

MRS. L. ADAMS,

MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Christmas Wreaths. Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,

Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.

DENTON'S.

131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,

DEALERS IN

Lehigh Valley Coal.

Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Amos H. Van Horn,

LIMITED.

CARPETS AT COST!

Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:

25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.

MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES

NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.

Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.

LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!

Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.

Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.

73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.

Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash, " " " " $6 & $7.

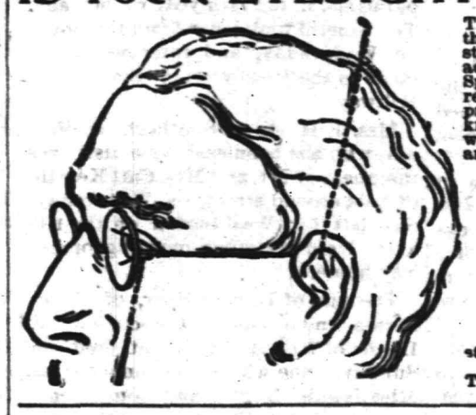
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?



There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street
Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59 7 20, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 37, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 42, 5 25, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28 p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 34 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 33, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 20, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 00, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 8 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 00, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 39, 6 59, 7 50, 8 50, 8 58, 9 58, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, am; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 25 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 1a, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 05, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 05, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 35 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2 Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 46, 2 11, 3 22, 3 55, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 38, 7 12, 7 34, 8 22, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 22, 9 55, a m; 2 05, 3 43, 5 14, 6 35, 10 35, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 25, 4 35, 5 28, 6 08, 6 38, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 9 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 36, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 25, a m; 2 05, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04, 7 05, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 32 a m; 6 30, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 05, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 03 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

4 36 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin. (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

5 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

5 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 16 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 22, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m, 1 15, 3, 12, 3 51, 5 22, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 22 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night, Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m. 12 46, 2 17, 2 25*, 5 34*, 6 39*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 38 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,
General Superintendent.
H. P. BALDWIN,
General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:55, 5, 5:20 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 30 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—6:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m; closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co

are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.

Christmas Tree Holders, Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver-plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks, Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1 98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.

Telephone Call 49 I. 9 3 1y

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.

12 1 1y

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. 8 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bannanas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at fair prices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in all its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co. 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 42b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.

No. 143 West Front street.

Telephone Call, 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S !=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets — all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..... $4.95
Ladies' Capes — from $1.98 up to..... $18.00
Ladies' Suits — tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..... $8.00
Ladies' Skirts — in brilliantine, extra wide, at..... $1.98
All-wool plaids at $0.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. ROEHM, 113 West Front street.

Store Open Evenings.

Useful Holiday Presents.

Desks, Tables,
Easy Chairs, Rockers, etc.
Fine China,
Elegant Lamps,
Fancy Pottery.

G. Q. PACKER. J. W. GAVETT.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

Our Overcoats

this season are, as usual, peculiarly our own in perfectness of detail and fit. Prices have been put at smallest point.

Ulsters from $8.00

$10.00, 12.00 and above. Uncommonly dressy for Ulsters, too. Chinchillas, Irish Frieses, Mixed and Black Oxfords.

Overcoats, $8.00

to $25.00—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Vicunas. Some with plain and others with combination linings.

Suits from $6.00

to $15 00—used to get far more for same kind of garments. In swell cheviots.

Boys' Clothing

—we make a good deal of our boys' clothing success. Been clothing juveniles for many years and feel we have an A No. 1 dep't. See it.

Boys' Reefers

with large ulster or deep sailor collars. Blue Chinchillas, Frieses and Oxford mixed. Fashionable. $3.00, 4.00, 6.00.

Boys' School Overcoats

made in same way as men's styles. Blue, black and Oxford Kerseys. Fine finish, $4.00, 5.00, 6.00 and 8.00.

Boys' Two Piece and Reefer Suits

Exceptional sale. Were $3.50, 4.00 and 4.50 before. Now all at $3.00 New in cloth and cut.

Boys' Shoes—excellent kinds, $1.50 up. Men's $2.00 up.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

MARSHALL & BALL

The People's Outfitters. | 807, 809, 811, 813 Broad St. NEWARK, N. J.

CONNECTICUT LIQUOR DECISION

An Important Victory of the State Law and Order League.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 11.—By the decision of the New Haven county commissioners just rendered, refusing a license to Walter Scott, proprietor of the Waverley inn at Cheshire, the State Law and Order league has won its most important victory for several years. Scott has kept a hotel famous all over the state for its dinners served to transient patrons. When Cheshire was a no license town, detectives of the league visited his hotel and secured evidence by which he was convicted of selling liquors illegally, the case leading to prolonged litigation, partly in connection with the seizure of liquors worth some $1,500 found at his hotel. Then his friends organized and carried Cheshire last October by a small majority for license after a bitter contest, but now the protest of the league, on the ground of former conviction, against his securing a license has been sustained by the county commissioners, probably ending one of the most obstinate and protracted liquor contests in the history of the state. The decision is of much legal significance as against the granting of licenses to any persons once convicted of illicit liquor selling in Connecticut.

License Granted at Chester.

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 11.—The county commissioners have settled the vexed question regarding the liquor tight in the town of Chester by granting a license to Barry Warren, of the Chester house, despite the remonstrance signed by over 100 citizens. Frank P. Smith, from whom Warren leased the bar, was forced to remove from the hotel or the license would have been refused, as Smith's recent court convictions rendered the feeling so strong that had a license been granted with him as manager of the hotel part, an appeal on Warren's license would have been taken to the supreme court. No other petitions for license will be granted.

EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Seaboard Air Line's Plan To Attract Immigration.

Baltimore, Dec. 11.—The Seaboard Air line, looking to the benefit of the agricultural interests of the country tributary to it and the enlargement of its efforts to attract immigration, has decided to establish 100 small experimental farms along the line of its road, giving one experimental farm to every ten miles of its system. It is proposed by the management to take 100 small tracts of land immediately along the line and under the direction of the best experts to utilize these farms for showing what can be done in the diversification of the farm interests and for the growing of field crops not now raised in the south, such as hops, broom corn, celery, sugar beets and other products which may be made to profitably diversify the agricultural interests of the region between Norfolk and Atlanta.

MORE CABINET RUMORS.

The Name of Judge McKenna of California the Lastest Addition to the List.

Canton, O., Dec. 11.—A new name has swung into prominence as a cabinet possibility from California and for the moment is more eagerly discussed than were the names of Judges De Haven and Waymire in their turn. The man of the hour with the unofficial makers of cabinets is Judge Joseph McKenna of California, who was appointed to the United States circuit bench by President Harrison. He is well known by the president-elect, and is an uncommonly available man of the highest character and standing. There seems to be some substance to the flow of talk about Judge McKenna.

Rev. F. H. Smith Released.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Rev. Frank Hyatt Smith of Cambridge, Mass., who has been confined at St. Elizabeth's hospital for the last year, has been released by order of Chief Justice Bingham of the District supreme court. Mr. Smith was indicted on a charge of sending scurrilous postal cards through the mails. Before trial, however, he was adjudged to be insane, and upon application of his counsel he was sent to the government hospital for the insane.

William Steinway's Will.

New York, Dec. 11.—By the will of the late famous piano manufacturer, William Steinway, just filed for probate, an estate valued at $2,500,000 is disposed of. Fifteen thousand dollars are left to charities in this country, 5,000 German reichmarks to Mr. Steinway's native town, Seesen, Germany, for charitable purposes, and the balance is divided among relatives.

Prince Bismarck's Disclosures.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—It is reported that prosecutions will be begun against the newspaper Bank und Handels Zeitung for publishing the statement that Prince Bismarck made his disclosures in the Hamburger Nachrichten because the czar had been dissuaded by high personages from visiting him.

Reported Zulu Outbreak Discredited.

London, Dec. 11.—The report from Cape Town that the Zulu chief Chickusi, with 30,000 warriors, is on the warpath, and that great anxiety is felt at Blautyre, where are quartered only 500 British troops, is not given credit here.

Drowned in a Flooded Colliery.

London, Dec. 11.—A colliery has been flooded at Abernant in the south of Wales, and 120 men who were in the mine had a race for their lives. Six of them were drowned.

Boy Fined for Drunkenness.

New York, Dec. 11.—Joseph Herlih, 14 years old, was fined $3 for drunkenness in the Essex Maaket police court to-day. He was arrested on the street during the night.

LOSS OF THE SALIER

Report That Over Two Hundred Emigrants Were on Board.

FEARED THAT ALL HANDS PERISHED

Loss of the Salier Another of the Series of Great Disasters That Have Attended the Fortunes of the German Lloyd Steamship Company.

Corruna, Dec. 11.—The report of the loss of the North German Lloyd steamship Salier off the Spanish coast is confirmed. The vessel carried a crew of sixty, and all hands went down with the ship. She left Corruna on Dec. 7 for Villagarcia, Spain, and foundered in the heavy gale which recently prevailed off the Spanish coast.

The Salier, then commanded by Capt. Wampa, left Baltimore on Sept. 9 for Bremen, where she arrived on Sept. 23. She was subsequently contracted to be sold to an Italian firm, but had not been delivered. She was loaded with coal when she was lost. She was a brig-rigged screw steamer, built at Hull, England, in 1875. The loss of the Salier is another of a series of disasters that have attended the fortunes of the North German Lloyd Steamship company. It calls to mind the frightful loss of life that occurred on the morning of July 30, 1895, when the steamer Elbe, belonging to that company, was run into in the North sea and sunk by the British steamer Craithie. Of the 372 passengers on board the Elbe all except twenty-two, mostly members of the crew perished. Of all the women passengers only one, Anna Bueckner, was saved. The survivors were picked up by a fishing smack, after having been adrift in a small boat for several hours. The night was bitterly cold and the survivors were in a pitiable condition, half frozen, and their scanty clothing covered with ice. They were so exhausted that it was three hours after they were landed at Lowestoft before they could give any connected account of the disaster.

Says 200 Emigrants Were on Board.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—Persistent reports reach here from Madrid that more than 200 emigrants took passage on the Salier at Corunna and that all of them were lost.

Discredited by Lloyd's Agents.

London, Dec. 11.—Lloyd's agents here discredit the report that a large number of emigrants were on board the steamer Salier, but they are not sure. A dispatch received here from Bremen asserts that there were 210 passengers on the steamer, including one German, 113 Russians, 35 Galicians and 61 Spaniards, and adds that it is feared that all of them were lost.

Chinese Minister Not Acceptable.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—The government of Germany has notified the Chinese government that the selection of Hwang Tsum Hsien as minister of China at Berlin, as announced from Pekin on Nov. 24, is not acceptable to Germany, for the reason that Germany had not previously been consulted in the choice of a minister to succeed Hsu Ching Cheng at Berlin, and because Hwang Tsum Hsien is not of sufficiently exalted rank.

Yale's Representatives Selected.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 11.—F A. Lehlbach, '98, and W. M. Murdoch, '98 S., will represent Yale in the intercollegiate chess tournament. L. A. Cook, 1900, and H. C. Robbins, '99, will act as substitutes. Arvine, '98 L. S., tied Murdoch, '98 S., for second place in the university tournament, but is not eligible to represent Yale, as he is a member of the graduate department.

West and Johnson Matched.

New York, Dec. 11.—Tommy West of Boston, who fought a nineteen-round draw with Joe Walcott on Wednesday evening, was matched last night to box Charley Johnson of Minnesota twenty rounds, before the Myers Athletic club of Albany, N. Y., on Tuesday evening January 12, 1897, for a purse of $2,000.

Liliuokalani in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Dec. 11.—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii arrived from Honolulu yesterday on the steamship China. The fact of the ex-queen's arrival did not leak out for some time. Her present whereabouts are unknown.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot weak, with fair trade. Dec., 85¾c.; May, 84⅞c.

Corn—Spot steady; fair inquiry. Dec., 28¾c.; May, 31⅝c.

Oats—Trade dull and light demand. Dec., 22½c.; May, 24⅜c.

Lard—Market steady, but inactive. Prime western, $4.10.

Pork—Prices steady, but trade quiet. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.25@8.75; family, $10.00@10.75.

Eggs—Quiet, weak and unsettled. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 20@23c.; ice house, 16@19c.; western, fresh, 20@21c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 19@20.

Butter—Trading quiet and irregular. Creamery western extras, 24½c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19@23½c.; creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9@10½c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6¾c.

Potatoes—Arriving freely; old prices. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:15 a. m.
Sun sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

BASKET BALL.

Physical Director Heyward is planning for an active season for the basket ball team of the Y. M. C. A. The crushing defeat in their first game rather disheartened the team and the interest in the game lagged for a time, but now the players are anxious to try their strength against some strong but less formidable team than their first opponents. A game has now been arrranged with the team from the 26th Ward Branch of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. for January 26th. Mr. Heyward is now corresponding with the managers of a number of other teams with a view of playing with them this winter. Among the teams that will probably meet the local players this season are the teams from the Central Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., the Thirteenth Regiment of Brooklyn, the Belvidere Athletic Club of New York, the Summit Y. M. C. A., the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A., the Orange Y. M. C. A., and the second team from the 23d Street Branch of the New York Y. M. C. A.

WINTER SPORTS.

A series of games have been arranged between the hockey teams of the Plainfield and Montclair High Schools. Manager Carroll L. Runyon, of the Plainfield team, received a letter yesterday from the manager of the other team in which Mr. Runyon's suggestion as to the dates of the games was accepted. The first game will be played in Plainfield on December 29th, and the second game in Montclair on January 9th, providing of course that the ice is in good condition for the game.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The evening classes at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will give a public exhibition in the gymnasium on the evening of Saturday, December 19. The class will go through their different exercises on the apparatus and a number of gymnastic and athletic contests will be held. There will be the high jump, three broad jumps and a potato race. The exhibition will be free to all.

CYCLING COMMENT

A. H. Barnett, the well-kown bicycle racer from Westfield, was in Plainfield yesterday to see his friends.

Among the riders who went out to try the new track at the Madison Square Garden last Monday evening was A. H. Barnett of Westfield.

F. L. C. Martin, George B. MacIntyre, and E. H. Bogartus went for a ride yesterday on the Cleveland triplet. They rode over to Long Island.

NEW TOWNSHIP WANTED.

Progressive Citizens of Roselle Now Outvoted by Farmers.

A meeting of citizens residing in the first polling district of Union Township, which includes the thickly settled portion of Roselle lying north of the railroad track. was held last night. The purpose was to measure the force of public sentiment in favor of having this district formed into a new and separate township, so that public improvements may be secured, which now are impossible owing to the opposition of the farmers. Another meeting will be held in a few days and a line of action decided upon.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W Randolph, 143 EastFront st.

Married at the Army Barracks.

Two of the workers in the Salvation Army, Miss Margaret Snow and Wiley Heckens, were married in the Salvation Army barracks on December 1st. The ceremony was performed by the officers of the Army. The best man was Alfred Mountjoy and the bride's maid was a sister of the bride. The young couple will remain in Plainfield for a short time and then they will return to England and make their home in Bristol.

—Never in the history of Plainfield has there been such a chance to buy Christmas presents for men and boys as will be offered by Crane & Clark for the next ten days.

INFANT HEALTH
SENT FREE
A little book that should be in every home. Issued by the manufacturers of the Gail Borden Eagle Brand Condensed Milk
N. Y. Condensed Milk Co.
71 Hudson Street, New York

A GENUINE SURPRISE

Party Held at the Home of an East Second Street Miss.

A surprise party, arranged by Francis Meaney, of Elm street, was tendered Miss Margie DeCourcy last evening at her home, 310 East Second street. The guests arrived at the house at 8 o'clock, and soon made their presence known. From that time until 11 o'clock they all enjoyed themselves hugely with the usual pastimes that are characteristic of such affairs, such as the playing of games, selections on the piano, etc. At an appropriate hour refreshments were served.

Those present were Francis Meaney, Walter Sharkey, Miss Louise Klein, Vincent Meaney, George McVoy, Miss Margaret Kenney, Augustus Force, William Vanderweg, Miss Mattie Klein, Harvey Vail, Georgie Briggs, Miss Alice Sharkey, Louie Fisher, Robbie Crane, Miss Mabel Vail, Miss Margie DeCourcy, Leo DeCourcy.

LITERARY.

The Youth's Companion will celebrate its seventy-first birthday in 1897. Among the many attractive announcements of The Companion for the coming year is an article of exceptional value by Andrew Carnegie, on "The Habit of Thrift." Successful men in other walks of life will second Mr. Carnegie's paper with readable, practical articles based on their own experience, and valuable to the old as well as to the young. Stories will be given by Ian Maclaren, Kudyard Kipling, Stephen Crane, Harold Frederic and Clark Russell. Speaker Reed, Secretary Herbert, Senator Lodge, Hon. Carl Schurz, Postmaster-General Wilson, Dr. Lyman Abbott, Hon. Theodore Rossevelt. These are a few of the two hundred names that figure in the latest list of Companion contributors. New subscribers sending $1.75 to The Companion for 1897 will receive The Companion for the remainder of the year free, also the Companion's artistic twelve-color Calendar, and the paper a full year to January, 1898. Illustrated prospectus of the next volume will be sent free upon request. Address, The Youth's Companion, 205 Columbus avenue, Boston, Mass.

An even excellence makes the good things which The Ladies' Home Journal promises unusually interesting and strong. The list is long and sturdy. One series of papers alone would sell the magazine; that is, the three White House articles which ex-President Harrison is to write. No man has ever done what General Harrison will do in these articles: show us what "A Day With the President at His Desk" means in one article; in another tell of "The Social Life of the President," and in a third article describe "Upstairs Life in the White House." Each of the articles will be profusely illustrated. Another series equally fascinating is the one called "Great Personal Events," in which some of the greatest enthusiasms which have occurred in America will be revived; those wonderful times when Louis Kossuth rode up Broadway; when the young Prince of Wales was here; when Jenny Lind sang in Castle Garden; when Henry Ward Beecher electrified his congregation by selling slaves in his pulpit; when Grant went round the world; when Henry Clay bade farewell to the senate; when John Wesley preached in Georgia, of which so few know. All these memorable events and others will be vividly recalled, told more graphically then ever before, and illustrated with pictures which have occupied twelve artists for over a year. A third series is unique and valuable from the fact that it will give women scores of ideas for their homes. It will reveal what there is "Inside of a Hundred American Homes," and carefully reproduce pictures of one hundred completely furnished rooms in homes in this country—from Maine to California—where taste has gone farther than money.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

Nellie Was Drunk.

A colored woman, named Nellie Peterson, was found drunk on West Front street, last evening, by Patrolman Vanderweg and lodged in the station house for the night. This morning she was arraigned before the City Judge who suspended sentence on her.

—The Plainfield Camera Club will hold its regular meeting on Monday night when the annual election of officers will take place.

—The Paugh-Caugh-Naugh-Sinque Council, Degree of Pochohontas, which has recently been formed, will be instituted on December 17th, in Sons of Temperance Hall in the Elkwood building. Iona Council has been invited to assist in the institution.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

Xmas.
CURTIS M. THORP.

$35. Will buy you a First-Class High Grade BICYCLE.
Peck & Snyder and Winslow Skates from 49c up.
PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

A seasonable and appreciated gift would be
FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.
Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and-irons, fenders, etc.
"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."
310–312 Park Avenue.

Call at
J. F. MACDONALD'S
The Uptown Grocery.
And be convinced that it is our aim to supply the people with the best goods at the lowest prices and that we now have a full line of all the new goods necessary to make your order complete.

Musc Raisins,	3 lbs. for 25cts.	Figs,	10 cts. per lb.
Table "	5 " " 50 "	English Walnuts,	15 " " "
Currants,	3 " " 25 "	Paper Shell Almonds,	25 " " "
Cal. Prunes,	2 " " 25 "	Pecans,	18 " " "
" Apricots,	2 " " 25 "	Filberts,	15 " " "

A choice lot of apples by the barrel at an equally low price.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
— Dealers in —
Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.
Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock
Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Florence Marsh, of Madison avenue, is visiting friends in Newark.

Ellis Campbell, of Park avenue, spent yesterday with friends in Carteret.

Assemblyman W. R. Codington, of Sandford avenue, is in Trenton today on business.

Freeholder Andrew Lutkins, of Somerset street, left yesterday on a trip to West Virginia.

Christopher Wise, of Grandview avenue, returned last night from Florida where he has been visiting for some time.

William DeMeza, of Judge DeMeza's law offices, will go to Trenton in February to take his entrance examinations for the bar,

Mrs. and Miss Nugue, of Westchester, New York, have returned home after a visit at the home of S. L. Schoonmaker, of Central avenue.

George Birb has rented the offices over the pharmacy of R. J. Shaw on East Front street and will open his law offices there on the first of the year.

In publishing the list of members of the Saturday Evening Euchre club, recently organized the Daily Press inadvertently omitted the name of Harry Salkeld.

George Taylor, of Dunellen, has purchased the house of Fred W. Hargrave, on Coddington avenue, and will take possession about April 1st. Mr. Hargrave intends to erect another house.

Edward C. Perkins, of this city, will deliver a lecture on "The Man with the Iron Mask" at the Casino on the afternoon of Monday, December 14th. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club.

George W. Phillips, a former resident here on West Fourth street, about sixteen years ago, and now representative of the National Cash Registering Company, of Dayton, O., is spending a few days in town, a guest at Hotel Grenada.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The case of Morgan against Pound has been settled out of court.

—Holiday goods in endless variety at Harper's, 411 Park avenue.

—The catch-basin at the corner of East Second street and Watchung avenue, emits a very disagreeable odor at times.

—One medical case was admitted to the hospital this morning for treatment. There are at present six patients at that institution.

—Justice Newcorn has issued an execution in the case of Ivins & Co. against Arthur, and a summons in the case of Fillmore against Hallenbeck, returnable December 17th.

—Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will meet tonight and work the second rank on one candidate. The officers will be nominated and the third rank initiatory team will practice some new work.

—The case of Morgan against Pound, in tort, in Justice Newcorn's court was settled out of court. The plaintiff was represented by Senator Charles A. Reed, while City Judge DeMeza was the attorney for the defendant.

Vaccination in Afghanistan.

Abdurrahaim Khan, ameer of Afghanistan, has introduced vaccination into his country by the advice of Miss Hamilton, his English physician. Two calf lymph stations have been established and a proclamation has been issued from Cabul calling on the people to bring in their children to be vaccinated before next spring. Chicago Inter Ocean.

SLIP AWAY TODAY.

Don't let the little ones know where you've gone. You'll find my store simply flooded with DOLLS for the girls, TOYS for the boys and BOOKS for the boys and girls.

Kid body and jointed dolls from 25c. up.
Fine dolls, full jointed, closing eyes, woven wig, from 75c. up.
Doll carriages from 25c. to $8.00
Iron trains from 25c. to $5.73.
Sleds from 25c. up.

Wagons, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Shoo-fly Rockers, Desks, Blackboards, Games, Wooden Boats that shoot, Tea Sets, Furniture, Trumpets, Tin Toys, Iron Toys, Rubber Balls, Etc., Etc.

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front street.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS IN ENDLESS VARIETY AT HARPER'S,
411 PARK AVENUE.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

M. Powers & Son. Superior quality of
LEHIGH COAL.
No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 in the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood
Yard and office 763 South ave. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station.

NOTICE!
The undersigned have this day formed a co-partnership under the style of Vanderbeek & Sattels for the transaction of a general business for the sale of Pianos and Organs, at No. 221 Park Avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.
A. VANDERBEEK,
JOSEPH SATTELS.
Dated Dec. 8, 1896. 12 9 3t

ELY'S CREAM BALM is a positive cure. Apply into the nostrils. It is quickly absorbed. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; samples 10c. by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York City.

GREATEST CHRISTMAS BARGAINS YET!

We are not exaggerating when we say we are now showing the largest and most attractive assortment of Christmas Goods this town has ever seen, and at Lower Prices. We can save you money and sell you first-class goods, too. Come right to EDSALL'S first. You will save time. We can mention only a few sample bargains.

1 lot hard wood children's desks, drop lid, 18-in wide, 24-in high, only 98c., worth $1.25.
1 lot slate top children's desks, 18-in wide, 24-in high, 49c.
1 lot hard wood children's rockers only 53c.
1 lot easel blackboards, 18x20-in, only 29c.
1 lot dolls' wire bedsteads and mattress only 21c.
1 lot children's upholstered swings only 47c.
1 lot children's A, B, C blackboards 17c.
1 lot lead soldiers, large size, 16c.
1 lot spring runner boy's sleds 49c.
1 lot mechanical toys, carpenter, machinist, etc., only 39c.
1 lot soldiers', firemen and sailors' uniforms only 35c.
1 lot buckboards $2.98.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS.

It is just impossible to give you an idea of the great values we can offer you in this line.

Our own importations of Bisque Figures, Bric-a-brac and French China, embracing the handsomest line of Cups and Saucers, Plates, Chocolate Pitchers, Fern Bowls, Trays, and novel pieces ever shown in this section, and the prices are fully 25 per cent lower than ever before.

On our first or main floor
you will find about everything you can think of in the Dry and Fancy Goods line, and every article has been purchased at the lowest price that money and skill in buying can produce.

Then our plan of selling
double the amount at one-half the usual profit makes our prices lower than the lowest.

In a word
just save yourself time, trouble and expense and come for your Holiday Goods direct to

EDSALL'S.

Hat Fashions Change.
It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.
G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.
CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

OVERCOATS.

No sane man, if not already supplied, will hesitate much longer to secure one. We have an immense stock to show you and to show you is next thing to selling you.

PRICES--$8 to $24.

All wool goods, well made, sleeve linings that will last a year without a break. Dressy Kerseys, hanssome Beavers, nobby Cheviots, and durable Meltons. All sizes 33 to 48. They are right all through, inside and out. The appearance, the style the fit and the finish you can see at a glance, but they're just as right inside, at the points you don't see but have to trust us for.

McGREGOR & COMPANY,
850-852 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

WANT TO BE CANADIANS.

BOROUGH CITIZENS WHO ARE NOT IN FAVOR OF ANNEXATION.

Mayor Hegeman Says That He Cannot See Where the Borough Would Gain a Thing By Becoming a Part of the City.

To the casual observer there might seem to be many reasons why Plainfield and North Plainfield should be one, and the geographical lines dividing the two counties be erased, but there are those who have considered the matter below the surface and there views on the subject have no uncertain sound. Of late there has been said a great deal on the question of annexation and it looks as though it might be introduced in the Legislature this winter.

In view of this fact a representative of The Daily Press has sought the opinions of a few persons regarding the subject.

Among the first interviewed was Borough Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., whose broad and liberal-minded views are well known. Mr. Hegeman did not, nor does he hesitate to say what he thinks about annexation. His main point is "would it be a benefit to the borough? If so, to what extent?" A portion of his views are as follows:—"In proportion, the borough is progressing more rapidly than Plainfield and unless there are some better arguments advanced in favor of annexation, I am unalterably opposed to the scheme and the best, and really only potent reason advanced is that the children of the borough would have the advantages of the Plainfield schools without an additional expense, but as our own school has been advanced to a high standard, I see no reason why such an argument would stand.

"Another reason has been that we would have the benefit of the free library without an additional expense. I think, however, that those desiring books are willing to pay the small fee asked. At present we raise from $3,000 to $4,000 a year for our streets, and if we were annexed it is a question in my mind as to whether our streets would be as good as they are now. In such an event the borough would be divided into two wards at the most, with two representatives in the Council, and I think that we would fare worse by far than we do now, for we would have to take what the majority were willing to give, while our representatives in the minority could do but little. We seem to be better off than the city, for our indebtedness is very small, while in the city it is large and growing more so all the time. I do not want to appear as being antagonistic to the city, for I speak as a citizen and not as an office-holder. If there are any great advantages to be gained by annexation I have yet to hear of them. On the other hand I think that it would be a detriment to the borough in many ways. We would have to assume our portion of the city's debt, and while they would be obliged to be reciprocal and give us sewers, the increase would fall more heavily on the borough than on the city."

Another interested person interviewed was H. N. Spencer, of Somerset street. Mr. Spencer is strongly opposed to annexation and is not at all backward in saying so. He says that the borough can get along without the city and its indebtedness, and he can see no reason why the borough should be annexed. He thinks that the city should leave the borough alone.

Thomas Dowd, another active borough citizen, was asked for his opinion, and he was outspoken in his views. He cannot see why the borough should be annexed, only to help Plainfield pay her indebtedness which is increasing rapidly. He thinks that the city is not as desirable as a residence place and that the borough's advantages are far greater than those in the city. He spoke of the many people who located in the borough in preference to the city, owing to the latter's indebtedness which drove them away. In every respect he considered the borough far superior to the city.

John H. French, of West Front street, said that the reason he was going to move in the borough was that Plainfield's debt was growing too fast and he thinks she will run the limit before long.

A Tammany Politician Converted.

This evening and all day tomorrow Staff-Capt. Geo. Brown, who is in charge of the Northern New Jersey district, and Lawyer M. J. H. Ferris, formerly a Tammany politician, will lead the meetings at the Salvation Army hall.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

ROUTED BY TURKEYS.

TRAMP HAS A ROUGH EXPERIENCE AT A PISCATAWAY FARM.

Entered the Turkey Yard and Attempted to Make Off With a Gobbler, When He Was Attacked by 22 of Them.

Joseph Huckins, who owns a poultry farm out in Piscatawaytown, tells with much gusto a story of how a tramp was routed by turkeys on his farm yesterday. Huckins says that in all his experience in raising poultry he has never lost a turkey.

Yesterday afternoon he was sitting at a window in his house, when his son called his attention to a tramp crossing the field toward the turkey inclosure. The stranger went inside and immediately the gobblers became angry and mustered around him. He disregarded the signs of war, and stooping down grabbed the legs of the biggest and fattest of the lot. There was a flutter on the part of the captured gobbler, and the next second no tramp was to be seen. The other twenty-two gobblers had attacked him. Some of them grabbed him by the legs, and others flew upon his back and attacked his neck and face.

The tramp was game. He bolted for the gate, but clung to the captured bird. He had the full number of gobblers as company in his retreat, and they renewed their attack when they reached the open. One of them flew upon his shoulders and tore and scratched with his claws, while he pecked with his beak. The tramp dropped the captured bird and thus freed of his burden made better time, but the turkeys were mad and followed him.

The tramp was so frightened that he headed for the house and went past it, with the angry birds in pursuit. Some of them followed him down the road. Mr. Huckins declared solemnly that he had to wait a couple of hours before he dared to drive the birds back into their inclosure.

"JIMMY" GOES DOWN AGAIN.

A Recalcitrant Westfielder Threatens His Brother-in-Law's Life.

"Jimmy" Downs is at the county jail again. He is there to await the action of the next grand jury, and its pleasure will determine whether he is to be a guest of Warden Blore.

Downs laid in the Westfield parrot-cage of a lock-up nearly all day, and all was taken to Elizabeth yesterday morning. He was arrested by Constable Marsh on a warrant sworn out by James Harrison, charging him with threatening his life. Downs and Harrison are brothers-in-law—or brothers-at-law—and the former was released from jail only about ten days ago, having served a 60 day term for brutally beating his sister, Mrs. Harrison.

According to Jimmy, the story runs: "Me? Oh, me didn't do nuffin.' I was loaded; dat is, I had me usual jag on, an' Jimmy—that's me sister's man—me an', say! d'ye see dese optics? Me brudder-in-law, him wat's married to me sister, he did it." And he displayed eyes that were closed for repairs. "Well, yesterday we came togeder, an' I say, 'Now, Jim, you licked me when I was full; jes come and try it on me when I'm sober.' But he wouldn't do it. An' dat's all, yer honor." And Jimmy's case rested. Justice L. E. Hart held him to appear before the grand jury, and being unable to secure bail, Jimmy is living at the expense of the country Relief Corps Elect.

The members of the Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10, Auxillary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., met last evening and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. Charles Stephens; senior vice, Mrs. Radin; junior vice, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Walker; chaplain, Mrs. Corwin; conductor, Mrs. Bowman; delegates to department convention, Mrs. DoNise, Miss Nash; alternates, Mrs. Bolsterli and Mrs. Bowman.

Wouldn't Heed Orders, and Lost a Foot.

After repeated warnings to keep off the railroad tracks, Peter Benford, aged thirteen years, of Paradise alley, lost a foot yesterday afternoon while attempting to jump on drill engine No. 30 in front of the freight house. He was picked up by a few persons in the vicinity who saw the affair, and sent to the hospital in the ambulance. It was found necessary to remove the foot, owing to its mangled condition.

At the Y. M. C. A.

Luther D. Wishard will speak and Wm. N. Runyon will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4:15. A large mixed chorus will lead in singing gospel hymns.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

GOING TO BE GOOD BOYS

SEVEN RASH YOUNGSTERS LINED UP IN FRONT OF THE CADI.

They Had Thrown Stones at a Well-Known Citizen, Besides Participating in Other Bad Conduct—Sentence Suspended.

Seven disconsolate, sorrowful-looking little boys marched up to the office of City Judge DeMeza this morning with visions of striped uniforms, prison cells and other unpleasant things floating before their eyes. A score of other boys followed them sympathetically listening to their oft-told tale of woe. Horrible to relate, they had been arrested and were now coming up for trial.

These youthful offenders were arrested several days ago for using profane language and throwing stones at Col. Detreich. They were badly frightened at the result of their fun, but fairly owned up that they had been throwing stones, although not at the Colonel. One of the lads was very much worked up over the fact and begged the Judge not to send him to jail but to fine him, as then he could pay the fine and his parents wouldn't know. The tears came to the poor lad's eyes as he begged for clemency.

They were only playing, said the boys, and had no intention of throwing stones at anybody. They hadn't been using profane language either, they explained, not that day at least.

The Judge viewed them very sternly when they appeared before him this morning under the careful chaperonage of Chief Grant. He had held a consultation with the parents of several of the boys and with Col. Detreich before hand, and as the latter did not want to push the charge too hard, the Judge decided to suspend sentence, warning the lads that any complaint in the future for the same thing would go hard with them. They all promised never to do so any more and departed.

THE FORESTERS' NEW OFFICERS.

Members Who Will Lead in Lodge Work For a Year.

At a regular convention of Court Plainfield, No. 1,144, Independent Order of Foresters, held last evening the following officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing year:—Court Deputy High Chief Ranger, Joseph Bird; Past Chief Ranger, John Bird; Chief Ranger, John Allen; Vice Chief Ranger, Geo. Weber; Recording Secretary, James Patterson; Chaplain, W. H. Toms; Senior Woodward, Andrew Hefferan; Junior Woodward, Wm. Winckler; Senior Beadle, A. Jones; Trustees, H. H. Lowrie; A. J. Jennings; Finance Committee, John Bird, F. Whitely; Representatives to High Court, John Bird, John F. Casey, James McClinton, W. Howard Toms; Physician, H. H. Lowrie, M. D.

The above officers will be installed by High Chief Ranger Febrey, of Elizabeth, and staff on Friday evening, January 8th. Previous to the election of officers three candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order.

Surprised.

Miss Grace Webster, of East Third street, was pleasantly surprised last night by a number of her young friends. The usual games, together with vocal and instrumental music, was enjoyed. The young hostess received many nice presents from her friends and the event will be a memorable one to all.

To Address an Endeavor Rally.

Dr. Harsha, of New York City, will address the Endeavorers of Plainfield and vicinty, at the C. E rally to take place Thursday evening, December 17, in the first Presbyterian church. Members of the '96 chorus choir are requested to be on hand promptly at 7:45 to open the meeting with a fifteen minute service of song.

Trolley Cars Collide.

Car No. 11 of the street railway ran into car No. 6, at the corner of North and Watchung avenues, last evening. The only damage resulted to the fender. The cause of the accident is placed on the brake which refused to work.

A Good Likeness.

A fine three quarters life-size portrait of Professor Tyler, father of Col. M. W. Tyler, is on exhibition at the store of Philip Swain on East Front street. It is a splended piece of work.

Change in Business Location.

Several changes in business locations are soon to take place in the city. Schleif, the West Fourth street baker, will take possession of the store on Park avenue, now occupied by B. R. Force, the shoe dealer, and the latter will take the floor on Front street, now occupied by John Berkaw, the shoe dealer, who is at present conducting an assignment sale.

—At the Park Club this evening music will be furnished for those who wish to dance.

LIBRARY OF HUMANITY

THE FEATURE OF THE SOCIABLE IN VINCENT CHAPEL.

It Was Something New and Found Favor With the Many Friends of the Ladies Aid Society—The Books.

Books there were on every side and the rather novel kind of library proved very attractive to the visitors. It was the occasion of the "library" sociable of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church, held in Vincent chapel last evening and a delightful affair it proved to be. It was different from the general run of church sociables and the large number present appreciated the fact and enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

No one except the committee in charge knew exactly what the sociable was to be and the mystery that shrouded it made it all the more attractive. There were no shelves of books to greet the guests as they arrived but many of the young people wore numbers fastened to the front of their coats or waists whichever it happened to be.

Conversation was the first part of the sociable and then came the programme. Everybody looked rather expectantly at the parlor in the rear, the doors to which were closed but the entertainers appeared on the platform in the front of the room. First came a recitation charmingly given by Miss Rita Pond. A well rendered piano solo by Miss Sadie Howell followed. "The Baron's Last Banquet," was the title of a very exciting selection which was vividly recited by Miss Grace E. Overton. The piece was a thrilling one and Miss Overton's rendition of it was most excellent. As an encore she gave a cute little selection, entitled "In the Usual Way." The programme ended with two piano solos rendered by Miss May Whitney in a very pleasing manner. George R. Cornwell acted as master of ceremonies and announced the different numbers of the programme.

He next invited the guests to the library in the rear to see the wonderful collection of books provided for the occasion. Slips of paper were distributed and the guests were instructed to guess the titles of the books represented, for there in the parlors were to be found the young people with the numbers each fixed to represent some book.

This was the library and then followed lots of excitement and fun in the guessing of the books. Some were easy and others were hard to guess and the visitors circulated among this wonderful collection and puzzled over the strange combinations to be seen. There were seventy "books" in all and some of the representations were very bright.

Miss Lizzie W. Stafford kept steadily at work darning a stocking and was easily recognizable as "Never Too Late to Mend." Miss Madeline Day, as "White Apron," waved one of those articles at all who approached. With two flags waving over his head, the sticks of which were stuck down the back of his neck, Elmer Cutting was the representation of "Under Two Flags."

"Free Coinage" was what many thought that Roland Horne and Walter McNaughton represented as they tossed silver half dollars at each other most of the evening, but "Silver Pitchers" was what they were catalogued. Miss Stackhouse promenaded about the room with a sofa pillow under each arm as the "Pillars of the House." Robert Davis embraced an immense earthen bowl most of the evening and was catalogued as "Rob of the Bowl." Arthur Peck, Donald McGee and Robert Meeker, all in cadet uniform, were "The Soldiers Three." "The Old-Fashioned Girl" was Miss Lucie Palmer Davis, clad in a very old-fashioned gown. Miss Bertha Jenkins wore a circle of a dozen buttons on the front of her gown and represented "A Round Dozen."

Everett J. Peck made the hit of the evening as "Peck's Bad Boy." He lined up with the rest with his collar turned up, his derby with the top knocked in placed jauntily on one side of his head and sundry other little details arranged to suit. Herbert Moore and Garfield Pike strolled around together playing Jew harps and carrying a sign of "magazine." "Harper's Magazine" was the book they represented. Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Dunavan made and excellent representation of "My Wife and I." Forester Hartpence lugged a barrel and a mallet about with him and was catalogued as "Cooper's Works." Miss Francis Weir, clad in Highland costume and carrying a pot of flowers, was Ian Maclaren's famous work, "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Her sister, Miss Helen Weir, carried two dolls with her and they were called "Helen's

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.

WIDOW TAKES UP SUIT

MRS. ANN KELLY WANTS $200 DAMAGES FROM MRS. TOBIN.

Claim is Based on an Unlawful Ejectment From a House and the Subsequent Death of Husband From Exposure

Mrs. Jane L. Tobin and Mrs. Ann Kelly will again appear in one of the local courts to settle their differences. The story of their trouble has already been told in the Press, of how Mrs. Kelly was put out of the house she rented by her landlady on account of alleged disorderly conduct. Suit, it will be remembered, was brought by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly but the case was brought to a sudden ending by the death of the husband.

Now Mrs. Kelly has determined to return to the matter again and fight it out. But this time she not only accuses Mrs. Tobin and Peter Collins, whom she keeps house for, of turning her out of the house without due warning but claims that the death of her husband was caused by the exposure when driven out of the house and into the street. She is suing for $200, the highest amount that can be sued for in a Justice's court. The case was stated by Mrs. Kelly's lawyer, Harry C. Runyon in Justice Newcorn's court and the case will come up for trial on December 15. Mrs. Tobin is represented in the matter by S. S. Swackhamer.

DINNER TO THE MAYOR.

To Be a Fitting End to Mr. Gilbert's Service to the City.

A meeting of the Republican leaders was held last evening at the home of Col. Tyler, of West Seventh street, and the matter of a complimentary dinner to be tendered to Mayor Gilbert on his retirement from the office, discussed. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion that such an affair would be a fitting end to Mr. Gilbert's administration as the city's chief executive. A general committee was formed to arrange the details and another meeting will be held Tuesday evening, when something definite will doubtless be done in relation to the matter. It is proposed to hold the dinner on Dec. 29th at the Union County Country Club.

At the Plainfield High School.

There was a meeting of the decoration committee of the senior class yesterday afternoon when the work of decorating Assembly hall was p'anned out. The decorating will be done with flags, bunting and evergreens. The regular meeting of the Kappa Delta Phi was held yesterday afternoon in the school building. The programme consisted of a "hat talk." The speakers and their subjects were as follows: Henry W. Brower '98, The Advantages of Instruction in Singing in the High School; Henry Eggerding '96, The Possibilities of the Process by which Coal is Generated Directly into Electricity; Arthur Lederer '98, Should Male Saffrage be Universal; Arthur McVoy '00, The Need of a Debating Society in the High School; Charles Noble '97, Women's Suffrage; Stanley Peck '99; The Five-thirty Mail; Sydney R. Titsworth '97, Electricity vs. Steam; Louis Squires '97, Steam. Three applications for membership were received and will be acted next week. Other matters of interest to the society were talked over.

Funeral of a Respected Woman.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. H. F. F. Schnellendruessler were held from the house on Milton place, yesterday afternoon. Prayer was offered by Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church, and the sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Todd, of Dunellen. The house was filled with friends and neighbors, who had learned to love and esteem the departed one. There were several floral pieces given by friends. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Married in New York.

There took place at noon on Thursday of this week, in Grace church, Chantry, New York, a quiet wedding, when Roger D. Lawrence, of Stelle avenue, this city, was united in marriage to Miss Lillian Burd, daughter of T. W. Burd, of Chantry. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present.

Odd Ladies Preparing.

Mrs. S. E. Mitchell, of Worcester, Mass., and all the grand officers of the Odd Ladies interested in the forming of the new lodge of that order, Queen Esther Lodge, meet at Red Men's Hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock to make preparations for the instituting of the lodge on Tuesday evening.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

BLOCKING THE WALK

COMMISSIONER MEEKER INTENDS TO HAVE AMPLE PASSAGE ENOUGH.

Complains of One Merchant This Morning and the Latter Appears in City Court and Agrees Not to Block the Sidewalk.

Street Commissioner Meeker is on the warpath again. His raids are on the side of law and order, however, so its a good thing for the city. It is not the ashmen or the stone carters that are now encountering that hustling city official, but the merchants about town. Not all of them, of course, but the ones that are now obstructing the sidewalks with their goods. Many have complained about the way in which the sidewalk in the business section of the town are narrowed by some of the local dealers who pile the goods on the place designed for the pedestrians. Now that the holiday season has come and the increased crowd of shoppers wander from store to store every inch of space is needed to accomodate them. Many of the sidewalks are too small already and the inroads of the merchants has made locomotion difficult.

Street Commissioner Meeker started this morning on his raid and is determined to give the pedestrians all that belongs to them and see that the city ordinance in regard to the matter is fully obeyed. He began this morning on West Front street. Ignatz Boehm was his first victim. Mr. Boehm, it is alleged, has been encroaching on the sidewalk by exhibiting little chairs, doll's baby carriages and the like along the edge of the sidewalk. He has also, it is alleged, left large packing crates along the curb and unpacked them there. Mr. Meeker appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning and swore out the warrant.

Mr. Boehm appeared before the Judge later in the morning and pleaded guilty. As soon as he understood the matter he willingly agreed to remove the goods at once and so the Judge suspended sentence.

A YOUNG CLERK'S DISGRACE.

Said to Live in Dunellen and Have Been Robbing Employers.

A well-dressed young man who was hurrying to the Liberty street ferry last evening was arrested and taken to the Oak Street Police station, says the New York Times, this morning. He carried a satchel on which was the name of J. W. Johnson, Dunellen, N. J. He affected surprise and indignation at his arrest until confronted at the station house by Louis H. Hobby, Superintendent of the drug firm of Schieffin & Co., of 170 William street, who charges him with theft. The bag contained various drugs. He broke down and confessed to robbing the firm. He said that he was twenty-one years old, and had been married six months. His wife was ill, and his salary was not enough, he said, to meet expenses. As he was led to a cell he said to the Sergeant: "I hope you'll find me dead in the morning." The Sergeant then detailed a policeman to watch the cell. Johnson's pilferings from the firm were estimated to amount to $200.

WATER NOW FROM WELLS.

Forty-six Have Been Driven in Swampy Lands to Supply Elizabeth.

The Elizabeth Water Company yesterday formally accepted from the contractors its new plant at the Hummocks, in Union Township, which will cost $200,000. There are forty-six driven wells ranging in depth from 250 to 280 feet. They are all in swamp land and about three milds from Elizabeth. These wells, by using pumps, can furnish a daily supply of 7,000,000 gallons of water, or about 3,000,000 gallons more than the present average daily supply. Prof. Leeds, of Stevens Institute, pronounces the water of excellent quality and safe for domestic and boiler use.

The contract was made Jan. 15, 1896. Pipes will be laid to Elizabeth, where the water will empty into the Irvington avenue reservoir.

No Permission to Use the Hydrant.

A Daily Press reporter interviewed a representative of the Plainfield Water Supply Company today regarding the action of a resident of Prideville in opening a hydrant in that locality recently, as exclusively published in this paper yesterday. The statement was made that the man had not been given permission to open the hydrant, nor does the company give such permits, and furthermore it is the intention of the company to find out who the guilty man is and make an example of him.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

FREE
BRIAR PIPE
FOR 25

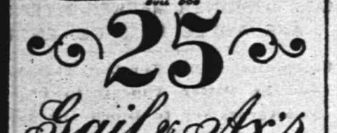
Gail & Ax's
NAVY
LONG CUT


COUPONS
OR GUMMED STICKERS

MODERATE MEASURE

Such the Proposed New Tariff Bill Is Characterized.

NOT THE M'KINLEY LAW OF 1890

Conditions Considerably Changed Since That Time, and Rates of Duty Justified Then Unnecessary Now---Specific and Not Advalorem Duties.

Washington, Dec. 12.—"A moderate measure" is the characterization which leading republicans of the house give to the new tariff bill to be framed this winter in anticipation of an extra session of congress. It is explained that what is desired is a bill which will provide a sufficient revenue to cover the deficit now existing and furnish proper protection to home industries. It is pointed out that conditions have considerably changed since what is known as the McKinley bill became a law, and that rates of duty that were justfied then are unnecessary at present. It is stated, for example, that the tin-plate industry, which was enormously stimulated by the duty of two cents a pound imposed in the McKinley law, is now so well established that a return to the former rate is unnecessary. The sugar schedule promises to cause more embarrassment than any other in the bill. Some of the republican members of the ways and means committee say that the three states which produce sugar, Louisiana, Texas and Nebraska, gave their vote last month to Mr. Bryan, and this, in connection with the position which the members of congress from Louisiana and Texas have always taken with respect to the tariff, will be, it is asserted, a strong influence against protecting this industry any further than the necessities of the case require. The agricultural schedule will probably be fixed at the former rate of duty, while the woolen schedule, it is said, will receive sufficient protection to satisfy the manufacturers. The cotton and steel and iron schedules are not likely to be changed. The present ad valorem system will be changed to a system of specific duties. The bill, it is said, will contain a provision that goods in bond will, when taken out, pay the rate of duty in force and not the lower rate at which they were originally brought to this country. An arrangements will be made whereby dates will be assigned to certain interests to be heard so that there may be some systematic method of giving the hearings without embarrassment.

BODIES WASHED ASHORE.

Now Stated That 281 Lives Were Lost in the Steamship Salier Disaster.

Vigo, Spain, Dec. 12.—Some bodies from the ill-fated steamer Salier have been washed ashore, including that of the captain. It was found that his watch had stopped at half past 5 o'clock, presumably on Tuesday morning, a very short time after the vessel went down. It is stated that the number of persons lost was 281.

214 Passengers Aboard.

Bremen, Dec. 12.—It is said here that the dispatch from Corunna to the Cologne Gazette stating that the loss of life occasioned by the foundering of the Salier may possibly be as high as 500 is entirely groundless. It is reaffirmed here that there were not more than 214 passengers on board, all in the steerage, a crew of 66 and a pilot. In heavy weather there is a fearful surf on the reef where the Salier struck, and if she had not foundered she would have been quickly pounded to pieces.

Denounced by Coxey.

Massilon, O., Dec. 12.—J. S. Coxey has issued an open letter to Senator Butler, denouncing the people's party, which, he claims, sold out to "An issue so insignificant as silver." "I decline," he says, "to chase rainbows of election frauds in Ohio, and hereby announce my resignation as a member of the national committee. I must leave at once the now disgraced people's party. This is done in deep sorrow and with the hope to join a party soon to which the hope of the republic must look for succor for financial and industrial ills."

No Arbitrary Restriction of Prices.

Pittsburg, Dec. 12.—The Bessemer Steel association (billet pool) of the United States adjourned last evening after a three days' session with a declaration that until market conditions are more favorable there will be no arbitrary restrictions placed on members regarding prices. All the differences were compromised, for the present at least, as a result of the session.

LENDING TO LONDON

Money In Abundant Supply in This Country.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT POSTPONED

Approach of Holidays One of the Causes. Waiting Until the New Year for a Revival---Rush of Orders Not Continued.

New York, Dec. 12.—Dun's weekly review of the state of trade for the week just ending will to-day say: Approach of holidays and doubt about the action of congress put off further improvement until the new year. While industries have gained in working force, they are waiting for commensurate gain in demand, and meanwhile are trying to clear away embarrassments which restrict them. Speculation has been halting and timid. There is no sober-minded fear of foreign difficulty. Money is in abundant supply, lending to London continues, and there is nothing to cause less activity in general business except that the rush of orders has not been continued. The volume of business shown by clearings has been for the week smaller than last year. Money is still accumulating, $1,750,000 having come in from the interior this week, and rates are falling, much mill paper having been placed at less than 4 per cent. The prospect of cheap money and too much of it, for some time to come, helps to cause that strong undertone which prevents decline in stocks at all proportioned to the shrinkage of earnings or the vigor of speculative raids.

Wheat and Cotton.

The wheat market has weakened with less gloomy news from other countries, and larger western receipts. Disappointment about the break in prices may help to increase receipts. Atlantic exports were small. Pacific dispatches show that exports continue very heavy. The market has declined 1¼ cents, and the decrease in the demand for flour with high rail rates has closed nearly all the Superior-Duluth and many of the other northwestern mills. Cotton has declined three-sixteenths, and in spite of all stories that the crop has been nearly marketed, continues to come forward steadily. With over 5,000,000 bales in sight already, there are estimates based on government reports that the yield is 8,300,000 bales or less, which would leave but 3,300,000 to come forward in eight months and three weeks. When the official report first came there was a rush of buyers; a few minutes turned the current, and a rapid decline followed.

The Iron Industry.

The iron industry is for the time being demoralized by uncertainty regarding the great combinations. The formal withdrawal of the Bellaire Co. broke the billet pool. The bar association scarcely contends to control prices, which are slightly lower this week for steel, and the rupture of the nail association has for the time left the base price for wire nails about $1.50 at Pittsburg, with extra charges on ordinary assortments averaging 12 cents, against $2.55 paid last month, with extras averaging 70 cents. Until the future influence of these combinations is better defined, narrow trading must be expected, and Bessemer pig and Gray forge are slightly lower.

Boots and Shoes.

The boot and shoe industry has reached the point where many of the cutters are no longer needed, though in finishing there is enough to do until the holidays on orders taken before the main advance. Buff and grain leather have dropped about a cent with scarcely any demand, though sole and union are unchanged, and the weakness in hides, encourages jobbers to believe prices of boots and shoes cannot be maintained. Minor metals are generally weaker. Aluminum has been reduced for ingots, ton lots, and rods, production having increased four fold.

Textiles.

Textile industries are working a larger force than in October, but there is not much evidence of larger demand, and some kinds of goods are accumulating. As raw cotton is lower, some yielding in prices of staples is expected, and buying is on that account more restricted, a few qualities of goods having slightly declined. Print cloths are weaker in tone with enormous stocks. Woolen goods are not in better demand, and there is a general indisposition to make commitments ahead. Sales of wool are this year largely between traders, as the mills find at present little encouragement to buy, and London sales are a shade weaker. Quotations are not changed, though more frequent concessions are reported.

"The Year's Naval Progress."

Washington, Dec. 12.—The fifteenth annual report of the office of naval intelligence, entitled "The Year's Naval Progress," which has been issued to the navy, is the most notable of the series. Foreign naval manoeuvres for 1895, with plans and illustrations, are treated by experts and there are illustrated chapters on ships and torpedo boats, ordnance and armor, small arms, voice-tubes, cellulose and boilers by leading naval writers.

Fourth-class Postmasters.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The following fourth-class postmasters have just been appointed: New York—M. A. McCall, Madrid. New Jersey, T. Hewitt, Sharptown; G. Coleman, Masonville. Pennsylvania—C. B. Culver, Opposition.

Recognized as Consuls.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The president has recognized Guiseppe Natali as consular agent of Italy at Pittsburg, Pa., and Manuel de Tornos, honorary vice-consul of Spain at Jersey City.

HUNTING BUFFALOES.

A Method That Lacked the Spice of Sport and Was Cruel.

Of all the deadly methods of buffalo slaughter, the "still hunt" was the deadliest, says a writer upon the extermination of the buffalo in America. It was destitute of nearly every element of the buoyant spice of danger that accompanied buffalo hunting on horseback, and to-day it is considered to have been mere butchery of the tamest and yet the most cruel kind. About it there was none of the true excitement of the chase. The chase on horseback furnished sport of a superior kind, keenly exhilarating, with an element of danger, in the excitement and eagerness of which the horse shared with the rider. To be successful in this chase required a good horse, a bold rider, a firm seat and perfect familiarity with weapons. Whenever the hunters discovered a herd of buffalo, they usually got to leeward of it and quietly rode forward in a body, or stretched out in a skirmish line. Usually the animals, with a confidence due more to their great numbers than anything else would allow a party to approach within from 260 to 400 yards of their flank, and then they would start off at a slow trot. The hunters then put spurs to their horses and dashed forward. The fatal spot on a buffalo is 12 to 18 inches in circumference, and is situaed immediately back of the foreleg, so that a man, even if a poor shot, keeping his nerve, was almost sure to bring down his game at close range, seldom, if ever, wasting a shot. The dangers, of course, were many, and on almost every roundup accidents occurred, a few of which every year were fatal.

But with the still hunt all was different. So long as the chase was the order of the day, it ordinarily required the united efforts of from 15 to 25 hunters to kill 1,000 buffaloes in a single season, but a single hunter with a long-range, breechloader, who knew how to make a "sneak" and "get a stand on a bunch," often succeeded in killing from 1,000 to 3,000 in a single season by his own unaided efforts. Capt. Jack Bridges, of Kansas, who was one of the first to begin the final slaughter of the southern herd, killed by contract 1,142 buffaloes in six weeks. By daylight the still hunter sallied forth on foot, carrying in his hand his huge Sharp's rifle, weighing from 16 to 19 pounds, with from 75 to 100 loaded cartridges in his two belts or bags at his side. From his belt hung his ripping knife, his skinning knife and a butcher's steel, upon which to sharpen them. The total weight was seldom less than 36 pounds and often more. Having selected a position within 100 to 250 yards of his game, although the distance was sometimes greater, the hunter got a comfortable rest for his huge rifle, and, all the time keeping his own presence thoroughly hidden from view, estimated the distance, carefully adjusted his sights, and deliberately began business. If the herd was moving, the animal in the lead was the first one shot. If the herd was at rest the oldest cow, which was usually the leader, was the first one killed. The noise would startle the buffaloes, and they would stare at the little cloud of white smoke and feel inclined to run, but seeing their leader hesitate, they would wait for her, but she would fall to the ground, and the other members of the herd would go on grazing. The policy of the hunter was not to fire too rapidly, but to attend closely to business, and shoot down any buffalo which attempted to make off. One shot per minute was a moderate rate to fire, but under pressure of circumstances two per minute could be discharged with deliberate precision.—St. Louis Republic.

Tattersall's New York Branch.

New York, Dec. 12.—It is said that proceedings have been taken in London to wind up Tattersall's of New York, which is a British corporation, the exact nature of which is not yet known here. William G. Ross, the manager here, will endeavor to have a receiver appointed for the company on Monday next.

Twenty Persons Killed.

Paris, Dec. 12.—Advices have reached here from Lahu, West Africa, to the effect that early in November a deserter who had been captured wilfully exploded a cargo of gunpowder on a French launch. Twenty persons were blown to atoms, but four other escaped The launch sank.

Biliousness
Is caused by torpid liver, which prevents digestion and permits food to ferment and putrify in the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache,
Hood's Pills
insomina, nervousness, and, if not relieved, bilious fever or blood poisoning. Hood's Pills stimulate the stomach, rouse the liver, cure headache, dizziness, constipation, etc. 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

it's a death tap at your life door. If you knew it you wouldn't neglect such a cough.
HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR
Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar is a simple remedy but it acts like magic in all cases of throat or bronchial trouble. Sold by druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

IS IT A SUSTAINER?

How much manual labor do you think you do in a day? A post-man averages about 353 foot-tons. An ordinary laborer 350 tons. A very hard day's work would be 400 tons. A clerk or bookkeeper may fall as low as from 15 to 20 tons. In Weston's recent walk to Albany, 150 miles, in 60 hours, we calculate his work was no less than 1005 foot-tons, and his food consisted entirely of

H-O

Oatmeal. As an ideal sustainer, H-O meets every demand.

Subscriptions Free to
Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly
Illustrated American (Weekly)
Truth (Weekly)
New England Magazine
Chatterbox (Monthly)
The American Kitchen Magazine
Home Magazine (Monthly)
of Binghamton, N. Y.
WITH COUPONS FROM THE
H.O.Co.'s Goods

J. C. Pope & Co.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW
Meat Market.
George Egel, Manager.
Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats. Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.
To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—6 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days
Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE!
Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage: an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan
Boarding Stables!
C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. 11 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,
Park Avenue Florist,
Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,
Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in
Cigars, Tobacco, etc.
"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty. 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!
Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, equalizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. TICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield
Ladies' hairdressing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

WINTER STYLES
Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.
Just Received from manufacturers
FORCE, 129 Park Avenue.
29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.
V. L. FRAZEE
151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S
VARIETY MARKET.
Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.
120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS
If you want a deep, clear, rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables
will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,
144 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett
has removed to
148 EAST FIFTH STREET.
Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,
FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.
Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's
STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.
R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
Residence, 33 Linden Ave.
Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf
Telephone 29b. Established 1873.

ADDIS & SON,
Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.
ACCIDENT TICKETS.
THE INTER-STATE
Casualty Company of New York
gives SIX MONTHS' insurance
$1.000 for $1.00,
to men or women
between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Department of the State of New York for the security of the insured.
For sale at office of
Honeyman's Private Tours,
181 North Ave. Plainfield, N. J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,
PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,
Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.
Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE
PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.
Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.
The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity. Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.
GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,
120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail
Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE
Sewer Connections.
DAVID BOWDEN,
General Contractor, 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.
28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES.
Mason and Builder
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly 6b

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
OAL.
747 WEST FRONT ST.
Branch office with
G. A. HALLOCK,
109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS
of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.
M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,
121 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,
187 North Avenue.
Practical Plumber.
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.
Telephone Call 138a.

L. L. Manning & Son,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,
Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.
STAGES
For Parties, etc., 518 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing,
Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for sewer connections.
210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,
EXCAVATORS.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.
Edw. P. Thorn,
RETAIL DEALER IN
Fish, Oysters, and Clams.
Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,
Dealer in
Coal & Wood.
Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue. Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.
Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S
Furniture and Freight
EXPRESS.
Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 221 Park ave.

Use Leggett's Demulcent Cream of Witch Hazel

for the skin.

25 cents a Jar.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this. The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical, stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe?

DOANE & EDSALL.

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Woolen Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 69c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale

IN BOTTLES, and

FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL.

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding, sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing. We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has this Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the

4th Tuesday in November

next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 9 9 1 year

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

Stables attached

I. E. Beerbower, Prop

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. RHEAUME, and N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—97 Watchung ave.

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.

Sold Everywhere. Mfg. Allen Pharmacy M'f'g Co.

Beautiful Dolls FREE.

The French Doll.

Five beautiful dolls, lithographed on cardboard, eight inches high. Can be cut out and put together by the children—no pasting. Each doll has two complete suits. American, French, Spanish, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, German, Swiss, Turkish and Indian costumes. All parts being interchangeable, many combinations can be made, affording endless amusement and instruction. A high-class series of dolls, patented and manufactured for us exclusively and not to be compared with the numerous cheap paper dolls on the market.

How To Get Them.

Cut from five outside wrappers of None Such Mince Meat the head of the girl holding pie. Send these with ten cents in silver—wrapped in paper—and your full name and address, and we will send the dolls postpaid. Or we will send them free for twenty heads of the girl. Send only the heads to avoid extra postage.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

OUR 49TH HOLIDAY GREETING

Almost half a century in business. We pride ourselves on the fact that we hold the trade of our customers year in and year out. Other stores may come and go, but we keep right on, always up-to-date in our goods. Never unreasonable in our prices. Our standing rule is, money refunded if goods are unsatisfactory.

A GOLD MINE OF XMAS GIFTS.

Watches.

Ladies' Solid Gold Watches from $10.

Ladies' Solid Gold 14k American movement from $17 up.

Gentlemen's Solid Gold 14k, Elgin or Waltham, $34 up.

Gentlemen's Solid Silver Hunting Cases, from $5.50.

Scissors and Shears

Our Own Make—Wiss product, too well known to require recommendation. We carry a full line of Scissors and Shears for home and shop use.

Spoons, Forks and Knives

Of the celebrated 1847 Rogers Bros.' brand. We are headquarters for New Jersey for these goods. There are many inferior brands of Rogers' goods in the market, but these are the best and we sell them at prices you would pay elsewhere for inferior goods.

$1.10 Tea Spoons per half dozen.
$2 Dinner Knives per half dozen.
$1 88 Dessert Knives per half dozen.
$2.20 Table Spoons per half dozen.
$1.25 Berry Spoons.
$1 Gravy Ladle.
$1.60 Pie Knives.
$1.88 Orange Spoons per half dozen.
.75 Cold Meat Forks.
$2.85 Salad Spoon and Fork.

Scarf Pins.

Of these we have a wide variety, from a simple design, at 90 cents.
Enameled Trefoil, $3.00.
Enameled Trefoil, set with diamond, $5.00 up.
Combination of diamond and pearls, $3.50 up.

Souvenirs of Silver Suitable for Holiday Gifts.

Book Marks, sterling silver, 25c.
Match Boxes, 100 patterns, from $1.25 up.
Umbrella Straps, 10c.
Key Chains, sterling silver, $1.15.
Key Rings, sterling silver, 35c.
Tie Clasps, sterling silver, 35c.
Hat Markers, sterling, 25c.
Suspenders (silver mountings), $2.50.
Embroidery Scissors, sterling handles, $1.00.
Cigar Cutters, sterling silver, 75c.
Coat Hangers, sterling silver, 50c.

An Opal Ring.

Selections from our stock will give pleasure to many at Xmas. Wouldn't you like to be one of the fortunate ones?

5 stone Opal, $3.25.
5-stone Diamond Hoop Ring, $30 up.
5-stone Opal and Pearl, $18 up.
5-stone Opal and Diamond, $16 up.
5-stone Opal Rings, $6 up.
Diamond Cluster, $20 up.
Opal and Diamond Cluster, $15 up.

Men's Rings.

Great variety of stone settings.
Gentleman's Solitaire, from $15 to $150.
Gentlemen's Intaglios from $2 up.
Carbuncles, genuine stones, $6 up.

The Holiday Season

Finds us better equipped than ever. A larger stock, wider variety of many rich, useful and appropriate gifts for holidays.

J. WISS & SONS,

Open Evenings. 755 Broad St, Open Evenings.

NEWARK, N. J.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From the Publishers 500 titles of

PAPER-COVERED NOVELS

Embracing such authors as Florence Warden, George Sand, Ouida, Charlotte M. Braeme, Alexander Dumas, The Duchess, G. Manville Fenn, Rider Haggard, Mrs. Forrester, Conan Doyle, Marie Correlli, Mrs. Alexander, etc., and will sell them at

5 AND 10 CENTS EACH,

Only one of a kind of a good many titles, so come at once if you want a good selection.

LINE & CO., 37 SOMERSET ST.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for cash spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all-wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all-wool overcoats, worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET.

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

Call at

J. F. MACDONALD'S

The Uptown Grocery.

And be convinced that it is our aim to supply the people with the best goods at the lowest prices and that we now have a full line of all the new goods necessary to make your order complete.

Musc Raisins,	3 lbs. for 25cts.		Figs,	10 cts.	per lb.
Table "	5 " " 50 "		English Wallnuts,	15 "	" "
Currants,	3 " " 25 "		Paper Shell Almonds,	25 "	" "
Cal. Prunes,	2 " " 25 "		Pecans,	18 "	" "
" Apricots,	2 " " 25 "		Filberts,	15 "	" "

A choice lot of apples by the barrel at an equally low price.

was encamped with 2,000 men. When the Spanish force appeared Maceo divided his men into two wings, his intention being to surround the Spanish column. He remained alone with his staff for a moment, watching the fighting, and exclaimed: "This goes well." Shortly afterwards he was hit by two bullets, as heretofore detailed in these dispatches, one striking him on the chin, breaking his jaw and passing out at the junction of neck and shoulder, and the other striking him in the abdomen. Either wound would have caused death, and he expired in a short time. The rebels, who were fighting desperately against the Spanish attack, were panic stricken when they heard of the death of their chief. They fled in disorder, not making any attempt then to take Maceo's body with them.

No Trace of Maceo's Body.

The Spaniards then returned to Punta Brava with their dead and wounded. When the field was clear some of the rebels returned and carried off Maceo's body with them. Dr. Zertucha says that he does not know where the remains were buried, and thus far the search made by the Spaniards has proved fruitless. The deputations of correspondents and reporters of local newspaper who went to Moyo Colorado to search for the body are continuing their investigations, but nothing concerning the result of the inquiry is as yet known here. There is still a good deal of quiet rejoicing in Havana over Maceo's death, but as yet there have been no popular demonstrations such as have occurred in Spain. The press of Havana continues to treat of the subject in leading articles, all expressing satisfaction at the fact of the insurgent leader's death.

Rebel Leaders Wounded.

It is reported upon semi-official authority that Dr. Zertucha has stated that Miro, Alberto Nodarse, Gordon, an American; Ramon Ahumada, Alfredo Justiz and other leaders who were followers of Maceo were more or less severely wounded and that the leader Bermudez was very seriously wounded in the stomach in the fight with Gen. Inclan, which took place in the Gobernadora hills.

Asks the Pope's Aid.

London, Dec. 12.—The Daily News today publishes a dispatch from Rome saying that it is stated there that Spain has asked the pope to ascertain through the papal nuncios at the various capitals whether any of the powers would support her in the event of a war with the United States or interfere in Spain's behalf at the right moment.

Want Cuba Recognized.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 12.—A petition is in circulation here to be presented to the common council next Monday night asking congress to recognize the belligerency of Cuba. It is headed by Walter Leigh, ex-commissioner of the board of public words.

DEATH OF J. R. KENDRICK.

Expired Suddenly in a Cab While Being Driven to His Home in Boston.

Boston, Dec. 12.—J. R. Kendrick, vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railway, who expired suddenly yesterday afternoon while driving from the station in this city to his home in Newbury street, had been a sufferer for some time with pains in the left chest and it is believed by physicians that rheumatism of the heart caused his death. Mr. Kendrick came to the Old Colony in 1871, when Governor Stearns was called to the presidency of that road. He has been associated with railroading in New England since 1850, and during his long service with the Old Colony has had much to do with its remarkable development. He has been either general superintendent or general manager from 1871 to the time of the lease by the New York, New Haven & Hartford, when he was made third vice-president Left All to Miss Bissell.

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 12.—Robert Trumbull, who committed suicide by taking a large dose of strychnine while being taken to the county jail yesterday, wrote the following note and sent it to his lawyer just before his death: "In case of my demise I leave everything that I rightfully possess to Mildred Emma Bissell of Hamilton, Ont." Miss Bissell is the young woman who refused to keep company with Trumbull when the latter tried to shoot her. By his mother's death which occurred last week, as a result of the shock at her son's disgrace, Trumbull came into $10,000 worth of property.

Confesses to a Murder.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 12.—George Erb, aged 34, the stone mason who formerly lived at Mechanicsburg, this state, who called at police headquarters last evening and confessed his participation in a murder at Fort Smith, Ark., last March, saying that he and a woman named Ella Hicks gave Edward Nutter, a weighmaster, knock-out drops for the purpose of robbery, Nutter subsequently dying, will be held in jail here until his story is investigated. He said his conscience annoyed him.

Awful Mode of Suicide.

Erie, Pa., Dec. 12.—Miss Selma Kugle, 17 years old, a farmer's daughter living near Fair View, committed suicide yesterday morning by throwing herself in front of a rapidly moving Erie & Pittsburg railway train. Despondency over the loss of a position is believed to have been the cause of the girl's rash act.

Hanna in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—Mark A. Hanna, the republican national chairman, stopped over here on his way from Washington to Cleveland and spent last night as the guest of Frank Thomson, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

WEYLER LIONIZED

His Return to Havana the Occasion of a Grand Ovation.

FLOWERS STREWN IN HIS PATH

Addressed the Multitudes in Language That Would Indicate That the Suppression of the Insurrection Was Really an Accomplished Fact.

Havana, Dec. 12.—General Weyler arrived here at half past 5 o'clock last evening. He rode into the city on horseback, accompanied by two squadrons of cavalry. His coming had been made known to the public and large crowds gathered to welcome him. He was given a popular ovation from the time he reached the city limits until he reached the palace. At some places along his route girls strewed flowers in his pathway, and he was in other ways treated as a popular hero. Calle Obispo, Calle O'Reilly, and other streets in the vicinity of the palace, and the Plaza de Armas were jammed with people who enthusiastically cheered the captain-general as he rode along. When he arrived near the palace the enthusiastic crowd surrounded him, despite the military, and he was compelled to stop his horse in order not to ride down his admirers, who greeted him with all manner of loyal cries. A passageway was finally opened and Gen. Weyler proceeded to the palace. Shortly after he had entered the building he appeared upon a balcony, and was greeted with the most tumultuous cheering. The scene was reminiscent of the time when Martinez Campos arrived in Havana years ago after pacifying the island. When Gen. Weyler called upon his audience to cheer for the king, Spain and the army, a roar went up that could be heard across the bay to Morro castle and the Fortress of Cabanas. When silence had been restored Gen. Weyler made an address, from the tenor of which it would be supposed that the suppression of the rebellion was an accomplished fact. He said, among other things, that everything that had been done had been accomplished by the army, which had been entrusted with the pacification of the island and the maintenance of Spain's sovereignty. He was continually interrupted by cheering, which was continued after he had left the balcony. Later he gave a reception that was attended by the members of the municipal corporation, delegations from various societies and prominent residents of the city. All congratulated him upon the success that had attended the Spanish arms and complimented him upon the effectiveness of his campaign in Pinar del Rio. The city presents a most animated aspect, reflecting the joy felt by the Spaniards because of Maceo's death and General Weyler's claim of triumph over the insurgents in the western province. Cass Blanco, the little village under the walls of the Cabana fortress, and Regla, on the southern side of the bay, held little demonstrations of their own in honor of the supposed victorious return of General Weyler.

HOPE ALMOST ABANDONED.

Cubans Now Believe That the Story of Maceo's Death Is True.

Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—Although Cuban circles in this city were somewhat encouraged in the belief that the report of Maceo's death was untrue through the dispatches from Dallas, Tex., and New York yesterday afternoon, both sources claiming to have received positive information that the insurgent general was alive and well and promising sensational news in the interest of Cubans in a few days, news came to hand to-day from private sources which has again greatly depressed them. The information acknowledged that no further doubt of Maceo's death can exist. It comes directly from the Cuban agents on the island and is intended to finish the uncertainty in the minds of the Cubans resident here. It was characterized as being absolutely authentic and as making an end of any possibility that the accounts of the general's tragic end could be untrue.

DETAILS OF MACEO'S DEATH.

Shot While Alone with His Staff Watching the Progress of the Battle

Havana, Dec. 12.—Dr. Maximo Zertucha, formerly the physician of Antonio Maceo, the second in command of the insurgent forces, who, after the death of Maceo, surrendered to General Tort at San Felipe, has been interviewed, it is alleged, by a reporter of La Lucha, one of the leading newspapers of this city. Dr. Zertucha says that Maceo intended to cross the trocha on December 3, but was prevented by sickness from doing so. On the next day, however, it was announced that he would not march across the trocha with his men, but would go by water around the end of the trocha and meet an insurgent force on the Havana side of the line. Two boats were accordingly prepared, they being painted black in order to prevent their being seen and the oars were muffled so that they could not be heard while playing in the rowlocks. At night Maceo and twenty-six men embarked in the boats and passed in front of the town of Mariel, at the northern extremity of the western trocha, without being seen by any of the Spanish sentries thereabouts. The rebel leader Miro and several other commanders of rebel bands accompanied Maceo. The short voyage was accomplished without the slightest mishap and the rebel party landed at the point selected without being discovered.

How Maceo Was Killed.

When, on December 4, the engagement took place between the rebels and Major Cirujeda's command, Maceo

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m.

105 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 12, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair Tonight; Increasing Cloudiness Sunday; Continued Warm.

At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 49 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

Dec. 12--Mary Lowe Dickenson to address King's Daughters in Crescent Avenue church, 4:30 p. m.

Major Z. K. Pangborn, formerly editor of the Jersey City Journal, and well-known to many Plainfielders, is being talked of as a Mayoralty candidate by the Republicans of Jersey City.

For six years Mayor Gilbert has served the city well and faithfully as its chief executive, and the testimonial dinner to be tendered him at the close of his official life in the city is eminently proper.

The proposition that the incoming Legislature appropriate $25,000 to pay the expenses of the National Guard of New Jersey as an escort of Garret A. Hobart to the inaugural ceremonies in Washington, is not in the line of economy.

There is nothing ambigious in the views of several of North Plainfield's prominent citizens on the question of borough and city consolidation, which are published in the news columns of today's Press. Though such a consummation may come at sometime, it is evident that there is a very strong spirit against it at present. From time to time The Press will print interviews with other prominent Plainfielders, both in city and borough, anent this same subject.

A bill is also in prospect, but one which will probably not become a law, providing for the payment of all fees now collected by the county officers into the county treasury, and for these officers to be paid a fair salary for their services. The office of Sheriff in first-class counties is estimated to be worth $25,000; that of County Clerk, $20,000; Surrogate, $15,000. In second class counties the office of Sheriff is worth $12,000; County Clerk, $8,000; Surrogate, $6,000. It is estimated that if all the fees were put into the county treasury and these officers paid a salary, from $40,000 to $50,000 would be saved to the taxpayers in first-class counties, and a proportionate sum in second class counties. It is apparent that these proposed reforms would be directly in the interest of taxpayers, because taxes go principally for municipal expenses.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Clothing given away on Saturday at Jaquett's. 2

—Bible classes will meet at the Y. M. C. A. as usual on Sunday at 9.15 a. m.

—The annual dinner of the Plainfield Yale Club will be held at the Casino on Thursday evening.

—Rev. James F. Riggs, D. D., will preach in Trinity Reformed church tomorrow morning and evening. Visitors are always welcome.

—The wife of Policeman Nick Meyers was so unfortunate Thursday as to lose $12 in the streets of Plainfield. The finder will be rewarded by leaving it at The Press office.

—There was no fire in the Dunellen street cars, yesterday, although they were thoroughly equipped with stoves. One of the conductors advanced the information that the thermometer must be down to or below freezing point before heat would be turned on again.

—Edward Love, of North and Watchung avenues, has just started a new system which will be found of great benefit to the people of Plainfield and nearby territory. On receipt of a postal card he will send by mail a choice assortment of his his cheap and beautiful wall papers at prices that will suit the times.

A Good Investment.

On receipt of ten cents, cash or stamps, a generous sample will be mailed of the most popular Catarrh and Hay Fever Cure (Ely's Cream Balm) sufficient to demonstrate its great merit. Full size 50c.

ELY BROTHERS,

56 Warren St., New York City

I suffered from Catarrh three years; it got so bad I could not work; I used two bottles of Ely's Cream Balm and am entirely well; I would not be without it.—A. C. Clarke, 341 Shawmut Ave., Boston.

LIBRARY OF HUMANITY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

Babies." "Our Mutual Friend" was a picture of Mr. Cornwell. Probably the most fun was had over the title of the book that Thomas McDonald represented. "Sentimental Tommy" it was called. There were many others of equal merit but space will not admit the description of all.

After everybody had had a chance to guess the names of the books, they were called to the front of the room and their name and title given by Mr. Cornwell. The refreshments were not of a literary character but were something rather new in that line. They consisted of doughnuts and coffee.

The committee under whose care this delightful entertainment was arranged consisted of Mrs. J. C. Peck, chairman; Mrs. Noah W. Pike, Mrs. Garret Q. Packer, Mrs. C. H. Rugg Mrs. George M. Rittenhouse, Mrs. J. H. McNaughton, Mrs. I. L. McVoy, Mrs. O. L. Jenkins. Mrs. Randolph Runyon and Miss Sharp.

IN MEMORIAM.

BY THEOPHILUS BOND.

John Y. Foster died Nov. 13th, 1896.

Not only underneath the red-cross shield
Do heroes lie,
And not alone upon the blood-stained field
Do patriots die;

For while we joy in peaceful victory won
For truth and right,
One who had l ng and faithful service done,
A stainless knight,

Who, at the front, not heeding toil or pain,
Did vigil keep,
Weary and broken with the strife, hath lain
Him down to sleep.

The Christian patriot we mourn today,
Who led our youth
By precept and example in the way
Of love and truth.

Whose feet unbidden, trod the pathway high
That leads to fame;
Who yet with soul and mind did magnify
His Master's name.

The lips of eloquence, the restless pen,
Are mute and still;
Yet do they teach of love to God, to men
Peace and good will.

Weep not for him, his feet have only passed
Beyond the night:
His ravished eyes have seen the King at last
In glory bright.

And we, who loved him so, can only say
"Farewell! farewell!
A prince and a great man is fallen this day
In Israel."

—N wark Advertiser.

THEATRICAL.

The youngest and most versatile comedian now before the public is Mr. Corse Payton, who, six years ago became a star at the head of his own attraction, which is known as the Corse Payton Comedy Company and is recognized by press and public to be the largest and finest equipped attraction now before the public. Mr. Payton carries his own special car (which is said to be the finest scenery car ever built) for the transportation of his magnificent scenery and properties, which are displayed at every performance. The above productions are given to the public for 10, 20 and 30 cents, and a cost of $10,000.00 to Mr. Payton. The above company will appear at Stillman Music Hall for one week, commencing Monday, Dec. 14, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

Is He Really Dead?

There is doubt in the minds of the public as to whether Maceo is really dead, or whether it is another of the many newspaper deaths to which he has been so often doomed. There is good ground for uncertainty on this point, but there is no doubt that the hard times have received their death blow and that better things are in store for us; and the store where you will find these better things is Collier's. Drop in and see his latest and best Christmas novelties.

Christmas at White's.

The Christmas trade is in full swing at White's. Every day the store is filled with satisfied buyers, and the general verdict is that the assortment is grand. Every counter, shelf and corner in the store is loaded down with bright, pretty articles, and the smallness of the price is surprisingly low. It will well pay you to spend an hour or two in this great progressive store.

Woman Lawyer Named as Counsel.

The Jersey City Teachers' Club has appointed Miss Mary Philbrook, the first woman lawyer in the State, as its counsel. Miss Philbrook will attend the meeting in Trenton next Tuesday, at which the proposed amendments to the teachers' pension bill will be discussed.

NOTABLE ACCOUNTANTS

SUCCESS OF A WELL-KNOWN PLAINFIELDER IN NEW YORK.

By Real Ability in His Line of Work, A. Stuart Patterson is Known as One of the Best of Accountants.

The banking and Law Journal for November contains a sketch of the firm Patterson & Corwin, expert accountants, New York, of whom Mr. Patterson resides and is well known in this city. The Journal says:

In past numbers it has been our pleasure to note the growth of the professional body of accountants in the city of New York and their successful efforts in raising the standard of their profession; in the present article we shall devote brief space to a description of the members of a single firm of accountants, prominently identified with the profession in the city, Messrs Patterson & Corwin, of 30 Broad street, New York, composed of A. Stuart Patterson and Hamilton S. Corwin.

Some thirty-five years ago Mr. Patterson began his business career at a very early age, in the counting room of a great dry goods jobbing house in New York, where he learned the rudiments of business and put in practice the theory of accounting which had been taught him in school. During those years, including several spent in St. Louis whence he was called as the representative of large vested interests, he was prominently identified with the accounting and financial departments of great manufacturing and commercial concerns, rising step by step until he became their chief executive officer. Some twelve years ago he returned to New York and entered upon the profession of accountancy to which he has since devoted his entire time and energies.

The business life of Mr. Corwin extends over a period of about 25 years. It began with a clerkship in a railroad office where was laid the foundation of his knowledge of detail. A few years later he became private secretary to the executive offiber of a large corporation then engaged in the concentration and consolidation of diversified manufacturing and transportation interests. In this connection he gained valuable experience in involved corporate affairs.

Later he became an auditor and for several years devoted his time to the investigation and verification of the accounts of the allied interests of the of the corporation above referred to, and to simplifying and perfecting the accounts and establishing uniformity based on the best methods of modern accounting.

Mr. Corwin is an expert statistical and analytical accountant, and his long experience in reorganization and verification of details, executive experience and broad contact with affairs, fit him for the practice of professional accountancy.

About six years ago, Mr. Patterson and Mr. Corwin, who had been long been acquainted, formed the existing firm which, from the beginning, has had a large and increasing clientage.

By virtue of their different trainings and experiences Mr. Patterson devotes his attention more particularly to commercial and financial cases, while Mr. Corwin has achieved great reputation in manufacturing and railroad accounting, especially the latter.

—You can be well when your blood is rich and nourishing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure and cures all blood diseases, restoring health and vigor.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache. 25c.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

(Notices under this head are published by The Daily Press free of charge, when supplied fresh each week by authority. Copy must be in hand by 10 a. m. Saturday to insure insertion, and should be supplied Friday when possible.)

East Third Street Mission—Captain George D. Morrison will lead.

St. Joseph's (R. C.) Church—Rev. William. H. Miller, pastor. Masses at 8:30 and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 2:30; evening devotions, 8.

St. Mary's (R. C.) Church—Rev. P. E. Smyth, pastor. Masses at 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 a. m.; evening devotions at 8. Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.

St. Stephen's Church, Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector—Holy Communion, 7:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 9:45 a. m.; morning prayer, litany and sermon, 11; evening prayer and sermon, 7:45. The free stages have been discontinued, as the trolley cars run past the church every twelve minutes.

Trinity Reformed Church—Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rev. J. F. Riggs, D. D., of New Brunswick, will preach. Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.

Grace Church, Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector—Early celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon at 10:30; Sunday-school at 3 p. m.; evening service at 7:45.

Park Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor — Sunday-school at 2:30 p. m. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the pastor. Morning theme, "Harvesting at last;" evening, "God vindicates the Right: as seen by His footprints in history."

Monroe Avenue M. E. Chapel, Rev. William C. O'Donnell, pastor—Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday-school at 3 p. m. Epworth League meeting at 7:15 p. m. Morning subject, "A Bundle of Letters;" evening, "Crowns and Jewels."

Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. H. J. Johnston, pastor—Preaching service, 10:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Morning subject, "The Effort of fa th:" evening, "Christ or Barabas?" a temperance sermon. Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m. Epworth League at 7 p. m.

W. C. T. U. Rooms—Prof. Phelps, of the boy's college, will conduct the 4 o'clock p. m. meeting, to which all are invited.

Filmore Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. W. D. Johnson, pastor.—Grand rally all day. At 3:30 o'clock Rev. Mr. Graves, of the A. M. E. church, will preach. In the evening at 8 o'clock Rev. S. M. Smith, of Roselle, will preach. The pastor will occupy the pulpit in the morning. Come and help us.

FIRST FLOOR.

Big Variety of

UMBRELLAS,

HANDKERCHIEFS

and

POCKETBOOKS

for Holiday Gifts.

VAN EMBURGH'S.

CORNER SROORE.

BABCOCK BUILDING.

SECOND FLOOR.

Crammed full of

Toys,

Dolls,

Games,

Books

and China.

Be on time

And secure the choicest of the many HOLIDAY GIFTS at PECK'S.

FOR SATURDAY ONLY.

Clothing Given Away!

Every one buying one of JAQUETT'S $16.00, $18.00 or $20.00 overcoats will get a present of a fashionable hat, or a child's suit; or $2.00 discount on any man's or young man's suit in the house; or every one buying a $10.00 or $15.00 overcoat will get a present of a child's separate pants, or a child's hat, or a fine necktie; or $1.00 discount on any man's, young man's, boys' or children's suit in the house. This is a bona fide offer made for one day only, to to reduce the stock and to introduce new goods.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of

DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY, NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS, BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, is

Now on Sale.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!

ONE SOLID WEEK

Commencing MONDAY, DECEMBER 14.

The Versatile Comedian,

CORSE PAYTON,

Supported by the Charming and Talented Actress,

MISS ETTA REED,

and a company of recognized players in a grand repertoire of comedies and dramas, handsomely mounted and staged by a carload of his own special scenery. Gorgeous Costumes, Magnificent Properties, Elaborate Scenery. Each Play a Grand Scenic Production. A complete change of singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of the company at each performance.

CUT THIS OUT.

15c. and this coupon will entitle any lady to the best reserved seat in Music Hall if presented at the Reserved Seat Sale before MONDAY NIGHT at 7 o'clock.

SPECIAL SOUVENIR MATINEES WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY.

Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cts. Matinee Prices, 10cts.; Reserved Seats, 20cts. Sale opens Saturday, Dec 12, at box office.

Bargains in Real Estate

For sale or to let.

MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 109 North avenue

Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.

BROKER.

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned, either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied

Special-- We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5

Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield..... { 7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m. / Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains. { 6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m. / Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2.00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Expressman John Huff is laid up suffering with the grip.

Miss Carrie Uhdal, of Netherwood and Miss Lillian Staats have been visiting friends in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Randolph, of this place, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Dalryruple at Quakertown, Hunterdon county.

The season closed yesterday for shooting woodcock, partridge and gray squirrel, but it is lawful to shoot rabbit and quail until Jan. 1st, inclusive.

Conductor Joe Ross and wife, of Jersey City, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Herbert, Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Ross may locate here in the Spring.

The closing exercises of the public schools for their holiday vacation will take place on December 24th, with musical and literary scenes and an address by the principal.

The railroad employes who largely help to make up the population, are waiting in happy anticipation of the arrival of the pay car which is due here on the 17th inst.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Milliken will be "at home" to their many friends, Thursday evening, December 17th, at the residence of Mrs. E. C. Milliken, of West Front street.

Chairman Gaskill of the Borough Building Committee, has passed judgment on the new town hall, and it will be formally accepted at the next regular meeting of the Board, on Monday night.

The fire department is agitating a blowout and supper at an early date. All that is needed to make the affair a success is the sanction of the Board of Commissioners, and of course a contribution from that source to buy turkeys and cranberry sauce.

Mrs. Mary Williams and Mrs. Lottie Taylor who have been visiting in Jacksonville, Florida, since Nov. 11th last, will sail for New York on the 16th instant. Late advices from them state that the weather there has been remarkable cold for this time of the year and snow has already fallen to a depth of several inches.

Yesterday was morning day with the Dunellen Fire Department. The members hauled their apparatus from the former headquarters in Alvah Gray's barn at Front street and Washington avenue to the new department headquarters in the town hall, during the afternoon and had it snugly tucked away. Many persons visited the department headquarters during the afternoon and evening, for the purpose of inspection.

Thursday, Dec. 17th, will be a red letter day in the history of the Dunellen Athletic Association. The society, which includes many of the best residents of the place, is desirous of equipping a first-class gymnasium and reading room for the young men—a most commendable object—so they intend to give an entertainment that will be both chaste and refined. Wm. N. Runyon, of Plainfield, will vocalize, and "Timothy Delano's Courtship" will be enacted by local talent.

SCOTCH PLAINS

David Bowden is hauling stone from Cook's crusher to Watchung avenue, North Plainfield.

W. H. Turton was initiated into the J. O. U. A. M.'s, last evening. He stood the ordeal with remarkable fortitude.

John H. Blimm will give a turkey dinner to his Plainfield and Scotch Plains friends on the evening of Thursday, December 17th.

A committee of the Young Men's League met Thursday evening and arranged the preliminary details for an entertainment on the 22d inst.

It is reported that some of the stone carters, on the mountain, quit work, yesterday, because their compensation was cut down from 30 to 25 cents a ton for cartage.

John R. Marsh, the Scotch Plains butcher, who was robbed some days ago, says he is not broke on account of the theft. He's only bent—on finding out who the robber is.

A party of gunners from here went to the mountain, yesterday, headed by the inevitable "Bob," and a peculiar incident is the fact that a grey squirrel was started up and ran directly into a hornet's nest, where it was stung to death.

"Timothy Delano's Courtship" will be rendered by local talent under the auspices of the Dunellen Athletic Association in Lincoln School Hall, Thursday evening, December 17th. This entertainment is to be given for a most worthy cause, that of equipping a gymnasium and reading room for the younger element, and the managers appeal to the public for liberal support.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Hans Stiglitz, of Washingtonville, has gone to Europe.

Mrs. Burdick, of South Plainfield, is much improved from her serious illness.

Miss Lena Smalley, of Somerset street, has recovered from her recent illness.

Miss Dumont, of West Seventh street, is the guest of New York friends.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, was in New York yesterday on business.

Aleck Milne, of Sycamore avenue, has gone to Brooklyn to spend a few days with friends.

Henry Eggerding, of Arlington avenue, is now attending the Students' Art League of New York.

Bert Townley has resigned his position with W. H. Rogers, the West Fifth street bicycle dealer.

Volney F. Green, of East Fifth street, has gone to Philadelphia to spend a few days with friends.

With the aid of crutches Driver Fred Breem, of the fire department, is able to get about the house.

Mrs. Charles Matthews and Peter B. Matthews, of Grove street, are visiting friends in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rockfellow, of Park avenue, went to Lakewood yesterday for a short sojourn.

Edward Randolph, who attends a college of pharmacy in Philadelphia, is spending a few days at his home in this city.

E. F. Morrell, formerly of this city and now a rising electrician of Somerville, visited his friends in town yesterday.

A sale is being held this afternoon at the residence of Rev. S. P. Simpson, Watchung avenue, by the ladies of the St. Stephens church.

Ralph Maxson, of Westerly, Rhode Island, stopped here yesterday on his way from Chicago and is visiting at the home of Mrs. W. B. Maxson, of West Fourth street.

L. C. Kline, of North Plainfield, who is employed in Jersey City, was in town this morning on his way to Three Bridges, to visit his wife's mother. He will be gone until Monday.

John F. DeMo, of 218 East Front street, has just returned from a visit among relatives at Milstone, Princeton and in other parts of New Jersey. Mr. DeMo says he is getting well along in years, so this winter he will not engage in any active work, but spend the time visiting among relatives.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits.' Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Looking For a Soprano.

Now that Mrs. Emily Banta-Brook has resigned her position as soprano soloist in the choir of the Crescent Avenue church, a new occupant for the position is being looked for. The new soprano will probably take her position on the first of the year, and until then, two friends of Frank J. Smith, the organist, have consented to fill the position. Tomorrow Miss Maud Williams, of Boston, will sing in the vacant place in the choir. On the other two Sundays of the month, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamlin, of New York, will fill the place.

A Journalist to Speak.

Joseph J. Lowden, city editor of the Elizabeth Journal, will give a talk on "The Humorous Side of Newspaper Work" at the literary meeting of the Epworth League, next Friday night, in Vincent chapel.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—Jaquett gives away clothing on Saturday. All come.

—L. E. Hart, of West Front street, has just completed a rear addition to his house.

—Men are now working day and night on the vaults at the new City National Bank building.

—F. M. Shroup, of Jackson avenue, has purchased a grey trotter at the Kellogg sale in New York.

—Tuesday evening, December 29th, Perseverancee Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will elect officers and enjoy a smoker.

—The new extension of Sycamore avenue has been graded and it presents a fine appearance from Front street.

—The firemen's fair will open next Monday evening in the Cycle Academy, and will continue until Saturday night.

—Plainfield surveyors were at work along West Front street, near Dunellen, yesterday, taking bearings for sidewalks and curbing.

—John Schorb of Coontown, shot at a large chicken hawk Thursday near his home and brought it to Frank Hedden yesterday to have it stuffed.

—Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, are arranging for a novel entertainment and dance to be given on the evening of Washington's Birthday.

—In spreading some crushed stone in front of Kenney's shoe store on West Front street, the cross walk has been entirely covered, thereby causing pedestrians much inconvenience.

—The Plainfield confectioners of 112 West Front street have a large stock of the best goods. Made daily on the premises and this is a good place to buy your candies for the holidays. It is Huylers of Plainfield.

—Those in charge of the watch-night service to be held in the Vincent chapel, New Year's eve, are arranging a very interesting programme. The Monroe Avenue chapel will at that time become officially a church.

—Owing to a misunderstanding, The Daily Press stated that Thomas Schaefer would give a phonographic entertainment at the home of Roger F. Murray, on Thursday evening. The entertainment will be given at some future time.

—The old ice house near the Wilson pond at Washingtonville has been torn down and a large gang of men is at work in the erection of a new and much larger one which is being built on the same location as the other. It will be finished in time for use this winter. It is being erected by the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company.

—It has been suggested and perhaps reasonably, too, that the street lamps could have been more equitably distributed among the East Front street residents. For instance, in front of the John Taylor Johnston property, but on the opposite side of the street, there are six incandescent lamps burning at night, and only two of them are in front of or near improved property. For nearly a mile beyond to the east not a lamp is to be seen.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A Man of Lofty Work.

Edward Hoover, alias "Smokestack Jack," is in town. "Ed." is a painter of church steeples, high stand pipes and other lofty objects. He has just completed the work of painting the New York Life building, at Washington. "He is a daring fellow," says the Washington Star, and relates how he once fell 74 feet without injuring himself sufficiently to abandon his job.

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

CASINO.

MONDAY, DEC. 14th 1896.

LECTURE BY

MR. EDWARD C. PERKINS,

of Plainfield, N. J., under the auspices of

THE MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Subject:—"The Man with the Iron Mask." Admission Twenty-five cents. Lecture will begin promptly at 3 o'clock. 2 t s

FIRE FIRE FIRE

GRAND

Firemen's Fair

will be held by

Plainfield Engine Co. No. 2.

Dancing evenings from 10 until 12.

Dec. 14th to 19th, Inclusive.

No contest books out. Phonographic entertainment every evening.

Admission - - 10 cents.

DR. D. M. STEARNS,

of Philadelphia, will lead his

BIBLE CLASS

Monday Evening, Dec 14,

At Y. M. C. A. HALL, at 7:30.

ALL MAKES OF

SEWING MACHINES

repaired. Singer Machine cash or instalments.

218 West Front Sreet.

12 8 1 w

H. DeMott,

Undertaker and Embalmer,

59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.

Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

MARRIED.

LAWRENCE—BURD—At noon, on Thursday, December 10th, 1896, in Grace Church Chapel, New York, by the Rev. Mr. Nicholls, Roger D. Lawrence to Lillian, daughter of T. W. Burd, Esq.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

FIFTY barrels sound hand picked apples, $1.25 a barrel delivered. Address H C. Randolph. City. 12 12eod

FOR SALE—A good business or family horse; cheap; at 144 Duer street.

WANTED—An unfurnished room with board in private family within five minutes walk of Front and Park avenue. Address A. C., care Press.

WILL person who took overcoat from first M. E. Church, last Friday night, by mistake, please return to church or care of sexton. Reward.

ROOM with board at 322 East Fifth street. 12 11 6

240 EAST NINTH STREET—Bright sunny rooms, adults only; references required. 12 11 6

WANTED—Capable salesmen, resident of Plainfield, with some capital to take charge of branch store for "Head-to-foot Outfits for Bicycle Riders." Salary and interest to right party. Address, stating reference and capital, Wholesale Clothing, 236 Market street, Newark N. J. 12 8 3eod

$7000 to loan on mortgage at 5 per cent. Clarence Murphy, Attorney. 12-10 tf.

FOR SALE—8 room house, all improvements, with lot; low price. Address by letter only, M. A. Korff, Watchung Ave., N. P. 12 10 6

FOR SALE—$100 bicycle 95 model. Inquire 826 First place. 12-10 6.

BOARD and rooms, 303 West Second street. 12 10 3.

LARGE well heated rooms to let, with supetior board near Crescent Avenue church. Crescent, this office. 12 10-3

TO LET—Several tenant houses at reasonable rent. Apply J. M. Hetfield. 12 7 6

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 12 7 tf

FOR SALE—A new Singer and a second-hand sewing machine. 626 LaGrande avenue. 12 4 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11-10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingconville. 916tf

Plainfield's Busiest Store.

We sell goods cheaper than all others.

CHRISTMAS.

We have gathered here a collection of all that is good and durable in holiday goods. Our modern merchandising way of having the most attractive store and selling at the most attractive prices creates new business for us every day. We have secured many special values that we have priced extra low to stimulate early buying. You can select what you want and we deliver it when wanted.

For the Little Ones.

We have the most tempting assortment of Toys, Dolls, Games and Books for the little ones. No trash, but good, substantial, strong toys that will last. They are displayed on the main floor—House furnishing department.

For the Girls.

We think it will be a year for giving good, useful and serviceable presents, and have arranged for it. There are books, handkerchiefs, toilet articles, writing paper, toilet cases, handkerchief and glove boxes. All sold at our popular low prices.

For the Boys.

Some say 'tis hard to find a suitable present for the boy, but not so here, we have looked out for them in the best way. There are games of all kinds, puzzles, boys books, knives, sleds, handkerchiefs, gloves, mittens, sweaters, ties, in fact every thing to make a boy happy as they desire to be.

For the Ladies.

Easiest matter in the world to select something for the ladies, there are so many pretty useful things that never go amiss and they always want, and the cost is small. There are thousands of pieces of bric-a-brac, fancy cups and saucers, pictures, fancy screens and picture easels, toilet articles of every description, handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, sterling silver jewelry, toilet plush cases, pocket books, &c.

For the Men.

Last but not least come the men, and whether he is young or old there is plenty to make him forget for a time, business troubles and worry. There are linen and silk handkerchiefs, and mufflers, umbrellas, blacking cases, gloves, ties, jewelry, shirts, collar and cuff boxes, hosiery &c.

Remember.

The store is yours to come to do as you please and to feel as free as if you were in your own home. You will find plenty of polite clerks to attend to your wants and wishes. You are sure to find a crowd but 'twill be a good natured one and we promise you the best of service.

Special Values.

While the holiday rush is on there is not a stock in the store that will be neglected. You can fill every want in good, desirable goods of every kind and at lower prices than all others. There are special values in dress goods, hosiery, underwear, jackets, capes, rugs, table linen, &c.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER

From 3c. To $2

On receipt of postal card a fine assortment of SAMPLES sent to ANY ADDRESS.

EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW

210 West Front Street.

An assortment of HOLIDAY GOODS on one of our centre tables marked 25c. is well worth examining before purchasing elsewhere. Also, STAPLE GOODS, such as Umbrellas, Underwear, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Extracts, Silk Mufflers, Silk Initial Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, Napkins, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Does Your Husband Want

Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?

If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON

NO. 107 PARK AVE.

JAS. R. BLAIR.

126 Park Avenue,

Has a fine assortment of Neckties, Mufflers, Umbrellas, Silk Handkerchiefs, Gloves, &c.,

Ready for the Holidays.

THE MISTRESS of the MASK

or A Woman Intervenes

By Robert Barr

Author of "The Face and The Mask."

Copyright 1896

"Well, these poor, forlorn creatures were once men—men who had gone down, and if the world is so hard on a man, with all his strength and resourcefulness, think—think what it is for a woman to be thrown into this inhuman human turmoil—a woman without friends — without money—flung among these relentless wolves—to live if she can—or—to die—if she can."

The girl's voice broke and she buried her face in her arms, which rested on the table.

Wentworth sprang to his feet and came round to where she sat.

"Jennie," he said, putting his hand on her shoulder.

The girl, without looking up, shook off the hand that touched her.

"Go back to your place!" she cried, in a smothered voice. "Leave me alone!"

"Jennie," persisted Wentworth.

The young woman rose from her chair and faced him, stepping back a pace.

"Don't you hear what I say? Go back and sit down. I came here to talk business, not to make a fool of myself. It's all your fault, and I hate you for it—you and your silly questions."

But the young man stood where he was, in spite of the dangerous sparkle that lit up his visitor's wet eyes. A frown gathered on his brow.

"Jennie," he said, slowly, "are you playing with me again?"

The swift anger that blazed up in her face, reddening her cheeks, dried the tears.

"How dare you say such a thing to me?" she cried, hotly. "Do you flatter yourself that because I came here to talk business, I have also some personal interest in you? Surely even your self-conceit doesn't run so far as that!"

Wentworth stood silent, and Miss Brewster picked up her parasol, scattering, in her haste, the other articles on the floor. If she expected Wentworth to put them on the table again she was disappointed, for, although his eyes were upon her, his thoughts were far away upon the Atlantic ocean.

"I shall not stay here to be insulted," she cried, resentfully, bringing Wentworth's thoughts back with a rush to London again. "It is intolerable that you should use such an expression to me. Playing with you, indeed!"

"I had no intention of insulting you, Miss Brewster."

"What is it but an insult to use such a phrase? It implies that I either care for you or—"

"And do you?"

"Do I what?"

"Do you care for me?"

Jennie shook out the lace fringes of her parasol and smoothed them with some precision. Her eyes were bent on what she was doing, and consequently they did not meet those of her questioner.

"I care for you as a friend, of course," she said, at last, still giving much attention to the parasol. "If I had not looked on you as a friend I would not have come here to consult with you, would I?"

"No, I suppose not. Well, I am sorry I used the words that displeased you, and now, if you will permit it, we will go on with the consultation."

"It wasn't a pretty thing to say."

"I'm afraid I'm not good at saying pretty things."

"You used to be." The parasol being arranged to her liking she glanced up at him. "Still you said you were sorry, and that's all a man can say—or a woman either, for that's what I said myself when I came in. Now, if you will pick up those things from the floor—thanks—we will talk about the mine."

Wentworth seated himself in his chair again and said:

"Well, what is it you wish to know about the mine?"

"Nothing at all."

"But you said you wanted information."

"What a funny reason to give! And how a man misses all the fine points of a conversation! No; just because I asked for information, you might have known that it was what I really wanted."

"I'm afraid I'm very stupid. I hate to ask boldly what you did want, but I would like to know."

"I want a vote of confidence. I told you I was sorry because of a certain episode. I wanted to see if you trusted me, and I found you didn't. There."

"I think that was hardly a fair test. You see the facts did not belong to me alone."

Miss Brewster sighed, and slowly shook her head.

"That wouldn't have made the least difference if you had really trusted me."

"Oh, I say! You couldn't expect a man to—"

"Yes, I could."

"What, merely a friend?"

Miss Brewster nodded.

"Well, all I can say," remarked Wentworth, with a laugh, "is that friendship has made greater strides in the states than it has in this country."

Before Jennie could reply the useful boy knocked at the door and brought in a tea tray, which he placed before his master, then silently departed, closing the door noiselessly.

"May I offer you a cup of tea?"

"Please. What a curious custom this drinking of tea is in business offices. I think I shall write an article on 'A Nation of Tea Tipplers.' If I were an enemy to England, instead of being its greatest friend, I would descend with my army on this country between the hours of four and five in the afternoon, and so take the population unawares while it was drinking tea. What would you do if the enemy came down on you during such a sacred national ceremony?"

"I would offer her a cup of tea," replied Wentworth, suiting the action to the phrase.

"Mr. Wentworth," said the girl, archly, "you're improving. That remark was distinctly good. Still, you must remember that I come as a friend, not as an enemy. Did you ever read the 'Babes in the Wood?' It is a most instructive but pathetic work of fiction. You remember the wicked uncle, surely. Well, you and Mr. Kenyon remind me of the babes, poor, innocent, little things, and London—this part of it—is the dark and pathless forest. I am the bird hovering about you, waiting to cover you with leaves. The leaves, to do any good, ought to be checks fluttering down on you, but, alas! I haven't any. If negotiable checks only grew on trees, life would not be so difficult."

Miss Brewster sipped her tea pensively, and Wentworth listened to the musical murmur of her voice, which had such an entrancing effect on him, that he paid less heed to what she said than a man should when a lady is speaking. The tea drinking had added a touch of domesticity to the tete-a-tete that rather went to the head of the young man. He clinched and unclinched his hand out of sight under the table and felt the moisture on his palm. He hoped he would be able to retain control over himself, but the difficulty of his task almost overcome him when she now and then appealed to him with glance or gesture, and he felt as if he must cry out: "My girl, my girl, don't do that, if you expect me to stay where I am."

"I see you are not paying the slightest attention to what I am saying," she said, pushing the cup from her. She rested her arms on the table, leaning slightly forward, and turning her face full upon him. "I can tell by your eyes that you are thinking of something else."

"I assure you," said George, drawing a deep breath, "I am listening with intense interest."

"Well, that's right, for what I am going to say is important. Now, to wake you up, I will first tell you all about your mine, so that you will understand I did not need to ask anyone for information regarding it."

Here, to Wentworth's astonishment, she gave a rapid and accurate sketch of the negotiations and arrangements between the three partners and the present position of affairs.

"How do you know all this?" he asked.

"Never mind that, and you mustn't ask how I know what I am now going to tell you, but you must believe it implicitly and act upon it promptly. Longworth is fooling both you and Kenyon. He is making time, so that your option will run out; then he will pay cash for the mine at the original price, and you and Kenyon will be left to pay two-thirds of the debt incurred. Where is Kenyon?"

"He has gone to America."

"That's good. Cable him to get the option renewed. You can then try to form the company yourselves in London. If he can't obtain a renewal, you have very little time to get the cash together, and if you are not able to do that then you lose everything. This is what I came to tell you, although I have been a long time about it. Now I must go."

She rose, gathered her belongings from the table, and stood with the parasol pressed against her. Wentworth came around to where she was standing, his face paler than usual, probably because of the news he had heard. One hand was grasped tightly around one wrist in front of him. He felt that he should thank her for what she had done, but his lips were dry and somehow the proper words were not at his command.

She, holding her fragile lace-fringed parasol against her with one arm, was adjusting her long neatly-fitting glove, which she had removed before tea. A button, one of many, was difficult to fasten, and as she endeavored to put it in its place her sleeve fell away, showing a round white arm above the glove.

"You see," she said, a little breathlessly, her eyes upon her glove, "it is a very serious situation, and time is of great importance."

"I realize that."

"It would be such a pity to lose everything now, when you have had so much trouble and worry."

"It would."

"And I think that whatever is done should be done quickly. You should act at once and with energy."

"I am convinced that is so."

"Of course it is. You are of too trusting a nature; you should be more suspicious, then you wouldn't be tricked as you have been."

"No. The trouble is I have been too suspicious, but that is past. I won't be again."

"What are you talking about?" she said, looking quickly up at him. "Don't you know you'll lose the mine if—"

"Hang the mine!" he cried, flinging his wrist free and clasping her to him before she could step back or move from her place. "There is something more important than mines or money."

The parasol broke with a sharp snap, and the girl murmured: "Oh," but the murmur was faint.

"Never mind the parasol," he said, pulling it from between them and tossing it aside. "I'll get you another."

"Reckless man!" she gasped. "You little know how much it cost. And I think, you know, I ought to have been consulted—in an—in an affair of this kind—George."

"And I'll be Lady Wentworth yet."

"There was no time. I acted upon your own advice—promptly. You are not angry, Jennie, my dear girl, are you?"

"I suppose I'm not, though I think I ought to be, especially as I know only too well that I held my heart in my hand the whole time, almost offering it to you. I hope you won't treat it as you have treated the sunshade."

He kissed her for answer.

"You see," she said, putting his necktie straight, "I liked you from the very first, far more than I knew at the time. If you—I'm not trying to justify myself, you know—but if you had—well—just coaxed me a little yourself, I would never have sent that cable message. You seemed to give up everything, and you sent Kenyon to me, and that made me angry. I expected you to come back to me, but you never came."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

HEARN

WEST FOURTEENTH ST. NEW YORK

New York's Most Popular Store For Everything in Dry Goods.

See New York Sunday and Evening papers for week's Specials.

FREE DELIVERIES DAILY

By Our Own Wagon in

Plainfield, Westfield
Elizabeth, Netherwood
Elizabethport, Fanwood
Roselle, Union
Lorraine, Elmora
Aldene, Linwood
Lyons Farm, Rahway
Cranford.

[1] 17 e od to 12 29

HOME BUILDING AND LOAN Assciation.

ORGANIZED APRIL, 1888.

Meets at Republican Headquarters, room No. 12, East Front street, on the third Monday of each month for payment of dues and interest. New series opened in April and October of each year.

Monthly dues are $1 per share. Shares $200 each. Entrance fee 25 cents per share.

Members are entitled to borrow the face value of their shares on approved real estate security.

Present receipts available for loans over $4,000 monthly.

ISAAC W. RUSHMORE, President.
S. R. Struthers, Secretary. 10 11 6m-s

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint, that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry rates will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

North ave. Plainfield

Telephone 30M

"Time or Tide Waits for No Man."

Have your time always correct and you won't want time to wait. Our watches or clocks never vary. They are sure and reliable timekeepers, whether in the exquisitely jeweled chatelaine watch, or fine gold or silver case. They are always correct. Speaking of time—remember now is the time to be looking around for a useful and handsome Christmas present for wife, husband or sweetheart; and who doesn't love a good watch?

COLLIER,

103 Park Ave. Established 1869.

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M. Stillman. Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. B. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie R 2
DerCharnel Miss Lil'n
Dutcher Chas H
Fonda Guy Q
Foster Miss Vera
Gray Miss Maggie
Harrison Wm F
Holingvist Miss Agnes
Herben Mrs S J
Lewis C F
May Miss M A
Midgely Jas L v
Mendel Gus
Maguire Miss Annie
Prentice Mrs. Geo
Reich Miss Elizabeth
Rockerer J C
Slater Joshua
Steinorth R
Stelle Freeman
Schenck Mrs E
Tevis E L
Wiley Mrs Fred
Walker Mrs Mary E
Whiteall Mrs C D
Weingart Miss Annie L

MRS. L. ADAMS, MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET,

Christmas Wreaths, Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,

Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.

DENTON'S.

131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,

DEALERS IN

Lehigh Valley Coal.

Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention. Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-7

Amos H. Van Horn,

LIMITED.

CARPETS AT COST!

Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:

25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.

MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES

NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.

Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.

LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!

Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.

Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.

73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.

Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, Insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street

Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 28, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10 a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28, p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17, p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 30, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a m; 1 10, 1 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8 00, 8 38, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, a m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m. 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 35 a m; 1 10, 1 35; 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2

Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a m; 12 46, 2 11, 2 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 03, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 38, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43, 5 14, 6 35, 10 35, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 35, 7 45, 8 19, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 35, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 20, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 56, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 28, a m; 2 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a m; 12 32, 4 04, 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a m; 6 30, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a m; 5 03, 5 15 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 03 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch.

4 56 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown Mauch Chunk Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin, (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 28 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5.14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5. 32, 5.54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m, 1 15, 3.12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15, 3 51, 5.32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, a. m, 12 46, 2 17, 2.37*, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 17 night, Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*. p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m.; 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN,

General Superintendent.

H. P. BALDWIN,

General Passenger Agent

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 6:30 p. m.
Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 30 and 7:10 p.m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m.
Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arr. 12 m: closes 9:30 a. m

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

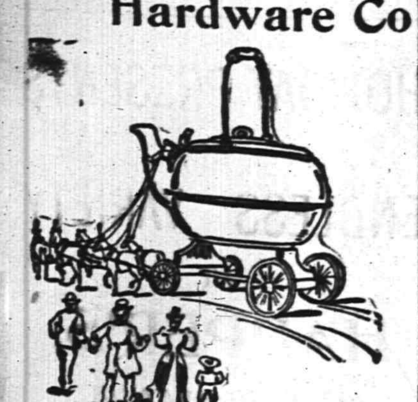
HOTEL TUILERIES !

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

The J. P. Laire
Hardware Co



are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.

Christmas Tree Holders, Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver-plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks, Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1.98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.

Telephone Call 49 I. 9 3 1y

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting, Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.

12 1 1y

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B. Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. 8 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs. Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bannanas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at air rices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in al its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

BARRELS OF MONEY IN GOOD PATENTS

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co. 189 Broadway, New York. Percy C. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters !

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W. L. & J. M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 42b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time, and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all Bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts. per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph,

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.

No. 143 West Front street.

Telephone Call, 109.

SECRETARY OF THE SENATE'S RINGING WORDS.

One of the Greatest and Grandest Testimonials Ever Written Given to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Hon. Frederick W. Baldwin, Sect'y of the Senate, State Attorney, and Chairman of the Republican State Committee, Gives Unqualified Endorsement and Recommendation to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

The great men of America use, praise and recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Prominent people of highest standing, Governors, Mayors, Senators, Representatives, in fact, Statesmen in all parts of our country, together with Judges, Clergymen, Doctors, Newspaper Men, people whose names are known and honored everywhere, publish testimonials in strongest terms concerning the great good which this wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura, has done them, their families and friends, and recommending in most emphatic language all who are ailing in any way and have need of medicine, to by all means use this grandest of all medical discoveries.

It is because Dr. Greene's Nervura cures that it is so highly and so strongly recommended by everybody.

Hon. Frederick W. Baldwin, of Barton, Vt., adds another to the long list of eminent statesmen who powerfully endorse the marvelous curative powers of Dr. Greene's Nervura, and give earnest advice to the sick, the weak, nervous, dyspeptic, run-down, debilitated and discouraged to try this great remedy, feeling sure from their own experience of its remarkable merits that health and strength will in all cases follow its use.

Hon. Mr. Baldwin, Secretary of the Senate, State Attorney of Vermont and Chairman of the Republican State Committee, is one of the foremost men of this country. To show the honor in which he is held by his state, it is only necessary to say that at the last Presidential election he was elected Presidential Elector for Vermont and messenger to carry the vote of Vermont to Washington. Such is the eminent standing of the man who tells you to use Dr. Greene's Nervura if you wish to get well. He says:

"I have long been acquainted with the virtues and fame of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and know of people among my friends who have been helped by its use, and from the general verdict from all sources that have come to my attention, I cannot do otherwise than commend it. Make use of this letter for the good of others."

But while the great and honored of our country use and recommend all to use Dr. Greene's Nervura, it is among the common people, those in the ordinary walks of life that on account of their vast numbers, the marvelous and extraordinary benefit, the numberless cures, the remarkable restorations to health by this most wonderful of remedies, can be daily and constantly observed. Dr. Greene's Nervura is distinctively the medicine of the people. Its discovery was for the people, it cures the people and it stands to-day unrivaled as the people's remedy.

It makes those who use it strong and well.

It is the prescription and discovery of our most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, and was used for years in his enormous practice before given broadcast to the people as the greatest restorer of health in the world's history. Dr. Greene can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201–203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

-BOEHM'S !-

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at..........$4.95
Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to..........$18.00
Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to..........$8.00
Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at..........$1.98
All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.
Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.
Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.
Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.
Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.
Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.
15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

Store Open Evenings.

Useful Holiday Presents.

Desks, Tables,
Easy Chairs, Rockers, etc.
Fine China,
Elegant Lamps,
Fancy Pottery.

G. Q. PACKER. J. W. GAVETT.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance.

177 NORTH AVENUE.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

THE HOUSE NOT IN SESSION.

Much Quiet Comment Upon Chaplain Conden's Prayer.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The house is not in session to-day, having adjourned over until Monday after the expiration of last night's session, which was devoted to the consideration of private pension bills. There is much quiet comment upon the prayer delivered by Chaplain Conden yesterday, in which he referred directly to the bill passed by the house Thursday forbidding the sale of liquor in the capitol and asked that the bill might speedily become a law never to be repealed. The resolution extending until the end of the session the investigation by the joint committee of the use of alcohol in the arts was agreed to. Yesterday being private bill day, nine were reported and two passed.

MENACE TO NAVIGATION.

An Unusual Number of Icebergs in Transatlantic Steamship Track.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The naval hydrographic office finds signs of an unusual number of icebergs on the north Atlantic, according to reports which it has received from the United Associated Presses and from marines. From the number of bergs already reported it is declared that they are not only making their appearance very early in the season, which does not ordinarily begin until January or February, but are dangerously near the westbound transatlantic steamer track.

A Victim of Suspicion.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 12.—Gov. Carr has pardoned Henry Smith of Asheville, and thus ends a very remarkable case of circumstantial evidence. Smith, while working on the railway in Davidson county, passed the house of a man named Ellington, who almost immediately missed $1,200. He was arrested, tried and sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment. Now the money has been discovered. It was taken by Ellington's son during a drunken spree and hid. The young man forgot where he put it, and it was discovered only by accident.

Window Glass Factories Resume.

Pittsburg, Dec. 12.—The window glass factories of D. O. Cunningham & Co., on South Twenty-second street; Phillips & Co., South Twentieth street; Chambers Glass Co., New Kensington; Belle Vernon Glass Co., Belle Vernon, and Cunningham & Co., limited, of the southside began blowing last night. McKee & Co., on South Thirteenth street, will blow Monday morning. This will give employment to a large number of men who have been idle several months.

Rubber Mill To Start Up.

Providence, Dec. 12.—The new Banigan rubber mill will start up within a month and probably within two weeks. It will employ from 600 to 1,000 hands and will produce 15,000 pairs of shoes a day. The mill is fitted with the most improved machinery and is said by Joseph Banigan to have the finest equipment of any rubber mill in the world. Advanced methods will be used and the tools used in the mill will be made there.

Pugilist Slavin Under Arrest.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 12.—Frank P. Slavin, the pubilist, was arrested last evening and held in $200 bail by Justice Mayfield on a charge of assault and battery. His former manager, Dr. John A. Dougherty, charges Slavin with having brutally assaulted him. Dougherty is laid up in bed as a result of his encounter with Slavin.

Bill To Increase Salaries.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Mr. Boatner, dem., Louisiana, has offered in the house a bill increasing to $10,000 per year the salary of the speaker of the house of representatives and to $7,500 per year the salaries of senators and representatives, to go into effect on 4, 1897.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper and Daughter Found Dead in Bed.

THEY WERE ASPHYXIATED BY GAS

Miss Cooper, Whose Mind Was Deranged, Ends the Life of Her Famous Mother and That of Herself.

San Francisco, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, famed throughout the entire United States because of her untiring zeal in works of charity, and her daughter, Miss Hattie Cooper, were found dead in bed at the Cooper residence on Vallejo street yesterday, both having been asphyxiated by gas. All evidence tends to show that Miss Cooper, who suffered from acute melancholia, arose after her mother had fallen asleep, and with suicidal intent turned on the gas. When discovered both bodies were rigid, death having occurred several hours before. The news of the tragedy, which spread with great rapidity, caused one of the greatest sensations San Francisco has ever experienced. Mrs. Cooper and her daughter have been prominently connected with all charitable movements, not only in this city but the country at large. Dr. Sidney Worth, the Cooper family physician, this morning made public the painfully sensational announcement that on two occasions within the past few months Miss Cooper attempted to take her own life and that of her mother by turning on the gas. On both occasions Mrs. Cooper restrained her only after a struggle. Notwithstanding the danger to which she was constantly subjected, the heroic woman refused to be separated from her daughter, remaining by her side every hour for days and weeks at a time. Thursday evening Miss Cooper seemed unusually depressed. Within the hearing of the Chinese servant she remarked to her mother: "I am tired of life; I want to join father, and I want you to go with me." Mrs. Cooper had been accustomed to hearing such words from the invalid and paid little attention to them, dismissing the subject with a brief reproof to the daughter on the wickedness of self-destruction. Thousands of San Francisco's most prominent and respected citizens passed through the doors of the Vallejo street residence yesterday, and with tear-dimmed eyes gazed upon all that was mortal of the noble woman. Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper was born at Cazenovia, N. Y., 61 years ago. The Ingersoll family, of which she was a member, and which includes the famous Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, Mrs. Cooper's cousin, is well known and highly respected in New York state, as well as in Ohio, where many of them still reside. Two sisters survive her, Mrs. Skilton of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Bawlings of East Lake, Tenn. In 1869 Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, with their little daughter Hattie, removed to San Francisco. For a time fortune favored them, but later Mr. Cooper became broken in health through worry regarding business reverses, and on Dec. 6, 1885, died by his own hand. In 1894 Mrs. Cooper was elected treasurer of World's Federation of Women's clubs.

Creedon Defeats O'Brien.

New York, Dec. 12.—Dan Creedon of Australia defeated Dick O'Brien of Boston in the ninth round of their battle at the Broadway Athletic club last night. O'Brien showed himself to be a wonderfully game man and a terror to take punishment. Though Creedon was tired he showed himself the best man in every way. He was much cleverer than the Bostonian but was badly out of condition, and in the ninth round inflicted terrible punishment, but lacked strength to knock O'Brien out. The latter was staggering all over the ring and the referee, seeing that a knockout was imminent, stopped the fight.

Lizzie Borden Wedding Rumor Denied.

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 12.—Orin T. Gardner, the school teacher of Swansea, says that the story of his prospective marriage to Miss Lizzie Borden is without foundation. Miss Borden declines to make any statement. The dressmaker will admit nothing more than the fact that she is making several costly dresses for Miss Borden. Miss Borden's friends have been informed of a possible visit to Europe.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Wheat—Spot higher checking trade. Dec., 86⅝c.; May, 85⅝c.

Corn—Spot firm with fair inquiry. Dec., 28⅜c.; May, 31⅜c.

Oats—Trade dull and light demand. Dec., 22¼c.; May, 24⅜c.

Lard—Market dull and prices weak. Prime western, $4.15.

Pork—Prices steady, but trade quiet. Extra prime, nominal, short clear, $9.00@10.50; mess, $8.25@8.75; family, $10.00@10.75.

Eggs—Market quiet and unsettled. State and Pennsylvania, fresh, 20@23c.; ice house, 16@19c.; western, fresh, 20@21c.; limed, 15½@16; southern, 19@20.

Butter—Trading quiet and weak. Creamery western extras, 24½c.; state and Pennsylvania, extras, 19@23½c. creamery, western seconds, 15c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fresh factory, 13c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fall made extras, 17½@18c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10½@14c.; western factory, firsts to extras, 9½@11c.

Cheese—Quiet and firm. State, full cream, large size, fall made, colored, 10½c.; large, common to choice, part skims, 3½@6½c.

Potatoes—Arriving freely; old prices. Long Island, in bulk, per barrel, $1.25@1.37; New Jersey, round, choice, per barrel, $1.00@1.12.

SPORTS

Sun Rises: 7:15 a. m.
Sun sets: 4:33 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be Lighted at 5:33 p. m.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

F. H. Ball, of the Park Club bowling team, rolled a score of 216 last evening in a practice game.

Edward Campbell, John Teeple and Charles Nichols, of Avon Park, went hunting near Bordentown yesterday.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Westfield and Park Club bowling teams will bowl on the latter's Monday evening.

—On the evening of December 18th, Prof. Russell, of New York, prestigitateur, will give an entertainment.

—A delegation from Jerusalem Lodge, No 26, F. and A. M., will go to New York this evening to witness the work of conferring the first degree in French.

—The regular meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., was held last evening and one candidate was given the second rank. The nominations for officers were opened.

—The New Jersey State Sanitary Association, holding sessions at Lakewood yesterday and today, is attended by J. B. Procasco, of this city, and Rev. W. E. Honeyman, of the borough.

—A sojourner named Frank Ray, was arrested on Somerset street, last evening by Marshal Hansen, for being drunk and disorderly. This morning he paid Justice Crossley $5 for his experience.

—Crane's umbrellas and neckwear are among the handy things to buy as a holiday gift for young men. Crane & Clark, hatters, of 120 West Front street, have something new in these goods and the prices are very low.

—Rev. Chas. E. Herring will lead the young people's prayer meeting in the Trinity Reformed church tonight. His subject will be "Power." A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend and spend a quiet hour waiting upon God for the power.

—Victor Lorton, who left town with the Emmet Corrigan dramatic company as transportation agent some six weeks ago, has returned home. The company went into the consomme at Scranton, and "Vic" started for home soon after the company disbanded.

—To take the beautiful weather that we are now enjoying, as a criterion, it looks reasonable to suppose that the oft-heard expression that we are to have an "open" winter, might come true. But in late years severe winter weather has not been experienced until after the holidays.

—Some of the big spruce and cedar trees on ex-Councilman L. W. Serrell's premises, West Front street, are being taken out and converted into kindling wood. The lawn is thickly studded with shade trees and the heavy foliage would not allow the sun to penetrate to the ground.

Green Brook in Bad Condition.

Green brook in the vicinity of the Washington avenue bridge is in a deplorable condition and needs attention. The grounds on both sides of the brook have been filled in with all sorts of debris, and as a result a portion of the brook contains a quantity of old cans and rubbish, and outside of its being a detriment to the stream, the appearance of things in general from the street is a disgrace to both the city and borough. Whenever there is a good wind ashes are blown about in a manner that is very annoying to pedestrians.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Pliny Fisk has returned to Plainfield for the winter.

Ex-Representative J. W. Flood, of Easton, Pa., is a guest of Dr. Wood.

Jacob Kirkner, of 441 West Eighth street, is confined to his home with inflammation of the nerves in his left foot.

VanEmburgh's Christmas window is a beauty, and attracts the attention of all shoppers by its seasonable and artistic trimmings.

Mrs. W. A. Freeman, of Sandford avenue, entertained a few friends in an informal way on Thursday evening in honor of her neice, Miss Morse, of Brooklyn.

Councilman Harold Serrell and family, of Plainfield avenue, will take up their residence on Mercer avenue next spring, where Mr. Serrell is erecting a handsome dwelling.

Next Tuesday at 12 o'clock noon Miss Metler, of Carlisle, Pa., and Rev. Mr. McCray, of Roselle, will be united in marriage by Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, of this city, who was a schoolmate of the groom.

The old way of delivering messages by postboys compared with the modern telephone, illustrates the old tedious methods of "breaking" colds compared with their almost instantaneous cure by One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front st.

TOOK THEIR CHRISTMAS DINNER.

Hen Roosts Invaded and Five Plump Fowls Taken Away.

Chicken thieves are abroad and the local roosts are in danger of an invasion. Last evening the marauders paid a visit to the chicken yard of M. M. Dunham, of Arlington avenue, and departed without making their presence known. They did not forget, however, to take five of the plumpest fowls along with them.

The owner of the chickens and his family heard no noise last evening and the first they knew of the midnight raid was when they found the glass window to the roost broken open, as the morning meal for the chickens was brought. The panes of glass were shattered and the wooden frame forced open. There was no sign to reveal the identity of the midnight visitors, whether they were white or black. The hens were gone, however, and it was very evident that some one had been there.

A Significant Departure.

With the departure of another year when a review is made of the condition of affairs, it is only right that some thought be given to the physical body which enables everyone to battle with life's problem and figure for themselves the profit or loss on the trial balance sheet. Though the bank account may be large and each one's material gain be great, it would not be surprising if it danws upon many that good health has been greatly impoverished by the low condition of the blood. It is in this state that the lactic acid in the vital fluid attacks the fibrous tissues, particularly the joints, making known the local manifestations of rheumatism. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla the great blood purifier, a positive and permanent cure of rheumatism.

Sites for a City Hall.

A number of sites are being mentioned in connection with the city hall talk. The property of Charles H. Hand, at the corner of East Second street and Watchung avenue, is being pushed as the best place, owing to its being near the present fire headquarters and cheaper than a site on Front street would be. Other properties spoken of as desirable locations is that of J. Fred MacDonald at the corner of Front street and Watchung avenue, and also the property occupied by the boarding house of Mrs. MacDonald on East Front street, between Park and Watchung avenues.

New Officer for the Water Supply Co.

At a meeting of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, was elected to fill the vacancy in the Board of Directors caused by the death of Elias R. Pope. Mr. Hubbard was also made secretary and treasurer of the company.

Mr. Horr About the Same.

There is very little change in the condition of ex-Congressman Roswell G. Horr, of Park avenue, today, although he seems a trifle easier.

—A runaway horse attached to a cart caused considerable excitement on Johnston's drive yesterday afternoon.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—A bridge of pink marble is to be built over the river at Knoxville, Tenn. There is a nearby quarry from which an unlimited supply of the stone can be had and the completed structure will be one of the most attractive bridges in the world.

—England has at length decided to adopt the metric system of weights and measures, and the government, in the person of its president of the board of trade, has drafted a bill to be submitted to parliament at the opening of the next session. The change has been under discussion for nearly 70 years.

—Brigandage is one of the flourishing occupations at present in northern Rhode Island. A band of armed Italians recently held up a country doctor in Smithfield and for two weeks past have kept the rural population of North Scituate in a reign of terror. Thus far the state constabulary have been unable to seize the marauders.

—By order of the czar the colonel of a crack Russian regiment has just been retired, a lieutenant dismissed the service and 11 other officers of the regiment reduced in rank, as a punishment for a blackguardly attack upon a civilian. The only culpability of the colonel in connection with the affair was that he had failed to report it to headquarters.

—It seems very odd to have unearthed the playthings as well as the tablets and weapons of antiquity; and yet among the objects found recently in the Assiob necropolis in Egypt was a whole company of wooden soldiers, 15 inches in height. The soldiers carry lances and give a good idea of the style of military equipment prevailing in the time of the Pharaohs. Many an American boy might enjoy playing with those toy warriors, as perhaps some Egyptian lad once did with utmost glee.

—A certain English baronet, who lived near the spot where one of the most celebrated battles of the war of the Roses had been fought, was presented to George III. at a levee. An ignorant man, he knew little of the history of the country, and was nonplussed when the king remarked, graciously: "You come from the scene of a celebrated battle, I understand, Sir William." "Well, your majesty," was the answer, "I did have a round or two with the blacksmith, but I'm very much surprised that your majesty should have heard of it."

BRONCHOS TO EAT.

American Mustangs Shipped to France for Meat.

An Experimental Move Which May Result in the Building Up of a Great Industry in the Northwest.

S. L. Moore, general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, has in operation a scheme for clearing the ranges of the west of their hundreds of thousands of cheap horses—made cheap by the trolley and the bicycle—within the next year or two. The first experimental train load is now en route. Speaking of his scheme Mr. Moore said:

"Five dollars and ten dollars a head is the price now asked for several hundred thousand horses, branded and roaming the plains, too valuable to be destroyed and too expensive to keep alive. These horses vary in weight from 750 pounds to 1,100 pounds each, and as a rule are branded, on the hip or shoulder, or some other conspicuous place, to prevent loss by theft or going astray in stormy weather. Sometimes these animals wander hundreds of miles from the home ranches, but the owners can always identify their stock with very little difficulty. Large droves of these horses are destined to the trade in Paris and other cities in Europe. A train load is now en route over the Northern Pacific railway from Washington, in cars especially provided with hay racks and water troughs, and will soon be driven aboard ship in New York harbor and sent across the Atlantic ocean. This bunch of cayuses and bronchos must pass a rigid health inspection in New York and, at the receiving port in Europe. For a year or more the freight department of the Northern Pacific railway has labored to find a market for the surplus of horses tributary to that line. A plant was established by several men at Portland, Ore., to slaughter some of these animals, but it did not succeed for the reason that the European governments passed a prohibitive law against landing horse meat in packages of any kind. This effectually shut out the horse market pickled and preserved in that city, and cut off an industry that promised to be very profitable to the enterprising proprietor, as well as a lasting benefit to the horse ranches on the plains in providing a market for stock almost valueless for any other purpose.

"It is only a few years since that tales of adventure, reading like romance, were written about the capture and slaughter of magnificent specimens of wild horses in the extreme west, which were supposed to be descendants from animals escaped or abandoned during the Spanish conquests, some drifting to the north. It is different with these herds in Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and Washington; they are the abandoned results of enterprises which were projected on an extensive scale, within the past ten or twelve years. Some of the finest horses in Europe were imported for breeding purposes and on nearly all the cattle ranches the work was carried on extensively. The early completion of the Northern Pacific afforded transportation facilities for reaching the markets in the eastern and middle states and the great ranges heretofore abounding in elk, deer and buffalo, were soon occupied by large droves of horses, many of which were driven overland from Arizona, Texas and Mexico, to fatten on the nutritious buffalo or bunch grass. Immense fortunes were made in this way and cattle kings were numbered by the score; but when the electric device and cables for street railway cars were adopted, profits gradually diminished until instead of there being a gain there was a constant loss. When the bicycle came into general use the industry received the fatal blow. Many who were in the habit of using saddle horses found that the bicycle did not require to be 'broke in' nor did it require feeding or stabling, while in many respects the machine was capable of being applied to greater use than the horse.

"According to the secretary of agriculture there are 1,500,000 horses between the Twin Cities and the North Pacific coast in the states before mentioned. Several hundred thousand of these animals could be disposed of and not missed; and at an average price of $7.50 per head would yield over $2,000,000.

"The train load just shipped is in a measure experimental, the rail lines east of Chicago having refused to make a rate proportionate to the rate adopted by the lines west of Chicago. If the Central Traffic and Trunk Line associations would apply cattle rates on horses (worth about one-third as much as cattle), the success of the enterprise would at once be assured; but they have refused to apply less than their tariff rate for valuable horses, which is nearly 50 per cent. in excess of the rate for cattle. Many of the individual lines are favorable to the proposition, and it is hoped that the association will reconsider the proposition for a reduction to a basis approximating the present cattle tariff, to apply on animals of low value in train loads when destined for Europe. The ocean ships are provided with stationary pens for the safe handling of live stock, and all that remains to insure clearing the ranges of the cheap horses is the adoption of the rates proposed.

"If the government officials at Washington are successful in their negotiations with the European authorities for the removal of the restriction against horse meat in packages from America, parties having plenty of capital are willing to open a large and expensive plant, constructed by Marquis de Mores several years ago, at Medora, N. D., for the purpose of slaughtering cattle, and will add to it a pickling and canning branch, for the purpose of slaughtering these horses."—St. Paul Pioneer Press

$35. Will buy you a First-Class High Grade BICYCLE.
Peck & Snyder and Winslow Skates from 49c. up.
PLAINFIELD CYCLE AND SPORTING GOODS CO.
147-149 NORTH AVENUE.
H. E. RIDER, President. C. C. LISTER, Secretary and Treas.

SLIP AWAY TODAY.

Don't let the little ones know where you've gone. You'll find my store simply flooded with DOLLS for the girls, TOYS for the boys and BOOKS for the boys and girls.

Kid body and jointed dolls from 25c. up.
Fine dolls, full jointed, closing eyes, woven wig, from 75c. up.
Doll carriages from 25c. to $8.00
Iron trains from 25c. to $5.73.
Sleds from 25c. up.

Wagons, Carts, Wheelbarrows, Shoo-fly Rockers, Desks, Blackboards, Games, Wooden Boats that shoot, Tea Sets, Furniture, Trumpets, Tin Toys, Iron Toys, Rubber Balls, Etc., Etc.

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front street.

Corporation Notice!

The undersigned commissioners heretofore appointed by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield to make an estimate and assessment of damages that any owner or owners of land will sustain by the widening and laying out of Madison avenue from the Southeasterly side line of West Front street to the Northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the Southeasterly side line of West Front street to the Northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5th 1894, and also to ascertain the amount of damages that shall be assessed as aforesaid and of all necessary expenses incident to such widening and laying out, and to make a just and equitable assessment thereof among the owners, and occupants of the lands, tenements and real estate benefited thereby in proportion to the benefits each shall be deemed to acquire, said assessment to be made pursuant to the valid laws now in force in the State of New Jersey governing such assessments, any unconstitutional provisions of the City Charter to the contrary, notwithstanding the assessment heretofore made by said commissioners having been recommitted to them by resolution of the Common Council for further consideration in respect to the assessment for benefits and damages, hereby give notice that they have this day filed their report and assessment as amended in the office of the City Clerk, and that the same is open to inspection of the public and will be presented to the Common Council at the meeting of that body to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh day of December, eighteen hundred and ninety-six at eight o'clock p. m. The streets or avenues or particular sections thereof which are included in said assessment are as follows: Madison avenue from West Front street to West Seventh street; both sides of West Front street; West Second street; West Third street; West Fourth street; West Fifth street; and West Sixth street; and the Northwesterly side of West Seventh street extending from Madison avenue Northeasterly and Southwesterly, respectively, to points not exceeding three hundred and seventy-three feet distant measured along said several streets from the centre line of Madison avenue.

The lands taken and the lands assessed are designated on the map accompanying said report and assessments as amended, and filed in the office of the City Clerk.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., November 30, 1896.
EDWARD C. MULFORD,
WM. M. SANDFORD,
J. FRED MacDONALD,
Commissioners.
11 21 28 12 5

Napoleon's Check.

Fully half of the grown-up people of France believe the old story that Napoleon Bonaparte put a check for 100,000 francs in a silver five-franc piece and that the coin is yet in circulation. They say that the people did not want the five-franc piece, and that in order to create a demand for it Napoleon resorted to the device mentioned. The check, or treasury order, it is said, was written upon asbestos paper and inserted in the metal at the time the coin was made. Thousands of five-franc pieces are annually broken open and have been so inspected since the story of the check was first circulated.—Chicago Chronicle.

The New Photography.

The "X" or Roentgen ray continues to furnish evidence that it has come to stay as a new and valuable servant to the surgeon and the pathologist. By its help, the other day, a long-sought distinction was made between rickets, a disease of the bones occurring generally in underfed babies, and "late rickets," or a somewhat similar complaint which attacks children, chiefly girls, at a later age. It was demonstrated that the "late rickets," shows a substantial difference from the infantile ailment, the bones being attacked in a different way.—N. Y. Ledger.

Manager New York L. Road.

New York, Dec. 12.—W. J. Fransioli, formerly private secretary to the late Chairman of the Manhattan Elevated Railway company, has been appointed general manager of the road.

GREATEST CHRISTMAS BARGAINS YET!

We are not exaggerating when we say we are now showing the largest and most attractive assortment of Christmas Goods this town has ever seen, and at Lower Prices. We can save you money and sell you first-class goods, too. Come right to EDSALL'S first. You will save time. We can mention only a few sample bargains.

1 lot hard wood children's desks, drop lid, 18-in wide, 24-in high, only 98c., worth $1.25.
1 lot slate top children's desks, 18-in wide, 24-in high, 49c.
1 lot hard wood children's rockers only 53c.
1 lot easel blackboards, 18x20-in, only 29c.
1 lot dolls' wire bedsteads and mattress only 21c.
1 lot children's upholstered swings only 47c.
1 lot children's A, B, C blackboards 17c.
1 lot lead soldiers, large size, 16c.
1 lot spring runner boy's sleds 49c.
1 lot mechanical toys, carpenter, machinist, etc., only 39c.
1 lot soldiers', firemen and sailors' uniforms only 35c.
1 lot buckboards $2.98.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS.

It is just impossible to give you an idea of the great values we can offer you in this line.

Our own importations of Bisque Figures, Bric-a-brac and French China, embracing the handsomest line of Cups and Saucers, Plates, Chocolate Pitchers, Fern Bowls, Trays, and novel pieces ever shown in this section, and the prices are fully 25 per cent lower than ever before.

On our first or main floor

you will find about everything you can think of in the Dry and Fancy Goods line, and every article has been purchased at the lowest price that money and skill in buying can produce.

Then our plan of selling

double the amount at one-half the usual profit makes our prices lower than the lowest.

In a word

just save yourself time, trouble and expense and come for your Holiday Goods direct to

EDSALL'S.

What Fashions Change.

It may be possible to get a Roman helmet or a wobbling Egyptian headdress in some stores, but not here. Our stock is right up to date. The very latest styles only will be found represented. If anything, we try to keep a little ahead of the fashions, rather than even with them. With all this, our prices are moderate, much more so than you think.

G. A. HALLOCK, 109 West Front Street.

WOOL SWEATERS, with Sailor Collar, $1 to $3.50.
BUCK GLOVES, 50c. per Pair to $2.
HEAVY UNDERWEAR, 25c. to $2.
HATS and CAPS of every description.
CRANE & CLARK,
Hatters and Furnishers, 120 West Front street.

Xmas.
A seasonable and appreciated gift would be
FIRE-PLACE FURNITURE.
Bellows, brushes, brass and wrought iron fire sets, and irons, fenders, etc.
"EVERYTHING FOR THE FIRE-PLACE."
CURTIS M. THORP, 310-312 Park Avenue.

M. Powers & Son. Superior quality of
LEHIGH COAL.
No. 2 Coal Only $3.75 'n the Y
A No. 1 Kindling Wood
Yard and office 765 South ave. Down-town office with Lymar & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp railroad station

HOLIDAY PRESENTS
IN ENDLESS VARIETY AT HARPER'S,
411 PARK AVENUE.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Notice of Assignment.

Notice is hereby given that John V. Berkaw of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, carrying on business of shoe dealer, hath this day made an assignment to the subscriber of his estate for the equal benefit of his creditors, and that the said creditors must exhibit their respective claims under oath of affirmation to the subscriber at his office No. 125 West Front street, Plainfield N. J., on or before the 24th day of February, being three months from this date, or be forever barred from coming in for a dividend of the estate; and the said creditors are further notified that a list of the claims against the said John V. Berkaw will be filed with the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union at the expiration of the said three months when exceptions thereto may be filed by any person interested.

Dated Nov. 24, 1896.
J. AUGUSTUS SMITH, Assignee.
S. S. SWACKHAMER, Atty. 11 28 4 oaw

Trustee's Sale.

Public notice is hereby given that the subscriber will expose for sale on Friday, November 27, 1896, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the premises, 146 North avenue, Plainfield N. J., lately occupied by William J. Stephenson, caterer, all the goods and chattels contained in said premises, consisting of a large amount of table cutlery, silver ware, china ware, table cloths, napkins, etc., tables, chairs, hat racks, show cases, ice cream forms, cake pans, machinery, 1 six horse steam engine, 1 ten horse boiler, belts, pulleys, 1 bay horse, 2 wagons, harness, lot of tin ware, copper ware etc.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Trustee.
REED & CODDINGTON, Attorneys. 11 19 6

Last Edition. # THE DAILY PRESS Last Edition.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1896. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR

SOMERSET WANTS CITY.

SENATOR-ELECT REED ADVISES CITY TO LEAVE UNION COUNTY.

That is How Mr. Reed Would Accomplish the Consolidation of City and Borough—Talks of a New County

The question of the consolidation of the city of Plainfield and the borough of North Plainfield is becoming generally discussed now that the opening of the session of the Legislature is near at hand. There is considerable talk on the question and the matter is likely to be brought to the attention of the Legislators at Trenton very soon. The opinions of many of the leading citizens as published in Saturday's Daily Press attracted much attention among the residents of both city and borough, and the interest in the subject seems to be growing.

To many, the joining of the city and borough in one large city means the annexation of North Plainfield to Plainfield and its consequent addition to Union county. Comparatively few realize that the arguments in favor of the annexation of Plainfield to the borough and its change from Union to Somerset county are very strong. Then there is also the suggested plan of forming a new county of the city and borough and the surrounding country, new comprising portions of Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties.

North Plainfield has no better known citizen than Senator Charles A. Reed and no one is better acquainted with the position North Plainfield holds in relation to the other parts of the county, and to the neighboring counties, than he. Senator Reed was interviewed Saturday afternoon by a Press reporter regarding his opinion on the annexation question. Mr. Reed said that he had not studied up the subject to any extent as would be necessary before giving a careful statement of the question, but he consented to give a few ideas on the subject.

The Legislature, he said, would never allow such a large part of a small county to be added to a much larger county, and he thought from the point of view of a citizen of the borough that the annexation of North Plainfield to Plainfield would not be at all beneficial to their interests. While he did not think any change necessary, the only action that he would support would be the union of the two places in one city to be located in Somerset county. The formation of a new county, was, he said, feasable. but he doubted if it ever could be accomplished. It would give an an additional member to the Senate, which would disturb the balance of power between North and South Jersey.

He then went on to speak more at length on the different phases of the problem. Plainfield, he said, would gain materially by the annexation of the borough. The present tax rate which is higher than the rate in North Plainfield would be reduced somewhat by the addition of the taxable property of the borough. The new rate would be higher for North Plainfield than its present one as the county tax in Union county is higher than the tax in Somerset. While it would do away with the salaries of certain officials that are now duplicated in city and borough, the new officials would have more work to do and would consequently have increased salaries. The combined fire and police departments would not be reduced but little in size and expense. The only advantage to be gained by North Plainfield, continued Mr. Reed, in coming into Union county is a sentimental one. The mayor wouldn't have to explain that he wasn't mayor of Plainfield but only of the little borough of North Plainfield. Then it would give a larger town and there a sentiment in favor of size. North Plainfield would lose the power of self-government, she would not be able to say how much money shall be raised and how it shall be spent, instead the power would be with the majority on the other side of the brook. Altogether North Plainfield would be less independent by uniting with Plainfield. "I think," said Mr. Reed, "if the matter were put to a vote in North Plainfield, there would be a considerable majority against it."

There are some additional advantages, continued the Senator, to be derived from consolidation should Plainfield come into Somerset county besides those which would be gained in any event. The tax rate would be considerably lowered in Plainfield on account of the lower county tax in Somerset.

At present, Plainfield is dominated by Elizabeth and the rest of Union county. She is the second in size and importance in the county, and would be in event of annextion, while in Somerset county she would be the factor of first importance in the coun-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.

HOW RELIGION STANDS.

REV. C. E. HERRING QUOTES AUTHORITIES DISPROVING INFIDELITY.

Rev. Dwight L. Moody Thinks There Is Only One Side to Argument on Christianity, and it is All Favorable.

The subject of Rev. C. E. Herrings sermonette last night was "Moody and the Manhattan Club." Rev. Mr. Herring said:

"We admire the stand taken by Dwight L. Moody in his reply to the Manhattan Liberal Club. When requested to debate with one of their prominent members as to the relative merits of christianity and infidelity he replied as Sumner replied to the man who wanted to hear the other side of the story. He said there was no other side. When Nathaniel wanted to know if any good thing could come out of Nazareth, Philip did not meet him with argument; He simply said, come and see; and Moody followed Phillip's example: 'I know what Jesus Christ has done for me during 40 years. Let the members of your club except Christ as their personal savior and they will see. Compare the merits of the gospel and of Jesus Christ and your gospel. Thousands are dropping into drunkard's graves every year here in New York. I will tell them of the Savior who came to save them. If there is any merit in infidelity let your members put it in practice and when men are restored to purity we shall have time for discussion.'

"In their reply they asked, can a religious remedy cure a social diseases. The answer is yes. When that prince of preachers, Thomas Chalmers, began his ministry he preached an ethecal gospel, but his labor seemed ineffectual, the light dawned on him and he became exceedingly evangelical and then he said that while he was endeavoring to reform men of their vices, he never heard of any such reformation being effected. Subordinate reformations comes through the preaching of the progress of sin through the atoning blood of Christ.

"Another answer J. R. Lowell gives when he says:

"When the microscopic search of scepticism, which has hunted the heavens and sounded the seas to disprove the existence of the creator, has turned its attention to human society and has found a place on this planet to 10 miles square where a decent man can live in decency, comfort and security supporting and educating his children unspoiled and polluted where old age is respected, womanhood honored, where the gospel of Jesus Christ has not gone and cleared the way, it will then be in order for the sceptical literati to move there and ventilate their views."

Risked His Life.

Every day there is a grand rush for the 7.58 train and commutor after commutor jumps on board the moving train at the risk of his life. This morning a young man tried to do the same thing but he slipped and fell almost under the car wheels. He retained his hold of the rail, however, and finally drew himself out of his dangerous position and on the train. Everybody that witnessed the fall expected to see him ground to pieces under the car-wheels.

It Was Not a Fake.

If the editor of the News will take the trouble to see Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., he will learn that the article published in the Daily Press on Friday night, regarding the opening of a fire hydrant in Prideville, was not a take, and that the fire, water and lamps committee of the borough council did consider the matter and refer it to the Water Supply Company. The man who opened the hydrant is known and he will be obliged to repair the damage to the roadway.

Chronic Rheumatism Cured.

Dr. H. B. Hettinger, Indiannapolis, Ind., says: "For several months after spraining my ankle I was severely afflicted with Rheumatism. I finally tried Detchon's 'Mystic Cure' for Rheumatism, and in four days could walk without my cane; two bottles cured me sound and well. I take pleasure in recommending the 'Mystic Cure' to all who are afflicted with Rheumatism." Sold by T. S. Armstrong, druggist, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Nurses' Home Nearly Completed.

Work on the nurses' home at Munlenburg Hospital is going rapidly forward. The plastering on the upper floor has been completed and the men are now at work on the interior decoration. It is expected the building will be ready for occupancy by January 1st.

To cure all old sores, to heal an indolent ulcer, or to speedily cure piles, you need simply apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve according to directions. Its magic-like action will surprise you. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front st.

SANTA CLAUS WAS THERE

THE OLD FELLOW PAID A VISIT TO ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH SALE.

The Hearts of Little People Made Happy On a Result of His Gifts—The Affair a Pleasing Success Socially and Financially.

A delightful parlor sale was held at the residence of Rev. S. P. Simpson, of Watchung avenue, Saturday afternoon and evening, by the ladies of the St. Stephen's church. The affair was very successful financially and otherwise.

Tables were arranged about the parlor and there fancy articles, cake, candies and the like were sold. The fancy table was under the charge of Miss Geraldine Anthony and Miss Simpon. Mrs. E. H. Woodward presided over the apron table while Miss Florence R. Beal was in charge of the table filled with delicious home made candies which found a quick sale. The large assortment of cakes of all varieties exhibited from a table which was presided over by Mrs A. J. Beal and Mrs. A. R. Dyett. There was a Christmas tree from which hung all sorts of odd shaped packages, which, when purchased and opened, showed all sorts of nice things. Miss Trotty Smith was in charge of this department.

Santa Claus made his appearance during the evening and as he had not yet made his annual round among the children of the world, his pack was filled to overflowing. He changed his pack into a grab-bag and everybody had a chance to see what they could get. There was an immence doll of fair face and gown, for which Miss Vaughn sold guesses as to its name. Miss Kate Neuman suggested "Almira" and was presented with the doll. Hers was the last guess. In the dining room light refreshments were sold.

While all the ladies of the church took some part in the preparations for this successful sale a committee looked especially after the arrangments. This committee was composed of Mrs. S S Guoin, Mrs. S. P. Simpson. Mrs. A. R. Dyett, and Mrs. N. P. T. Finch.

Over $100 was cleared at the sale.

To Show Stereopticon Views.

An entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Men's Mutual Improvement Society of Hope Chapel, on the evening of Monday, December 21st, in the chapel. The entertainment will consist of a number of selected stereopticon views interspersed with music and songs suitable to the particular views shown, and adapted to the country and age. Prof. C. E. Hepburn, who is to produce these views on canvas, has a wide reputation and has given entire satisfaction in several cities and towns. Another feature of the entertainment will be the introduction of several clever and commendable tricks by Wilbur Sherwood, of this city.

Jack Daly Hurt.

John Daly, of this city, who is manager of Rich & Maeder's "Kidnapped" company, met with a serious accident while in Hartford Conn., last week, which will lay him up for awhile. A team of horses and a patrol wagon are used in the play, and one day Mr. Daly was on the wagon while the horses were being exercised about the city. Suddenly an axle broke, allowing the wagon to fall heavily to the ground. Mr. Daly was thrown out and his right leg severely injured, so that he is unable to get around except by the use of crutches. His many friends in this city will be pleased to learn that the accident was no worse, and they hope that he will speedily recover.

Charming Christmas Gifts.

There are few things that add to the comfort of a home as a good lamp. To insure getting the best obtainable, both from an artistic and practicable standpoint, buy the "Miller" lamp, manufactured by Edward Miller & Co., 28 and 30 West Broadway, between Park place and Barclay streets, New York. Miller & Co. are the oldest and largest manufacturers of lamps.

Another Factory For Garwood.

A. J. Beckley & Company, of Meridan, Conn., have given out the contract for the mason work on their new factory at Garwood. The contract was awarded to Everett & Pierson of Cranford. The company will take charge of the carpenter work themselves. The Jersey Central Railroad is now building a siding to the new factory.

Great Help to the Home.

The net proceeds for the Children's Home from the lecture of Dr. John Watson is $447.35.

Soothing, and not irritating, strengthening, and not weakening, small but effective—such are the qualities of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

SERMON AND RECEPTION.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH THE SCENE OF AN INSPIRING SERVICE

Children of Mary Receive Admonition From the Words of Rev. Father O'Neil—Interior of Edifice Made a Fine Sight.

St. Mary's church was crowded last evening with people who had come to witness the reception to the Children of Mary, a society connected with the church. Yesterday being the first Sunday within the octave of the festival day of the Immaculate Conception, it was most fitting that the ceremonies should take place on that day.

At 8 o'clock the young ladies composing the Children of Mary and the sodality of the Immaculate Conception, to the number of ninety, marched from the school hall to the church and entering the sacred edifice two by two, made the entire circuit of the interior, singing a litany to the accompaniment on the organ by Miss St. Leger. The sight was beautiful, and the many lighted candles on the altars added their share to enhance the beauty of the scene. The litany was followed by the singing of the hymn, "What Mortal Tongue," after which the sermon of the evening was preached by Rev. Father O'Neil, of Seton Hall College, South Orange, an eloquent speaker. He took his text from the Book of Proverbs, thirty-first chapter, twenty-ninth verse—"Many daughters have gathered together riches; thou hast surpassed them all." Father O'Neil, in his discourse, dwelt particularly on the virtues that shone forth in the life of the Blessed Virgin Mary, virtues that might well be emulated by all, he said, but more especially by the young ladies composing the Children of Mary, whose patroness and model she is. After the sermon the hymn "Ave Maris Stella" was sung, followed by the reception, when Rev. Father Smith received a large number of applicants for admission into the society. The hymn "Mary, Queen of Heavenly Spheres," was then rendered, after which the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, with Rev. Father O'Neil officiating, assisted by Rev. Father Murphy, brought to a close the exercises of the evening.

BOLD ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY.

The Home of William F. Arnold Visited by an Intruder Friday Night.

A bold attempt at burglary was committed early Saturday morning at the home of Cashier Wm. F. Arnold, of 817 Third place. Mr. Arnold remained at the new City National bank building rather late on Friday night, watching the progress of the work on the vaults, and when he reached home about one o'clock he found his wife much excited, and upon inquiry she told him what had happened just before he arrived. It seems that a man, unusually bold, had previously been trying several keys in an attempt to open the front door. Mrs. Arnold thinking at first that it was her husband, called to him, but the only reply she heard was "It's me." She then became frightened and illuminated the house throughout, hoping to scare the man away. This had but little effect, for he went to the back door, and went through the same performance of trying the keys there. By this time Mr. Arnold reached home, when his wife related the above story. He immediately called for a patrolman and Officer Flynn responded quickly. The two men made a search of the premises and house, but failed to find anyone, as the midnight prowler was evidently frightened away when Mr. Arnold arrived at his house.

New G. A. R. Officers.

Major Anderson Post, No. 109, G. A. R., held a regular meeting, Saturday evening, and elected the following officers: Commander, S. C. Baker; senior vice, E. J. Olssen; junior vice, C. H. Randolph; chaplain, Rev. L. E. Livermore; surgeon; J. F. Berg, M. D.; quartermaster, J. R. Naylor; officer of the day, N. C. Pennington; officer of the guard, J. R. Anderson; representative to department encampment, Rev. L. E. Livermore; alternate, N. C. Magee; trustee, for three years, J. B. Clarkson. The annual inspection of the post will take place Saturday evening, December 26th.

An All-Around Contest.

The members of the Union County Country Club have challenged the members of the Park Club to a series of contests in competition, which includes pool, billiards, bowling and whist. The event will be held at an early date.

Spiritually Refreshed.

There was a large attendance at both the preaching services in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, and all who listened to the able sermons by Rev. J. F. Riggs, D. D. of New Brunswick, were spiritually refreshed.

CITY NURSE'S SUPPORT.

ELEVEN KING'S DAUGHTERS' CIRCLE PLEDGE THE SUM OF $530.

The Semi-Annual Meeting of the City Union Held Last Saturday Afternoon—Encouraging Reports From the Officers.

The semi-annual meeting of the City Union, King's Daughters, was held in the chapel of the Crescent avenue church Saturday, and it was one of the best meetings ever held by the Union. The first business was the receiving of the pledges from the eleven circles composing the union for the support of the city nurse. The pledge amount to $530, which is very gratifying to the officers in charge. The report of Miss Mary Tracy, treasurer, showed that there is at present a balance of $195.23 in the treasury and $119.75 in fresh air camp treasury.

The report of the secretary, Miss Haviland, was a synopsis of the work done during the past summer at the fresh air camp and it gave strong evidence that great good had been accomplished by the establishment of the camp.

This finished the business and those present then had the pleasure of hearing a talk by Mrs. Isabelle Charles Davis, one of the recording secretary's of the International Union, King's Daughters. Owing to illness Miss Mary Lowe Dickinson, the intended speaker, could not be present. Mrs. Davis was introduced by Rev. Dr. Rodman, and she gave a soul-inspiring talk along the lines of work she represents. She dwelt at length on the importance of every member being filled with the Holy spirit. Much good advice and words of commendation were given by Mrs. Davis and she gave all a greater desire to push forward in the grand work which is being accomplished by the King's Daughters all over the country.

Mrs. Davis is an earnest speaker and her talk was a source of spiritual help to each one present. In conclusion she offered a fervent prayer to the Throne of Grace. An earnest invitation was extended all to attend the mission services to be held under the auspices of the International Union King's Daughters, the second week in January in the church at the corner of Thirtieth street and Ninth avenue, New York city. At the close of the meeting all remained to enjoy a cup of tea and a social chat. The tea was given under the auspices of the Willing Circle of the Crescent Avenue church, and Miss Walz poured tea She was assisted by the following as waitresses:—Edith Fisk, Gladys Kaufman, Grace Kaufman, Ursula Rolands, Elsie Harman, Helen Harman and Florence Beebe.

FOG CAUSED A WRECK.

Engineer Couldn't See That He Was Running Into Other Cars.

A coal train on the Jersey Central Railroad was run into by another one yesterday morning at about 9 o'clock near the Bound Brook station. Six cars were smashed into kindling wood in the collision, but luckily no one was hurt. The accident was caused by the dense fog that covered the tracks at that time, hiding the flagman of one train from sight until the other train was almost upon him. The switch was open and the moving train crashed into the other before the engineer had time to reverse the lever. When he saw that a collision was inevitable he jumped from the cab just as the engine struck the cars.

The wrecking train was sent for and soon arrived on the scene and cleared away the debris, so that the traffic on the road was but little delayed. Five of the large gondolas were completely wrecked, while others were slightly damaged.

Not the Horse Wanted.

Stonewall Jackson, of Martinville, who is a large dealer in all kind of horses, brought one of his animals to Plainfield on Friday for the purpose of selling him to the city for the fire department. The horse was placed by the side of the truck horse George, and proved to be a very even match for the latter. Yesterday afternoon the fire committee of the City Council inspected the horse at headquarters and decided that he was not the horse wanted. The committee is in no great hurry in purchasing horses for they want to get just the kind suitable for the work.

Entertained the Teachers.

Joseph A. Robinson, of East Fifth street, superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Congregational church, entertained the teachers at his home Saturday night. A very pleasant evening was passed by all.

The old lady was right when she said the child might die if they waited for the doctor. She saved the little one's life with a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. She had used it for croup before. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

FATHER AND SON FIGHT

THE LATTER JUST OUT OF JAIL, GOES BACK AGAIN.

The Two Men Disagreed and Retired to the Upper Story of Their House to Settle Differences—Blood Flowed Freely.

Roundsman Mattox has visited the scene of many a racket, but he says that he never saw a worse looking place than the one he was called to yesterday afternoon to put an end to a family scrap that was disturbing the whole neighborhood. The trouble was at the home of John Dorgan, of Plainfield avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

The Roundsman was on duty yesterday as usual, covering the city on his wheel. He was told that there was a family row going on at the home of the Dorgans, and so he strated to investigate. The inmates were all peaceful when he arrived, but the house showed many signs of a previous lively time. The window sashes had been knocked out, and in the house the chairs and tables were overturned and smashed.

John Dorgan, Jr., better known as Jack, was claimed to be the cause of the fracas. He had returned Saturday after serving a term in the county jail for drunkenness, but he had skipped when the officer approached. Mrs. Dorgan refused to let the officer in and informed him, in language more forcible than polite, that characters of his style were not wanted. The doors and windows were locked, so the Roundsman rode away.

He didn't stay long, however, and returned to find the son at home again. Jack told the policeman to go to a place where it was considerably warmer, for he wouldn't go in there. John Dorgan, Sr., disagreed with his son at that remark and told him that he was going to be arrested. Father and son immediately adjourned to the upper story to settle their differences while Mrs. Dorgan waited below.

The Senior Dorgan said in the city court this morning that he laid down on the bed and his son jumped on him and started to thrash him. At any rate a lively fight ensued between father and son, the sounds of which could be heard by Mattox and a large crowd that had assembled outside to see the fun. Mrs. Dorgan heard the noise and finally rushed up stairs screaming "Murder! Police!" at the top of her voice. The Roundsman waited no longer but kicked open the door and pushed away the things with which Jack had tried to barricade the door. Then he rushed up stairs to find the two men struggling on the bed, both of them covered with blood, while the mother and wife took a hand in the conflict from the oustide.

Mattox pulled the son away and then the latter, half blinded with blood, turned on the officer and struggled fiercely in his grasp. After a lively resistance, Jack Jr. was landed in the yard and finally conveyed to to the lock-up.

This morning he was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. He pleaded guilty and the Judge gave him his choice between a fine of $20 and 60 days in jail. His finances was low and he was taken down the road to Elizabeth. The elderly couple also appeared but they pleaded not guilty and laid all the blame for the trouble on their son who, they say, was wild with drink. They declare that they were both sober while Mattox testifies that they were under the influence of liquor. Their trial was set down for Saturday morning.

Disturbed a Meeting.

William Albert was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning for causing a disturbance at Reform Hall last evening and for using profane language. The complaint was made by Constable Rockafellow who alleges that Albert became so disorderly that he had to put him out. Albert pleaded not guilty and his trial was set down for Saturday morning.

Pulpit Occupied by a Field Worker.

The pulpit at the Crescent Avenue church was occupied yesterday by L. D. Wishard, one of the leading field workers in the Y. M. C. A. In the morning he gave an interesting talk of his work in foreign fields, and at the evening service preached a powerful Gospel sermon.

An Endeavor Rally.

On Thursday evening of this week there will be a Christian Endeavor rally in the First Presbyterian church, at which time Rev. Mr. Harsha, of of Harlem, will deliver an address. All Christian Endeavorers are cordially invited.

Scaly eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is at present the article most used for piles, and it always cures them. L. W. Randolph, 143 East Front street.

GREAT INDIGNATION

Widespread Denunciation Over Maceo's Assassination.

G. A. R. MEN READY TO AID CUBANS

The News Discussed in Diplomatic and Political Circles in Washington---Minister De Lome Wants Judgment Suspended Awaiting Facts.

Pittsburg, Dec. 14.—When the United Associated Press bulletin announcing that it had been learned that Maceo was the victim of treachery on the part of the Spaniards and really assassinated instead of being killed in battle, as reported, Spain was denounced on all sides in this city in the most vigorous terms. Sympathy with the Cubans and their cause was aroused to an astonishing degree. A reporter visited G. A. R. Post 162 in Allegheny to interview some of the representative veterans on the Cuban situation. The post was adjourning. When Commander Brown heard from the reporter the news of Maceo's assassination he seized his gavel and called the post to order again. The reporter was requested to repeat his story. As they heard the reading of the report of the attack upon Maceo while under the protection of the flag of truce every one of the fifty grizzled veterans present pressed forward eagerly. The reading being finished, there was a moment's silence; then comrade R. C. Miller said firmly and slowly: "If this be true, I am ready to go to Cuba to-morrow." "Here, too," said others. "The cowards," was hissed by many. A general and earnest talk followed in which the most intense earnestness was evidenced. "If this is true, we will all go to the aid of the Cubans," shouted a speaker. The answer in chorus was, "That's what we will." The general sentiment prevailing was that the United States should extend immediately a powerful arm to the assistance of the struggling band of patriots on the island of Cuba.

INSURGENTS ROUTED.

More Official Reports of Spanish Victories Given Out.

Havana, Dec. 14.—Official advices from the province of Pinar del Rio are to the effect that Col. Feijoo, acting under orders from Capt.-Gen. Weyler, left Campo Florida, near Havana, on Friday, and went in search of the rebels under Aguirre, Castillo, Aranguren and other leaders. The insurgents, comprising 1,300 cavalry, were found at La Luz Rancee, and were attacked and defeated. The Spanish troops pursued them, and several fights occurred at other points, in which the rebels were invariably defeated. In all these encounters the rebels lost seven killed and the troops five wounded. On Satuaday Col. Feijoo's command met a body of rebels at Tumba Cuatro and dislodged them from their positions. The insurgents left eleven dead on the field and carried many wounded with them on their retreat. The Spanish loss was nineteen wounded. The Havana volunteers organized a grand torchlight procession and demonstration in honor of General Weyler last night. Large crowds were out to witness the demonstration. The paraders, who were accompanied by several bands of music, marched through the principal streets and then proceeded to the palace, where a great crowd had assembled. Gen. Weyler was enthusiastically cheered, and there were many cries of "Long live the king," "Long live Spain," and other patriotic phrases. A number of speeches were made, in which the speakers expressed the greatest loyalty to the crown and urged their hearers to lay down their lives, if necessary, for the honor of Spain. All the speakers were cheered to the echo. After the speeches the demonstration ended. Gen. Weyler will return to the province of Pinar del Rio this week.

THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON.

Maceo's Tragic Death Discussed in Diplomatic and Political Circles.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Little else is being discussed in Washington among diplomats and politicians beside the tragic death of the insurgent general, Maceo. The sentiment here among all classes is decidedly with the insurgents and expressions of sympathy are heard on all sides for the altimate success of the Cuban cause. The subject of Maceo's death will be brought up in congress to-day, most probably in the senate, where several resolutions recognizing Cuban belligerency are pending. It is less difficult to bring the subject up there than in the house where the rules restrict action. Chairman Hitt of the house foreign affairs committee was not in a position this morning, he said, to discuss the subject of Maceo's death. The news was too conflicting and indefinite and he was in favor of waiting until the details of the circumstances, assuming that Maceo is dead, are received through United States official channels. Mr. Hitt, because of his prominent position, is cautious and he voices the general sentiment of the conservative element in both parties. There is in both branches of congress a large number who are ready to recognize Cuban belligerency, whether the Maceo incident prove correct or not. Senator Blanchard of Louisiana represents this element when he declared this morning that he was ready at any time to vote for a resolution recognizing the belligerency of the Cubans or, better still, their independence. Senator Platt of Connecticut said that the mendacious character of the news from Cuba for the past six months and its utter unreliableness, prevented him from expressing any opinion in advance of official information confirming Maceo's death. "Nobody knows," he declared with emphasis, "whether Maceo is dead or alive, if dead how he met his death, or any of the essential details upon which to base an intelligent opinion and until I do I will not speak as to what ought to be done or indicate how I will act." It is not believed that a resolution to investigate the manner in which Maceo met his death will be offered in congress; even Cuban sympathizers do not think such a matter is within the power of this government, as Maceo is a Spanish subject and his death, if dead, occurred on Spanish soil; but it will be within the province of the United States consul general at Havana to institute such inquiries and for congress to call for and act upon his report. The matter will doubtless take this course.

RIDICULES THE REPORT.

De Lome Asks That Judgment Be Suspended Regarding Manner of Maceo's Death.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The Spanish minister, Senor Dupuy De Lome, expressed the hope to-day that the American people will suspend judgment regarding the reported assassination of Maceo until the real facts are known. He ridiculed the statement that Vice Captain General Ahumada should be a party to such an occurrence and he believes that there are a sufficient number of reputable correspondents in Havana to investigate the charges fairly and publish the result. The statements of the junta, which he says bear the stamp of absurdity upon their face, are made to neutralize the effect of the president's message and to create sympathy with their failing cause. "We have been accused repeatedly," he said, "of circulating the report of Maceo's death to affect the action of congress. It is quite reasonable to assume now that Maceo is known to be dead that the junta is originating reports of his death by treachery for the same reason."

Excitement at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Dec. 14.—Upon the receipt of the news in this city of the circumstances of Maceo's death a wave of public indignation arose that increases hourly. It is the absorbing topic of discussion wherever men gather, and the treachery of the Spanish general is condemned in the strongest language. The newspapers are giving it editorial attention in which terms as "savagery," "murder" and "assassination" do double duty and the Virginius affair is given a new airing.

Indignation at Chicago.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—The circumstances attending the death of Commander Maceo of the Cuban army have aroused a feeling of intense indignation in this city. The stories published in Sunday morning's papers were discussed at the various clubs and hotels and the opinion was almost unanimous that congress would take summary action during the present week. All agreed that the assassination of Maceo would do Spain more harm than good.

HALE AND RICE IN GOOD FORM.

The First and Second Man in the Big Bicycle Race Receive Their Money-To-day.

New York, Dec. 14.—Hale, who won the six-day bicycle race which ended Saturday night at Madison Square Garden, covering 1,910 miles and 8 laps and beating all records previously made in similar races, will to-day receive $1,300, his share of the $7,500 purse, and Rice, who came in second, having traveled 1,882 miles and 6 laps, will receive $5.00. Cassidy, Gannon, McLeod and Glick will also receive something for their game struggle, although they were the tail-enders. During the race Hale had only eight hours' sleep. His manager's calculations show that the winner traveled just thirty-five miles more than his final score, and that by leaving the track for the short races he lost sixty-six miles. On this figuring, Hale would very likely have established a record of over 2,000 miles had he adopted different tactics. Starting to-day Hale will begin an engagement at a theatre. The other members of the foreigu party will go either to Baltimore or Washington and then on a tour of the cities. The Australian tour has been abandoned, owing to the success of Hale. Rice, the Wilkesbarre machinist, is as strong as a lion to-day, and in condition, he says, to ride a fifty-mile race in fast time. He suffered very little during the race physically and lost but one pound during the week. Rice had trained very little for the race. In fact, all the training he did was to work in his bicycle shop until 11 o'clock every night during the week before the race. He built the machine he rode. This was Rice's first long race, although in 1892 he started in one, but was forced to quit. He believes now that, with the experience gained in this race, he could cover 2,000 miles within six days. He says he would like to race against Hale again.

Cleveland Goes Duck Shooting.

Washington, Dec. 14. — President Cleveland started off on another duck shooting expedition last evening. This time he will be the guest of the Annandale club on its preserves in South Carolina. The journey to Georgetown, S. C., was made by railway, from which place he will board a lighthouse tender for the club house on Winyah bay. Mr. Cleveland was accompanied by his old sporting companions, Capt. Robley D. Evans of the navy; Capt. S. R. Lamberton, also a naval officer and Major Robert O'Reilly, an army surgeon and the Washington physician of the Cleveland family. The party will return about the end of the week.

Financial Redress for Ireland.

London, Dec. 14.—Mr. Dillon will raise a debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech opening the session of parliament, calling attention to the report of the commission on the financial relations between Great Britain and Ireland.

DUSTS THE FURNITURE.

How Don, a Clever New Jersey Dog, Earns His Board.

Harry Stanwix, living in Camden, N. J., owns a Newfoundland dog named Don. Don was always allowed to remain in the house except when his mistress was cleaning the rooms, and then he was unceremoniously driven into the yard. The dog greatly prefers the house to the yard, and evidently planned a way to be allowed to remain with his mistress. He noticed that she always dusted the furniture after sweeping a room, and the idea came to him that his large bushy tail would make a first-class dust-brush. One day when the dusting commenced his mistress saw him come in, and, backing up to a chair, he commenced dusting it. At first she thought he was only wagging his tail in appreciation of having returned to the house, but it was soon evident from his going from one article of furniture to another, repeating the performance, that Don was in earnest about helping clean house. It was so novel that he was encouraged in it, and now he is a regular assistant housekeeper to his mistress, his duties being to dust such furniture as he can reach, carry brooms, brushes, etc., all of which he does to the entire satisfaction of Mrs. Stanwix.

DUSTING THE FURNITURE.

Digestion and Complexion.

"The secret of a bad complexion," says a physician, "is a bad digestion, and we generally trace that to a bad liver. One of the best remedies for a sluggish liver is cheap and pleasant. Dieting is the secret of the cure. The best liver regulator of persons of sedentary habits—and those are the ones whose complexions are muddy—is to be found in apples, eaten baked if they are not well digested when eaten raw. I attended the pupils at a well-known boarding-school, and among them was a country girl whose complexion was the envy of all her associates. I found that she was a very light eater at her meals, but she had a peculiar custom of taking a plate of apples to her room at night and eating them slowly as she studied her lessons. This was her regular practice."

"You are charged with knocking the complainant down with a club and taking all his valuables," said the judge.

"He tole me to," said the prisoner.

"Eh?"

"He tole me to do it. I stops him on the corner to get a light, see? An', of course, we got to talkin' about de money question. Den he says to me: 'De only right way to git at de money question is to start right in on first principles,' he says. 'Is dat de way youse want to do?' I says. 'It is,' says he. 'All right,' I says, an' soaks 'im an' takes wot belongs to me by rights of first principles."—Indianapolis Journal

5 Sores

In combination, proportion and process Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself, and unequalled in true merit.

No other medicine ever possessed so much curative power, or reached such enormous sales, or made such wonderful cures, as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is undoubtedly the best medicine ever made to purify, vitalize and enrich the blood.

That is the secret of its success.

Read this statement:

"When my son was 7 years of age, he had rheumatic fever and acute rheumatism, which settled in his left hip. He was so sick that no one thought there was any help for him. Five sores broke out on his thigh, which the doctor said were sores. We had three different doctors Pieces of bone came out of the sores. The last doctor said the leg would have to be cut open and the bone scraped, before he could get well. Howard became so low that he would eat nothing, and one doctor said there was no chance for him.

Scrofula

"One day, a newspaper recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla was left at our door. We decided to try this medicine. Howard commenced taking it the last of February, after having been sick for a year and a half He hadn't taken it a week before I saw that his appetite began to improve, and then he gained rapidly. I gave him five bottles, when the sores were all healed and they never broke out again. The crutches he had used for four years were laid aside, as he had no further use for them. I give all the credit to Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. ADA L. MOODY, Fay Street, Lynn, Mass.

Cured

This and many similar cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Scott's Emulsion

Will Cure a Stubborn Cough when ordinary specifics fail. It restores strength to the weakened organs and gives the system the force needed to throw off the disease.

50 cents and $1.00 at all druggists.

Scott & Bowne, Chemists, New York.

J. C. Pope & Co.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 East Front st.,
Plainfield, N. J.

THE GRANDVIEW
Meat Market.
George Egel, Manager.
Dealer in Fresh and Salted Meats Game in season. Orders called for and delivered promptly. Cor. Grandview ave. and Somerset street. 6 12 tf

Honeyman's Private Tours.
To OLD POINT COMFORT, December 29th—5 days
To FLORIDA, Jan. 21—16 days.
To CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18—25 days
Office 181 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE!
Four houses, one on the corner of Liberty and West Second streets and the three adjoining on West Second street, can be sold separately but would prefer to sell in bulk; one third can remain on bond and mortgage; an offer desired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. DIETRICH, 58 Grove street, North Plainfield N. J. 11 17 1m

The Metropolitan Boarding Stables
C. V. D. CORLE, - - - - - - - Proprietor
No. 138 East Second street. Livery and Boarding and Sale Stable. Horses boarded by the day, week, month or hour. Reasonable prices. 11 17 1y

MISS A. E. LINCOLN,
Park Avenue Florist,
Floral Design Work specialty. Choice Cut Flowers, Palms, Ferns, Bulbs and everything in the Florist's line. 116 PARK AVE. 9 20 3m

HERMAN KELLER,
Manufacturer of and Retail Dealer in
Cigars, Tobacco, etc.
"PRIDE OF PLAINFIELD" CIGAR a specialty 116 North avenue. 9 26 tf

VAPOR BATHS!
Physician's help in curing all chronic diseases, qualizes the circulation, cleanes and purifies the blood, cures colds, influenza, rheumatism, nervous and general debility, palsy salt rheum, all skin diseases, massage and electricity. MISS M. V. TICKLE, 11-19-1m 147 East Fifth street.

Edwin B. Maynard,
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield
Ladies' shampooing and children's hair cutting a specialty.

WINTER STYLES
Boots, Shoes & Rubbers.
Just Received from manufacturers
FORCE, 129 Park Avenue.
29 4m

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter, 22c.
Best Dairy Butter 18c.
V. L. FRAZEE
151 West Front st.

L. A. HUMMER'S
VARIETY MARKET.
Meats, fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, etc. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.
120 Park avenue. Telephone call 29-A

PIANOS
If you want a deep, clear rich tone, and the best material, buy your PIANOS at W. R. BROKAW'S, Piano Parlors, 311 Madison ave. Bargains in second-hand instruments. Parlors always open. Tuning and regulating a specialty.

Your Valuables
will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
Lock boxes from $3.50 to $10 a year.

P. MARKEY, Bakery,
144 PARK AVENUE.
A full assortment of bread, cakes, and pies fresh every day. Fig and malt bread a specialty. 2 17 tf

Ernest Barrett
has removed to
148 EAST FIFTH STREET.
Sanitary Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
All work guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. W. VanSickle,
FRESH AND SALTED MEATS.
Game in season. No. 122 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 148b. Orders called for and delivered promptly.
Philadelphia Scrapple.

McCullough's STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield.
R. H. McCullough, Prop.
Sash, blinds, doors, mouldings, scroll sawing, turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North avenue

W. N. Pangborn,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER,
Residence, 33 Linden Ave.
Personal attention. Prompt service. 1 14 tf
Telephone 29b. Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,
Plumbing and Hot Water Heating.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
NO. 326 PARK AVENUE.

Within the reach of all.
ACCIDENT TICKETS.
THE INTER-STATE
Casualty Company of New York
gives SIX MONTHS' insurance
$1.000 for $1.00,
to men or women
between 18 and 60 years of age, against accidental death. $100,000 deposited with the Insurance Deparment of the State of New York for the security of the insured.
For sale at office of
Honeyman's Private Tours,
181 North Ave. Plainfield, N.J.
6 25-6 mos

Rushton, Hansen & Luthman,
PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS,
Office and shop Sycamore and 4th sts.
Interior decorating a specialty. Our motto—first-class work. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders promptly attended to. 2 11 tf

REVERE HOUSE
PARK AVENUE, 7th and 8th sts. | PLAINFIELD, New Jersey.
Families accomodated for the fall and winter months at greatly reduced prices.
The house contains all modern improvements lighted by Gas and Electricity, Sanitary arrangements perfect. Cuisene unsurpassed.
GEO. B. DE REVERE.

A. LUSARDI,
120 NORTH AVENUE.
Wholesale and Retail
Dealer in choice fruit of all kinds of Confectionery, Peanuts, Cigars, etc. Soda Water of all flavors and always ice cold. Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE
Sewer Connections.
DAVID BOWDEN,
General Contractor. 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Carriage drives macadamized, sewers and sewer connections promptly made, lawns carefully restored. All work done in a practical and skilful manner.
28 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Best of references furnished. Charges moderate 4 18 tf

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence, 18 Elm place.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly 4o

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st.
H. E. Gayle, No. 18 Vine st.
All work promptly attended to.

GEO. O. STEVENS & CO.
COAL.
147 WEST FRONT ST.
Branch office with
G. A. HALLOCK,
109 West Front street.

30,000 CIGARS
of our own manufacture to select from. Why go out of the city to purchase. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to examine stock and prices.
M. C. DOBBINS,
206 Park Avenue,
8 15 tf Plainfield.

H. Eggerding,
131 Park ave.,
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made the premises from the finest Havana. Also, Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars

GEO J. TOBIN,
187 North Avenue.
Practical Plumber.
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer.
Telephone Call 128a

L. L. Manning & Son,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,
Corner Central avenue and West Front street, opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

William Hand & Son.
STAGES
For Parties, etc., 218 Park ave.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing,
Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for sewer connections.
210 PARK AVE.

Jones & Co.,
EXCAVATORS.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
Cesspools Built.

BRAIN FOOD.
Edw. P. Thorn,
RETAIL DEALER IN
Fish, Oysters, and Clams.
Terms Cash. Goods Delivered

E. H. Holmes,
Dealer in
Coal & Wood.
Yard—No. 208 Madison avenue.
Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle, 145 North ave.
Telephone 49-A.

CODDINGTON'S
Furniture and Freight
EXPRESS.
Piano moving a specialty. Large covered trucks; goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable; satisfaction guaranteed. Orders may be left at Sattel's music store, 321 Park ave.

Use Leggett's Demulcent Cream of Witch Hazel

for the skin.

25 cents a Jar.

LEGGETT'S PHARMACY.

Y .M. C. A. BUILDING.

TELEPHONE No. 4.

The Largest Selection of

Wall Papers

—AND—

Painter's Supplies

in Plainfield.

Woolston & Buckle,

141-145 North avenue.

Women Have Dainty Feet

——pretty feet, but clumsy rubbers and a rainy day will transform them into anything but beauty. Now the INVISIBLE CORK SOLE SHOE which we are selling in both BUTTON and LACE, at $3 00, does away with all this. The feet are kept warm and dry, without the disfigurement of rubbers. These shoes will prove a profitable investment to any woman—they are economical, stylish and healthy. What more can be put into a shoe?

DOANE & EDSALL.

The Bee Hive

SCHOOL DRESSES

Children's School Dresses made in dark Outing Flannel, 50c.

Children's Wool Dresses made in fancy colors and plaid and plain colors, from $1 to $4

Children's Flannel Dresses sizes 1 to 4, 98cts.

Boy's Outing Flannel Waists, plaited front and back, 25c

Children's heavy black cotton Hose, 5c. Same, seamless, 10c.

Children's extra heavy black ribbed Hose, all sizes, 12c.

4 button Kid Gloves, 59c.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front st.

"It is Making a Hit."

FEIGENSPAN'S Finest Pale Ale IN BOTTLES, and FEIGENSPAN'S SAAZER BEER

At Hotel Grenada Bar.

The Plainfield Confectioners,

112 West Front street.

Candies from 10, 15 and 20 cents per lb. up. The very best goods. Made daily on the premises. Formerly known as the New York and Philadelphia Confectionery Comp'y. 9 9 1y

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL,

No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building, Park avenue, at 8 p.m.

Harry C. Adams, Regent.

Frederick C. Pope, Secretary.

Rushmore & Co.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE, COR. FOURTH ST.

Lumber yard and Planing Mill.

Large and full assortment of lumber including 21 varities from Hemlock to Mahogany always in stock. Window frames, moulding sash, doors and blinds. Hardwood floors a specialty. Turning and scroll sawing We can make anything. Call and see us. Satisfaction guaranted.

PLEASED

with the bill is the man who has his Papering or Painting done by us. We are always in the lead with first-class materials and skilled workmen. It is not our plan to overcharge our customers, we make the right kind of prices and guarantee all our work.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

Paperhangers, Painters and Decorators,

201 Park avenue and Second street.

Painters Supplies.

1896 TAXES

NOTICE is hereby given to the Taxpayers of the City of Plainfield that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1896, are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The Commissioners of Appeal, in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber on the next, the 24th, and sit from 2 o'clock p. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

4th Tuesday in November

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1st, '96. 10 2 tf

ALEX. LUSARDI,

211 West Front Street,

Wholesale and retail dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, all kinds choice confectionery. Nuts, bananas and cigars. California fruit a specialty. No branch stores. 997 rear

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor

109 Park ave. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas. Telephone 87—F

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

Corner Park avenue and Second street.

J. E. Beerbower, Prop

Stables attached

CLEANER COAL.

and L. A. RHEAUME, N. H. SAXTON.

Watchung Ave., Corner 4th St.,

Invite the public to inspect the operation of their newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which they confidently believe enables them to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal

in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Kindling Wood a Specialty.

YOU CAN'T EXAMINE COAL

Critically—we know that well. You can't feel of it and see if it's all wool and a yard wide. The consumer must depend to a great extent on the dealer's honesty. Knowing these things it would be a pretty bad sort of a man who would deliberately cheat. Coal dealers are usually honest—if they don't give you satisfaction it is because they don't know any better—they are doing the best they can. It requires untold experience in the coal business, to always be able to give the finest and most satisfactory coal. We have succeeded pretty well in doing this and we are in excellent position to do so just now.

D. C. IVINS & CO.

Coal, Lumber, etc. 301—21 Watchung ave.

Royal Tooth Powder. Royal Talcum Powder.

Sold Everywhere. 10c. Allen Pharmacy M'g Co.

MULLINS & SONS

218-220 Market St, Newark.

GRAND DISPLAY OF FURNITURE SUITABLE FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS at Wonderfully Low Prices.

BANQUET LAMPS.

Banquet Lamps, Silk Shade, all colors, $2.50!

BRASS TABLES—100 more of BRASS and ONYX TABLES, all new designs the regular $6 tables, at..... $4.25

MUSIC CABINETS.

We are now showing beautiful new Music Cabinets, handsomely finished in mahogany and cherry with bevel plate mirror, at $7.50.

Some as low as $4.50.

PEDESTALS.

Quartered oak and mahogany, highly polished and handsomely carved, for Monday, special at $4.50.

$5. SPECIAL—A handsome Banquet Lamp with a beautiful Onyx Top and Brass Table, all complete, for $5.

This Cylinder Stove (like cut) $5.75.

All styles and sizes at the lowest prices. Also full line of ranges.

Saddle Seat and Cobbler Rockers, in oak, birch or cherry, some with plush seats, exactly like cut, at $2.50

WRITING DESKS—In oak and mahogany handsome new line to select from; a Writing Desk is always an acceptable gift, and this year our stock is larger and prices lower than ever. Some for..... $3.50.

RECEPTION CHAIRS AND GILT FURNITURE—All the newest designs in Fancy chairs and Gold Furniture We doubt if any New York store can show a fine a line. Upholstered with the best material. Prices range from.. $1 5

ROCKERS OF ALL KINDS—Saddle Seat Rockers, mahogany, oak and cherry, beautifully carved, exclusive designs, some with plush seats. This week at only..... $2.50

Easy terms of credit to everybody. We will furnish your home for $1 per week.

MULLINS & SONS.

218-220 Market St., Newark.

Branch Stores 78-84 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 121-125 Newark Ave., Jersey City, N. J. 136-138 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

Call at J. F. MACDONALD'S The Uptown Grocery.

And be convinced that it is our aim to supply the people with the best goods at the lowest prices and that we now have a full line of all the new goods necessary to make your order complete.

Musc Raisins,	3 lbs. for 25cts.		Figs,	10 cts.	per lb.
Table "	5 " " 50 "		English Wallnuts,	15 "	" "
Currants,	3 " " 25 "		Paper Shell Almonds,	25 "	" "
Cal. Prunes,	2 " " 25 "		Pecans,	18 "	" "
" Apricots,	2 " " 25 "		Filberts,	15 "	" "

A choice lot of apples $1.75 a barrel.

An Enormous Saving in Money

It is really a fact that every man, woman or child who deals with us saves money. We actually sell all qualities of honest, substantial clothing for men, boys and children at prices 40 to 50 per cent lower than any of our competitors. There's no nonsense about this statement; we mean it. We'll prove it to you any time. There's method in our madness and here's a trade secret we'll let you into; it pays us: Quick sales at small profits is our only trade secret. We buy for cash spot cash and save 25 per cent in buying, which we give our customers. We ask at least 25 per cent less profit than any dealer in Plainfield. Our customers are our partners. We give them this lion's share of the profit. If you deal with us once you will always. Try it between now and Saturday night.

SPECIAL

300 all wool Men's Kersey, Melton or Beaver Overcoats, satin lined throughout, worth $22.00, at $7.90; 150 men's all wool overcoats; worth $14.00, at $5.90; 100 overcoats, worth $10.00, at $4.50; heavy all-wool suits, worth $12.00, at $4.50; and 1,000 other articles that we cannot mention for want of space.

New York Clothing Company,

214 WEST FRONT STREET,

M. WEINBERGER.

Near Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.

Telephone, Brooklyn, 366.

COMINS & EVANS

Acorn Brand Asphalt Roofing.

Gravel and Metal Roofing, Tile and Brick Roofing, Water-Tight Cellars.

45 WAVERLY AVE, BROOKLYN, N. Y.

New York office, 102 Fulton st., room 413.

SOLD STOCK TO ENGLISHMEN.

Vanderbilts Have Not Held Controlling Interest in New York Central Since 1880.

New York, Dec. 14.—J. Pierpont Morgan, it was said in a report published yesterday, represents a majority of the stock of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company, and will soon crowd out the Vanderbilt interest from the management. Chauncey M. Depew was described as intending to resign the presidency of the road and to go as ambassador to England under Mr. McKinley's administration. Mr. Depew said to a reporter to-day: "The Vanderbilt's have not had a controlling interest in New York Central stock since 1880, when William H. Vanderbilt sold $30,000,000 in stock to English buyers represented by the Morgan house. W. H. Vanderbilt thought that the ownership of a majority of the shares of the company by one person or family would be to the detriment of the property, and there are now 13,000 stockholders, persons of every condition of life, of course, and the usual number of widows and orphans. To return to Mr. Morgan. He came into the board with Cyrus Field, whom he nominated in 1880, when the English sale of shares was made. Mr. Morgan's house continued to represent the English shareholders. His advice in the management has been invaluable. He is a great upholder of credit, and his relations with other roads and with the banking world make his counsel, as I have said, invaluable, just as the Vanderbilts are invaluable with their knowledge of railroad management. Mr. Morgan's relations with the Vanderbilts and with the company are up to this minute precisely what they have been for a long time, and the cordial cooperation will continue to exist." Mr. Depew said that the Vanderbilts were necessary to the New York Central and it could easily be seen why it was to the interest of all the stockholders that the Vanderbilts should remain in control. They controlled the lines east and west that fed the Central. If the business of those railroads were diverted to the Erie or the Lackawana, Mr. Depew said, it would be greatly to the injury of the Central railroad. As for ambassador to England or secretary of state, or any other position in the administration, Mr. Depew said he had not been offered any position, and consequently it was of no use for him to say what he would do.

SAN FRANCISCO'S GRIEF.

Funeral of Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper and Daughter This Afternoon.

San Francisco, Dec. 14.—San Francisco mourns the demise of Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper and her daughter such as she has never mourned for Californians before. The funeral of the deceased philanthropists will be held from the First Congregational church this afternoon and will be the most imposing ceremony of the kind ever witnessed in the state. The services will in a sense be non-sectarian. Police arrangements have been completed for handling the largest assemblage of mourners ever gathered in the city. Thousands of kindergarten children from the schools founded and fostered by Mrs. Cooper and her daughter will march behind the hearse to Laurel Hill cemetery, where the interment will take place. It has been decided by the relatives of the deceased that the remains of Mrs. Cooper and her daughter shall be laid beside the grave of the husband and father, who died eleven years ago.

RAINES LAW A FARCE.

State and New York and Brooklyn Officials Denounced by Rev. Dr. Funk.

New York, Dec. 14.—At a meeting of the American Temperance union, held yesterday afternoon in Chickering hall, Rev. Dr. Funk, editor of Voice, denounced the Raines law, Senator Raines, city officials and police officers of this city and Brooklyn, and charged officers appointed under the Raines law with neglect of duty. Rev. Dr. Funk said in part: "It is a roaring farce for Senator Raines and his committee to come here and ask whether the Raines law has been violated and why it has not been enforced. That law has been violated on all sides ever since it has been put into force, with the knowledge of Senator Raines, with the knowledge of every newspaper man in the state, with the gnilty knowledge of the police, and with the guilty knowledge of the district attorneys, and, most inexcusable of all, the state officers appointed under the law to see to its enforcement."

English Demands on Spain.

London, Dec. 14.—The foreign office has sent a demand for compensation to the Spanish government for the imprisonment of Messrs. Thomas and K. Beatty, tobacco and sugar merchants in Cuba. There may be a substantial basis for the charge against him, that he has used strong language against the methods of General Weyler, but the foreign office and the Messrs. Beatty's friends scout the notion that General Weyler has any proof of the Beattys acting as secret agents for the insurgents.

Expelled for Opposing Bryan.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 14.—The Jacksonian club Saturday night dropped from the rolls all democrats who refused to support Bryan in the recent campaign. The list includes all the prominent federal office holders in Nebraska. Omaha's postmaster, Euclid Martin, heads the list. A number of scathing letters were addressed to the club by the expelled members.

International Nail Competition.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—The nail manufacturers of Canada have decided to reduce prices by forty-five cents per keg in order to meet the competition from the United States as a result of the breaking up of the combine and the consequent cut prices.

REPORTERS BARRED

No More Inspired Articles in German Newspapers.

RESULT OF THE LIBEL CONVICTIONS

Sensations Promised at the Trial of Baron Von Tausch — Waldersee and the Bismarcks May Be Drawn In.

(Copyright, 1896, by the United Associated Presses.)

Berlin, Dec. 14.—One immediate and practical effect of the recent conviction of the journalists accused of libeling the minister of foreign affairs has been the cessation of inspired articles in the newspapers. The court and government officials now evade and ignore journalists, and the office of the court marshal even refuses cards of admission to any court festivities, which have hitherto been regularly accorded to members of the press. Only Hofrath de Grahl, a member of the official bureau, will henceforth be admitted to these functions, and his report must be bought by the papers that want news of the movements of the emperor and his court. It is only the independent papers that are now trying to penetrate the mystery remaining around the prosecutions. The Tageblatt, in an article on the subject, says that the trial, conviction and sentence of Baron von Luetzow was a mere prologue to the political drama of which the trial of Baron von Tausch will be the central development. The Lokal Anzeiger asserts that after his arrest von Tausch offered to reveal everything, even to the disclosure of the names of the persons who were behind him and inspired the acts of which he now stands accused. The National Zeitung insists that the government shall institute at once an energetic purification of the police.

Socialists Happy.

None of the independent papers, however, is so boldly explicit as the Vorwarets, the leading organ of the socialist party, which is daily howling in triumph over the downfall of its old enemy, Baron von Tausch. Hitherto the socialists have denied that Baron Marschall von Bieberstein was possessed of any grit, and their present support of him causes Germans to doubt whether he was well advised in forcing for his own interests the most extreme publicity of matters in regard to the dissensions and source of dissensions within the government, and especially official circles are asking whether the welfare of the public would not have been better served through some other mode of inquiry, say by bringing disciplinary proceedings against Tausch for abuse of his office. The Vorwaerts, sarcastically pointing out the fact that Baron Marschall von Bieberstein pretends to believe that Tausch had no one behind him, adds: "Von Bieberstein is too clever and too well informed not to know the whole affair to its root. As a matter of fact nobody acquainted with the court or high official circles credits the Eulenburg family with having instructed Tausch directly to operate against von Bieberstien, but all of the court know what tremendous influence the Eulenbergs wield. Their princely position and wealth influence all of the German and Austrian courts, and it is not a difficult matter to conceive that a creature like Tausch did not need any explicit orders to act in the Eulenbergs interests." In conclusion the Vorwaerts say: "If the trial of Major von Tausch is not to be a farce Baron Marschall von Bieberstein must insist upon exculpation through the clearest methods, proceeding not alone against Count von Eulenburg, but also against General von Waldersee, Prince Bismarck and Count Herbert Bismarck."

Is the Fatherland Insecure?

Herr Bebel, the socialist leader in the reichstag, has written an open letter in which he alludes to the "trinity of conspirators" behind Tausch, and declares that he will make a statement upon the subject before the reichstag. The world outside of Germany possibly fails to conceive of the awful impression made by the revelations concerning the weakness of the government, and especially the disclosures of the kaiser's subjection to possibly corrupt and unpatriotic influences, which give a sense of the insecurity of the fatherland that has never been felt before.

Farewell Dinner to Gov.-elect Black.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Speaker Reed will be the only guest outside of the New York congressional delegation at the dinner to be given to-morrow evening to Gov.-elect Black by his colleagues in congress. Mr. Black emigrated to New York from Maine, which accounts for the invitation of Speaker Reed. Representative Payne, the oldest in service of the New York delegation, will preside at the dinner, at which Mr. Reed, Mr. Black and others will speak.

A Curfew Ordinance Invalid.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 14.—Judge Baker, in the district court, has declared the curfew ordinance of Omaha unconstitutional in the case of the only boy arrested under it. The decision declares the ordinance in conflict with the prohibition to inferior magistrates of incarcerating minors under 16 years of age and requiring that such minors be held to the district court for investigation.

Probably of Incendiary Origin.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 14.—Max & Elberg's picture frame storage, on Market street, was gutted by fire yesterday afternoon, destroying stock worth $5,000. Occupants of the Wharton flats, adjoining the storage, fled in a panic. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

Published Daily, except Sunday, at 3:30 p. m., 38 North avenue. Telephone Call 61.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., DEC. 14, 1896.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Increasing Cloudiness Tonight; Tuesday Probably Showers; Colder Tonight At 2 o'Clock Leggett's Thermometer Registered 48 Degrees.

The first newspaper almanic to make its appearance is the one issued by the Philadelphia Record. It is brimful of useful information.

Senator-elect Reed certainly advances some strong and practical arguments in the matter of city and borough consolidation, in the interview published in another column of today's Press.

The question of building a new city hall for Plainfield is being agitated. Plainfield, with its growing proponsities, richly deserves a suitable building wherein to transact its municipal business.—Elizabeth Contractor.

The announcement made in today's Press that Rev. C. R. Barnes, D. D., is to relinquish the pastorate of the First Methodist church next spring, will be received with regret by the church people of this city, where, during his stay of five years, he has endeared himself in both social and religious circles. His removal, however, will not be the result of any difference between pastor and church, but because of the rules of the church applied to all pastorates.

After all, the Elizabeth shouters are not sure that they can "do" everyeverything in the sporting line from Plainfield; but they are willing to try it, says the Journal. Not always, though, for in Elizabeth sports there is something akin to caste, and the cock-a-lorums of the county seat oftimes regard Plainfield's representatives with a patronizing spirit,, as if to say, "Oh, you are not in our class so why bother with you." But way back of our modest standing we have the the sinews of war, and if we ever get after some of those much-vaunted Elizabeth crack-a jacks we'll show them that we stand pretty well up in all classes; and in some we are at the top, as they have reason to know.

EARLY INTELLIGE NCE.

—Business of great importance will be considered at the meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, S. of V., tomorrow evening.

—"Cut prices" on fine seasonable goods makes the salespeople at Edsall's more lively.

—Christmus nuts, fruits and candies of finest quality and in abundance at Joseph Carbone's, 128 North avenue.

—The Women's Association of the Congregational church will hold a meeting on Thursday afternoon in the church parlors.

—A Forefathers Day meeting will be held in the Congregational church on Wednesday evening. Rev. M. E. Dwight will be the leader.

—A cyclist from over the mountain came to grief on the car-track on Somerset street yesterday afternoon. His front forks were bent and his wheel generally damaged. He was covered with mud and somewhat cut and scratched by the fall.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Ministers' Association was held this afternoon at the home of Rev. M. E. Dwight, on Rockview avenue in the borough. Rev. C. E. Barnes, D. D., read a paper on "Some Questions That Come in the Pastorate," after which those present were entertained by Rev. and Mrs. Dwight.

Absolutely pure, perfectly harmless, and invariably reliable are the qualities of One Minute Cough Cure. It never fails in colds, croup and lung troubles. Children like it because it is pleasant to take and it helps them. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

TO DISCUSS DOMESTIC SERVICE.

The Duties of a Mistress of a House Towards a Servant.

The Plainfield Branch Alliance of Unitarium and Other Liberal Christian Women will hold its second meeting for the season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, in All Souls' church, on Park avenue.

The subject to be discussed is as follows: "Domestic Service. What are the duties of a mistress of a house towards a domestic? Is the relation a purely business one? Questions of recreation; good books; extravagance in dress; improvidence. Protection of young girls. How far can an employer advice and instruct without under interference with the liberty of a domestic?"

The length of life may be increased by lessening its dangers. The majority of people die from lung troubles. These may be averted by promptly using One Minute Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

SOMERSET WANTS CITY.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.

ty; she would hold the same attitude in Somerset that Elizabeth does in Union.

There would, of course, be opposition by either county in the event of transferring part of that county into another, but the opposition of Somerset would be more reasonable. Senator Reed then picked up his Legislative Manual for 1896, and looked over the figures of the census for 1895. The population of Somerset county is given as 30,347, and that of Union county as 85,404. North Plainfield's population is 4,879 and Plainfield 13,628. They never cut down little counties, remarked Mr. Reed, to give population to larger ones, that makes disparagement all the greater. The Legislature has said, in other cases, that that is a step in the wrong direction; they should try to equalize the population of the counties.

'People seem to think, continued the Senator, that Union county's opposition would be all powerful. Union has no more voice in the Senate than Somerset and its representation in the House is not much more.

"I am of the opinion," declared the Senator, "that North Plainfield could not be brought out of Somerset county." The other plan, he continued, might be accomplished after much oppcsition. The Legislature is a political body and the political aspect would appeal to the legislators more. From past experience I think think that they would only favor the change by equalizing the counties.

Then there would be great opposition to a new county. North and South Jersey are somewhat jealous of each other in the representation in the Senate. South Jersey would oppose the formation of a new county in North Jersey with all her might. A new county is expensive and it is questionable whether we want it. There would be county officers, the buildings and machinery, which costs money to acquire and maintain, with doubtful, if any, advantage.

What should be done, continued Senator Reed, if any change is to be made, is to take Plainfield and the portion of Middlesex county that naturally comes to the Jersey Central railroad and add it to Somerset county, and the part of Somerset county, which lies in close proximity to New Brunswick, to be given to Middlesex county in exchange.

Then Mr. Reed explained that the part of Middlesex county including Dunellen, New Market and the surrounding neighborhood naturally turns toward the Jersey Central as a means of communication and transportation while the way to the county seat, New Brunswick, is long and difficult. Then a point of Somerset county extends up close to New Brunswick and naturally turns toward that city as an outlet. A line drawn from the south-eastern corner of Plainfield to the Bound Brook dam and then across country to the present boundry line beyond New Brunswick, would effect the exchange of these two sections, which are about equal in size and population and the addition of Plainfield to Somerset county. The union of the city and the borough would follow as a matter of course.

"The people who are stirring up the question of annexation in the borough," said the Senator, "want to go over to Union County. If they want annexation, and I don't see any special need of it myself, they will have to come to Somerset county." Such is Senator Reed's opinion as regards annexation.

Rheumatism is a Foe which gives no quarter. It torments its victims day and night. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and cures the aches and pains of rheumatism.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

REALTY TRANSFERS.

Plainfield Matters of Record in the County Clerk's Office.

The following transfers of real estate were recorded in Union County Clerk Howard's office, from December 3d to December 10th inclusive:

Isaac N. Wyckoff and James N. S. Bolmer, Plainfield, to Margaret E. MacLaughlin, North Plainfield, lot Monroe avenue, $1,650.

Arron D. Thompson, Plainfield, et ux. to Franz J. Belrina, Roselle, lot Chestnut street, Roselle, (lot 26, block 1 M. Smith map, Roselle,) $750.

Randolph M. Stelle, et ux. to Lemuel W. Serrell, Jr., Plainfield, lot Plainfield avenue, $1.

Randolph M. Stelle, et ux. to Lemuel W. Serrell, Jr., Plainfield, lot Plainfield avenue, Plainfield, $1.

James Matlack, et ux. Plainfield, to Willard M. Alston, lot easterly side of Second street, Plainfield, $250.

John Lavey, Plainfield, to James A. Donegan, New York, plot easterly side of road leading to Samptown, now Clinton avenue, $5.

Central N. J. Land Improvement Co. to Samuel J. Robinson, lot Third street, Plainfield, $1,675.

John Firch et ux. to Inter-State Realty Company, New York, lot intersection of New Brooklyn road and Pemberton avenue, Plainfield, $1.

Inter-State Realty Company to Frank E. Baldwin, Rochester, N. Y., lots 69 to 74 north side Beatrice street, Plainfield; also 8 lots on the northerly side of Beatrice street, $8,000.

Inter-State Realty Co. to Jesse B. Conant, Brooklyn, lots 157 to 180, north side of Beatrice street, Plainfield, $7,000.

James J. Day et ux. to Bridget Newman, Plainfield lot Third street, $965.

Ariadna Becknell to Olive J. Haviland, Plainfield, lot Fourth street, $2,000.

—Cypress Commandery, colored Masons, will meet this evening in regular session.

The Canadian Government reports seven classes of baking powder;

First in the first class is Cleveland's

It's a pure cream of tartar powder, highest in strength.

THEATRICAL.

The inimitable and versatile comedian, Corse Payton, the charming and talented actress, Miss Etta Reed, and a strong dramatic company of recognized players will appear at Stillman Music Hall every evening this week in a repertoire of comedies and dramas, mounted and staged by a carload of magnificent scenery and properties. In each play will be exhibited refined specialties, gorgeous costumes, fancy with calcium effects and an abundance of other novelties new to patrons. Mr. Payton has spent $10,000 on these productions to make them the best ever given at popular prices and they are recognized as such in all cities where they have been produced. No theatre scenery is used, every piece of scenery is carried for each production, including the handsome Palace arch set, containing 150 colored incandescent lights. Remember the date and prices.

The last week remains of the fascinating fairy extravaganza, "The Strange Adventures of Jack and the Beanstalk," at the Casino, New York. Its initial metropolitan visit has been a lengthy one. No such scenic feast has ever greeted local play-goers in years, and nothing surpassing the brilliancy of its grand ballets has ever been staged in this or any other country. The electric ballet is a wonder. The science has never had a more daring and pictorial exposition than this dance of eight electrical goddesses of flame with thousands of ever-changing vari-colored glows. Old Holland, that quaint and picturesque stretch of land dipping into the southern end of the North Sea, has yielded full many a contribution to the art treasures of the world. The final performance of "The Strange Adventure of Jack and the Beanstalk" will be given Saturday night, December 26th.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggist, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are are best.

Serious Fire Averted.

A serious fire was averted early Saturday evening in the office of the building occupied by M. Simonson & Son., on Somerset street. Mr Lunger, the representative of the company, was in the office warning, when, without a moment's warning, a lamp exploded. Mr. Lunger quickly grasped the lamp at the base and threw it out doors before any damage was done resulted. Fortunately Mr. Lunger was not burned and the escape from a serious conflagration was remarkable.

LOOK! for the Cushioned Button.

IT'S ON

The Velvet Grip Hose Supporter.

PERFECT IN USE.
NO SLIPPING. NO TEARING.

All Styles and Sizes at Plainfield Stores.

FIRST FLOOR.

Big Variety of

UMBRELLAS, HANDKERCHIEFS and POCKETBOOKS for Holiday Gifts.

CORNER STORE.

VAN EMBURGH'S.

BABCOCK BUILDING.

SECOND FLOOR.

Crammed full of

Toys, Dolls, Games, Books and China.

Be on time

And secure the choicest of the many HOLIDAY GIFTS at PECK'S.

--JAQUETT'S--

CLOTHING Of the Latest Style for Men, Boys' and Children. Suits and Overcoats.

SUITS and OVERCOATS. School Suits, from 75c. up.
NOVELTIES FOR CHILDREN. Full lines in Top Coats, Reefers and Separate Pants.
MEN'S FURNISHINGS. All of the latest Novelties in Ties, Collars, Shirts, Suspenders.
HOSIERY, GLOVES, UNDERWEAR.
HATS of the Latest Styles at Moderate Prices.
One Price—Cash. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.
129 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GREAT FIRE SALE!

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS,

Consisting of complete lines of
DRESS GOODS, CLOAKS, MILLINERY,
NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR,
CORSETS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS,
BLANKETS, COMFORTABLES,

CARPETS,

DOMESTICS, Etc., Etc., recently damaged by smoke and water, is

Now on Sale.

Everything throughout the entire store WILL BE SOLD from 10c. to 40c. on the dollar.

LEDERER'S,

115 WEST FRONT STREET.

STILLMAN MUSIC HALL!

ONE SOLID WEEK

Commencing MONDAY, DECEMBER 14.

The Versatile Comedian,

CORSE PAYTON,

Supported by the Charming and Talented Actress,

MISS ETTA REED,

and a company of recognized players in a grand repertoire of comedies and dramas, handsomely mounted and staged by a carload of his own special scenery. Gorgeous Costumes, Magnificent Properties, Elaborate Scenery. Each Play a Grand Scenic Production. A complete change of singing and dancing specialties by Mr. Payton and members of the company at each performance.

CUT THIS OUT.

15c. and this coupon will entitle any lady to the best reserved seat in Music Hall if presented at the Reserved Seat Sale before MONDAY NIGHT at 7 o'clock.

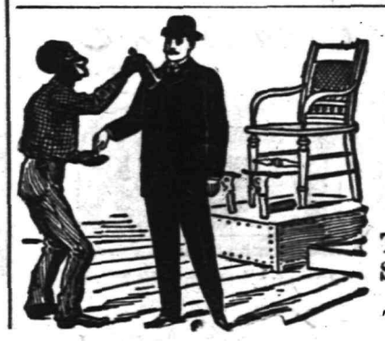
SPECIAL SOUVENIR MATINEES WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY.
Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cts. Matinee Prices, 10cts.; Reserved Seats, 20cts. Sale opens Saturday, Dec 12, at box office.

Bargains in Real Estate For sale or to let. MONEY to loan on first mortgage.

E. C. Mulford,

Send for blank contracts. 169 North avenue Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.
BROKER

Communications pertaining to the business mentioned either by letter or otherwise, will receive prompt attention. Carriage service supplied



Special-- We place on sale today a Big Line of Suitings and Trousers.

Trousers to order $3.50 worth $5
Suits to order $18, worth $25

SEBRING'S.

NEWMAN'S STAGE LINE TIME TABLE
Between Plainfield and Scotch Plains.

Leave Plainfield.....{7.00; 9.30; 12.45 a. m. / 4.00; 6.00; 9.00 p. m.
Sunday—9.00; 12.30 a. m., 3.00, 6.00 p. m.

Leave Scotch Plains.{6.20; 8.15; 10.30 a. m. / 2.00; 5.00; 7.00; 9.30 p. m.
Sunday—9.45 a. m., 2 00; 4.00, 7.00 p. m.

DEPOT—FRONT STREET AND PARK AVE.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

William Craig has been making extensive improvements to his house. A. D. Pope has also re-papered the rooms throughout.

Fire or no fire the Emerydale station was closed up tight on Friday and Saturday. Some of the Dunellen passengers are advocating the circulation of a petition, asking the company to open and maintain a waiting room of its own.

The Dunellen electric lights are are now giving much better satisfaction, and the merchants no longer have cause for complaint. The lights are turned on about 4.30 o'clock p. m. and kept burning until 7 o'clock each morning.

The Building Committee of the Dunellen Board of Commissioners, on Saturday, formally accepted the new town hall building. The painters, under Contractor W. H. Kuhus, have put on the finishing touches and they, too, completed their work on Saturday.

Arthur Parker and Joshua Loizeaux, of Putnam avenue, were in Dunellen, Saturday afternoon, just for a little recreation and sport. One of the boys was presented with a young rooster while here which he carried in his overcoat pocket on the way home in the trolley car.

A committee of three, consisting of Freeholders Mundy, Gise and Drake met on Saturday and looked over the old bridge on Railroad avenue. It is understood they favor the erection of an entire new structure, and will so report at the next regular meeting of the Board. The present structure. it is said, is unsafe and unfit for use and a new bridge has been needed for a long time.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Turton went to Brooklyn, yesterday, to attend the funeral of a near relative.

David S. Brown, representing a well-known New York soap firm, is spending a few days in town.

John Patterson, an old resident of the Plains, and now of Morris Plains, is spending a few days in town.

Elias Darby and Henry Schenck drove over to Rahway, yesterday, and spent the day among friends there

William Wheeler, son of School Trustee Wheeler, of Bayonne, was the guest of Tom Emory, over Sunday.

Mrs. John Blimm and two children arrived home Saturday from a five day's visit with friends in New York.

Prof. L. A. Goodenough, of Jersey City, formerly principal of the public school, spent Sunday in town visiting friends.

James Boyle, superintendent of the mountain stone cracker has gone to Providence, R. I., today to install an electric light plant there.

Fred and Jacob Clark are carting hay from Middlebush near Bound Brook and storing it away in their barns, waiting for a change in the market prices.

Some twenty-five or thirty of the members of the Young Men's League attended the Baptist church in a body yesterday, and listened to an able discourse by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Braker.

It is understood that John Cook will run his stone crusher all winter, as advanced orders for the spring trade will warrant it. The entire plant is to be thoroughly remodeled in the spring.

One of W. S. Emory's team of grey mares which took a prize at the State Fair and which has had the distemper for several weeks past, is up and around again, but the animal has not been put in harness.

Yesterday was an admirable one for bicycling on the the mountain roads and about town. Some little scorching was done down the mountain driveway, but aside from a few punctured tires no serious damage was reported.

Thomas Walsh's horse ran away on Forrest avenue, Saturday, with Mrs. Walsh and the driver in the wagon. The runaway turned into Leland avenue on two wheels, but nothing to the wagon or harness was seriously damaged.

William McDonough, of this place, aged 70 years who has been dangerously ill for the past six weeks with pneumonia, was able to leave his room and go down stairs Saturday. Unless he has a relapse, his ultimate recovery is now almost assured —The executive committee of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital met yesterday afternoon and passed on a few bills. No other important business was done.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

PARTICULAR MENTION.

W. E Lowe, of Park avenue, leaves on a trip for Paris next week.

Mr. Springer, of Grove street, left town yesterday for an extended business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Krietling, of West Front street, entertained New York friends yesterday.

Herbert Crane, of Orange, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams, of Netherwood avenne, yesterday.

Charles French, of New York, spent Sunday in town with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore French.

R. I. Richardson, of LaGrande avenue, has retured from a very successful hunting trip in Virginia.

Willard A. Sneckner, of New York, was the guest of Benj. O. Bowers, of Franklin place, over Sunday.

Mrs. R. S. Swackhamer, of Whitehouse, is visiting at the home of Mrs. E. F. DuBois, of Park avenue.

Miss Eva Dunavan, of Plainfield avenue, returned home Saturday afternoon after a visit with relatives in Newark.

Mr. Mills, captain of the Harvard 'varsity football team, is visiting at the home of Dr. Monroe B. Long, of Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw, of West Fourth street, was able to walk out, Saturday, after a few week's illness from heart trouble.

Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the public schools in this city, is an ardent advocate of the "Teacher's Retirement Fund."

Miss Williams, of Boston, soprano soloist, sang at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday on trial, and her work seemed to be very pleasing.

Manager Charles H. Schermerhorn, of the Western Union office, and Mrs. Schermerhorn were in Brooklyn over Sunday, returning home early this morning.

Editor A. M. Powell, of the New York Philanthropist and Mrs. Powell, returned to their East Sixth street residence, yesterday, from their European tour.

Harry Hall, of Madison avenue, returned to his studies at Harvard College yesterday afternoon after being confined to his home for several weeks with illness.

Dr. James F. Riggs, who preached in Trinity Reformed church yesterday, was the guest during his stay in the city, of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cutter, 111 Richmond street.

Tomorrow evening Rev. W. C O'Donnell, of West Front street, will attend the marriage of Rev. Mr. Fanton, a college classmake, which will take place in the First M. E. church, Rahway.

Rev. Dr. McMenamin, of Newark, officiated in St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, yesterday, in the absence of Rev. Father Miller, the pastor, who went to New Haven, Conn., to assist in the dedication of a new church there.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, formerly pastor of the M. E Church in this city, and now of the Roseville M. E. church, is doing a good work there. Yesterday he exchanged pulpits with Rev. Dr. Sweeter of the First Methodist church in Roseville.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By L. W. Randolph.

A Little Fellow's Death.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Southard, of 308 Arlington avenue, have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in the loss of their son, J. Harry Southard, aged three years, four months and nineteen days, which occurred on Saturday. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the house. Interment will be in North Plainfield cemetery.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits.'

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

ALL OVER THE TOWN

NEWS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS THAT INTEREST ALL PLAINFIELDERS.

Gathered by Enterprising Press Reporters From Both Sides of the Brook and Tersely Served for Your Perusal.

—R. C. Treadwell, of First place, is having his house newly painted.

—A meeting of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will be held tonight.

—Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, will elect officers this evening and initiate two candidates.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of Monroe Avenue chapel will hold a meeting Thursday afternoon next.

—Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will meet tomorrow evening and transact important business.

—The instituting of Queen Esther Lodge, No. 2, of Odd Ladies, will be postponed until after the holidays.

—The board of trustees of the Monroe Avenue chapel will hold an important meeting next Saturday evening.

—One member was elected at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church last evening.

—Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., will meet for the election of officers in the Babcock building, tomorrow evening.

—Meeting of The Christian Alliance on Tuesday evening at 7.45 o'clock, at the parlors of the W. C. T U. on Watchung avenue.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G.A.R., will be inspected Tuesday evening, Dec. 22d, at which time department officers will be present.

—The report of the marriage of Miss Bessie Dolan to Fred Down, both of this city, at Westfield, taken from an Elizabeth paper, was untrue.

—A reception was given to the members of the Shakespeare Club at the home of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, on Friday evening.

—Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication tomorrow evening and officers for the ensuing term will be elected.

—Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will meet in their rooms in the Elkwood building this evening, for the transaction of important business.

—Paugh - Caugh - Naugh - Sinque Council, Degree of Pocohontas, will be instituted on Thursday evening of this week in Sons of Temperance Hall by Iona Council, of this city.

—Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, will meet tomorrow evening, at which time the nomination of officers, initiation and other important business will be transacted.

—Leggett, the druggist, is making a specialty of witch hazel and witch hazel soap. Both articles are in great demand and you can find no better goods than at the above popular drug store.

—An interesting debate is scheduled for Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, this evening, on the topic of "Education and Money." Several of the more prominent church members will discuss the subject.

—If you wish any blooming plants, palms or ferns, evergreen roping, holly wreaths, bunches or mistletoe, call at A E Lincoln's, 226 Park avenue. The largest assortment of cut flowers in the city. Fern jardiniers and floral design work a specialty.

—The streets were crowded with shoppers and sight-seerers, Saturday afternoon and evening, and during the evening especially, the merchants did a thriving and booming holiday trade. Many of the store windows are prettily and artistically trimmed with holiday goods.

—Rev. Mr. Smith, of Roselle, preached in the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church, last evening, and Rev. Mr. Groves conducted the afternoon service. At the evening meeting a special collection was taken up for the benefit of the church and a goodly sum was realized.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

The Best Yet! Our new Hot Soda apparatus is the best we have ever seen; try the Soda and see if it is not "a little better" than YOU have ever had before. All kinds of Hot Bouillons, 5c. All kinds of Hot Soda, with a Charlotte Russe, 10c—a new feature.

Successor H. P. REYNOLDS. T. S. ARMSTRONG, "THE APOTHECARY," Park and North avenues.

Mr. Tobin Pleaded Non Vult.

The case of George H. Tobin was called in city court this morning. W. H. Addis, who made the complaint against Mr. Tobin, withdrew the charges of profanity and attempted assault, and on the charge of interfering with a fireman Mr. Tobin pleaded non vult. The Judge reserved his decision until next Saturday.

FLORIST
A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park Avenue,
Has a large assortment of Choice Blooming Plants. Palms and Ferns constantly in stock. Sends out nothing but the best. Everything for the Holidays in the florists' line. Evergreen Roping, Holly Wreaths, Branches and Mistletoe. Fine Jar Inserts and Floral Design Work a Specialty. The largest assortment of cut flowers in the city. Leave orders early.

FIRE FIRE FIRE
GRAND
Firemen's Fair will be held by
Plainfield Engine Co. No. 2.
Dancing evenings from 10 until 12.
Dec. 14th to 19th, Inclusive.
No contest books out. Phonographic entertainment every evening.
Admission - - 10 cents.

DR. D. M. STEARNS,
of Philadelphia, will lead his
BIBLE CLASS
Monday Evening, Dec. 14,
At Y. M. C. A. HALL, at 7:30.

ALL MAKES OF
SEWING MACHINES
repaired. Singer Machine cash or instalments.
218 West Front Sreet.
12 8 1 w

H. DeMott,
Undertaker and Embalmer,
59 Somerset st., Plainfield, N. J.
Calls promptly attended to day or night. White and black hearses. Coaches latest style.

DIED.

SOUTHARD—In this city, Saturday, December 12, 1896, J. Harry, son of James H. and Anna A. Southard, aged 3 years, 4 months and 19 days.
Funeral services Tuesday, December 15, from parents residence, 308 Arlington avenue, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited. Interment in North Plainfield cemetery.

RALLI—In this city, Sunday, December 13, 1896, Mrs. Marrion G., wife of Constantine P. Ralli.
Notice of funeral hereafter.

FRAZEE—In this city, Sunday, December 13, 1896, James S. Frazee.
Funeral services from his late residence, 124 West Fourth street, on Wednesday December 16, at 10:30 a. m. 12 14 2

WANTS AND OFFERS.

POCKETBOOK LOST—Saturday, between Dunellen and Plainfield. Leave at this office and receive suitable reward.

WANTED—House and barn in city or limits; moderate rent. Box 234, Dunellen, N. J. 12 14 3

FIFTY barrels sound hand picked apples, $1.25 a barrel delivered. Address H.C. Randolph. City. 12 12eod

ROOM with board at 322 East Fifth street. 12 11 6

240 EAST NINTH STREET—Bright sunny rooms, adults only; references required. 12 11 6

FOR SALE—8 room house, all improvements, with lot; low price. Address by letter only, M. A. Korff, Watchung Ave., N. P. 12 10 6

FOR SALE—$100 bicycle 95 model. Inquire 826 First place. 12-10 6.

TO LET—One-half of double house; 6 rooms; well located; $12. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 12 7 tf

TO LET—Elegant 6 room apartments, Jackson building, steam heat, janitor service, halls carpeted, heated and lighted. Rent reasonable, particulars at Packer's furniture store. 11 23 tf

FIRST CLASS help and first class places at the Swedish intelligence office, 23 Somerset place. 11-10-1y

LOANS negotiated. E. C. Mulford, Broker 7 2 tf

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, Broker. tf

HORSES boarded by the month. Terms reasonable. W. H. Rogers Washingtonville. 9 16tf

NASAL CATARRH is a LOCAL DISEASE and is the result of colds and sudden climatic changes. This remedy does not contain mercury or any other injurious drug.

ELY'S Cream Balm opens and cleans the Nasal Passages. Allays Pain and Inflammation. Heals and Protects the Membrane from Colds. Restores the senses of Taste and Smell. Is quickly absorbed. Gives relief at once. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; samples 10c. by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

Plainfield's Busiest Store.
We sell goods cheaper than all others.

CHRISTMAS.

We have gathered here a collection of all that is good and durable in holiday goods. Our modern merchandising way of having the most attractive store and selling at the most attractive prices creates new business for us every day. We have secured many special values that we have priced extra low to stimulate early buying. You can select what you want and we deliver it when wanted.

For the Little Ones.

We have the most tempting assortment of Toys, Dolls, Games and Books for the little ones. No trash, but good, substantial, strong toys that will last. They are displayed on the main floor—House furnishing department.

For the Girls.

We think it will be a year for giving good, useful and serviceable presents, and have arranged for it. There are books, handkerchiefs, toilet articles, writing paper, toilet cases, handkerchief and glove boxes. All sold at our popular low prices.

For the Boys.

Some say 'tis hard to find a suitable present for the boy, but not so here, we have looked out for them in the best way. There are games of all kinds, puzzles, boys books, knives, sleds, handkerchiefs, gloves, mittens, sweaters, ties, in fact every thing to make a boy happy as they desire to be.

For the Ladies.

Easiest matter in the world to select something for the ladies, there are so many pretty useful things that never go amiss and they always want, and the cost is small. There are thousands of pieces of bric-a-brac, fancy cups and saucers, pictures, fancy screens and picture easels, toilet articles of every description, handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, sterling silver jewelry, toilet plush cases, pocket books, &c.

For the Men.

Last but not least come the men, and whether he is young or old there is plenty to make him forget for a time, business troubles and worry. There are linen and silk handkerchiefs, and mufflers, umbrellas, blacking cases, gloves, ties, jewelry, shirts, collar and cuff boxes, hosiery &c.

Remember.

The store is yours to come to do as you please and to feel as free as if you were in your own home. You will find plenty of polite clerks to attend to your wants and wishes. You are sure to find a crowd but 'twill be a good natured one and we promise you the best of service.

Special Values.

While the holiday rush is on there is not a stock in the store that will be neglected. You can fill every want in good, desirable goods of every kind and at lower prices than all others. There are special values in dress goods, hosiery, underwear, jackets, capes, rugs, table linen, &c.

EDWARD WHITE.

WALL PAPER
From 3c. To $2
On receipt of postal card a fine assortment of SAMPLES sent to ANY ADDRESS.
EDWARD LOVE, The New Jersey Wall Paper Jobber. North and Watchung avenues.

PUTNAM & DEGRAW
210 West Front Street.
An assortment of HOLIDAY GOODS on one of our centre tables marked 25c. is well worth examining before purchasing elsewhere. Also, STAPLE GOODS, such as Umbrellas, Underwear, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Extracts, Silk Mufflers, Silk Initial Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, Napkins, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Does Your Husband Want
Slippers or Patent Leather Shoes?
If so, let me suggest that there is nothing a man likes better than nice footwear. Come and see us; we have a pleasant surprise for him.

A. WILLETT AND SON
NO. 107 PARK AVE.

JAS. R. BLAIR.
126 Park Avenue,
Has a fine assortment of Neckties, Mufflers, Umbrellas, Silk Handkerchiefs, Gloves, &c.,
Ready for the Holidays.

THE MIS of the M

or A Woman Inte

By Robert Barr Pi

Author of The Face and The Mask.

Copyri Rot

"I was a stupid fool. I always a— when I get a fair chance."

"Oh, no, you're not, but you do need some one to take care of you."

She suddenly held him at arm's length from her.

"You don't imagine for a moment, George Wentworth, that I came here today for—for this."

"Certainly not," cried the honest young man with much indignant fervor, drawing her again toward him.

"Then it's all right. I couldn't bear to have you think such a thing, especially—well, I'll tell you why, some day. But I do wish you had a title. Do they ever ennoble accountants in this country, George?"

"No, they knight only rich fools."

"Oh, I'm so glad of that, for you'll get rich on the mine, and I'll be Lady Wentworth yet."

She drew his head down until her laughing lips touched his.

CHAPTER XX.

Although the steamship that took Kenyon to America was one of the speediest in the Atlantic service, yet the voyage was inexpressively dreary to him. He spent most of his time walking up and down the deck thinking about the other voyage of a few months before. The one consolation of his present trip was its quickness.

When he arrived at his hotel in New York, he asked if there was any message there for him, and the clerk handed him an envelope, which he tore open. It was a cable dispatch from Wentworth, with the words: "Longworth at Windsor. Proceed to Ottawa immediately. Get option renewed. Longworth duping us."

John knitted his brows and wondered where Windsor was. The clerk, seeing his perplexity, asked if he could be of any assistance.

"I have received this cablegram, but don't quite understand it. Where is Windsor?"

"Oh, that means the Windsor hotel. Just up the street."

Kenyon registered, and told the clerk to assign him a room and send his baggage up to it when it came. Then he walked out from the hotel and sought the Windsor.

He found the colossal hostelry, and was just inquiring of the clerk whether a Mr. Longworth was staying there when that gentleman appeared at the desk and took some letters and his key.

Kenyon tapped him on the shoulder.

Young Longworth turned round with more alacrity than he usually displayed, and gave a long whistle of surprise when he saw whom it was.

"In the name of all the gods," he cried, "what are you doing here?" Then, before Kenyon could reply, he said: "Come up to my room."

They went to the elevator, rose a few stories, and passed down an apparently endless hall, carpeted with some noiseless stuff that gave no echo of the footfall. Longworth put his key into the door and opened it. They entered a large and pleasant room.

"Well," he said, "this is a surprise. What is the reason of your being here? Anything wrong in London?"

"Nothing wrong so far as I am aware. We received no cablegrams from you, and thought there might be some hitch in the business; therefore I came."

"Ah, I see. I cabled over to your address and said I was staying at the Windsor for a few days. I sent a cablegram almost as long as a letter, but it didn't appear to do any good."

"No; I did not receive it."

"And what did you expect was wrong over here?"

"That I did not know. I knew you had time to get to Ottawa and see the mine in twelve days from London. Not hearing from you in that time, and knowing the option was running out, both Wentworth and I became anxious, and so I came over."

"Exactly. Well, I'm afraid you've had your trip for nothing."

"What do you mean? Is not the mine all I said it was?"

"Oh! the mine is all right; all I meant was, there was really no necessity of your coming."

"But, you know, the option ends in a very short time."

"Well, the option, like the mine, is all right. I thing you might quite safely have left it in my hands."

It must be admitted that John Kenyon began to feel he had acted with unreasonable rashness in taking his long trip.

"Is Mr. Melville here with you?"

"Mr. Melville has returned home. He had not time to stay longer. All he wanted to do was to satisfy himself about the mine. He was satisfied, and he has gone home. If you were in London now you would be able to see him."

"Did you meet Mr. Von Brent?"

"Yes; he took us to the mine."

"And did you say anything about the option to him?"

"Well, we had some conversation about it. There will be no trouble about the option. What Von Brent wants is to sell his mine, that is all."

There was a few moments' silence, then Longworth said: "When are you going back?"

"I don't know. I think I ought to see Von Brent. I am not at all easy about leaving matters as they are. I think I ought to get a renewal of the option. It is not wise to risk things as we are doing. Von Brent might at any time get an offer for his mine, just as we are forming our company, and, of course, if the option had not been renewed, he would sell to the first man who put down the money. As you say, all he wants is to sell the mine."

Longworth was busy opening his letters and apparently paying very little attention to what Kenyon said. At last, however, he spoke:

"If I were you, if you care to take my advice, I would go straight back to England. You will do no good here. I merely say this to save you any further trouble, time and expense."

"Don't you think it would be as well to get a renewal of the option?"

"Oh! certainly; but, as I told you before, it was not at all necessary for you to come over. I may say, furthermore, that Von Brent will not again renew the option without a handsome sum down, to be forfeited if the company is not formed. Have you the money to pay him?"

"No, I have not."

"Very well, then, there will not be the slightest use in your seeing Von Brent."

Young Mr. Longworth arched his eyebrows and gazed at John through his eyeglass. "I will let you have my third of the money if that will do any good."

"How much money does Von Brent want?"

"How should I know? To tell you the truth, Mr. Kenyon, and truth never hurts, or oughtn't to, I don't at all like this visit of yours to America. You and Mr. Wentworth have been good enough to be suspicious about me from the very first. You have not taken any pains to conceal it, either of you. Your appearance in America at this particular juncture is nothing more nor less than an insult to me. I intend to receive it as such."

"I have no intention of insulting you," said Kenyon, "if you are dealing fairly with me."

"There it is again. That remark is an insult. I wish to have nothing more to say to you. I give you my advice that it is better for you, and cheaper, to go back to London. You need not act on it unless you like. I have nothing further to say to you, and so this interview may as well be considered closed."

"And how about the mine?"

"I imagine the mine will take care of itself."

"Do you think this is courteous treatment of a business partner?"

"My dear sir, I do not take my lessons in courtesy from you. Whether you are pleased or displeased with my treatment of you is a matter of supreme indifference to me. I am tired of living in an atmosphere of suspicion, and I have done with it, that's all. You think some game is being played on you—both you and Wentworth think that—and yet you haven't the 'cuteness,' as they call it here, or the sharpness to find it out. Now, a man who has suspicions he cannot prove should keep those suspicions to himself until he can. That is my advice to you. I wish you good day."

John Kenyon walked back to his hotel more suspicious than ever. He wrote a letter to Wentworth detailing the conversation, telling him Melville had sailed for home and advising him to see that gentleman. He stayed in New York that night and took the morning train to Montreal. In due time he arrived at Ottawa and called on Von Brent. He found that gentleman in his chambers, looking as if he had never left the room since the option was signed. Von Brent at first did not recognize his visitor, but, after gazing a moment at him, he sprang from his chair and held out his hand.

"I really did not know you," he said; "you have changed a great deal since I saw you last. You look haggard and not at all well. What is the matter with you?"

"I do not think anything is the matter. I am in very good health, thank you. I have had a few busines worries, that is all."

"Ah, yes!" said Von Brent. "I am very sorry, indeed, you failed to form your campany."

"Failed!" echoed Kenyon.

"Yes; you haven't succeeded, have you?"

"Well, I don't know about that; we are in a fair way to succeed. You met Longworth and Melville, who came out to see the mine. I saw Longworth in New York, and he told me you had taken them out there."

"Are they interested with you in the mine?"

"Certainly; they are helping me to form the company."

Von Brent seemed amazed. "I did not understand that at all. In fact, I understood the exact opposite. I thought you had attempted to form a company and failed. They showed me an attack in one of the financial papers upon you, and said that killed your chances of forming a company in London. They were here, apparently, on their own business."

"And what was their business?"

"To buy the mine."

"Have they bought it?"

"Practically, yes. Of course, while your option holds good I cannot sell it ... [illegible] ... you know, expires in a very ..."

... on, finding his worst suspicion ... confirmed, seemed speechless with amazement, and, in his agony, mopped from his brow the drops collected there.

"You appear to be astonished at this," said Von Brent.

"I am very much astonished."

"Well, you cannot blame me. I have acted perfectly square in the matter. I had no idea Longworth and the gentleman who was with him had any connection with you whatever. Their attention had been drawn to the mine, they said, by that article. They had investigated it, and appeared to be satisfied there was something in it—in the mine, I mean, not in the article. They said they had attended a meeting which you had called, but it was quite evident you were not going to be able to form the company. So they came here and made me a cash offer for the mine. They have deposited £20,000 at the bank here, and, on the day your option closes, they will give me a check for the amount."

"Serves me right," said Kenyon. "I have been cheated and duped. I had grave suspicions of it all along, but I did not act upon them. I have been too timorous and cowardly. This man Longworth has made a pretense of helping me to form a company. Everything he has done has been to delay me. He came out here apparently in the interest of the company I was forming, and now he has got the option for himself."

"Yes, he has," said Von Brent. "I may say I am very sorry indeed for the turn affairs have taken. Of course, as I have told you, I had no idea how the land lay. You see you had placed no deposit with me, and I had to look after my own interests. However, the option is open for a few days more, and I will not turn the mine over to them till the last minute of the time has expired. Isn't there any chance of your getting the money before then?"

"Not the slightest."

"Well, you see, in that case I cannot help myself. I am bound by a legal document to turn the mine over to them on receipt of the £20,000 the moment your option is ended. Everything is done legally, and I am perfectly helpless in the matter."

"Yes, I see that," said John. "Good-by." He went to the telegraph office and sent a cablegram.

Wentworth received the dispatch in London the next morning. It read: "We are cheated. Longworth has the option on the mine in his own name."

CHAPTER XXI.

When George Wentworth received this message he read it several times over before its full meaning dawned upon him. Then he paced up and down his room and gave way to his feelings. His best friends, who had been privileged to hear George's vocabulary when he was rather angry, admitted that the young man had a fluency of expression which was very much more terse than proper. When the real significance of the dispatch became apparent to him, George outdid himself in this particular line. Then he realized that, however consolatory such language is to a very angry man, it does little good in any practical way. He paced silently up and down the room, wondering what he could do, and the more he wondered the less light he saw through the fog. He put on his hat and went into the other room.

"Henry," he said to his partner, "do you know anybody who would lend me £20,000?"

Henry laughed. The idea of anybody lending that sum of money except on the very best security was in itself extremely comic.

"Do you want it to-day?" he said.

"Yes, I want it to-day."

"Well, I don't know any better plan than to go out into the street and ask every man if he has that sum about him. You are certain to meet men who have very much more than £20,000, and perhaps one of them, struck by your very sane appearance at the moment, might hand over the sum to you. I think, however, George, that you would be more successful if you met the capitalist in a secluded lane some dark night, and had a good reliable club in your hand."

"You are right," said George. "Of course, there is just as much possibility of my reaching the moon as getting that sum of money on short notice."

"Yes, or on long notice, either, I imagine. I know plenty of men who have the money, but I wouldn't undertake to ask them for it, and I don't believe you would. Still, there is nothing like trying. He who tries may succeed, but no one can succeed who doesn't try. Why not go to old Longworth? He could let you have the money in a moment if he wanted to do so. He knows you. What's your security, what are you going to do with it—that eternal mine of yours?"

"Yes, that 'eternal mine.' I want it to be mine. That is why I need the £20,000.'

"Well, George, I don't see much hope for you. You never spoke to old Longworth about it, did you? He wasn't one of the men you intended to get into this company?"

"No, he was not. I wish he had been. He would have treated us better than his rascally nephew has done."

"Ah, that immaculate young man has been playing you tricks, has he?"

"He has played me one trick, which is enough."

"Well, why don't you go and see the old man and lay the case before him? He treats that nephew as if he were his son. Now, a man will do a great deal for his son, and perhaps old Longworth might do something for his nephew."

"Yes, but I should have to explain to him that his nephew is a scoundrel."

"Very well, that is just the kind of explanation to bring the £20,000. If his nephew really is a scoundrel, and you can prove it, you could not want a better lever than that on the old man's money bags."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Delicate Dress Goods.

Some gowns are so dainty in the weave, so delicate in tint that they seem to soil by being looked at—one or two wearings making them unpresentable, NOT USELESS. We make a specialty of cleaning fine fabrics, the more delicate the material, the better the results. Sometimes an accident will ruin a gown, without injuring the texture. We dye them then, sometimes we get a prettier effect than the original color. Fine goods stand redyeing. The finer the material the better the new color. We charge so little for cleaning or dyeing, that even if you are in doubt as to the result, it's worth while to experiment. Want a new evening gown for a dollar or two? Laundry orders will receive your work.

Hillier & Co.,

North ave. Plainfield

Telephone 30M

"Time or Tide Waits for No Man."

Have your time always correct and you won't want time to wait. Our watches or clocks never vary. They are sure and reliable timekeepers, whether in the exquisitely jeweled chatelaine watch, or fine gold or silver case. They are always correct. Speaking of time—remember now is the time to be looking around for a useful and handsome Christmas present for wife, husband or sweetheart; and who doesn't love a good watch?

COLLIER,

103 Park Ave. Established 1869.

Safe Deposit Vaults

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Capital..... $200,000.
Surplus and Profits..... $90,000.

J. W. JOHNSON, Pres. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier
H. M. ESTIL, Vice " D. M. RUNYON, Ass't

DIRECTORS:

Charles Potter. Wm. McD. Coriell.
P. M. French. H. Mulford Estil.
Wm. M. Stillman. Isaac W. Rushmore.
J. W. Johnson. Wm. B. Codington.
F. S. Runyon.

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS.

Boxes to Rent from $5 and upwards per annum.

VALUABLES TAKEN on STORAGE.

Advertised Letters.

Plainfield December 7th, 1896.

Donovan Eddie R 2	Maguire Miss Annie
DerCharnelMiss Lil'n	Prentice Mrs. Geo
Dutcher Chas H	Reich Miss Elizabeth
Fonda Guy Q	Rockerer J C
Foster Miss Vera	Slater Joshua
Gray Miss Maggie	Steinorth R
Harrison Wm F	Stelle Freeman
Holingvist Miss Agnes	Schenck Mrs E
Herben Mrs S J	Tevis E L
Lewis C F	Wiley Mrs Fred
May Miss M A	Walker Mrs Mary E
Midgely Jas L V	Whiteall Mrs C D
Mendel Gus	Weingart Miss AnnieL

MRS. L. ADAMS,

MILLINERY.

Ready made gowns and dresses ordered from samples. All the latest novelties of the season.

114 EAST FRONT STREET.

Christmas Wreaths, Roping Holly, etc. Also, Palms,

Rubber Trees, Begonias, Ferns Floral Designs, House and Church Decorations. Southern Smilax at 15 days notice.

DENTON'S.

131 Hillside avenue.

Potter & Kellogg,

DEALERS IN

Lehigh Valley Coal.

Office 209 North avenue. All orders will receive prompt attention Yard—At Mt. Pleasant, Lehigh Valley Railroad. 10 20 1-y

Amos H. Van Horn,

LIMITED.

CARPETS AT COST!

Unreasonable as it seems, it's FACT. Same goods CANNOT be bought ELSEWHERE in the city at these prices. Not a sale of "few pieces," but comprising a COMPLETE line of all weaves. It'll cost you nothing to call and prove our claims. Here's a partial list:

25 patterns Moquettes at 75c yard.
25 patterns Velvets at 75c yard.
10 patterns Wilton Velvets at $1.00 yard.
35 patterns Best Body Brussels at 90c yard.
20 patterns Best Ten-wire Tapestry at 75c yard.
10 patterns Good Brussels at 60c yard.
Another grade at 45c yard
25 patterns Best All-wool Ingrains at 55c yard.
15 patterns of another Ingrain at 39c yard.
10 kinds Good Ingrain at 35c yard.
Full stock Oilcloths and Linoleums—all widths.

MADE, LAID AND LINED FREE AT ABOVE PRICES

NOTE—These Special Prices to continue until Entire line is sold.

Watch our advertisements in daily papers from now on.

LOWEST PRICES! EASIEST TERMS!

Amos H. Van Horn Ltd.

Note Name "AMOS" and No. 73 Before Entering Store.

73 Market Street Near Plane Street NEWARK, N. J.

Telephone 580—Goods Delivered Free.

Values Extraordinary

These two words mean business to us and money to you. It is now high time for you to don your heavy weight clothes. You are going to buy them of WERNER for the Prices make you. If you don't believe it here are the prices:

Nobby all-wool Suits, Single or Double Breasted, - $4.00
Fine " Cheviot Suits, Single or Double Breasted, 5.50
Elegant " Men's Cash. " " " " $6 & $7.

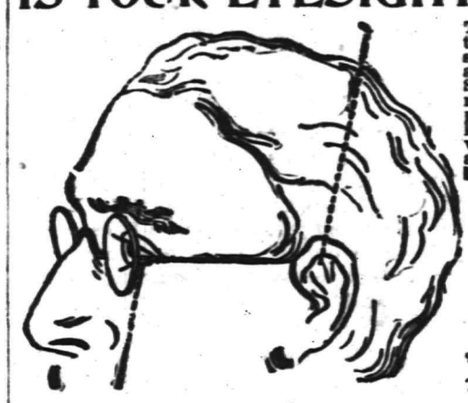
OTHERS AT $8, $9, $10 AND UP.

Our Overcoat stock consists of the most desirable and best selected goods in the market. These elegant Fur Beaver, Chinchilla and Kersey Coats are going at prices unheard of Come while the assortment is complete.

WERNERS!

Hats and Gent's Furnishings—FOR YOU.

IS YOUR EYESIGHT DEFECTIVE?



There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for over strained and defective eyesight, headache and so forth than to consult this Specialist. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a grateful surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed.

Leech, Stiles & Co.,

EYE SPECIALISTS.

H. A. STILES will be at 107 East Front street, Dunham's real estate office, every THURSDAY, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

OYSTERS BY THE QUART, 30 CENTS.

PRIMES, $1 AND $1,50 PER HUNDRED.

-AT ROGERS.-

FURNITURE

AT REDUCED PRICES.

We are closing out some very desirable patterns of PARLOR and BEDROOM suits and odd pieces of STOCK. A chance for good bargains.

POWLISON & JONES.

149-151 EAST FRONT ST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Anthracite Coal Used Exclusively, insuring Cleanliness and Comfort.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect NOVEMBER 15th, 1896.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 7 58, 8 00, 8 30, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10 a. m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 5 , 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 9 23, 10 17, 11 28 p. m. Sunday, 2 14, 3 37, 5 59, 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 10, 11 16 a. m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17. p m.

Leave New York, Foot Liberty St., at 4 30, 6 00, 7 15, 8 00, 8 40, 9 10, 10 00, 11 45, a. m; 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6 00, 6 15, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 15, 10 30, 11 45, p m; 12 15, 1 00, night. Sunday 4 30, 7 15, 9 00, 9 15, a. m; 12 00 m; 1 00, 1 30, 2 30, 4 00, 5 30, 7 00, 9 00, 10 00, p m; 12 15 night, 1 00 a m

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8 00, 8 33, 8 48, 9 32, 10 04, 10 27, 11 10, a.m; 12 09, 1 15, 2 07, 2 29, 3 12, 3 51, 4 48, 5 32, 5 54, 6 40, 7 03, 8 30, 10 17, 11 28 p m. Sunday 8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 16 a m; 12 33, 1 45, 3 17, 3 30, 5 36, 7 01, 8 13, 8 32, 10 17 p. m.

Leave Newark at 6 15, 7 18, 7 55, 8 35, 9 03, 10 05, 11 35, a m; 1 15, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 25, 5 42, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25, p. m. Sunday 7 30, 9 05, 9 30, 11 35 a m; 1 10, 1 35, 2 50, 4 05, 5 40, 7 20, 9 20, 10 2

Passengers for Newark please change car at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 00 a. m. 12 46, 2 11, 2 32, 3 35, 4 36, 5 08, 5 15, 5 34, 6 04, 6 09, 6 19, 6 38, 7 12, 7 34, 8 21, 10 26, 11 29, p m; 12 44 night. Sunday 5 45, 8 28, 9 55, a m; 2 03, 3 43, 5 14, 6 35, 10 35, 11 14 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 7 38, 7 48, 8 19, 9 05, 9 48, 11 45 a. m; 12 50, 1 48, 2 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 28, 6 08, 6 35, 8 07, 8 50, 11 05 p. m Sunday at 8 25, 9 45, 10 45 a m; 12 08, 1 30, 5 10, 6 35, 7 53, 8 05, 9 40 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 45, 8 16, 9 54 a. m., 12 46, 2 11, 4 36, 5 15, 6 38, 8 21 p. m. Sunday at 5 45, 8 28, a m; 2 03, 6 35 p m.

Leave Easton at 6 05, 7 00, 8 54, a. m; 12 32, 4 04, 7 00, p. m. Sunday at 7 15, 10 52 a. m; 6 30, 7 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 9 54 a. m; 5 08, 5 16 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

5 45 a. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m.—For stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

8 16 a. m.—For Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 a. m.—For Flemington, High Bridge Branch D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Shamokin, Nanticoke, and Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre Scranton, &c. with buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 11 p. m.—For Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading Harrisburg, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Sunbury, Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

5 08 p. m., way for Flemington and Easton connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge Branch

4 36 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Scranton, Wilkesbarre Tamaqua, Shamokin, (buffet parlor car to Scranton.)

6 19 p. m.—For Flemington.

6 38 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, and Harrisburg.

8 21 p. m.—For Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 a. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8 28 a. m. Sundays—For Easton.

2 03 p. m. Sundays—High Bridge Branch for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua Reading, and Harrisburg.

5 14 p. m. Sundays—For Flemington.

6 35 p. m. Sundays—For Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c., and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

FOR LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 3 37, 8 13, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 51, 5 12, 5 54, p. m. Sunday, (except Ocean Grove) 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8 13, 10 04, 10 27 a. m. 1 15, 3 12, 3 51, 5 32, 5 54, 7 03, p. m., Sundays 8 52 a. m.; 3 30 p. m.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m.; 1 15 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8 13, 10 27, a. m.; 1 15 3 51, 5 32 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46, 10 44 a. m.; 2 17, 5 34*, 6 45, 8 21, 9 37* 1 17 night. Sundays—5 17, 5 45, 9 55 10 44 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14* p. m. 1 17 night.

For Trenton, 5 17, 5 45, 8 44, 9 46 a. m., 12 46, 2 17, 2 25*, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 17 night. Sundays 5 17, 5 45, 9 55 a. m., 2 25, 4 55, 5 14*, p. m. 1 17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 44, 10 44 a. m., 2 17, 5 34*, p. m., 1 17. Sundays, 10 44 a. m., 5 14*, p. m., 1 17 night.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points West, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 21 p. m. Sunday 6 35 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked (*) change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Superintendent.

H. P. BALDWIN, General Passenger Agent.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

New York Mails.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40, 11:15 a.m., 2:45, 5, 5:30 p. m. Close—7 15 and 9:20 a. m., 1:30, 4 30 and 7:30 p. m.

Somerville and Easton Mails

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:40, 6:00 p. m. Close—7:15 a. m., 4:30 p. m. Warrenville mail arr. 12 m; closes 9:30 a. m.

Sunday Mails.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

J. M. HETFIELD, P. M.

HOTEL TUILERIES!

AND ROGER'S RESTAURANT,

139-141 East Front street.

ROOMS TO LET. CATERING.

The J. P. Laire Hardware Co

are prepared for the holiday trade with the best and useful line in the city with correct prices.

Christmas Tree Holders Carpet Sweepers, Skates, Silver plated Ware, Carving Knives and Forks Sleighs, Crumb Brushes and Trays, Children's Knives and Forks, Pocket and Table Cutlery, Nut Crackers and Picks, Six Silver Knives and Forks only $1.98, Roasting Pans for Turkeys.

Telephone Call 49 I. 9 8 1y

P. H. ZIMMER,

Practical Machinist and Engineer,

Steam, Gas and Electric Contracting. Complete Power Plants Installed. Experimental work. General Jobbing. All kinds of repairing. EXCHANGE ALLEY, in rear of Trinity church. Bicycles built to order.

12 1 1y

EDUCATIONAL.

Miss Helen B. Dunham,

TEACHER OF PIANO AND ORGAN.

Pupil of a German Professor. For reference address, Prof John C. Bergner, Clinton, New Jersey. Call on or address Miss Helen B Dunham, Dunellen, New Jersey. 8 20 6m

MISS FAWCETT'S SCHOOL AND Kindergarten.

25 Washington avenue.

Primary, Intermediate and Academic Departments. Boys received until 10 years of age.

NEW DESIGNS
LARGE VARIETY.

HIGH GRADE

PARLOR HEATERS,

Stoves, Ranges and Oil Heaters

OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Hardware, Heater and Furnace Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN.

119 E. Front st. Telephone 6

Neuman Bros.,

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Fancy Table Raisins, Figs, Pitted Prunes, Dates, Malaga Grapes, Bannanas, Oranges, Apples, all kinds of Imported Nuts, and imported cheese. VanRossen Brothers Edam Cheese only 90 cts. Each.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble and Granite Works,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our motto—Good work, good material at air rices.

FRANK DAY,

114 WEST SIXTH ST.,

(Near Park Avenue.)

Livery and boarding stable in al its branches all kinds of turnouts night or day at short notice. Horses boarded by day, week or month. Telephone No. 152. 9 10 tf

BARRELS OF MONEY IN GOOD PATENTS

"HINTS TO INVENTORS"

mailed free. Patents quickly procured and sold. Lowest liberal terms. Gen. Rufus King superintends selling department. Consultation free. Call or write Clark, Deemer & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Percy G. Ohl, Babcock Building, Plainfield, represents this firm.

Oysters!

The North Plainfield Sea Food Market are selling first-class Oysters and all kinds of Fish at very reasonable prices.

Coddington & Ackerman.

7 15 1y

Get Your Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks for the holidays at

W.L. & J.M. Smalley,

94 Somerset street.

Telephone Call, 42b.

Our Relief Expedition Arrives.

It is only a question of a short time and YOU will be looking for the RELIEF.

Randolph's Emulsion Pure Cod Liver

Oil is especially prepared for the immediate relief and cure of all bronchial Coughs and Colds. The most nutritious preparation of its kind for building up the waste tissues. Only 50c. per Bottle.

Randolph's Wild Cherry and Tolu

Troches—the pocket companion, 10cts per box. Will save much annoyance.

L. W. Randolph.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.

No. 143 West Front street.

Telephone Call. 109.

RUDOLPH KERSTING

BAKER AND CONFECTIONER

201-203 West Front Street.

TRY OUR NEW ENGLAND AND HOME MADE BREAD.

VIENNA BREAD A SPECIALTY.

Charlotte de Russe, Cream Puffs, Chocolate Eclair, all kinds of Pastry and Cakes, FRESH EVERY DAY.

Delivery to any part of the City or Borough at any time.

=BOEHM'S!=

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

COATS, CAPES, SUITS, SKIRTS.

Ladies' Jackets all wool cheviot, full box front, perfect fitting, at........$4.95

Ladies' Capes from $1.98 up to........$18.00

Ladies' Suits tailor made, full flare skirts, nicely finished, waist lined with silk, reduced from $10 to........$8.00

Ladies' Skirts in brilliantine, extra wide, at........$1.98. All-wool plaids at $3.75.

China Glass and Housefurnishings.

Steel kitchen knives and forks, red handles, at 5c each.

Shelf cloth, warranted best quality, at 5c yd.

Large size white porcelain ewers and basins, fancy shapes, 65c.

Table oilcloth, first quality good, at 16c yd.

Imitation cut glass butter dishes, round shape, 10c.

Gold band china cups and saucers, all strictly perfect, at 6c each.

15c earthenware cuspidors, various designs, at 10c.

Gloves.

Ladies' heavy pique kid, 4-button length, in colors, at 75c.

Neckwear.

The newest designs in winter neckwear at 25c.

Black and Colored Dress Goods.

If your wants in these lines have not been fully supplied you can consider yourself fortunate, for we offer you values in the newest and best of weaves not equalled during the present season.

Blankets and Flannels.

A price story that should be of absorbing interest, for it tells of these desirable articles at greatly lessened figures, and tells of opportunities not to be missed.

Millinery and Ribbons.

Think of prices sometimes less than half regular on the best of millinery and ribbons. Are we not justified with such attractions in commanding an unusual brisk trade?

I. H. BOEHM, 113 West Front street.

Store Open Evenings.

Useful Holiday Presents.

Desks, Tables, Easy Chairs, Rockers, etc. Fine China, Elegant Lamps, Fancy Pottery.

G. Q. PACKER. J. W. GAVETT.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

—Dealers in—

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Material &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

Our Overcoats

this season are, as usual, peculiarly our own in perfectness of detail and fit. Prices have been put at smallest point.

Ulsters from $8.00

$10.00, 12.00 and above. Uncommonly dressy for Ulsters, too. Chinchillas, Irish Friezes, Mixed and Black Oxfords.

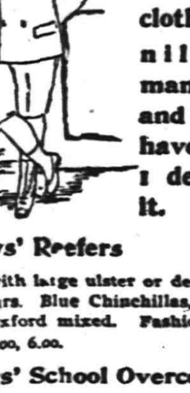
Overcoats, $8.00

to $25.00—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Vicunas. Some with plain and others with combination linings.

Suits from $6.00

to $15.00—used to get far more for same kind of garments. In swell cheviots.

Boys' Clothing



—we make a good deal of our boys' clothing success. Been clothing juveniles for many years and feel we have an A No. 1 dep't. See it.

Boys' Reefers

with large ulster or deep sailor collars. Blue Chinchillas, Friezes and Oxford mixed. Fashionable. $3.00, 4.00, 6.00.

Boys' School Overcoats

made in same way as men's styles. Blue, black and Oxford Kerseys. Fine finish, $4.00, 5.00, 6.00 and 8.00.

Boys' Two Piece and Reefer Suits

Exceptional sale. Were $3.50, 4.00 and 4.50 before. Now all at $3.00. New in cloth and cut.

Boys' Shoes—excellent kinds, $1.50 up. Men's $2.00 up.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

MARSHALL & BALL

The People's Outfitters. | 807, 809, 811, 813 Broad St. NEWARK, N. J.

M'KINLEY'S VISITORS

A Number of Men of Wide Reputation Expected This Week.

CABINET SPECULATION GOES ON

The President-elect Giving All Problems Before Him Due Consideration, and He Will Not Be Hurried.

Canton, O., Dec. 14.—Major McKinley expects a number of visitors of wide reputation this week, and among them will be Mr. Hanna. It is believed that Hanna made up his mind to go into the cabinet if a place is offered to him, as it doubtless will be. There is no probability, however, that the two most important places in the cabinet, the pivotal places, as it were, that of secretary of state and secretary of the treasury, will be filled before the middle of January. Major McKinley is giving the problems which confront him due consideration, and he will not permit himself to be hurried. The New York situation is a most complicated one, and it may be solved by the selection of two cabinet officers from that state, one a man to whom Mr. Platt is friendly and one particularly acceptable to the orginal McKinley men. C. N. Bliss, Andrew D. White, Horace Porter, Stewart L. Woodford and J. S. Fassett are the names most frequently heard here when the New York situation is under discussion. One thing is certain that and is that no one in New York state has yet been offered a cabinet portfolio. Candidates for other than cabinet places are beginning to manifest themselves in Canton. William M. Hahn of Ohio is an active candidate for the important position of commissioner of pensions. Visitors to Canton who have talked with Major McKinley about tariff legislation indicate that he is not in favor of an extreme measure of any sort and that he impressed upon those congressman with whom he discussed the matter the idea that no bill will do that shall not be so fair, so thorough and so adequate that with a little revision from time to time it will stand for ten or twelve years and give the country an area of normal prosperity and freedom from tariff agitations.

SCHEUTT PROBABLY INSANE.

The Man Who Tried To Shoot the German Consul at New York Arraigned.

New York, Dec. 14. — Ludwig Scheutt, the young man who made an unsuccessful attempt to shoot the German consul-general, Herr August Fiegel, Saturday afternoon, was again arraigned before Magistrate Flammer in the Centre street police court to-day and was held for the grand jury in $2,000 bail. The keepers of the Tombs, where Scheutt is confined, reported that he had acted rationally and that they had observed nothing to indicate that he was not properly balanced mentally. Magistrate Flammer questioned Scheutt, and asked him if he wished to supplement the statement he had made on Saturday. The young German had evidently been thinking the matter over during the night, and said he wished to explain why he went to Herr Fiegel's office in the German consulate with the revolver. He said that previous to his coming to America he had been arrested and imprisoned for three months in Germany on a baseless charge of extortion, and he contends that it was nothing less than persecution. "After my persecution in Germany by the officials," Scheutt continued, "I did not know but what I would be called upon to defend my life, and that the consul-general was possessed of weapons. I put the weapon to the secretary's head to intimidate him and to let him understand that I came there not to he trifled with. I cannot see that I have done anything very wrong. I simply went there to defend my life, if necessary, and did not intend to shoot unless attacked." It is very evident that the prisoner possesses strong socialistic sentiments, as when asked about his alleged persecution in Germany he always refers to the high fatherland officials sarcastically. It is believed Scheutt is insane.

Hamburg Dock Strike.

Hamburg, Dec. 14.—There are some signs of weakening on the part of the strikers here. The defiant attitude of the men has changed somewhat, and there is now considerable talk of a compromise. The strikers suggest that arrangements be made for an arbitration court by a conference between representatives of employes and ship owners, the conference to be held in the presence of the Hamburg senate if the latter will agree to the proposition.

New York Club Sells a Player.

Kansas City, Dec. 14.—The Kansas City Western League team has purchased from the New York club Frank Connaughton, who played shortstop and left field with the Giants last season. The terms are private, but $1,000 is the reported price.

Work for 200 Men.

Elmira, N. Y., Dec 14.—The window glass works at Elmira Heights resumed [illegible] operations this morning, after an idleness of several months [illegible] over 2[illegible] are employed.

Saw Mill De[illegible] by Fire.

Glo[illegible] 14.—The saw[illegible] & Co., at No[illegible] of lumber[illegible] yesterday. Loss[illegible]

[illegible]

WEEK IN CONGRESS

Programme of Work on Hand in Senate and House.

IMMIGRATION BILL TO BE PUSHED

